This was a quick review of our faith. This is God's magnificent atonement. Nothing is more basic and more important to us. We are here; we have eternal life. It is because Jesus Christ bore the penalty for our sins in 3 hours.

1Cor. 15:3 For I handed on (or: give over) to you, among [the] first things, that which I also accepted and embraced: that Christ died over our failures (on behalf of our mistakes and sins) – corresponding to the Scriptures –

There is no more important phrase in the Bible than Christ died for our sins. His spiritual death is the means of our salvation. His death on the cross was the most horrible death that ever occurred. He was separated from God the Father for 3 of the 6 hours that He hung upon the cross. In Mark 15:34 At the ninth hour, Jesus cried out, "My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?" That is spiritual death. As a lamb before the shearers is dumb, so He opened not His mouth. He could not associate with sin and our sins were poured upon Him. And He Himself bore our sins in His Own body on the cross. And he voluntarily did this. This separation, this spiritual death was not just spiritual but it was also substitutionary; He died for our sins. ὑπερ ἁμαρτιῶν The Lord has caused the iniquity of us to fall on Him. In the Old Testament, the atonement of Christ on the cross is stated many times. He was pictured most of all by the animal sacrifices of Israel. Every time the animal's throat was cut and its blood spurting out of his throat, it spoke of Jesus Christ dying on the cross; His substitutionary death.

Imputation, propitiation, reconciliation, redemption and justification. Our entire life depends upon the truth of those doctrines.

Imputation

1. Imputation means the sins of all mankind were charged to Christ on the cross.
2. These were not His sins; He never committed a sin. He could not commit a sin and be the spotless lamb of God. They were our sins. Every person who has ever lived had their sins assigned to Him.
3. These sins were imputed to Him and He was judged for those sins. He paid the penalty—our penalty—for committing these sins. Had Christ not had the sins of the world imputed to Him, there would be no salvation.

Propitiation

1. Propitiation means satisfaction. God the Father judged His perfect Son. The justice and righteousness of a perfect God were satisfied.

Redemption

1. Christ paid the penalty for our sins.
2. His payment purchased our freedom from the slave market of sin. We have no way and no hope of removing ourselves from this slave market. Only Christ can do this. His payment delivered us to the freedom of grace.
3. We who were formerly slaves to sin become members of His family through faith alone in Christ alone.

Reconciliation

All of these doctrines are the center of salvation

1. Reconciliation means Christ's sacrifice removed the hostility and the enmity between us and God the Father. There was a barrier composed of the penalty of sin. Our relative righteousness; our position in Adam.

2. That barrier is removed; the enmity is changed to peace between us and God.
3. The work of Jesus Christ opened the way to a relationship with God.

Justification

1. This means that at the moment of faith in Christ, His righteousness is credited to us; it is given to us; this righteousness is credited to our account.
2. We are made the righteousness of God. 1Cor. 1:30
3. Before the bench of God's justice, we are pronounced justified and righteous even though we are not righteous experientially. We have a position in Christ, which is perfect righteousness. We also have the experience of our life. There is a status and an experience. Atonement is according to the Scriptures.

According to the Scriptures

1. This is a reference to the Old Testament and the Messiah dying for our sins. Paul is talking about the Old Testament; the New had not been written yet. The Old Testament was the Bible of Paul and of Jesus Christ.
2. This was first predicted in Gen. 3:15.
3. Then, the atonement was revealed by the Law and by the prophets. Deut. 32:43
Isa. 53
4. Our Lord Himself during the first advent made the connection when He reproved a crowd of listeners for not believing what the prophets had said about Him.
5. Paul also attested to the revelation of the Savior in the Old Testament. Acts 26:12–28 I stand to this day testifying both to small and great stating nothing but what the prophets and Moses said would take place—that Christ was to suffer, and that by reason of His resurrection from the dead, to proclaim light to the people and to the Gentiles. This is what He did after the resurrection. Paul assured the gospel had been attested to by the Old Testament writers.
6. The book of Hebrews is a testimony to the sacrificial system of Israel as a shadow of the work and Person of Jesus Christ.

Paul pulled much from the Old Testament. When he faced the Judaizers and the Sadducees and whoever else, Paul would refer back to the Old Testament. The crowd wanted to tear Paul to pieces. In Paul's correspondence, he used the Old Testament to back up what he was teaching. Over 300 quotes from the Old Testament in the New Testament. Every book of the New Testament quotes the Old Testament. Christianity did not begin the day Christ was born; it was present throughout all human history. All of this is based upon Old Testament documentation.

Christ Was Promised in the Old Testament

1. The whole of Scripture attests to Him; all of it, Old and New. It pointed to Him in so many ways. There is something about the death, ministry and resurrection of Jesus Christ throughout the Old Testament.

2. He was the promised Savior from the very beginning of human history. They did not know His name; He was the Messiah of the Old Testament. He was Y<sup>e</sup>howah. There is a great series on the Shekinah glory. And at the end, He indwells us.
- 3.
4. His promise, the promise of the Messiah, carried through the Law. His promise carried through the Law and the covenant that He gave to Abraham; and through the prophets, e.g., Isa. 7:14, 700 years before the event. That is the impact of that one little verse.

“Some of you just stared at me.”

1Cor. 15:3 For I handed on (or: give over) to you, among [the] first things, that which I also accepted and embraced: that Christ died over our failures (on behalf of our mistakes and sins) – according to the Scriptures –

Paul completes the content of the gospel. Again, this is according to the Scriptures.

Aorist active indicative φάπτω = to be buried. Something tangible must be buried; a soul cannot be buried. When the life goes out of the body, the spirit leaves the body. The culminative aorist focuses on the end of a process. The burial of a body is a process with several steps involved. There is a process a body goes through. Luke 23:53 Mark 15:42–47 tells us about the process of burying Jesus Christ.

The Burial Process of Jesus Christ

1. They wrapped our Lord's body in linen.
2. The linen was encased with about 100 lbs of myrrh and alloe, which was done to retard decay. This linen became a sarcophagus. This held this linen together. This was a gummy aromatic resin. Cloth by itself would not remain in the same position, as it did; except for this process.

The culminative views this burial process as a whole event, and it is looked upon from the viewpoint of the existing results. The body of the Lord Jesus Christ entombed and wrapped in this linen; and His body was laid in the tomb. The Greeks buried their dead and they understood all that was involved.

Then He was raised; and Paul is telling the Corinthians, “His body is raised up.” This was not a soul or spirit coming to life. Jesus Christ is the firstfruits of those who are dead. If Jesus is raised with a body; then Church Age believers will be raised next.

The Corinthians understood this that His soul and spirit did not die on the cross. They just had trouble with the bodily resurrection.

Where did the spirit and soul go? His body died and He dismissed his own spirit. Jesus Christ was trichotomus; He was born trichotomus and He remained trichotomus throughout His life. We have a sin nature that He did not have. As believers, we are trichotomus as well. His body went into the grave. He soul went into Hades. This is sometimes called Hell, which is not the Lake of Fire. Psalm 16:10 Luke 23:43 Acts 2:27 Eph. 4:9 (2:9?) He went to the compartment called Paradise. This is the place where all Old Testament believers reside after death. "Today, you will be with Me in paradise." His spirit went into the present of the Father in heaven Luke 23:46 during the time between death and awaiting resurrection, believers will have an interim body.

Interim Body

this is not directly stated in Scripture

1Cor. 15:4 and that He was buried, and that He has been, and remains, awakened and raised in (on) the third day – according to the Scriptures

Lesson #1018

1Cor. 15:4 January 28, 2010

Thursday

Around the tomb was the first proof and the first appearance of Jesus Christ. The key was, a bodily resurrection. That is what the Corinthians needed to know. About 5 women first and then the disciples later. They went into the tomb and they saw the grave clothes were empty. There was no body. This was not an ethereal resurrection. This was a body of flesh and blood. The lifeless human body was resurrected.

His body, soul, spirit and Deity were all reunited; however, this was not the same body that He had existed in before.

Jesus is said to be raised, which is another reference to bodily resurrection.

In v. 20, Christ is the firstfruits; and we will be raised after Him. Our body will be like His. This does not mean that we will be like gods; we are not going to be Deity of some sort.

There is a lapsed time between our physical death and the moment of our resurrection, which is spoken of in 1Thess. 4 as a twinkling of an eye. At death, we have received an interim body. The resurrection body will not be bestowed until the rapture. How does Bobby know this, as there is no discussion in the Bible about an interim body?

The Interim Body

1. The interim body is a temporary home for the soul and spirit before the body is raised up. It is like a rental house.
2. This is a different kind of body than a resurrection body. What kind? Bobby does not know. This will be better than the body that we have now. It will be a human body and we will be recognizable.
3. John 11:25 face to face passage implies an interim body.
4. The anticipation of being face to face before the resurrection indicates that we will have an interim body. It is just an analogy. The being face to face suggests that there is a bodily situation.
5. The Scripture never speaks of disembodied souls. Nor does it speak of soul sleep. It is always about a body.

6. Let's look at one of these allusions to an interim body. Rev. 7:9

Rev. 7:9–15 After this I looked, and behold, a great multitude that no one could number, from every nation, from all tribes and peoples and languages, standing before the throne and before the Lamb, clothed in white robes, with palm branches in their hands, and crying out with a loud voice, "Salvation belongs to our God who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb!" And all the angels were standing around the throne and around the elders and the four living creatures, and they fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God, saying, "Amen! Blessing and glory and wisdom and thanksgiving and honor and power and might be to our God forever and ever! Amen." Then one of the elders addressed me, saying, "Who are these, clothed in white robes, and from where have they come?" I said to him, "Sir, you know." And he said to me, "These are the ones coming out of the great tribulation. They have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. "Therefore they are before the throne of God, and serve him day and night in his temple; and he who sits on the throne will shelter them with his presence.

Some Points on Rev. 7 Proving the Interim Body

1. This is a Tribulation passage. That is where this is, contextually.
2. Rev. 7:14 confirms this as the Tribulation.
3. In v. 9, the multitude standing before the throne of Christ with white robes and palm branches are Tribulational martyrs. They died during this period.
4. These martyrs are the same souls who are given white robes in Rev. 6:9 There is not always a direct statement in Scripture of a doctrine. When he opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the word of God and for the witness they had borne. Then they were each given a white robe and told to rest a little longer, until the number of their fellow servants and their brothers should be complete, who were to be killed as they themselves had been.
5. These people in robes had been martyred during the Tribulation. However, they had not yet been resurrection at the end of the Tribulation, which is the 2nd advent. They are all martyred during the Tribulation; and this is before the 2nd advent of Jesus Christ. They are wearing white robes and they have palm branches in their hands.
6. The conclusion is, these martyrs in white robes are not disembodied spirits. They have bodies.
7. They are wearing robes. No need for an immaterial thing to be clothed.
8. Hands with palm branches in them; bodies tend to have hands; disembodied souls do not.
9. The image here is one of bodies; not one of immaterial souls.
10. These would be interim bodies before these martyrs are resurrected at the 2nd advent.

Paul tells us the our Lord's body was placed in a tomb.

Raised is the perfect active indicative of εγείρω and the perfect tense indicates completion. This action cannot be added to or subtracted from. It is an intensive perfect; the emphasis is upon the existing results.

When our Lord was raised, His body, soul and spirit were never to be separated again. God will relegate Himself to a body forevermore. He will be everywhere at once and localized with a body. He is present in our body the same time He is omnipresent.

We will be face to face with Him. It is encouraging to know that we will be able to stand before Him and worship Him as the God of the Universe.

He was raised on the 3rd day, according to the Scriptures. This ran through the Law and through the Prophets. This is a proof from the prophets. Our Lord will use this analogy as well.

Go to the book of Jonah. And the LORD appointed a great fish to swallow up Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights (Jonah 1:17). Jonah was told to go up north to Nineveh, and he went toward Tarshish, which is in the opposite direction. God did not let him just go. He brought up a great storm, which shook up all of the sailors. "Why is this storm happening?" They cast lots and the lot falls on Jonah. Jonah admits to it.

Jonah was at sea and suddenly, a fish has swallowed him, and Jonah is in this bile for 3 days and 3 nights. This is what happens when you go AWOL.

Matt. 12:38–41: Then some of the scribes and Pharisees answered him, saying, "Teacher, we wish to see a sign from you." But he answered them, "An evil and adulterous generation seeks for a sign, but no sign will be given to it except the sign of the prophet Jonah. For just as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of the great fish, so will the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth. The men of Nineveh will rise up at the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for they repented at the preaching of Jonah, and behold, something greater than Jonah is here. These pharisees pushed Jesus again, asking for another sign; and, even though they had seen miracles and healings by His hand, they still did not believe in Him. The Lord explained their motivation. It came from their desire to reject Him. They wanted to reject Him.

Jesus had fulfilled the Law to the letter, and He had given them many signs. But these pharisees had hoped that Jesus would do something to discredit Himself. They watched Jesus and they still rejected Him. There is great power in negative volition. The power of the cosmic system.

Jesus calls them an evil and adulterous generation. One prophet after another called Israel a whore, because they chased after foreign gods. They understood the history of Israel. They knew all about this. It was the condition of the nation at this time. They had rejected Him; they rejected their King. These religious leaders were the worst of all.

What Was this Sign?

Jesus was announcing before He died His resurrection and the time frame.

1. Jonah was a sign as well. He was a sign to the Ninevites. Jonah hated these Ninevites.
2. Jonah had to be encased in the belly of the fish for 3 days and 3 nights before going to Nineveh.
3. The fact that Jonah was 3 days and 3 nights in the belly was the analogy that Jesus used himself.
4. Johan was 3 days and nights in the belly of a fish, like a tomb. No light.
5. When fish disgorged Jonah, this was a picture of resurrection in its allotted time.
6. Then Jonah took a long hot bath and was sent alive to preach to the Ninevites. He got on with his mission.
7. The belly of the fish was a tomb, analogous to the tomb Jesus Christ would be placed in.
8. After 3 days and nights, Jesus Christ came from the tomb; resurrected and able to complete His mission on the earth.
9. Jonah appeared to a whole bunch of Ninevites and they believed in Jehovah Elohim. This was the sign that Jesus brought to the pharisees in response to their challenge.

Some Additional Points

1. After Jonah was resurrected, the Ninevites believed. They were resurrected. Christ's implied answer based on this analogy, was first. Would they believe this sign or not?
2. Would this generation believe when He fulfilled the sign of Jonah?
3. Would they finally accept Him and His resurrection? The pharisees were already plotting His death.

They followed Him for 3 years, opposing Him. "Wait until you kill Me, and then I will show you an incredible sign." The pharisees would recall this prediction after His death, so they placed a stone in front of the tomb and they put guards at the entrance to the tomb. They were afraid that the disciples would steal the body and claim resurrection. They knew this promise, as did the disciples.

Bobby may look at the time frame of the 3 days and 3 nights next time.

1Cor. 15:4 and that He was buried, and that He has been, and remains, awakened and raised in (on) the third day – according to the Scriptures

He was buried and raised on the 3rd day, according to the Scriptures (which is the Old Testament). This is ideally taught on Easter. The good news is, we will still be in this chapter when Easter comes.

Let's look at the time and events of the crucifixion. Jesus was arrested by Roman soldiers and then dragged before the religious leaders. He was beaten, punched, scourged and spit upon. He then endured 6 kangaroo trials. These trials were conducted by the Sanhedrin and by the Romans, and they were held at the dead of night. "And you thought that Congress was sneaky voting on healthcare on Christmas Eve."

These people were losing their religious power; they held sway over the Jews in Israel. They were willing to kill anyone who got in their way. Pontius Pilate found Jesus innocent at his trial, and he washed his hands of the proceedings, when he realized that he faced an early morning riot if he did not give Jesus over to the crowd.

About 9am they nailed Jesus Christ to the cross like a common criminal. They did not believe that Jesus was the Savior. He was nothing more than a nuisance to these people. Jesus was on the cross for only 6 hours, the last 3 of which is when He died for our sins (noon to 3 pm). Jesus dismissed His spirit; He simply stopped breathing.

At the same time, the ritual of slaughtering lambs for the Passover was occurring. They killed the ritual lamb the same time that they killed the Lamb of God. His body was prepared for burial by Joseph of Aramthia who asked for and received the body of Jesus Christ. He used his own tomb for Jesus Christ. It was located in a garden about 100 yds from Golgotha. The 2nd man was Nicodemus, a pharisee himself, who brought the something and aloe which would have encased our Lord. The Romans left bodies on the cross sometimes for days. But that was not the case for Jesus Christ. The Jews in their ritual could not allow a body to hang during the Sabbath or the Passover. That would have been a ritual problem. Joseph and Nicodemus handled the body of Jesus Christ and were thus unclean and unable to participate in the Passover.

the 3 days and 3 nights ran until 18th of Nissan. He made the prophetic pronouncement that he would be raised from the dead on the 3rd day. Vv. 3–4 contain the substance of the gospel. He had been reveal for centuries in the Old Testament sacrifices.

We and they in Corinth can be confident in our faith because Jesus was raised on the 3rd day.

1Cor. 15:4 and that He was buried, and that He has been, and remains, awakened and raised in (on) the third day – according to the Scriptures vv. 5–8, the resurrection appearances are chronicled.

Paul now appeals to unimpeachable eyewitness evidence.

1Cor. 15:5–8 and that He was seen by Cephas – next by the Twelve. After that He was seen by over five hundred brothers at one time – of whom the majority continue remaining until right now (the present), yet some fell asleep. After that He was seen by Jacob (James), next by all the sent-forth ones (the apostles; the commissioned ones). Yet last of all He was seen by me also – as if it were by one born prematurely (or: in a miscarriage; by one forth from out of a wound).

Mark 16:1 Luke 24:10 the women who spend more time with Christ than any others. They had purchased anointing spices to once again anoint the body of Jesus Christ. Why, if there is a stone there?

Mary Magdalen became the first eyewitness to an empty tomb and to the stone rolled away. As soon as she saw this, she ran to tell Peter and John what she had just seen. She believed that foul play had taken place, that someone had stolen the body. So those who are closest to Jesus was still uncertain and some were completely clueless.

They came face to face with the very angel who rolled away the stone. The angel told them that Jesus had risen. This angelic witness told them what had happened to the body. These women became witnesses to an empty tomb and to the empty tomb itself.

The stone was rolled away so that the world could get in and see that Jesus was no longer in the tomb. They saw this for themselves. The empty tomb.

These women were the first eyewitnesses to the empty tomb. Mark 16:9–11 and the John 19. Mary now understood that Jesus was risen, so she comes to the disciples a second time and they did not believe her. They may have thought her to be too highly emotional and they were skeptical.

Jesus then appeared to Mary, Salome in Matt., a 2nd appearance. The disciples were told, through these women, to meet Jesus in Galilee.

There were the 2 soldiers who had been left to guard the tomb, and their witness was very important. They witnessed the earthquake Matt. 28:2–3 and the coming of the angle who would roll back the stone. The angel's appearance was described as lightning. This had to be a traumatic experience. They were probably bored out of their minds, unhappy with the graveyard shift, and then this earthquake and a blinding flash of light. These tough soldiers passed out in a dead faint. They were the only ones present in the actual resurrection event, even though they were passed out. The tomb was empty. So then, they ran away. They did not understand and they wanted no part of this. They ran straight back to the chief priests and reported what they had seen to the priests. These were unbelieving observers; impartial observers. Their witness constituted proof that the sign of Jonah had been fulfilled. Here it was, right in their face. This was the final confirmation to the religious leaders of Israel. This was proof. They could not get around the fact of the resurrection. The chief priests were thinking that these guards would go and talk and say what they had seen. The plot of the pharisees to remove Jesus was the scene were unhappy; this messed things up for them. The soldiers were a disinterested party. These Roman soldiers could be executed for deserting their post. This was highly significant. They had no stake in this power game between the pharisees and Jesus. The earthquake and the flash of lightning confused and disturbed them.

What did these brilliant pharisees do? Did they immediately believe in Christ? Did this sign tell them that Jesus was exactly Who He claimed to be? They bribed the guards with hush money. Matt. 28:15 or so. They were supposed to say that the disciples came and stole the body. This lie is repeated even today. To them, this is just a religious myth.

Satan is always ready to deceive and he uses the religious background of these priests. They thought only of their own power positions. That is all that concerned them. They had as much knowledge as anyone and had been present throughout the 4 year ministry of Jesus Christ and they saw how Jesus fulfilled the Law. They had seen much of what happened during His public ministry. The truth will always be opposed by the cosmic system and all those who live in it. It will especially be opposed by religion.

Opposing views are rejected, even if witnessed by credible witnesses, they still will not believe; that is the power of negative volition. These men were face to face with our Lord; they saw what He did and said, and still rejected the truth. The cosmic system values human power over everything else. That was Satan's original desire. The cosmic system is his system. He rules over this world.

We know that Jesus appeared to 500 witnesses, which is something that we are not aware of.

A reading of the verses:

1Cor. 15:3 For I handed on (or: give over) to you, among [the] first things, that which I also accepted and embraced: that Christ died over our failures (on behalf of our mistakes and sins) – corresponding to the Scriptures –

1Cor. 15:4 and that He was buried, and that He has been, and remains, awakened and raised in (on) the third day – corresponding to the Scriptures

1Cor. 15:5 and that He was seen by Cephas – next by the Twelve.

1Cor. 15:6 After that He was seen by over five hundred brothers at one time – of whom the majority continue remaining until right now (the present), yet some fell asleep.

1Cor. 15:7 After that He was seen by Jacob (James), next by all the sent-forth ones (the apostles; the commissioned ones).

1Cor. 15:8 Yet last of all He was seen by me also – as if it were by one born prematurely (or: in a miscarriage; by one forth from out of a wound).

This must have been an incredible time on earth when Jesus was here; and that we could see his resurrection body and realize that someday, we would have a body like His.

Paul's first witness is Peter, but there were others to whom Jesus appeared to first.

18 Nissan was the 3rd day after the resurrection (crucifixion) of Jesus Christ. These appearances are evidence of the risen Christ. The empty tomb is the first evidence.

Around sunrise that first day, 5 women came to the grave of Jesus. Herod, to say the least, was anti-Christ. Jesus grew in stature and knowledge in His humanity, just as we do.

Mary Magdalen arrived first. She was desirous to anoint Jesus; but she comes to the grave site and there are no guards and the stone has been moved aside. She left and went to the disciples; and she was very distraught. Jesus told the disciples what would happen, but they never got it. The other 4 women then arrived, and they saw the huge stone rolled away from the tomb. They came face to face with an angel, the one who had rolled the stone away from the tomb. He said, "He is risen." Then understood at that moment, unlike Mary Magdalene who was distraught.

Mary ran to the disciples, told them what she had seen, and she did not know what to do, and she returned to the tomb. None other than Jesus appeared to her, and this was His appearance to anyone, to Mary Magdalene. She then had to bear witness to the disciples, and they still did not get it. They were, in fact, stupid, at this point.

He appeared to the other women, and He said the same thing to them; and he gave them a specific message, "Tell the disciples that I will meet them in Galilee." They were sitting around in Jerusalem and Jesus told them to meet Him in Galilee. This was a very tangible instruction and further proof of the resurrection.

The next group are the soldiers who are guarding the tomb. They witnessed certain events which surrounded the resurrection. There was a tremendous earthquake. The tomb was the epicenter of the earthquake. As the earthquake subsided, there was a flash of lightning, and there appeared to them an angel, and they just passed out. When they awoke, they saw with their own eyes that the stone that they guarded, was moved. The tomb was empty. This was something that they did not understand. These were the very first eyewitnesses to the stone being removed and the empty tomb. They were very afraid. They knew what they had seen, but they just ran away. This is very important piece of evidence, because they soldiers did not run away and hide; they went to the chief priests exactly what they had seen. They were afraid for failing at their mission and then they were worried about being executed for deserting their post. They were proof that the disciples had not stolen the body and then claimed a resurrection took place.

The chief priests and religious types knew that Jesus promised to that He would be resurrected, and they hired soldiers, apparently, to guard this grave site. Their witness to these Jewish leaders constituted proof that the sign of Jonah had been fulfilled. Jonah spent 3 days and 3 nights in the belly of the fish. The fish finally threw him up on the shore. This would be the sign that Jesus gave. These religious types understood this perfectly, even though His disciples did not. These men knew the Old Testament Scriptures. The fulfillment of this sign was the final confirmation that Jesus was the Messiah and the Savior. The chief priests and the rests of these religious leaders could not get around the fact of this resurrection. Their greatest concern was staring them right in the face, and the religious types were freaking out. What did they do? They knew all the signs of the Messiah; they knew what Jesus promised. They refused to believe in Jesus Christ as their Messiah and as their Savior. They saw the final incredible sign of His Messiahship. Instead, they looked at these guards, and they gave them a large sum of money not to tell anyone else. Their story was to be that a bunch of disciples overpowered them and stole the body. The religious types wanted to pay them off to tell the lie.

In their generation, they had seen every proof of Jesus Christ; and just one simple act of faith alone in Christ alone is all that they needed to do. They followed Jesus around during their ministry, and they kept trying to trap Him and never won any skirmish with Him. They made a conscious effort not to believe in Him. They had to reject the overwhelming evidence which was before them. All it would have taken is the tiniest bit of faith.

We all know who we are; we all know what we are like; and we know that we are not worthy of God's favor. We know all of our failures and all of our faults. The logic of grace is, he does accept us with all of our faults because Jesus Christ died and was resurrected. These guys witnessed all this, and they said no. People have to make an effort not to believe. They arrogantly accept humanism as their savior; or science. But all of this is negative volition. The chief priest had all the evidence and yet he rejected Jesus. No positive volition. It is unfathomable how these men could do this.

Bobby talked to one person and it was amazing all the things that one person did to avoid believing in Jesus Christ.

Peer and John were the next 2 eyewitnesses. They heard this story from the 5 women. John 20:3–10 they wanted to see this for themselves. Peter got to the tomb first, and he saw another important piece of material evidence. Being impetuous, he ran right into the tomb and he observed that there was no body in the graveclothes. The cloth was undisturbed. There was no wrapping all over the tomb. No movement. Empty grave clothes and Peter no doubt stood over this wondering what had happened. This was not Houdini. Jesus left those clothes exactly as they were. There was a gummy, sticky resinous mix of myrrh and aloe, and this was not cracked. Somehow, the body just disappeared, without disturbing the wrappings.

Jesus apparently moved through the wrapping and walked through the rock of the tomb, which was later moved in order to let the others in to see the material evidence. More physical evidence. All of this happened early on resurrection morning in a very few short hours. It was convincing and undeniable proof for the disciples. This was good news that He had been raised up. All of the other disciples who had not seen these evidences rejected it. "You are hallucinating; what have you been smoking?" The disciples were the most hardheaded bunch of people; and His resurrection was promised directly to them. The story was too preposterous for them. They did not understand or believe. Even believers can express negative volition toward doctrine. The doctrine of the resurrection and they would not still believe it.

These early appearances was just the beginning. These people needed to be reassured, so the appearances continued. In the late afternoon, Christ appeared to others. First to 2 disciples on the Amaius Road (Mark 16 Luke 24). This was not a quick appearance. He spoke at length with these 2 disciples. They got the doctrine of resurrection from Jesus Christ. He even had dinner with them. Additional proof of His continued humanity. They said, "You're the Lord; You're the One."

Sometimes we are just thick-headed. Doctrine always knows best. Negative volition and preconceived notions are a very powerful mindset. The power is in the Word; and that is what changes you. That puts you on the road to the greatest life that you can have.

Application: don't be discouraged when you witness to someone. It may take awhile for your message to get through to someone who is hardheaded. You present the gospel. It may take further circumstances to make it real. The power is in the gospel, not in our persuasion. You do the best that you can; but don't shy away from it and don't avoid it. We ought to be able to give the gospel better than anyone else. It is great to know that you are helping to launch someone into their eternal future.

All of these events happened on the first day of resurrection. And it is not over yet. A busy day for our Lord. He showed Himself again to Peter in the later afternoon. Luke 24:34 the 2 disciples confirmed that Peter had already met the Lord. He met them before those on the Ammaius road. It is clear that Peter saw Jesus in His resurrection body more often than anyone else. Paul himself heard this account of Peter directly from Peter. Paul questioned Peter quite carefully.

Citing Peter here was the beginning of Paul's very convincing argument that Jesus had been raised. They did know Peter and they knew what He had said.

1Cor. 15:5 and that He was seen by Cephas – next by the Twelve.

The Appearances of Jesus

1. Jesus appeared in a very recognizable body. He showed up and then He disappeared.
2. During several appearances, he was tangible to all 5 senses.
3. He was observed eating on several occasions. Most people need food; however, he did it for enjoyment.
4. He walked among and conversed with the disciples for 40 days. They got it.

Jesus Resurrection and Resurrection Body

1. He looked the same but He did not look the same.
2. Some disciples at some times did not recognize Him.
3. However, he was recognizable by some disciples.
4. Logically, you will recognize everyone in heaven.
5. He moved in and out of buildings without opening doors. This happened on several occasions. He had a human body, but with a different molecular structure. This body can penetrate things that we cannot penetrate.
6. There were no vertical limitations to His body. He ascended to the Father in heaven and this was witnessed by many. He ascended slowly.

Lesson #1022

1Cor. 15: February 11, 2010

Thursday

There is plenty of evidence for the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Proofs

1. Mary Magdalene saw the empty tomb.
2. Some others saw the angel, who appeared, who dropped and soldiers in their tracks and who rolled away the stone. This angel who appeared to them made a pronouncement of Christ's resurrection, and this was the first time such an announcement was made. A short time later, they all met Jesus Christ.

3. The soldiers felt the earthquake. The ground rolls like the ocean; and it is awesome to see. Then the flash of lightning, when they saw that, that heralded the appearance of the angel who would roll away the stone. When they woke up, they were witnesses to the empty tomb; and they were neutral witnesses. They had no stake in this. They provided proof to the chief priests that the disciples were not the ones who stole the body (which some people still claim today).
4. The 4th proof is Peter and John, and they arrived at the grave, and they saw the empty tomb. And they saw the unmoved, undisturbed grave clothes. They were in the outline of the body. At that time, they placed a cloth over the face, and you could see a portion of the face when the body was there. The hardened mixture of aloe and myrrh had not been cracked open. There was no human way to remove the body from those grave clothes.
5. Then we have Jesus appearing in the late afternoon to 2 disciples walking along the Emmaus road, which was a little village outside Jerusalem. During dinner, these men looked at Jesus and they suddenly recognized Him. They may not have snapped to this at first, realizing that Jesus had been crucified.
6. Then we have the appearance to Peter; and he saw Jesus before the Emmaus road incident. These men reported Peter's encounter to the other disciples when they ran them down to tell them the news.

This is the point at which Paul begins his reasoning. They were witnesses to the resurrection.

Why did Paul begin his line of witnesses with Peter? Why didn't he go back to the women. Wouldn't Mary Magdalene be a good start? She was the first to see the tomb and the first to see our Lord resurrected. Many said that Paul was just a misogynist.

Some of the greatest helps to Paul in his ministry were women. Priscilla was an example. In the book of Philemon is a greeting where he reveals his affection for the women who worked with him. So why did he not include Mary Magdalene and the other women? It is likely that these women had no official significance to these Corinthians. However, they knew Peter and some of them claimed to be Peter's disciples. Paul knows that Peter had more encounters with the resurrected Christ and he is the most credible witness of them all.

Peter's Encounters with the Resurrected Christ

1. To Peter alone the morning of the resurrection.
2. The second is later that evening when the Lord entered the upper room. 10 Apostles were present except for Thomas. John 19:20, 25 overall, this was His 5th appearance. 4th to the disciples on the Emmaus road. The 5th was the evening of the resurrection day. Peter was in the room with all the rest of them, and that was

Peter's 2nd look. 5 appearances on the first day; His closest coterie of followers. He was alive and He had defeated death.

3. 8 days later He appears, the 6th recorded appearance after the resurrection; and Peter and the other Apostles and Thomas were all there. John 20:26–28 3rd time for Peter here. Each time, he was more and more convinced. However, not yet was he totally convinced. Peter was the most hardheaded of them all. He is still wavering, even though he had been in the presence of Jesus 3 times.
4. The final 4 recorded appearances occurred over the 32 days after the previous appearance. John 20:30 there were other occasions when Jesus appeared to others. Peter would have seen Jesus at least 6 times after the resurrection.
5. John 21:1–14 Peter meets Jesus in Galilee. This is where Jesus spent the early year of His ministry. The Apostles did not learn very much. The sea of Galilee and Jesus performed the miracle of the fish. Nothing to be caught on one side of the boat. Jesus called to them from the shore and told them to cast the net on the right side of the boat. The net was overabundant with fish. The 3rd appearance to the disciples as a group.
6. The 8th recorded appearance was to 500 people, which included Peter and the other disciples; Matt. 28:16–20 Mark 16 the incident is mentioned, although the 500 are not mentioned. Paul said, "Most of whom are still alive until now." Paul is writing this around A.D. 62.

1Cor. 15:5 and that He was seen by Cephas – next by the Twelve.

It was important for Paul to make this statement; it gives them legitimacy. This is a very convincing piece of evidence. In any court of law, and 500 witnesses were paraded to the stand, that would have been the end of it.

7. Jesus 9th appearance to His half-brother James. This was a personal, exclusive interview that James was granted. Mary and Joseph continued to have a large family. The Virgin Mary did not remain a virgin; and Jesus had 4 half-brothers. James, Joseph, Judas. Matt. 13:55 James was probably an unbeliever at this time and before this encounter, James John 7:3–5 had rejected Jesus Christ as the messiah. That is how we know. Maybe some of the 500 believed in Jesus. James may have even been a little jealous of Jesus. Familiarity breeds contempt. A prophet has not honor in his own country. James ended up presiding over the entire church of Jerusalem. He played a major part after his conversion. This was the impetus for his later prominence as a great Christian leader. He was well-known; he was a half brother; and he had reject Jesus prior to the crucifixion. In this appearance to James, Jesus showed a special concern for his own family. Witnessing starts at home. This is where we ought to begin. . witnessing is not just what we say but what we do.
8. The 10th appearance, which was at Jerusalem; and this was to all of His disciples, and this sets the tenor for the Church Age.

1Cor. 15:6 After that He was seen by over five hundred brothers at one time – of whom the majority continue remaining until right now (the present), yet some fell asleep.

Lesson #1023

1Cor. 15:5–7 February 14, 2010

Sunday 1

Communion Sunday. Heb. 8:1–2: Now the point in what we are saying is this: we have such a high priest, one who is seated at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heaven, a minister in the holy places, in the true tent that the Lord set up, not man.

His priesthood relates what He is doing now and what He has done before. A priest represents others before God.

No other priest offered himself as a sacrifice. The book of Hebrews related Jesus to Melchizedek. He is called the king of the Most High God and he was the king of Salem. It is through the Old Testament that we know him. He is an Old Testament type, and he foreshadows a Jesus Christ. He is a king and a priest. Abraham had just met Melchizedek. Melchizedek brought out a meal of bread and wine to celebrate Abraham's victory and the freedom secured for Lot. As a priest and a king, Melchizedek was superior to Abraham. He is king of righteousness and king of Salem (= peace). His royalty is a double one, the king of righteousness and the king of peace.

Both of these titles also speak of the 2nd advent of Jesus Christ. This is a time of perfect righteousness and of peace. Only Christ is the true king of righteousness. He alone is the king of peace. Only God can reign in the realm of perfect righteousness and peace.

Zech. 6:13 it is He who will build the temple of the Lord. and shall bear royal honor, and shall sit and rule on his throne. And there shall be a priest on his throne, and the counsel of peace shall be between them both.

He has taken His seat at the right hand of God in the heavens. Such righteousness could never be true in the past. If perfection was through the Levitical priesthood, what further need was there for another priest to come?

His is a priesthood without flaw, failure or weakness. There was nothing in the Levitical priesthood which was perfect. Some were faithful to their office and others were indifferent and failed as priests. But all were imperfect and all would die as fallen men.

The blood of bulls and goats was insufficient to take away our sins. A perfect sacrifice was necessary from a perfect priest. The indispensability of the perfect priest.

Further, His priesthood is forever. Heb. 7:3 He is without father or mother or genealogy, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but resembling the Son of God he continues a priest forever.

After His resurrection, Jesus ascended to the right hand of the Father and he continues to advocate for us as our High Priest. Death claimed all of the priests of the Old Testament, but not so for Jesus Christ. He holds His priesthood permanently. He always lives to make intercession for us. Heb 7:25 Consequently, he is able to save to the uttermost those who draw near to God through him, since he always lives to make intercession for them.

When rebound, God forgives our sins, and that is His intercession for us. There is another aspect to this as well. He took on humanity and tasted human weakness, yet without sin, and He intercedes for us in our time of need. He is always there to represent our cause to the Father. As believers, we acquire this intercession of the Lord Jesus Christ from the very moment of our regeneration. The question may be asked, why do men go to human priests? They do so because to go to a human priest, they think that he can intercede and plead on their behalf. They think a tangible human priest is necessary for their eternal life. They believe him to have the power to see them into heaven. However, we are a royal priesthood, and we can represent ourselves before God in confession and each of us has direction access. We need no other priests but Him. Therefore, He can accomplish all that we desire in relation to God the Father. Acts 5:31a God exalted him at his right hand as Leader and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins.

There are 10 recorded appearance of Jesus Christ after His resurrection. The first was with Mary Magdalene, then with the other women, then to Peter alone, then to 2 disciples on the road to Emaus, then on the evening of that day to the disciples in the upper room.

It is this 5th appearance where we pick it up.

1Cor. 15:5 and that He was seen by Cephas – next by the Twelve.

Peter is named first because he had more encounters with Jesus Christ than any other disciple. He is the most well-known to the Corinthians. Paul uses him as the first credible witness. The women may not have been known to the Corinthians and may not mean as much to them.

At this time, Peter is still living, and some from the 500 are still alive.

Peter is the more credible and important witness.

6th appearance is 8 days after the resurrection day. 5 appearances on the first day and then nothing for a week. He wanted to make it clear to His disciples that He was resurrected, just as Jonah was 3 days in the belly of the fish.

1Cor. 15:6 After that He was seen by over five hundred brothers at one time – of whom the majority continue remaining until right now (the present), yet some fell asleep.

Then he appears to 10 disciples, with Thomas, who places his hand into the nail prints of Jesus Christ and into his side.

1Cor. 15:7 After that He was seen by Jacob (James), next by all the sent-forth ones (the apostles; the commissioned ones).

There are 4 more appearances after this appearance 8 days hence. There may have been many more other appearances, but they are not recorded. We see the importance of His appearances.

By the Sea of Galilee. The women were told to go to the disciples with a message, for them to go to Galilee; but they went fishing.

We will continue with this 7th appearance next lesson:

Lesson #1024

1Cor. 15:5–8 February 14, 2010

Sunday 2

1Cor. 15:5–8 are the verses which document the resurrection of Jesus Christ. If Jesus Christ was not raised, then we are worshiping a dead god, which is no better than any temple god of any heathen group.

The disciples got despondent again. They are in their hometown of Galilee and they are despondent, so they simply returned to fishing.

1Cor. 15:5–8 and that He was seen by Cephas – next by the Twelve. After that He was seen by over five hundred brothers at one time – of whom the majority continue remaining until right now (the present), yet some fell asleep. After that He was seen by Jacob (James), next by all the sent-forth ones (the apostles; the commissioned ones). Yet last of all He was seen by me also – as if it were by one born prematurely (or: in a miscarriage; by one forth from out of a wound).

The 7th recorded appearance of Jesus Christ is found in John 21:1–14

The disciples are casting their nets on the left side of the boat, and Jesus Christ, a conservative, tells them to cast their nets on the right side of the boat. Peter leaps into the water and swims ashore.

John 21:1 After this Jesus revealed himself again to the disciples by the Sea of Tiberias, and he revealed himself in this way. Simon Peter, Thomas (called the Twin), Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, the sons of Zebedee, and two others of his disciples were together. Simon Peter said to them, "I am going fishing." They said to him, "We will go with you." They went out and got into the boat, but that night they caught nothing. Just as day was breaking, Jesus stood on the shore; yet the disciples did not know that it was Jesus. Jesus said to them, "Children, do you have any fish?" They answered him, "No." He said to them, "Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find some." So they cast it, and now they were not able to haul it in, because of the quantity of fish. That disciple whom Jesus loved therefore said to Peter, "It is the Lord!" When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he put on his outer garment, for he was stripped for work, and threw himself into the sea. The other disciples came in the boat, dragging the net full of fish, for they were not far from the land, but about a hundred yards off. When they got out on land, they saw a charcoal fire in place, with fish laid out on it, and bread. Jesus said to them, "Bring some of the fish that you have just caught." So Simon Peter went aboard and hauled the net ashore, full of large fish, 153 of them. And although there were so many, the net was not torn. Jesus said to them, "Come and have breakfast." Now none of the disciples dared ask him, "Who are you?" They knew it was the Lord. Jesus came and took the bread and gave it to them, and so with the fish. This was now the third time that Jesus was revealed to the disciples after he was raised from the dead.

The 8th appearance. In Corinthians, there is a mention of the number of those who are there. Perhaps some of those 500 had wandered through the city of Corinth. They certainly did not all stay in Jerusalem. They went to a number of different cities and they went all over, giving eyewitness accounts.

Paul is verifying the authenticity of their testimony.

Matt 28 .Mark 16:14–18

There was a 9th appearance to Jesus' half-brother. Most of the appearances were groups of people and this was to an individual.

1Cor. 15:7 After that He was seen by Jacob (James), next by all the sent-forth ones (the apostles; the commissioned ones).

James was an unbeliever throughout the life of Christ. He saw our Lord all of the time and he saw many of the miracles and he still said no. So Jesus appeared to James and James believed. Our Lord is the Messiah. James became a different person.

James became prominent as a church leader, and Jesus wanted those in his family to become believers. Jesus made this clear; He made a special trip to His unbelieving half-brother.

There is a 2nd reason. His previous unbelief was very well known. However, to believe in Jesus after the crucifixion, represents an incredible turn-around. James became a trusted witness to the power and the authenticity of the resurrection.

The 10th appearance was critical, as a message to the entire Church Age. Peter was present as were all the future Apostles except Paul. This is v. 7b, and this was in the city of Jerusalem. In Jerusalem, He led the future Apostles out to Bethany, and then He departed from them. This would be a unique departure, the day of His ascension. Luke 24:44–49 Mark 16 Acts 1 are records of this resurrection.

He gave what is now called the great commission, which the Apostles would follow for the rest of their lives. They would carry on after He physically left them. All of the Apostles were witnesses, not just to the appearance, but to the duration of the Church Age.

Jesus would be with the disciples to the end of the Church Age. He will sit at the right hand of the Father, where He will intercede on our behalf. This was the commission to go to all the world.

Matt. 28:18–20: And Jesus came and said to them, "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you. And behold, I am with you always, to the end of the age."

What about the lack of churches in China, etc.? People come to this county so that we might speak the gospel to them. Immigration is the opportunity to share the gospel. There are traditions about the movement of the disciples, but we do not have actual records of it.

There was an appearance to Stephen when he was dying a martyr's death. He began to spread the gospel in Jerusalem. He was performing great signs and wonders among the people in Acts 6. There were temporary spiritual gifts. However, there was resistance to this spiritual gift and empowerment of God the Holy Spirit. He was spreading the Word and he was arrested. Stephen was interviewed or interrogated by none other than Caiphas, the chief priest, the very high priest who presided over the Sanhedrin trial of Jesus Christ which led to the crucifixion. Stephen faced the very man who condemned Jesus to death. Stephen was accused of blasphemy against Abraham.

In a long speech, he denounces Israel for their negative volition. Caiphas heard our Lord say the very same things. Most of these religious types were extremely angry.

Acts 7:55–60 But he, full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God. And he said, "Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God." But they cried out with a loud voice and stopped their ears and rushed together at him. Then they cast him out of the city and stoned him. And the witnesses laid down their garments at the feet of a young man named Saul. And as they were stoning Stephen, he called out, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." And falling to his knees he cried out with a loud voice, "Lord, do not hold this sin against them." And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

Stephen tells them that their mortal enemy, Jesus, the One they crucified, was alive and well. They did not like hearing this, especially in front of so many witnesses.

They hated the witnesses of Jesus Christ. Religion hates grace. Do not underestimate what people will do for power and authority, including murder.

Observe how Jesus is denigrated today; how many lawsuits have been filed. The Ten Commandments and Jesus Christ are suppressed. It is as if the Ten Commandments are some sort of great threat to our country. It is the basis of so much law. But it is from the Bible so it enrages unbelievers.

It seems ludicrous, but this is the devil's world. It is all around us and it has always been in existence.

There are those who would gladly kill us, the infidel, for saying the Jesus is our Savior. And the same would gladly blow themselves up in the name of a false religion. We really do not understand the great power of Satan who drives this great opposition in every respect. These people would no more make peace with the western world than Satan would turn himself in to God and beg for mercy.

They had absolute opposition to the truth, and they grinded their teeth and they picked up rocks right there and threw them until he died. They would do this against anyone. We are hated because we believe in Jesus Christ. Accept it and realize it.

Stephen became the first martyr of the church right here. His death put a further witness of Jesus Christ.

The church grew with every wave of vicious opposition. The Roman empire outlawed Christianity, and, after a short time, it became the faith of the population of Rome. Literally thousands died in the coliseum. People saw this, and the church grew dramatically, because there were witnesses to the Lord Jesus Christ.

What Paul saw was Jesus Christ in another appearance, and he was a direct witness for the Lord Jesus Christ. He stood for the Lord, whether he died or not.

The last appearance of Jesus Christ was to John in A.D. 90 before he wrote the Revelation. Rev. 1:17–20 When I saw him, I fell at his feet as though dead. But he laid his right hand on me, saying, "Fear not, I am the first and the last, and the living one. I died, and behold I am alive forevermore, and I have the keys of Death and Hades. Write therefore the things that you have seen, those that are and those that are to take place after this. As for the mystery of the seven stars that you saw in my right hand, and the seven golden lampstands, the seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands are the seven churches.

John, after this, penned the book of Revelation. This began with him seeing the Lord Jesus Christ. The power of the resurrection.

Lesson #1025

1Cor. 15: February 17, 2010

Wednesday

Paul has named some of the most important witnesses to the resurrection of Jesus Christ. He lists people who witnessed Jesus Christ before the ascension. Before Paul had written one word, the Corinthians did not believe in the bodily resurrection of Jesus Christ.

The upshot of all of this is, if Jesus Christ was resurrected with a resurrection body, and if He was the firstfruits of those resurrected, they must then conclude that they will be resurrected as well.

Paul will save the best for last; he himself is the final eyewitness. Paul, like Stephen, saw Jesus after the resurrection.

Before we get to v. 8, let's summarize vv. 5–7

Summary of the Resurrection

1. With so many appearances and so many credible witnesses, the resurrection is more than just a theory.
2. It is fact. The resurrection of Jesus Christ is a fact, an event of singular nature which has never before happened and will never happen again until the resurrection at the end of this age. Paul's logic will be airtight. Without the resurrection, there is no salvation. We have no salvation and no eternal future.
3. The soldiers at the tomb who woke after the earthquake and the lightning, they ran straight to the pharisees, to the chief priests. They were given money to say that the disciples stole the body. Of course, there was no body recovered. It could not be found, because it was a new body.
4. One of the great evidences: the enthusiasm and the fearlessness of the disciples and of Christ's followers after the resurrection. They had to have extreme confidence in Jesus Christ. This could only be explained by actually seeing His resurrection and, many of them, the ascension. Peter denied Jesus 3 times during the crucifixion. He did not want to be arrested and possibly crucified. He allowed his fears to turn him into a coward. Cowardice describes the actions a person takes because they are afraid; but not the fear itself. The disciples were clearly despondent after the crucifixion. They understood the resurrection and they became lions of the faith. Mark 16:19–20 So then the Lord Jesus, after He had spoken to them, was taken up into heaven and sat down at the right hand of God. And they went out and preached everywhere [in the face of all opposition], while the Lord worked with them and confirmed the message by accompanying signs.
5. The visible result of His resurrection was apparent from the actions of the disciples who witnessed the resurrection. The resurrection certainly was a confirmation and a guarantee. It was an incredible motivation for what the disciples did after they saw it.
6. These men and probably these women as well had a new energy 3 days after the devastating death of their master. Here they are following the Messiah, their teacher, their Rabbi, the center of their world, and suddenly, He is gone, dead. They ran. But they were turned around.
7. They were no longer the hopeless and depressed followers of a crucified Jesus Christ. When you lose someone that you love, it takes time to recover from that. There is a process of grief; the pain fades but the memory lasts. However, the disciples bounced back; there was no more sorrow, no more depression. People watch when you handle difficult circumstances. This is what happens with the disciples and in a massive way. Overnight, they become the witnesses which people notice.

8. The questions on the minds of those who saw them was, why and how? The man they loved was gone; but their changed attitude was a witness to the resurrection. If you buried someone and they died and, 3 days later, you see them, in a resurrection body. It is hard to hide real happiness and supreme confidence.
9. The disciples saw it, they believed it and they acted upon it. The disciples were told to wait on the Holy Spirit in Acts 1:8 2:1–4 and, of course, they began to evangelize in foreign dialects. There were signs and miracles in the early days of the church. The book of Acts is the history of the early church; and how it began as a band of brothers and spread throughout the ancient world. To see the missionary journeys of the Apostle Paul; and much of this was accompanied with signs and miracles. Jesus Christ dwelt in the tabernacle of Israel, then in His human body, and now in us. Jesus Christ indwells us. The actions of these disciples reveal the power of witnessing the resurrection. Jesus conquered death and so can we. Paul was one of the greatest witnesses of them all. He is another very powerful proof of the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Paul cites some of those who saw the Lord and there were many others; but this is a convincing list of eyewitnesses. This a undeniable proof.

Then Paul cites himself as a witness, the 2nd to the last witness to our Lord, John being the last. At the time of the writing, Paul is the final witness, and therefore, the last witness.

Acts 9:3 Now as he went on his way, he approached Damascus, and suddenly a light from heaven flashed around him.

Acts 9:4 And falling to the ground he heard a voice saying to him, "Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?"

Acts 9:5 And he said, "Who are you, Lord?" And he said, "I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting.

Acts 22:18–21 and saw him saying to me, 'Make haste and get out of Jerusalem quickly, because they will not accept your testimony about me.' And I said, 'Lord, they themselves know that in one synagogue after another I imprisoned and beat those who believed in you. And when the blood of Stephen your witness was being shed, I myself was standing by and approving and watching over the garments of those who killed him.' And he said to me, 'Go, for I will send you far away to the Gentiles.'"

Now, Paul did not want to go to the Gentiles; he wanted to go to his own people, the Jews. Paul wanted to be in Jerusalem, but God wanted him out of there. Paul was ready to argue his points with the Pharisees, and there was a riot and they would have torn him to pieces. He was rescued by the Romans from this mob. He was again imprisoned for this public disorder which Paul had caused. The Romans put Paul into jail in order to keep the peace in Jerusalem.

Paul was visited by Jesus in that prison. Acts 23:11 The following night the Lord stood by him and said, "Take courage, for as you have testified to the facts about me in Jerusalem, so you must testify also in Rome." It is ironic that God put Paul as a missionary to the gentiles, as this was not his original passion.

Paul calls himself εκτρομα which means prematurely born, a puny birth, an untimely birth; an abortion.

Final Few Words

1. Paul called himself a living abortion.
2. Paul sees himself as the lowest of the low, an abortion.
3. This is factual; Paul was an abortion.
4. Paul assures all of his total unworthiness to have been given the honor of seeing the resurrected Christ. He is totally unworthy. They all know the Apostle Paul and what he has done.
5. His focus is on the grace of God for even allowing it.

1Cor. 15:8 Yet last of all He was seen by me also – as if it were by one born prematurely (or: in a miscarriage; by one forth from out of a wound).

V. 9 describes why he was the least deserving.

Paul is a man with blood on his hands; he had a burden to kill Christians. He was a persecutor of the church, and God made him the greatest Apostle who brought us almost all of the great doctrines of the Church Age.

1Cor. 15:9 For I, myself, am the smallest (thus: the least one) of the sent-forth emissaries (apostles), who am not adequate to reach [the stature] to be normally called (named) an apostle, because I pursued and persecuted God's called-out (or: the assembly of the called-out).

Lesson #1026

1Cor. 15: February 18, 2010

Thursday

Paul names himself as the final eyewitness in the appearances of Jesus Christ post-crucifixion. Paul saw Jesus after the ascension.

Paul views himself as unworthy of this honor. He uses the description ektroma, which could refer to a premature birth, an abortion. Paul is denigrating himself. He is not beating around the bush here. This is self-abasement, but for a specific reason and a specific purpose. He was unqualified for seeing the Lord. He was given the greatest of all gifts. He uses this in a much stronger sense. He calls himself a living abortion. This is a not a reference to an induced medical procedure, it is a metaphor. What happened to him is something which should never have taken place. Paul uses the metaphor of abortion for something which should have never happened in the first place. This should never have occurred. This contact with the risen Christ should never have happened. In his view, he should never have been made an Apostle. Given Paul's background, it is almost absurd that Jesus Christ would show Himself to Paul. Paul has a very good reason for using this epithet. Those to whom Jesus revealed Himself previously were His disciples and had been with Him. The focus here is on the grace of God. Great grace that Paul was chosen as the Apostle Paul, the least worthy of anyone to be chosen to see the Lord. Paul calls himself unfit because he had such a horrible background. He was the mortal enemy of Christ. There was no one alive more than Paul who hated Christ.

1Ti 1:12–14 I thank him who has given me strength, Christ Jesus our Lord, because he judged me faithful, appointing me to his service, though formerly I was a blasphemer, persecutor, and insolent opponent. But I received mercy because I had acted ignorantly in unbelief, and the grace of our Lord overflowed for me with the faith and love that are in Christ Jesus.

Paul was aggressive in his persecution of Jesus Christ. Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners among whom I am the chief. No other Apostle had the credential of hate. He despised Christians; he believed that the scum of the earth were Christians. Paul absolutely would have been at the crucifixion, had he been given the chance.

The first we hear of Paul is, he held the coats of those who stoned Stephen. He has every reason now to be self-effacing. It took an amazing confrontation with Jesus Christ on the Damascus road. He is least likely apart from that to be converted to Christianity. You would think that, with this background, that God would have sent him to the Jews; the perfect one to go to the religious leaders, to the Jews, and God did not. God had a plan. Paul had to overcome a prejudice and a preference to go to the Jews.

On the Damascus Road, he was the man least deserving of being chosen by God. However, he was an absolute trophy to the grace of God. No one deserved less and no one received more.

Paul was able to use himself as an excellent example of grace. He was the least deserving of grace, and God gave him great grace. These people needed to recall the grace of God which was given to them, not their own merit.

The Corinthians were competitive in their spiritual service. They were competitive in their piety. Paul approaches this from a different stance. "I am the least-deserving."

What application should you be making? No matter what your background, or your current status of immaturity, God's plan for us is in operation. So now, we simply step into the plan of God.

Even the best of us should be able to recognize that we are recipients of great grace.

The Plan of God and us

1. We can only step into the plan of God as a believer when you grow in grace and knowledge of our Lord and you are filled with the Holy Spirit for longer and longer periods of time. We need to metabolize Bible doctrine.

2. As you mature, what happens? You come to understand Him. You come to understand His ways and how He works. That is the background for His plan. If you understand the Planner, then you begin to understand His plan.
3. More importantly we begin to see His hand working in our life. As we begin to mature, we actually begin to see it. We are more attuned to His plan through doctrine in our souls. Many things happen in our life and as we grow, we begin to see how the Lord works.
4. More and more we see how he is always with us. Never is there a time when He is not. The grace of God never fails, never quits and never leaves us alone. This is how we begin to get into His plan and how we begin to recognize it. We realize there is nothing outside of His capability. We must realize that there is nothing outside of His control. He has a plan for every believer. His hand is in everything.
5. If you begin to think in all these ways, you are beginning to develop a personal sense of destiny. You can hear it over and over again, but you need to know doctrine in order to get it. Once you gain this personal sense of destiny, then you begin to understand His plan.
7. As you continue to mature, you desire to execute that plan. This is where God's plan and us meet. We desire to execute it. So you look for it and you look for ways to execute it. God's plan is in operation every day. We don't have that many days. We don't have that many days until eternity. What is it worth to spend a few days or years outside of the plan of God. The benefit is, this is the best. We have stepped outside the grace of God. Always think grace.
8. You begin to respond to the doctrine in your soul. You also apply it to the circumstances of your life. When you do that, you are in His plan.
9. The application of doctrine in the circumstances of your life morph into execution of the plan of God utilizing your spiritual gift. Rom. 14:7-8 For none of us lives to himself, and none of us dies to himself. For if we live, we live to the Lord, and if we die, we die to the Lord. So then, whether we live or whether we die, we are the Lord's. This is the attitude of living inside the plan of God. When you think like that, you cannot help but be in the plan of God.
10. With that attitude, the plan of God unfolds in your life. It is not something that you have to strain out. It is not something you have to go after aggressively. With this attitude, the plan of God unfolds in your life. The plan of God is put into effect in operation. It is always there. However, in the process described, we are realizing it and living it. However, you can still be in God's plan when immature. You are simply not as effective. You do not have full comprehension. This does not mean that you are not spending some time there. God is working on us in ways to get us further into His plan. He is always with us. He never leaves us alone. He just keeps pushing us and working circumstances and bringing us to the point of His plan and working His plan. God's plan is where we ought to be headed and He works to put us into the process. At some point, we have to enter into God's plan. God will give us logistical grace. He will give us everything that we need, but if we do not continue in the process, you will not execute it. You simply metabolize Bible doctrine. As you do that, you have more and more opportunities to function in God's plan. This is what you need. God opens doors for us; He leads us. We develop the motivation to execute His plan. We are prepared to walk through the open doors that He places in front of us.

Bobby can tell of many times in his own life, where God opened doors for him to walk through. This is when things get good. We always have a plan for our life. It is not as if it materializes as we move along. It is always there. God already knows where He wants us to go. The past is there. All we do is walk through it. You must be able to execute God's plan. When we try to do our own thing, we are a loser.

Paul was the persecutor, tearing down the church which he would later build up.

1Cor. 15:8 Yet last of all He was seen by me also – as if it were by one born prematurely (or: in a miscarriage; by one forth from out of a wound).

Διοκω aorist active indicative. This is taking a look at all of his persecutions and gathering them together. All the dirty details and cruelty all lumped into one group. It is lumped into an effort or into a process. The aorist denotes the attainment of that objective. Paul went through the process of persecuting. This was no small time persecutor; he was the godfather of persecutors and he was the most feared. He loved it; he was zealous. He could hardly wait to get on the road to find more believers to kill. Paul believed that he was doing God's work, to rid the world of these apostates and liars. Such is the oppression of misguided religiosity. What horrors that religion perpetrates.

Torquemada was the more famous inquisitor, and he had the same type of deluded zealotry as did Paul. The same deadly result. There were inquisitions all over Europe, but he was the most famous. This was to root out apostates (in their opinion) and to convert unbelievers, as if unbelievers can be converted through torture.

It must have been difficult for Paul to see Jesus and realize the horror of what he had done. There is a great power in the grace of God. The most religious, pious anti-grace legalist. The self righteous consider themselves to be the greatest when they are the least.

Paul murdered in the name of religious, pious legalism. Paul was brilliant and highly educated. Religious piety and the sin nature result in killing others.

This is the portrait of the religious zealots of Islam. Paul was also a religious zealot. Paul's self-effacing really has some merit. The grace of God gets all of the merit for Paul's circumstances.

1Cor. 15:9 For I, myself, am the smallest (thus: the least one) of the sent-forth emissaries (apostles), who am not adequate to reach [the stature] to be normally called (named) an apostle, because I pursued and persecuted God's called-out (or: the assembly of the called-out).

Paul did not move forward because of the guilt complex; for him, it was the grace of God.

1Cor. 15:10 Yet in (by; for) God's grace, I am what I am, and His [placed]-into-me grace was not birthed to be empty, but on the contrary, I toiled to exhaustion by hard labor in excess of them all – yet not I, but rather God's grace together with me.

Lesson #1027

1Cor. 15: February 21, 2010

Sunday 1

This verse is a combination of grace and works, something which people have so confused in their minds. God's grace always takes first place and then works. The overall subject is the resurrection.

The question we ought to ask is, who is Paul; what is his past? We all have a past which brings us into the moment. The past often shapes what and who we are. Or it shapes what we are not. Some build on the past and learn lessons of life and some simply put the past behind them. Both of these are true to some extent. Paul's past is in stark contrast to his present. He will call himself a blasphemer, a persecutor and he calls himself a pharisee of the pharisees. He was zealous and chief of the persecutors. He was the most well-known. He hated the name of Jesus Christ. To him, Christ was the great Satan. He was an expert in the Old Testament and, he thought that this Jesus was a fakir and Paul would say this whenever he could. Paul had an attitude which was similar to that of Caiphus the chief priest. Paul had the same attitude. And he was willing, with this attitude, and he was sanctioned to murder believers in Jesus Christ. It was his purpose in life to murder Christians. He was famous for this and feared for it. Saul was not much different from an Islamic fanatic today, doing Allah's work as a butcher. Paul was not just displaying some humility. Paul was not worthy of anything; he was totally unworthy of his position. This violent persecutor is the last person on earth who would become an Apostle of Christ.

Christians that he did not even know were his greatest enemies. No one of us merits anything in the eyes of God. God gave this office to Paul and empowered him for the task which He set before Paul. Paul was a great witness and evangelist; and he was a great theologian, giving us the mystery doctrine. We still benefit from Paul's teaching.

Paul, in this persecution of believers, thought that he was doing God's work. He believed that he was doing God's work to get rid of them. He was accomplishing something good for God, in his own thinking. No human good is a part of God's plan. Paul is an excellent example of zealous religious legalism for human good. These men of Allah think that they are doing good by killing others in the name of Allah. Anything considered good by an unbeliever or even a believer is human good. The problem is, some of that often becomes evil. Human good carries no value with God.

Not all attempts at human good are evil, unlike Paul and his fanaticism. Human good can have beneficial results for humanity. So Bobby is not denigrating that type of human good. Particularly, human good from unbelievers, because that is all that they can produce. Every unbeliever in this world has an option, and that option is human good.

There are the divine establishment institutions. What does human good do as a part of the divine establishment institutions?

What Does Human Good do

1. Altruism and benevolence among individuals; charity, and it is going on in Haiti and it is a good thing.
2. Human good is also foundational for stability for marriage and family. A sense of responsibility and nurture. It is a necessity.
3. The preservation of a nation and freedom. Human good is related to these divine establishment institutions.

The grace of God gives the believer the capability of a much greater good; divine good. We have the capability of a much greater good than that which preserves society and the world around us.

Divine Good

1. The production from the grace of God.
2. Divine good carries merit with God. It is always accomplished in His power and of His glory. It never focuses on human motivation and actions. Some give to charity or go to church so that others think that you are a good person. This is for personal glory; but divine good is about God's glory.
3. Divine good can be exactly the same deed as human good.
4. Divine good is always deeds accomplished in the power of the filling of the Holy Spirit. This glorifies God.
5. Divine good is motivated by the spiritual life. This is always apart from our own motivation. This is a motivation and life that the unbeliever has no access to. Divine good can only be accomplished by the believer.
6. The impetus in the soul that accomplishes divine good mirrors the same type of motivation as Jesus Christ, Who died for the human race. That is the epitome of divine good and that attitude is that attitude which is in us.
7. Such good is the function of impersonal virtue love. This is the monopoly of the mature believer. That is where divine good comes from. It is the motivation to witness or to help those whom you do not even like.
8. That carries merit with God because it is His power under which such good is accomplished.
9. The result: we may be persecuted in this life of who you are, even for the divine good which you produce; this these good is eternal and God is glorified by it forever. Good is good.
10. The deeds may be the same, but the impetus, the power and the motivation may all be different.

Human good includes something which we confuse all of the time. Morality is beneficial; it is good for a society; however, morality is not divine good.

Morality

this is the epitome of human good in the soul of the believer or unbeliever.

1. Morality is a human system of control of the old sin nature. This is the only system the unbeliever can have and preserve a nation.
2. Mankind, without morality, will break down and degenerate into evil and destruction to the society.
3. The laws of divine establishment are true morality and they protect human freedom and the function of community. If there is no morality, then it is anarchy. It is chaotic evil; tyranny.
4. A conclusion: morality is for the survival of the entire human race. That is a good thing. However, it will end up being ghg.
5. An unbeliever can and ought to be moral. That is the bedrock of a civilization or a nation.
6. Morality cannot provide salvation or spirituality for the human race. Many people think that if they keep the Ten Commandments that God will recognize them and bless them. Morality was designed for Israel, but believers and unbelievers together. That is where the grace of God comes to the rescue. Morality is important, but it is not everything. Believers ought to be moral, but Christianity is not being moral or doing good deeds. First and foremost, Christianity is a relationship with God through Christ. After this, the believer operates via the grace of God, being filled with the Holy Spirit. Faith alone in Christ alone is the starting point, not morality. Eph. 2:8–9 is one of the great grace passages. Because of the grace of God, we can produce the greatest good for the greatest number. We live the greatest life that there is. But we ought to be moral.
7. Morality with the believer exists side-by-side with the believer. Human good often degenerates into evil; but what God accomplishes in His grace is never evil. There are no unintended consequences.
8. Morality can be accomplished without being a Christian. Morality does not produce deeds which merit favor from God, but these deeds are good for the human race. God is impressed with His grace and what it accomplishes in us; God is not impressed with what we do.
9. Volition and conscience in the soul of a person. Morality controls of the evil of the sin nature. But it is not the function of the grace of God.

Bravo for human good but highest kudos for divine good. Divine good is our obligation. Our life is the production of divine good. Jesus Christ controls history, and He blesses a nation where there are believers producing divine good. Without divine good being produced, we do not have a hope.

1Cor. 15:10 Yet in (by; for) God's grace, I am what I am, and His [placed]-into-me grace was not birthed to be empty, but on the contrary, I toiled to exhaustion by hard labor in excess of them all – yet not I, but rather God's grace together with me.

1Cor. 15: February 21, 2010

Sunday 2

There is the production of the Christian life. Human good can be evil. Human good can be good. Many people in this world do good deeds and that is important. Without these deeds, the divine institutions do not operate. The preservation of our world depends upon human good. However, this has no favor with God. No unbeliever can produce divine good as we can.

Morality is important for the preservation of the human race. Morality falls far short with regards to favor with God. Morality is the source of human good. Anything an unbeliever can do is not the spiritual life. Divine good comes from the power of God the Holy Spirit. Human good is never the function of the grace of God in the believer. Anytime we are out of fellowship and produce a good deed, there is some merit in that, but none with God. Human good does not glorify God. Morality can never hope to equal the power of the Christian life. We know that Christ pioneered the spiritual life during the first advent. There is nothing like that in the realm of human morality and human good. Our divine good cannot be apart from Jesus Christ.

Paul's persecution of believers has been forgiven. He was one of the great killers of all time; one of the great men of genocide, has been forgiven. No matter how hard people try to persecute believers in Jesus Christ. Paul's horrendous acts of persecuting believers has been forgiven. Paul was called an ektroma, which refers to an abortion; a metaphor. A spiritual birth which ought not to have happened. Human viewpoint would ask, how can this man be acceptable to God? Now he is an adopted son as a believer. Did his past matter in the eyes of God? Absolutely not. He went from the worst to the best. He is now reformed. He did not accomplish a certain number of hours in eternity past. That does not bring the grace of God to him; it is Christ's forgiveness at the cross. Paul could have wallowed in guilt. It is good to remember Paul and what he did, and yet God used him in a way that we all must be thankful for.

By the same grace of God and the filling of the Holy Spirit, Paul is what he is, be the grace of God. Paul accomplished a lot of good in his life. But he does not make up from the past with the good he has done. From a human abortion, who should never have been forgiven, to the greatest Apostle. Paul is called the Apostle of grace because this was his life. He lived it. No one understood grace more than Paul did. Grace is the only means of blessing from God; not human good.

Is there anyway that Paul could have atoned for his past? Could he have gone about from church to church to gain the forgiveness of each member of the church? Paul is a living, walking, breathing testimony to the grace of God. God does everything and man does the receiving of blessing. Paul deserved no blessing; he deserved death. As a pharisee, he was the worst of the worst. He came out of legalism and all the works of human good.

God supplies blessing to those who would live the spiritual life. Heb. 12:6 Paul certainly got a few spankings. The benevolence and the grace of God supplies that for us. God's grace is involved in everything that we do. This is how perverted Paul formerly was. This is how perverted he was in God's sight. He believed that he was doing good by killing God's enemies (in his eyes). He was the legalist of all legalists.

Paul killed Christians because of the grace of God. Now, as a believer, he is teaching doctrine and he is not even switching to human good. That is his labor. Paul is a believer because of Jesus Christ; he is an Apostle by the grace of God. It is through God's grace that he produces divine good. His previous boasting and self-elevation was replaced with the grace of God and an attitude of genuine humility. Vv. 9–10 are expressions of Paul's true humility. Our churches today are filled with people. Human good might produce some good, but it is not eternal. Divine good is done for the glory of God and human good is done for the glory of mankind.

Grace orientation reflects humility. Humility is understanding God's grace policy. When you mature as a believer, you can look back and see what God has done in your life. Your soul has been renovated. The grace of God becomes so real. The grace of God is extended to all strata of society.

It is great that there is human morality and human good. This is why we are safe in our homes and people are not trying to break in all of the time. However, human good cannot compare to divine good.

The grace of God is our life. We are nothing without the grace of God. This knowledge motivates humility in our souls. This is freedom from arrogance and human viewpoint and elevating ourselves. This is Paul's modus operandi.

Paul is writing to these Corinthians and he talks a bit about himself. He wants to make a point about grace to the Corinthians because they are not grace orientated. They cannot accomplish anything because they are filled with legalism and strife. If Paul can operate at the highest rank, how can these believers elevate themselves in the arrogant boasting of human good. They need to be teachable and grace oriented.

We are here by the grace of God. In a spiritual gift, sometimes we think, "Wow am I ever smart" but we cannot think that. If we start getting fatheaded about our own accomplishments, we are what we are by the grace of God. His grace toward me did not prove vain. Paul did not work in vain, which connotes legalism and human good. That attitude and that action which is so non-productive and useless and vain in service to the Lord.

Bobby has seen many of the gothic cathedrals in Europe; they were and are built to the grace of God. You can understand that when you look at them and they are glorious edifices. But you walk in and it is cold and dark and damp; and these things were really produced for the glory of man. They were monuments to the church and to the builders. The believers associated with these buildings were directly related to the buildings themselves; cold and empty inside.

If you are not grace oriented, then you can put on a wonderful facade. In many cases, these buildings took a hundred years to complete. The builder and designer who started them did not live to see them completed.

Paul understood and utilized grace to the maximum. Paul is exalting the grace of God; not himself. Paul operates now in the filling of the Holy Spirit.

Συυ + εγω which means together with me.

Closing Points

1. The grace of God together with me implies close fellowship and cooperation.
2. The grace of God for producing or laboring is always accomplished by means of God the Holy Spirit.
3. Paul is in fellowship accomplishing God's plan for him by means of the grace of God in the Person of the Holy Spirit.
4. The filling of the Holy Spirit is the grace of God in laboring for God. Without the filling of the Holy Spirit, there is not divine good.
5. That is how the laboring becomes divine good. This is solely dependent upon the grace of God.
6. The Holy Spirit operates in conjunction with the believer to the grace of God. The grace of God together with me.
7. This is the only way to produce divine good. There is no labor for Him without the filling of the Holy Spirit. You cannot leave the grace of God out.

Paul preached and they believed.

1Cor. 15:10 Yet in (by; for) God's grace, I am what I am, and His [placed]-into-me grace was not birthed to be empty, but on the contrary, I toiled to exhaustion by hard labor in excess of them all – yet not I, but rather God's grace together with me.

Lesson #1029

1Cor. 15:10–11 February 24, 2010

Wednesday

In v. 10, Paul completed a statement of the critical nature of God; and grace orientation. Grace orientation is absolutely important to every believer and most believers have no knowledge of the grace of God. By the grace of God, I am what I am. Because without the grace of God, and you being what you are, there is no plan of God. God's plan is grace; it is always grace. Here Paul expresses genuine humility from his soul. This is not some arrogant statement that Paul uses to puff himself up. It is because of God's grace, that Paul's labors are not in vain.

Paul worked very hard at what he did. He was an Apostle; and few labored as hard as he; he even said he labored harder than any Apostle. Can you imagine doing what Paul does and still, it is not enough?

Paul takes no credit to himself, no matter how much he puts into it. He put his life and fortune into it; he is all in. He is running completely on the grace of God. Paul does the hard work of ministry. The imprisonment, the shipwrecks, the beatings; he did that, and that was a part of his hard work for the ministry.

No matter how many churches Paul plants in faraway places, he still says, it is God's grace together with me. This is close fellowship with God; nothing left out. There is no production or any work for the Lord without partnering with the grace of God.

If anyone has reason to leave off the phrase the grace of God with me, Paul does. But he recognizes this as God's grace for him to be able to do what he does. People get this mixed up because they do not understand how to get the Holy Spirit, so they operate on human power. They might do a lot of good things, but it is strictly human good. Mostly, human good is motivated by ego and self-elevation. There are often unintended evil consequences. Divine good does not and cannot have unintended evil consequences.

Together with the Grace of God

1. Human good is not accomplished together with the grace of God. Leave out the grace of God and Christian production is left behind. It is not divine good. It is not partnered with the grace of God.
2. Human effort is certainly part of the equation, but it is not the determining factor of success. If anyone could say, my ministry is successful; look at all that I have done; it is Paul, but he does not say that.
3. Without the grace of God, human effort is not a part of the plan of God. There are Christians in Haiti right now who are doing great work; but it is not divine good if it is not in conjunction with the grace of God. The result is often evil.
4. The plan of God cannot be accomplished without utilizing the grace of God. You cannot be in the plan of God unless you are operating together with His grace.
5. Laboring apart from His grace is not productive; it is done in vain.

Production and the Grace of God

1. The grace of God for production always centers on the power of the Holy Spirit. Those in the auditorium ought to be able to produce divine good.
2. The Holy Spirit empowers the spiritual life. He is the true motivation and impetus for production. The spiritual life cannot exist apart from the grace of God. We must utilize the grace of God in order to operate in the spiritual life. We are motivated to do divine good. We have the means and the motive. Do not ever underestimate the importance of the spiritual life to motivate and to sustain our production. It is the only divinely... Every time we are out of fellowship, there is rebound; and when there is difficulty, there is faith rest. If Paul is laboring in vain, then what about us? Paul attributes his life and ministry to the filling of the Holy Spirit.

If we operate in our spiritual life, then we have the motivation to do it. It applies to us as well. It definitely applies to us. Paul is not just talking out of one side of his mouth. God's plan is grace. The grace of God together with me, is the plan of God and us operating inside of it. So many Christians want to produce so that others think that they are great.

You do not operate so that the world will love you. Things do not get easier in the plan of God. When God's grace is there, it does get easier. The spiritual life is working for us.

Everything that we do in the plan of God receives the blessing of God. Which would you rather have, the favor of God or the favor of man?

We partner with the grace of God. This is for producing divine good. This is the good that we are obligated to produce. We will all face our Lord at the Judgment Seat of Christ. Some of us will have wood, hay and stubble which will go up in smoke. Produce divine good under the auspices of God. It starts with the intake of Bible doctrine. It ends with production of divine good. You cannot separate your own efforts from the grace of God.

1Cor. 15:10 Yet in (by; for) God's grace, I am what I am, and His [placed]-into-me grace was not birthed to be empty, but on the contrary, I toiled to exhaustion by hard labor in excess of them all – yet not I, but rather God's grace together with me.

Paul continues the thought of v. 10. V. 11 puts it all into perspective for us. It does not matter who does it. Resurrection is proclaimed by all; it is a basic of Christianity under the grace of God. Resurrection is an essential and true part of Christian doctrine. All of them proclaim the facts of the gospel, and Paul tells them that the resurrection is a part of the gospel. To be an Apostle, one needs to have seen the resurrected Christ. Even though the Corinthians had not bought into the bodily resurrection, Paul can still say, "You have believed." Can you be saved by believing in a dead God? Of course not. That is illogical. They cannot believe in Christ and not believe in the resurrection. Every Apostle proclaimed Jesus risen. It is the Corinthians who are an anomaly. They are the ones who are out of synch.

Paul is not implying that they have ceased in believing in the gospel; he wants to remind them of what they believed; and then he can move into the realm of the doctrine of resurrection.

1Cor. 15:11 Whether, therefore, I or those, in this way we are constantly preaching the message, and in this way you folks came (or: come) to trust and believe.

In v. 12, we get into the guts of this chapter and this is where Paul will clarify his position. If Christ is risen, then the dead in Christ will also rise. Nothing could be more important for their future. This is why we can believe in our eternal future. It is based upon our own future resurrection. We can live our lives in the light of eternity knowing that the resurrection of our own bodies is near. The time we are alive is a short time. We are like a spec in the vast universe and then we are gone. We have eternity in front of us.

If you want a monument to yourself, the produce divine good. Those who have their names on buildings mean nothing. These are hard-headed Corinthians; they have so much doctrine in front of them, they do not get it.

1Cor. 15:12 Now since (or: if) Christ is habitually being preached (heralded) that He has been, and remains, awakened and raised up from out of the midst of dead ones, how are some among you folks repeatedly saying that there is (there exists) no resurrection of dead ones?

Then Paul takes them to the logical conclusion of their thinking, if you are not resurrected, then Christ is not raised and you can believe whatever you want to believe.

Paul begins v. 12 with a conditional clause based upon reality. There is no logic to hearing and believing the gospel of Jesus Christ; and yet, "You don't believe that He has been resurrected? That is completely illogical."

it is a common problem for a believer to reject this or that doctrine which is integral to Bible doctrine. The hearer only believes what he or she deems to be appropriate. The Corinthians heard it from the Apostles and they still don't believe it.

Here Is a Taste of What You Do When You Reject a Doctrine:

1. You reject a doctrine because it may conflict with something which you always believed before. It can be exegeted perfectly and you reject it still. Maybe you reject the way the message is given; or maybe, you are concerned when all of the great spiritual masters and theologians, and this makes them wrong. The doctrine from Berachah for 53 years covers the spiritual life and reveals it better than what is taught at the seminary that Bobby attended. The more Bobby compared with what he got at church, the more he realized that the truth was being taught at Berachah.
2. Some believers do not like dogmatic presentations; or they do not like dogmatic personalities. Some just do not like the way doctrine is packaged. Many pastors do not want to teach dogmatically. Maybe, in their minds, there is a little wiggle room there. No pastor ought to stand in the pulpit and say those harsh things. Who does he think he is? No one can be so certain of doctrine. Aren't there other opinions?
3. Biblical doctrine may conflict with a secular norm or preconception. We are all steeped in humanism. It is all some people know; and often, it permeates our thinking.
4. It has no relevancy for a person's immediate situation. Doctrine solves all problems; you just have to stick with it.
5. The application for a doctrine is something someone does not like or does not want to do. We want to have our own way. The believer under those conditions does not care what the Bible says. If I go to Bible class too much, I may have to live the spiritual life. But this is not about legalism or obeying a set of rules. What God provides is always for our best interest in the light of eternity.
6. It cuts into your favorite activities and it takes too much time. Is it really too much to give 7 hours a week to God? Some reject that. I have better things to do; there is a party to go to; a date, going out of the country.

Lesson #1030

1Cor. 15:11 February 25, 2010

Thursday

The Corinthians are saved; Paul remind them of that fact in v. 11: they are saved, but they have rejected a critical part of salvation. Paul is writing to correct their misconceptions. The problem with rejecting resurrection, the problem is simple. If Christ had not been raised, then salvation itself is just not possible. Without the resurrection, it matters not what anyone believes. It does not matter if you are a humanist or a hedonist. If God the Father did not raise Jesus Christ from the dead, then He cannot be the Savior; He is still dead. If He did not defeat death, then we cannot defeat death. We are lost and still in our sins. What benefit is it in trusting in Jesus Christ if He is dead? You might as well worship stone gods.

In v. 11, Paul assumes the Corinthians that they are saved. They responded with faith alone in Christ alone. You do not have to believe the doctrine of resurrection to be saved. Jesus Christ has presented to us a package of salvation that we must accept.

The resurrection must be real, because they have believed in Christ and they are saved. Paul will dispel circular reasoning. Circular reasoning is not always good reasoning. You begin at a point and you start out by believing point A which will lead eventually back to point A. However, Paul is going to take them in a linear logic. We will start with the logic of their salvation. Paul wants to take them to point B (the resurrection, which they do not believe, as of yet). So Paul will take them from salvation to the resurrection.

Our faith can be grounded in logic. Paul and the Corinthians all believe in Jesus Christ, so Paul will take them to the resurrection. If they believe in Christ (which Paul reminds them of in v. 11) then logically they must believe in the resurrection. The two of these go together. They are inseparable. The former is not true if the latter is not true.

1Cor. 15:11 Whether, therefore, I or those, in this way we are constantly preaching the message, and in this way you folks came (or: come) to trust and believe.

Paul tells them that they heard the salvation message of Christ and they believed; so how can they say that there is no resurrection of the dead? We have all seen the resurrected Christ. So, how can you reject the resurrection when you believe in Jesus Christ. Then in v. 13, If there is no resurrection from the dead, then not even Christ has been raised. Paul is already taking them from point A to point B.

Bobby is going to remind us how some believers get in trouble; they believe in some doctrines but not in others. Why would a believer reject a doctrine from the divinely inspired Bible? What causes believers to defy the Word of God in some areas?

Repeat and review of the doctrine from the other day.

Here Is a Taste of What You Do When You Reject a Doctrine:

1. You reject a doctrine because it may conflict with something which you always believed before. It can be exegeted perfectly and you reject it still. Maybe you reject the way the message is given; or maybe, you are concerned when all of the great spiritual masters and theologians, and this makes them wrong. The doctrine from Berachah for 53 years covers the spiritual life and reveals it better than what is taught at the seminary that Bobby attended. The more Bobby compared with what he got at church, the more he realized that the truth was being taught at Berachah. The listener hears the truth, and he sees this in the Word of God, then he becomes the arbiter of which he will accept—a long-standing view or the Word of God. The choice usually boils down to which doctrine or which teacher pleases them the most. Bible doctrine is not designed to please. It does not matter if you are pleased with Bible doctrine. Bible doctrine is designed to reveal God; to reveal Christ. Sometimes, it is not very pleasing to our own sensibilities. Some believers are just not receptive to changing their beliefs when it involves some prejudice that they cannot let go. It does not matter that the doctrine all fits together; they just don't want to reject what they already believe.

2. Some people do not like dogma; they feel that this endangers their personal freedom to accept dogmatic teaching. They do not know how liberating the spiritual life is. They do not know how free it is to be free of human bonds of sin, good and evil. Most of the world has nothing like this to hang onto. That is the advantage of the absolutes. Our life is lived in the absolutes. Many of us come from a very relative background. Some believers do not like dogmatic presentations; or they do not like dogmatic personalities. Some just do not like the way doctrine is packaged. Many pastors do not want to teach dogmatically. Maybe, in their minds, there is a little wiggle room there. No pastor ought to stand in the pulpit and say those harsh things. Who does he think he is? No one can be so certain of doctrine. Aren't there other opinions?
3. Bible doctrine may conflict with a secular, humanistic standard. There were problems which the Corinthians had from their old time religion. Humanism is all around us. We face it every day. We are so bombarded with humanism. Our friends outside of the church often believe this. Humanism is the cosmic system. This is Satan's realm. It is designed to confuse and to befuddle believers. That is what the cosmic system does. Satan will do everything that he can to deceive us. Believers blinded by the cosmic system reject doctrine which conflicts with the philosophy of the cosmic system. The cosmic system never satisfies or fulfills. The cosmic system never takes us where it promises to take us. Some of us have been inundated in the cosmic system where we are. People reject doctrine all the time when it conflicts with the cosmic system. Biblical doctrine may conflict with a secular norm or preconception. We are all steeped in humanism. It is all some people know; and often, it permeates our thinking.
4. Sometimes, the application of a doctrine is something which a believer does not want to hear or deal with. It takes you to a place you don't want to go. Doctrine conflicts with your lifestyle and/or desires in life. Life gets in the way; circumstances get in the way. Most believers think that you need to grow spiritually, but they reject rebound or growth by learning Bible doctrine. Some legalistic believers think that rebound is just too easy; and they may feel the same way about salvation. They see rebound as a license for believers to do what they want to do. We all have a tendency to do what we want to do from time to time. Rebound is not a license to sin but a license to grow up and to serve. It is just as indispensable to the Christian life as any other doctrine. You reject the purpose of rebound and you reject the doctrine itself. The result is, the believer produces a lot of human good and they never grow spiritually. It has no relevancy for a person's immediate situation. Doctrine solves all problems; you just have to stick with it.

5. Doctrine may have been heard, but subconsciously they may have rejected it. They may think that they have accepted it, for one of the reasons above. They might even give lip service to the doctrine, but they never use it. They never apply this doctrine. Instead of applying the doctrine, the old instincts take over. Human viewpoint overtakes or supplants divine viewpoint. The trends of your sin nature just come rushing back in. We all fall into this trap in various areas. We all have a sin nature. We all get out of fellowship. In carnality, doctrine cannot be metabolized. So, you can be going to church, etc., but doctrine cannot be accepted or believed in while you remain out of fellowship. Pretty soon, you are a mess when it comes to life's situations. The grace of God by way of the filling of the Holy Spirit is grieved and quenched. Sometimes the old instincts are there ready to pop back in, waiting for you to reject a doctrine. The application for a doctrine is something someone does not like or does not want to do. We want to have our own way. The believer under those conditions does not care what the Bible says. If I go to Bible class too much, I may have to live the spiritual life. But this is not about legalism or obeying a set of rules. What God provides is always for our best interest in the light of eternity.
6. Then people reject doctrine. They say, "Doctrine does not work; I am not getting the results that I want. It is not happening for me. I must find a new Christian relevancy." How many people have left Berachah in complete reaction. First of all, they say they are going to go to another doctrinal church; however, when they do land in another church, they often fall into a legalistic church. There is no spiritual freedom because no one is living the Christian life. That is not freedom; doctrine is freedom when you can apply it in your own soul. You need to discover that doctrine is your life. Some people complain, "Doctrine, doctrine, doctrine, that is all they teach over there." What is better than that? It cuts into your favorite activities and it takes too much time. Is it really too much to give 7 hours a week to God? Some reject that. I have better things to do; there is a party to go to; a date, going out of the country.
7. When we reject doctrine, it is because it does not fit our own criterion of spiritual success. We have these expectations of what God is going to do for us. Our spiritual life is not a success in our own eyes, because we are not thinking with doctrine.

So what gets applied when doctrine is rejected? You latch on to human viewpoint. You go back to what you used to do. Your human viewpoint solutions just do not wash; they never have. You end up in the same vicious circle of failure. That is the source of real misery and desperation of life.

Don't let others make you back down. These fit all of us. Continue to renovate your thinking. Accept the doctrine that comes from the Bible even when you don't like it; even when it steps on your toes. Doctrine guides you and leads you into the plan of God, which is your obligation to live. People too often see doctrine as some sort of a noose. The solution for the believer is consistency in doctrine. When you are not regular in your acquisition of doctrine, you lose focus. That is easy to have happen. Your premature judgments; living by your circumstances. Your circumstances are irrelevant when it comes to doctrine. Sooner or later, the doctrine you learn will be put to good use. Focus on the doctrine, not upon your circumstances. The circumstances of our life supercedes the doctrine in our life. It is the difference between a moment in life and living in the light of eternity. Don't focus on what is going on in your life right now. Learn doctrine so that you can have a perspective outside of yourself. Do that so that you can think in terms of eternity; so that you can live your life with a view towards eternity.

You need doctrine from a qualified person; you do not need the opinion of another lay person. You don't attend a Bible group so that the blind can lead the blind. Do not get in a round table discussion as to what a verse means. The one intended meaning comes from a pastor-teacher who puts all of this together. Too many voices is the source of great confusion among the sheep. When they are not professionals, you will get aberations and problems. Unfortunately, Christians do not always get that. It is necessary that you understand passages so that you are not confused by some Christians misunderstanding of some passage.

The only way your thinking remains renovated. That is your front line defense. Renovated thinking can be rolled back by reversionism. You cannot afford to let doctrine lapse. It is your life.

One more think, when you are consistent and you are growing, do not get arrogance about your spiritual growth. Do not get arrogant about it. And do not be condescending to those who have not learned as much as you have. And when you talk with believers like this, do not be argumentative; do not belittle them. Bobby hears something stupid and he wants to jump right on that. You do not need to bully other believers with your knowledge. If you are arrogant in your knowledge, then you have not progressed as much as you think that you have. Doctrine in the soul means that you learn to tolerate the immature. Now Paul is utilizing everything that he has taught these Corinthians. Which doctrine have you overlooked conveniently?

1Cor. 15:11–19 February 28, 2010

Sunday 1

Paul has a very critical objective in this chapter—the doctrine of resurrection, which is as critical as any other chapter in the Bible. The Corinthians had rejected this doctrine, which is a part of the gospel; and Paul desired to change that rejection to acceptance. If Christ has not been raised from the dead, then He cannot have saved us; if He cannot save Himself, then He cannot save us. If He did not defeat death, then death defeated Him.

There cannot be salvation if death is the winner overall. That is a central doctrine in Christianity.

then we have the logic, if Christ has been proclaimed, that He has been raised from the dead,... All of the Apostles proclaim the risen Christ, because they saw Him as risen from the dead. This comes from their own eyewitness.

The Corinthians rejected what was taught about the resurrection, and their souls developed a vacuum and they sucked in falsehoods. Couple that with a failure to be consistent along with this well-developed arrogance, they had replaced doctrine already learned with previous teachings and philosophies. They outright rejected some truth. Doctrine that they heard and accepted before was fading to obscurity in their souls. They are now feeding off of each other's falsehoods.

We all live very busy lives; we all have adversity and strain and problems. The continuing effort to take in doctrine is our rescue from that as well as our obligation as believers. If the spiritual life is important to us, then we cannot afford to neglect doctrine. If you do not take in doctrine on a consistent basis, you will end up mirroring the Corinthians. Some doctrine is just an inconvenient truth; or it conflicts with your lifestyle or interests or activities.

1Cor. 15:11 Whether, therefore, I or those, in this way we are constantly preaching the message, and in this way you folks came (or: come) to trust and believe.

Paul reminds the Corinthians; he is exhorting them, "Remember, Christ is risen." If what we are teaching is true, then resurrection in general must be true. Bobby stands up and tries to present doctrine for us as well. Paul wants these Corinthians to make sure that they are on board with all of the doctrine he has to teach. He wants to package this entire doctrine of resurrection in a way to appeal to them. Greeks love logic and rhetoric.

If Christ is resurrected, and He is, then how can you reject your own resurrection? If Jesus is the firstfruits, then how can you reject this doctrine? Paul is pinning them down with logic. If you do not believe one thing, then you cannot believe the other. You cannot simultaneously believe that Christ was resurrected from the dead and reject your own personal bodily resurrection.

1Cor. 15:12 Now since (or: if) Christ is habitually being preached (heralded) that He has been, and remains, awakened and raised up from out of the midst of dead ones, how are some among you folks repeatedly saying that there is (there exists) no resurrection of dead ones?

Paul is going to take them on this straight line logic. He begins with a 1st class condition; "If you believe that Christ has been resurrected from the dead, then how can you deny your own future resurrection?"

What have you heard that is logically true, but you still rejected it? Bobby was going to offer up a personal example, but it would be too personal, so he won't.

Paul wants to lead them to the results of their lack of faith in the resurrection. The resurrection is a critical part of the gospel. Simply and logically stated, if you believe in Christ as your Savior, then you must believe in His resurrection, which means you must believe in your own resurrection.

1Cor. 15:13 Now if there is presently no resurrection of dead ones (or: if there continues being no resurrection of dead ones; if a resurrection of dead ones does not constantly exist), neither has Christ been awakened and raised up.

Whatever I have said, it does not even matter. Secondly, we are false witnesses, because we are witnesses to the resurrection which did not happen. Paul is calling himself a perjurer. He is actually impugning Paul's testimony; and God and God's Word as well.

If you do not believe that the dead are raised, then how can Christ be raised? He was human and He died on the cross. So, if He is dead, how can He be raised if you do not believe that He was raised from the dead.

If Christ was not raised, then the cross has no meaning. If He is still dead, His sacrifice was unacceptable to God the Father. With the cross, there must be a resurrection in order to indicate the cross has been acceptable.

They believe that they lived in a human body, but when they died, their bodies turned to dust and nothing came of them again. They are believers and Paul logically leads them to, "You're not really believers in Jesus Christ."

1Cor. 15:14–19 So if Christ has not been awakened and raised up, our message which we preach [is] consequently empty and without content – and your [other MSS: our] faith (trust) [is] empty and vacuous, And we are also found to be false witnesses of God, because we testified of God that He raised Christ; whom He did not raise if the dead are not raised. For if the dead are not raised, then Christ is not raised. And if Christ is not raised, your faith is foolish; you are yet in your sins. Then also those that fell asleep in Christ were lost. If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable.

1Cor. 15:14 February 28, 2010

Sunday 2

A conditional premise, which is what Paul presents as his own questioning with regards to the resurrection. He appears to be debating himself on this point. He poses this question as if speaking to all the Apostles.

It is actually the minds of the Corinthians who are skeptical; not Paul.

The negative ouk is found throughout this section. Εγείρω If Christ has not been raised... Christ, as the subject, receives the action of resurrection. The protasis is the premise of this 1st class condition; Paul is assuming that the protasis is true; with the negative, Paul is assuming that Christ has not been raised.

Because Paul was divinely inspired, so he uses this one negative to have more impact on their thinking than all of the rhetoric that they can find. This is his way to get through to these hard-headed Corinthians. There will be a sequence of apodoses. The first conclusion or consequence, our preaching is vain. Paul here is denigrating himself. The Corinthians know that his life is all about proclaiming Jesus Christ; and he says, all of this is empty and meaningless. This proclaiming Jesus is everything to Paul.

Paul begins his negative argument by questioning his own Apostolic teaching. Now, the Corinthians have accepted most of what Paul has taught. "If you believe what I am teaching, it is all a lie anyway, because it is all based upon the risen Christ." Paul says, "We are the most pitiful among man if we believe this stuff." If what they preach has no validity, then this is huge. If Christ is not risen, then Paul and the other Apostles would be considered con men. However, that makes little sense because con men usually operate in order to make money, and Paul is not making any money.

Also, there is the problem with hundreds of witnesses. If there is a huge lie and hundreds know it, don't you think that one of them would have broken down and admitted to their lie?

How do you apply lies as a part of your spiritual life? How do you apply corrupted doctrine? Then you could say with certainty, doctrine doesn't work. On what basis can we understand God and His Word if truth has been subverted. We cannot have an eternal future, we live a lie. There can be no spiritual life under those conditions.

What confidence is there in someone's opinion about the Bible and what it means? Can you really have any confidence in someone who is just speculating when it comes to the Word of God? How reliable is it when someone says, "This is what I think about this verse." That is the problem with round-table Bible studies.

Bobby conversed with a doctor whom he was going to. She is a Catholic. This was the year of the Bible so she was reading it. This is the blind leading the blind. What confidence is there in that sort of operation. There is no spiritual growth in that. It is all about feeling good.

There is one intended meaning for each verse. God does not have a few different meanings for different people. That is not the Word of God. That is not how He operates. Your growth or spiritual life does not proceed from those who are amateurs simply expressing their opinions on what they just read.

Caution must be exercised so that one does not resort to proof-texting. The more mature you are, the more Scripture you understand; however, God provided the pastor-teacher so that we can grow spiritually. God will always provide you with a pastor-teacher under whom you can grow. If you get with one pastor, you will grow. You do not need to have itching ears. If you are simply interested in what they are saying and where they are going wrong, that is always interesting.

It was sad for Bobby in seminary to realize that many of the students in seminary did not go there to become pastors. Many of them were simply there to learn more about the Bible that they could not get in their own church. Many of them just wanted to learn more about the Bible. They were tired of hearing ignorant people pontificating on the Bible. Their pastors were not teaching them and they wanted to know the Scriptures. That is positive volition. They were paying lots of money for something they should have gotten for free in church. They were astounded that Bobby knew so much from attending a church.

The Greek adjective κενος. It means vain, useless, empty, void of content. If Christ had not been raised, then our preaching is void of doctrinal content. That is exactly what is happening so much today. Paul uses κενος to describe where we are today. That is what his preaching is worth, if there was no resurrection. Faith is worthless if the resurrection did not occur. Faith is our means of perception for all doctrine. We hear it and understand it; that is our method for understanding all doctrine.

Your Faith Is Worthless

1. The Corinthians rejection of bodily resurrection pulls the rug out from under themselves.
2. All preaching of the gospel by the Apostles and responding to it by faith is useless; void of content. There may be content, but it is not true, so it is void of real truth.
3. If their faith is vain, then their faith is not based in reality. It is blind faith.
4. Blind faith with no reality at its core is pointless.
5. Faith must contain an assertion related to reality in order to be worth something.
  - a. If you had faith in the theory of evolution, you have placed your faith in a relative science that changes constantly. This is a relative science which changes constantly. Facts and assumptions are constantly changing. It requires a faith to believe it which is akin to a religion. By and large, evolutionists have placed their faith in the universe itself as a creative thing. When did this life really begin? Somehow, all of these chemicals gathered together and something happen and they turned into life. In order to have faith in evolution, you must believe that an inanimate object, over eons with various forces acting on it, can become you.
  - b. What is faith worth if the content is not true? Where is the absolute truth upon which you can hang your hat. Blind faith changes with circumstances. As the circumstances change, your faith changes.
  - c. If you have faith in what an environmentalist says, will your actions change the fate of the planet. The opinions range from, what man does has no effect on the earth to, everything that man does affects the planet negatively.
  - d. You are placing your faith in some inexact set of theological assumptions.
6. There is no change in divine truth. That is absolute reality, and we can have faith in that.

1Cor. 15:14 So if Christ has not been awakened and raised up, our message which we preach [is] consequently empty and without content – and your [other manuscripts: our] faith (trust) [is] empty and vacuous,

Lesson #1033

1Cor. 15:14–16 March 3, 2010

Wednesday

What Paul is going to do is something which the Greeks appreciate and they love great oratory and great debate. It was a part of their culture. In Greek life, logic and rhetoric was used to present a case for the governance of one of their states. Democracy became so important, that everyone eventually had a say; and governing had to do with all the citizens; so, many citizens got involved in the democratic process. The best speakers, those with the best logic and rhetoric, generally won their case, based upon rhetoric and logic.

If a Greek citizen could present a logical argument for a point of governance, then Paul could present a logical argument in favor of the resurrection. Paul will open with a negative argument which will take us from v. 14 all the way to v. 19. Paul will present the opposite case from his own, and that will lead him to some funky conclusions.

The Corinthians put their faith in Jesus Christ and in His atoning death; but reject the resurrection. Paul will show them that they cannot logically do both; you cannot accept our Lord's sacrifice and yet not believe in the resurrection.

Paraphrase: "Let's assume, for the moment, that Christ has not been raised from the dead..." Paul adopts this point for the moment in order to make his case. He is using this reverse logic which will result in statements which are clearly false.

Paul makes the premise and takes this to a double conclusion. He could stop right here and make his case. Paul focuses on the content of their message. Paul is questioning the validity of the very thing that he has preached. That which he brought to them by way of doctrine, he takes the opposite approach. Κενοϋ which means useless, empty, void of content. It is just rhetoric if Christ has not been raised. When I came to you and Christ had not been raised, then what I have given you is just speculation. It is just talk.

Then there is the 2nd conclusion. Since Paul's preaching was void of content, then their faith is in vain. Faith is what you believe to be true. If the premise of your faith is false, then the conclusion of your faith is also false. Paul tells them, "If Christ has not been raised, then what you believe does not matter." Why are you even in a church? Your faith is worthless if Christ has not been resurrected? This is a devastating but a logical conclusion. Believing in a dead god is illogical and void of truth. They have already expressed faith in Christ for their salvation. Paul is putting them in a very tough spot. Your faith is empty and ineffective. One's faith is worthless if Christ is not raised. This is not a misplaced faith. It is based upon absolute facts. That is the only way to have a certainty of faith. They know what Paul said is true. If one is true, then what about the other? Why do you accept the first if you have rejected the second?

If you have faith in evolution and environmentalism, and it is based upon falsehood, then it is no good at all. Evolution is a religion, which is pantheism; god is a rock. The universe takes nothing and creates itself.

If the person you love is a cheat, then your faith in them is misplaced. The one you love has no capacity for love. You put your faith in that love and that person and what is it worth? You find out that when you put your faith in such a person that it is worthless.

The dead cannot save the living. It is not possible. If Jesus is dead, He cannot save others. If he cannot save Himself, then how can He save us? If Christ died and was not raised, then our faith is meaningless. It is no different from their faith in the idol gods.

1Cor. 15:14 So if Christ has not been awakened and raised up, our message which we preach [is] consequently empty and without content – and your [other manuscripts: our] faith (trust) [is] empty and vacuous,

The implications of falsehood go even further in the next verse.

All of the verses which follow are the consequences of the next few verses. It is futility and hopelessness. They can put faith in that which is untrue. If the dead are not raised.

Ευρισκω means to be discovered, to be exposed. Ψευδομαρτυρ which is liars, those who spread deliberate falsehoods. It has to be deliberate, because they all claim that they had seen the resurrected Christ. They touched Him and found Him to be flesh and bone. They had supped with Him; they saw Him ascend into heaven; and they passed on His instructions to others. But, if Jesus was not raised, then all of this is deliberate lying. All believers of all time are dupes to deliberate liars. This is a preposterous conclusion and the Corinthians know this. They know that it is ridiculous to propose that all the Apostles are liars.

Eyewitnesses have verified the truth of the resurrection. 30 years later, their accounts remain constant and consistent. If the resurrection was a lie, if Paul was deceiving them, if all the Apostles were intentionally leading everyone astray, don't you think that one of them would have eventually broken down and confessed their deception. They remained true and their testimony congruous. The Apostles were tortured, jailed and martyred; and none of them broke down.

Genitive singular of θεος and it means concerning God. They are exposed as deliberate liars concerning God. This is how important the resurrection really is. These Apostles would have been constantly guilty of perjury. If these men perjured themselves, what does this make them? How many Christians over the centuries have called them Saint James or Saint Peter; and see them as beatified, and as wonderful, good people. But if Jesus not resurrected, then He is not a good person; nor are the Apostles. It would be pointless and worthless and it never happened. If we believe that, then we are all fools and we deserve nothing.

Who Is the First One Involved in the Resurrection?

1. God the Father in Acts 2:32 Eph. 1:20 1Thess. 1:10
2. God the Holy Spirit was too Rom. 8:11
3. Attributed to Christ. John 10

These are liars and enemies of the True God; they make God to be a liar. If He is not raised, God Himself is a liar. God is a liar, Paul is a liar, all of the Apostles are liars, and you Corinthians are dupes. Christ has been raised.

There can be no hope without the resurrection.

1Cor. 15:15 and further, we [thus] continue to be found being false witnesses [deliberate liars] concerning God, because we bring testimony down from God that He awakened and raised up the Christ – Whom, consequently, He did not raise up, if indeed dead ones are not habitually being awakened and raised up!

Paul repeats the dire consequences in v. 16.

Everything that they believe and hope for is gone; all of it. It is the jumping off point for further conclusions, which point to the folly of rejecting this doctrine.

1Cor. 15:16 For if dead ones are not habitually being awakened and raised up, neither has Christ been awakened and raised up.

Lesson #1034

1Cor. 15:14–16 March 4, 2010

Thursday

This tells us what the resurrection will be like for us.

Paul is making a logical case for the resurrection in vv. 14–19. They used to teach logic in college. All logic is, is a method of thinking. The Word of God is entirely logical. The mind of Christ is logical. If we can draw logical conclusions, then we have conclusions which are true.

Paul is doing this in a very interesting way. He offers up 2 false premises. The first is in v. 14, “if Christ has not been raised...” This is not just logic, this is negative logic.

The Corinthians believe the resurrection of Christ, but they do not believe in a bodily resurrection. If they believe the 2nd premise is true, then they must believe the 1st premise to be true. Of, they believe them both to be false.

The Overall Logic in These Verses

1. If the Corinthians accept the atonement of Christ for salvation, which they do, then they must accept a living Christ; otherwise, that salvation is not effective for eternal life.

2. If they accept a bodily resurrection of Jesus Christ (which all the Apostles testify to), then they must accept a bodily resurrection for themselves.
3. This logic is irresistible. These Corinthians have believed in Christ then they must believe that He is living. If He is alive, then they must believe that they will be raised bodily from the dead.

Paul is telling them that, if they take their personal prejudices into account, then they have to reject Christianity altogether, as their faith is in vain.

Rejecting bodily resurrection means that they must reject Paul's teaching. If his preaching is vain, then their faith is also vain (or, useless). If they have accepted Christ, then the consequence is a belief which is not true. They therefore have a futile and useless and empty faith.

If anyone has faith in lies, then what good is that faith? It is good for nothing.

1Cor. 15:14 So if Christ has not been awakened and raised up, our message which we preach [is] consequently empty and without content – and your [other manuscripts: our] faith (trust) [is] empty and vacuous,

Paul continues this in v. 15: if the dead are not raised...

What Is the Consequence...?

1. The Apostles supposedly brought a trustworthy message and this means that they are liars.
2. If Paul and the Apostles are liars, in their lies, they have refuted and rejected God's personal promise that he would raise Christ from the dead.
3. They have contradicted Jesus Christ Himself, that he would be raised from the dead. This is getting serious.
4. Not only that, but they have contradicted their own eyewitness testimony. If Christ has not been resurrected, then they are in hot water.
5. If the dead are not raised, if Christ is not raised, then every Apostle has perjured himself before God.
6. The result—the Corinthians are fools and dupes for believing the gospel (as are we).
7. This is the negative meaning that Paul uses to show the error of his thinking.
8. Paul with his logic has put the Corinthians between a rock and a hard place. They have believed in Christ.
9. Paul is undermining the very foundation of their faith. They hold to the foundation upon which the faith is based; if they reject the foundation, then they must raised up the Christ – Whom, consequently, He did not raise up, if indeed dead ones are not habitually being awakened and raised up!

1Cor. 15:16 For if dead ones are not habitually being awakened and raised up, neither has Christ been awakened and raised up.

Paul knows that it takes a lot to get through to the Corinthians. Paul is not finished; he has more consequences to hit them with. This will come in vv. 17–19.

Paul will repeat the premise, in part, to indicate that further negative conclusions are to follow. This logic is all negative but it has a positive connotation.

The Guts of Paul's Logic

1. All the negatives that Paul is asserting are not true.
2. Each negative statement that Paul makes really has the opposite meaning. So all of the negative conclusions which Paul makes are actually false conclusions.
3. The premise: "If Christ has not been raised..." (but this has a positive connotation)
4. If the premise is not true, then the conclusions are not true. Paul uses these to show the Corinthians how mixed up and wrong they are. Their faith is not vain.
5. So, since Christ has been raised, then the negative conclusions, all which Paul are making, are the opposite of what they actually say.
6. If Christ has been raised, then their faith is not worthless.
7. So, the Corinthians are to understand Paul's logic is true, if the negative premise is not true, and it is not.

The Corinthians just need a little shock treatment to wake up their lack of logic.

The 4th consequence is in v. 17; "Your faith is worthless. You are still in your sins." Paul attacks them here in a very personal way, and in a way that will make the most sense to them. "If you don't believe in the resurrection, then you are still in your sins. Christ's atonement is meaningless for you."

the very means of salvation is faith, which is nonmeritorious. Salvation, faith, grace, all put together in one package. His person, His salvation is the very expression of God's grace toward us. Faith is the fundamental door to salvation. This is believe in the work of Christ, and this makes the work efficacious. Paul is saying that their faith is worthless unless Christ has been raised.

Now, bear in mind, that these things are all true, but used in order to make a logical argument.

Paul uses a different adjective for worthless. He uses κενος here instead of the word he used before. Κενος means void of reality. Μεταια has a different connotation. It means void of results. If Christ is not risen, then Christ as not significance.

There is no reality in what you believe; and there is no substantive effect. If Christ is dead, then we are dead in our sins. The barrier between God and man would still exist without the resurrection.

The Importance of the Resurrection

1. We cannot be redeemed from the slave market of sin; we are still slaves to sin.
2. Unlimited atonement is not accomplished.
3. Therefore, we are still under the penalty of sin, which is eternal death.
4. If there is no resurrection, then we still have the problem of our human birth; we are still in Adam, and in Adam, all die.
5. If there is no resurrection, we still have only reciprocal love righteousness. No resurrection means that we are not justified.
6. The wrath of God toward sinners has therefore not been propitiated.
7. We are still in Adam, and in Adam, all die.

Some Concluding Points

1. If you have faith in Christ for salvation, then you must have faith in the resurrection.
2. Without the resurrection, there is no salvation.
3. They are right back where they began, in a heathen temple worshiping heathen gods.

1Cor. 15:17 And if Christ has not been awakened and raised up, your faith and trust exists being devoid of success and results – you are still within the midst of and in union with your mistakes, failures and sins!

Then Paul addresses the horror of those who have already died. If Christ has not been resurrected, what about those who have already died? What about all of their loved ones? What about all of their friends who have passed away? If they believed in Christ and considered themselves in Christ, and they died, it is, to say the least, misplaced.

So now the Corinthians must take a new look at death. They need to look at their own impending deaths and the deaths of their loved ones. They themselves are perishing. All who believe in a dead Christ are still dead; either in their sins or dead in the grave.

Aorist middle indicative of ἀπολυμη which is a word we have escaped. It means to be destroyed, to be ruined; the ultimate disaster for individuals. Απολυμι is eternal judgment; it is perishing; everything that they believe is undermined because they do not believe in their own resurrection.

1Cor. 15:18 Consequently, also, those falling asleep within the midst of and in union with Christ lose themselves (or: loose-away and destroy themselves).

Lesson #1035

1Cor. 15:12–14, 17 March 7, 2010

Sunday 1

The Corinthians are neck-deep in all kinds of carnality, but 1Cor. 15 is the worst problem that they have. This problem strikes at the very heart of the faith. What they have a problem with is the resurrection of the body.

If God did not raise Jesus Christ, how could He provide salvation and eternal life? His work has not been consummated. If He is not raised, then why did Jesus claim that He would be raised? This makes Jesus a fraud and a liar, which makes Christianity fraudulent. And if Christ is not raised, then we are not raised. There is no victory over death. Our risen Lord is the guarantee of this victory.

1Cor. 15:12–13 Now since (or: if) Christ is habitually being preached (heralded) that He has been, and remains, awakened and raised up from out of the midst of dead ones, how are some among you folks repeatedly saying that there is (there exists) no resurrection of dead ones? Now if there is presently no resurrection of dead ones (or: if there continues being no resurrection of dead ones; if a resurrection of dead ones does not constantly exist), neither has Christ been awakened and raised up.

If Christ is not raised, then everything that Paul has taught is vain and meaningless. Logically, if Paul proclaims a false gospel, then their faith in that gospel is also vain. If the content is false, then their faith is empty. If your faith is in a politician somewhere, that is an empty faith. If your faith is in the environmental movement, that faith is vain.

1Cor. 15:14 So if Christ has not been awakened and raised up, our message which we preach [is] consequently empty and without content – and your [other MSS: our] faith (trust) [is] empty and vacuous,

The first faith is void of content and the second faith is void of results. If faith is worthless; if it produces no results, then the entire purpose of their lives is worthless. Eph. 2:8–9 would also be meaningless.

Without resurrection, you cannot scale or go through the barrier between man and God. If Christ is not raised, then there is no salvation. No one in this world would be redeemed from the slave market of sin. All men would still be under the penalty of sin, which is death. But the gift of God is eternal life. However, if the incarnate gift of God has not been raised, then there is no gift of God (eternal life).

If Christ was not raised, then the wrath of God has not been propitiated. If Christ is not raised, then we are still in Adam, and in Adam, all die. The bottom line is, without Christ's resurrection, the human race is still condemned to eternal judgment. What Paul is doing here in this grim expose, Paul is cutting them lose from their spiritual moorings.

Maybe you have had a spiritual epiphany where everything that you believe is wrong. This is what Paul has presented to the Corinthians. Your faith in Christ is false if He has not been raised. Everything that Paul says is wrong in these verses, but they all become right if Christ has been bodily resurrected.

These people have believed in Christ. They are saved, like it or not, no matter what Paul says. Paul is undercutting this entire idea.

1Cor. 15:17 And if Christ has not been awakened and raised up, your faith and trust exists being devoid of success and results – you are still within the midst of and in union with your mistakes, failures and sins!

Paul takes 2 more shots at their deluded assumptions in vv. 18–19. In Christ is one of the 39 irrevocable assets that we receive at salvation.

It is difficult when a loved one dies and you do not know if they are in Christ or not. They have not just died; they have perished. Aorist middle of ἀπολυμι. This means they are destroyed, ruined; this is the ultimate disaster. This is more than simple annihilation. Most of the world believes that we are here for awhile and then we disappear. That is the hopelessness of humanism. Perishing is so much more than annihilation. This is perpetual judgement. Απολυμι is the absence of any spiritual life and it is eternal separation from God. It is not unconsciousness; it is not nothingness; it is everlasting misery. The pain cannot even be imagined. It is the future in the same locale as the devil and his angels. It is a reality; it is not a metaphor for soul sleep. We condemn ourselves.

This is the same fate for those who perish in their sins. Απολυμι is the same verb we find in John 3:16.

Verb: apollumi (ἀπόλλυμι) [pronounced ap-OL'-loo-mee], which means to destroy; to put out of the way entirely, abolish, put an end to ruin; render useless; to kill; to declare that one must be put to death; metaphorically to devote or give over to eternal misery in hell; to perish, to be lost, ruined, destroyed; to destroy; to lose. Thayer only. Strong's #622.

3 Results

1. If Christ was not resurrected, then he was not accepted as our sacrifice.
2. If His sacrifice is not accepted and efficacious for our salvation, then we can have no union with Christ and no eternal future.
3. Therefore, we remain condemned.

The resurrection means escaping the judgment of God. That is very difficult territory to face. The Corinthians have to face it.

1Cor. 15:18 Consequently, also, those falling asleep within the midst of and in union with Christ lose themselves (or: loose-away and destroy themselves).

Paul states the clincher in v. 19:

Lesson #1036      1Cor. 15:19–20    John 10:17    March 7, 2010      Sunday 2

If their hope is only during this physical lifetime, and confined only to an earthly existence, then that is a totally sad state of affairs for their future. It is not the promised hope of salvation in Christ. Everything here is meant to devastate them to undercut their faith in Christ. In v. 18, they simply perish, which should lead to terrible darkness and despair. These pathetic Corinthians place their hope in Christ in this life and it is an empty hope. They are to be pitied. Some kind of a psychological crutch is how some see Christianity. In reality, it is just a myth to some people. These people look upon us as pitiful that we need some hope just to make it through life. We have the confidence and we don't.

1Cor. 15:19 If we are (exist being) ones having placed an expectation in Christ within this life only, we are, of all humanity (mankind), the ones most to be pitied and in need of mercy and compassion.

Now Paul says, there is no such dreary conclusion. But Paul is not leave them here. In v. 20, he will negate all of these gloomy conclusions. V. 20 is the positive statement which Paul really means for them to apply. This is where he has been going the whole time. This verse is very comforting and uplifting. The negative comments from what came before. This is a ray of sunshine. It is great to see a day like that.

There is no question about the resurrection of Jesus Christ. All of these what if's are simply debator's technique in order to make a point. Our faith is worth everything; we are no longer in our sins. The reality is, He has been raised.

1Cor. 15:20 Yet now – at this present time! – Christ is roused and awake from having been raised up from out of the midst of dead ones: a Firstfruit of those having fallen asleep, and yet sleeping (reposing).

Jesus dies for our benefit and He is raised up for our benefit. If He is not raised, then He is a liar.

John 10:17 "On this account the Father continuously loves Me, because I am constantly placing (or: setting; laying [down]) My soul, to the end that I may take it in My hand (or: receive her).

He was delivered for our sins but He was raised for our justification. The resurrection proves that God the Father accepted Jesus' sacrifice. We are declared righteous in Christ. We have His righteousness imputed to us. 1Cor. 1:30. The righteousness of God is imputed to us. If Jesus is not raised, then we are not justified. We are accepted in the Beloved.

Rom. 4:25 [Jesus Christ] Who was given over (delivered up) because of our falls to the side (stumbings aside; false steps; transgressions), and was raised (roused) because of our right-wising (our being placed in the Way pointed out; our being declared right and just; our justifying) [or: ¼ and was raised for the sake of our being brought into right relationship].

The enmity between man and God is removed.

Rom 5:1 Being, then, ones that were right-wised (placed in right relationship in the Way and justified) from out of faith, we continuously hold (have) [other MSS: let us (we should) habitually retain and enjoy] peace [directing and conducting us] toward God, through our Owner (Lord), Jesus Christ,

Faith alone in Christ alone is not worthless. We stand in our faith, in His death and in His resurrection. Here is our eternal security. Resurrection guarantees our salvation. This results in confidence; a confident expectation. It is not the end, it is the beginning.

We are not to be pitied; our hope is real and it is lasting. We will share in the glory of God, which is glorification. Our bodies will be incorruptible and undefiled.

Rom 5:2 through Whom, also, we have had and now hold the conducted approach and access (the act of bringing toward to gain entrée) by faith (in faith) into this grace within which we have stood and now stand, and we keep on speaking loudly of and habitually boasting upon the expectation (hope) of God's glory.

The cross is now empty. Jesus is no longer on the cross. He died once for all, the just for the unjust.

All 3 members of the trinity involved in the resurrection.

Jesus and the Resurrection

1. On the cross, Christ paid the penalty for our sins, the Just for the unjust. We are justified by imputed righteousness.
2. This lowers the barrier between us and God, being made alive.
3. The living Christ is the guarantee of the efficaciousness of the atonement. Because He lives eternally, we will live eternally.

1Peter 3:18 ...because even Christ (or: considering that Christ also) died [other MSS: suffered], once for all, concerning and in relation to failures to hit the target (about errors and mistakes; around and encompassing sins [note: some MSS: our failures; other MSS: your failures]) -- a Just One (a rightwised One; One in accord with the Way pointed out; a fair and equitable individual) over (for the sake of) unjust ones (capsized ones; those out of accord with the Way pointed out; unfair and inequitable ones), to the end that He may bring

(or: lead; conduct) you folks [other MSS: us] to (or: toward) God. [He], on the one hand, being put to death in flesh, yet on the other hand, being made alive in spirit (or: indeed, being put to death by flesh, yet, being engendered a living one by spirit or: [the] Spirit),

A wonderful image of Christ and the resurrection. He is the great Shepherd and we are the sheep.

Heb. 13:20–21 Now the God of Peace, the One leading our Lord -- Jesus, the Shepherd of the sheep, the Great One -- up out of dead ones, to render you equipped (fitted; adapted) within all good (in every virtue) within the blood of an arrangement (covenant) pertaining to and having the qualities of the ages, in order to do (perform) His will -- doing within you the well pleasing in His presence (sight), through Jesus Christ, in Whom (for Whom; by Whom; to Whom) [is] the glory (the reputation) into the ages of the ages. It is so (Amen)!

1Peter 5:4 and the Chief Shepherd (the Original Shepherd) [thus] being made visible (being shown in clear light), you folks will be bringing to yourselves, with care and kindly keeping, the unwithering and unfading wreath of the glory (or: the enduring recognition of achievement which comes from this good reputation).

The shepherd leads the sheep to food and water. There are not many descriptions of heaven in the Bible, but this is one of the most beautiful of all images. We are in this life of tears, pain and death, and God will wipe away all the tears.

Your loved ones will personally direct you on a tour of heaven when you arrive. It is something that we cannot understand. But we must know the difference between this life and that.

Rev 7:17 because (seeing that) the little Lamb -- the One back up amidst the throne (or: the One again in the midst of the throne) -- will shepherd [other MSS: is continuously shepherding] them, and will guide [others: is continuously guiding] them upon springs of waters of life [others: living springs of water]. And God will anoint (or: wipe and smear out) every tear shed from out of their eyes."

The previous logic has no validity. Their faith is not futile. They are not dead in their sins; they are not hopeless. They are not in eternal separation from God. They are not the most pathetic of creatures. Christ has not only risen, but He has been raised as a representative of all of us. His resurrection is a pledge that believers will be resurrected. "I am the resurrection and the Life; he who believes in my will live, even though he dies."

Jesus Christ is our forerunner, the firstfruits, Who sets the precedence for all of us. The feast of the first fruits is the great reference here. One of the great feasts of the Jews. In the agrarian economy of Israel; the feast of the firstfruits was connected to the barley harvest. What would happen here is, the farmer would go out and see the amber waves of grain, which was a fast ripening crop, and this was money to him. He would cut this barley early, which is a sheaf of barley. It was the firstfruit of the field. It was a small part. He would take this to the tabernacle or to the Temple, and he would offer it by waving it in front of the Temple. In this way, he dedicated this sheaf to the Lord. As the firstfruits, the grain offerer would simply wave this. This signified presenting this to the Lord. This pledged the harvest to the Lord. It acknowledged that their entire harvest and economy was dedicated to God; it revealed an appreciation for the logistical grace of God.

Then he would return to his field and the grain would be ripened. Then he determined it was the right time to harvest. It was the same stuff. The barley of the later harvest was the same grain as the firstfruits of the field.

What Does this Mean?

1. The Lord Jesus Christ was the firstfruits of the great harvest of believers. We are the field of barley.
2. He was bodily resurrected before the rest of the grain. We are the rest of the grain; we are sheaves of barley.
3. All who are resurrected after Christ, the firstfruits of the dead, would be of the same character. It is all the same stuff; all the same grain.
4. We have the same resurrection body as the Firstfruits (Jesus Christ).
5. The firstfruits of the barley harvest were the same grain as the later harvest.
6. We will possess the same body of the resurrected Christ, all the same body.

No one knows when this will take place. In one little verse, the resurrection is real, and this is how Paul describes it.

1Cor. 15:20 Yet now – at this present time! – Christ is roused and awake from having been raised up from out of the midst of dead ones: a Firstfruit of those having fallen asleep, and yet sleeping (reposing).

Lesson #1037

1Cor. 15:20 March 10, 2010

Wednesday

With the words but now, ought to give the Corinthians a wave of relief. The Corinthians are now awake with this transition from a bad dream and futility. The deadly consequences of their wrong-headedness about the doctrine of the resurrection body. Paul showed that no resurrection means no salvation.

Paul is not a liar, even though he called himself a liar and a con man. What ought to be more clear to them is, they are not lost in their sins; they are not hopelessly lost. Paul links this wonderful understanding of resurrection to their own bodily resurrection. Saying that Christ is the firstfruits of those who sleep, indicates that He goes before all believers, who will be resurrected. Jesus Christ is the precedent.

Paul illustrates with an Old Testament festival. This is one of the major feasts of Israel, which the Jews knew about, although they might not know the spiritual sense of it. Paul will explain this and relate this to the Corinthians and to us. All of the festivals of the Jewish calendar year relate to the Jesus Christ and they all had great spiritual significance.

The explanation of the feast will make it clear to us the application. Paul really knows how to pick his spots for effective Old Testament illustrations of New Testament doctrine. With God the Holy Spirit, he presents things which are fun to dig out of Scripture.

Like most nations in those days, Israel had an agrarian economy; they lives off of the land. God used this agricultural feast as a portrayal of doctrine. The Jews were farmers and ranchers and they understood farming. A great crop was a provision of God's logistical grace.

There is a cycle of planting and growing which culminates in a harvest. The barley crop was a basic crop, and that is what we are looking at.

The Firstfruits Festival

1. The Jew would see a fast-ripening field of barley.
2. Anticipating the harvest, the Jew would cut a bundle of barley.
3. One sheaf, the bundle that he cut, was the first of many sheaves that would be harvested.
4. The sheaf was the firstfruit of his field. The sheaf was cut early and used in a distinct ceremony. He hauled it off for a ceremony.
- 5.

The Waving of the Sheaves

1. On a specific day, the sheaf is presented. This was hauled to the Tabernacle or to the Temple.
- 2.
3. The ceremony was waving the sheaf before Temple.
4. This meant that he was presenting this sheaf to the Lord.
5. This symbolized a time at the beginning of a harvest to pledge the harvest to the Lord. It was an acknowledgment that this was the Lord's; He provided it and it belong to Him.
6. This ceremony signified that the whole harvest was dedicated to God. It was economic. They recognized its origin.

So, he goes back to the field and waits for it to be ready to be harvested.

The Actual Harvest

1. All that barley which was being harvested was just like that first sheaf that he first bundled up.
2. The barley of the later harvest was the same grain.
3. Only later after the firstfruits was all the grain taken out of the field after an elapse of time.

4. The full harvest that followed the feast of the firstfruits was intimately connected to the firstfruits. The ceremony was with the firstfruits, but the later harvest was intimately connected with the firstfruits. The harvest occurred at the right time.

How Paul Used the Image of the Firstfruits

1. Paul used this to signify the resurrection of Jesus Christ is the first sheaf.
2. Jesus Christ was the firstfruits of the great harvest of believers. We will be harvested at the right time.
3. Jesus was bodily resurrected before the rest of the "grain."
4. All who are resurrected after Christ, who is the firstfruits of the dead, will be of the same substance. We are the rest of the barley. We are the harvest.
5. They had the same body and we have the same body as the firstfruits. He was like the firstfruits of the barley harvest and we are of the same grain for the final harvest.
6. We will possess the same body as the resurrection Christ. We are both barley sheaves. We will be like Him. We are of the same substance.

Our Lord's resurrection did not merely precede that of all believers.

Christ as the Firstfruit

1. Christ was the first sheaf of the harvest presented to God. He was presented to God and seated.
2. As with the feast of the firstfruits of Israel, Christ was a pledge and an assurance that the whole harvest would be gathered. We are the whole harvest. We are a sheaf of grain; of barley.
3. His resurrection as the firstfruits dedicates us to God. We belong to God just as the entire barley harvest belonged to God.
4. This harvest signifies the rapture of the church; the exit resurrection.
5. The whole church will follow Christ to heaven and the whole church will be resurrected just as He is, but only at the right time. There are no prophecies or signs which tell us when we will be resurrected.
6. We will be the same grain the same consistency of body. Every body will be of the same consistency.
7. Everyone will be like Christ. We will be just like Him.
8. We will be forever triumphant over death, as the second fruits; no more death.
9. We are eternally dedicated to God as His harvest and throughout eternity, we will continue to bless Him as our firstfruits.
10. The resurrection of Christ is the guarantee of the believer's physical resurrection at the rapture and this guarantees all other believers which will follow.

We are guaranteed this physical resurrection. The Corinthians and all those who die after them, will all be resurrected. We are all a field of barley which will be harvested.

Paul connects this to the firstfruits. There are 3 images here.

3 Images

1. There is the church which Christ leads as the head of the body. He leads us now and then. This is a lead in resurrection.
2. He uses both images here.
3. Christ is the head of the church, He leads the church into resurrection, and He precedes the church.

Col. 1:18 He is the Head of the body -- the called-out assembly (the ecclesia; the congregation; the church) -- Who is The Beginning (or: the Ruler; the Originator), a Firstborn forth from out of the midst of dead ones, to the end that He may be birthed (come into existence; come to be) within all things: He continuously holding first place (constantly being pre-eminent; habitually being the First One (or: the First Man [masc., pres., part.])),

Jesus is the first piece of dough and He is holy.

Justification and Salvation

1. We are justified along with all of the other things we receive.
2. We are in a status of perfect righteousness. This is why we have a relationship with Jesus Christ. We are made righteous in Christ. It is imputed to us. We do not earn it and we do not deserve it. It is all connected with resurrection.
3. After justification, we live our temporal lives. We retain our sin nature and we do not lose that.
4. Experientially, we are somewhat less than perfect righteousness.
5. At the rapture of the church, we take on resurrection bodies. So we are minus a sin nature. We no longer have a sin nature. Our bodies are just like that of Christ.
6. We now as resurrected believers experience the righteousness of Christ in all that we are and in all that we do.
7. So now and forever, we are truly and completely righteous in every sense of the word. This is the most wonderful of states.

Rom. 11:16 Now since (But if) the Firstfruit [is] holy (set-apart and consecrated), the kneaded mixture (the lump which is mingled and reduced to a uniform consistency by treading, kneading or beating) [is] also; and since (if) the Root [is] holy, so also [are] the branches (the shoots; the boughs).

Now Paul proceeds, now that he has defined the firstfruits.

1Cor. 15:20 Yet now – at this present time! – Christ is roused and awake from having been raised up from out of the midst of dead ones: a Firstfruit of those having fallen asleep, and yet sleeping (reposing).

Paul will now elaborate, and He will do this in connection with the resurrection of all believers.

How is this connected developed? The death of Adam is the cause of the death of his descendants. We are all descendants of Adam. Every one of us, no matter our race or gender.

Just as Adam is the cause for the sin in all people, because we are in Adam, so is Christ the cause for righteousness and resurrection for all those who are in Him. Christ's resurrection overcomes spiritual and physical death.

Barring the exit resurrection, we will all face death. Even as believers, we see this as something to be avoided, even though we know that it will occur. We know that death is out there and we know we can expect it.

Paul will contrast the two Adam's, the first and the last Adam.

In a funeral, Bobby makes certain that everyone there knows that they will all die. Adam was the cause of all of it. In facing death, we must face eternity. In facing eternity, we must have the confidence that after our death is eternity. This is why unbelievers cling to life as much as they can. The 2nd Adam brings life, the first Adam death.

Paul takes us through the entire doctrine of resurrection. We can look forward to seeing the end of time and the end of history.

1Cor. 15:21 For since through a man [came] death, through a Man, also, [comes] resurrection of dead ones.

1Cor. 15:22 For just as within Adam all keep on (everyone continues) dying, in the same way, also, within the Christ all (everyone) will be made alive

Lesson #1038

1Cor. 15: March 11, 2010

Thursday

The first bundle of grain was brought to the Temple or Tabernacle and waved to indicate that the farmer recognized this harvest as God's. What would follow this would be sheaves of the same grain.

We have the same consistency of the first sheath of barley. Our bodies would be resurrection and our body would be just like His. At some point in time, the whole church will follow Christ in resurrection bodies into heaven. The Lord Himself will descend from the heavens and the dead in Christ will rise first, and we who remain will be caught up in the clouds with Him and forever be with the Lord. The resurrection of Christ is the guarantee of our resurrection at a later date.

Paul, in the next couple verses, describes the connection between us and Christ and it gives all the connections that we have. The death of Adam is the cause of our death; and the death and resurrection is the basis of our resurrection and our life.

Our death is through the first Adam. Our life is through the second Adam. The first Adam died spiritually in the garden and then he later died physically outside of the garden. As believers, we are entirely affected by both deaths and our Lord's resurrection. This passage was never more true of us. It is true of all of us. This passage is about 2 types of death; spiritual and physical, both of which we have a part in.

Death itself can be described as separation. Spiritual death is separation from God; physical death is separation from our bodies. God cannot have anything to do with any sort of sin. God can only separate from sin. When all of our sins were on His Son, God the Father turned His back on His Son.

God does not wink at sin; we might. Not one little sin does God wink at. Sin was entirely caused by the volition of man. God can only condemn sin. He can do nothing else with it. He cannot associate with sin. When God put Adam in the garden, God warned him of the penalty of disobedience. Disobeying one mandate was all it takes. God showed Adam the tree in the middle of the garden and He said, "Don't eat the fruit of this tree." Adam sinned of his own free will fully understanding the consequences of what he was doing.

Adam's sin was the wrecker of our lives; one moment of disobedience. Adam was entirely at fault. Adam sinned with full cognizance of what he was doing. The woman responded to deception; but Adam did not respond to deception. When Adam disobeyed, that was Adam's spiritual death.

We are born unbelievers; Adam became an unbeliever. He went from spiritual life to spiritual death with one decision; and go the opposite direction.

After that original sin, Adam was banished from the garden. At that moment, he also became the not so proud owner of a nature; a sin nature. Theology calls him innocent, meaning without fault or sin. He knew no sin; and now he did. He became the possessor of a sin nature.

Bobby is about to give us the real anthropology. There are all sorts of theories of man and his beginnings and his nature in anthropology; but Bobby will cover the real version.

Why Are You the Way That You Are?

1. Because of Adam's sin, the very essence of Adam became corrupted. He who knew no sin, knew sin. Adam did not become suddenly depraved. However, his nature was corrupted.
2. Sin and its pollution touched every major area of his life. Rom. 1:21, 28 it touched the intellect; his will (Eph 2:2), his emotions and desires (Eph. 2:3); and we also have a sin nature, and that nature is identical to Adam's nature.

3. As the corrupter of mankind, the sin nature is the center of man's rebellion against God. .
4. The sin nature in the Scripture is called the principle of sin. Rom. 7:8–20.
5. It is variously designated as sin (Rom. 7:13–14); the flesh (Gal. 5:16);
6. The nature is called the old man. Eph. 4:22 this is someone who is in charge. This nature has authority over the person. All of these names reflect aspects of the sin nature.
7. The sin nature is both material and immaterial. The material part is its presence in the cell structure of the body; that is the designation flesh; the soulish man. It permeates our body. It contaminates the immaterial soul. The Corinthians were dualists, and they thought the body was corrupted but the soul was pure. That is incorrect anthropology. The sin nature corrupts the whole person.
8. The sin nature tempts the volition of the soul to sin. It is the tempter. The volition is the decider. Whether you do it in ignorance or whether you do it knowingly.
9. This corrupted nature of man means that the entire human race is in total depravity, a theological term. Even the best human being is in total depravity.
10. Sin affects everything that man does. You cannot escape it.
11. Total depravity means the sin nature is all pervasive in the human condition.
12. The corruption of the sin nature extends through the whole of man, material and immaterial. You cannot escape it; it is part of us.
13. The sin nature corrupts your mind, your thoughts, your will and your volition, your emotions and your conscience, and your norms and standards. It affects all that we are and all that we do.
14. Its possession finally results in physical death.
15. The sin nature is not all; this nature does not mean that everyone is as depraved as they could be. Nor does this mean that man with a sin nature cannot distinguish good and evil. There is good in this evil. Total depravity does not mean that there is no good.
16. The fact that sin extends to man's entire nature, does not mean that he cannot think worthy thoughts. He can have honorable and virtuous feelings. Even with a sin nature, you can show integrity and be self-disciplined. You are even able to make good decisions from a position of strength. You are able to refrain from egocentricity. You are not as depraved as you could be.
17. There is good in man. The existence of good is there. With the sin nature, it can only be relative good. This is called human good. Relative good means you always have that other side.
18. None of these good qualities in humanity has any value in gaining acceptability or failure from God. It is all relative good. It is all a part of the barrier between us and God. All the good that we do does not carry weight with God. The only good that commends anyone to God is the absolute good of salvation in Christ and the production of good while filled with the Holy Spirit.
19. Fallen man may be moral, but fallen man cannot be spiritual or relate to God. Morality is not spiritually. It is not the spiritual life.

20. Total depravity means that man has no spiritual capability in himself. People who say, "I am a spiritual person." And you say, "No you're not; you are totally depraved." Fallen man has no spiritual capability. You cannot have a spiritual relationship with God. There is never a better look at the grace of God than when you look at yourself and your sin nature.
21. The sad thing is, for fallen man, on his own, man has no power to change the status of total depravity. Man has no ability to change. Jeremiah was never politically correct; he called people what they are. Jer. 13:23 Can the Ethiopian change his skin or the leopard change his spots? This illustrates the sin nature and our inability to do anything about it. You cannot change your own corrupt nature to something which is pleasing to God. We cannot do this anymore than a leopard can change his genetic code. We, who are accustomed to doing evil, we are accustomed to blaming evil on something else. You can do good, but you are accustomed to doing evil.
22. How are you going to remove your sin nature and do nothing but good? This is man striving to good; to be better. You cannot change your nature. Not any more than the leopard can change his spots. We are unable to self-renoate; we are unable to start doing divine good.
23. This is why we need the work of the Holy Spirit in salvation. Only He can change our spots. Only He can regenerate us and gives us spiritual life. Only He can justify us, by which we are made righteous and acceptable to God. Otherwise, we are incapable of overcoming our sin nature. Otherwise, we are doomed at first breath. We have a way to offset our sin nature. God has provided this means; a way to go from spiritual death to spiritual life. We have the ability to progressively defeat the sin nature, in this life, we can never completely defeat the sin nature. Our bodies will be just like that of Christ's. He was raised without a sin nature. We will defeat our sin nature when we receive our new bodies.
24. Adam's original sin + a sin nature = spiritual death.

You cannot be good enough to impress God; you cannot be bad enough to put yourself outside of the grace of God. Our relationship is based upon faith alone in Christ alone.

1Cor. 15:21 For since through a man [came] death, through a Man, also, [comes] resurrection of dead ones.

1Cor. 15:22 For just as within Adam all keep on (everyone continues) dying, in the same way, also, within the Christ all (everyone) will be made alive

Lesson #1039

1Cor. 15:21–22 March 14, 2010

Sunday 1

Daylight Savings Time begins

Communion Sunday. Our only knowledge of Jesus Christ comes from the divinely inspired pages of the gospels. Miracles were not designed to dazzle crowds or to relieve suffering, although these things did occur. Miracles were done to engender belief in Him Who is the Messiah, God in the flesh.

This power is called σημειον in the Greek. John 4:48: “Unless you see signs and wonders, you will not believe.” The Jews at this time were a hardheaded bunch. They had waited for centuries waiting for the Messiah and after so many false claims, these people would not be easily convinced of Who He was.

The Jewish religious leaders would be his greatest human opposition. They would try to hold onto their power and authority. The signs and miracles were used to convince people. John recorded 7 such signs to testify to His divinity and Messiahship.

First Miracle: John 2:1–11 the turning of water into wine, and this is a Jewish wedding, and these affairs often lasted for several days. However, at this particular wedding, there was little wine. His mother asked Him to do something about this lack of wine. Jesus changed about 120 gallons of water into wine. There was just too much here to be a fake. He produced wine of the finest quality; it was better than any wine ever produced by any of those present. This particular vintage was so much greater than what the soil produced, and He did this instantaneously. His power was greater than nature itself. It manifested his glory and His Deity and His complete power over nature.

This stands in stark contrast to Moses turning the water into blood in Ex. 7:17–24

Second Miracle: John turned away from the religious leaders, who did not have a normal response to His signs. Here, He gives a great sign of His Deity, the healing of the nobleman's son. John 4:49–54: The royal officer (courtier; king's attendant or relative) continues, saying to Him, “Lord (Sir; Master), walk down at once (descend) before my little boy dies!” Jesus then says to him, “Be proceeding on your way (Depart and continue traveling). Your son continues living.” The man trusts and believes the word (message; statement) which Jesus said to him, and began proceeding on his way. Now at the time of his steadily descending, his slaves meet him, saying that his boy continues living. He then inquired from them the hour within which he began to better hold himself (started to have better health; held a turn to a more trim and improved condition), and they then said to him, “Yesterday [at the] seventh hour, the fever released from him (or: let him go away; divorced him; sent him away; emitted from him; flowed off him). Then the father knew by this experience that [it was] in that hour within which Jesus said to him, “Your son continues living,” and he believed (trusts), he and his whole household. Now this [is] again a second sign [which] Jesus makes (or: did; performed), coming from out of Judea into the Galilee [area].

This would be parallel to the pollution of the frogs, and I do not see a clear parallel here. Ex. 8. Perhaps the key is, these frogs and flies and whatever do not come directly from the hand of Moses. They seem to come out of nowhere. Moses calls for them, and they appear.

Third Miracle: This occurred at the Pool of Bethesda, and this involved a man who had been lame for 38 years. Jesus asks him, "Do you wish to get well?" "Of course" but Jesus wants him to focus. Man's great problem is, he does not realize that he is sick, that he is separated from God. Therefore, he often rejects the cure. Jesus tells him to get up and walk, and there is no merit attached. There are others who are ill at this pool, but Jesus only healed the paralytic. Healing is a sign of Messiahship. Christ was all about spiritual healing, not relief from physical suffering. This took place on the Sabbath, a day of no work for the Jews. The Jewish leaders were, in legalism, reprimanded this man for carrying his bed on the Sabbath, even though Jesus told him to do it. The Deity of Jesus Christ was beyond doubt here, and these men rejected Him. This illustrates the great stubbornness of religion. John 5:18–26: On this account, therefore, the Jews were all the more seeking to kill Him off, because not only was He habitually loosing and destroying (dismantling; breaking down) the sabbath, but further, He was also repeatedly saying that God [is] His own Father – making Himself equal to God (or: the same thing as God; even, on the same level, in God). Jesus therefore considered and replied, and began saying to them, "It is certainly so (Amen, amen; It is so, it is so)! I am now saying to you folks [that] the Son continues unable to do anything from Himself (or: the Son, from Himself, habitually has no power to be doing anything) except He may continually be seeing something the Father is in process of doing (or: except something He may presently observe the Father constructing making; creating), for what things That One may likely be progressively doing (making; constructing; creating), these things, also, the Son is likewise habitually doing (is in like manner constantly making). "for the Father likes the Son (continuously has affection for and expresses friendship to the Son) and habitually points out (constantly shows; progressively exhibits) to Him (or: in Him) everything (all things) which He is constantly doing, and He will be exhibiting in Him greater works than these (or: He will point out to Him greater acts than these), to the end that you folks may be constantly amazed (filled with astonishment and wonder). "For just as the Father is habitually (repeatedly; constantly; presently) raising up the dead ones, and is repeatedly (continually; presently) making [them] alive, thus also, the Son is habitually (constantly; presently) making alive which ones He is presently intending (willing; purposing), "for neither is the Father presently (progressively; constantly) separating and making a decision about (evaluating; judging) anyone, but rather, He has given all sifting and decision-making (evaluating; judging) in the Son (by the Son; to the Son), "to the end that EVERYONE (all men) may continuously be honoring the Son (may habitually value, and constantly finding worth in, the Son), correspondingly as they may be continually honoring the Father. The one not habitually honoring (valuing; finding worth in) the Son is not habitually honoring (valuing; finding worth in) the Father – the One sending Him." "It is certainly so (Amen, amen), I am continually saying to you folks, that the one habitually hearing My Word (or: My message; My communication of the thought and idea), and continuously trusting (believing) by (or: in) the One sending Me, is constantly holding (is continually possessing; is progressively having) eonian life (life having the character and qualities of the ages; age-lasting and eon-durative life; life having its source in the Age; perhaps = life of the coming age), and is not repeatedly coming into a separation or a decision (an evaluation; a judgment), but rather, he has proceeded (has changed his place of residence; has changed his walk; has stepped over to another place) forth from out of the midst of the Death, into the Life. "It is certainly so (Amen, amen), I am continually saying to folks, an hour is repeatedly

Could this be in contrast to the frogs in Exodus, who are hopping all over the place?

Fourth Miracle: Jesus fed the 5000 from a few loaves and fishes. This would have costed a man a year's wages to pay for such a feast. This is His hypostatic union in full display. In John 6:14, Jesus is called a prophet, like unto Moses, a further confirmation of His Deity and Messiahship. However, there were others who wanted to immediately install Him as king. They wanted to forgo the cross for the crown. They sought food for their stomachs, rather than for the spiritual food of Bible doctrine.

Moses brings a severe plague upon the animals and kills many of them in Ex. 9. This is the destruction of their food supply. Perhaps there is an overlap here, where the destruction of these animals and of the crops are in contrast to what Jesus provides.

Fifth Miracle: The miracle of walking on water. Immediately after feeding the 5000, the disciples commandeered a boat. They got a few yards from shore and they fought this storm for 8 or 9 hours. Then the disciples saw Jesus walking to them upon the water, which He was able to do, even in a violent storm. They did not recognize Him. When they recognized Him, Peter even walked out to him, but began to slip into the water. He could share in Christ's victory only if he kept his eyes on the Lord. This was a lesson in faith rest and the importance of spiritual maturity. When Jesus got into the boat, it was immediately on the other side, an additional miracle. They said, "Of truth, you are the Son of God."

Moses brought the miracle of a great storm, thunder and hail which destroyed the crops of the Egyptians. Ex. 9

Sixth Miracle: The blind man is healed, and he goes out and announces to the world that Jesus is the Messiah. The pharisees blindly refused to believe and they ridiculed this man's faith. These signs brought virulent unbelief from them.

This is in contrast to the thick darkness brought over the land, so that no one could see. Ex. 10

Seventh Miracle: John 11:40–44 Jesus raises Lazarus from the grave. This was the greatest sign of all. Jesus herein showed His own power over death.

This is in contrast to the final judgment of God against Egypt through Moses, where the firstborn was killed, apart from the splashing of the blood on the doorposts and header. Ex. 11–12

These signs and miracles were only a fraction of the miracles which Jesus did. Any one of them should have been enough to confirm His Deity and Messiahship.

1Corinthians:

Spiritual death will be the first topic. This will tell us where we came from. Spiritual death is separation from God because of sin. The original is the fall of Adam, the source of sin. Because Adam and the woman sinned, God had to be separate from them; God can have nothing to do with sin. Sin violates His perfect standard of righteousness.

1Cor. 15:21 For since through a man [came] death, through a Man, also, [comes] resurrection of dead ones.

1Cor. 15:22 For just as within Adam all keep on (everyone continues) dying, in the same way, also, within the Christ all (everyone) will be made alive

Lesson #1040

1Cor. 15:21–22 March 14, 2010

Sunday 2

Our common ancestor became corrupted and we also became corrupted. We are all responsible for our individual decisions to sin and to foster evil. We always have this choice. Homosexuals can make decisions one way or the other, just as heterosexuals can make decisions to fornicate or not. There is no such thing as lack of responsibility for your own sins.

Sin affects everything that man does. The fact that sin extends to man's entire nature. However, man can still do good deeds, make good decisions, act in a moral way, etc. The result of having a sin nature is known theologically as total depravity. This does not mean that everyone is as depraved as they could be. We can decide whether or not to sin. There is good in man, but it is always relative good.

Fallen man cannot be spiritual or relate to God. We are separated by spiritual death at birth. Total depravity means that man has no spiritual capability within himself. God has turned toward us, rather than away from us. No longer are we dominated by the nature of Adam. In reversionism, we can certainly be dominated.

Vv. 21–22 have 2 types of death: spiritual and physical. Death is separation. Whether this is separation from God in spiritual death or the separation of body and soul in physical death. We never completely die. Our soul remains alive, even when our body decomposes.

All of us will die physically, because we all possess a sin nature. We have a body of corruption. That is what aging is all about. Adam's sin of disobedience is the original sin. Through Adam came all deaths; physical and spiritual. One man, therefore death came to mankind as a consequence of sin. In Adam, all die.

Rom. 5:12 Therefore, just as sin came into the world through one man, and death through sin, and so death spread to all men because all sinned-- spiritual death was brought into the world because of Adam.

Rom. 5:13 ...for sin indeed was in the world before the law was given, but sin is not counted where there is no law.

So, what makes this fair? Adam made the decision, I didn't? The fact is, we are condemned right along with Adam.

Sometimes, when another family member dies, we receive a legacy or an inheritance which they worked for, but we did not. We also receive a different sort of inheritance at birth, that which is passed to us genetically. We get our features, hands, nose and feet from them. Sometimes we get physical weaknesses and propensities for certain diseases from their genetic code.

We are all the seed of Adam as the first man. The genetic code of mankind came from this one man without evolution. We all have that genetic connection.

Inheriting a Sin Nature from Adam

1. Adam acquired a sin nature through sin.
2. This is often called a nature of flesh, giving us a clue as to its origin.
3. That nature permeated Adam's body and soul. This is transmitted through the male sperm, which contains all of the genetic information which we need.
4. The sin nature is transmitted from Adam to his progeny. It is in our cell structure as well.
5. Therefore, it is transmitted to all of us who are his descendants.
6. Our depraved nature is derived from his choice for a depraved nature. We have an inheritance of death, which we wish we did not have, but we do. A sad state of affairs.
7. As part of the genetic connection, we acquire the nature of our common ancestor.
8. We inherit a sin nature through birth from Adam.
9. When Adam sinned, we were seminally present in him; we are his seed; it is as if we were there.
10. Because we are in Adam, Adam's posterity sinned the first sin because they were seminally or genetically present in the communal father. We weren't actually present, but we were seminally present. He passes down this nature to us.
11. All mankind are just as guilty as Adam. We inherited this nasty nature from Adam. As your husband or wife what this nature is like. You have the same propensity for arrogance and disobedience as did the first Adam.
12. Humanity inherits a sin nature which is passed from Adam to us. Theologically, this is spiritual death. This is the sin nature. This is the fallen nature in the cell structure of our body.

The final question is, if we do not say this, are our prayers ineffective or not heard? Has God never forgiven me? He hears our confession even if we do not follow procedure. So we can be forgiven even apart from proper protocol.

Adam chose in full cognizance to eat the fruit offered to him by his wife. This is why is says, In Adam, all die. Prior to this moment, Adam had fellowship with God; and he gave it all up in one moment. At that moment, he went from innocence to a man with a sin nature. He acquired a sin nature.

Bobby is going to give us the complete doctrine of why we are where we are.

What Does it Mean to Acquire a Sin Nature

1. Adam lost the innocent nature that he had in the garden that had not known sin.
2. Adam knew no sin until he ate of the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. Suddenly, he knew the difference. He knew evil.
3. After that, for the first time in human history, and in Adam's lifetime, he fully understood his situation, the result of his choice. This occurred instantaneously.
4. When Adam ate, sin had a universal effect on him. One sin had a universal effect on him. He knew sin; he knew what sin was.
5. It corrupted his mind, his thoughts, his will and his volition; his emotions; his conscience; and it corrupted all of his experiences from then on in life.
6. In short, sin became all pervasive in the human condition. It is our condition; that is the sin nature.
7. From that time on, Adam could produce nothing but relative good or sin or evil. This was never an issue before.
8. On his own, Adam could not acquire or merit a renewed relationship with God. He could not fall to his knees and say, "God, take me back in." On his own, Adam could never restore the lost relationship. Adam now has no spiritual capability. Unbelievers say, "I'm a spiritual person" when they have no such capability.

In Adam All Die

1. All mankind is related to Adam.
2. Adam is our progenitor; he is our mutual ancestor.
3. Since Adam is the ancestor of the entire human race, we are all in his genetic line; his genes are still a part of us.
4. As it says, in his genetic line, all die.
5. All mankind acquires a spiritual death because of our genetic relationship.
6. Because of his one choice of disobedience, we inherit a sin nature from Adam which entirely corrupts us. No dualism; we are completely corrupted.
7. So all of us emerge from the womb with human life and all are spiritual dead.

Adam's original sin had repercussions for all of us. We cannot escape it. I was not there; I didn't do it.

Adam's Posterity

1. Adam represented all of us when he made a choice.
2. We always existed in Adam, seminally.
3. Seminally means that we are all the seed of Adam as the first man. We can trace our parents and grandparents back, but our line began with Adam.
4. Therefore, we all have a genetic connection with Adam, male and female.
5. We get a genetic inheritance from our collective father, a nature born of sin.

This has tremendous repercussions for all of us. The evolutionary development of man is not correct. Ape to man is not compatible. There was no original sin by Adam's progenitors, if they were apes. After millions of generations of evolution, wouldn't the sin nature be removed by procreation? Man is not evolving out of a nature of sin. This sin nature does not originate from another species.

This Is How We Acquire this Nature of Sin

1. In the Bible, the sin nature is sometimes called a nature of flesh.
2. That term means the sin nature permeated the material part of man, including his genetic code. Our sin nature is a nature of flesh.
3. The cell structure of Adam's body was corrupted from the moment of his fall. When Adam sinned, it corrupted him entirely. He was certainly capable of great sin.
4. So the genetic transmitter, which happens to be the male sperm, carries that corruption as the nature of sin. That is how it is passed from Adam to his progeny. Through Adam, the sin nature is passed down to us.
5. So the sin nature is genetically transmitted from Adam to his progeny, transmitted to all of his descendants. The genetic structure of our family line means we have a corrupt nature.
6. Our depraved nature is derived inherently from his choice of a depraved nature. We have this inheritance of death. It really does not seem fair that we are tainted with the nature that Adam chose, but it is fair.
7. As part of our genetic inheritance, we acquire the nature of our common ancestor, which is sin. The corruption, the defilement of sin.

The Theological Points

1. When Adam sinned, we are seminally in him.
2. It was as if we were there; genetically, we were.
3. Adam's posterity sinned the first sin, because we were potentially genetically a part of him.
4. All mankind is just as guilty as Adam. You wanted to blame Adam and curse him for putting us in this situation, but we are in Adam, so we are tacitly involved. We have the same propensity for arrogance and disobedience as they had. We have the same problems; we have the same essence. Since we were there in Adam, and he sinned, that means we would have sinned.

5. Humanity inherits a sin nature. This sin nature is passed down from Adam to every human being. That is inherited sin.

But God also imputes sin. It is not just about inheritance; He also imputes sin to us. So why is Adam's original sin imputed to us at birth? Isn't one of them enough? Imputation of sin corresponds to the seminal unity of the human race with Adam. You cannot remove the two. We sinned because we are in unity with Adam. The human race existed in Adam, not individually, but as his collective seed. The entire human race existed in him, even though only the woman was with him.

Why Do You Get Adam's Sin?

1. When Adam sinned, we all sinned, being seminally present. We existed seminally with Adam. This is the guts of his hamartiology course.
2. We are associated with the original sin, which belongs to us in Adam.
3. So the original sin of Adam is imputed to every person at birth. Why? Because in this seminal way, the sin was committed by all of us. He sinned and so we sinned.
4. But because we did not actually commit the sin, because we were not actually there, we did not actually do it; it must be imputed to us as our sin. We were there seminally but we were not there personally. This means that his sin was very personal to us.
5. The imputation of Adam's sin signifies our solidarity of death in Adam. We are in the same boat as Adam was when he ate that fruit.
6. Imputation is the very basis of our condemnation; God condemns us by imputed Adam's sin to us. This is our sin just as much as it was Adam's sin. It belongs to us by imputation.
7. Condemnation from the justice of God is the imputation of Adam's sin. The genetic transmission of Adam's trend toward sin, which is the sin nature. That is our propensity for personal sin after we are born.
8. Again, it is the imputation of Adam's original sin which is our condemnation occurs. Condemnation must precede salvation. We could not be saved without being condemned first.

The first Adam was replaced by the second Adam, who paid the penalty for our sin. He paid the penalty for Adam's original sin. All the inheritance and the imputation is all taken care of by the second Adam. This is what we have as an inheritance. No longer are we dominated by our inheritance. Our renewed spiritual life is what we recover in salvation and spiritual growth.

1Cor. 15:22 For just as within Adam all keep on (everyone continues) dying, in the same way, also, within the Christ all (everyone) will be made alive

Summary

1. All mankind inherits a sin nature from Adam. Everything is affected by this.
2. The original sin of Adam, eating from the fruit of the tree, is imputed to mankind. We were seminally present in Adam. In essence, we were present when Adam committed the first sin.
3. This means that all of us are just as guilty as Adam, which is why our fallen state is fair. It is from His justice. Adam's original sin is imputed to us, so we are just as guilty as Adam was.
4. Being seminally present in Adam, since we were in him when he sinned, we are all involved in the original sin.
5. God must condemn us by imputing that sin; that sin is imputed to us at the moment of our birth.
6. Therefore, in Adam, we are born spiritual dead, which is our judgment from the justice of God. We were seminally in Adam, and his sin was our sin.
7. So imputed sin from the justice of God and inherent sin as the progeny of Adam, are the background for our condemnation; not personal sin. Our condemnation is not about our personal sin.
8. While personal sin existed in the human race from Adam to Moses, Adam sinned many times after the original sin. Personal sin continues with mankind. Personal sin is not the basis of our condemnation.
9. Spiritual death, separation and condemnation from the justice of God, because Adam sinned and we were involved.
10. The basis for man's condemnation from the justice of God is the imputation of Adam's sin, as well as the possession at birth of the old sin nature.

This explains the first half of v. 21. As soon as we are born, we begin to die; our corrupt body begins to deteriorate. We have a body of corruption. We will possess a body of corruption now and a body of incorruption in the future. It will never deteriorate in the future. No more aches and pains and no more gray hair. It is more important as to with Whom we will be at that time. All those things that seem wonderful to us, may or may not be there. Whatever our experience will be are far above what we enjoy now.

Through a Man, also comes the resurrection of the dead ones. This is the 2nd Adam. He is the one which brings life. Every person has the option to defeat the death. We will look forward to a resurrection body without a sin nature. There will be no temptation; and we will live in the pristine and perfect environment of heaven. We have no temptation and no imputed sin. It will be swallowed up in victory.

Eternal life in connection with the resurrection. The Corinthians do not believe in the resurrection. As long as we are in this life, we might as well have the encouragement of whatever happens to us.

As people become older, they sometimes become afraid, because they have no feeling of fulfillment or accomplishment. Life was brought on by the imputation of all sins to Jesus Christ on the cross.

The Corinthians did understand their own personal sin. They had an inheritance from Christ, which included a spiritual life and a resurrection body at death.

Adam created trichotomus at birth. When he sinned, his human spirit was gone. When we have faith in Christ, we are born-again and the human spirit is placed into us. This is why Christ is called the last Adam.

John 11:25–26 Jesus said to her, "I am the resurrection and the life. Whoever believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live, and everyone who lives and believes in me shall never die. Do you believe this?"

John is a Christological book. These have been written, so that you believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing, you might have life in His name.

John 3:36 is the verse that brought Bob to Christ when he was 18 years old. He who believes in the Son has everlasting life. So also in Christ, all will be made alive. In Adam, all die. That is a transition statement. It takes us from the abstract in v. 21 to the concrete. It is the concept and it is what we understand.

1Cor. 15:21 For since through a man [came] death, through a Man, also, [comes] resurrection of dead ones.

V. 22 has the Greek word παντες which means all. In the first phrase, all refers to the entire human race. We are all in Adam. Present active indicative of αποθνησκω.

Greek of This:

1. The indicative is a statement of fact.
2. The active voice means the subject is accomplishing the action, which is death. They do it all by themselves, all on their own.
3. The present is a progressive present:
  - a. This signifies an action in progress or an action in a state of persistence.
  - b. It is also retroactive in its application. It begins in the past and continues into the present.
4. Here is what it means:
  - a. human beings were all involved in the sin which brought death upon themselves at birth.
  - b. That action is in a state of persistence. It is an action with continuance; it is not static; it continues.
  - c. Death began in the past for mankind and continues for all.
  - d. So for each one of us at birth, we are condemned and we are on the way to eternal death. In our own personal history, death reigns until we believe in Jesus Christ. When we add to this death all that Christ does, and we realize that death is defeated and that it will be defeated completely, that is why Bobby uses death during the memorial service.

Bobby talks about death as well as the solution to death. They have to face it. It is staring them right in the face. What happened to that person? What will happen to me? It is staring them in the face.

Then παντες is used. Liberal theology will say that all are saved and they will say, "It's all good; we all get to heaven; it does not matter what method we use." But here it says, "In Adam, all die."

Some people, it is a sad thing, will die an eternal death. Eternal death is death. Even though those who are not in Christ will be resurrected, they are still in condemnation, in hell. We are out of that, but they are not.

Psalm 34:22 The LORD redeems the life of his servants; none of those who take refuge in him will be condemned. Here, soul refers to life. Those who take refuge in Him will not be condemned.

All refers to everyone in v. 22a, but to only believers in v. 22b. Salvation is faith alone in Christ alone. We are not condemned if we believe.

The future passive indicative of ζωοποιω = to make alive, to give life to. All will receive life; all believers are made alive.

What Do We Learn from the Future Passive Indicative

1. This is the passive, because we receive life.
2. We are placed into union with Christ. This is how we are made alive.
3. The indicative mood is a statement of fact; it is the reality of eternal life. All will receive life. It is an inescapable fact.
4. The future tense here is a progressive future.
  - a. This denotes progress in future time. It is a logical progression in being made alive.
  - b. Being made alive is an immediate status. We must throw out being made alive as being progressive. We are saved one by faith alone. The status of spiritual life rather than spiritual death. This also talks about a future progressive awaiting the consummation of that life at the resurrection.

Conclusion

1. All mankind dies when born.
2. That is the seminal presence of man in Adam.
3. We are all united with Adam, who is our ancestor.

4. Our genetic sin nature is inherited from him.
5. We get his original sin imputed to us because it is rightfully ours, as we were seminally present when Adam sinned.
6. In Adam, we all die.
7. We are born spiritually dead.
8. All of this is our history, and it is our destiny without Christ. In Christ, all will be made alive.

The guarantee of being made alive for all eternity; consummated by an eternal physical life at resurrection. This is the confusion of the Corinthians at resurrection. The Corinthians must understand that there is a bodily resurrection in Christ.

Christ is the victor at resurrection, and we will follow Him.

1Cor. 15:22 For just as within Adam all keep on (everyone continues) dying, in the same way, also, within the Christ all (everyone) will be made alive

Lesson #1043 1Jn 5:3–5 Rom. 5:12 1Cor. 15:22–24 Mar 28, 2010 Sunday 1

Adam, in one moment in time, suddenly knew sin and pollution. He was completely metamorphosed. His very essence became corrupt because of his original sin. It was not that he ate from the piece of fruit. The fruit was simply the object of his disobedience. He ate just one piece of fruit, which corruption then touched every single area of his life. It corrupted his will and his conscience and his norms; and it affected every experience of his life from then on. Adam's one sin had drastic consequences.

The sin nature, the flesh, means that the sin nature permeates the very cell structure of the body; the flesh of all mankind. It is indelibly part of our essence. Because of that nature of depravity, Adam had to be separated from God. God's perfect righteousness can never have a relationship with any sin ever. That separation that Adam caused is what we call spiritual death.

Rom. 5:12 Therefore, just as through one man, sin entered into the world and death through that sin. Death spread to all men, because all sinned [when Adam sinned].

The problem is, in Adam, all die. This is our point of solidarity.

It may not seem fair to be punished for Adam's sin. We were not there; but actually, we were present in Adam's genes. We had not yet been born, but we were in him seminally. Or, we were present in Adam as his seed. His sperm is the genetic code for mankind and this code came from one man, and we all have this genetic connection from this first man. His corrupt nature is transmitted from him to his descendants. We acquire this sin nature at birth. We are in Adam.

Adam's original sin, that sin that he sinned, however long ago that was, is imputed to all of us. It is judicially assigned to us. It was not our sin; we did not commit it. We were all involved in the sin seminally. We all sinned when Adam sinned, being seminally present. We are associated with the original sin, which belongs to us as his progeny. In this seminal way, this sin was committed by all of us. His original sin was imputed, because this sin is our sin as well. His original sin is very personal to us. It is imputed to us, because it signifies our solidarity of death in Adam. The solidarity of the human race means that we are solidly in Adam, because in Adam, all die; when Adam sinned, we sinned. The justice of God imputes that sin to us, along with a sin nature passed down genetically to us.

Mankind dies when he is born because we are all born in Adam. That is the human condition; that is the human predicament. Spiritually, this is the human condition.

The triumph is the second phrase of v. 22: In Christ, all will be made alive. The all in the next phrase are those who are in Christ. Union with Christ means that we share His eternal life. For the believer in Jesus Christ, spiritual death no longer has dominion. We are made alive in Christ. We do not give ourselves eternal life. Good works do us no good. No longer are we separated from God. That is the impact of the cross. That is the central event of history. Jesus Christ died spiritually. He died so that we can live spiritually. He paid the penalty for sin, which we could only pay with eternal death. However, that penalty will not be applied to us because Jesus took it upon Himself. Adam lost it and Christ regained it. In Adam, all die; in Christ, all will be made alive. We share His victory over death.

1Cor. 15:22 For just as within Adam all keep on (everyone continues) dying, in the same way, also, in the Christ all (everyone) will be made alive

Bobby then reads v. 23 and 24, which is a reading of our future.

That warning, the end is near, comes from this passage. The victory was won the moment that Jesus Christ died on the cross; that was the strategic victory. All of these victories represent a sequence of events. Each victory is connected to a resurrection. This is also where Satan's doom is sealed.

Obviously, we are still in the midst of the conflict and Satan is still alive and well and on attack.

From the time that Jesus was nailed to the cross, every scheme that Satan tried was to stop Christ from going to the cross; to wipe out Israel, to wipe out His line.

Before the cross, Satan had an indefinite period of time before him; now, lo his doom is near.

Each of us has a certain time to live on this earth. It is truly wonderful to see God work out our lives before us. The economy is hitting some people very hard. Just stand back and watch the deliverance of the Lord. In the worst difficulties and in the worst trials, God guarantees our logistical grace. God's timing is what removes us from this life. His strategic victory on the cross makes our tactical victory possible.

During His victory, Jesus exhibited a spiritual life as was never seen before; and this life is available to us.

1Cor. 15:23–24 – yet each person within his (her) own class or division (or: ordered rank; place or appointed position [in line]; arranged [time] or order of succession): Christ a Firstfruit, next after that, those belonging to the Christ (or: the ones who have their source and origin in Christ; those who are [a part] of the Christ) within the midst of His presence, thereafter, the goal (the finished work; the embodiment of maturity and perfection; the fulfillment; the result; the outcome; the end attained; the realization of the perfect discharge; or: the end; the closing act; the consummation), when He can proceed handing over (or: may progressively pass along and entrust; should by habit give over) the reign (or: kingdom) to God, even [the] Father (or: in [His] God and Father), at the time that He should bring down to idleness (make unemployed and ineffective; nullify; abolish; render useless and unproductive) every rulership of government (all headship and sovereignty), even all (or: every) authority and power!

So many times people do not want Christianity because they view Christianity as some difficult thing to endure. This is the epitome of our spiritual life. That spiritual life is Bible doctrine. His mandates are Bible doctrine; they represent the greatest life a person can have. Living the mandates of Bible doctrine and metabolizing doctrine in our souls. We have the ability to live above and beyond anything could imagine.

Whatever is born of God overcomes the world. Because of Christ's strategic victory, we overcome the world. This is the most fantastic life. Some of us know how wonderful it is to use the faith rest drill to get us through a difficult time. We live it; it becomes a part of the fabric of our soul.

The person who overcomes the world is the one who believes that Jesus is the Son of God. We believe in His strategic victory and in His Person and work.

The only way we can rejoice in life is living the spiritual life. We share Jesus's strategic victory, and we can use the spiritual life in order to gain tactical victories.

1John 5:3–5 For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments. And his commandments are not burdensome. For everyone who has been born of God overcomes the world. And this is the victory that has overcome the world--our faith. Who is it that overcomes the world except the one who believes that Jesus is the Son of God?

Lesson #1044

1Cor. 15:22–23 March 28, 2010

Sunday 2

Simply put, Jesus Christ had no father, so he has no sin nature. That is the physical aspect of it. He was the only person born into this world without a sin nature.

He was uniquely-born. When Christ went to the cross, he won the strategic victory. He is our Savior. In Christ, we will all be made alive.

We share all that He is and all that He has, and this include eternal life; and this will include a resurrection body, which is the direction in which we are going. The tactical victory for us is being made spiritually alive. There is a purpose for us, once we have been made alive. We are made spiritually alive for a purpose; to be witnesses for the prosecution against His opposition, Satan as we continue to mature in the spiritual life. Our spiritual growth determines our effectiveness in combat.

Satan's objection, how can You send Your creatures to hell? Love has a place in everything which God does. God loves us so much that He sends His uniquely-born son to die for us. We win tactical victories as we progress. This is why we are alive in this world. It is combat, and that is what we are in every day. This world throws all kinds of things at us. But we have the ability to overcome everything that is thrown at us.

Do we glorify God in executing the spiritual life? Laboring by the grace of God. We are well-equipped to do this in the spiritual life. The strategic victory guarantees how it will end up in eternity.

1Cor. 15:22 For just as within Adam all keep on (everyone continues) dying, in the same way, also, in the Christ all (everyone) will be made alive

We have a critical prepositional phrase, εν ταγμα, which means ...each believer among his own tagma. Ταγμα is a military metaphor here. You cannot get around it. Paul used military terms constantly.

Neuter_noun: tagma (τάγμα) [pronounced TAHG-mah], which means 1) that which has been arranged, thing placed in order; 2) a body of soldiers, a corps; 3) band, troop, class. Thayer Definition only. Strong's #5001.

Around 600 people in an infantry battalion when Bobby was in the service. 1st battalion is all believers; the second battalion is the unbelievers. The Grim battalion. As believers in Jesus Christ, we are all a part of the 1st battalion, regardless of how good or bad or a soldier we are. When we are made alive in Christ, we become a member of this battalion.

Jesus Christ is the first in resurrection, and He is the One Who says, "Follow Me."

The Feast of the Firstfruits is an analogy. There was an early picking of a sheave; a bundle, and that was offered to God before the Temple (or Tabernacle).

Lazarus was raised from the dead, but he was not resurrected. He subsequently died. All previous returns from the dead were recessitations, but not resurrections. The resurrection of Christ and the 1st battalion are not simultaneous. Time elapses, but it does not stop until all Church Age believers are resurrected. If you know your Scripture, you know that the rapture is not the end of human history.

There are 3 companies in the first battalion, and each corresponds to the dispensation in which they live. There is alpha company, which is us, a member of the church. This is all believers in the Church Age.

The Church Age Rapture

1. The rapture, at the end of the Church Age, and no one knows when that will occur, John 14:1–3 1John 5:1–2
2. That exit-resurrection is described in 1Thess. 4:1–13 For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first. Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so we will always be with the Lord (1Thess. 4:16–17). Those who are still alive when the Lord returns will hear the trump of God, loud and clear. We will be caught up together with the first 2 platoons, the one being resurrected from physical death. We are 2nd, in the 1st battalion; Christ is first.
3. No member of alpha company will ever enter the next dispensation, which is the 7 year Tribulation. This will be the worst this world will ever see, and Satan is loosed without any restraint of God the Holy Spirit. Things get really bad. Wars, the horror, the death, the horrendous slaughter which goes on. However, we stand before the Judgment Seat of Christ, getting out decorations.
4. Bravo company is next, which will be Tribulational martyrs. This is a time of horror. Dan. 12:13 isa. 26;19–20 Matt. 21 When Christ returns at the 2nd Advent, He sets up the promised kingdom of Israel, which begins the rule of the King of Kings, law of love, the Son of David. The kingdom is the reign of Jesus Christ for a literal 1000 years without Satan, in an environment without Satan. We will rule with Him. 2 resurrections have taken place.

Charley company next time.

1Cor. 15:23 – yet each person within his (her) own class or division (or: ordered rank; place or appointed position [in line]; arranged [time] or order of succession): Christ a Firstfruit, next after that, those belonging to the Christ (or: the ones who have their source and origin in Christ; those who are [a part] of the Christ) within the midst of His presence,

Lesson #1045

1Cor. 15:23–28 March 31, 2010

Wednesday

This is good Wednesday, which is the day that Jesus was crucified. This is how He was 3 days and 3 nights in the tomb. The cross was the central strategy piece of God for defeating Satan; this was the central 6 hours of human history. Christ on the cross completely destroyed Satan's contention that he made at the appeal trial. Satan's appeal was a brilliant one. He was attempting to isolate the attributes of God. Satan's objective was to show that God was not absolute perfection, and that He set aside His attribute of love in order to judge His creatures. He wanted to show that there was an imperfection in God, when there as clearly one in Satan.

The cross made it certain that Satan could not make his appeal stand. Our Lord's justice, righteousness and love were all working in harmony on the cross. God's justice was functioning perfectly. There was no way that God could not judge Him. God turned His back on His Son. At the same time, the love of God was extended to all mankind in Christ's substitutionary atonement. The fairness of God's condemnation. All angelic creation observed this. It is for us to have for all eternity. That is the significance of the cross, and that is where our salvation was won.

Satan's contention was completely blown away. The only truth that Satan has is that which he mimics. Satan still roams the earth, seeking those whom he may devour. He seeks to devour us. He demon army is heavily involved in all of this. He still attempts to destroy the spiritual life of all believers. He has many ways of doing that and occasionally, we help him out.

Satan cringes in all of this when believers provide a witness for the prosecution. Satan knows, and he is increasingly becoming more and more desperate.

We all win tactical victories by living the spiritual life. That is our tactical victory set. We continue to thwart Satan's schemes in the Angelic Conflict. We can defeat the most powerful creature created by God on a daily basis. That is powerful. For us to live the spiritual life is more powerful than Satan himself.

At this moment in history, when then end comes, that is Satan's worst day, culminating in his eternal condemnation. At that moment the jaws of the Lake of Fire are wide open, and Satan will be tormented day and night forever.

It is the resurrection of Jesus Christ that begins to wind down the doom clock on Satan. The rest is the final tactical victory of Jesus Christ. The final resurrection at the end of time, and the clock stops ticking.

It is all connected; intimately connected with the resurrection. So Paul is explaining how important resurrection is to the big picture. God has His sights set on something bigger than our individual resurrection.

There are theologies which believe in one gigantic resurrection. However, that is not dispensational.

Tagma means order, so this reads each among his own order. Tagma is a number of persons who belong together. We use battalion to describe these groups of believers. In each company, there are platoons. Battalions triangulate. Standard division and a standard battalion within a division.

The first battalion is the unit of all believers. It is one unit or one grouping. There is more than one grouping within a battlion. There is a second battalion made up of unbelievers.

In v. 23, Paul is referring to the first battalion. There are smaller units within the first battalion. It will be broken down into several units of believers.

The smaller units will be called companies in this analogy. They have been task organized into other missions, but they are all a part of the same battalion. We fall into one of these companies.

Each dispensation is connected to a dispensation. All are believers and all are members of the first battalion. Jesus Christ is the first resurrection and He guarantees all of the rest of the resurrections.

Alpha company is the Church Age, which is the age in which we reside. Bobby's first unit was Charley company, first division.

Alpha Company and the Resurrections

1. The rapture at the end of the Church Age brings the resurrection of the royal family of God. Philip. 3:21–23
2. 1Thess. 4:16–17 describes our moment as alpha company. For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first. Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so we will always be with the Lord. We meet the Lord in the air. However, in the 2nd advent, our Lord lands on the Mount of Olives.
3. A variety of medals and “Well done, My good servant.”
4. No member of alpha company will enter into the next dispensation. Rev. 3:10

At the 2nd advent, bravo company is resurrected.

Bravo Company and the Resurrection

1. Tribulation martyrs and Old Testament saints will all be resurrected. Dan. 12:13
Isa. 26;19–20 Rev. 20:4
2. Upon resurrection, they immediately reside in the kingdom of God. They go straight into the kingdom. Bravo company goes straight into that kingdom.
3. This dispensation is called the Millennium.
4. That begins the rule of the King of Kings, the Lord of Lords, Christ the Messiah.
5. He fulfilled all of the covenant promises of the Old Testament and bravo company is there to receive them.
6. The kingdom is the reign of Christ for a literal 1000 years in a perfect environment without Satan.
7. Alpha company also return to rule with Christ in His kingdom. We will never again be separated for the Lord Jesus Christ.

There is also charley company

Charley Company and the Resurrection

1. There are believers who survive the Tribulation and they enter into the Millennium in earthly bodies.
2. They get their resurrection bodies at the end of the Millennium.
3. This is after the Gog and Magog revolution.
4. This completes the first battalion.

Then comes the second battalion, and this is after the first battalion. This is indeed a grim resurrection.

Second Battalion

1. The unbeliever is moved out of the jurisdiction of physical death. Physical death no longer holds them. Will there be an interim body? This is the moment that they are resurrected to physical bodies.
2. They will all face the Lord at the Great White Throne of Judgement. The Book of Life and the Book of Works are opened. Their name was removed from the Book of Life because they never believed in Jesus Christ. For this reason, they are gone; no righteousness; unacceptable to God.
3. So they are found guilty of not believing in Jesus Christ. No one is good enough without Christ.
4. That is the moment that they are judged. They are cast into an eternal state of torment.
5. The 2nd death is the unbeliever residing in the Lake of Fire with Satan and his angels forever.

1Cor. 15:23 – yet each person within his (her) own class or division (or: ordered rank; place or appointed position [in line]; arranged [time] or order of succession): Christ a Firstfruit, next after that, those belonging to the Christ (or: the ones who have their source and origin in Christ; those who are [a part] of the Christ) within the midst of His presence,

Then comes the victory in the Angelic Conflict, where the strategic and tactical victories meet. These are the next 5 verses, and these events occur immediately after the judgment.

Bobby reads these verses. There are some ambiguities here. What is the end. How is the kingdom is delivered up? Whose rule and authority is abolished at that time?

1Cor. 15:24 thereafter, the goal (the finished work; the embodiment of maturity and perfection; the fulfillment; the result; the outcome; the end attained; the realization of the perfect discharge; or: the end; the closing act; the consummation), when He can proceed handing over (or: may progressively pass along and entrust; should by habit give over) the reign (or: kingdom) to God, even [the] Father (or: in [His] God and Father), at the time that He should bring down to idleness (make unemployed and ineffective; nullify; abolish; render useless and unproductive) every rulership of government (all headship and sovereignty), even all (or: every) authority and power!

1Cor. 15:25 For it is binding (necessary) for Him to be continuously reigning (ruling as King) until which [time] (or: until where) He should (may) put (place) all the enemies under His feet.

1Cor. 15:26 [The] last enemy being progressively brought down to idleness (made unemployed and ineffective; rendered useless and unproductive; nullified; abolished) [is] the Death.

1Cor. 15:27 For, "He subjects (arranges in subordination, bringing under full control) all things under His feet." Now whenever He may say that everything (all things) has been arranged in subjection and placed under full control, [it is] evident (clearly visible) that [it is] with the exception of and outside of the One subjecting the whole (arranging all things in subordination under) in Him (to Him; for Him).

1Cor. 15:28 Now whenever the whole (all things) may be subjected in Him (to Him; for Him), then the Son Himself will also be subjected (placed and arranged under) in the One (to the One) subjecting the whole (all things) in Him (to Him), that God can be all things within the midst of and in union with all men (or, as a nuet.: may be everything in all things; or: should exist being All in all).

Final Points

1. The context of the verst. See above.
2. So it becomes clear there is a progression to an end point in time.
3. The final triumph of God takes place at the end of the progression of resurrection history.
4. The rule that is abolished is the rule of God's enemies in the Angelic Conflict. This is the one who is the ruler of this world.
5. At that point, the point, the kingdom is delivered to God the Father.

Lesson #1046

1Cor. 15:24 April 1, 2010

Thursday

We are studying a little eschatology. He is going to deliver up the kingdom to God and he will crush all of His enemies.

The prerequisite is v. 23, and the entire event of resurrection precedes the end. The resurrection of all believers. A battalion, which comes from the phrase each among his own tagma. (these are soldiers who make up a group).

Each battalion is broken up into smaller groups. As we have previously studied, each set of believers and each grouping of believers is in their own separate unit of the battalion. This is corresponding to the various dispensations. The firstfruits, which is Jesus Christ, the first one to be resurrected. At the end of this age, there will be another resurrection.

At the end of the Tribulation, there is another resurrection. Then comes the Millennium and another resurrection.

3 platoons in this sequence. Alpha company, which is all Church Age believers. These are platoons of Church Age believers. The first 2 platoons are, as 1Thess. 4:16 says, the dead in Christ. All Church Age believers who have died prior to the rapture. The grave gives up all those who have died. There is some sort of sound associated with each phrase, which is associated with each supernatural event. This sound will be heard throughout the earth. People will rise from all portions of the earth. Bobby's illustration of 2 platoons just indicates that he is talking about a lot of people.

The sound heralds the departure of all Church Age believers, but the only ones who will be visible to the rest of the earth is the 3rd platoon. It is the visible 3rd platoon which will be missed by unbelievers and that will confuse unbelievers. They hear 3 sounds, and these sounds are heard all over the earth. So there is a mystery which is linked to this departure.

The 3rd platoon are those who are alive at the time of the rapture. This entire group will be lifted up into heaven and that will cause some sort of a stir. On earth then begins the most terrible time of human history, the 7 years of the devil's desperation.

Right now, Satan does not know how much time he has left. But once the rapture comes, there is 7 years left, and then 1000 after that.

We have already developed angeology and theology etc., but eschatology is the toughest. Dan. 9 plays a part. Joel passages; the last half of the book of Ezekiel. 1Thess. 4 the upper room discourse of our Lord. The gospels (as in Matt. 24). Eschatology was late in developing. Dispensational theology took awhile before it developed.

Bravo company is Old Testament believers and Tribulational believers. Satan will do all that he can in the Tribulation to destroy the Jews. If he can destroy the Jews, then God cannot fulfill His promises to them. Also, during this time frame, Satan is unrestrained.

The kingdom promises to Israel is ruled by Jesus Christ. Those in bravo company will populate the kingdom. Those who are still alive will live in a body of corruption. This kingdom lasts for a literal 1000 years.

Finally, there is one last resurrection, which is Charley company. They receive their resurrection bodies at the end of the Millennium.

The Gog and the Magog revolt. After the revolt, there will be another resurrection, and they will get their resurrection bodies.

1Cor. 15:23 – yet each person within his (her) own class or division (or: ordered rank; place or appointed position [in line]; arranged [time] or order of succession): Christ a Firstfruit, next after that, those belonging to the Christ (or: the ones who have their source and origin in Christ; those who are [a part] of the Christ) within the midst of His presence,

Then there is the 2nd battalion. They are called from the grave just as believers are, and they also receive a body, a body of immortality. After their resurrection, they will be judged as per Rev. 20. It will be the worst moment in all human history. Every unbeliever who has ever lived is resurrected.

This resurrection precedes v. 24a.

Temporal adverb which refers to a chronological progression which has an end point. The culmination point. There is a progression to this end.

Τελος

1. Τελος means termination, end point.
2. In this case, it is a goal toward which a movement is being directed.
3. The goal toward which the movement is directed is the termination of the world as we know it. Human history is over, as we know it.
4. It is the end of the Angelic Conflict. This is connected with the resurrection.

Hoton

1. Hoton simply indicates the time of the end is uncertain.
2. Thus, the time of the resurrection is uncertain.
3. Nevertheless, that goal is an actual, future point. It is a certainty. There is a progression toward that event.
4. 2 things will happen at this event. The first hoton is when the kingdom is delivered to God the Father. The second is the moment after all rule and authority and power is abolished. The current power and authority of this world is none other than Satan and his minions. John 12:31 judgment is upon this world when this end comes. The ruler of this world will be cast out John 16:11 concerning judgment because the ruler of this world was judged. The sentence is pending; Satan is out on appeal. He will lose his appeal.

What Kingdom? What Monarch?

1. The kingdom which God rightly rules, but has not ruled until this end time. Now, Satan rules.
2. Satan has ruled the world throughout human history because of the fall. Adam turned over this world to Satan. When Adam fell, Satan took over and became the ruler of the world.
3. When the end comes, the final rule will be handed over to God the Father. The former rule of Satan is abolished forever.
4. This is the final triumph of the Angelic Conflict. This is when Christ turns over this purged of evil kingdom to the Father. The Millennium is not purged of evil. Satan is bound during the Millennium and there will be unbelievers during this time period and there will be problems in the Millennium.

5. This purged kingdom includes everything which has been opposed to God throughout human history. It is all removed by Jesus Christ. He is the ruler and the King of Kings, the Lord of Lords.
6. Not only are intelligent beings subdued, like angels and unbelievers,
7. Also, all forms of evil, physical and moral, is removed. Death is abolished. The last thing to be abolished is death. No more of those who reside in spiritual death. For us in resurrection bodies, it occurs earlier. When the end comes, everything will be purged of death.
8. This is when Christ has put all enemies under His feet. At that time, He presents the kingdom to God the Father.

What about this Kingdom?

1. Before the kingdom is turned over to God the Father, the sovereign rule was committed to God the Son and for a specific reason. This fulfills God's promise to Abraham. God designates Jesus Christ as the King of Kings. He is the Son of David, the promised King in the line of David.
2. When the purpose has been fulfilled, the rule is handed over to the Father. The kingdom of Israel is over and eternity is about to begin. Human history is finished when the end comes.
3. This does not mean that Christ loses anything or ceases to rule. He does not become some sort of 2nd class ruler.
4. This means that Christ has brought to a conclusion the dispensations of history. The Angelic Conflict has been won.
5. All opposition to God is forever brought to an end. At that point, there will never be opposition to God again.
6. At this point, the eternal state will be brought about and become eternity. We will be present in resurrection bodies. God the Son is still God, and He is still co-equal with God the Father.
7. Until that end, there will be a conflict and there must be a final judgment.
8. And there will be destruction at the end, before the kingdom is turned over to the Father. That is defined in 2Peter 3:7 But by the same word the heavens and earth that now exist are stored up for fire, being kept until the day of judgment and destruction of the ungodly. Right now, the world is held together by the Word of His power.

Certain things must happen in relation to resurrection. It is a sequence of events which will bring on the end of history and the end of the Angelic Conflict.

1Cor. 15:24 thereafter, the goal (the finished work; the embodiment of maturity and perfection; the fulfillment; the result; the outcome; the end attained; the realization of the perfect discharge; or: the end; the closing act; the consummation), when He can proceed handing over (or: may progressively pass along and entrust; should by habit give over) the reign (or: kingdom) to God, even [the] Father (or: in [His] God and Father), at the time that He should bring down to idleness (make unemployed and ineffective; nullify; abolish; render useless and unproductive) every rulership of government (all headship and sovereignty), even all (or: every) authority and power!

V. 25 will be the end of the sequence of events that we have just studied. He will subjugate all of His enemies under His feet.

2010 Easter special #1

1Cor. 15: April 4, 2010

Easter Sunday, and Berachah's one ritual is 1John 1:9.

Untold number of people are hearing the Easter story, and for many, this is just a story. This is a great day for remembering Jesus Christ. In the age of rationalism and empiricism, is there any room for a supernatural event which occurred 2000 years ago. The resurrection of Christ is not only real, but holds together the key to life after death.

1Cor. 15 is the greatest chapter on the resurrection in the Bible. This could be called the Easter chapter of the New Testament. This is not the history of the resurrection but the theology of the resurrection and the proof of the resurrection. Without it, there is no Christianity. If Christ did not rise from the grave, the entire Christian faith is fallacious. If Christ has not been raised, our preaching is in vain, and so is your faith. No sins were forgiven if Christ was not raised from the dead, nor is man redeemed from the slave market of sin, if Jesus is still in the grave. God's justice must still condemn all mankind. Without the resurrection, we have no access to God. Jesus Christ would be no better than a stone idol, a phantom of hope, if He is still in the grave. There is more bad news, if Christ did not rise with a resurrection body, then our body is irredeemable in its corruption. Those who preach the gospel would be a waste. Those who share the gospel would be a hoax. If Christ is not resurrected, then we will not be resurrected. If we are not resurrected, then Christ was not resurrected; and we are liars.

Looking back on millions of Christians who have died, their deaths would have been in vain (v. 18). The good news is, Jesus Christ did rise from the dead. How this affects us now and in the future is, we can be assured of our own resurrection because He was resurrected.

There is no greater Easter story than the effects of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. 1Peter 1:3-5 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! According to his great mercy, he has caused us to be born again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance that is imperishable, undefiled, and unfading, kept in heaven for you, Who by God's power are being guarded through faith for a salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.

The Corinthians did not believe in the resurrection. They did not believe in their own bodily resurrection, although they were Christians. In their thinking, they did not see their bodies as being raised from the dead. To them, the body was evil. Only the soul to the Greek mind was pure. God could not accept any sort of sin or evil in His presence, so, they reasoned that their bodies are evil, filled with sin, and therefore, cannot be resurrected before God.

Paul was teaching that Jesus was raised bodily from the dead with a unique flesh. As in Adam, all die; so also in Christ will all be made alive. Christ was the firstfruits, the first man in history to be resurrected. The analogy is to the feast of the firstfruits in Israel.

We follow Him in bodily resurrection, as He was the firstfruits. The body we receive is the same body as our Lord Jesus Christ received. That is something to smile about. We will have a body just like His. We follow Him exactly. In our current body of corruption, sin affects all that we do, and there is no one without sin. The corruption of the sin nature which extends through the whole of man, both material and immaterial. We are enslaved to that nature.

Adam's corrupt nature is a part of everything that we are. Men can do good deeds, but those good deeds that you have done are relative. They are always interspersed with sin, and this sin never meets the standards of God's righteousness. We can never be good enough. We are corrupted from the very moment that we are born, a sad state of affairs.

Jesus never sinned and He never made a mistake. He was perfection. So Paul says, in v. 5, He appeared to Cephas, then to the twelve. Then he appeared to more than five hundred brothers at one time, most of whom are still alive, though some have fallen asleep. Then he appeared to James, then to all the apostles.

There were times that Jesus was not recognized by His disciples and other times, they were able to recognize Him.

Paul is not repeating the story of the resurrection, he is proving the veracity of the resurrection, so that they will understand their own status. 500 witnesses saw Jesus was resurrection. This would have been good for any court case.

Peter knew Jesus Christ better than any other disciple. First time that Jesus appeared, it was to Peter alone. Then He appeared to Peter later that evening. Thomas doubted everything; he had to see to believe. Maybe he was from Missouri. Thomas was unsure even when he saw Jesus and wanted to touch the wounds which Jesus carried.

James grew up with Jesus and saw Him during His ministry, and he was an unbeliever. He spent so much time with the God-man, and James refused to believe. When James saw the resurrected Christ, he believed on the spot. Peter was not present for this meeting.

Peter is the most important of Paul's witnesses. Peter was one of the most trusted of all the Apostles of that era. Some of the Corinthians even followed Peter exclusively.

The Jews kept asking for a sign, and Jesus said, "Here is a sign, that Jonah was in the belly of the great fish for 3 days and 3 nights."

Satan was in the throne room of God, and he rejected God.

Don't you realize Jesus has to be more than just a good man? Jesus has to be exactly Who He says He is; or He is the greatest liar Who has ever lived. If this is a hoax, how can he be considered a good man?

Then there was Paul himself, who had seen the resurrected Christ. Prior to the Damascus road experience, hated Christians, and he persecuted believers in Jesus Christ. Paul is the chief witness to convince these people right here. Paul was journeying from Damascus (or to?). 30 years after the resurrection, Paul met the risen Lord. Paul was infamous among Christians in that part of the world. Resurrection for him was a shattering experience. He hated Christians and he became the Christian of Christians. In one moment, he went from hating Christ to serving Him. This is the power of the resurrection. He was a brilliant man, a rationalist, an empiricist. He actively persecuted believers.

"I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in Me shall live, even if he dies." His resurrection is the guarantee of eternal life. We have that record for our own understanding for the truth of the resurrection.

Some conclusions: with so many visible appearances and so large a number of credible witnesses, the resurrection is more than plausible; it is more than a theory. It is more than a religious tradition. It is a singular event, occurring only once in human history. It is a supernatural event. Rom. 6:5–11 For if we have been united with him in a death like his, we shall certainly be united with him in a resurrection like his. We know that our old self was crucified with him in order that the body of sin might be brought to nothing, so that we would no longer be enslaved to sin. For one who has died has been set free from sin. Now if we have died with Christ, we believe that we will also live with him. We know that Christ, being raised from the dead, will never die again; death no longer has dominion over him. For the death he died he died to sin, once for all, but the life he lives he lives to God. So you also must consider yourselves dead to sin and alive to God in Christ Jesus.

2010 Easter special #2 1Cor. 15:21–25 April 4, 2010

Sunday 2

Since the event of the resurrection is certainly real and certainly has great impact, what does it mean to us personally? What impact does the resurrection have on us?

Death came through one man; this is spiritual death which culminated in physical death. For all have sinned. When Adam sinned, we sinned. We were there by virtue of being in Adam, as a part of his genetics. We were seminally present in him; we are his seed; his descendants. Adam's posterity sinned the first sin because we were seminally, genetically present in our mutual father. In effect, we were there, albeit potentially. All mankind are just as guilty as Adam when he sinned. Being seminally present in Adam, born with his genetic code. Like Adam, we acquired a sin nature. It is our very nature, and this is who we came from and why we are the way we are. We have the same propensity for arrogance as did Adam and the woman. We are just like him; we have the same nature. All humanity inherits a sin nature, which is passed down from Adam to us as his lineage to us. We have spiritual death; there is a barrier between us and God. It is insurmountable. Adam was thrown out of the garden and angels of fire were placed at the entrance so that no one could enter again.

Obviously we were not physically present with Adam, as we had not been born. Since we did not commit the sin in person, this sin must be imputed to us; and in Adam, all die. His sin is very personal to us; this signifies our solidarity with him in our death. This is the very basis for our condemnation. We cannot remove ourselves from this death. We would have made the same decision that Adam made; we were there seminally, and therefore, made the decision with Adam. God cannot accept us because we are imperfect and spiritually dead. So someone has to intervene on our behalf. We cannot do it on our own. Someone must have the righteousness of God and rescue us from our state of death. That Someone is Jesus Christ, Who said, "I am the way, the truth and the life; no one comes to the Father but by Me." He claims exclusivity; there is no one else.

1Cor. 15:21 For since through a man [came] death, through a Man, also, [comes] resurrection of dead ones.

Jesus is the only One qualified to redeem mankind. He paid the penalty for our sins. His sacrifice removes the sin of the world. In Adam, all die; in Christ, all will be made alive. 1Cor. 15:22 In Adam, all die; so in Christ, will all be made alive.

Memorial services are Bobby's opportunity to exploit man's universal fear of death. Because of His resurrection, His victory over death, we have victory over death. The security of being made alive for eternity. This eternal life is consummated for us at our resurrection.

1Cor. 15:22 For just as within Adam all keep on (everyone continues) dying, in the same way, also, within the Christ all (everyone) will be made alive

Death is no longer the master; death is no longer the victor. God has a wonderful plan for us in this life, but we can look to that moment of eternity because we have it. Thanks be to God Who gives us the victory through Jesus Christ. All those who have believed in Christ will be made alive at the moment that we believe in Christ. That life will be consummated in resurrection. We will follow Him in His Own good time.

1Cor. 15:23 – yet each person within his (her) own class or division (or: ordered rank; place or appointed position [in line]; arranged [time] or order of succession): Christ a Firstfruit, next after that, those belonging to the Christ (or: the ones who have their source and origin in Christ; those who are [a part] of the Christ) within the midst of His presence,

Our resurrection constitutes the strategic victory, which sealed the doom of Satan and his angel-demons. The cross was God's central strategy. The cross destroyed Satan's contention that God is not a God of love. Without it, Satan portrayed God as righteous but without love.

This charge was leveled by Satan to isolate the attributes of God. In so doing, Satan would be showing that God is not perfect, and his attributes are working against one another, rather than in tandem. We may be dead in our sins and trespasses, but God is still a loving God. His justice was demonstrated in judging the perfect God-man for our sins. God had to turn His back on His Own Son.

This is why Christ's strategic victory was at the cross. The perfect fairness of God's condemnation. All angelic creation and for us forever. Satan's contention was blown away at the cross. This is still a part of his modus operandi. He is the great deceiver. Satan would prefer that Bobby not teach the gospel.

Believers can defeat Satan on a daily basis as we utilize the assets of God. Those are tactical victories, but the final victory is the resurrection from the dead, in the end, each in his own order, which is a series of tactical victories, as each group is resurrected.

Ev + ταγμα is within a particular group that belongs together. Ταγμα is a military term, a band of brothers, each being a distinct unit. There are subordinate units, and these are units which are resurrection; and they are a part of their battalion. A resurrection of each battalion is in a sequence.

The Age of Israel, a resurrection; the Church Age, a resurrection. Finally a resurrection of those who die during the Millennium. Alpha, Bravo, and Charley companies. Those who survive the Tribulation will go into the Millennium with regular bodies, to be later resurrected at the end of the Millennium.

Unbelievers are also resurrected, but this is not the body which Christ had or the body we will receive, but it will be a body of immortality.

The Lake of Fire describes an actual place. This is not a state of mind or just separation from God, but the Scripture insists on a physical reality as well. Unbelievers have a physical but not a spiritual resurrection. There are definite physical activities associated with their resurrection. This is a place of indescribable torments. There could hardly be a more foreboding description than that.

After all this, then comes the end, as v. 24 tells us. The jaws of the Lake of Fire open and those in the Lake of Fire will be tormented day and night forever in some form of a body. We are a part of our Lord's victory. In resurrection, we share that victory; we are a part of that victory, believers in a resurrection body forever. We have no idea what that state is like. The Bible gives us only a few words to describe this, but there is little that we really have to compare it to.

Our life is tolerable because He lives and was resurrected.

1Cor. 15:24 thereafter, the goal (the finished work; the embodiment of maturity and perfection; the fulfillment; the result; the outcome; the end attained; the realization of the perfect discharge; or: the end; the closing act; the consummation), when He can proceed handing over (or: may progressively pass along and entrust; should by habit give over) the reign (or: kingdom) to God, even [the] Father (or: in [His] God and Father), at the time that He should bring down to idleness (make unemployed and ineffective; nullify; abolish; render useless and unproductive) every rulership of government (all headship and sovereignty), even all (or: every) authority and power!

1Cor. 15:25 For it is binding (necessary) for Him to be continuously reigning (ruling as King) until which [time] (or: until where) He should (may) put (place) all the enemies under His feet.

Lesson #1047

1Cor. 15:23–25 April 7, 2010

Wednesday

V. 23 simply indicates the order of the resurrection. Christ is resurrected first and we each follow us in our own order. First battalion is all believers. Infantry battalion used to be around 600 soldiers. There are a number of young soldiers standing on the wall in the gap in some of the darkest regions in the world for our freedom.

This is a military term, and this is a battalion of all believers. There are sub units to this battalion. 4 or 5 companies in a battalion. There are 3 companies in this order of the resurrection. Each corresponds to a different moment and they are divided into different time units. These companies correspond to different dispensations. Church Age believers are alpha company. We are called the body of Christ. That moment comes in what is called the rapture of the church or the exit resurrection. If you know this, you know more than 98% of believers today.

At the end of this age, whenever that may be, the rapture occurs, which is alpha company. That kicks off the Tribulation, the final 7 years of the Age of Israel. At the end of this Tribulation then we go into the Millennium, which is 1000 years of the Lord Jesus Christ. This is the establishment of the kingdom. 1Cor. 15:23 gives 4 of the 5 resurrections. Bravo company is resurrection at the 2nd advent of Jesus Christ., after 7 horrible years of the Tribulation.

The Tribulation is the time of the devil's desperation, and he will act, knowing that his time is drawing to a close.

There is great power in negative volition. How can anyone reject Jesus Christ in perfect environment? Satan was the first to reject God, and he was in heaven. Adam and the woman rejected God, in perfect environment, with face to face meeting with Him.

There were a number in the Bible who saw the 10 great miracles of Moses and still tried to kill the Jews. Many of the kings of Israel rejected God and the pharisees, who saw Jesus Christ, rejected Him.

In the end times, there will be the 2nd death, the most horrible thing that could occur, eternal separation from God.

1Cor. 15:23 – yet each person within his (her) own class or division (or: ordered rank; place or appointed position [in line]; arranged [time] or order of succession): Christ a Firstfruit, next after that, those belonging to the Christ (or: the ones who have their source and origin in Christ; those who are [a part] of the Christ) within the midst of His presence,

Then comes the end when Jesus Christ was abolished all rule, all authority and all power. Christ is the One Who delivers up the kingdom. Telos refers to termination or end point; this is a goal toward which a movement is directed. This is a termination point; the culmination; the end of the world as we know it.

The moment when the kingdom is deliver to God the Father. The moment when all rule and authority and power are abolished. The termination point includes the moment when Satan is no longer a part of this world; the great opponent of God and all believers.

Now judgment is upon this world; now the ruler of this world will be cast out. That rulership began; he reigned over this world from the fall of Adam to when the end comes.

Concerning judgment, because the ruler of this world has been judged. That judgment in eternity past is now consummated. The Lord Jesus Christ abolishes this rule and authority.

Satan's appeal at this time is denied. God has proven that He is perfect love and perfect righteousness. Satan is shown unequivocally that he is wrong. The final victory of the Angelic Conflict is won at this time, and the kingdom is handed over to the rightful monarch.

What Kingdom?

1. The kingdom which God the Father rightly rules, but has not since the fall of Adam until this very moment. God the Father was the planner; He is said to be the rightful Monarch.
2. Christ rules in the promised kingdom for 1000 years. This is the promised kingdom of David, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob.
3. The world at this time is purged of all evil, when the end comes. At the end of the Millennium.
4. This includes everything that has been opposed to God. Everyone and everything.
5. Not only are intelligent beings subdued, like angels, Satan and unbelievers; and all forms of evil and death. Death is the last to be abolished.
6. Then the final rule will be handed over to the Father. When all of this has been accomplished.
7. Before that, the sovereign rule of the world was committed to the Son for a specific purpose; the Millennium. This is for a specific purpose.
8. When this purpose has been fulfilled, the rule has been handed over to the Father.
9. That does not mean that Christ loses anything or ceases to rule.
10. This means that Jesus Christ has brought to a conclusion the dispensations of history; Jesus Christ was to bring all of these to a conclusion.

11. All of this is brought to an end and combat that has raged for centuries is done; brought to an end.
12. At this point, the eternal state will be brought about and maintained by |God in 3 persons forever. The Tr
13. Tinity will rule. The plan of the Father has been completely fulfilled and He is glorified; but Jesus Christ will be a part of that rule.

1Cor. 15:24 thereafter, the goal (the finished work; the embodiment of maturity and perfection; the fulfillment; the result; the outcome; the end attained; the realization of the perfect discharge; or: the end; the closing act; the consummation), when He can proceed handing over (or: may progressively pass along and entrust; should by habit give over) the reign (or: kingdom) to God, even [the] Father (or: in [His] God and Father), at the time that He should bring down to idleness (make unemployed and ineffective; nullify; abolish; render useless and unproductive) every rulership of government (all headship and sovereignty), even all (or: every) authority and power!

This will be accomplished when all things are placed under His feet. He will subjugate all His enemies under His feet. The highly exalted of this world are brought very low. This is a process over a period of time. There must be the promised kingdom fulfilled. This is finally destroying all the power and rule. This is called putting His enemies under His feet; operation footstool.

Operation Footstool

1. Operation footstool refers to the termination of the Angelic Conflict.
2. He returns to the earth.
3. He reigns and removes His enemies forever.

Reign is the present passive infinitive of βασιλευω which means that Christ receives the throne at His return. Christ is placed on the throne to reign, after the battle of Armageddon.

Christ returns for the first subjection of His enemies under His feet. He institutes His reign as the King of Israel. This was a promise made to Israel and to David. Until is the adverb αρχη which is an adverb of time or duration; this is a process that takes time.

This continues until His enemies are subjugated forever.

How does phase I of this subjugation take place? Then the Lord returns after 7 years. We know the time frame, 1007 years after the rapture. That is the scheme of the dispensations. These continue until the enemies are subjugated completely.

1Cor. 15:25 For it is binding (necessary) for Him to be continuously reigning (ruling as King) until which [time] (or: until where) He should (may) put (place) all the enemies under His feet.

Rev. 19 is combat at its worst. There is a complex set of circumstances leading to this moment. Things get worse and worse until the final 3.5 years of the Tribulation. The Holy Spirit, prior to the Tribulation, has restrained Satan, and he will be at his worst. His objective is to destroy the Jews; the greatest holocaust of history. Satan is at the forefront of this.

Jerusalem is surrounded by the great armies of the world. To understand this in depth is the book Armageddon, which will get this in detail.

This could be a real horse, or it could be a metaphor for war. The white horse is a war horse.

Rev. 19:11 Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! The one sitting on it is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war.

He returns with crowns on His head.

Rev. 19:12 His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many diadems, and he has a name written that no one knows but himself.

His name is called the Word of God.

Rev. 19:13 He is clothed in a robe dipped in blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God.

There are armies in heaven, and we follow Him, on white horses.

Rev. 19:14 And the armies of heaven, arrayed in fine linen, white and pure, were following him on white horses.

He will come with a sharp sword.

Rev. 19:15 From his mouth comes a sharp sword with which to strike down the nations, and he will rule them with a rod of iron. He will tread the winepress of the fury of the wrath of God the Almighty.

Certainly figurative language, but this all has a literal meaning in eschatology. It is metaphorically done here. These are images of war and desolation.

Rev. 19:16 On his robe and on his thigh he has a name written, King of kings and Lord of lords.

When Jesus comes, it will be with war and desolation; a sword dipped in blood. It is brutal and violent. This is not the gentle Jesus; this is a Man of War. When He wages war, He wages war. He fights to annihilate.

The white horse is the symbol of His conquest and judgement.

We are our Lord's allies on this earth; His only allies. We are in this tactical battle when he live the spiritual life. We do not have to battle any demons. The Bible calls this event operation footstool.

During the 1000 literal reign of Jesus Christ, after the 2nd advent, operation footstool brings to termination all rule, all authority, and all power. This describes all that oppose our Lord in every way. It will come to an end. All opposition to God is subjugated and eliminated. Over this period of time, the strategic victory of the Angelic Conflict is consummated in total victory. It is finalized in v. 25.

There Are 3 Obvious Things Which Surround This.

1. The Lord Jesus Christ must return to the earth in order for this to occur, immediately following the 7 year Tribulation. He returns to a world that is in absolute chaos. A world war is going on, unlike anything that we have ever seen before. This is when He returns to defeat the enemies of Israel. He must take care of the enemies that He will rule.
2. He then establishes His kingdom. This is the promised kingdom, promised from Abraham on through to David and beyond.
3. Then He reigns, and He reigns for 1000 years. Then His enemies are entirely subjugated.

Isn't the Millennium about perfect peace? However, there is a reign which continues until all of His enemies are brought under His feet. There will be peace and perfect environment, but this will show that perfect environment will solve everything. However, this approach leaves out the sin nature, which is not changed by environment. Bobby lived in the perfect environment of Hawaii, and some of the worst sin natures ever are found in Hawaii. Believers who survive the Tribulation who go into the Millennium and they procreate and they have children; and some of these children will reject Jesus Christ, even though He is on the throne in the Millennium. Those who go into the Millennium will have a sin nature.

When Satan is loosed, there will be those who will join him in the Gog and Magog revolution. The sin nature is still around in the Millennium. All those who say the devil made me do it will not have the devil to blame.

So, how does all this subjugation and the conduct of operation footstool take place? Jesus Christ returns and commences the battle of Armageddon, to destroy the enemies of Israel; and there are many.

1Cor. 15:25 For it is binding (necessary) for Him to be continuously reigning (ruling as King) until which [time] (or: until where) He should (may) put (place) all the enemies under His feet.

Now let's look at these verse of subjugation, and this describes the horror.

There is a lot of figurative language, but it all has an exact meaning. This has a meaning, which we will dissect. This is all about war; it is brutal and extremely violent. There is nothing pretty in these passages.

The white horse is a well-known symbol of victory. On this horse sits the One titled, Faithful and True. At the basic last battle of history, until the Millennium, is what we are studying. The Apostle John is finalizing all of this for us. Jesus always remains faithful to His promise. This does not preclude Him from great discipline to His people when they get out of line.

How can this happen to these people who seem so far from where they ought to be? Yet, Jesus is faithful and true. Jesus never forgets His promises the whole history of the Jews is based upon whining and complaining. They complained all the way out of Egypt, even though they had a pillar at night and a cloud by day. They had their own GPS system; our Lord's dwelling presence with them. Jesus Christ was faithful to them. He promised that they would be a great nation, and yet here they were, slaves in Egypt.

The pharaoh had murder on his mind, and these Jews sat and watched God destroy their. The first generation was pathetic and did not enter into the land to take it, but the next generation believed God. The Jews as a race should be dead and buried by now. Everyone tries to destroy the Jew. History is replete with antisemitism, which is Satan's desire. God is no longer faithful and true if there are no Jews.

No matter how many times man comes up with a way to destroy the Jews, God keeps His promises to the Jews. "I will bless those who bless you and the one who curses you, I will curse." This would be a great historical study, of nations who have cursed the Jews.

Where the Jews go, they must be blessed. Part of the concept of the client nation is providing a haven for the Jew. In Satan's final push, which is happening at the end of the Tribulation, God delivers the Jews who are trapped.

During the 7 years of the Tribulation, there is no longer the restraint of the Holy Spirit. Satan brings in the antichrist and the beast, and he aligns them against Israel for this last big push.

Jesus will keep His promises to the Jews. The Jews will be surrounded by Satan's minions, by these various armies. Speculation was, the king of the North would be Russia; and China would be the kings of the East. From the south, would be the Arabs. These armies are surrounding Jerusalem. If these armies destroy the Jews, then God cannot keep His promises to the Jews. If they are destroyed, how can they be a great nation?

The church is not Israel; these promises were given to Israel. God does not change His promises around simply because the Jews failed here and there. 2Sam. 7:12–16: When your days are fulfilled and you lie down with your fathers, I will raise up your offspring after you, who shall come from your body, and I will establish his kingdom. He shall build a house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever. I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son. When he commits iniquity, I will discipline him with the rod of men, with the stripes of the sons of men, but my steadfast love will not depart from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I put away from before you. And your house and your kingdom shall be made sure forever before me. Your throne shall be established forever." This is a covenant, a prophecy.

There would be a Millennial Temple built. This is Jesus Christ in the line of David. This is why Matthew and Luke have all of that genealogy in them; they prove that Jesus is in the line of David.

Isa. 2:4 He shall judge between the nations, and shall decide disputes for many peoples; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore.

We will be there with Him, His subordinates in some way. There has never been a time in the history of the world where there have been no wars. About 50 or 60 big and little wars going on right now.

We are capable of consuming ourselves and we have the tools to do it. How can we have trust that God will take care of human history if He does not protect Israel. God is always faithful and true to His Word.

Whatever God ever says or promises in the Bible is true; everything in the Bible is true, which He in turn, faithfully brings to fulfillment. This is the biggest faith rest rationale that there is.

No matter the antisemitism, the pogroms, the holocaust; the Jews will survive.

Rev. 19:11 Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! The one sitting on it is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war.

Then Jesus is described. He is the king, with crowns on His head. He is the example of a just war. Our Lord fights the just war. What makes a war just; freedom, survival and preservation. When Jesus goes to war, it is surely a just war.

This passage tells us that Jesus is the consummate warrior. There is nothing that will stop Him; no army, no opposition.

Rev. 19:12 His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many diadems, and he has a name written that no one knows but himself.

His robe is dipped in blood, another vision of combat. It is spattered in blood which means that He has done some killing.

Rev. 19:13 He is clothed in a robe dipped in blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God.

The Old Testament version of this passage. Jesus Christ is not a reluctant warrior; He Holy Spirit a zeal for it. This is not the gentle Jesus that the world confusingly teaches.

Isa 59:17 He put on righteousness as a breastplate, and a helmet of salvation on his head; he put on garments of vengeance for clothing, and wrapped himself in zeal as a cloak.

Rev. 19:13 He is clothed in a robe dipped in blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God.

John 1:1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

John 1:14 And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we have seen his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father, full of grace and truth.

Col. 1:27 tells us that the same Shekinah glory dwells in us.

Lesson #1049

1Cor. 15:25 April 11, 2010

Sunday 1

Communion Sunday:

I am was the name of Jesus Christ, in pre-incarnate form, back to the time of Moses in Ex. 3:2 at the burning bush.

Jesus Christ made 7 important statements with the word I am. John 8:58 “Before Abraham was born, I am.” Those were so enraged by this statement, that they picked up stones to stone Him.

John 6: I am the bread of life; he who comes to Me will not be hungry. He recalled God’s grace in providing manna for the people in the desert. Bread from heaven. Jesus linked the Old Testament miracle of the manna with Him, and identified himself with the God Who provided this manna. Jesus is the bread and He originated in heaven . There was eternal sustenance. He is the bread which nourishes us with eternal life.

John 8:12 “I am the light of the world; he who follows Me will not walk in the darkness, but in the light.” God is light and there is no darkness in Him. Jesus Christ is the Light of the World. Those who heard this; Jesus was describing His perfection as well. He spoke these words at the end of the Feast of Tabernacles. There was a lighting of the candellabra, which was 75 ft. high. This reference was an offer to mankind, who stumbled in the darkness. Christ offers Himself as the One Who leads us in darkness.

John 10:7, 9, 14 I am the Good Shepherd. Jesus was making a contrast between the hired shepherd and the owner. There were pens with no gates and no doors. The dedicated shepherd would lie in the opening all night. In order to enter the pen, you must go over or through the shepherd. He is the only entrance into God's sheepfold.

The pharisees were the false shepherds, the hirelings, the ones who cared not about the sheep. He would lay down His life for His sheep. His mission was to lead the sheep out of this old fold into a new, secure fold. He would guard and keep them as His true sheep. His Word would be their guide, their comfort and their protection.

"I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in Me will live, even if he dies." Christ is the firstfruits of resurrection. Death has no hold on the eternal life of I am. He is everlasting existence. His eternal existence becomes the eternal existence of all who believe in Him. Jesus made this statement after Lazarus had died. Standing outside of his tomb, Jesus said, "Lazarus, here, outside." Jesus is the only one with power to raise from the dead. Even though we will all die, we will live, as we are identified with Christ. The power of death cannot encroach upon the believer. All believers will live forever.

The sixth I am is John 14:6 "I am the way, the truth and the life; no man comes to the Father but through Me." The disciples were confused about heaven, so Jesus explained this to them. Jesus was the single means of approach to God the Father.

"I am the vine and you are the branches; apart from Me, you can do nothing." Jesus said this during the upper room discourse before His arrest. We are part of Him. We cannot be severed from Him. The vital sap, the juices of life to sustain life, the Holy Spirit connects us. There is union and interdependence. We are different from the vine; we do not produce the fruit; we only bear it.

Jesus Christ is the source of all life and of guidance and fruit bearing, and we reside in Him as His sheep.

1Cor. 15:25 For it is binding (necessary) for Him to be continuously reigning (ruling as King) until which [time] (or: until where) He should (may) put (place) all the enemies under His feet.

This is a future campaign conducted by Jesus Christ Himself which must come to a end; it has a beginning and it has an endpoint. It continues until all future resurrections are concluded. Jesus Christ brings it to an end.

This begins with the 2nd advent returning with alpha company, the Church Age believer, who will already be in heaven. We have been taken to be with Him. We are a part of the army in heaven. We are all part of His entourage as He begins operation footstool.

This campaign to destroy His enemies begins at the 2nd advent, which is the campaign of Armageddon. Found in Revelation to deliver His people. God has made promises to His people. He faces Satan and all of those who have followed Satan, including the beast and the antiChrist and all who are in opposition to Him. If these unbelievers can destroy the Jews, then Satan wins the Angelic Conflict. This is the last great push of Satan, if he can kill all of the Jews. God cannot fulfill His promises to Abraham or to Israel. God made a promise to Israel as a nation. We have a different set of mandates as Church Age believers. This future for Israel will be culminated at this time.

This is phase I of operation footstool. Rev. 19:11–16

Lesson #1050

1Cor. 15: April 11, 2010

Sunday 2

Seminary told Bobby to go through a passage 3 times, first for a general impression, secondly to pull out a few points, and third to exegete it carefully.

Bobby reads this passage: Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! The one sitting on it is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war. His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many diadems, and he has a name written that no one knows but himself. He is clothed in a robe dipped in blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God. And the armies of heaven, arrayed in fine linen, white and pure, were following him on white horses. From his mouth comes a sharp sword with which to strike down the nations, and he will rule them with a rod of iron. He will tread the winepress of the fury of the wrath of God the Almighty. On his robe and on his thigh he has a name written, King of kings and Lord of lords (Rev. 19:11–16).

The white horse is a symbol of warfare and authority. Israel was in serious trouble when the heavens opened and the horse emerged. There are 4 great armies of the earth, and there is no hope for Israel. The Lord Jesus Christ is always faithful to His promise and to His Word. Israel knows that this is the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Throughout Israel's history, she has enjoyed His faithfulness. He continues. Jesus Christ always remained faithful and true to them, even when He disciplined them.

His promise demands that He must deliver them. Jesus can never go back on His Word. If God abandoned Israel at any point in time due to their unfaithfulness, then what hope would there be for any of us, either then or now. What hope is there if God's immutability is to be questioned. Jesus Christ will never be anything but faithful.

Jesus Christ returns and He is on a mission of wrath and destruction; He is a consummate warrior, and He is deadly. This is the One Who turned the other cheek, Who died for us, and He returns to slaughter, and He wears crowns on His head. He is all-powerful, and He is greater than Satan and the Beast.

Rev. 19:11 Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! The one sitting on it is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war.

Rev. 19:12 His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many diadems, and he has a name written that no one knows but himself.

Jesus is clothed in a military cloak; at this time, it would have been a Roman cloak thrown over his shoulder, and this cloak is splattered with blood. What a picture of a warrior in battle. The spilling of blood and this is Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the fighter defeating the enemy and He is blood-stained from the slaughter. He is then called the Word of God. This is an identification of His person. This is a royal title. This is a king, Who is the Word of God. He is ο λόγος. This is first found in John 1, and the ό λόγος. God already existed before He created. The Word is with God and the word is God. And the word became flesh. The doctrine of the hypostatic union and the doctrine of kenosis are important at this point.

Christ in you, the hope of glory; the same shekinah glory that was with Israel; the same which was transfigured; and He now dwells in us. At this point in history, the logos returns. Once again, His dwelling presence is among us. He is the protector of Israel and the layer of Israel's enemies.

Rev. 19:13 He is clothed in a robe dipped in blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God.

He is accompanied by the armies, on white horses. Who are these armies? This includes the angelic armies, those who did not fall with Satan; and it includes believers who have been resurrected. We will be on the white horse. We will follow Him to this earth. We will be a part of this. We will be a part of this judgement. We will rule nations. All of us, including our Lord and the angels, will be on white horses, a sign of victory. We are part of consummating His strategic victory on the cross, when the end comes, when He puts His enemies under His feet. This will be the only army in history where the Commander-in-Chief does all of the fighting.

Their clothing is described as white and clean, but His is splattered with blood from the fighting. The armies from heaven are observers to the greatest victory in military history. Those who reside in Jerusalem, the regathered, regenerated Israel will be rescued. They will follow Moses exhortation, Moses said to the people, “Do not fear, stand by and see the deliverance of the Lord” and they will need to remember this for this time. “For the Egyptians that you see today, you will never see them again forever.” The battle is the Lord's, and this is true now and it will be true until the end of time.

What would the Prince of Peace do? He would wipe out His enemies all by Himself. Peace through strength, for a generation, for awhile. Jesus Christ will bring it about totally.

This fine white linen which is clean also describes our status. We are in resurrection bodies. No more sin nature. Resurrection bodies do not die. There is no more death. He has defeated death for us.

Rev. 19:14 And the armies of heaven, arrayed in fine linen, white and pure, were following him on white horses.

A sharp sword comes from His mouth, which, at this time, was an offensive weapon. This is the greatest weapon of all time. He slays the enemy armies with the word of His mouth. No one can stand before the armies of God, and this is all he needs to destroy, to create, and to hold together.

There were 185,000 soldiers ready to strike those in Jerusalem, and then, they wake up, and they are all dead.

The wine press represents the massive slaughter. The land will be saturated with blood; the blood will be as high as the horse's bridle for 200 miles, and it will take 7 months to bury the dead.

Jesus Christ does not come back and negotiate a peace treaty with a sworn enemy; and He will, instead, kill off His enemies. This is the subjugation of His enemies. He is King of Kings and Lord of Lords. He is a warrior king, just like David. David was a man of war; and because of this, Solomon enjoyed a great period of peace.

Two things are accomplished: a defeat of Satan's army and in this defeat, the judgment of unbelievers who are left who are not killed in this battle, this is a worldwide event. The recipients of His wrath are the ones who do Satan's bidding. Even though there is terrific violence. There is terrific violence and death; our Lord's judgements are righteous and just. Those who die deserve to die. This is a just war.

We so many times use this excuse, is this a just war? No other army in history has been more concerned with civilian deaths than the United States army. There is injustice in war, and certainly, there is. However, here, there is perfect justice in this war.

Rev. 19:15 From his mouth comes a sharp sword with which to strike down the nations, and he will rule them with a rod of iron. He will tread the winepress of the fury of the wrath of God the Almighty.

Rev. 19:16 On his robe and on his thigh he has a name written, King of kings and Lord of lords.

Satan's 2 human henchmen are named here.

This is the end. They are seized and they are thrown alive into the Lake of Fire which burns with brimstone. The minions of Satan are pure evil; and they are hereby judged and thrown into the Lake of Fire. They are the first ones in hell, 1000 years before the rest. This is when Jesus Christ sets up the kingdom, after Armageddon.

All of us go into the kingdom, the 1000 years; and Jesus is on the throne, and we will be involved in all of this, as resurrected believers.

Rev. 19:20 And the beast was captured, and with it the false prophet who in its presence had done the signs by which he deceived those who had received the mark of the beast and those who worshiped its image. These two were thrown alive into the lake of fire that burns with sulfur.

Rev. 19:21 And the rest were slain by the sword that came from the mouth of him who was sitting on the horse, and all the birds were gorged with their flesh.

Satan is then bound and put into prison.

What God Will do

1. Religion is eradicated. From Corinthians.
2. False doctrine is removed.
3. Spiritually is changed to unfettered emotion. Joel 2:28–29
4. Unadulterated environment like the garden. Isa. 2:4
5. Nature is no longer cursed. Isa. 11:6 this will be a perfect environment. This will be the environment of the earth during the millennial kingdom.

Why was Satan bound? Why wasn't he thrown into the Lake of Fire right away?

Rev. 20:1 Then I saw an angel coming down from heaven, holding in his hand the key to the bottomless pit and a great chain.

Rev. 20:2 And he seized the dragon, that ancient serpent, who is the devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years,

Rev. 20:3 and threw him into the pit, and shut it and sealed it over him, so that he might not deceive the nations any longer, until the thousand years were ended. After that he must be released for a little while.

Lesson #1051 Rev. 19:11–16, 19–20 20:1–3, 9–15 April 14, 2010 Wednesday

There are 3 phases to operation footstool. Each resurrection occurs in a corresponding dispensation. The rapture of the church occurs in the Church Age. At the end of the Tribulation, bravo company is resurrected, which is phase I and II of operation footstool and the kingdom is initiated. Phase III occurs at the end of the Millennium when Charley company is resurrected.

Paul is actually very proud of this bunch. They have to have something going for them. Paul is trying to convince them that the resurrection is real, and everything in this chapter is pointed toward this end. Paul is linking these dispensations to the 3 resurrections.

Bravo company is Old Testament saints and Tribulational martyrs.

Jerusalem is surrounded by 4 great armies and the only one who can save the Jews is the Lord Jesus Christ. Victory in this battle terminates the Tribulation.

The imagery of Rev. 19 is horrendous.

If the Jews are wiped out, then Satan wins. This would mean that God's promises could not be fulfilled.

If God transferred His promise from Israel to us, because Israel failed (and they did), then why would He not transfer His promises to someone else if you fail?

In the rapture, we go to meet Him in the air. For the 2nd advent, he comes and puts His foot down at the mount of Olives.

Rev. 19:11 Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! The one sitting on it is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war.

His eyes being a flame of fire is wrath and destruction.

Rev. 19:12 His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many diadems, and he has a name written that no one knows but himself.

The image of the robe dipped in blood. He is wrapped in a military cloak, and the Roman legions wore a military cloak, and it is splattered in blood from war.

His Title is the Word of God. This is great continuity. The same term used for Jesus Christ in John 1:1, 14. He dwells with His people as the λογος. He now has that same title.

Rev. 19:13 He is clothed in a robe dipped in blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God.

We are also there, clothed in fine linen. This is every Church Age believer who will come down from heaven with Jesus Christ. We will ride white horses as well.

Rev. 19:14 And the armies of heaven, arrayed in fine linen, white and pure, were following him on white horses.

Jesus Christ wields the greatest weapon of all time, a sharp sword from His mouth. "One little word shall fell him." Jesus Christ defeats His enemies with the greatest weapon of all time, the Word of His mouth.

Treading the winepress is the image of slaughter; just as the grape is squeezed for its juice, so will His enemies be crushed. So great is the slaughter, that the land will be saturated with blood, as high as the horse's bridle for 200 miles and it will take 7 months to bury the dead. If this is hyperbole, this represents the magnitude of the bloodbath which will occur.

Rev. 19:15 From His mouth comes a sharp sword with which to strike down the nations, and he will rule them with a rod of iron. He will tread the winepress of the fury of the wrath of God the Almighty.

Rev. 19:16 On his robe and on his thigh he has a name written, King of kings and Lord of lords.

Then we have the 2nd phase of operation footstool, which is the continuation. There are 2 parts to this phase. The false prophet and the beast who had performed signs.

After the battle, they are thrown into the Lake of Fire. They will be there 1000 years before all others will reach this.

Rev. 19:20 And the beast was captured, and with it the false prophet who in its presence had done the signs by which he deceived those who had received the mark of the beast and those who worshiped its image. These two were thrown alive into the lake of fire that burns with sulfur.

Rev. 19:21 And the rest were slain by the sword that came from the mouth of him who was sitting on the horse, and all the birds were gorged with their flesh.

Satan will then be bound for 1000 years. He will be put into a black hole and left there for 1000 years.

Rev. 20:1 Then I saw an angel coming down from heaven, holding in his hand the key to the bottomless pit and a great chain.

Rev. 20:2 And he seized the dragon, that ancient serpent, who is the devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years,

Rev. 20:3 and threw him into the pit, and shut it and sealed it over him, so that he might not deceive the nations any longer, until the thousand years were ended. After that he must be released for a little while.

The Environment Change

1. 1Cor. 10:20–21 no more religion.
2. False doctrine is removed. 1Tim. 4:1 also called the doctrine of demons.
3. Spirituality it will change to an unfettered emotion. This is because Christ is personally present on the earth. Those who are alive and see Christ on the throne will be very emotional. This will be a great overt display of emotion. For us, it is more cerebral. Extreme worship will be the order of the day.
4. Unadulterated environment like that of the Garden of Eden. No longer will the weeds grow; no longer will the animals be vicious, no more global warming and no more ice ages.
5. There will be no more war. When Jesus Christ is the judge, they will hammer their swords into plowshares and never again will they learn war.
6. Nature is no longer cursed as it was after the fall. Isa. 11:6

Satan is the great deceiver. People blame Satan for everything. Satan does not have time for any of us. He has bigger fish to fry. Satan deceives nations; he went after the Apostle Paul, he went after Jesus Christ.

Satan is God's great antagonist. Why on earth did God seal him in the abyss for 1000 years and then let him out again. Why is he released after perfect environment. Satan is not removed just to make the earth more pleasant, although that is part of it. His 1000 year imprisonment has a far greater purpose.

Why Satan Is Released Again

1. Satan's absence for the 1000 years will demonstrate something.
2. What does it demonstrate? Human culpability for sin without Satan. Mankind is still culpable for sin with Satan not in the picture.
3. Mankind still sins even without Satan.
4. Once and for all is debunked is the idea that the devil makes us do what we do.
5. Men sin and reject Jesus Christ without Satan's help and even under the perfect governance of Christ. People are still deceived and reject Christ and during perfect environment. This blows the environmentalists out of the water.
6. This period destroys any defense that some might have at the great white throne. Satan tempted the woman and the man and we blame Satan; but he is locked up. There will be no defense in blaming Satan.
7. The sin nature is the cause of sin and death, not Satan. Once and for all, in human history, man falls again, but without Satan. The Angelic Conflict was in full bloom when man was in the garden, but he is not on earth during the Millennium.
8. Satan provided the occasion for the fall, but he did not cause Adam to sin; Adam chose to sin. What God is proving to Satan and all of His angels. His love and His righteousness are all compatible.
9. Removing Satan and perfect environment will not removed sin. The strategic victory cannot be missed.

The Millennium will not eliminate sin and death. All of these people will go into the Millennium and they will procreate, and there will be the same options that we have; to believe in Jesus Christ or not. He will be there on the throne and they will know about the battle of Armageddon, and they will still reject Jesus Christ.

The rule of Christ will stifle some of the expression, but this will not change human volition. There will be those who are saved and unsaved during the Millennium. There will be crime in the Millennium.

And then Satan is released. Satan will foment the Gog and Magog revolution. There will be rebels from all nations on the earth and they will attach themselves to Satan. Believers who populate the kingdom. This final revolt will uncover this final group of enemies.

Rev. 20:3 and threw him into the pit, and shut it and sealed it over him, so that he might not deceive the nations any longer, until the thousand years were ended. After that he must be released for a little while.

Rev. 20:9 And they marched up over the broad plain of the earth and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city, but fire came down from heaven and consumed them,

The beast and the false prophet are already in the Lake of Fire, burning for 1000 years. Those who follow Satan will be thrown in as well.

Rev. 20:10 and the devil who had deceived them was thrown into the lake of fire and sulfur where the beast and the false prophet were, and they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

Then we have the Great White Throne judgement, which is the final solution for all unbelievers.

Rev. 20:11 Then I saw a great white throne and him who was seated on it. From his presence earth and sky fled away, and no place was found for them.

Even the high muckety mucks will be brought before God.

Rev. 20:12 And I saw the dead, great and small, standing before the throne, and books were opened. Then another book was opened, which is the book of life. And the dead were judged by what was written in the books, according to what they had done.

The names of those who believed in Jesus Christ are in the Book of Life, but those standing before the Lord are not in it.

All of their accomplishments are in this book. They expect to stand upon these good works. They passed a healthcare bill and they will stand before God and say, "I gave 30 million people free healthcare."

Jesus Christ, for us, becomes our righteousness. We are free and clear because we stand upon His righteousness. These people can only produce human good. Without Christ, all of the good deeds in the world cannot save.

Even those lost at sea are given up; and Death and Hades give up their dead. This is not the final death.

Rev. 20:13 And the sea gave up the dead who were in it, Death and Hades gave up the dead who were in them, and they were judged, each one of them, according to what they had done.

And Death and Hades were thrown into the Lake of Fire, which is the second death. This is a metonym for those who were in Death and Hades. They are already alive and they have some sort of body, and they will spend eternity in hell. You do not want your worst enemy to spend any amount of time here. This is a place which is unthinkable; and there is nothing more painful than being in the Lake of Fire.

Rev. 20:14 Then Death and Hades were thrown into the lake of fire. This is the second death, the lake of fire.

Rev. 20:15 And if anyone's name was not found written in the book of life, he was thrown into the lake of fire.

Lesson #1052

1Cor. 15: April 15, 2010

Thursday

Alpha company, bravo company and then Charley Company. Operation footstool is related to Bravo and Charley companies Rev. 19 was a bloody look at the first phase of operation footstool.

The false prophet and the beast are the great human enemies of Jesus Christ. The second phase is the binding of Satan and his demon angels.

Subduing His enemies under His feet. Let's get a background on the beast and the false prophet; both of whom are scourges of the Tribulation. Satan uses earthly agents during the Tribulation, but since he can only be in one place at one time, he uses human agents. These are the 2 greatest agents which Satan has used.

So, Who Is the Beast?

1. He is the dominating personality of the Tribulation and the direct agent of Satan himself. Rev. 13:1-2
2. Of the dominating human agents, he is one of the 2.
3. The prophet Daniel describes him. Daniel calls him the beast out of the sea.
4. Daniel envisions him with teeth of iron which break everything in its path. Dan. 7:7-8
5. The iron represents the Roman empire, which is Daniel's vision of this great image. The legs of iron. This is future.
6. Therefore, the beast is the prince and dictator of the revived Roman empire. He is the king of the west during the Tribulation.
7. He is also called by Daniel the little horn of 10 horns. Daniel and Revelation have a lot of symbols. This signifies the 10 nation confederation of the west which he rules as an absolute dictator. Some have described this as Europe and the United States. The beast is the ruler and he carries tremendous power. The beast itself is very powerful during the Tribulation.
8. The beast becomes the dominant power and he consolidates it at the beginning of the Tribulation.
9. The beast is especially violent toward believers during the final 3 ½ years of the Tribulation and they are a horrid time on earth.
10. The beast is given the power to persecute and to overcome the saints, and he does it as never before. Believers are slaughtered by the beast. It is a good time not to be here.
11. Who actually is the beast? He is the anti-Christ.
12. As such, he is also the ecumenical leader of a future world religion. There will be one religion on earth during the Tribulation. This will be led by this antichrist, and he claims all of this worship as deity, which is why he seeks to destroy Christians.

Then there is the false prophet from Rev. 13, 19, 20

The False Prophet

1. He is the dictator of Palestine during the Tribulation.
2. This man is fierce. The fierceness of this man is hidden under the disguise of a lamb.
3. As a lamb, he dupes people into believing that he is the messiah. Deity and a false messiah.
4. This dictator of Palestine has no great dictator like the Roman emperor, but he has great influence.
5. He is empowered by Satan. He exercises all the might of the beast. Today, the Holy Spirit restrains Satan in certain ways. No restraint of the Holy Spirit during these 7 years.
6. The false prophet produces great signs and miracles through the power of Satan. He has political allies through the person of Satan. He does great signs and miracles through the power of Satan. He is able to sustain the power of Satan and he shows great signs as if it comes from deity, but it comes from the god of this world.
7. He also receives direct worship as a false messiah. Roman emperors always made themselves out to be a god, and the beast and the false prophet do so as well.
8. Israel is the center of human history. In the Old Testament, Israel was the center of human history. The greatest flashpoint in the world today is Jerusalem. Iraq, Iran, the Jews, the Palestinians, it is a tinder box, getting worse by the moment. The treat of Versailles, the boundaries of the Middle East were set by the British. That is the set up for what we have today. If you go through history, there is this central aspect of history. Most of history presses upon this one area of the earth. During this dispensation, the church is central, but Palestine is central to so much of what goes on today.
9. The beast and the false prophet together with unprecedented demon activity, wars, cataclysm and pestilence, precipitate the greatest suffering the world has ever known. The final 3.5 will be unbearable, practically.

The King of the West is one of the 4 armies surrounding Jerusalem. Both of them after Christ defeats His enemies in armageddon.

Rev. 20:2 And he seized the dragon, that ancient serpent, who is the devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years,

Rev. 20:3 and threw him into the pit, and shut it and sealed it over him, so that he might not deceive the nations any longer, until the thousand years were ended. After that he must be released for a little while.

The eternal consignment of the beast and the false prophet to the Lake of Fire become the first 2 thrown into the Lake of Fire. The second phase is removal of Satan from this world as the ruler of this world. He will no longer be able to direct the affairs of this world.

After these things, Satan will be released for a short time, having been put in a pit for 1000 years. Those who go into the Millennium who are alive, who are believers who procreate and have children, some of them will reject Christ, because they have a sin nature however, a perfect environment will not be a valid solution.

Phase III is the final phase of operational footstool. All believers who are in the Millennium who have survive the Tribulation and go into the Millennium in human bodies.

Satan when he gets out of the pit, immediately tries to revolt against God. He manages to get people the reject Jesus Christ, even thought He is visible and the ruler of the world.

Phase III: fire comes down from heaven and devours those who are with Satan.

Rev. 20:9 And they marched up over the broad plain of the earth and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city, but fire came down from heaven and consumed them,

Satan, who had deceived the world, would be thrown into the Lake of Fire, where the beast and the false prophet are, and they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

Rev. 20:10 and the devil who had deceived them was thrown into the lake of fire and sulfur where the beast and the false prophet were, and they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

Rev. 20:11 Then I saw a great white throne and him who was seated on it. From his presence earth and sky fled away, and no place was found for them.

Whether there is one good deed or a million, each person has a sin nature and all of these deeds were done for selfish reasons. Unbelievers are never justified, so they just have this list of works. Without Jesus Christ, all of the good deeds in the world will not save them. The issue at the Great White Throne is the unacceptability of good works. These did not have the imputed righteousness of Jesus Christ. All those whose names were not in the book of life,

Rev. 20:12 And I saw the dead, great and small, standing before the throne, and books were opened. Then another book was opened, which is the book of life. And the dead were judged by what was written in the books, according to what they had done.

Rev. 20:13 And the sea gave up the dead who were in it, Death and Hades gave up the dead who were in them, and they were judged, each one of them, according to what they had done.

V. 14 is probably one of the most horrible verses in the Bible. They are determined to be guilty for their works, and they are tossed into the Lake of Fire with the beast and the false prophet. The 2nd death is their eternal state.

So much popular media portrays this hell as an okay place, where you are hanging out with the good old boys. The Bible insists that this is a literal place. We as believers in Jesus Christ are going to be resurrected to a physical body and we will live in a physical place called heaven. There will be a body which lasts, and they will reside in a real place. Definite physical activities are involved. The term suggests a place of indescribable torment, swimming in fire. There could hardly be a more foreboding end. We know that Satan deserves it, but we may have reservations when it comes to unbelievers with all of these good deeds.

Rev. 20:14 Then Death and Hades were thrown into the lake of fire. This is the second death, the lake of fire.

Many want to assume that this death is simply a lack of consciousness, but Christ portrays this as an existence where the fire never goes out. Mark 9:16 believers and unbelievers will be eternally existent. The difference is living in heaven with eternal life or in hell with eternal death.

Rev. 20:15 And if anyone's name was not found written in the book of life, he was thrown into the lake of fire.

This ends operation footstool, phase III. Then comes the eternal state.

What Is the Eternal State Like?

1. The present earth is destroyed; where we live is no longer; there is no place found for it. Its destruction ushers in the eternal state.
2. There is a new heavens and a new earth. Rev. 21:1 John saw the very end and the very beginning.
3. This verse indicates that there will be some correspondence between the present creation and the new creation. One is heaven so there will be a new universe, so there will be a new earth. The new one will be an entirely different form.
4. John made a point of saying, there is no longer any sea, which indicates that there will be a drastic change. The sea has so much to do with our life. So much of our life is wrapped up with the sea. No more surfing.
5. There is a new Jerusalem. Rev. 21:2 and I saw the new Jerusalem coming down out of heaven made ready for a bride as ready for her husband.
6. The new Jerusalem is the headquarters of the eternal state. This is the headquarters for the new heavens and the new earth.
7. This fulfills forever the divine promise made to Abraham.

Conclusions about Operation Footstool

1. Human history cannot be completed without operation footstool.
2. It will take 1000 years to complete once it starts. 1000 years to subdue all His enemies under His feet.

3. The clock cannot even begin until 2 more prophecies are completed; the rapture of the church and the return of our Lord at the 2nd advent. The post-millennialists think that they can bring in the Millennium themselves. Resurrection of bravo company is at the beginning of operation footstool and charlie company will be at the end.

Look, you Corinthians, resurrection is real and this is how it all fits together, is what Paul is telling them. All of this eschatology is all about resurrection.

Paul is not quite finished yet. He will put the finishing touches on this in v. 26.

Lesson #1053      Rev. 21:4   1Cor. 15:24–26   April 18, 2010      Sunday 1

In the final timeline of human history, the Lord will defeat His enemies. Satan is now the ruler of this world, and he will continue to be so until Jesus Christ deposes him. Satan has his demon army and unbelievers as allies. We are human allies of Jesus Christ. All believers are allies of Jesus Christ. He won the strategic victory and we can win tactical victories throughout our lives in His name.

Bobby is not going to go back over the Angelic Conflict, most recently 16Dec. 2009, There will also be a book out on this topic as well. We are here in church on earth to resolve the Angelic Conflict. We are neck deep in this conflict, warriors and soldiers and fighters and we have a reason to win tactical victories in this conflict. We face tremendous opposition. We are the ones which Satan wants to devour. This is a critical subject to us. We will be there and we have a part to play in this.

1Cor. 15:24 thereafter, the goal (the finished work; the embodiment of maturity and perfection; the fulfillment; the result; the outcome; the end attained; the realization of the perfect discharge; or: the end; the closing act; the consummation), when He can proceed handing over (or: may progressively pass along and entrust; should by habit give over) the reign (or: kingdom) to God, even [the] Father (or: in [His] God and Father), at the time that He should bring down to idleness (make unemployed and ineffective; nullify; abolish; render useless and unproductive) every rulership of government (all headship and sovereignty), even all (or: every) authority and power!

Or, more briefly:

1Cor. 15:24 Then comes the end, when he delivers the kingdom to God the Father after destroying every rule and every authority and power.

Historic timeline and the resurrection of the saints. We start at the cross where the strategic victory of the Angelic Conflict was won. We are 2000 years into the Church Age at this point in time. When we are raptured, there will be 7 years where Satan and his angels and his human henchmen have a clear field to try to win the Angelic Conflict. They will pull out all of the stops.

The 2nd advent will be the return of Jesus Christ to the earth, and operation footstool begins, which is a 3-phased operation. There will be plenty of tribulational martyrs.

4 great armies will converge on Israel and they will be bent on destroying the Jews and God cannot keep His promise to Israel. If the Jews are gone, the promise is gone.

At the battle of Armageddon, Jesus Christ, by Himself, will destroy these armies. Thus he begins by putting all of his enemies under His feet. He is a great warrior winning the war. Then our Lord institutes the kingdom, called the Millennium.

He will take the 2 worst offenders of the Tribulation, which include the beast and the false prophet, and toss them into the Lake of Fire. The false prophet is the dictator of Palestine at this time and the beast is the antichrist, the leader of the revived Roman empire. They are thrown into the Lake of Fire.

Then Jesus Christ will take Satan and all of his angels and throws them into the abyss, a great black hole, and they are sealed there for 1000 years. During this time, there will be a perfect environment on earth. All believers will enter into the Millennium, and they will have children, and their children will reject Jesus Christ.

Mankind may think that the answer to everything is the garden of Eden. Post-millennialists think that we must bring in the Millennium. Satan is left out of the abyss in the last days of the Millennium, and Satan will lead a revolt against God and perfect environment. What he will do is go straight to Jerusalem to wipe out the Jews, and Jesus Christ will destroy them with fire. Then Satan and his angels are thrown into the Lake of Fire, because hell was created for the devil and his angels.

Then, at the Great White Throne, all unbelievers are resurrected, and they will have eternal bodies, but bodies which will be judged and thrown into the Lake of Fire forever. This is a place and a place where people will reside forever.

1Cor. 15:25 For it is binding (necessary) for Him to be continuously reigning (ruling as King) until which [time] (or: until where) He should (may) put (place) all the enemies under His feet.

The last enemy to be abolished will be death. This is the final enemy to be conquered in the Angelic Conflict. This will be the final blow which destroys all of the enemies of God. This will be the destruction of our ultimate opponent.

When the end comes, the victory over death, all believers are resurrected at that point. This is the final victory of the Angelic Conflict. Victory over death. Satan will be forever tormented in the Lake of Fire. All unbelievers will share his ultimate fiery doom. We will live in incorruptible, resurrection bodies forever. Christ defeated death at the cross, and we defeat death because of His work on the cross. These will be bodies which are incorruptible.

Καταργεω = to be useless, to be inactive, to be impotent. This describes death; it is brought to nothing; it is impotent in eternity. It has dominated mankind. Death is abolished; it is gone. Death is one of those things that the human race fears the most. 2Tim. 1:10. The resurrection is a critical part of the gospel; because of the death of our Lord and His resurrection, brought to life, and His life is our immortality, because we are in Him.

1Cor. 15:26 [The] last enemy being progressively brought down to idleness (made unemployed and ineffective; rendered useless and unproductive; nullified; abolished) [is] the Death.

Will there be any grief and sorrow in heaven? Will there be regrets of our time and conduct of our lives here on earth? Will we be upset not having accomplished a little divine good? Will we be concerned for loved ones in the Lake of Fire? Bobby's answer is no; we will not have regrets and we will feel no shame. We are no longer capable of guilt and shame, because we are in a resurrection body without a sin nature. The old order is gone. That which characterized our thinking and actions on earth will no longer be present in any shape or form when we have resurrection bodies and reside in heaven.

Rev. 21:4 And He will wipe away every tear from their eyes, and death shall be no more, neither shall there be mourning, nor crying, nor pain anymore, for the former things have passed away."

Shame is an earthly emotion and it is not a part of our eternal state. It is uncertain whether we will have memories of our time here on earth, but there will be no regret, shame or sadness.

What about those in hell? Will they feel shame? They will feel something much worse than shame; they will experience the 2nd death for all eternity.

Heaven will be a new experience for all of us, and it is not necessarily parallel to earthly experience. There will be no marriage, family and national entities; and those are great human institutions, but we will be in a perfect environment at that time. Whatever we lose by way of pleasures and enjoyment are nothing as compared to eternity in heaven. We cannot understand that eternity until we arrive. We are not capable of understanding what awaits us in eternity. It will be beyond our imagination and we will be there.

Lesson #1054    Luke 20:36–38    1Cor. 15:26–27    April 18, 2010

Sunday 2

Bobby has not yet called up anyone in uniform to give their testimony, but he has a new Marine stand up.

Paul is showing the Corinthians how wrong it is to reject the resurrection. "Look at all of the consequences; you have believed in Jesus Christ and you have eternal life, so how will that affect you in the future?" Paul continues to hammer them about their place.

Paul may have quoted from Luke 20, and he writes about this very subject.

The sadducees ask Jesus a question, and they do not believe in the resurrection, so they are trying to trap our Lord with their questions.

Luke 20:36 for they cannot die anymore, because they are equal to angels and are sons of God, being sons of the resurrection.

Jesus appeals to Moses. They try to allege that Moses had nothing in the Bible about resurrection, so Jesus takes them back to the burning bush incident. Jesus spoke as if they are alive.

Luke 20:37 But that the dead are raised, even Moses showed, in the passage about the bush, where he calls the Lord the God of Abraham and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob.

If the patriarchs were dead and gone, why cite them anymore? They are just names. What sense does this mean for Moses to call Jehovah the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, if these men are dead? Jesus meant that there was a resurrection, and the patriarchs would be part of it. This is the precedent set for all of us.

Millions of believers have died over the years. Are they simply here and then gone, then that is inhalation. What is the point of eternal life? We will live, even if we die. He who believes in Christ will live, even if we die.

O, death, where is your sting? People are so afraid of death. This is a known. We know that death holds nothing for us. Christ defeated death for us. We never need fear, worry or be concerned about death. Death is the beginning.

Bobby spoke to a man in hospice in Temple, TX. Bobby told him, "You are a lucky man, and he agreed; he said, I can hardly wait.

Bobby will never forget celebrating that Bob is in heaven, no more sorrow and no more tears, with about 1700 others. When you are about to enter into eternity, your loved ones will be waiting for you to give you a tour of heaven.

Unbelievers, it is another story. The 2nd battalion is all unbelievers. They will be judged at the Great White Throne. The 2nd death is not abolished for them. We know that they will be resurrected because they are going to a physical place. For the unbeliever, the 2nd death is not abolished. It is horrific, more so than any physical death can be.

Luke 20:38 Now He is not God of the dead, but of the living, for all live to him."

Jesus Christ will abolish death.

1Cor. 15:26 [The] last enemy being progressively brought down to idleness (made unemployed and ineffective; rendered useless and unproductive; nullified; abolished) [is] the Death.

In this final verse of this section, there are a lot of he's, so we must identify their antecedents. ὑποτάσσω = be in subject to authority. The person with the highest rank is God the Father. He is the highest commander in this unit. By virtue of the fact that He is the divine planner, everything is subordinate to Him. So there are 2 authorities in this passage; God the Son and God the Father. There is an authority ranking here. How can one be subject to another?

The Lord Jesus Christ is the absolute authority. That is when operation footstool is completed, when all things are put into subjection to Him. Believers are resurrected.

1Cor. 15:27 For, "He subjects (arranges in subordination, bringing under full control) all things under His feet." Now whenever He may say that everything (all things) has been arranged in subjection and placed under full control, [it is] evident (clearly visible) that [it is] with the exception of and outside of the One subjecting the whole (arranging all things in subordination under) in Him (to Him; for Him).

Paul is quoting Psalm 8:6:

When you name something, you have authority over that which you name. All things are put under subjection to Him. All living creatures were put under Adam, and that dominion ended and it has ever again been realized. Then the end comes. The Lord Jesus Christ subjugates sin and death for all eternity. There will be no further need of conquest of the enemies of man, once He has put all things under His feet. Jesus Christ has regained what Adam lost. Adam was delegated authority by the Creator over His earth; what one lost, the Other regains.

Psalm 8:4–6 ...what is man that you are mindful of him, and the son of man that you care for him? Yet you have made him a little lower than the heavenly beings and crowned him with glory and honor. You have given him dominion over the works of your hands; you have put all things under his feet,

Jesus Christ on the cross said, "It is finished." No human work is necessary for salvation. That sealed the doom also opened the way of salvation for all who believe in Jesus Christ. The strategic victory was accomplished right there on the cross. This conflict continues until the end of operation footstool.

When he declares it the end, that is the end of human history and this begins eternity. At that point, the Angelic Conflict is completed. Begins at the cross for the strategic victory and ends when all things have been put under His rule and authority.

There is a qualifier here. Somebody escapes the subordination. It is evident that He is accepts who put all things in subjection to Him. In God's plan for that defeat, operation footstool, in the Father's plan, all of this is subordinated to God the Father, Who planned this, except for Jesus Christ.

1Cor. 15:27 For, "He subjects [arranges in subordination, bringing under full control] all things under His feet." Now whenever He may say that everything (all things) has been arranged in subjection and placed under full control, [it is] evident (clearly visible) that [it is] with the exception of and outside of the One subjecting the whole (arranging all things in subordination under) in Him (to Him; for Him).

The Delegation of Authority

1. God the Father delegated authority to God the Son, and this authority includes His humanity. This is authority being delegated to the God-man in human history.
2. The humanity of the Lord Jesus Christ is intimately involved in all that He does. This is what the authority is delegated to do to us. His humanity will also be involved in operation footstool, from beginning to end.
3. So delegated to Him as the God-man is rule, as King of Kings in the Millennium and rulership as God forever.
4. As the God-man, He was always subordinate to God the Father in executing and bringing to pass God's plan.
5. It is the God-man, the incarnate Christ, the Hypostatic Union Who rules by the Father and He is subordinate to the Father. How can the Son be subject to the Father?
6. The Father's sovereignty and the Son's sovereignty are in no way diminished by the subjection of the God-man. This will entitle Jesus Christ to rule as the God-man. This was His promise to Israel as the King.

Therefore, we must examine this in the light of the Hypostatic Union. So He will subordinate all to Him. He recognizes the authority of God the Father and this in no way diminishes Him. We see Who Christ is and what He gave up in order to save us. This continues to the end of operation footstool. He will remain in hypostatic union.

Lesson #1055

1Cor. 15:27 April 21, 2010

Wednesday

Bobby came across something about Jesus Christ that he had never thought of before.

The yet future operation footstool, found in 1Cor. 15:35 reminds us that we, who are in the Church Age, are still in a fantastic war. We are in a struggle. It is a war of the worlds. This war is not confined to this earth, but this conflict occurs primarily on this earth. Satan and his demons still roam the earth seeking whom they may be devoured. Satan isn't watching us, but someone is watching us. Through his cosmic system, he rules this world. We are still Christian soldiers with a mission.

We are not on the offensive against Satan. We defend ourselves; we have all of these things which God has provided, and we provide a witness for the prosecution with respect to Satan's appeal.

His love is also present and this love is extended to all of us. We are witnesses to this because we are believers in Jesus Christ. We have an eternal future in operation footstool. We are on the battlefield of this conflict, and we are in the battle every day. We may not think of it that way. When everything is going wrong, it may occur to us, but when everything is going right, we may not give it a second thought.

Our Lord's enemies have been defeated strategically, but they have not yet been tactically defeated. The 1000 year kingdom has not come to pass yet; the revolution at the end has not occurred yet. We have a better understanding by far than anyone else about the future of our world.

Operation footstool reminds us of where we are and the ultimate triumph. The Millennial kingdom will come to pass. Jesus Christ will ultimately put all of His enemies under His feet. This includes Satan and all of his angels. Death is the greatest enemy of mankind; even more than Satan. This is the culprit of separation of man from God. Only God through Christ can save us.

These victorious facts are our confidence in the eternal future. Bobby encourages nightly, because we have the greatest life a person can have. Jesus will declare victory at the culmination of operation footstool.

He delivers up the kingdom to the Father. Bobby is getting an idea of what this is all about. God the Father is subjected. You would not think that God the Father would not be subordinate to anything or anyone.

God the Father and God the Son and Their Relationship

1. God the Father cannot be subordinate to anyone or anything. God the Father is absolute authority; nothing is over Him.
2. Therefore, God the Father is the exception of the Son's subjugation of all things and His Son's complete authority. He is the King of Kings.
3. God the Father is the Author of the divine decree, which is everything which will happen in human history. That gives authority to the Lord Jesus Christ as the God-man. This includes the final defeat of the unbeliever, Satan and of death.
4. The Planner always carries authority by virtue of issuing the orders. If He is the Planner, then His plan carries authority. His plan is the order of human history; it is the order of everything.
5. God the Son is the executor of that plan. He has received the order and has been given the authority to subject all things to Himself.
6. To defeat death, the great enemy of mankind, God the Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, had to become true humanity while remaining undiminished deity.
7. In that role, as the God-man, He is subordinate to the Father. It is the Father's plan. Hypostatic-union.
8. At the same time, the Son is equal to the Father in every way; He has the complete essence of God the Father.
9. The Lord Jesus Christ's authority is delegated by the Father for the purpose of winning the strategic and the final victory in the Angelic Conflict. This includes our salvation. If He did not become God and man, then we could not be saved. That is how important all of this is.

How Does

1. Delegated authority always includes the humanity of Christ. It is delegated to Him as true humanity.
2. His humanity in hypostatic union is intimately involved in all that He does. Especially in executing the plan of the Father for us and for victory in the Angelic Conflict. His humanity was intimately involved. His humanity will also be involved in operation footstool from beginning to end. He is still in hypostatic union in Armageddon.
3. So delegated to Him and God and man is rule on the millennial throne and throughout all eternity.
4. As the God-man, He is subordinate to God the Father in executing a completing the plan of God for the first and second advents. From the moment He was born into this world, as the God-man, He continues to be so. In that sense, He is subordinate to the Father; but in His divine essence, He is equal in every way to God the Father.
5. It is Jesus Christ as the God-man Who rules, but in His humanity, He is subordinate to the Father.
6. So, the Father's sovereignty is in no way diminished by the rule of the Son.
7. As members of the trinity, God the Father and God the Son are still equal in power and authority. This is what is so interesting to Bobby. The Son takes the step down in the kenosis. Therefore, God the Father must delegate authority here until all enemies are under His feet. He turns that kingdom over to the Father.
8. Christ's work as God and man entitles Him to rule as God and man, as so delegated by the Father. Isa. 53 is the clearest prophecy of what Jesus would do. He is called a servant in this passages. He subordinates Himself by His Own choice.
9. Just as the first Adam rules by the decree of God the Father,
10. We must focus on the humanity of Christ in this final authority picture as presented by Paul in these final authority pictures. The Deity of Christ is not diminished; all things are ruled by divine decree. Then the Son Himself also will be subjected to the One Who subjected all things to Him, and God the Father may be all in all. God the Son has all of the authority given to Him. In eternity past, God the Father determined that all things would be subjected to God the Son.

John 1 Heb. 1 Philp. 2 Col. 2 are the great Christological passages in the Bible. Jesus Christ is the Creator and the Sustainer of the universe. He has not lost dominion over His creation. He is also the promised one of Israel. He has authority over that universe. As far as authority is concerned, He is also the promised Messiah of Israel. All of this happens to the background of this verse. The ultimate, absolute triumph of our Lord Jesus Christ has now been accomplished when all things are subject to Him. We are all in the eternal state as believers.

Once all things have been subjected to Him, the human history has come to a close. Then the humanity of Christ. God the Son will bow to the Author of the plan, He will be subjected to the One Who subjected all things to Him.

1. From the beginning, Christ was the Creator.
2. He is the central figure for our salvation, our resurrection, as the Promised Ruler of Israel, etc.
3. His deity clothed with humanity (the Philip. 2 passage).
4. But once that has all been accomplished, the humanity of Christ in the hypostatic union bows to the sovereignty of God the Father.
5. This is a parallel to the statement of v. 24, where He delivers up the kingdom to God the Father. He then bows to the sovereignty of God the Father.
6. Delivering up is the same that Christ does after He completed the mission of ruling. He was the Suffering Servant.
7. The act of delivering the kingdom to the Father and the genuflecting of the Son to the Father; this constitutes the event of honoring the Planner, God the Father.
8. Once again, handing over the kingdom consummates the rule of God the Father.
9. This is the Father's victory through the Son. Satan is no longer the ruler over the world and will never be again.

Some Sub-points

1. In the first advent, Jesus Christ constantly demonstrated His humility and subordination to the Father.
2. That was the only way for Him to go to the cross.
3. So from this, there is value placed on humility by God. Jesus Christ sowed the greatest humility that has ever been shown to the world. It was humility to the maximum so that He could die for us. He emptied Himself of the independent use of His Deity except as required by God the Father. He still had all of those attributes, but He came to this earth on a mission to die for us and He followed God's plan to the letter. He is the most humble person to walk the earth, and He is God.

Jesus Christ is the forerunner of our humility in life. Arrogance brought Satan and Adam to their fall; humility is that which we are demanded to fulfill.

1Cor. 15:27 For, "He subjects [arranges in subordination, bringing under full control] all things under His feet." Now whenever He may say that everything (all things) has been arranged in subjection and placed under full control, [it is] evident (clearly visible) that [it is] with the exception of and outside of the One subjecting the whole (arranging all things in subordination under) in Him (to Him; for Him).

at the culmination of operation footstool, the Lord will make an announcement; "All things have been put into subjection." In other words, "Mission accomplished."

The Son Himself also will be subjected to the One Who subjected all things to Him, so that He may be all in all.

1Cor. 15:27 For, "He subjects [arranges in subordination, bringing under full control] all things under His feet." Now whenever He may say that everything (all things) has been arranged in subjection and placed under full control, [it is] evident (clearly visible) that [it is] with the exception of and outside of the One subjecting the whole (arranging all things in subordination under) in Him (to Him; for Him).

Paul began v. 24 with an overall, and then he restates and summarizes in v. 28. They simply give the sequence of all that would happen.

1Cor. 15:24 thereafter, the goal (the finished work; the embodiment of maturity and perfection; the fulfillment; the result; the outcome; the end attained; the realization of the perfect discharge; or: the end; the closing act; the consummation), when He can proceed handing over (or: may progressively pass along and entrust; should by habit give over) the reign (or: kingdom) to God, even [the] Father (or: in [His] God and Father), at the time that He should bring down to idleness (make unemployed and ineffective; nullify; abolish; render useless and unproductive) every rulership of government (all headship and sovereignty), even all (or: every) authority and power!

1Cor. 15:28 Now whenever the whole (all things) may be subjected in Him (to Him; for Him), then the Son Himself will also be subjected (placed and arranged under) in the One (to the One) subjecting the whole (all things) in Him (to Him), that God can be all things within the midst of and in union with all men (or, as a nuet.: may be everything in all things; or: should exist being All in all).

The final thing which happens is, He bows to God the Father. This is Christ is in hypostatic union, which will be His conditional to the end of time and into all eternity. The Father put all things under Him.

Satan is the ruler of a fallen mankind and a cursed planet. Man and woman were cursed, and so was planet earth. However, Jesus Christ regained complete dominion over planet earth. His Deity clothed with humanity had delegated authority from God the Father to win the Angelic Conflict. This is the final victory of the Angelic Conflict.

As the God-man, Jesus Christ bows to the Father's authority. In this great genuflect, Jesus Christ is demonstrating something; He is demonstrating humility at the end of human history that He did in the 1st advent. Jesus Christ stayed within the plan of God. During the incarnation, He did not use His Deity. He became the suffering servant.

He followed the Father's plan to the letter. He did this even to the point of going to the cross; the shame of the cross. That is true subordination and true humility. No question that this earth was created in perfection and it reflected the glory of God. Once Adam fell, this reflection no longer existed.

The Father's victory was memorialized in the Son. Satan is no longer the ruler of this world and he will never be again. Once thrown into the Lake of Fire and once death had been conquered, Satan will no longer invade our kingdoms. At that point, it will be over (human history) and we will go into eternity.

The God-man and Humility

1. In the 1st advent, Jesus Christ constantly showed His subordination to God the Father. He never initiated anything in the plan of God apart from the Father's authority. He resisted all sin. He remained within the will of God. Yet He was God and man in one person. That is authority-orientation. That is maximum humility.
2. This humility was a prerequisite for the cross. To be outside the plan of God, violating the will of God the Father, that would have been sin and that would have disqualified Him for the cross.
3. The greatest humility was necessary for the Lord Jesus Christ. From His humility you can see the value of humility which God sees. Our humility comes from grace orientation. It is tough to be humble. You can see arrogance in this world everywhere. People are arrogant. Arrogance is the cosmic system. The fall of Satan was all about arrogance. The cosmic system was all about arrogance. Jesus Christ opposed the cosmic system completely and totally and he showed humility to the maximum.
4. Satan's original sin was one of arrogance. Christ demonstrated the opposite. Arrogance takes us to the cosmic system; humility is a great indicator of spiritual advance. The more you advance, the more you recognize humility. Humility is a wonderful way to live. The thinking of Jesus Christ was humility and the more that we learn the mind of Christ, the more humility that we take upon ourselves. Who are you that He should die for you. We are nothing. There are a lot of ways to express arrogance. Success does not have to make us arrogant. We can be the most successful wonderful person in this world and still be humble.
5. Jesus Christ knew no sin. In humility, He followed the Father's plan to the letter.
6. The humanity of Jesus Christ will still be humble as the King of Kings and law of love. Jesus will return as the Son of David; so He must be in His hypostatic union. He will continue to be humble because He is still fulfilling the plan of God. The Lord Jesus Christ fulfills this promise as God and man.
7. He continues to express humility even when the final victory is won. We know this because He subordinates Himself to God the Father. He became flesh and dwelt among us. The 30+ years, He came as a servant, to save the world from their sins. He was subordinate to the plan of God. In the end, He will turn over the Kingdom to the Father. He retains humility. He is humble in both advents. As a servant or as a king, He demonstrates humility.
8. His humility is the badge of victory over the arrogance demonstrated by Satan and man throughout human history.
9. His humility and any humility is an expression of grace and authority-orientation.

10. So when Christ bows to the Father at the end of time, He memorializes the grace of God throughout history and the absolute sovereignty of God. He demonstrates humility to all believers who are now in resurrection bodies. In resurrection bodies, we are monuments to the grace of God.
11. This subordination occurs even though Christ rules the world and everything and everyone in it. When we are resurrected as believers, we will bow to Jesus Christ, as He is our Judge and Savior. It will be our privilege to honor Him Who is all in all to us.

An application for all of us: we ought to remember that authority-orientation does not end when we are at the pinnacle. Some of the most arrogant people are at the bottom of the heap. Authority-orientation does not end, no matter where you are in life. In any position of authority. People in such positions suddenly get arrogant.

Our leaders should be enhancing freedom. Government should be enhancing freedom, not exerting more control over the country. They know no authority but their own. This allows for maximum freedom, and this is the same fatal error that Satan made in arrogance. We see it in high places because it is so visible. Whether we have a little power or a lot of power, it is cruel when we exhibit arrogance. That is an utter failure of arrogance. Our leadership in our government right now is arrogant power. Spiritual maturity increases your humility, not your arrogance.

Jesus Christ demonstrates his humility status when He hands over the kingdom to God the Father. He is the King of Kings and without any opposition and He turns the Kingdom over to God the Father in complete humility.

Humility is a by-product of the plan of God as we live it. Jesus Christ is still the 2nd Person of the Trinity, coequal to the Father.

Jesus did not present His Deity except as required by the plan of God.

Philip. 2:6 ...who, though he was in the form of God, did not count equality with God a thing to be grasped, κενω = to empty. From when we get the word kenosis. Eternal God empties Himself of His Deity; He did not give up the independent use of His privileges of God.

He became as God and man our Bond-servant. This demonstrated the greatest humility of all time. He added true humanity to His Deity. At that moment, when He was born into this world, when He took on the complete essence of man, sans the sin nature, at that moment He became subordinate to the Father's plan in the state of a bond-servant.

Philip. 2:7 but made himself nothing, taking the form of a servant, being born in the likeness of men.

Many people think that sitting in church is their duty and that this is what they do each week because it is what God expects of us.

Do nothing from arrogance; let each of you treat one another as more important than yourself. Christians have problems when they get caught up in the cosmic system. We do not have to look very far to see arrogance all around us. Who needs terrorists when we have Congress? The arrogance of power is rampant in the halls of our government today. There is plenty of pretense of serving the people, but there is a tremendous lust for power in the hands of a limited few. The goal of government ought to be to enhance freedom; not to take control of many aspects of the lives of its citizens.

Healthcare and other proposals are an inevitable march toward socialism and tyranny. the greatest good for the greatest number is sold as being compassionate. What we have is a redistribution of wealth, and the idea is, when wealth is redistributed, everyone will be happy and at peace.

Socialism never brings about what it purports to bring about. It brings about a lower standard of living and loss of freedom and opportunity. Satan would also like to bring in a utopia. He wants to be like the Most High. He wants to bring in a world of utopian circumstances. Such arrogance is not limited to just government. There is no thought for many people outside of themselves. They think only of themselves. Wall Street abuse, greed and arrogance. However, it is not just the rich. Arrogance is not confined to just the rich. Many demand extravagant entitlements. It is all about them and what they want. They think the government will give them what they want. There is no such thing as something for nothing, apart from salvation (which was paid for).

For every entitlement, there is a steep price to pay for everyone. Government entitlements will not create a world without want, oppression, and war. Only Jesus Christ can do that. Perfect environment under Him will be unique.

Our Lord showed humility at the 1st advent. He never said, "I will" but "Your will be done." This contrasts Him with Satan, who said, "I will." If Jesus stepped outside of the Father's plan would have been sin. That is what happens when we sin. We are outside the plan of God. This puts us into carnality. Jesus followed the plan of God all the way to the cross and He went to the cross, despising the shame.

In His humility, He strategically won the Angelic Conflict. Satan was complete arrogance with his 5 I will's; and Jesus is true humility and his Your will be done. Jesus Christ will be as humble in the 2nd advent as He was in the 1st.

When all things are subjected to Him. All unbelievers and Satan and demons will be placed under His feet into the Lake of Fire. In hypostatic union, the God-man will step aside; He will step down.

He is still in hypostatic union. The Lord made a promise to David to rule over Israel as the Seed of David, so He will rule as God and as man. As God, He will bow to the Father and give the kingdom to Him.

The same attitude which He demonstrated in the 1st attitude, should be developing in every believer in the Church Age. We are not called to be the greatest. The poorest and richest can be arrogant. The great, rich and famous can be arrogant; but so can the small, the poor and the unknown. Our humility is imperfect in us, but it is developing. Humility is one of the greatest virtues that a believer can have. It goes right along with virtue love. These 2 go hand-in-hand. It is not overrated.

Have this attitude in you: humility (Philip. 2:3).

1Cor. 15:28 Now whenever the whole (all things) may be subjected in Him (to Him; for Him), then the Son Himself will also be subjected (placed and arranged under) in the One (to the One) subjecting the whole (all things) in Him (to Him), that God can be all things within the midst of and in union with all men (or, as a nuet.: may be everything in all things; or: should exist being All in all).

This is a passage on the humility of Jesus Christ. He was undiminished and complete Deity. Jesus Christ possessed Deity, so He did not have to exhibit His Deity. He never performed a miracle on his own.

Κενω = to empty oneself. In emptying Himself, He did not give up any of His divine attributes. Jesus did not give up His eternal attributes, but He gave up the independent use of His eternal attributes.

Philip. 2:6 ...Who, though He was in the form of God, did not count equality with God a thing to be grasped,

Jesus does not just take upon Himself the form of a man, but that of a servant.

Philip. 2:7 but made himself nothing, taking the form of a servant, being born in the likeness of men.

The lowest form of degradation in death is being hung upon a cross in public. Capital punishment for a capital crime, displayed before the entire world.

Philip. 2:8 And being found in human form, he humbled himself by becoming obedient to the point of death, even death on a cross.

This is what humility brings. God highly exalted Him. Jesus is given the highest authority. Who should rule? The person who is humble. The greater the humility, the greater the leader.

Philip. 2:9 Therefore God has highly exalted Him and bestowed on Him the Name that is above every name,

All men will recognize Him for Who He is. Even the knees of His enemies will bow before Him. Those who are in heaven and those who are on earth and those who are under the earth, which are those incarcerated.

Philip. 2:10 so that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth,

All creation will acknowledge Jesus Christ to be Lord, and Jesus Christ will acknowledge Jesus Christ. If there is an ounce of arrogance in anyone, that arrogance will come out if everyone is bowing before him. The final act of subordination in the plan of God is a memorial to God's plan and victory in the Angelic Conflict.

Philip. 2:11 and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

1Cor. 15:28 Now whenever the whole (all things) may be subjected in Him (to Him; for Him), then the Son Himself will also be subjected (placed and arranged under) in the One (to the One) subjecting the whole (all things) in Him (to Him), that God can be all things within the midst of and in union with all men (or, as a nuet.: may be everything in all things; or: should exist being All in all).

Should not God be all in all?

Lesson #1058

1Cor. 15:28 April 25, 2010

Sunday 2

v. 28 is one of the great verses of authority-orientation in the entire Bible. Every knee shall bow to His authority.

Jesus Christ did not consider His deity something to be grasped, to be held onto. The Greatest Man in human history, relinquishes His authority to God the Father. Right now, God is not all in all; but then, He will be. God the Father is the Author of this great plan to save us and to defeat Satan.

God the Father has always reigned as Sovereign God; yet the Son, will also rule, but He is willing to step down. The Lord Jesus Christ will step down and hand over the administration to God the Father, and He will be, at that time, all in all.

Our finite minds cannot comprehend the eternal state and infinity, but we will be there.

Humility is the attitude of the Lord Jesus Christ, and this needs to be our attitude. The grace of God is always present. Grace orientation requires humility. If you are grace orientation, you will have humility. That is the way you live. The more you progress spiritually, the great leveler of the spiritual life is humility. It is what we strive for; it is the attitude of our Lord Jesus Christ. God is to rule supreme over a universe without opposition and without sin. That is what God the Son has accomplished in overcoming the great opposition which began before human history.

What happens to Jesus Christ after He bows? Where does He go? Does His humanity disappear? He is still God and He is still our Savior. We can look at the Lord Jesus Christ and we can still worship Him. In eternity future, He can function in His Deity as He sees fit.

Seeing Him face to face and seeing Him for all eternity, that will be part of the blessings of eternity. Whatever it is, all things are new. Whatever our circumstances are, it will be beyond our imagination.

First battalion is all believers; second battalion is all unbelievers. Christ is the firstfruits. We will be resurrected at the rapture of the church at a date yet to be determined. God will decide.

1Cor. 15:28 Now whenever the whole (all things) may be subjected in Him (to Him; for Him), then the Son Himself will also be subjected (placed and arranged under) in the One (to the One) subjecting the whole (all things) in Him (to Him), that God can be all things within the midst of and in union with all men (or, as a nuet.: may be everything in all things; or: should exist being All in all).

Then we go from eschatology to baptism for the dead.

Paul has a great genius, logical mind, and he will move to the idea of resurrection as being real. The Corinthians did not believe in resurrection. There were cultural reasons why they did not believe.

If there is no resurrection, then they might as well do whatever, for tomorrow we die. This illustration should help us to understand why the resurrection is real, through the illustration of baptism.

This has been a controversial passage for many. There have been numerous interpretations of this. There are over 200 different explanations for this verse. So people are confused by this verse. Most of these interpretations are confused and pull this verse out of context. Many interpretations attempt to make this verse conform with the real meaning of baptism.

This verse does not portray baptism in a Biblically correct way. This is a time when Paul presents something which is untrue in order to present truth.

This does not present water baptism in the concept of the Baptists. Don't fret or get upset; there are many other passages which deal with the true meaning of baptism. It is an important ritual which has a true doctrinal meaning. But that is not what this passage is all about.

The orthodox view as a contrast. The correct view of baptism is identification.

Water Baptism

1. The one being baptized is being identified with someone or something. When you are put under the water, you are being identified with someone or something.
2. Water baptism is a representative ritual.
3. It is the picture of being baptized by God the Holy Spirit into union with Jesus Christ. This is uniting us with Christ, ritually speaking. God the Holy Spirit actually places us into Christ at salvation.
4. Water baptism is a testimony to the world of our salvation in Christ.
5. This is why, although baptism is not a mandated ritual for the post-canon age; we hear less and less about this ritual in Paul's epistles. It is not wrong to do when it represents the testimony of our salvation to the world. Bobby doesn't do it and probably won't because the emphasis in Berachah is upon Bible doctrine. Communion is the only ritual which is mandated. This is always a great test of our doctrinal inculcation. Our testimony is better exercised by our mouth and our life. How many babies have been christened and it means nothing. There is the heresy of baptismal regeneration.
6. However, in the real meaning of the ritual, the believer is immersed, identifying him with the death and burial of Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ was buried under the earth in a tomb.
7. Under the water, the believer recognizes that he is identified in the spiritual physical death of Jesus Christ in His burial.
8. In this way, the believer is identified with the work of Christ. We died with Him. His spiritual death.
9. This is retroactive positional truth; united with Christ, we retroactively share in our Lord's victory of His spiritual death on the cross. If you are dunked under the water and know none of these things, it is no good. This represents the fact that we no longer live in the cosmic system. Salvation is the only way we can be separated from the cosmic system. This represents the washing away of the sin nature. We no longer have to live in the cosmic system. This is the believer's completeness in Christ. Col. 2:9-12
10. The believer is then raised up from the water, identifying him with Jesus Christ in His resurrection. We are separated from the sin nature positionally. That is the picture and the identification with Jesus Christ. We share in His resurrection and His ascension and in His session.
11. Rising out of the water represents current positional truth.
12. We are identified with His exalted position as He is currently in heaven. Rom. 6:4-5 Col. Heb. 10:12 1:

“My spirituality is very personal.” That is not spiritually, and it is certainly not Biblical. The idea is empowerment of the Spirit and growing in grace and doctrine. That is Biblical. Such a one is living the spiritual life.

The overall objective is the proof of the resurrection of the saints. The believers there had rejected the bodily resurrection. They had a disconnect. They believed in Jesus Christ for salvation and eternal life; but, if they are not raised, how do they have eternal life? Paul was trying to make his point in a number of different ways. Paul returns to a direct convincing argument for the resurrection. Resurrection is a reality; it is not a myth.

This is a controversial passage for many and over 200 explanations for this verse, and they range from all sorts of different interpretations. Many are completely out of context. Many attempt to conform this view to water baptism. This verse is not portraying water baptism in a way that coincides with other passages of Scripture.

Bobby is going to repeat?

Water baptism, in a word, is identification. The one being baptized is being identified with someone or something. It is a representative identification. It is the picture of being baptized by God the Holy Spirit into union with Christ. We are identified with Jesus Christ. It is a testimony to the world of our salvation. Although baptism is not a mandated ritual for the Church Age, it is not wrong to do. Bobby doesn't baptize because the emphasis of Berachah is Bible doctrine. The ritual of the Eucharist is practiced because we have been mandated to do that.

Many people are baptized and they have not believed in Jesus Christ. We have a better testimony by what we say and how we live. Some women prefer sprinkling because they look better when it is all over, but immersion is the correct baptism. We are identified with Jesus Christ in His spiritual death and in His burial; and then when we are raised up, we are identified with His resurrection. The believer is positionally separated from the sovereignty of the sin nature. Now we are identified with Christ. We are to no longer live in the cosmic system. Union with Christ means that we are no longer identified with it. Then the believer is raised up, and he is then identified with His life, and His resurrection. This is being identified with the resurrected Christ. We share in His new life and in His resurrection and His place in heaven. It means that we share everything that Jesus Christ is and all that He has.

However, this is not what Paul is talking about. He is not talking about the ritual of water baptism. The Corinthians have another doctrine which they have fouled up. The result is a number of doctrines which are messed up. There is a background to this verse; and the believers at Corinth have a real problem. Even revealing and refuting their false view of baptism is not Paul's purpose here. What is Paul trying to do? He is showing proof to them of the doctrine of resurrection. He is connecting it with this false ritual.

1Cor. 15:29 Otherwise, what will the ones now being baptized (immersed) do, concerning (over [the situation] of) the dead ones? If dead ones are not altogether (actually; absolutely; generally speaking) being habitually awakened and raised up, why are they also being habitually baptized (immersed) concerning them (over their [situation])?

Paul is using a false doctrine in order to teach and substantiate the true doctrine of resurrection.

Lesson #1060

1Cor. 15:29 May 2, 2010

Sunday 2

Water baptism is a testimony of believer to the world, and that is not what Paul is driving at in v. 29. Many people try to use water baptism to explain v. 29.

Most people get wrapped around the phrase baptized for the dead and they associated with being identified with Jesus Christ in His burial. Retroactive positional truth is not what Paul is referring to here.

ὑπὲρ νεκρῶν means in place of the dead ones. There is a baptism in place of a group of dead people (or dead whatever). Νεκρῶν is in the plural. This phrase does not refer to a living believer.

Water baptism is done by living believers on behalf of believers who have already died. Those who are not baptized are now covered, so in their minds. Once one doctrine gets distorted, it snowballs to distort a number of doctrines.

There is a historical reference to this problem, the Marcionites, A.D. 144. This may have been the beginning of their false doctrine in Corinth. Where did they get it from? The Corinthians may have picked up this practice from north of Corinth in Eluseis which was the center of an ancient mystery religion, mentioned by Homer. The idea of this baptism, no one could experience the bliss of the afterlife. This cleaned them. It was not unknown for a vicarious washing to occur, the living for the dead?

We already know that the Corinthians were immersed in various Greek religions and cultures. In Paul's later epistles, we do not find water baptism. Water baptism is not a necessity.

Given the propensity of the Corinthians to suck up false doctrine, this is a reasonable approach. So Paul uses this false doctrine in order to convince them of their mistaken notions about resurrection. In any case, this is not an orthodox view of baptism. Paul is not trying to refute or to approve of this doctrine of baptism for the dead; but he separates himself from the supporters of this false doctrine. Paul does not come out and say, "This is a false doctrine or, this is a true doctrine." Paul does not use the 1st person plural when proposing this. "What do we mean by being baptized on behalf of the dead?" If this was a real doctrine, then he would have included himself in the 1st person plural. In this context, Paul is keeping his eyes on the objective, keeping the Corinthians eyes on the objective.

Paul's Use of *Baptism for the Dead

1. Paul is using this false view of baptism, a false view, as an argument against those who deny the resurrection.
2. Paul is using something which the Corinthians believed, which was false.
3. He is using this to prove something which is true. They believed this, which was false; to prove something which is true.
4. This is genius. Using a false doctrine in order to prove a true one. He has named names of those who saw the resurrected Christ and all kinds of proofs. Everything that you can imagine, Paul is using.
5. In using this baptism for the dead illustration, Paul was in fact condemning the practice in the way that he states this. However, that is not his main purpose.

So, to this end, he challenges those who do not believe in the resurrection.

Paul's Argument

1. The false practice of the Corinthians to baptized themselves for the dead, the idea behind it is, the dead will rise. No matter who gets baptized for whom, this is something which they believe.
2. Baptism requires that someone is raised up out of the water.
3. The very practice of this type of baptism, wrong as it is, points toward a resurrection. If they were not baptizing for the right reasons, they were still baptizing.
- 4.
5. The Corinthians do not believe in the resurrection.
6. Logically, not believing in the resurrection, why would they baptize at all? They do not believe in the resurrection.
7. They are doing a ritual and its meaning, they do not believe. How many times does that take place?
8. Regardless of whom they baptize, either themselves or someone in place of the dead, the ritual still identifies them with a resurrection. Right view or wrong view, it is all about resurrection.
9. That has not changed, even in this false view of baptism in place of the dead.

Explanation of 1Chron. 15:29b

1. If the dead are not raised at all, why are we being baptized for them? Is the corrected translation.
2. If living believers are being baptized for the dead, are they not identifying the dead with the resurrected Christ?
3. If Christ did not rise, which Paul has used many times before, what is the point of even the vicarious baptism? It has no real purpose if resurrection is not real. This is the epitome of ritual without reality. Corinthians seemed to have invented this concept.
4. Those who are being baptized for the dead are inadvertently being identified with the resurrected Christ. Even in their false doctrines, they are contradicting themselves.

5. Christ the firstfruits, and then, at His coming, those who are His, are to be raised up. Water baptism, however it is being used, identify the participant with Christ's resurrection. They have to stop baptizing or believe in resurrection. They are confirming something by a ritual which they do not believe is a reality. They have not even thought through all of this. Paul's logic is overwhelming.

There are some churches which will baptize babies. Do babies understand this? Baptism is happening, but there is no reality to it. If you are going to do this, even if you do it wrong, then understand the implications of what you are doing. If they do not believe in the resurrection, why be baptized at all? What is the use for being baptized for bodies which will never live again? Paul has got them in 6 different ways. This is basic stuff. It is the gospel of Jesus Christ, and they do not believe it. Ritual without reality is rampant today.

Some people hide in ritual. They simply participate in the ritual because they believe that this saves them. Paul knows that there is a ritual going on there in the Corinthian church which is meaningless. He is killing 2 birds with one stone.

Bobby needs to simply this for us?

We know what baptism is and what it means. It is a ritual identification which identifies us with Christ's death and then with His resurrection. The Corinthians are identifying their coming up out of the water with dead people who died apart from the baptism ritual. When these people got this, they must have scratched their heads a little bit. "We are inconsistent; we are doing this, and we do not believe it.

The way that Paul presents this, it is memorable.

1Cor. 15:29 Otherwise, what do people mean by being baptized on behalf of the dead? If the dead are not raised at all, why are people baptized on their behalf?

1Cor. 15:29 Otherwise, what will the ones now being baptized (immersed) do, concerning (over [the situation] of) the dead ones? If dead ones are not altogether (actually; absolutely; generally speaking) being habitually awakened and raised up, why are they also being habitually baptized (immersed) concerning them (over their [situation])?

Lesson #1061

1Cor. 15:29–30 May 5, 2010

Wednesday

There was an aberration in Corinth. They were being baptized on behalf of the dead. Water baptism is a testimony to the world by the person who is being baptized. He is telling about his position in Christ. There is certainly an identification with resurrection. Water baptism is not necessary for salvation; however, some churches expect it as a part of belonging to the church and some teach that it is necessary for salvation. Bobby was baptized. Churches which baptize children are very mixed up. Bobby doesn't do baptisms because Berachah focuses on the teaching of Bible doctrine.

The testimony of baptism is one thing; and the testimony of your life is something even more important. Bobby went to a baptist seminary, and he had a very even-handed professor said, Paul just stopped speaking of baptism after awhile, so that the ritual was not as necessary. Baptism is not mandated for Church Age believers, as is communion.

There is a phrase in this verse which is problematic; being baptized on behalf of the dead. Or in place of the dead.

What Does this Mean?

1. In place of the dead refers to a vicarious baptism.
2. The one being baptized becomes a substitute for someone else. When they go under the water and come up, it is for someone else.
3. The baptism is conducted not as a ritual identification for the one being baptized.
4. Rather, the one being baptized identifies himself with those believers who are already dead. The living believer goes down under the water, and he does this for someone else, someone who has died.

In this view, an abnormal importance was being placed on the ritual itself. Anyone who had not been baptized and died, this was disconcerting, so someone got baptized for them. It is out of proportion important.

Why they did this is not fully understood today. It is never stated in Scripture—anywhere else. That it was wrong is understood by this passage. He refers to others doing this, but he does not use the editorial we. He used this false doctrine for a reason. He is using what is a false doctrine, and a practice of some in Corinth, because they Corinthians believed this. He is using a false doctrine to prove a true doctrine. Baptism, however it is used, indicates the believer's confidence.

If the dead are not raised at all, why are the living being baptized for the dead? Even in this misunderstanding of baptism, they still identify the dead with the resurrected Christ, and therefore, with a bodily resurrection. This would be the epitome of ritual without reality. Here, Paul was dealing with a doctrine which he knew to be false, and he says, do you understand what this ritual means? If you do not believe in the resurrection, this is stupid.

What it Means

1. Those who are being baptized for the dead are still be identified with the resurrected Christ.
2. The Corinthians (some of them) are making identification with the very thing that they are denying. They are identifying themselves with the resurrection, even though they do not believe in the resurrection.
3. So Paul points out this illogical thinking. He uses this false doctrine, this vicarious doctrine, as a dramatic way of getting their attention. If this was a normal way of understanding baptism, would this have had as much impact? Paul is chuckling here. He is killing 2 birds with one stone.

4. The Corinthians must acknowledge the folly of what they are doing, if the resurrection is not real. If it is not real, why are you baptizing at all? It is identification with the resurrection Christ. They must stop baptizing or acknowledge that the resurrection is a reality. The Corinthians need to come to this conclusion, even though the form of baptism which they practice is totally wrong.
5. If they want to baptize, they must realize that baptism is a picture of confidence in the resurrection.
6. So by baptizing at all, vicariously or correctly, the Corinthians are affirming the resurrection. Just this act affirms the resurrection.
7. These people are practicing a ritual and do not believe the reality that it represents. Believe the resurrection and stop baptizing like this.

Bobby will try to simplify this concept for us. He will give us a military illustration to explain what is going on. If you have a battalion of soldiers and they go into battle and they take casualties. At some point, those casualties must be replaced to maintain the effectiveness of the unit in battle. You find replacements by training new soldiers. This happens every day in recruiting offices all over the country. People die or they rotate out, and new replacements are being recruited. There are some which continue to fight when it is certain what the outcome is. Those are meaningless deaths; they will die for no purpose. It is just wasted lives.

Spiritual warfare. Every church in history is in the middle of it; we are in the middle of it as well. One generation dies off and another generation comes up in the ranks. We will all die off at some point and there will be those who replace us as believers in Jesus Christ. How futile this would be to enlist in this battalion of Christ has not risen or if the dead do not rise. Death wins no matter what under those circumstances. What is the point of believing in Christ if there is no eternal life. If there is no resurrection.

Baptism is the ritual testimony of ritual enrollment in alpha company. Victory is assured, so we enlist for victory, not for defeat. Christ won the victory over death and we will follow; that is our confidence. If there is no resurrection of Christ, those who are enlisting are dying pointlessly. That simply means futility.

One of Bobby's last assignments was to police recruiters who are lying. Once they are gone, they are gone; they are shipped. That has to be policed. If you are evangelizing for Jesus Christ and what you are saying is false, then you are a lying recruiter. There is futility and death in that. What is anyone to gain by that? If there is no resurrection, then there is no gain by salvation. No gain; just loss. Paul will say just that in v. 32b. Historically, it would have been much better to end all of this futility back in A.D. 32. If what Paul says is true, then Christianity means nothing. Why seem millions die in the name of Christ if He is dead. If Jesus is not raised, then we have nothing in which to believe.

Why enlist in the battalion of the dead? What despair there is in that? Why hold out hope if hope has been crushed? Your baptism has no meaning if there is no resurrection from the dead.

Believers are baptized as a sign of their confidence in a future resurrection. This is not a futile enlistment in a meaningless and dead battalion.

If they are going to baptize, then at least understand the ritual you are doing. And if you commit to this ritual, then believe in what this ritual means.

1Cor. 15:29 Otherwise, what do people mean by being baptized on behalf of the dead? If the dead are not raised at all, why are people baptized on their behalf?

1Cor. 15:29 Otherwise, what will the ones now being baptized (immersed) do, concerning (over [the situation] of) the dead ones? If dead ones are not altogether (actually; absolutely; generally speaking) being habitually awakened and raised up, why are they also being habitually baptized (immersed) concerning them (over their [situation])?

There is now a new argument. Paul is starting a new idea here.

We have no idea what it is like to mention the name of Jesus Christ and then suddenly be in danger. This was Paul's life and the life of many believers. You could end up in the coliseum with wild animals that would tear you apart; or with warriors who would kill you.

The fish symbol was a way believers identified with one another without possibly losing their lives. Many who opposed the gospel badly wanted to kill these men. Christianity always gets badmouthed in this country. We bend over backwards to be even-handed to all other religions, but Christianity is treated like a Bastard step-child. It is the devil's world and religion is the devil's ace trump. In the days that Paul walked on his missionary journeys, he was in constant danger. He was threatened, beaten, and even stoned once, before he was beheaded in Rome.

So what motivates us to do these things, if we are risking our lives? Paul went everywhere proclaiming Jesus Christ. He was run out of many towns with a killing mob on his tail.

Throughout history, hundreds of thousands of men put their lives on the line for their Christian beliefs. You cannot imagine how some were tortured and killed for their faith. The people who died ran risks every day. The great names in Christianity ran these risks. The Catholic church wanted to kill Martin Luther in the worst way. If you think these men were persecuted, Paul even more. To live is Christ and to die is profit. Why would they run risks if they did not believe in what they spoke? Their belief in Jesus Christ dominated everything in their life. The Corinthians knew the risks that Paul took. Paul first went to the synagogue and he was thrown out. The Jews rejected him, so then he turned to the gentiles in Corinth. They knew Paul's great purpose in life; teaching doctrine and giving the gospel. If there is no resurrection, then there is no reason for him to run risks.

In 32b, Paul says, why not give all of this up, and settle down in a town and have a good time.

Eternal rewards are an incentive. These rewards last for eternity. What does it matter if you suffer a little in this life. That is a part of living your life in the light of eternity. Bobby would prefer to be decorated at the bama seat of Christ. He wants to hear, "Well done, My good and servant." That is why we are alive on this earth.

Paul says, he is running risks because he has an eternal future. If believers are not raised from the dead, there is no reason to run risks. Paul does this because he serves the Living God. Today, people still runs risks. Those who are serving in the Philippines, Thailand, Mexico, etc., they run risks. Why would anyone want to go to a third world country and work in that kind of poverty and misery, if God is dead? The resurrection of Christ is a motivation. We live in courage because Jesus Christ lives and we live to glorify Him.

1Cor. 15:30 And why are we constantly taking risks and being in danger every hour?

In v. 31, Paul writes I die daily.

Communion Sunday:

John 1 is the strongest passage on the Deity of Jesus Christ. In Colossians, All the fullness of Deity indwells Him.

Philip. 2:6–11 ...Who, though He was in the form of God, did not count equality with God a thing to be grasped, but He emptied Himself, taking the form of a servant, being born in the likeness of men. And being found in human form, he humbled himself by becoming obedient to the point of death, even death on a cross. Therefore God has highly exalted him and bestowed on him the name that is above every name, so that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

How and why did He become a slave? He was a slave with a mission from His Master. He would bear the sins of the many.

Isa. 53:3–8 He was despised and rejected by men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief; and as one from whom men hide their faces he was despised, and we esteemed him not. Surely he has borne our griefs and carried our sorrows; yet we esteemed him stricken, smitten by God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions; he was crushed for our iniquities; upon him was the chastisement that brought us peace, and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned--every one--to his own way; and the LORD has laid on him the iniquity of us all. He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; like a lamb that is led to the slaughter, and like a sheep that before its shearers is silent, so he opened not his mouth. By oppression and judgment he was taken away; and as for his generation, who considered that he was cut off out of the land of the living, stricken for the transgression of my people?

There was never a loss of divine attributes. Jesus Christ cannot lose His Deity. He made an addition of human attributes. It was Jesus Christ Who created man, and yet He took upon Himself the existence of that which He created. Every time Jesus did a miracle, it was only at the bidding of the Father. Only once during His 33 years on this earth, did He make His glory visible, and that to only 3 of His disciples.

No divine attribute could function independently of His human nature. His Deity and humanity are inseparable. During the incarnation, Jesus was just as omnipotent as any member of the Godhead; but as fully human, He did not exercise that power, not even to remove Himself from the cross. He was still omniscient, but He possessed and utilized knowledge, as would any human being.

The babe in the manger was God Himself, but with the complete limitations of any human child, apart from a sin nature. Undiminished Deity took upon itself humanity. This is like the world's fastest sprinter to enter into a 3 legged race. Our Lord's Deity was not lost. For our sakes, He became poor, so that we, through His poverty, might become rich.

He became obedient to the point of death; even death on the cross. He had to become humanity in order to die spiritually. He was perfect and could die spiritually by taking our sins upon Himself. He had to pay the penalty of our sins. He was the only human qualified to take our place. He became obedient to the point of substitutionary death.

To bear our sins, Christ must be able to die, so he must be fully human. But in order for His sacrifice to be acceptable, He must be sinless. As God He was equal to the Father; and likewise, He needed to be like one of us. He stood between God and man and He reconciled us to God in His sacrifice. Because of the work of God the Son on the cross, since Christ is infinitely worthy and He is free to justify anyone. We, as believers, are justified, because we have received the righteousness of God imputed to us. We possess His righteousness because He died and we accepted it.

Philip. 2:9–11 Therefore God has highly exalted him and bestowed on him the name that is above every name, so that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

All creation will acknowledge the Son. And the Son will still demonstrate the humility of His humanity. So there is none like our Lord Jesus Christ.

Lesson #1062

1Cor. 15:30–31 May 12, 2010

Wednesday

The more that Bobby studies Paul's writings, the more he is impressed with his genius. He was a tremendous man of logic. He had a tremendous breadth and depth of knowledge of the Word of God. There is this tremendous legacy. In contrast, Peter wrote 2 books. His native language was Aramaic and it is possible that one or both of his epistles were dictated in Aramaic to an amanuensis who wrote it in Greek.

John wrote in a very simple Greek and straightforward. Luke was an historian and a physician. Paul wrote 13 or 14 of the books of the New Testament. It is possible that he wrote Hebrews. Paul is a divinely inspired genius.

How many ways can Paul prove the resurrection to these hard-hearted Corinthians. He has done a masterful job in obtaining his objective.

Paul's Arguments about the Resurrection

1. V. 4 he showed that OT scriptures prophesied the resurrection of Christ.
2. Vv. 5–8 there were 500 witnesses to the risen Christ, which was a powerful line of proof. Paul had been one of these.
3. Vv. 12–19 logical arguments
  - a. Their faith was worthless had he not been resurrected.
  - b. All those who had believed in Jesus and had subsequently died; then they had perished if Jesus was not raised.
  - c. All of his preaching and teaching would be in vain if Jesus was not resurrected. It would have been a waste.
  - d. The Corinthians themselves are witnessing to a lie; they are liars if Jesus is not resurrected.
  - e. Any confidence that Jesus could have in Jesus Christ or in a future would be undermined without the truth of the resurrection.
4. Then he looks at this from the standpoint of eschatology.
  - a. Jesus would defeat His enemies in operation footstool.
  - b. Paul would rule as the King of Kings. As Israel's king.
  - c. Christ would fulfill all of the covenants to Israel in a future time. That requires him to be resurrected.
  - d. At a future moment, every believer would be resurrected in his own battalion. Tribulation martyrs, millennial bles, and all unbelievers to face the Great White Throne judgment.
5. Then Paul deals with ritual water baptism as a proof.
  - a. It identifies the believer with the death and burial of Jesus Christ.

- b. The Corinthians were doing this as a baptism for the dead.
- c. The point that Paul was making, even in this false substitution, the living for the dead, resurrection was still be portrayed. Why go through this ritual if there is no resurrection from the dead.

Paul gives all of these arguments to explain why they will rise from the dead. This is an airtight case against their incorrect thinking. Paul has one more great argument for the resurrection in vv. 30–32. What is your motivation in life? If physical death is the end of it all, then why does Paul does preach and teach and even die for Christ? What motive could Paul have? What would drive him to do that if Jesus is not raised. What motivates Paul? What motivates other believers throughout the history of believers. It is a history of doctrine and apostasy. It is also a history of believers running risks and even martyrdom. To live for Christ, to suffer hardships, and to die for martyrs. If we as believers are not raised at the resurrection, there is no reason for us to face danger or to run risks. Why would we run one risk if Jesus is dead and there is no hope? Why risk a loss of life because that would end it all, if there is no resurrection. Therefore, eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die. Many people in this country live just like that. Only for themselves and only for pleasure. This is what Paul presents, which is the Word of God.

That is the motto. The alternative is, instead of serving the Lord Jesus Christ, and glorifying Him, then eat, drink and be merry. Paul really knew the Old Testament. He probably had a lot of it memorized. It is unlikely that he carried around scrolls of the Old Testament with him. These were in his soul. Eccles. 8:15 And I commend joy, for man has no good thing under the sun but to eat and drink and be joyful, for this will go with him in his toil through the days of his life that God has given him under the sun. This was written by a person on a mad search for life. So Paul uses this. Then Paul pulls Isa. 22:13 ...and behold, joy and gladness, killing oxen and slaughtering sheep, eating flesh and drinking wine. "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die." The French call this living for today. This is a form of fatalism. The person without hope in eternity, that is what they do. This is called hedonism. There is no thought given to his or her life. After death, there is nothing. Therefore, live it up while you can. That is how many people live. They do this because there is no meaning to life, if there is nothing after. If Christianity was untrue and Christ had not been raised, then live it up and have fun.

Believers, however, do run risks, and they are motivated to do so because they believe in the certainty of their own resurrection. They know there is an eternal future. They know that, in comparison, there is very little time for us here on earth. The purpose of the Lord Jesus Christ is to grow in grace and knowledge.

Bobby can attest to the fact that the greatest aspect in life is serving Jesus Christ. It is far better than that. He would not trade his life for all the fun and pleasure which is out there. We all have that same opportunity. We have the opportunity to live the greatest life that there is. A Christian in a Muslim country faces this death on a daily basis. There are missionaries out there in countries which are dangerous. Are you capable of living that?

It is still the greatest life that there is. It is great for adversity and prosperity.

1Cor. 15:30 And why are we constantly taking risks and being in danger every hour?

The English word order is confusing. There is protesting and dying all in one verse and all of this is in the context of running risks. The critical central phrase is, I die daily.

When it comes to reading the Bible, we ought to read what we have already studied. Meaning is important. It is not just about thumbing through the pages or reading a few verses that you don't understand. You grow in grace and knowledge from the pages of the Scripture.

Present active indicative of ἀποθνήσκω which is followed by an adverbial prepositional phrase: κατά ἡμέρα, which means from day to day. So this means, I die from day to day or I die on a daily basis. This is a highlight of the life of the believer. Death is nothing to fear. Paul runs risks; he has nothing to fear. You can only die physically once. Unless, you are a coward. Then you die many times.

The Apostles were brave because they had confidence in their eternal future; they had no fear of death. This is a figurative phrase, which indicates that, on any day, there is a change that he can be killed. He faces external perils that could be deadly every day. Combat soldiers might face this daily; and us while we are on the freeway. Every step that Paul took was a risk. Satan and his league of demons would be after Paul continually.

How can someone live so close to death unless he believes in Jesus. Soldiers are motivated by the guy next to him. He would rather die than the guy next to him. This is true of Paul as well. He would die so that one person would hear the gospel. When you are willing to put it on the line, that is real. Or you simply worried of being ridiculed? If you are willing to do this, you are maturing as a believer. If the resurrection did not occur, then there is no reason for him to die for Christ. There is no reason to risk this. Instead, he ought to go with the flow and live as long as he can. People in this life fight for every second of life. These are people with no eternal future in their own minds. Hospitals are filled with people saying, "Just give me one more day" or people are in comas, and their families say, "Do anything to give them one more day."

Paul was no sports enthusiast who risked his life for a thrill. Those types think they are bulletproof. But Paul does not see himself as bulletproof. He knows that death could come any day in his very risky lifestyle. He just goes on, one day at a time. In the meantime, as long as he is not dead, God has a plan for him. Day to day, no fear.

That is a terrible way to live, if you have no eternal future. What could engender so much dedication? What if there is no God? What if you have no confidence? Where would you be?

How sad it would be, if none of this is true. Bobby knows this is true and there is a God in heaven and there is a Jesus Christ Who is waiting. We are right where we ought to be and we carry the plan of God around with us right where we are. We take every opportunity to take us wherever we go. Keep your focus. Remember your priorities. Even in adversity, keep your focus. Adversity is for blessing when you are in the plan of God. When you have it all in proper perspective.

Paul will use some very intersecting grammatical devices in this verse.

1Cor. 15:31 Daily I am repeatedly facing death! By my pride in you, brothers! – which I continually hold within Christ Jesus, our Lord (Owner; Master) –

Lesson #1063

1Cor. 15:30–31 May 13, 2010

Thursday

What they did as Apostles was not a cushy job. Spreading the gospel carries an inherent threat. They carry a banner for the Lord Jesus Christ on the devil's turf. They go into danger and constantly.

There are many parts of the world where, as a believer, you are in trouble. And many men are told not to say our Lord's name when in the service. Everywhere the apostles go, they are in constant danger. Paul elaborates on this situation.

1Cor. 15:30 And why are we constantly taking risks and being in danger every hour?

Then Paul speaks to his own situation. I die daily. Everyday, Paul conducted his ministry with his own life at stake. Wherever Paul traveled, which was all over the ancient Roman empire. Into Italy, Anatolia, and throughout most of southern Europe. And wherever he went, there were those who wanted to kill him. Isn't it amazing how violent the reaction the name of Jesus gets? Satan opposes every mention of our Lord's name. Those in Satan's camp will react to Jesus Christ. This is another proof of His reality and mission. Paul could be killed any day because he proclaims the truth.

Paul was stoned to death on one occasion, in 2Cor. 12. Every day, Paul faced a danger, and, Bobby will catalogue these. Paul has no illusions that his life hangs on a very fine thread. He just does not know the day and the hour. Most of us know that death is inevitable. However, with Paul, he faced this daily. Some will talk about their danger and expect sympathy. Paul is not expecting to be seen as some great person of the faith. He is not trying to be impressive; this is not about him, although he is talking about himself. He is making a point here about his motivation. This goes to his motivation in the cause of Jesus Christ. His motivation centers on the doctrine of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. This is one more proof of the resurrection.

Paul has an iron-clad surety of his place in the world. No fear, should indicate no fear of anything, especially death. Paul is not afraid. This is an all-important motivation. Paul does not sweat in the face of his statement, I die daily. He knows that death will catch up to him at some point. Everyone knows that Paul is dedicated. Now they know more about it and they understand the source of his dedication.

The rhetorical question that they must answer for themselves is, why would Paul put himself in danger day after day? Most of us run the other way when we know we are in danger? This is his whole point. His ministry is greater than his life and he is not afraid to die. Death holds no fear for Paul. Paul is also telling us, 2000 years later, that this is our motivation as well.

What Should Our Motivation Be?

1. Paul has security in Jesus Christ. Today, we are more than willing to sell our security for freedom. Security is a big deal. That is part of the reason that 2 people get married. It is part of the reason that people save money and plan for the future. However, security does not lie in money. It does not lie in another person. Security in your eternal future. We are convinced of it. We know that one day we will be resurrected. What greater motivation for life than knowing we have this and no one can take it from us.
2. Paul's life will be lived for the Lord. In spite of all the danger and all of the hardships, Paul has all of that in his living conditions. He has that from doctrine in his soul. There is nothing wrong with creature comforts or with security; it has to do with priorities. All of this goes to our motivation. Paul has that. The doctrine Paul is dealing with is the doctrine of resurrection.
3. Paul has happiness in the face of risks and death. This is a mental attitude of sharing the happiness of God. This means that he is content in all circumstances. How many of you have happiness or road rage when you drive? It is worse in California.
4. Why fear death, when it conveys you into eternity? We will live in perfection in a resurrection body. Paul already knows what heaven is like, but he is unable to describe it. It is the one thing he was unable to talk about it.
5. Eternal life through resurrection and receiving rewards in heaven is his drive, his encouragement and his contentment. If Paul did not believe in his eternal future, then he would not run the risks that he does.

Solidified and emphasized by the rest of this verse. Then we have a hopologomena, a 2-letter word.

The Greek Word νη

1. This is translated, I protest, I make a strong declaration.
- 2.
3. Νη is used with an accusative of person or thing. This is an oath. Paul is taking an oath by using these 2 letters.
4. This particle expresses an oath or a vow. This means that he is swearing something. Only death releases one from this vow.
5. In using νη Paul is giving an emphatic oath.

καυκησις means boast + υμητερος. That is the possessive pronoun. "I swear as surely as I may boast of you." Surely, I swear by my boast in you." This is not a sarcastic statement. He solemnly swears here to his danger.

This swearing by them is based upon something they already know to be true. What good is this, unless Paul has great esteem for the Corinthians, and he does. This is like, "I swear on my mother's grave." What Paul is doing, they know to be true. He is telling them a truth and he has told them that before, how proud he is. They know that Paul means this. They know what Paul is swearing to.

Paul's boast in them or his pride in them was not in their temporal merit, which is how many are. He is not boasting in their spiritual advance, as that would be a very doubtful oath. He has just spent 14 chapters straightening them out. They are off on so many issues. We ought to be experts in everywhere that the Corinthians have gone wrong.

So what is Paul boasting on, about them? Let him who boasts, boast in the Lord. It is their status in Christ about which Paul boasts. They have 39 irrevocable assets and 1 revocable asset.

Why Is His Oath So Effective?

1. Paul's pride is focused on their union with Christ. They may have everything fouled up in their lives, but they know about their salvation and what it means. Paul is proud of them because of who they are in Christ.
2. Paul is proud of them as his children in the Lord. He led them to the Lord. Paul came to love these people because they are a part of his family in the spiritual sense.
3. He is a parent who loves his children and they are all members of the same family of God. That is virtue love. These people are not worth much, but Paul loves them.
4. The Corinthians share in all that Christ is and all that He has. They have that in common with Paul.
5. In this oath, it is Jesus Christ who is emphasized. They know that much.
6. So Paul has brought the Lord into this oath, making it even stronger.
7. If the Corinthians understand anything, and that is doubtful, they do understand Paul's dedication to the Lord. They have seen it first hand and they know it.
8. They cannot take this oath lightly. Paul has sworn on the very Lord that He serves. They cannot mistake it. He means every word and every word is true.

There are Christians even who will not swear an oath on the Bible. He is not using God's name in vain but he is swearing upon the truth. This is to convince them of the power of the resurrection in his own life.

We live our lives in the light of eternity; that is a motivation. Paul is swearing to that motivation. It works, and his life indicates it. It never needs to bother us.

I die from day to day; and I swear by my pride in you as fellow members of the family of God, in Jesus Christ, that this is the truth. My motivation is centered in Christ.

Closing Points

1. In effect, Paul swears his motivation for running the risk of imminent death is based upon the promise of resurrection. Also of his eternal life after his physical life is done.
2. This is a very powerful argument to the Corinthians because they know him and they know his dedication and his motivation and how he lives and the 18 months that he spent in corinth establishing this church.
3. They knows how he feels about them.
4. They know he is in constant danger.
5. They can only conclude that the motivation of resurrection makes Paul fearless in the face of imminent death.

1Cor. 15:31 Daily I am repeatedly facing death! By my pride in you, brothers! – which I continually hold within Christ Jesus, our Lord (Owner; Master) –

Next, we will look at, what if the resurrection is not true. Paul, the fighter of wild beasts. Then let us eat, and drink, for tomorrow we die.

Lesson #1064    1Cor. 15:30–32    2Cor. 11:23–32    May 16, 2010                      Sunday 1

Armed forces day.

The Apostle Paul was a great warrior. The context of 1Cor. 15 is one of persuasion to lead the Corinthians to believe in the reality of the resurrection. There are not many times that we can offer up empirical proofs of a doctrine, yet this is what Paul is doing. In this, Paul reveals the full doctrine of the resurrection.

Believing in the resurrection provides the motivation to live the Christian life in the light of eternity. There is also a bonus in this passage, that we will be able to catch a glimpse of the body we will have. This doctrine is critical to us right now.

Paul offers up one final line of proof, his own life. He shows how he is motivated, and this motivation is based upon the resurrection.

Spreading the gospel carries with it an inherent threat.

1Cor. 15:30 And why are we constantly taking risks and being in danger every hour?

Paul elaborates on this danger; he dies from day to day. Paul runs risks on an hourly basis; and at any hour, there was a good chance that he could be killed. Wherever he went, so many people opposed the gospel. There was no letup in threats made to Paul. This continued until he was finally beheaded in Rome. He had no illusions that his life hung by a very fine thread. Does he want everyone to view him as a hero? Or is he after sympathy for the life of danger that he lives? What Paul wishes to do is to show what a powerful motive the doctrine of resurrection is, regardless of the life-threatening nature of spreading the gospel and teaching doctrine.

For Bobby, this is the most convincing argument that Paul offers up. He has no fear of the future. The Corinthians ought to recognize that his ministry is much greater than his life. For most people, death is their greatest fear; for Paul, he had no fear of the future. He has security in the resurrected Christ. He has total security because Christ is the firstfruits.

Paul's life will be led for the Lord, and not for personal comfort or for personal benefit. From prison, Paul wrote, To live is Christ and to die is profit (Philip. 1:21). This is his eternal gain after death. As we gain confidence and assurance of the Lord and of our own future resurrection.

Bobby almost envied Bob when he entered into eternity. At this moment, he is enjoying eternity as we cannot imagine. At the moment that we breathe our last, we will know. It is beyond our imagination.

Paul gives an oath; he is swearing a vow, swearing as to his motivation and his words. His motives for ministry is just what he says it is. Paul does not take this oath lightly.

Paul is proud of the Corinthians and he has said that many times. They know that Paul has pride in them. The danger and risk, Paul knows is true. They know Paul and they know how he lives. For this reason, they must believe in the reality and the doctrine of the resurrection.

1Cor. 15:31 Daily I am repeatedly facing death! By my pride in you, brothers! – which I continually hold within Christ Jesus, our Lord (Owner; Master) –

How do unbelievers cope with life? They have no hope, nothing in which to trust.

Paul then offers up a human viewpoint theory: eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die.

Paul begins with a strange statement: If I fight with wild beasts. He is listing a specific risk and the Corinthians must accept the premise that he right wild beasts, but from a human motivational stance. He is placing himself in danger of wild beasts without any confidence at all. Facing the danger of beasts based upon human motivation; upon secular norms and standards. This is Paul's hypothetical approach.

From a purely human perspective, why would anyone risk their lives for a Christ Who is dead? What's the point? From human viewpoint, what does it profit Paul? It could bring about his death. What do I gain? "Your life is here and gone; why risk it?" Now, some, from human viewpoint, will risk their lives for approbation.

Who is going to remember someone who goes out and gain this moment of glory? They are here and then gone and soon forgotten.

Does this mean that Paul is literally fighting wild beasts in the arena of Ephesus? This is figurative. The apostle Paul is in constant danger; that is true.

2Cor. 11:23 Are they servants of Christ? I am a better one--I am talking like a madman--with far greater labors, far more imprisonments, with countless beatings, and often near death.

2Cor. 11:24 Five times I received at the hands of the Jews the forty lashes less one.

2Cor. 11:25 Three times I was beaten with rods. Once I was stoned. Three times I was shipwrecked; a night and a day I was adrift at sea;

2Cor. 11:26 on frequent journeys, in danger from rivers, danger from robbers, danger from my own people, danger from Gentiles, danger in the city, danger in the wilderness, danger at sea, danger from false brothers;

2Cor. 11:27 in toil and hardship, through many a sleepless night, in hunger and thirst, often without food, in cold and exposure.

2Cor. 11:28 And, apart from other things, there is the daily pressure on me of my anxiety for all the churches.

2Cor. 11:29 Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is made to fall, and I am not indignant?

2Cor. 11:30 If I must boast, I will boast of the things that show my weakness.

2Cor. 11:31 The God and Father of the Lord Jesus, he who is blessed forever, knows that I am not lying.

2Cor. 11:32 At Damascus, the governor under King Aretas was guarding the city of Damascus in order to seize me, 2Cor. 11:33 but I was let down in a basket through a window in the wall and escaped his hands.

Lesson #1065

1Cor. 15:32 May 16, 2010

Sunday 2

If there is nothing after death, then what you do between birth and physical death is all that there is. You might as well have a good time, as you only go around once. That is exactly what this verse is talking about. Yet, Paul's very life was in danger every single day. I die daily, is Paul's testimony. Paul is in constant danger.

Consider what that means for one person's life. Paul is the subject of many movies. No one has lived like this. This is James Bond Paul here. What is the difference between the human perspective and the divine viewpoint.

So, is Paul actually fighting wild beasts in Ephesus? Does he really enter into the arena of Ephesus? This is not what this means. The danger was at Ephesus specifically. He narrows this down to a particular place.

Nowhere else in his writings does Paul mention physical confrontations with animals. Luke did not mention any danger from wild animals either. He had a lot to say about prisons and beatings.

When Paul was in prison, and there was an earthquake, he remained, so the jailer would not be charged for dereliction of duty.

When Paul was attacked by a mob, he appealed to Cæsar, something which Roman citizens could require.

These wild beasts here are figurative. There must be something here. At Ephesus, Paul was exposed to extreme and vicious crowd violence. Enraged people could be called wild beasts, those who are out of control and acting in a mob. We see this sort of mob violence all over the world today. We see this in Greece, Iran and Arizona.

Murder without premeditation; the mindless mob which follows its most basic instincts. This is a metaphor for humans who are in the grip of mob thinking and emotional turmoil. Nothing enrages a crowd more than Paul speaking the gospel.

Paul had opponents who sought to do him harm. All of this is part of what the Apostle Paul lived under. This tells us all about Paul's motivation. Most of us have seen police in riot gear facing a mob. Paul faced mobs all of the time. He faced mobs which erupted into mindless violence. Paul knows he has an eternal future.

If there is no resurrection, and Paul is doing all of this, what does it profit him? What good does he get from living like this?

Bobby at a funeral; and when he says, "I am here to confront you with death" he wishes he had a camera to photograph the response. Unbelievers become very uncomfortable.

Paul is doing exactly that. There is no human perceivable advantage for anyone under these circumstances. The greatest hardship for Bobby would be floating on the ocean for a day and a half, waiting for sharks, dehydration or drowning.

Patton, "I want the last bullet of the last war to take me out."

We have assurance of God's protection. If it is not our time to go, all of the powers of earth cannot take us out; and when it is time to go,...

We will never have to face the hardships that Paul faces, but we have our own. This motivation not only works for the Apostle Paul, but it works for us as well. To live is Christ and to die is profit.

Paul had a difficult life, but he had great enjoyment and happiness in it. We have a greater capability. It starts here, through the inculcation of Bible doctrine. So, what do we have to worry about?

There are great doctrines, but facing the danger of bodily harm or death, we need to remember resurrection and the promise of an eternal future.

Paul's Rationale

1. What is a few moments facing adversity and difficulty compared to eternity in heaven. A few moments and we are gone. Our lives are like a star. One tiny star and then it is gone. We are unnoticed and then we are gone.
2. I will live as long as God determines. This is so we can fulfill God's plan for our lives. This involves priorities.
3. To die is profit. Death is a benefit. It is not a bad thing. It is not something which we need to fear. It is the greatest experience of life. Bobby anticipates thinking these thoughts, knowing that, in eternity, he will find out what heaven is like. That is what he has to look forward to. It will be a reunion. A little temporal pain at most. That is the difference between human viewpoint and divine viewpoint.
4. Applying this rationale brings courage and peace in facing the firing squad. Most of us think about the moment of death. Firing squad is a great way to think of it. Capital punishment means, we know exactly when we are going to die. They have to think about it. We have this rationale, under any circumstance.
5. This rationale provides the impetus to live our lives in the light of eternity. A soldier in Iraq has no idea where danger will come from. Every moment that they are there. Anything can happen and that is how they live. To live is Christ and to die is profit. Where is fear of death when Jesus Christ has already defeated death for us? What is the believer's motivation to live in the face of danger?

Paul now turns to the human viewpoint alternative. What about those, profit cannot be seen as the result of death? So we have a philosophy of life, "Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die." If there is no resurrection, then death is the winner. This is the pursuit of pleasure as a way of life. The philosophy of life that seeks pleasure as the fulfillment of life. Pleasure is seen as equivalent to happiness. You do not need to spend most of your life in the middle of a party.

The life of 8 hours a day when you are unhappy at work and when you come home, you are too tired to pursue pleasure. Pleasure for these, that is the focus of one's life. It is the philosophy of Nihilism. Pleasure becomes the highest goal of life.

Hedonism often stems from fear. Divine viewpoint versus human viewpoint. This life is it, so however long we have, that is it; spend it in pursuit of pleasure. Human viewpoint says, avoid risks and seeks pleasure. If there is no resurrection, why risk one's life for anything? There are good reasons for those in a war, but it is still hard to square that with no faith in eternal things.

There is fatalism in Paul's statement. The desolate inevitability of death without hope. The desolation of a mad search for pleasure. A statement of despondence. "Let's go and have a good time; why have I bothered to face lashings and imprisonments and attacks?" So which is it for us? Hedonism or resurrection?

1Cor. 15:32 if I fight (or: fought) in accord with human [means, methods or purposes] with wild beasts in Ephesus, what [is] the benefit for (to) me (or: how am I furthered by it)? If dead ones are not habitually (continuously) being awakened and raised up, "we should eat and drink, for tomorrow we continue dying away!"

Lesson #1066

1Cor. 15:32 May 19, 2010

Wednesday

The circumstances of Paul's life are themselves a proof of the resurrection. Paul knows on any given day that his life might be taken, and he has said that. There is a monumental list of things which have happened to Paul, by way of problems and adversities.

Paul was shipwrecked; he was stoned and died; he suffered privation; so he had to have a good motivation. He lives his life in the light of eternity. The motto of the Apostle Paul is, to live is Christ and to die is profit. Paul was focused on the plan of God and he was motivated.

We are in a time of a very bad economy. The grace of our Lord never stops because of adversity. We are a part of the plan of God; and He has a plan for our lives. He hungered; he thirsted.

We have an eternal future. We have studied the eschatological dispensations. That is our future. Paul's eternal future is secure, as is ours.

It can be a huge distraction to worry about one's salvation continually. Can I really sin as I have and be saved? With the doctrine of eternal security, and understanding the resurrection, we have a security that is beyond what any other human being has. We have money in the bank which cannot disappear.

The faith rest drill is a wonderful problem solving device. We need to know a few promises and there are hundreds of promises which we can claim. We can then apply that doctrine to whatever circumstance that we are in.

He applies the rationale to the life-threatening circumstances that he finds himself in. So he utilizes the faith rest drill. When you think of that promise and recognize what is behind it, you have contentment in adversity. No matter what we do, we will spend time in adversity.

So the resurrection and his eternal future motivates him. It makes no sense for Paul to live the life that he lives, apart from the resurrection rationale.

Paul has one more thing to cover, which is another proof. He looks at the other side of his life of danger, if, in fact, the resurrection is not true.

So Paul says, If the dead are not raised, then we ought to eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die. In this, Paul is speaking from human viewpoint. Without the resurrection rationale of the faith rest drill, it is not there. Paul poses a life-threatening situation in this verse. He faces deadly wild beasts in Ephesus. This is a figurative approach. It refers to extreme and vicious crowd violence. In Ephesus, Paul faced enraged people. There was always some howling mob at his heels trying to kill him. These people were out of control, emotionally speaking. They were filled with hate. They reflected the devil's world attitude. So Paul asks, what does it profit me to stand up to these wild beasts? What if these few months and years that we call our lives is all that there is? Should I spend this time facing such menace if our life is all that there is? So, from human viewpoint, there is no perceivable purpose for Paul doing this. Why die for a lost cause? That thinking makes a lot of sense without Jesus Christ. If you don't have that, what do you have?

If there is no resurrection, what is the alternative? Eating and drinking; they are to live it up. Grab up all the gusto. You only go around once. There is a fatalism viewpoint here in Paul's human viewpoint approach. This is the mad search for happiness; this is going after pleasure and self-gratification. This is the philosophy of inhalation. This is what Paul meant in his other hypothetical circumstance. There is a prevailing pessimism; what is your life worth if there is no eternal future? What would you do, if that is all there is? Maybe the bars would be fuller; maybe most of you would never return to Berachah Church. Live it up and party, for that is all that there is.

Today, this has been expressed in many ways. Whatever, turns you on, do it; whatever you like, go for it. If that is your philosophy of life, that means there are no restraints in life; no personal responsibility. A frantic search for happiness. Bad decisions are based upon pleasure seeking. A host of bad decisions narrows options in life. You do not increase your options in life if you are only seeking after pleasure. Pleasure is just a drug; no matter how you seek it, it never satisfies. So your solution is, eat, drink for tomorrow you will die.

This does not mean that pleasure is out of the question. This here is a matter of priorities. This does not mean that we are to be a recluse or a saint in a monetary. The singular pursuit of pleasure in life. This rearranges one's scale of values. All that is left as an absolute is self-indulgence. Hedonism.

This may not be someone's conscious choice in life. For them, the frantic search for pleasure is all there really is. This is the epitome of self-centered arrogance; the classic, me first attitude and to hell with everyone else.

When you fear death and when you have great anxieties, hedonism makes sense, so you suppress all of those other things and you seek diversion.

There is a time for enjoyment, pleasure, recreation, food and drink. The greatest enjoyment and fun and fulfillment of life is within the boundaries of the plan of God. There is no greater enjoyment than living the spiritual life. For the advancing believer, contentment is not based upon circumstances. Divine viewpoint comes from seeking the Lord through Bible doctrine first. That is always the priority. Pleasure seeking has its ups and downs. You might be in great circumstances or in lousy ones, but Bible doctrine gives you contentment. The greatest happiness is in Bible doctrine and not pleasure-seeking.

You do not simply apply this out of thin air. You develop this as time goes on, with spiritual maturity. How much of the day are you happy and how much of the day are you in the dumps? How often are you where you want to be? That is an indicator of how renovated your soul is. The renovated soul shares the happiness of God. John 15:11 sharing the happiness of God. This is having the mind of Christ. This is Bible doctrine. The more doctrine in your soul, the more spiritual light that you have and the more that you advance in the spiritual life. Jesus Christ is the proto-type for our spiritual life. And Jesus Christ faced more adversity than the Apostle Paul, and He had contentment in His soul even on the cross. We can share the happiness of God based upon the renovation of our minds.

So, tomorrow when you walk out of the house, determine how happy are you going to be?

Bobby has heard great testimonies from soldiers who are in miserable conditions, and yet, they are content. If doctrine can do it there, why can't it work in our puny circumstances? So why can't you be content? We can generate a tremendous capacity for life and contentment.

There are great aspects to this life of serving the Lord. James 1:2 Consider it all happiness, my brother, when you suffer various trials. This verse runs counter to all thinking; it is the divine viewpoint of it's all good. There is only one true contentment and capacity for love. True happiness is a product of growing spiritually. Christians, most of all, should be able to enjoy pleasurable moments to the fullest. Christians should also be more content with what you have. It is an attitude; it is a way of thinking.

Pleasure seeking becomes a drug which ends up being work. It does not satisfy and it is very stressful and hard to get. The greatest moments of enjoyment come apart from compulsion and desperation.

You young people will run into a couple of brick walls in your life. .

1Cor. 15:32 if I fight (or: fought) in accord with human [means, methods or purposes] with wild beasts in Ephesus, what [is] the benefit for (to) me (or: how am I furthered by it)? If dead ones are not habitually (continuously) being awakened and raised up, "we should eat and drink, for tomorrow we continue dying away!"

Every legalist can quote this verse: Bad company corrupts good morals. Every time that you associate with bad company, you are corrupted.

1Cor. 15:33 Stop being led astray (or: Do not continue being deceived and caused to wander)! Worthless associations, conversations or interminglings in a crowd (Companionships of eternity. You are having this great life and there are not all of these highs and lows. You will be up and down, but you will be stable with a good mental attitude. Your circumstances of life do not dictate your happiness or your unhappiness.

V. 33a says do not be deceived....

1Cor. 15:33 Stop being led astray (or: Do not continue being deceived and caused to wander)! Worthless associations, conversations or interminglings in a crowd (Companionships of corrupt quality; Bad company or communication) habitually and progressively corrupt, decay, spoil and ruin useful habits, kind customs and profitable characters.

Εκνηφω = to sober up, to wake up from a stupor. Awaken to righteousness. This is all figurative. The image of drunkenness is here, but the idea is not being literally drunk. This is coming to one's senses. Strong delusion from human viewpoint. It is a thinking process and lifestyle which is impaired.

If you are in this, your thinking is fuzzy and blurred and you cannot see clearly. It is not self righteous but experiential righteousness. It is advancing and serving the Lord in the way that He would have you do.

There are those who teach, at a certain point in one's life, they no longer sin; after a certain maturity level. It is impossible to completely stop sinning. We still have that rotten, dirty, stinking sin nature; and it never leaves us. It will leave us when we leave this life.

The greater the maturity, the more time you spend in fellowship without sinning. It is a balance. We are immature believers. We sin a lot. As we grow, we sin a little less and we spend more time filled with the Spirit.

Paul here is talking about the spiritual life and spending more time in fellowship. Glorifying God is experiential righteousness. Spiritual growth and the spiritual life is nonexistent when you are sinning.

Many people have the problem with sinning and rebounding; and it is a continual cycle. However, when you grow up, you spend more time in fellowship. Regain doctrinal perspective and increase your experiential righteousness. Stay in fellowship so that you can progress in the spiritual life.

We are believers in Jesus Christ and we can think like Christ thinks. We have the amazing capability to utilize and understand everything that He did. People say, "I want to walk in the footsteps of Jesus;" and the key to doing that is thinking like He thinks. You must be consistent in doctrine unless you lose your priorities.

The more you grow, the more you recognize the thinking of others and you say to yourself, "How can they think like that?"

The power of God being channeled through us, like giving the gospel to someone.

Paul makes clear in this context, separate from the wrong crowd.

New believers come into these churches and they are starving, and they are either not fed or they are poisoned. They are deluded or they give a love of human viewpoint.

The golden rule is the by-product of the Christian life. The more time that you spend with bad company, the more you will be affected in the wrong way.

Focusing on good doctrine and not cultivating associations with bad company is the approach suggested here.

The details of life are fine in their place; they just cannot be the priority. They must be subsumed to the priorities of the spiritual life. Most of us live without some of these details; but we cannot live without the spiritual life. If you do not have the spiritual life or capacity from the doctrine in your soul, you can enjoy the details of life. They are not the source of your happiness or the contentment of your life.

There are those who have gotten everything that they want, and yet, they still find themselves to be unhappy. However, they think that is what life is all about. Some think, is that all there is? Enjoying the details without being entangled in them. The details of life do not run your life. If you are deceived by human viewpoint, then they do. There are plenty of Christians involved in the details of life. This is why we are sober minded and why we are able to live the spiritual life.

Sober up and Stop Sinning...

1. The warning is, the believer minus an active and growing spiritual life is easily attracted to bad company.
2. In association with bad company, the believer makes the details of life top priority.
3. The good life for the believer is the spiritual life. When the details come second, that does not mean we wear hair shirts, take no baths, etc. We can enjoy the details of life; but they are not to be our priority. Success in life for us is growing up spiritually. Success for our life is thinking divine viewpoint. Success for us in life is fulfilling the plan of God for your life.
4. With that priority in life, all else in life follows in a correct balance and with contentment. Life is balanced if you begin with the priority of Bible doctrine. You are content. So many people object to Christianity because they think they must change their evil ways and give up all of their fun and give all of their money to the poor or to the church.
5. Keep your eyes on the spiritual life; do not lust after the rich and the famous. "Well done, My good and faithful servant" will be the greatest words you will ever hear. What lasts for eternity is executing the spiritual life. Enjoy the capacity for what God has given you or not given you. When you get capacity, maybe God will give it to you and maybe He won't. Contentment is yours. There is nothing like a believer with a relaxed mental attitude. They are fun and a good time. Yet, they stay within the boundaries of what Bible doctrine has taught them and that is what gives them a relaxed mental attitude. It does not mean that you cannot enjoy the details of life. But stay away from the legalism and the hedonism.

If you lack divine viewpoint in your soul, you do not have a clue as to what Bobby is saying.

The malady of the Corinthians is, they lack knowledge of God.

Some Have No Knowledge of God

1. How can any believer deter cosmic viewpoint without knowledge of God? It cannot be done?
2. How can any believer live the spiritual life without knowing the criteria and the mechanics of that life. So few believers in Jesus Christ know this. They are ignorant. They have acquired no knowledge. Bobby had fun attending a number of other churches, just to see what they were like. There was nothing there. There was no doctrine and very little even said about Jesus Christ. In others, there was a bit of ritual.
3. You can only advance when you know where you are going. This is true in the military. You are not given orders to just go out there and stumble about. If you are ignorant, then you do not know where you are going.
4. Without doctrine, you are stumbling blind in the dark. You are going off track.
5. How can you love God and how can you build virtue love or how can you think like he does when you do not know Him or how He thinks? The Corinthians cannot do any of these things. They have no knowledge. Obscuring doctrine means that they are not sober-minded.

For years, the Berachah pulpit has taught about ignorance of Bible doctrine. Ignorance does nothing for you. Here, they are ignorant about the resurrection.

The Application

1. Never let your friends, your companions or even loved one influence you contrary to Bible doctrine.
2. As a believer in Jesus Christ, doctrine is the criterion for your life; nothing else. This does not mean that you have no room for anything else.
3. When there is deviation from doctrine through adverse influence, like bad company, and you become intoxicated with the cosmic system.
4. You can awaken from that dazed and confused state with a little divine viewpoint renovation.
5. Then you can enjoy friends and loved ones who are good companions and not influences for the cosmic system; and you can handle the details of life, whether you have them or not.

What is the priority? 100 years versus eternity? Learning doctrine means you are getting something for eternity.

1Cor. 15:34 Sober up by returning your senses into the Way pointed out, with fairness, equity and rightwised relationships, and stop sinning (do not continue in error or failure), for some (certain ones) continue holding an absence of an intimate knowledge of God (habitually possess an ignorance pertaining to God). I am now saying this [with a view] toward a turning back within [the situation] by you people (or: toward shame and humiliation for you folks).

Lesson #1071

1Cor. 15:33–35a May 27, 2010

Thursday

Berachans with uniforms are asked to wear them on Memorial Day.

Become sober-minded. The Corinthians are a bunch of drunks, in the figurative sense. Some of the Corinthians were sloppy drunk at the Communion Table. Those who have died as soldiers are examples of Jesus dying for our sins.

Their vision is blurred and their brain is muddled by too much human viewpoint. The image is being drunk on human viewpoint. Nothing is more confusing in this world than pure human viewpoint.

Come back to your senses, having binged on human viewpoint. Stop sinning! This seems to be the favorite pastime of the Corinthians. Outside of fellowship, you cannot apply divine viewpoint. Experiential righteousness becomes completely deficient. When you advance in the spiritual life, your perspective on life clears up.

1Cor. 15:33 Stop being led astray (or: Do not continue being deceived and caused to wander)! Worthless associations, conversations or interminglings in a crowd (Companionships of corrupt quality; Bad company or communication) habitually and progressively corrupt, decay, spoil and ruin useful habits, kind customs and profitable characters.

When you grow in grace and knowledge, you advance spiritually and develop divine viewpoint. However, the Corinthians have no knowledge of God. Some have acquired no knowledge of God. Knowledge of God is available. Every time we wander into church, we gain knowledge of God. This is a perspective of the spiritual life. The positive is knowledge of God. In Corinth, knowledge of God has been obscured or rejected. The Corinthians suffer strong delusions from human viewpoint.

If you have no knowledge of God, then you make it up as you go along. That is what religion is; nothing but human viewpoint about God. We must have knowledge of God; and the lack of such knowledge is strong delusion, but it intensifies as they continue to associate with bad company. They are spiritually delusional. The key is metabolized doctrine and spiritual advance from that metabolized doctrine.

This is not knowledge for knowledge sake. Any unbeliever in a comparative religion course can develop mere knowledge of God.

So many believers have no knowledge of God; there is no mind of Christ in their souls; so they cannot distinguish between human viewpoint and divine viewpoint. With divine viewpoint, you are not deceived.

Bobby is going to offer up 2 lines of proof of this lack of knowledge.

The individual example in Matt. 22:29 Jesus answered and said to them, You err, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God. This reproof was directed toward those who ought to have some knowledge of God, and this is about the resurrection. Jesus is taking to religious Jews, which includes the religious sect here known as the Sadducees. These are aristocratic Jews; a society of aristocrats and they were very impressed with themselves. They had great wealth and own a lot of land; and they dominated the priesthood in Palestine. The Sadducees rejected the concept of the resurrection of the dead. The greatest pursuit in life might be the details of life to most of these men. Their philosophy was, get it while you can in this life. This is exactly what Paul is speaking of, when he quotes, Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you die.

Now, some people can turn it around at this stage. Many people think, “See You, God, in eternity; now I am going to go and get the good stuff.”

For the mature believer, the details can come and go. The doctrine of resurrection is there. Rewards for fulfilling the plan of God. This is the doctrine of resurrection and this is how we ought to think about eternity.

The Sadducees constituted bad company for all of Israel. They influenced many Jews during this time period.

How many churches today pursue everything but the truth? How many of them teach doctrine? How many of them have a knowledge of God? Our churches are filled with nothing but human viewpoint. For the Sadducees, the doctrine of resurrection was a threat. They had fully embraced the cosmic system. They were not about to let some rogue Messiah dissuade them from their philosophy.

These Sadducees were supposed to be spiritual leaders, and they were anything but. Believers in reversionism think and act just like unbelievers.

“You are idiots; you are spiritual goofballs.” The Sadducees could not lead anyone in a good direction.

The 2nd example is corporate, a client nation which lacks knowledge of God. Hosea 6:4 My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge. Because you have rejected knowledge, I will also reject you from being priest to Me. Since you have forgotten the Law of your God,

I will also forget your sons, even I. They are not destroyed for being degenerate or being involved in the phallic cult; they are destroyed for lack of knowledge.

The United States of America is a client nation. We are a haven for the Jews and the place from which doctrine goes out. We are destroyed for lack of knowledge. Israel was to be the client nation to the world, and that is what we are. At this time, Israel faced the Assyrian crisis. They were surrounded by the Assyrians a second time (the first time, God killed off 185,000 Assyrians previously). Israel were completely apostate; they had no knowledge in the land.

We are mandated to grow in grace and knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ. Our nation is dangerously close to the status of the Northern Kingdom in 721 B.C. and the Southern Kingdom in 586 B.C.

When the Jews returned, Ezra went into the land and rebuilt the Temple; and then they were brought back in.

There are empty seats in Berachah tonite. As long as there as a few in Berachah, doctrine will be taught.

Paul then closes v. 34 with, I say this to your shame. The Corinthians are intoxicated with human viewpoint. Paul can only say, they are εντροπη = shameful, humiliated and dishonored. They should be humiliated. They are utter failures. They are being disrespected by the Apostle Paul.

1Cor. 15:34 Sober up by returning your senses into the Way pointed out, with fairness, equity and rightwised relationships, and stop sinning (do not continue in error or failure), for some (certain ones) continue holding an absence of an intimate knowledge of God (habitually possess an ignorance pertaining to God). I am now saying this [with a view] toward a turning back within [the situation] by you people (or: toward shame and humiliation for you folks).

One of the most famous studies in vv 35 to the end. The Corinthians understand what Paul is driving at. The critical impact of Bible doctrine is having an effect on them. Many are beginning to believe that they will be resurrected in a physical form.

Essentially, what Paul is saying, “Now that you are on board, let me explain exactly what the resurrection is all about.”

Lines of Proof

1. Jesus unequivocally had a resurrection body.
2. Many people saw Him in that body. .
3. The Lord Jesus Christ is the firstfruits, and we are to follow in bodily resurrection.
4. Paul’s life shows his own confidence. They know Paul and how he leads his own life in constant danger. To live is Christ and to die is profit.

So, Paul has successfully convinced many of those reading or hearing this epistle. So this is where we are going to be for awhile. Paul realizes that there are certain difficulties with the doctrine, which they will need to have sorted out for them.

First of all, there are the characteristics of the resurrection body. How does it function? Of what does it consist? The Greeks believed in dualism, where the soul and spirit are good, but the body is bad. So, how can this corrupt body be resurrection and not be evil? There is no such thing as an incorruptible body. So, what could it be? What could it become? The Corinthians had only been thinking in terms of their present bodies, which were corruptible. So Paul says, "There is going to be a body, and here is what it is like." It is going to be unlike anything that they have previously considered. So Paul will clarify the nature of this new body. Everything that we can know about the resurrection body is contained in these next few verses. Paul will compare the heavenly to the earthly body.

We have finite minds, so that we cannot understand it all; but Paul will bring this down to our level. We can understand our own eternal future. This is what Paul means why dying is profit. This takes the sting out of death. It takes the fear out of death.

What is death? It is nothing. It conveys us into eternity. So we will begin to understand what is waiting there for us.

So, someone will ask this question.

Lesson #1072 Memorial Day Message 1Cor. 15:35 May 30, 2010 Sunday 1

Memorial Day Message and Medal of Honor Soldiers

Tomorrow, we recognize the sacrifices of our military for Memorial Day. Freedom is never bought apart from the spilling of blood. We must be cognizant of the benefits of war, as war brings freedom. We must not forget the price paid for freedom, a price which must be paid generation after generation.

Bobby reads 3 medals of honor winner. One captain who led his company into war in Korea. This was the last bayonet charge in army history.

A personal friend of the man above, Robert L. Howard, put up for 3 medals of honor, and he received one. This was about him saving the officer in charge, and then organizing his company into an organized attack. Successfully repulsed enemy attacks for 3.5 hours, until a rescue helicopter could take them away.

Final citation from the War on Terror in Iraq. He distinguished himself in organizing a hasty defense. He braved hostile enemy fire and rescued 3 enemy soldiers. His actions resulted in as many as 50 enemy soldiers being killed.

Proofs of the Resurrected Christ

1. There were over 500 people who actually saw the risen Lord.
2. Paul's own life was a testimony to the resurrection. Paul brought the greatest of doctrines to us. If there were no resurrection Christ, then the risks which Paul made would have been foolish and unnecessary.

There will be a couple of questions on the minds of various believers; how will they be raised and in what form will they be?

When a soldier is interred in the ground, the ground is consecrated; and for the believer, that ground is doubly consecrated. From the very spot where a person is buried, there he will be raised. We do not sorrow as those who have no hope. There is confidence of the resurrection. Paul begins this with But still someone will say, "How are the dead ones being habitually awakened and raised up?" Those who have been disfigured by war will be raised up, whole, with arms and legs and fingers. Paul, at this time, knew that those in Corinth would be asking questions. He is assuming, at this point, that he has convinced them of the resurrection, so now he is going to answer questions which would have naturally come to them. The Greeks philosophized endlessly about the dead and the afterlife. Cicero continued this contemplation. Every ancient and modern civilization. Death is a mystery to the human race. So Paul will deal with the questions of the ages. True knowledge of death can only come from God's revelation. Apart from that, it is all speculation. Without revelation, man can only contemplate without any real assurance.

With this passage, we need no longer speculate, wonder or fear. Most people fear death because they do not know what happens next. Fear does not need to hold us. The greatest confidence needs to come from knowing. Bobby, in his own studies, has smiled, knowing that eternity will be his. This is a very comforting and reassuring thought.

In one paragraph, the great mystery is solved, as much as we can understand in our own finite minds. This is what man has contemplated since the fall of Adam. What will we be like?

Certainly, the unbeliever has the same concerns as well, but they have no chance at a resurrection body. Their future is not connected to Jesus Christ. Their resurrection body will be designed to endure eternal punishment. This is where we were heading, without Christ, without hope and without eternal life. The natural life of believer and unbeliever and we all have this from the created humanity of Adam. It all came from him, along with the sin nature because he fell. This natural life is manifested through a body of flesh and blood which now houses our soul. We have a unique soul made in the image of God, making us a unique species. God created specifically in us a soul, which is not true of animals. As our Lord was complete and total unique humanity, we will follow him in resurrection. The natural life is called earthly life. This life is confined to the temporal existence of mankind, and it passes away, as the corrupt world will pass away.

If you do not think about Bible doctrine between now and the next time you walk in Berachah Church, then think about those who have died in your stead. Bow your head and thank God for those who have died.

Lesson #1073

1Cor. 15:35 May 30, 2010

Sunday 2

Some people like their bodies right now, and others do not, but there is great hope. Yet we will have a body which will not deteriorate and we will not need to go to the gym to get it that way. It is called an earthly body. It is confined to human history. From Adam till now, we all have a temporary perishable body. Jesus Christ died spiritually for our salvation and then He died physically. He is the guarantee of our resurrection body.

Every day our bodies begin to deteriorate. The aging process begins from birth. It is the inevitable march toward deterioration. Modern medicine and drugs can sometimes ease this transition; or plastic surgery, which recognizes the aging process. It may accentuate the aging process while masking it for a time.

Nothing can stop the move of our bodies toward death. So many of us seek some way to preserve ourselves. Just like Vasco DeGama searching for the fountain of youth. People who think this way are vulnerable are open to false messages, like the health and wealth message. There is recourse to the decline of the body, and all that you need is faith. Just claim the Lord as the healer. Those who proclaim this are the instruments of this healing. No one need be sick or infirm if they just put their faith in the Lord (and in the healer). The laying on of healing hands. God can heal and He does so, if it is a part of His plan. Ultimately, we are destined for the grave.

The possession of a sin nature guarantees a bodily breakdown. Adam deteriorated; but prior to the fall, his body did not deteriorate. His body took longer to die—900+ years for him. We are in Adam and physical decline is inevitable. God's plan for us sometimes includes sickness and suffering and that is for His purposes. We may wonder, why do I have this infirmity? Why can't I be healthy like someone else? Suffering accelerates our spiritual growth through our dependence upon Him. Whatever the physical malady, it does not last that long. There are those who have died on our behalf or have simply sacrificed for us and are still alive; and their physical maladies are much worse.

In any case, this is temporary and within the plan of God. Because of this suffering, we depend upon God even more. Don't ever envy anyone, their great health, body or whatever; we will have a great one in the future. It is far more important to grow up spiritually.

Do not become dependent upon a divine healer or upon a miracle. "God take this pain away" is fine to pray for once or twice, but this is for our benefit. There are times when medical science can ease or stem the breakdown of the body. Do not ignore that or shun it. Advancing medical knowledge is a part of God's grace toward us. However, nothing will extend life indefinitely. No human abilities or discoveries or science or magic will keep us alive more than God's time for our lives. There are those sects which do shun scientific advances in medicine. This cult concentrates on mentally repulsing bodily degeneration and disease. The founder was a faith healer. She claimed to be a faith healer. This approach has never deterred any malady, and she was proven to be an absolute fraud. She allowed many of her own family to die painfully of Christianity.

Walter Martin in his "Kingdom of the Cults" has an excellent chapter on Christian Science.

Many Christians lose a lot of money over these faith healers. The spiritual gift of healing disappeared in A.D. 70 and it was used primarily to authenticate the message of the healer. Even in the 1st century, healing was not to prolong life or to stop bodily deterioration. It was to reveal the gospel and the Word of God. Jesus could have waved His hand and healed all the world; but He did so only at an apropos time. Many people believed in Jesus Christ simply because they saw the miracle. But all those healed subsequently died. No matter how fervently a healer tells you to have faith, they still catch cold when exposed to germs and they get indigestion when they overeat, and they all die.

If we are in the rapture generation, our bodies will deteriorate. But, on that day, we will get a resurrection body. There is comfort in this deterioration for both of us.

We will have a brand new body, but there is a connection with the old body.

There will be no soul sleep. We are face to face at the moment of our death. We pass through death to life instantaneously. Death simply conveys us into eternity. This resurrection body is the believer's connection with the resurrection humanity of the Lord Jesus Christ. This passage defines the meaning and form of the resurrection body. There is also a continuity of bodies. Brand new, and yet there is a continuity.

When our Lord was resurrection, the disciples sometimes recognized Him and sometimes did not. We will have a billion years to recognize everyone. After a billion years, it is just getting started.

ἀλλὰ and here it is emphatic + the indefinite pronoun τις which means someone. Certainly, someone will ask a question... So he uses the future active indicative of εἶπω, which means will say. Πως means how is it that...? This is a beginning to a legal argument, which includes incredulity and skepticism. How is it that a corrupted body can be raised to a new life? This is a good question, and one which needs to be asked.

1Cor. 15:35 But still someone will say, "How are the dead ones being habitually awakened and raised up? And in (to; with) what sort (kind) of body are they continuing to come (or: repeatedly going)?"

Bobby has 2 more series in mind to cover after this one.

The rest of this chapter describes exactly what we will be. Paul will use a comparison in order for us to understand what our resurrection bodies will look like. This will complete the doctrine of the resurrection for us.

The Egyptians mummified bodies for an afterlife. The Greeks speculated about the afterlife. The Apostle Paul will explain what our bodies will be like. The Corinthians cannot ignore this; this has seeped into their brains, so they now have some questions. They want to know more about the mechanics and some of the specifics. This is what we will be like for the rest of eternity.

Paul begins with the connective conjunction alla, and it is emphatic. It means certainly. This question begins with the particle προς = in what matter, how is it that. This sounds like the beginning of a cross examination in a courtroom. This is how Paul is presenting this. It is an element of bewilderment. There is an incredulity. They are scratching their heads and asking this question.

We do not always know how far into the future writers of Scripture could see. Paul possibly knew that many generations of believers would be asking the same thing. How is it that a corrupted body can be raised to a new life? What is it? How is it? No doubt that the Corinthians had theories about this. They could not help it. Some merely thought the resurrection body to be a merely reformed human body. How can this body be reconstituted? Others believe that the resurrection body had no organic relationship to the new resurrection body. Both of these are wrong contentions. The resurrection body is entirely new, but there is a connection to the old body. How are resurrected believers equipped? How is this new and how is it related to the old. The finite mind cannot grasp how God can take a mortal body and change it into an immortal body?

The Resurrection Body

1. It is hard enough to think that this mortal body will be changed to immortal in the twinkling of an eye. Many people will not experience death. Some people want that. They want to be in the rapture generation. However, that generation will miss out on dying grace.
2. What about those who have died before he returns? That body goes back to dust. It might be buried or scattered to the 4 winds. God created man from the dust of the ground and He created them, as well, from nothing. Where your body is at death will no affect your resurrection body.
3. What is the connection with the old body? How will our new body come to be? We would think that He would just make a new body, but that is not the case.

In what way are people brought from the tomb? And what kind of body will they have in resurrection? Both questions will be answered.

1Cor. 15:35 Certainly someone will say, "How are the dead ones being habitually awakened and raised up? And in (to; with) what sort (kind) of body are they continuing to come (or: repeatedly going)?"

We understand that death precedes life. That is why the Apostle Paul is a communicator of the very highest order. Any pastor who speaks and anyone who writes wishes that they had the ability that Paul had and the Holy Spirit in the way that he did.

Paul could also be very blunt and very abrasive. He knows when to be one way and when to be another. So Paul hits them right between the eyes with ἄφρων, which means fools; unthinking ones; 1) without reason; 2) senseless, foolish, stupid; 3) without reflection or intelligence, acting rashly. This is a direct affront to a person's sensibilities. Paul's purpose is not to insult or offend his readers, even though they are fools. They have squandered their spiritual opportunities. Anyone who neglects Bible doctrine is a fool. He declares them fools without bitterness, anger or frustration.

So try not to react. Respond to what is being taught. Let it go. Don't react to it. This grabs their attention, and this is accurate. They are fools. The Bible is a divider; and it is the critic of the thoughts and intents of the heart.

Paul is calling their attention to their inability to accept that they will have a resurrection body. They have probably heard this before and they need to know this. It is encouraging.

They think that the body cannot live again because the body has died. But Jesus did return from the dead. He did return in a resurrection body. The Corinthians are stumbling over the direct evidence which Paul has given them. There were similarities. They are failing to think through their failure to think about the implications. He is putting a lot of emphasis on what is going to follow.

Paul will use an example from nature. Many people have used the caterpillar. It is a larva and it is usually quite ugly. They are essentially worms crawling around on some leaf. They have this pointless existence and then they die. But in the caterpillar's body, a change takes place. It spins a cocoon about itself, and it sleeps as if dead. This was not dissimilar to Jesus Christ being put in a tomb and into the grave clothes. He would be transformed. The butterfly is the result and they are a marvelously beautiful creature and it no longer crawls, but it floats through the air. There is a change; an obvious change there. It is a severe bodily change. The bodies are quite strikingly different, and they are from the same organism; one is earthbound and the other can go vertical.

Paul makes an analogy; he makes a comparison. This will explain it for us. The only real description of the new body is the Lord's body after His resurrection. Even though we say the Lord, we still do not have a detailed capabilities, its structure, its boundaries, etc.

Jesus in His resurrection body had vertical capabilities. That is a change.

The butterfly analogy was not the analogy which Paul used.

Our Lord had His scars which made Him recognizable. Paul will use an agrarian analogy.

1Cor. 15:36 You idiot! (or: You senseless and stupid fellow!) What you are habitually sowing is not being progressively brought to life unless it should die away (off).

Lesson #1075

1Cor. 15:36 June 3, 2010

Thursday

“How are the dead raised?” is the first of 2 questions which Paul asks. This first question implies, how can a corrupt body—a body with a sin nature that will eventually die—be resurrected to an incorruptible body? How can such a thing be?

Paul is using an expletive to get their attention. It is an exclamation which has a sting to it. It was the ignorance of their objection which caused this attention grabbing address to them. They are unthinking. They are not thinking. But now, they must think. They must recognize God’s power and His ability.

God took the dust from the ground and fashioned from it the man, and then took his rib and fashioned from that, a woman. Ex nihilo means from nothing. From the dust, God created Adam’s body, which became perishable. Our souls were formed from nothing. The Corinthians must be reminded of what they understand. The corruption came upon Adam as soon as he ate of the fruit.

The woman also fell, because she died as well.

Adam’s body and changed because of sin. God created Adam’s body perfectly. Adam made his body imperfectly. God, Who was able to create a perfect body, then He is able to create a new body from the dust that the old body became. God can raise the dead. Paul wants to make sure that they understand how all of this works. He begins an agrarian analogy. Any farmer who is a farmer has to plant. Something must die in order for it to come to life.

Paul uses an unusual analogy, but it is based upon his audience. For us, this may not be the best of analogies, as most of us are not farmers. But the Corinthians understood farming, so it will make great sense to them.

There is also a great beauty to this analogy. Every time these Corinthians went to their field to sow seeds, they would remember this analogy.

How Does this Agrarian Analogy Explain the Resurrection

1. A farmer throws the seeds on the ground in the planting process.

2. After the planting and the sowing, the seed itself sleeps. It goes dormant. Much like the caterpillar.
3. The seed germinates; it springs to life; just like the metamorphosis of the butterfly.
4. It develops from the seed into a plant, an entirely different form. There is a big difference between a seed and a plant.
5. The seed cannot become a plant unless it is first placed in the ground and is dormant. If it remains a dead seed, then nothing happens. Many seeds are sown which do not spring up as a plant.
6. The seed does not remain dead, which is not the case in nature. It goes into the ground, it seems to rot away, but it springs out to a more beautiful form than ever before.

John 12:24 In most solemn truth I tell you that unless the grain of wheat falls into the ground and dies, it remains what it was--a single grain; but that if it dies, it yields a rich harvest.

The Analogy Part II

1. From death comes life.
2. From one organism, a new organism springs up. There is a big difference between the seed and the plant.
3. The new organism has a connection to the old organism.
4. One derives from the other. There is a connection between them. It is all about death into life. The Corinthians have a part with the body part.

The seed is the old body and the plant is the new body.

So What Is the Connection?

1. Even though the seed and the plant are not identical forms, one does come from the other. The reality of the analogy.
2. If you get down to the root of the plant, there will be connected to that root a little shell of the seed from which the stalk came.
3. So there is an organic connection between the seed and its growth. The seed brings forth the plant and they are intimately connected. It is not a structural construction; the difference in form is gigantic.
4. There is an obvious transformation of form from seed to plant, while retaining a natural continuity.
5. The seed is certainly the source of the plant. It is an entirely different composition. From one comes the other.
6. This is the same sense in which the old body is a part of the new.
7. There is a transformation, a new form of the body. Nevertheless, it is a body; one is entirely connected to the other. However the body is constituted, there is a connection.

8. So we can know that our future bodies will have an origin in the old. However, this is in a much more heightened or exalted sense. This connection is unmistakable from the analogy. Your lowly body morphs somehow into the new body. What we will have will be beyond our imagination.
9. The similarities between the two bodies makes them recognizable to others. There will be a superficial connection, which we already know is true from our Lord's body. But what He had was entirely different. Glorified and celestial qualities.

Bobby is going to use himself as an analogy. His body is different today than it was as a baby, as a pre-pubescent, as a teenager, etc. None of the cells that Bobby began with are currently present in his body. He looks different now, but there is that semblance of recognition. A picture of Bobby when he was 14 and he can recognize himself. Recognizable, but not the same. Our bodies proceed to physical death, but our resurrection bodies will be permanent structures. We will not be robotic. We will not be cookie cutters. There will be similarities. There will be incredible differences. There is an implied identify, albeit superficial. Genetically, we are born with features that we like and others that we don't. There will be a continuity between the bodies. There will be no infirmities. There will be overweight, underweight problems, no gyms and no physical problems. No body-image problems. Our new bodies will be flawless. Our new bodies will be eternal with different properties and a different molecular structure. There is that organic connection.

There will be separate identities in heaven.

Paul is not trying to define the exact structure of the resurrection body nor is he explaining the exact metamorphosis which takes place.

What Is Paul Doing in this Analogy?

1. In plant life, death precedes life.
2. Out of death comes life in a new form.
3. Paul is making the point the one precedes the others. Deterioration, death, new life.
4. This does seem backward, but death must precede life. That is what Adam did for us. To receive new life, we must be born again.
5. Death does not erase an identify between the old and new bodies. Our old body will deteriorate and molder in the grave, but there will be an identity with the new body.
6. One is flawed and the other is not. Your new body will be flawless.
7. The seed of the believer's physical body, which is sown, dies before it becomes alive in the harvest of resurrection.

Here Is What the Corinthians must Understand

1. The death of their old bodies is necessary for the resurrection body. They have these bodies, and now they understand.

2. Life comes out of death and it is an eternal bodily life. From death comes eternal life. It is an eternal body, an eternal bodily life.
3. Regardless of what happens to the old body, a new life and a new body is guaranteed. People are so afraid of what is going to happen to their bodies. They are afraid of what someone will do to their bodies. In the military, they make every effort to recover dead bodies. This is not necessary to believers in Jesus Christ. Our bodies are a shell.
4. The old body has a cosmetic continuity with the new one in resurrection. What happens to your old body does not mean there is no connection.

So, we have answered the first question; how are the dead raised?

But Paul is not finished yet.

1Cor. 15:36 You idiot! (or: You senseless and stupid fellow!) What you are habitually sowing is not being progressively brought to life unless it should die away (off).

When you sow a wheat seed, you get a wheat plant. You never get a rose. There is a continuity, a progression.

What Is It?

1. This is the continuation between the old and the new body.
2. If a wheat seed is sown, which is analogous to the old body, then wheat arises, the new body. Wheat seed produces a wheat plant. Continuity.
3. When the wheat, the new body, in full bloom is certainly different and more beautiful than the seed of the old body, which went into the ground.
4. However, the plant has entirely different properties, although it still springs from the wheat seed, as the resurrection body springs from the old body.

Final Analogy

1. When you sow the seed, you are not planting the plant that will be.
2. There is an interval of time before the seeds becomes a plant. There is a period of dormancy.
3. The seed which is sown is different from the plant, which grows after the seed dies.
4. One naturally grows out of the other.
5. So, just the same in the analogy, there is an interval of time between the old body's death and the new body's resurrection.
6. The new body that emerges is entirely different from the human body which died.
7. And yet, there is an absolute identification between the two bodies.
8. One body is connected to the other, but in a different form.
9. Through resurrection, the human body becomes something that it was not before.

10. A natural, corruptible body was sown into the earth; a spiritual incorruptible body follows from the seed of the old.
11. They are infinitely different, but there is a living progression from one body to the next. There is life in the mortal body and life in the immortal body; and, in between, there is death.
12. The Corinthians understand from this analogy that there will be a bodily resurrection. Different, but still a body and still a connection.

1Cor. 15:37 And that which you continue sowing: you folks are not progressively sowing the body which shall be coming into being (that will be developing), but rather, a naked seed (a bare kernel, or grain without clothing), whether it may hit the target of wheat (= perchance of wheat), or any one of the rest [of the grains].

Our body will have an individuality, and God gives it to us.

Lesson #1076

1Cor. 15:37–38 June 6, 2010

Sunday 1

Good works are fine; but better if these are divine good.

This chapter encompasses all that we will be in eternity and how the resurrection related to us. Paul poses 2 questions in v. 35: with what kind of body do they come? is the second question. Paul will compare a seed in the ground to the old body, having died; and the resurrection body with the plant which grows. Many of the Corinthians were farmers, so they would understand Paul's illustration. He attempts to teach the Corinthians, who do not understand how a decaying, corrupt physical body get transformed into a flawless, ageless body without the sin nature.

After planting, the seed lies dormant in the ground, analogous to the death of the physical body. In the sense of the resurrection body, our body lays dormant. It is even possible for our body to disappear altogether. The seed breaks out of its seed coat and opens up through the soil. So Paul explains how from death life can come. He explains this is a way that the Corinthians can grasp.

There is a marked, extraordinary difference between the seed and the plant. This new resurrection body is so elevated and so much greater in structure and form, that it is beyond our capabilities. We understand our present physical bodies.

No one will discuss their aches and pains in their new resurrection bodies. That will never be a subject of discussion.

The Corinthians revere the seed that grows into a plant, because that is their livelihood. This is simply an analogy to explain death to life. From the old comes the new; and the new body is perfect beyond compare, and sans the sin nature.

Despite the difference, there is an organic identity between the old and new bodies, just as there is with the seed and the plant. One derives from the other. There are similarities between the two; there is some sort of continuity. There is a clear continuity between a seed and a plant. If a farmer sows a wheat seed, he expects a wheat plant; he does not expect roses to bloom. How is the transformation made from the old body to the new? How does that happen?

God makes the new body; God makes the difference. Paul will depart from this analogy to some degree. God's grace and sovereignty are obvious in the new body. God creates a new body from dust. It is His power and His omnipotence which does this. This is not a natural process. That is where the agricultural analogy breaks down.

1Cor. 15:37 And that which you continue sowing: you folks are not progressively sowing the body which shall be coming into being (that will be developing), but rather, a naked seed (a bare kernel, or grain without clothing), whether it may hit the target of wheat (= perchance of wheat), or any one of the rest [of the grains].

We have a pronoun which could be masculine singular or a neuter singular. The NASB makes this a neuter, but it ought to be a masculine singular.

Our resurrection body was determined in eternity past. God decided all of this in the divine decree. In eternity past, this was not a point in time. Everything was decreed and it stands decreed, always in the mind of God. We like to see such a thing as a part of time; but God's plan is eternal, and outside of time.

God created the world and He created Adam with a body that is incorruptible, and the woman as well. Their bodies were perfect without flaws, they would not age. Their bodies could not die until Adam and the woman sinned. When man died spiritually, physical death was a forgone conclusion. Adam's sin brought death into the world. That original sin. Sin was not God's expressed will; it was a result of the free will of Adam. Adam's free will was given to him to resolve the Angelic Conflict. When we try to say, God set this up in eternity past, so it is His fault. But we have free will, and God allows us the exercise of our free will. Our dilemmas are of our own making. The state of the world today is a fallen world; and we succumb to the temptations of our sin natures. Whatever happens to us in this life is all a part of God's plan as long as we are in this plan. We are inside of this plan, regardless of the circumstances of life. God's grace toward us never fails, it never lets up, it never goes on vacation; so if we are suffering, there is a good reason. Some of the suffering is for our accelerated spiritual advance.

Even the adverse circumstances are for our benefit. Some people think that God's will is everything, and nothing else. Islam is based upon this thinking. But that is not what God is. The God of Christianity is God. God's will, even though our adversity, still provides for us, even in a fallen world, in a world ruled by Satan.

How many of our plans come out exactly as we expect them to? God's plans all come out to be exactly as He expects. God predetermined the cross; but Jesus Christ made the decision to go to the cross from the free will of His humanity. God also decreed that believers could have the greatest spiritual life imaginable.

God also decreed the eternal future of every believer in Jesus Christ with resurrection bodies. That is certain, and it is made certain by our free will because we have believed in Jesus Christ.

In His decree, God never negates or supercedes the free will of man. And yet, His overall plan for mankind comes to pass exactly as He determined in eternity past. His plan will come to fruition exactly as he determined it to.

This is like a parent who is concerned as to the outcome of his child's life, and he does his best to get this child to grow up right, taking into account the free will of his child.

God decreed and we will receive one each a resurrection body because we made the decision to exercise faith in Jesus Christ. One little decision; and this may help to explain the impact of the cross.

If you can believe that God created all that there is, can you also believe that He can decree a new body, just as He decreed the original one. He is certainly capable of creating the new body. His power is far beyond what we can imagine. By His creative power, He executes His will. His plan is never in doubt, despite what we think and what the Corinthians thought. The gospel is the cross but it is also the resurrection.

It should not be inferred that our bodies will be like Adam's original body before the fall. It was immortal and very attractive; but we will have a body just like His. Our body will follow His resurrection body; but not Adam's.

1Cor. 15:38 Yet God habitually gives to him a body, just as He wills (intends; decides; purposes), and to (for) each of the seeds its own body.

Lesson #1077 Gen. 3:17–19 Rom. 1:20 1Cor. 15:38–39 6/6/10 Sunday 2

Bobby no longer takes the Houston Chronicle, but he read it today. 66th anniversary of Normandy beach; and they had to go up sheer cliffs. These cliffs are eroding and falling into the sea. There is a small monument there to the Rangers and Colonel Rudder, one of those who put together the whole program. He later became president of A&M? Or, Texas University. There is a lot of animosity between UT and A&M.

God gives to him a body just as He wills, and to each of the seeds, a body of its own. ἰδιος which means belonging to an individual. Every believer has a resurrection body which will belong exclusively to him (or her). It is created for each individual at the resurrection. Each body will have distinct aspects; we will retain our individuality. There is a certain exclusivity; and probably we will retain some sort of personality as well.

The properties and abilities in our bodies will be the same. God created the universe according to fixed laws. The resurrection body creation is at the end of human history.

There are natural laws, like gravity or the movement of the sun and planets and stars. Nature operates in a systematic way. The earth on its axis is perfect with precise movements. Nature operates in a systematic and habitual way. We can make a mess of the planet, but we cannot destroy it. The world did not evolve randomly as evolution postulates.

In evolution, order emerges from chaos. Take a jumble of letters, hundreds of each, and someone picks them up and throws them out, and they fall in the order of Moby Dick; even if we do this a million or a billion times, we will never get Moby Dick. The chances of this happening are nil. The totality of letters is chaos, and Moby Dick is order. Evolution begins with a chaotic universe, will all this inanimate matter floating around, and it randomly creates order. Nature is never that way; chaos never becomes order. It only happens by theory, but it has never been observed. Chaos never becomes order unless God does it. God determines natural function and a natural universe, and nature reflects God's order.

There were no thorns or thistles and God told Adam that he would have to work for his bread, until he returned to the ground. From it, you were taken and to it, you will return.

The earth did not stop turning on its axis when God pronounced this judgment upon Adam. Man dies because of his sin, but he will rise again by the power of God Himself.

Gen 3:17–19 To the man he said, 'Because you listened to the voice of your wife and ate from the tree of which I had forbidden you to eat, Accursed be the soil because of you! Painfully will you get your food from it as long as you live. It will yield you brambles and thistles, as you eat the produce of the land. By the sweat of your face will you earn your food, until you return to the ground, as you were taken from it. For dust you are and to dust you shall return.'

Bobby would look up into the sky and realize that the universe is God's work. Evolution is pantheism, essentially.

People will offer up all kinds of excuses. How did I know you were there? You didn't come down and do miracles for me.

Rom. 1:20–21 For since the creation of the world his invisible attributes — his eternal power and divine nature — have been clearly seen, because they are understood through what has been made. So people are without excuse . For although they knew God, they did not glorify him as God or give him thanks, but they became futile in their thoughts and their senseless hearts were darkened.

There are sorts of seeds and all sorts of plants. Every believer receives a unique body belonging to him. The same fixed characteristics, the same things demonstrated by the Lord in His body. Each body and each of our bodies possessed by individual believers may look different in outward appearance. Our bodies will have a common structure; just as today, our bodies operate in the same way, with the same internal organs, eyes, hair, brains, skin. All of those characteristics can have different appearances. They all work the same way with the same properties.

We do not know if we will carry scars from past accidents, although it seems unlikely. The new body is perfect and beautiful beyond compare. It will be without a sin nature.

Everyone is in an interim body who has died.

1Cor. 15:38 Yet God habitually gives to him a body, just as He wills (intends; decides; purposes), and to (for) each of the seeds its own body.

Paul continues with this same idea. Each species has its own properties.

In all species, the general conditions are basically the same. The intake of oxygen, the need for nourishment, the final cessation of life; all flesh has these various things in common. Each flesh is a different category. There are people, cattle, birds and fish; and all of these have similarities and striking differences.

Ἀνθρώπος is the general term for man. Man's natural environment is walking on this earth. There had been no flights and no rockets. Man is so different from every other species, being created in the image of God. No other species enjoys this. Dogs are close here.

Bobby had an argument with a theological professor as to whether animals had souls. He had to admit, if there was a soul, it could not be the same soul. Jesus Christ did not die for dogs and cats; and there are no passages which tell us that animals will be there in heaven with us.

In any case, we possess the soul, which is the image of God.

Κατανοῦς which means domesticated animals; pack animals; beasts of burden. Their natural environment is on the earth. Paul calls animals in general just another category.

Πτηνός means feathered animals, birds. There are a variety of birds, and many hang around on the ground, but most are able to fly. Ἰχθύς which means fish. Life is there in all of these types of animals, and there are all of these similarities. There are differences in all of these species. They look different, but there is that continuity of life, and so it is with our old and new bodies. All of us have this common form of life. However we reside in eternity, so also there will be those differences.

1Cor. 15:39 Not all flesh [is] the same flesh, but to the contrary, [there is] indeed one [flesh] of humans (of men; of mankind), yet another flesh of tamed animals (of cattle), still another flesh of birds (flyers), and another of fishes.

Lesson #1078

1Cor. 15:39 June 13, 2010

Sunday 1

Communion Sunday. We must have content of thought in order to concentrate on Jesus Christ. Matt. 15:7–9 Hypocrites! Well did Isaiah prophesy of you, saying, "This people draws near to Me with their mouth, and honors Me with their lips, but their heart is far from Me. But in vain they worship Me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men." (Isa. 29:13).

They failed to recognize that the Law they purported to follow pointed them to Jesus Christ. He then said "They are blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch."

A Roman officer was dispatched to arrest Jesus, as he was purported to be a fakir. When he returned to the pharisees, and without Jesus, he said, "Never before have I heard a man speak like this."

Jesus Christ was gracious in all that He said and all that He did. The pharisees, on the other hand, were legalistic monsters. They, the legalists, were deceived.

Our Lord marveled at the dullness of those who heard Him. They called Him rabbi, which means teacher, and even by His enemies. "You call Me rabbi, and so this is correct."

His Own disciples had a hard time understanding the truth as Jesus tried to explain it to them. They were very short sighted. They missed the very essence of grace.

Rejection of God's grace goes to prove the hardness of the heart of man. Men can be rendered callous to the gospel, testified to by the mouth of Jesus Christ. Their rejection made apparent their negative volition manifest.

Jesus Christ was often rejected and He was ridiculed in fact. However, with the clarity of the gospel of grace, there is no excuse for the gospel for all mankind. Either you believe or you don't believe. Either He is our Savior or He is not. He is a fakir or He is the Son of God. This is the most wonderful message man can hear.

In His presentation of the gospel, He never blushed or backed off when He said, "A greater than Jonah is among you; a greater one than Solomon is among you." If He is not whom He claims to be, then His words are meaningless and He offers us nothing. There could be no doubt as to what He said.

His miracles gave proof that He is the Son of God, the One Who was to come.

Recall 1Cor. 1:23 But we proclaim Christ crucified, that message to Jews a stumbling block, but to gentiles, foolishness. It meant even less sense for those who had no background in the Coming Messiah. How could this be God Himself? The gospel is the power of God and the wisdom and the grace of God manifested.

It is the central event in history, the cross. The cross brought the light of salvation to each one of us, even as darkness covered the land.

Jesus uttered some last words even before going to the cross. Matt. 26:27–28 And as they were eating, Jesus took bread and blessed it, and broke it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat, this is My body. And He took the cup and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink all of it. No one has received forgiveness of sins apart from His redemptive work. 1Tim. 2:6 Christ, Who gave Himself as a ransom for all.

The continued universal failure of humanism or other systems to replace the grace of God.

Now, anyone can receive the grace of God. He Who bought us now claims something from us. He claims our devotion in worship and He claims our spiritual growth. He who believes in the Son has eternal life; and he who does not believe, the wrath of God is upon him.

To Jesus, we owe everything.

What kind of body will we have?

God has made all things. Life does not create itself. All life comes from God. There is no force or force of nature which has randomly combined to make living cells which later evolved to become incredibly complex animals. Each specie is created by God and with their own specific properties.

All flesh has some common properties, but in life, they are not the same flesh, despite the general similarities of life. Yet Paul says they are not the same flesh. There is the flesh of man, of cattle, of birds and of fish.

Man's natural environment is walking on this earth. We are unique and we are called the image of God. We possess a soul, which no other species possess. Κτηνος = domesticated animals. These animals may seem like people to us, but they are just animals. Science says we are just a more highly developed animal, but the Word of God says that we are made in the image of God.

Πτηνος = feathered animals; birds. A unique species of living creatures.

ἰχθυς = fish. This may not be a scientific study of species, but these definitely have a different type of flesh. He will use this to qualify and begin to define what is different in the bodies.

1Cor. 15:39 Not all flesh [is] the same flesh, but to the contrary, [there is] indeed one [flesh] of humans (of men; of mankind), yet another flesh of tamed animals (of cattle), still another flesh of birds (flyers), and another of fishes.

Lesson #1079

1Cor. 15:39–41 June 13, 2010

Sunday 2

σὰρξ = flesh. We are not just one animal among many; we are made in the image of God. We have a soul created by God.

Bobby's dog is not made in the image of God, but it is a wonderful creature.

4 types of flesh are named: man, domesticated animals, birds and fish. Rick Hughes spends half of his life trying to fish. Each of these types of flesh represent an obviously different kind of sarx. Science does not fully understand the different kinds of life. It is obvious that man has soul life, and we are made in the image of God. However, in this context, sarx refers to something which all living things have in common. We are not certain exactly what kind of life is present outside of our own.

We understand, to some degree, cells, and oxygen, and the need for nourishment, and reproduction.

The examples which Paul gives, indicates that fish do not become men.

Evolution: from some inanimate object, a rock; and, given enough time, it will become a man. That requires far more faith than belief that God created us.

Jesus Christ in the flesh is absolute proof of God in the flesh. If God can create, then evolution is not necessary. It takes blind faith to believe that we came from nothing; and very little faith to believe that we came from the hand of God. If God determined these species, why would it be hard for Him to create a resurrection body? The Corinthians are have difficulties with the notion of a divinely created body. If God can create these dramatically different bodies, why should we be surprised that God can create a resurrection body. Our bodies our ponderous and limited; and they do not realize just how marvelous a new body can be. These are different categories, but they are still categorieis of human life.

Just as God made all categories of species, then He is fully able to create a resurrection body. God can only create this body acceptable to Him if they have believed in Him. This sort of resurrection body does not apply to the unbeliever. Just as God made our bodies and provided soul-life for our present bodies, he is also able to reunite our souls with a resurrected body.

All flesh is not the same. There are properties which are the same; properties of life. Our bodies will still be human life.

After a billion years, our relationship with God is just getting started. Wouldn't Carl Sagan be proud? One thing he got right, there are billions of years to look forward to. He was an evolutionist. There will be no time in eternity. We will understand eternity after we take our last breath.

1Cor. 15:39 Not all flesh [is] the same flesh, but to the contrary, [there is] indeed one [flesh] of humans (of men; of mankind), yet another flesh of tamed animals (of cattle), still another flesh of birds (flyers), and another of fishes.

If there are bodies here on earth, then why not different bodies suited for heaven?

What do you place no limitations on? The universe. This is how we understand the universe, as being without any limits. There is also a fixed separation involved here, something which we cannot bridge on our own. These Corinthians saw an absolute distinction between earth and the heavens. They understood there was a vast difference between the earth and the heavens.

The Corinthians do not know of what the resurrection body consists, but we do know that there is this great dividing line.

However, there is still great speculation about the celestial. There are things that we can only speculate about. No one on earth could look and draw conclusions of heavenly bodies. The matter and the makeup of celestial bodies was a complete mystery. We have only known what the moon is made up of since 1962. We still do not know what other

There is heavenly and earthly, but they are still bodies. Eternity is not about that which is ethereal. Our bodies are earthbound; and we can only travel in the sky through our technology. We cannot fly ourselves. However, there are no vertical limitations to our resurrection bodies. That in itself is an amazing thing. Jesus Christ ascended into heaven until He disappeared.

Heavenly bodies are capable of moving through the universe. There are different glories to these different bodies. There is also a contrasting glory. This also applies to the body. Glory in the body. There is a glory in both bodies. How do we reconcile that there is some glory of one and the other? The heavenly is connected to glory, which we understand. The heavenly has a much greater glory.

We can always determine some conclusions about our future body by what the Scripture tells us about our Lord's resurrection body. Jesus Christ had a body just like ours, and, in every way, He was human. He was a perfect man; and that body had a certain glory. With a resurrection body, be took on the true glory.

They are fearfully and wonderfully made, words which precludes evolution. We are God's design. We are in the image of God. Our glory is considerably less than our Lord's physical body. There is a glory in our body, and that glory is the image of God. Even Christ's physical body on earth is less than the body that we will receive.

Every time that we look at the resurrected Christ, and what He could do, directly applies to us. All of these things which He did, are things which we will be able to do. The description of our bodies: we will have a body just like His.

1Cor. 15:40 [There are] supra-heavenly bodies (bodies having the characteristics of that upon the dome of the sky, or the upper heavens, the celestial), and earthly bodies (bodies which exist upon the land; terrestrial bodies), but [they are] indeed different: the glory of the supra-heavenly [bodies is] one thing, while the glory of the earthly [is] different.

Paul continues with the different glories of the moon, the stars and the sun. Paul assures us that there are contrasts between heavenly bodies. How different is the sun from the moon? That is how different our bodies in life and resurrected will be. The sun produces all of that light; and the moon produces none of these qualities. The moon can only reflect the sun's glory. The moon has only a share of the glory. There is a difference.

Because of the horrors of the Tribulation, many will die. As Daniel considers all of this, an angel consoles him. He is encouraged by the promise that those who are asleep will be resurrected. Those asleep in the dust of the ground will awake. This is not an unconscious existence after death. It just indicates that a dead person appears to be asleep. This is all a metaphor for death.

Some unbelievers will be raised to shame and to everlasting contempt. They will not partake in the covenant kingdom. But even Daniel tells us that they will live again. They will have a contemptible condition.

Others who believe in the Messiah are resurrected to everlasting life.

Daniel 12:2-3 And many of those who sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame [disgrace] and everlasting contempt. And those who are wise shall shine as the brightness of the sky; and those who turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars forever and ever.

Is this like stars in a crown or that some will be brighter than others? This is an image of incredible glory. All of this shows that the resurrection body will have magnificent glory. But the glory of some will shine brighter than others, which is probably related to reward. Those who have executed the spiritual life. What we do not has eternal impact and this impact is forever and ever. Stars that shine forever.

There is parallel imagery in the tares. Matt. 13:43 Then the righteous shall shine out like the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears to hear, let him hear.

1Cor. 15:41 [There is] one glory of [the] sun, and another glory of [the] moon, and another glory of [the] stars, in fact star continues differing (carrying through in excellence) from star in glory.

Lesson #1080

1Cor. 15:41–42 June 16, 2010

Wednesday

It is God Who provides the differences in the bodies. Only God can produce these bodies; there is nothing that we can do produce our own bodies. We are made in the image of God. We are fearfully and wonderfully made. Our bodies are very intricate machines. There is a certain glory in the bodies which we even have now. And our bodies are reproduced through procreation.

However, having a resurrection body is called glorification. There is a glory connection between the 2 bodies, like the moon is related to the sun. The old body is only a shadow of the radiant, blinding glory of what is to come. We are the sun, so to speak. The sun is the brightest thing, and we are set in comparison to the sun. There are vast differences in the 2 bodies, even though there are similarities as well. It is impossible for us to understand the vast differences between the new bodies. We try to make some analogies, but do not think that your present body has anything in nature as the new glorified body.

We will be recognizable in our resurrection bodies. There is an incredible difference of magnificence in the new body. It is beyond imagination. There won't be marriage, but there will be relationships; perfect relationships in ways that we have never considered or imagined. All that we have now will be heightened to the millionth degree.

Conclusions from V 41

1. Every believer retains his soul to some extent and our bodies will be recognizable. Our bodies will be without a sin nature.
2. Just as the sun, moon and stars are all celestial bodies, but with recognizable differences, so our bodies.
3. Like the Lord Jesus Christ in resurrection body, each believer's singularity and uniqueness will be preserved. Each will have the same general glory that resides in him. We will not become gods; we will still be human.
4. In our glorification, our new bodies will not retain the appearances of overweight, underweight, weak, strong, flawed in appearance.
5. Glorification has an aspect that we will not understand until we experience it. Flaws will not be a part of it. There will be no mirrors in heaven for us to evaluate ourselves. If your body is not flawed, then why do you need to look in the mirror? It all looks good.
6. Each believer will be glorified in his new body. Each will have a different glory or glamour. This will be like celestial bodies are distinguished and have separate glories.
7. The different degrees of glory probably has to do with rewards for executing the spiritual life. There is the body of radiant light. We can only assume that there are differences in glory.

8. Although the glorification of all believers will occur at resurrection; and we will all receive resurrection bodies as believers.
9. Apparently, there will be different degrees of glory based upon executing the spiritual life and fulfilling the plan of God and service to the Lord, utilizing our spiritual gift. There will be some who shine brighter than others. Those with insight will shine brightly, comes from Daniel.

1Cor. 15:41 [There is] one glory of [the] sun, and another glory of [the] moon, and another glory of [the] stars, in fact star continues differing (carrying through in excellence) from star in glory.

The Corinthians are confused by the body, and they see the body as evil in their dualism. Clearly, the body in the hereafter will be considerably different. As Bobby gets older, he becomes more aware of the perishableness of his body.

Our new bodies will be vastly different in composition. Some of us might want to retain some characteristics of our bodies. We may have worked very hard in the gym or on the track. You eat well and you take supplements.

I hope I have this physique or these great legs or I hope I can return to the body of my youth. Or others want some changes, and our bodies will be a definite upgrade.

Whatever vestiges of this old body that we retain; we do not need to worry. We will be recognizable, but we will be so much better than anything we can physically develop in this life. The same grace is in operation. We will have something far beyond anything that we can have in this life. Paul shows what a different body we will have. It differs as much as the light of the sun from a lump of clay.

Don't worry about the shell that you are in now. Just fulfill the plan of God. If you exercise and eat right, then your body will be less likely to deteriorate. Bobby is not telling us to just let ourselves go.

Paul begins with οὗτος which means so also, under these circumstances. Under the circumstances of comparison to the natural world. Paul has moved from the natural world and he is simply comparing old and new.

It is sown a perishable body and raised an imperishable body. We deteriorate and we die. Paul goes back to his illustration of sowing from before. This he carries over.

Σπείρω = sown. In the passive voice, it receives the action of the verb. There is simply the present passive indicative. What receives the action of the verb? What is not present is the word body, but that is what receives the action of the verb. Vv. 35, 37, 38 and 40 has body in it because that is the subject.

The seeds then were simply thrown onto the ground.

The Analogy

1. The seed is dead when sowed; dormant.
2. The dormant seed is dead and analogous to physical death.
3. When the seed is sown or thrown on the ground, the picture is the burial. The seed will deteriorate, and the plant comes out.
4. A real seed does not remain dormant. It is dead, but does not remain that way.
5. Nor does the human body remain underground either.
6. Something else acts on the seed to bring it to life. It comes to life in an entirely different form; the seed rises up as a plant. This is analogous to the believer in Jesus Christ and his body which is raised. A different form and a different substance. Old body and new body. From one springs the other.
7. Like the seed that germinates, the believer who has died rises up from the earth in a new form, from the dust of the ground. He rises up with a new body, with entirely different properties and an entirely different look.

How is the body sown and how does it rise from the ground? Those questions are answered by 2 prepositional phrases.  $\Phi\theta\omicron\rho\alpha$  = ruin, destruction, disillusion, corruption.. Whatever comes into being in life passes away. That which lives and subsequently dies.

Perishable is not just about flesh and blood; it is all about the spirit as well. The perishable is not just physical. We are also sown in spiritual death. The body is perishable all the way through apart from regeneration. Even the regenerate person will die in the physical body. We are made alive at the point of regeneration. Spiritually alive guarantees resurrection.

The human body out of the womb is bound for death. We are, in essence, born dead. Our body is sown in that state. The body grows but it also deteriorates. The body is sown in corruption before the seed is even thrown into the ground.

God is not responsible for sowing our corruption. Adam is responsible.

Rom. 5:12 is misinterpreted because the exegete brings with him his own preconceived notions. The first is Adam and he passes it on to all men. Death is passed to us in 2 ways. That is what makes us perishable. We become perishable in 2 ways.

Rom. 5:12 Therefore, just as sin entered the world through one man, and death through sin, in this way death spread to all men, because all sinned.

1Cor. 15:42 Thus also (In this way also) [is] the resurrection of the dead ones. It is habitually (repeatedly) being sown within corruption (decay; ruin); it is being habitually awakened and raised up within incorruption (non-decayableness).

Bobby reads off the other verses.

1Cor. 15:43 It is constantly being sown within dishonor (lack of value; worthlessness), it is being habitually (repeatedly; constantly) awakened and raised up within and in union with power and ability.

1Cor. 15:44 It is habitually (continually; repeatedly) being sown a body having the qualities and characteristics of a soul (a soulish body), it is habitually (repeatedly; constantly) being awakened and raised up a spiritual body (a body having the qualities and characteristics of a spirit). Since (If) there is a soulish body, there also is (exists) a spiritual one.

Lesson #1081      Rom. 5:12   1Cor. 15:42–43   June 17, 2010      Thursday it is not surprise that our physical bodies are deteriorating. The process will culminate in death. However, as a believer in Jesus Christ, we are not going to go through extraordinary measures in order to stay alive.

Sin is the problem. The result is, death passed upon all men, because all have sinned. This tells us all about our process of death. Διερχομαι, which refers to a continuous action in past time. Death goes over to all men. What is passed from one man to another is death, which is spiritual death. The first to acquire that death was Adam, and he passes this along to all men. We pass this along to our own progeny.

How We Are Perishable.

1. We are born in Adam. What He acquired in his fall is passed along to all mankind. In Adam, all die. Or, all deteriorate until the time that they perish.
  - a. Adam, as the progenitor of the human race, passes his corruption down to us. This is the sin nature.
  - b. Every human being genetically acquires a sin nature. That passes it from one thing to another.
  - c. Adam's corruption is in the cell structure of our bodies; it is found in every cell of the body.
  - d. That is why death passes from Adam to us as his progeny. The sin nature is passed along genetically. Deut. 32:4 Job 4:10 God cannot create anything which is imperfect. God allowed Adam to make a free will choice. God still created Adam, so does that make God responsible? No. The sovereignty of God makes that possible, for Adam to have true free will. God permitted the exercise of Adam's free will. God could prove his case and win the Angelic Conflict. Adam started the ball rolling when he imitated Satan by disobeying God. God imputes our sins.
2. The 2nd way we receive our corruption.
  - a. We all sinned when Adam sinned. We were present in Adam, seminally, when he sinned. We were his seed.
  - b. Because we were in Adam, God imputed his spiritual death to us. Bobby love this, because it explains exactly who we are. We are looking are ourselves when we look at Rom. 5:12.

- c. We receive the penalty that Adam got because we are in Adam. The penalty of his original sin, a sin that we are actually a part of. We deserve it. We get the same penalty which was pronounced upon Adam. So we are perishable for that reason.
- d. Jesus took upon Himself our sins; the penalty. He was fully human. He was perishable by His Own choice.
- e. It can be said that we are born in death.

We are born perishable; the bodies of all men are born perishable. We will all die. We are subject to disease and deterioration, with an ultimate dissolution and destruction of the body. So, we are in the state of being perishable from the very beginning. When Paul write, we are perishable; the body is perishable. This encompasses all that we are but wish that we weren't.

Then there is the believer in Jesus Christ. This is what makes the believer changed. Regeneration changes us. We are made alive. We are born again. That life in Christ. We are in union with Christ and we share everything that He is and all that He has. He has been resurrected. We have what He has. Even so, in Christ, shall all be made alive.

Being made alive is that spiritual life. This does not mean that our temporal body will endure. The body of flesh and blood is corrupt and it will still deteriorate.

Rom. 5:12 Therefore, just as sin entered the world through one man, and death through sin, in this way death spread to all men, because all sinned.

The second clause is the encouraging clause. Εγείρω = to raise up, to cause to arise, to exist or to appear. In this context, the body will be restored to life. That perishable body will be reconstituted. It will be reconstituted.

It is true that the Spirit of Him Who raised Jesus from the dead lives in us. Because we know this is true, and that this Spirit raised Jesus from the dead, then we know He will also bring our mortal bodies to life through His Spirit.

Resurrection and Εγείρω

1. Resurrection is a raising up from that which was.
2. What was, was a perishable, corrupted physical body, that in which we are currently housed.
3. That is the seed analogy.
4. The seed that lies dormant is not lost and it does not remain in the ground.
5. The body that was sown in corruption remains in corruption. A seed is a seed.
6. The physical body is caused to arise. It is raised up. It is reconstituted.
7. The middle voice is reflexive; the body itself is raised. The physical body is raised. It is not entirely new?
8. The middle voice shows the connection between what was and what will be.

9. A seed, the old body, becomes a plant, the new body. One springs from the other. The old the new comes from the old, and is entirely new in form and function and capability.
10. What was sown in death, corruption and deterioration, returns to a different form of life. Our new body is imperishable; it does not die.

The believers body becomes what Adam's body ought to have been; immortal and incorruptible. The resurrection body will be even greater than Adam's with greater properties than those in Adam. Adam, for instance, was earth-bound. He could not rise into the heavens. We are not earth-bound. Adam did not have a body like the risen Christ, but we will. He is the firstfruits and we will follow. Adam had the test body and it was for a test.

Rom. 8:11 And if the Spirit of Him who raised Jesus from the dead lives in you, then He who raised Christ from the dead will also bring your mortal bodies to life through His Spirit who lives in you.

Paul was referring to 2 different bodies; one perishable and one imperishable.

The Old and New Bodies

1. The perishable and the imperishable are from the same source, but with a marked difference.
2. The old was in existence and it will be gone.
3. There is a new, which will come into existence at a future time, but with that association to the old. Just like the seed and the plant which springs from it.
4. Paul describes the new body in entirely different terms from the old, but with a continuity.

There are a number of analogies, which were found throughout; and they do not prove anything, nor do they give us a detailed description of the old and new bodies. What do these analogies give us? They remove the difficulties of conceiving of the resurrection body. The differences of the unknown in the stellar universe. It is just about the sheer magnitude of it all.

The object of the preposition in the dative is different than it was before. Αφθαρσία = the state of being immortal.

The Immortal Body

1. Αφθαρσία is the quality of the future life.
2. The seed which died has now returned as a plant, but not one that withers.
3. That which arises from the seed, in the analogy is the perishable body, has absolute longevity. Imperishable because it is uncorrupted.

4. It becomes an immortal body, just as the old seed represented a mortal body, a body that dies.
5. The new is a body that cannot die. No more tears, no more sorrow, no more death. The new body is perfectly suited to eternity. It is perfectly durable, no matter what.
6. That is what is meant by durability. Physical death verses absolute life; never to experience death again.

1Cor. 15:42 Thus also (In this way also) [is] the resurrection of the dead ones. It is habitually (repeatedly) being sown within corruption (decay; ruin); it is being habitually awakened and raised up within incorruption (non-decayableness).

The image of sowing is the dominant image. This is the comparison between the old and the new body. Here, the contrast is very interesting. Disgrace and glory. We all think of success in life. We are disgraced, because we are failures. Disgrace and honor have a different connotation. Then there is human weakness to divine power. They could not be further apart.

Bobby warns about tattoos.

1Cor. 15:43 It is constantly being sown within dishonor (lack of value; worthlessness), it is being habitually (repeatedly; constantly) awakened and raised up within and in union with power and ability.

Lesson #1082

1Cor. 15:42–43 June 20, 2010

Sunday 1

Bobby has heard a number of times, “I understand what the Scripture means because the Holy Spirit tells me.” That is not true. The Holy Spirit allows us to take in truth being taught.

Paul will make a set of new comparisons between vv. 42–49. The first comparison is in the latter half of v. 42. Our body was originally sown in the state of being perishable. We were born that way. We were born spiritual dead. In Adam, all die. (1Cor. 15:22).

Jesus Christ was born without a sin nature, but we all have sin natures. The corrupted nature which we have acquired is a part of the cell structure of our bodies. It is passed down from generation to generation. The nature which Adam acquired is ours as well by birth. We also get the imputation of Adam’s original sin at birth. This may not seem fair to us. We were not the ones to make this choice, but we acquired this sin anyway. His sin is our sin; we are his seed; we are his progeny.

Through one man, sin was brought into the world, and death through that sin. Death, therefore, spread to all men, because all sinned when Adam sinned. God imputes that sin when we are born, and Adam’s nature is our congenitally. This assures the disipation of the physical body.

We are all reminded in some way or another that we are in a perishable body. It is painful to watch and to live, to see others deteriorate. At the same time, as we get older, we have great encouragement. We can have great confidence because we have believed in Jesus Christ. We will die first, apart from the rapture generation, and then receive our resurrection bodies.

Rom. 8:11 the Holy Spirit causes us to be raised. The old body which we now exist in will be reconstituted by God. It cannot deteriorate; it cannot die. No more tears and no more death. If we are all going to be like Him, are our bodies identical with His in every respect? The answer is yes and no. The properties of our bodies will be the same as the Lord Jesus Christ; but what about our outward appearance? Will there be a resemblance?

We do not want to spend eternity alone sitting on some cloud. We all want to spend eternity with our previous loved ones. Bobby can't really tell us that we don't know what we will look like. We will absolutely be better in our new bodies without flaws.

An illustration that he uses is, if we could line up all of the people and have them pass in front of them one-by-one, and gaze at their faces as they passed, none of them would look exactly alike. Even twins have distinguishing features. The infinite number of features is amazing, which is even more amazing, when we realize just how little there is to work with, eyes, nose, mouth, chin, facial structure, forehead, and hair. If this is true, then isn't it possible for our Lord to make our recognizable and differentiated? Of course. There will be some way in which we are identified. We will have eternity to meet all of these people. There are many descriptions of eternity, and they all fall short of what it will really be like.

Another illustration of 7 tones of music, and you would think that so many different songs and symphonies which can be produced every day which are different and distinct.

In our resurrection bodies, we remain human; we do not become angels of some sort.

1Cor. 15:42 Thus also (In this way also) [Under the circumstances] [is] the resurrection of the dead ones. It is habitually (repeatedly) being sown within corruption (decay; ruin); it is being habitually awakened and raised up within incorruption (non-decayableness).

Our first body is described as ατμία = a dishonorable [body]. This is because of the sin nature which is in us. It is an inherent part of the body. It makes everyone dishonorable. The genetic sin nature. No matter how honorable we are in our lives, we are still in a body of dishonor. We are honorably dishonorable. That is our inheritance from our forefather.

Adam was made without a sin nature. He never had a dishonorable thought or action, until he took the fruit and ate of it. He got a nature which was dishonorable. He passed along that dishonor to us. We are in a state of dishonor. Everything that we are is tainted by the sin nature in our bodies. Our sin nature affects all of us in every way. As man multiplies, he continues to pass along this dishonor.

Adam's dishonor becomes ours. We are in a state of dishonor at birth. There is a position of dishonor and a life of dishonor. It is not what we do that makes us dishonorable, but it is what we are. We are disgraced when we are born with a body of corruption, just like fallen Adam. This dishonor of ours is inherent. We can certainly be dishonorable in life to a greater or lesser degree. It is all part of the sin nature.

Lots of kids think their parents are disgraceful, and they are ashamed of their parents, wrong or right. In a way, they are right, because the family escutcheon of the human race is dishonor. Every parent passes along dishonor to his own child.

Dishonor

1. As a believer, when you die, you die with a body of degradation and humiliation.
2. From birth to death, you are in a body which is flawed. No matter who it is, they are flawed. We are all flawed; we are all marred by the sin nature.
3. Our dishonor is not acquired by the success or failure of our life. It has nothing to do with your outward appearance. It is not because of your immediate parents or grandparents being believers or unbelievers.
4. It is our state. Dishonor is our status at birth. It is our personal inborn nature which disgraces our body. We are born in Adam.
- 5.
6. You cannot be rid of that nature of dishonor by anything that we do or fail to do. We are sown in dishonor.
7. When anyone dies as an unbeliever in Jesus Christ, he receives a dishonorable discharge from this life. This is the height of ignominy in this life. We never lose this dishonor for all eternity.
8. Our body of dishonor is inherently disgraceful and we have that stigma. For the believer in Jesus Christ, this is not the way the body is raised. It is raised in glory.

As you face the enemy in the Angelic Conflict, whatever glory you have is reflected glory. When you rise in your resurrection body, you are glory. It is a state. It is a part of our new structure.

1Cor. 15:43 It is constantly being sown within dishonor (lack of value; worthlessness), it is being habitually (repeatedly; constantly) awakened and raised up within and in union with power and ability.

Lesson #1083

Philip. 3:21 1Cor. 15:43 June 20, 2010

Sunday 2

As being raised, we are glorified, or raised glorified. It is an inscrutable subject, going from mortal to immortal. God creates and He creates our resurrection bodies. Bobby contemplates this as he studies. What our capabilities are; what we will be able to do. What we are studying is as close as we can come to a description of what our resurrection bodies are. It is not a particular attribute. We cannot understand the very specific aspects. We are not eternal and we will become eternal.

Then there are various attributes, and there are comparisons made. V. 43 explains dishonorable and glorious. We are born separated from God and we can do nothing about it in ourselves. That affected all of us. We are all a part of His disgrace and His dishonor. We have some triumphs of honor from time to time. The opposite of dishonor is what we will be in heaven. It is absolute honor, and that is our future. We are raised in glory to a body in glory. Εγείρω = to raise up. The middle voice; the body we now possess is raised, but not in the same form, but with a connection to our previous body.

Ev δοξα is in the dative case; in the state of being glorified. The new body is described as being raised in a state of glory. No sin nature in the new bodies, just as Jesus Christ has no sin nature. He has no sin nature in His original physical body. We will be the same. We will have no old sin nature. We do not know what freedom is, since we are enslaved to a sin nature. What will it be like to be truly free?

The bigger the government, the less individual freedom that we have.

In heaven, we will have complete and total freedom from that which enslaves us today. Rebound is a license for us to live the Christian life; not in any other way. In freedom, there will be no guilt, no apprehension. We will be so much happier without it. There is only great pleasure. There are incredible advantages. We will never be tempted from within to do anything that is wrong. Adam was tempted in the garden; why would we not be tempted in heaven? In the garden, this was a volitional test; it is a part of the Angelic Conflict. There was a purpose in allowing this temptation. He allowed Satan to tempt mankind. In heaven, there will be no need to test volition. The Angelic Conflict, at that point, has been won, and Satan and his angels will be incarcerated forever in the Lake of Fire.

In heaven, there is that perfect conformity. It is an absolute state of peace, contentment and happiness. There are times when we might be happy and ecstatic in this life. That must be what heaven is like? It is not even comparable. Maybe if we can understand this to the  $n^{\text{th}}$  degree. There is no test, no temptation, no sin nature. Once we believed in Jesus Christ, that took care of all those problems. The power behind this is Jesus Christ; and it all comes from this one single decision. There can be no better news than the gospel. No matter what a louse you are, the power is in the gospel. We may not have the crowns or rewards that others have, but we will be there with everything that Bobby has described. That is the power and the magnitude of what He did. This is what God intended for us at the very beginning. Jesus Christ placed us in the place where we will be. We will be and we will regain what Adam had, but we will have even greater, a glory beyond that which Adam enjoyed. Adam did not have a glorified resurrection body; but we will.

The Resurrection Body We Will Have

1. Our body is created in congruity with Him.
2. This is the total connected between his resurrection body and our resurrection bodies.

3. The conformity makes us Christ-like. In life, we move toward that in our souls. Here, every description of the resurrection body of Jesus Christ is a description of our bodies.

This will be accomplished by the exertion of the power. That is complete and absolute omnipotence. That is the unlimited power of God. He is the One Who put us here. This same power which resurrected the Lord Jesus Christ will resurrect us as well. This is if He can defeat all of His enemies, and these fallen angels are very powerful. If He can create a new Jerusalem and a new eternal state, is He not able to make us in such a way as to populate this new heavens and new earth? Jesus Christ has that power and ability and he will do it. He will do it when he chooses to do it.

Christ possessed a certain bodily glory during the time that He was here on this earth. He was without a sin nature and He has absolute power and integrity. That divine glory was veiled, except for that time when he was on the Mount of Transfiguration. When He received His resurrection body, it has a glory much greater, which was revealed in between His death and his ascension. His physical body had a great glory than ours.

We do have a certain reflective glory in this life as we grow to maturity. We begin to reflect this glory, but that is nothing compared to the glorified state in eternity. We won't be divine. We are still creatures, still created by God. We do not become divine nor do we become like angels (we will actually be greater than angels). In our new bodies we will be elevated above the angels. We will be free from the sin nature and from all personal sin.

Creeping humanism; human viewpoint is the way that most people think and the way that all unbelievers think. They have no other capability. The only way we can have divine viewpoint is to know what divine viewpoint is. Only the believer can have this. There are believers who try to combine these together. They try to incorporate human viewpoint into the church; into Bible doctrine. It is happening all over. In eternity, we will be free of syncretism. We will be free of the bonds of our present state of dishonor. That will be absolute freedom. Freedom does not mean no absolute authority. Freedom and authority are mated; and freedom does not mean a lack of authority.

Philip. 3:21 He will transform the body of our humble condition into the likeness [conformity] of His glorious body, by the power that enables Him to subject everything to Himself.

Sanctification

This is the whole progress of perishable to imperishable. This is used and misused.

1. This means to be set apart or to be separated.
2. The Greek word is αγιος often translated holy. It means consecrated, set apart to God.
3. The believer who is regenerated and justified, who belongs to the Lord, having been made new creatures in Christ. He gives us His perfect righteousness, making us acceptable to God. 1Peter 2:9 those who are justified are called a holy nation, a people of God's own possession. That is the whole idea of αγιος.

4. This means we are set apart, consecrated to God, as His Own people. We are a royal priesthood. Our priesthood is individual; we are not represented before God, but we are able to approach God directly. No one stands between us and God. We are a people for God's Own possession. We are part of His royal family. We are set apart, consecrated to God, as His Own people.
5. As sanctified, the Bible calls us saints. In some churches, only a certain few are saints. Those who have been canonized are just as corrupt as us. They just did a lot of good works, which may or may not be divine good. Paul called the Corinthians saints, and they were probably the worst bunch of believers in the history of the church. They had it all.
6. 3 phrases of sanctification:
  - a. Positional sanctification. When we are regenerated, we have a position of sanctification. That is where it all starts. We are on our way to an imperishable body at this point. Saved.
  - b. Experiential sanctification. This is a spiritual life. This is spiritual growth. Here we are progressing. We are growing. We will never reach absolute sanctification in this life. Spiritual growth.
  - c. Ultimate sanctification, when we are raised in our resurrection bodies, and there is no more perishable. There is no more sin nature. Raised in a resurrection body.

Lesson #1084

1Cor. 15:42 June 23, 2010

Wednesday

v. 42 beings a series of comparisons which are carried through into vv. 43–49.

There is the longevity of the resurrection body first. We have to have an eternal body in which to reside, if we are going to spend eternity with Jesus Christ. Our mortal bodies are not able to look upon God. It would be like looking upon the sun; we would go blind. However, when raised in glory, we will be able to do so. The distinction is imperishable compared to perishable.

1Cor. 15:42 Thus also (In this way also) [Under the circumstances] [is] the resurrection of the dead ones. It is habitually (repeatedly) being sown within corruption (decay; ruin); it is being habitually awakened and raised up within incorruption (non-decayableness).

The 2nd characteristic is in v. 43a. It is sown in dishonor. Every person is sown in a state of dishonor, even before we are able to form a single thought in our brains. That is our terrible inheritance in Adam. Our status of corruption is one of dishonor. Even as believers in Jesus Christ,

There is fun associated at times with the sin nature, but it always ends badly. It never comes out good. There are always repercussions, always negative results. You dishonor is not acquired by the success or failure of our temporal lives. We think of ourselves as dishonorable in that we fail in some way. Dishonor, here, has nothing to do with the experiences of your life. We can bring honor upon ourselves with good decisions, and we can bring dishonor upon ourselves in the same way. However, this is not about what we do, but what we are. We have a dishonor gene in every cell of our bodies. That is what is meant by a body of dishonor. For the believer in Jesus Christ, dishonor is not the way our body is raised.

There is no dishonor in heaven. God cannot associate with any unrighteousness or with relative righteousness. It is a body that is not tempted to dishonorable conduct. Therefore, there is never experiential dishonor. So the body is glorified.

There is a process, in the way that we move from a body of dishonor from birth to a body of honor at the resurrection. This is a process called sanctification; it means to set apart. The word used is related to holy, holiness.

There is an experiential honor, like a combat veteran who is successful. We then move to ultimate glory after death.

The process of sanctification is attributable to God alone. We make some decisions along the way, but we have no hope apart from God's provisions.

Sanctification

1. The first part of sanctification is positional. Our life, from birth to death, is going from positional sanctification taken to ultimate sanctification.
2. Every believer is judicially removed from the slave market of sin. This is exclusively a work of God the Holy Spirit. We are put in a position of being set apart by God the Holy Spirit.
3. Positional sanctification is a part of our appointment in Christ. Christ is holy, so in Him, we are holy.
4. Thus the believer qualifies to live with God forever, because he possesses this position of holiness.
5. The believer is set apart to God for God's own purposes. We are set apart for that. We are set apart for specific things. Eph. 2:10 For we are His creation [workmanship]--created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared ahead of time so that we should walk in them. We are created positionally sanctified in order that we walk. Everyone has an idea as to what it means to walk. Unbelievers and believers can both do a set of things which others would call good works. However, we are created to live the Christian life, and when filled with the Holy Spirit, we are walking in them (in these good works).

Experientially Sanctification

1. We are created and separated positionally for all good works.
2. This second form of sanctification is not static; it is progressive.
3. 2Peter 3:18 the basis of spiritual advance is sanctification. Good works do not sanctify us, but they are a result of our experiential sanctification.
4. It begins with the filling of the Holy Spirit and staying in fellowship; the only way to advance. That is the power. That is the power to progress.
5. The more time you spend in fellowship, the less time you are carnal.
6. This rate of growth is often further increased by adversity and suffering. Bobby knows that we hate to hear that.
7. This is the process by which one's experiential status is being brought into conformity with one's positional status. You have this position of sanctification. We have it and we have been set apart. That is our experiential sanctification. So we move from the positional status and we are brought into conformity with this status. Sin is violating God's law, whether you know it or not.
8. We are formerly set apart in positional sanctification. We must also grow in experiential sanctification. The purpose of experiential sanctification is to glorify God. It is all about His grace.
9. Experiential sanctification means to gain the ability to think with the mind of Christ and execute the spiritual life.
10. We belong to Jesus Christ. In union with Christ. Since we belong to Him, we develop a likeness to Him. When we are thinking like Christ, we are becoming like Him. We are never totally like Him, but we are moving in that direction.
11. The product of experiential sanctification is virtue love in the soul.
12. The more you grow, the more you take on His character and execute the plan of God. The execution of the plan of God means that we are taking on the character and the characteristics of the thinking of Jesus Christ.
13. We remain experientially set apart empowered for service. We execute the spiritual life and we serve Him utilizing our spiritual gift. That is the whole spectrum of the spiritual life. We are then prepared to utilize our spiritual gift. We can all pray and we can all witness, but there is much more to the Christian life than just that. Normally, those with whom you are in contact open the door themselves in order to indicate that they are open to the gospel.
14. So experiential sanctification is also an exclusive work of God the Holy Spirit, just as was positional sanctification.
15. Experiential sanctification is consummated in this life by the Holy Spirit power working in us. This is called walking by means of the Holy Spirit.
16. Experiential sanctification is the process of being set apart for service through spiritual growth. Philip. 1:6 I am confident of this, that He who started a good work in you will carry it on to completion until the day of Christ Jesus. Jesus Christ began the work in us, all positional. He is confident that He will perfect it until the day of Christ Jesus. That perfecting is a process. He began a good work and He will perfect a good work. This is a continuation of what began at regeneration. At salvation we become a new spiritual species, call a new creation in the Bible. We have a position; now live it. A king is coronated. He is brought to the throne and the crown is put on his head and he is set apart as a ruler. But that is only the beginning of his reign. He has the position; but he must begin to function in this position. That setting apart of experiential sanctification includes a pattern of service and glorification of Jesus Christ in this life. Utilizing spiritual gifts here. We will never be perfect in this life, but we continue to advance, but we continue to execute His plan. We will keep being perfected until the day of Jesus Christ, until resurrection day.

Final Sanctification

1. Ultimate sanctification is when Jesus Christ returns to provide us with our resurrection bodies. We are without sin, without a sin nature.
2. This ultimate sanctification is only accomplished by the power of God consummated in the resurrection body. It is the glory of v. 43
3. This is the point when we reach the ideal, the fully glorified state of eternity.

1Cor. 15:43 It is constantly being sown within dishonor (lack of value; worthlessness), it is being habitually (repeatedly; constantly) awakened and raised up within and in union with power and ability.

Lesson #1085

1Cor. 15:42–44 June 24, 2010

Thursday

The comparison that we have been making, between the old and new bodies. If those comparisons seem short on specifics to us, Paul did not intend to give us a physical description. No other book, no other place describes what is found in the Bible here. The focus here is on a general difference and the fact that there will be a bodily resurrection.

First, Paul describes the body, and then what happens at the moment of resurrection. This is what the Corinthians need to be convinced of. The differences serve to heighten all of our expectations for eternity and it gives us confidence in our future bodies. Think of the few years that we are in this physical body; and we will spend all of eternity in the new resurrection body. When we comprehend with this perspective, it helps to strengthen our motivation to remain in this body. Amazingly enough, we will have this new body forever.

Death conveys us to one of the most exciting moments that we will ever face.

Pointing out what we will be like, that is entirely successful. In the ever-marching deterioration of our bodies, who cannot look forward to a body that will not deteriorate? Every day, our bodies deteriorate. We can go along fine, and then, one day, we get this ache that does not seem to go away. Our body is durable, no matter what. It is suitable for a face to face existence with God in heaven.

There is an ever-present curiosity as to the specific capabilities and functions of our future bodies. In all of this, don't get impatient. Our curiosity will be satiated. We must always look forward to what is to come. God's plan for us in this life must be fulfilled. We go from dishonor to glory. Sown in dishonor, but raised in glory.

1Cor. 15:43 It is constantly being sown within dishonor (lack of value; worthlessness), it is being habitually (repeatedly; constantly) awakened and raised up within and in union with power and ability.

It is not just our body that is weak; our entire existence is weak. There is no power in a corpse, and that is the analogy to the absolute feebleness of our bodies in life.

Of our politicians, which one has real power? Which one can affect eternal things?

Summary

1. We are certainly hindered by our present bodies. These bodies are confined to this realm and they are weak in every sense. Which one of us can fly? We are here and we are limited.
2. Our weakness is highlighted by the deterioration and the death of this present body. When you know that is happening, you know you are weak, and there is nothing that you can do.
3. The body is raised in a state of power. It happens, it stays that way, and it never changes. The resurrection body will have power; there is a tremendous difference. Every frailty that we have will no longer be the case.
4. The day is coming when we can navigate the universe as easily as crossing the street. We can look up to the sky and go to any planet or star.
5. More amazing than all of these superficial powers, is that we can stand face to face with the glory and omnipotence of God without being struck blind and dead. This is not something we are able to do at this time. We cannot confront God in any direct sense. Ex. 33:21–23 The LORD said, "Here is a place near Me. You are to stand on the rock, and when My glory passes by, I will put you in the crevice of the rock and cover you with My hand until I have passed by. Then I will take My hand away, and you will see My back, but My face will not be seen." God is going to show Moses as much as he can of His person. Moses could not see the Lord face to face at this time. Moses cannot see God because He is too overwhelming. The full glory of God cannot be seen by Moses. Ex. 34:6–7 Then the LORD passed in front of him and proclaimed: Yahweh--Yahweh is a compassionate and gracious God, slow to anger and rich in faithful love and truth, maintaining faithful love to a thousand generations, forgiving wrongdoing, rebellion, and sin. But He will not leave the guilty unpunished, bringing the consequences of the fathers' wrongdoing on the children and grandchildren to the third and fourth generation. God reveals His character, His essence, and that is the back which Moses is able to observe. We learn about God through words, sentences and ideas. That is the backside of God which Moses is able to see. Grace is the unfailing love of God.

We will be able to have face to face communication with God in our resurrection bodies.

1Cor. 15:43 ...sown in dishonor, raised in glory; sown in weakness, raised in power;...

If you have a physical body, then you are guaranteed to have a resurrection body. The old body is perishable, the new body is imperishable.

The natural body is the principle of life. That is the beginning. The end raises up the same life as a spiritual organism. One life is from Adam, the way it is sowed, and the other is from Christ, the spiritual man. Spiritual does not mean there is no bodily existence.

What Is a Natural and Spiritual Organism?

1. The kind of organism depends upon the kind of life that it possesses.
2. The natural is defined by its sphere of operation in this life. That sphere of operation has many, many limitation.
3. The spiritual body is the heavenly body.
4. It is defined by its relationship with God in time through spiritual growth and in the future by the eternal life that it possesses in the presence of God.

What Is the Natural Body and What Is the Earthly Body?

1. It is the flesh and blood that we reside in.
2. It is our physical body; our material existence. Material refers to the physical world; it is a material existence.
3. Natural also refers to the immaterial side to the existence in this life. The material and immaterial is separated from God. We cannot separate these 2 things. The soul is still housed in the natural body. The natural man has nothing to do with God.

Ψυχικός = soulish, natural. 1Cor. 2:14 But the natural man does not welcome [accept] what comes from God's Spirit, because it is foolishness to him; he is not able to know it since it is evaluated spiritually. Anything that is spiritual is foolishness to the natural man.

Why Is this Foolishness to the Psuchekos Man

1. He cannot accept the things of the spiritual in his natural state. The pastor-teacher teaches doctrine. It is provided for him at the moment of regeneration. Now we have the spiritual man in the resurrection body. Without that human spirit, the Holy Spirit cannot teach. So the natural man is not capable of accepting the things of God. It just cannot happen.
2. The psuchekos man has no spiritual capability. Even those who say, "I am a spiritual person."
3. The psuchekos man cannot use gap; there are no grace assets which he can apprehend.
- 4.
5. Without that capability, the absolutes of Bible doctrine and the character of God cannot be accepted. They can only be replaced by human viewpoint and relativism. If he cannot accept the absolutes of Bible doctrine, if they cannot become absolutes in his soul, then what will he replace it with? No human spirit, so he cannot understand spiritual things. All he can understand is human viewpoint. All the relative aspects can be understood. He can only be a humanist. That is the psuchekos; the natural man.

6. The psuchekos man is incapable of relationship or fellowship with God.
7. That is what makes him a natural man as opposed to spiritual. How do we have a relationship with God? Do we shake His hand or hug Him? We have a connection with God. Knowledge of God. You cannot have a relationship with someone that you do not know.
8. He can only be a humanist with the perspective of human viewpoint. This describes the unbeliever. Spiritual thought is foreign to him.

An unbeliever can sit in Berachah Church and understand academically what is being said, but, for him, it is knowledge. This is what doctrine is to him: it is just another philosophy of life; a religious ideology. It is an ethic; words we can live by. A cultural more. Many a natural man has sat in Berachah and used their profound words out of context. The words of the Bible are human words. Those words have no spiritual impact upon the natural man, nor does his hearing them, have eternal impact. These words do not supply him with a way of life. We accept Bible doctrine if we are in fellowship, and when we hear doctrine and metabolize it, it becomes the only criterion for every aspect of life. That is the difference, the natural man. That is what we all were.

1Cor. 15:44 ...sown a natural body, raised a spiritual body. If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual body.

1Cor. 15:44 It is habitually (continually; repeatedly) being sown a body having the qualities and characteristics of a soul (a soulish body), it is habitually (repeatedly; constantly) being awakened and raised up a spiritual body (a body having the qualities and characteristics of a spirit). Since (If) there is a soulish body, there also is (exists) a spiritual one.

Lesson #1086

1Cor. 2:14 15:44 June 27, 2010

Sunday 1

We are born into this world with perishable bodies. Our bodies are subject to deterioration. We are destined for the grave. Not as obvious to the unsaved is, we are born spiritually dead. The unbeliever continues in this category. We have a body of sin, and we all have a propensity toward sin. We have a propensity toward sin. We are confined in many ways. We do not have the power to save ourselves from death any more than we are able to fly into the sky. We cannot affect on our own an afterlife. What is true is, believers in the Lord Jesus Christ will be raised by God at a time to be determined, and a time that we will be raised with imperishable bodies.

We will be raised in glory, which is what The Sands of Time addresses. Our bodies will be compatible with the presence of God's glory. We will be able to see the glory of God in our resurrection bodies, something we cannot do now.

No one has spoken to God since God spoke to the Apostle John, which closed out the canon of Scripture. Mormons and Jehovah Witnesses all begin with false revelation being claimed by the founders. That is how cults are born.

We will be raised in power. There will be no earthly limitations. Our bodies will be able to move about the universe as easily as we cross the street. We will supercede the laws of nature, like the laws of gravity or the speed limit of the universe (the speed of light).

We do not become gods or angels. We will be higher than angels and we will have reconstituted bodies far beyond what we can imagine.

The natural body is all around us, with all of its aches and pains and eventual death. There is also an immaterial side to our existence in this life; the unique qualities which make the human race human. Thought, will, consciousness, and all that the soul is.

Natural is the Greek word ψυχικός, and we studied this in 1Cor. 2:14 But the natural man does not welcome what comes from God's Spirit, because it is foolishness to him; he is not able to know it since it is evaluated spiritually. Spiritual things are foolishness to the ψυχικός man. He does not have the Holy Spirit; he has no spiritual capabilities. He is unable to spiritually appraise anything. Various absolutes, the spiritual life and the grace of God are foolishness to the unbeliever. They reject to grace of God in salvation. They have no comprehension of spiritual things. They can be humanistic; that is all they are capable of.

The natural man can sit in Berachah and understand what is going on, to some degree. What is the difference?

What Is the Difference Between the Natural Man and the Spiritual Man?

1. The difference is between doctrine resident in the soul of the believer, which doctrine cannot reside in the soul of the natural man.
2. The natural man comprehends doctrinal information, but he sees it just as another philosophy of life, or as an ethic, or as some ideology or as an ideology.
3. The natural man gains knowledge of spiritual things which is academic. It is what we could gain by sitting in any classroom. That academic license is not the basis of a way of life.
4. This doctrine does not sweep into every corner of his soul and renovate it.
5. The natural man cannot think with the mind of Christ or with divine viewpoint. This helps us to understand how it is possible for the natural man to think this way.
6. The natural man is not empowered by the filling of the Holy Spirit, to metabolize doctrine or to live the spiritual life. These things are a part of regeneration.
7. All that is left for the natural man is the human viewpoint of life, which is left entirely intact when (or if) he hears Bible doctrine. Human viewpoint remains intact in his soul whenever he sits in a church.

8. What can the natural man adhere to by way of spiritual things? He can adhere to divine establishment. This is the best the natural man can cling to. He can understand these things.
9. For the natural man, doctrine is ultimately foolishness. He cannot accept Bible doctrine as the only criterion for every aspect of life. The natural man laughs at this. There are so many other criteria for life than Bible doctrine; that is foolish.
10. Their spirituality is self-created; it is not God-centered. Their spirituality is not being materialistic for awhile, but then they hop right back into it. God can only be known in their heads. Even if the natural man incorporates some truth, when it is inconvenient for him, or clashes with what he or she wants, then it is rejected. "Let me move on to a new god which I make up." No absolutes. Even if the natural man sincerely believes in God, and many do, they cannot have a relationship with God, because there is no point of contact with God. For the natural man, God is enigmatic; He is abstract.

We ought to come up with one salient point: the god of the natural man is not God.

When we become carnal, then we can reject doctrine when it conflicts with what we want; we can develop our own concepts about God. However, no matter, we have an eternal future regardless.

Why Is the god of the Natural Man Not God?

1. The ψυχικός man has no spiritual apparatus. When we are regenerated; when we believe in Jesus Christ, we are born again. When Adam fell, he lost the human spirit. Adam was separated from God, and he lost this relationship. God restored it and he became trichotomus again.
2. The unbeliever is dichotomus. He has a material and immaterial side.
3. He has no human spirit, which is man's real spiritual side.
4. The ψυχικός man cannot understand spiritual things.
5. Being born again means to regain the human spirit lost by Adam at the fall.
6. So, the ψυχικός man has no spiritual apparatus. He does not have the grace apparatus for perception.
7. That is an absolute spiritual limitation. This is a fatal weakness inherent to the ψυχικός man.
- 8.
9. Including his thoughts and feelings, the natural man can only have human viewpoint. The ψυχικός body is deteriorating and will die. Heaven is a physical place. It is not conjured up by us which is some sort of a nirvana.

1Cor. 15:44 ...sown a natural body, raised a spiritual body. If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual body.

1Cor. 15:44 It is habitually (continually; repeatedly) being sown a body having the qualities and characteristics of a soul (a soulish body), it is habitually (repeatedly; constantly) being awakened and raised up a spiritual body (a body having the qualities and characteristics of a spirit). Since (If) there is a soulish body, there also is (exists) a spiritual one.

Lesson #1087

1Cor. 2:14–15 15:44 June 27, 2010

Sunday 2

We are comparing the ψυχικός man, and we all come into this world with a ψυχικός body. This is a man who is unable to have a spiritual life. If there is a natural body, then there is also a spiritual body. This is the key to understanding the natural man as over against the spiritual man. We all have bodies which are deteriorating and will eventually end up in the grave. The difference will be how we are raised up.

Right now, we are trichotomus; we have a body, soul and spirit. The human spirit is the relational capacity between man and God. This is where the natural man differs from the spiritual man. Their spiritual life can only be in humanizing God; but they cannot understand the God of the Bible. Furthermore, we have no additional revelation of God outside of the Bible. The natural body is completely earthbound. The psuchikos body dies and deteriorates like any other living organism. Roadkill should make us think of our bodies at death. Our bodies are spiritually dead. The psuchikos man will be bodily raised, but with a body of dishonor. His body will be suitable only for Lake of Fire.

You do not want your worst enemy to end up in hell.

There is a spiritual body, which is the same as a heavenly body or a resurrection body.

When the soulish man hears spiritual truth, he does not get it, apart from academic knowledge. This is knowledge for living the spiritual life. That is the basis for the spiritual life.

1Cor. 2:14–15 But the natural man does not welcome what comes from God's Spirit, because it is foolishness to him; he is not able to know it since it is evaluated spiritually. The spiritual person, however, can evaluate everything, yet he himself cannot be evaluated by anyone.

The parallel word is pneumatikos (Πνευματικός), and this is the contrast found in v. 15 above and v. 44 below.

The Psuekikos Man Verse the Pneumatikos Man

1. This means that the believer is capable of a relationship with God in time. This is because he has the filling of the Holy Spirit and the spiritual apparatus to relate to God. This is key to everything that we are.
2. The pneumatikos man can assimilate Bible doctrine through the grace apparatus for perception.
3. He is capable of knowing God in a personal way. You have to know someone in order to have a special relationship with them. If you do not know God, how can you have a relationship with Him? You cannot conjure up some image in your head which is a god that you have made up, and have some sort of relationship with that. That is a relationship with yourself. Our understanding of the character of God comes from objective knowledge. Only the pneumatikos man is able to enjoy this.

4. No pseukikos man has the ability to understand God. He can only be humanistic. He can only think in relative terms. Bobby loves how it is that government officials think that they know better for us; and all they are doing is imposing on us. Our government likes to impose themselves on us. The bigger government, the more they impose themselves on us, and that means the less freedom that we have.
5. Pneumatikos describes a believer with an eternal relationship with God. We will be raised in a spiritual body. We have a relationship with God in time. We are raised with a pneumatikos body, and we have more than the soulish man in time, and much more in eternity. There is no bleed over from one to the other. The pseuchikos person and the pneumatikos person have a wall between them, which barrier is thrown down by the cross. There is a connection. The spiritual man is equipped for an eternal relationship with God. Our bodies now can relate to God through our spiritual apparatus. However, this relationship is limited in our temporal existence. We can only dimly understand the eternal things of God until we are fully equipped to do so.

The Bible has very few descriptions of heaven. Most everything is metaphorically. We understand that there will be some opulence. But none of us really understand what heaven is like. Paul experienced it and he was unable to describe it. We will receive a body which is able to understand and enjoy heaven.

It is difficult to understand an absolute God; a God with unlimited power, a God Who is not subject to time. How can anyone know everything? Not just the actual, but the possible; not just the past, but the future. How do we understand the cost to Jesus Christ in dying for our sins? How do we understand the Angelic Conflict and all that is around us? It is there and we cannot even see it. Bobby is giving an idea what we do not fully understand now, but we will. Our eyes will be opened in such a way that we cannot fully understand now. Bobby understands our finiteness and the limitations of our understanding. In eternity, we will have a tremendous mental capacity and be able to know it all. We can finally say, "I am a know-it-all." We will have all of the blanks filled in.

We are incapable of living with Him now, having an old sin nature. Baptism is a picture of the cleansing of the sin nature when we are raised up.

The resurrection body is capable of total fellowship with God. How do we exist for eternity? We will have a body capable of doing that.

Bobby is not talking about some sort of ethereal body. This resurrection body is tangible; touchable. It is not just smoke and clouds, without form or shape. This will be a real body. God the Father has no body as we have; but Jesus Christ does. Jesus Christ took on a body and became truly human. His body was raised a resurrection body, and it was tangible and touchable. It was different than the resurrection body which He possessed before.

The body of Jesus Christ, at His incarnation, was like the body of Adam's and capable of long, long life (possibly everlasting life?). However, His resurrection body will be quite different.

God is everywhere, all of the time, all at once. Jesus Christ was localized into one place as One Person.

In our current physical bodies, there is an angelic war going on all around us. In the Old Testament, they did take forms from time to time. However, in our dispensation, these are spirits and we cannot see them. However, in our resurrection bodies, we will be able to see angels.

The Members of the Trinity are real persons.

Paul concludes with: If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual body.

1Cor. 15:44 ...sown a natural body, raised a spiritual body. If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual body.

Lesson #1088

1Cor. 15:44 July 1, 2010

Thursday

There is a standing joke, that when Bobby cancels class, it will not rain. Bob almost never closed a Bible class; once only 12 showed up; on another occasion, near his retirement, 1 showed up. The latter class was cancelled.

The first part of the verse compares the body of the natural man with the spiritual body of the spiritual man. Same Greek words used back in 1Cor. 2:14.

All of the progeny of Adam is born a natural man, a body that is dishonorable, a body which is weak. Every person possesses a body of flesh and blood with the inherited nature of sin. Our bodies are deteriorating, no matter how many vitamins we take and how much we exercise; nevertheless, we will deteriorate. We will die, decompose and turn to dust. Every ψυχικός man.

The natural man. God cannot create anything which is imperfect. The body of Adam was created without sin. God still creates the soul, but with connection with the body of sin, that soul is also tainted. That is not to say that the uncorrupt soul is trapped in a corrupt body.

The soul is immortal but corrupt. Natural man; he will always be a natural man, without Christ.

The born again man receives a human spirit at his new birth. That is the only difference. The natural man has a soul and a body; the spiritual man is trichotomus. That human spirit is the apparatus for a relationship with God in time. The spiritual man, the trichotomus person, who is still in a natural body.

More importantly, the spiritual man will possess more than a natural body. The natural man will never have more than a natural body. The spiritual man can relate to God; but in a natural body, he understands God through gap, but he only understands God to a certain point, to the ability that God has given him.

The mysteries and the inscrutable aspects of God, which we cannot currently comprehend, we will be able to comprehend fully in the resurrection body. Most importantly, the capability and the capacity to fully understand God. Only the spiritual body is capable of this full understanding.

Paul makes the final logical statement. Since we have the natural body, we will have a spiritual body, a resurrection body, suitable for our existence in heaven, a body sans the sin nature. It will not decay. It includes the ability to understand divine revelation. We will see it all, when in our resurrection bodies. We have an apparatus to understand it all.

Bobby can tell us that God is omnipresent, but can we fully apprehend that? Not at all. God knows all the alternatives, had we made this or that decision. God creates both. We are all the natural man. It does not matter what our gender is. We are natural human beings. At the cross, Christ provided the ability for the natural man to become the spiritual man. When we exercise faith in Christ, we gain a human spirit, but we are still in a natural body.

1Cor. 15:44 ...sown a natural body, raised a spiritual body. If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual body.

1Cor. 15:44 It is habitually (continually; repeatedly) being sown a body having the qualities and characteristics of a soul (a soulish body), it is habitually (repeatedly; constantly) being awakened and raised up a spiritual body (a body having the qualities and characteristics of a spirit). Since (if) there is a soulish body, there also is (exists) a spiritual one.

Adam, the natural, the spiritual the Lord Jesus Christ. Vv. 45–49 1Co 15:45 So it is written: The first man Adam became a living being; the last Adam became a life-giving Spirit. However, the spiritual is not first, but the natural; then the spiritual. The first man was from the earth and made of dust; the second man is from heaven. Like the man made of dust, so are those who are made of dust; like the heavenly man, so are those who are heavenly. And just as we have borne the image of the man made of dust, we will also bear the image of the heavenly man.

Paul took this from Gen 2:7 Then the LORD God formed the man out of the dust from the ground and breathed the breath of life into his nostrils, and the man became a living being. Paul quotes only the final phrase. He just needs to confirm the natural body of Adam, as created by God.

Adam is the head of the human race. Adam and the woman are our parents; we are all in Adam. Since there was no human being before Adam, the Bible describes his creation. Paul quotes the last phrase, but assumes the truth of the entire verse.

God formed Adam from the dust of the ground. What is lower than dust? What is lower than dirt?

Adam's Original Body

1. Adam's body was formed (yatsar) from dust; dust is an existing material.
2. Dust refers to the chemicals of the soil. There are chemicals in the dust. Our bodies have a chemical content, elements of which are found in the earth.
3. Some or all of these elements are found in all living creatures.
4. So, all living creatures have what may be called biological life.
5. But all of those elements could not do anything apart from yatsar.
6. Biological life is what all living creatures have in common. One cell is biological life; the complexity of human cells in the body is biological life.
7. This biological life exists as the cell structure of your body, which is made up of billions of living cells.
8. This includes all of the functions necessary in order to sustain biological life. We are not 100% biological life.
9. All of the species named by Paul all have biological life. God created all plants and all animals. We all do have a common life in that respect.
10. Therefore, biological life by itself is not human life, since it is shared by all other living creatures. God makes a point of ...
11. Biological life is material and it does not include the immaterial. It does not include the human soul.
12. The soul is created by God in His image, exclusively for the human race. We are the only species created in God's image. That is special. Gen. 1:27 confirms this:

The Immaterial Part of Man

1. There is a uniqueness in the life of man. Gen 1:27 So God created man in His own image; He created him in the image of God; He created them male and female. Both genders are in the image of God. Yet, each gender has its own role in the design of God.
2. The verb barah means to make something from nothing. This is the immaterial side.
3. Barah describes the life of humanity as a complete and unique creation, a creation which did not exist previous to this. Man was created uniquely in God's image.

Gen. 1:26a Then God said, "Let Us make man in Our image, according to Our likeness.

The 3rd Word Used for the Creation of Man.

1. Gen. 1:26a Then God said, "Let Us make man in Our image, according to Our likeness. To barah
2. This means to make after a pattern.
3. The pattern which God follows in making man, was Himself.
4. Image is how we are unique. Detsalem.
5. This conveys not a physical visible structure, but what might be called a shadow image.
6. We are not exactly like God.
7. We are a shadow image; we cannot see or touch or taste it, but it is real.
8. God has bestowed on human beings invisible essence. We have certain characteristics which are unique, a pattern which is the image and likeness of God.
9. We are endowed with certain rational, moral and relational qualities which are not found in the rest of the animal kingdom. We cannot see them, but we can see the results of them in our actions. They are indelibly and completely united.
10. These capacities are inherent to the soul of man. God creates the soul after a pattern, the image and likeness of God.
11. So God makes us with the spark of life that is a facsimile of his own rational, moral and relational capacities. God has these things to an infinite decree; ours are limited and marred by sin. Animals do seem to have some of these characteristic. Bobby knows his dog can figure things out. The dog figures out how to get the lunch. He'll push the chair out far enough to get to the lunch. So he could climb up on the chair. Those characteristics are very limited compared to man. This is really instinct. They must eat; that is not the soul of a human being. Bobby's dog accomplishes that task apart from human reasoning. He has no conscience. We are born with a conscience, with an inherent understanding of right and wrong; but the dog does not. The dog is not limited by an incomplete evolution.

The uniqueness of man; we are made in the image of God. Mankind was created unique. We are not evolved from a lower form of life. God gives the same soul, the same immaterial image of God to each person at physical birth. He breathed into Adam the breath of lives. God Himself breathed something into the first man. Naphac a description of God instilling into man His Own image. It is called nethshemah. Man received a part of God's Own life, which includes a soul life, far more complex than that of any other creature. These elements establish. We have the spark of God's Own life.

"You are living beings" is what Paul is saying.

1Cor. 15:45 So it is written: The first man Adam became a living being; the last Adam became a life-giving Spirit.

1Cor. 15:45 Thus also (In this way also), it has been written, "The first human (man), Adam, came for existence (was birthed) into a living soul;" the Last Adam into a continuously life-making (life-engendering; life-creating; life-giving) Spirit.

Lesson #none 4th of July Message John 8:32 July 4, 2010 Sunday 1

As Americans, we celebrate our most precious heritage, which is freedom. We set aside this day to express our thanksgiving for our independence from tyranny, a document which is relevant today as it was there. Freedom and liberty summons within Bobby a very dramatic response. A desire to preserve freedom at all costs.

There are great nostalgic memories from 4th of July, particularly the fly by which was done. This was a show by the institution which guards our freedom. Our declaration of independence reflects our freedom, and we can choose whatever path we want, as long as we do not infringe on the rights of anyone else. No one is owed a free ride.

Patrick Henry "This great nation was not founded by religionists, but by Christians; not by religion, but the gospel." John Jay, "Americans should choose Christians as their rulers." We have certainly selected rulers who were a long ways from Christianity. Personal liberty allows us to make bad and even self-destructive decisions.

Can you imagine a Supreme Court Justice making such a statement today? Muslims would riot. "Kill the infidel" now there is freedom. Atheists would have a cow. They would say that there is a union of church and state.

James Madison, our 4th president and the father of our constitution, we have staked our whole upon the capacity of mankind to govern itself, to control ourselves and to sustain ourselves according to the Ten Commandments of God." The laws of human freedom must rely upon those. There are 2 axioms that we must not forget: freedom without authority is anarchy; freedom requires personal responsibility in its citizens. It prevents relativism and humanism creeping in. Authority without freedom is tyranny. That has been the norm in most nations in history. When a government or a ruler gets too large and prominent, it intrudes on our freedom, seeping into every aspect of our lives.

The Ten Commandments are engraved on the doors of the Supreme Court, and the Mosaic Law is inside. There are Bible verses written on walls and doors all over the U.S. No nation has enjoyed the freedom which we have. Our founding fathers understood the source of all freedom.

Are the people today capable of embracing divine freedom? In all the self righteous verbiage about the separation of church and state today, that you rarely hear a mention of the absolute union of mosque and state elsewhere; or the vicious application of Sharia law in other countries. We are told that the Koran and the Bible are books of equal stature, but the Koran is a book of a false prophet, and saying so can mean death in a Muslim nation. We have the unequalled opportunity in the United States of freedom of religion. We can worship in whatever way that we see fit. That is also freedom.

We have 200 years of no persecution of Biblical Christians. Will unrestricted Bible teaching continue? Will our client nation to God last? For years, from this pulpit, there have been warnings of what is now occurring in our country.

As a part of the pivot, that is our legacy and our obligation. Whether we lose this freedom or not, we are still free in our souls.

Human freedom was the plan of God from the very beginning. Adam and the woman could make any choice that they want, and they could even choose for or against God and His one mandate. God still allowed their truly free choice. The sovereignty of God and the few of man coexist in history. God knew the content of every human decision that would ever occur, and He would allow it. He knew what was behind every decision, and yet he allowed it. God's plan still advances for each one of us, despite our self-imposed detours, despite our bad detours. God continues to throw His plan in front of us.

God brought Israel out of slavery and into freedom. Israel was the forerunner of national freedom. God could be the defacto ruler over all mankind, allowing no dissent and no free will. He has chosen not to.

The divine decree is the basis for human freedom and spiritual freedom. We are free because we have believed in Him. In that choice, there are eternal repercussions.

As we celebrate our national freedom, do not forget the source of all freedom. We cannot look myopically to the founding fathers or to the military as providers of our freedom. There are reflections of divine establishment in this nation because we have always believed in divine providence. We must look beyond to Jesus Christ, the Author of our liberty and of our faith.

John 8:32 "You will know the truth, and the truth will set you free." The believer is free to learn and apply doctrine and to serve the Lord no matter the circumstances in which he lived. To the believer in Jesus Christ, this verse always applies. Paul continued his ministry though a prisoner. The spiritual freedom of this verse, truth in the souls of believers is the foundation for national freedom. Enough truth in the souls means a free nation.

Gal 5:1 Christ has liberated us into freedom. Therefore stand firm and don't submit again to a yoke of slavery. It was for spiritual freedom that Christ set us free. This is what our freedom is for, spiritual growth and moving toward spiritual maturity. It is for the advancing in the plan of God. The slavery of legalism; the slavery of human viewpoint. We have the greatest freedom that there is. If we know doctrine, then we are set free and we remain free.

Psalms 119:45 I will walk freely in an open place because I seek Your precepts. So many people think that the Christian way of life is restrictive and that we are forced to follow the Ten Commandments. Even living under national tyranny, we are delivered by the inculcation of doctrine in our souls. We often go lackadaisically through our weekly routines.

This same freedom was apparent in Daniel, in Mordecai and Esther. Daniel would never compromise doctrine, even at the risk of his own life, and God provided through him freedom for Israel. Esther and Mordecai also preserved the freedom of Israel.

2Cor. 3:17 Now the Lord is the Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom. Because we have the Holy Spirit, we have spiritual freedom.

We have the problem solving device, for gaining the peace which surpasses all understanding. A relaxed mental attitude. We execute the plan of God. We have these resources, even if we live in the midst of tyranny. We are free to partake of the grace blessings of God for as long as we live.

Some of us are worried about what may happen in the future. We are clearly in a downward trend, and it is easy to see in the souls of the people of this country and in those of our governmental representatives. Freedom is daily being forfeited. In the souls of our populace, there is slavery brooding. But we have spiritual freedom, and we can never be a slave, with doctrine in our souls. Today, we have a double-portion of freedom; we live in a nation which provides great freedom

1Cor. 15: July 4, 2010

Sunday 2

First Bobby reads of v. 44:

1Cor. 15:44 ...sown a natural body, raised a spiritual body. If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual body.

1Cor. 15:44 It is habitually (continually; repeatedly) being sown a body having the qualities and characteristics of a soul (a soulish body), it is habitually (repeatedly; constantly) being awakened and raised up a spiritual body (a body having the qualities and characteristics of a spirit). Since (If) there is a soulish body, there also is (exists) a spiritual one.

We must understand Gen. 2:7 in order to understand 1Cor. 15:45

Gen 2:7 Then the LORD God formed the man out of the dust from the ground and breathed the breath of life into his nostrils, and the man became a living being [soul]. Paul quotes only the final phrase.

To define the living soul of v. 45, Paul quotes Gen. 2:7b. What he means is to imply that the whole process of Adam becoming a living being is in view. He does not have to quote the whole thing, but this allows him to bring the entire verse into play. This verse is the key to the living soul.

The first thing which we have is Adam's body, formed by God from the dust of the ground.

Science recognizes that we have comes from the elements of the earth, because these same elements are found in all living creatures. So our bodies, formed from the dust, along with all living creatures, contain the chemicals common to all biological life, taken right out of the ground.

If biological life was equivalent to soul life, then we would just be a slightly higher form of life. Biological life is material, and it does not include something which is immaterial. The soul is created by God, and that phrase in His image.

Gen 2:7 Then the LORD God formed the man out of the dust from the ground and breathed the breath of life into his nostrils, and the man became a living being [soul].

God created, in Gen. 1:27, using the verb barah. For things which are made, we cannot make something out of nothing. God took stuff that did not exist and made it exist. The life of humanity is a unique creation, which did not exist before God breathed life into.

V. 26 further clarifies this. Make is a different word, which means to makes something after a pattern. God used Himself as a pattern to make man. That image is the Hebrew word betselem. Immaterial, invisible essence. A facsimile of God's own essence; we are created in His image, which is the soul of man. We have volition, mentality, self consciousness, naphac means to breathe into. A beautiful metaphor, and what is breathed into us is nephshema, the breath of God's Own life. His Own life is imparted to a human being, Adam.

These are the elements which establish our superiority over all living creatures, despite snail darters given preferential treatment. We are unique creatures of God. In innocence, before Adam has fallen, he was created in 3 parts, the body, from dust, and the soul from nothing, and God also gave him a human spirit. Adam had a direct relationship with God. God was teaching Adam directly and He spoke to Adam's human spirit. This was his relationship to God. When Adam sinned, that is what Adam lost. He still had soul life and a human body, but he lost the human spirit. This was his spiritual capacity to relate to God. When Adam died spiritually, he was separated from God. He became dichotomus. Still in the image of God, but separate from God.

Gen. 1:26–27 Then God said, "Let Us make man in Our image, according to Our likeness. They will rule the fish of the sea, the birds of the sky, the animals, all the earth, and the creatures that crawl on the earth." So God created man in His own image; He created him in the image of God; He created them male and female.

Now we are promised a relationship with God in time. Through the pastor-teacher, we are given the ability to have a relationship with God. The Holy Spirit is our teacher and He teaches to our human spirit. We are capable of having this relationship. We begin to understand God. We already have a position with Him, but this is knowledge of Him, guaranteeing a personal relationship with God in time.

There is a 3rd expression of life in Gen. 2:7, where man became a living soul. God combined biological life with soul life, creating a living human being. Dust and nothing were combined, material and immaterial, to form mankind.

Gen. 2:7 narrates a chain of events in our creation, and it is a progression. The wâw consecutive. Each creative act of God follows the preceding act. Each one can be translated and then.

The Progression of Events

1. God formed man from dust. Yatsar
2. And then God breathed into him the breath of lives. Breathing into his nostrils, which is barah and asah. These are verbs that deal with soul life. Created from nothing and made after a pattern.
3. And then, man became a living being. The 3rd creation joins soul-life and biological life. Only then can man be called a living being. That is depicted by 2 Hebrew words. Nephesh hayah. A soul having life.

This all culminates in a living being, which is us. It takes place in a logical sequence.

Adam is the first living man, set apart from all creation. Life is passed on to all other men through procreation. It is God Who still creates by imparting soul life to biological life. However, we are born condemned in Adam.

Gen 2:7 Then the LORD God formed the man out of the dust from the ground and breathed the breath of life into his nostrils, and the man became a living being [soul].

1Cor. 15:45 So it is written: The first man Adam became a living being; the last Adam became a life-giving Spirit.

1Cor. 15:45 Thus also (In this way also), it has been written, "The first human (man), Adam, came for existence (was birthed) into a living soul;" the Last Adam into a continuously life-making (life-engendering; life-creating; life-giving) Spirit.

Gen. 2:7 1Cor. 15:45–46 July 7, 2010

Wednesday

Paul quotes Gen. 2:7, the final phrase, in 1Cor. 15:45. Becoming a living soul refers to the miraculous chain of events where God formed the first man. Every living cell has biological life. Or it can be called a biological form of life. It is depicted by the Hebrew verb yatsar which means to form. That is, God takes a pre-existing material and forms man. God grabbed a handful of dust and formed the body of man, and it became a living body with biological life.

The Greeks were confused over this. To them, the body was evil and the soul was good. Accurate theology does not differentiate between the soul and body when it comes to good or evil. God breathed into man's nostrils life. This gave life to our bodies, just as air gives our bodies live each and every moment. Asah is created in the image of God. Man is made out of nothing and in the image and likeness of God. God gives each one of us an immaterial part, which is a facsimile of God's own moral and relational capacities. God imputes that soul life to the biological life.

The soul and the spirit were both created as the immaterial part of man. The joining of soul-life to biological life. Nephesh ayah means a soul having life. That is what we are. Adam became nephesh hayah.

God created in a literal 7 days, which came from the sun and the moon and the stars given for time distinctions.

Adam's body with biological life was created from the dust of the ground; his soul was created by God from no existing material. "The soul is not part of man, but the soul is man housed in a body." Bobby is quoting someone, who he cannot recall. The soul is not a part of man, the soul is man. Biological life is passed on through procreation, and God still breathes soul life into every person's body. God still imputes soul life. Now, because of sin, God imputes only the soul; He does not impute a soul and spirit. We stand condemned because we are in Adam, and in Adam, we all die.

Gen 2:7 Then the LORD God formed the man out of the dust from the ground and breathed the breath of life into his nostrils, and the man became a living being [soul].

Now we go back to Corinthians. Paul chose a very special word for soul: ψυχη. Paul chose this word carefully, to represent what is found in Gen. 2:7. Paul makes the quote, but he changes it slightly.

Why Paul Made the Small Change

1. Psuchê results from the union of the breath of life, the soul with biological life the body.
2. God breathing soul life shows that He gave man a soul-governed body, unlike any other creature. Bobby is not sure how animals are guided. We have a soul-governed body which is unlike other creatures. We have that rational, moral, relational aspect in a complex form that no other creature has. We have a conscience and there is an innate understanding of right and wrong. There is the ability to reason unlike any other creature. We have self-consciousness. Some people think an animal can recognize themselves in a mirror; it sees an animal, but it probably cannot tell that is him.
3. A body that housed psuchê is the image of God. This living soul is contained in a body. They cannot be separated. The soul makes us unique. That is what psuchê represents for humanity.
4. Because that body and soul is in Adam, it also inherits condemnation, as the natural body which houses the soul.

The last Adam became a life-giving spirit. The comparison represents the last Adam as someone much higher than psuchê. Life-giving is present active participle of zoiopoieô, and here it is used as an adjective. It modifies the word pneuma, which is spirit. Spirit does not mean that Christ's resurrection body was simply a spiritual thing, intangible. However, the Bible teaches that it is very tangible; touchable; He ate and drank; but he showed an entirely different body. Christ is spirit in a spiritual body, Who gives life to the dead.

So What Does a Life-giving Spirit Mean?

1. This does not refer to Christ before the incarnation. He created Adam originally, but this is not what is being referred to. He was spirit and He was a personal God without a form that we can understand.
2. This refers to what He became. This refers to the resurrected Christ. We only see Him described in anthropological terms. Those terms are only described in relation to mankind.
3. He is the One Who gives life in the context of resurrection.
4. In order to do this, Christ Himself must be the firstfruits, the first One to be resurrected.
5. He is the spirit, the One with a spiritual body, the One Who is risen, the One ascended to heaven, and is life-giving to the dead.
6. The life He gives is the same resurrection body to all believers. The resurrected Christ gives to us the same resurrection body that He has.
7. This is essentially and parallel to the same creation as the natural man in material and immaterial parts. But Christ, in this life-giving circumstance recreates a new body to house the soul. That is life-giving. In resurrection, He provides a new body to house the soul. Christ is life-giving as well because of His work on the cross. He provides us with a new life inherent to salvation. We receive the guarantee of salvation at that moment. This is the consummation of that eternal life in our resurrection body.
8. This life-giving spirit links His resurrection body with our future body, which He will supply at the rapture of the church. The first Adam is a living being, as are we all. We are all natural men. But we will be the new man; the resurrection body. The life-giving spirit gives that to us.

1Cor. 15:45 So it is written: The first man Adam became a living being; the last Adam became a life-giving Spirit.

1Cor. 15:45 Thus also (In this way also), it has been written, "The first human (man), Adam, came for existence (was birthed) into a living soul;" the Last Adam into a continuously life-making (life-engendering; life-creating; life-giving) Spirit.

The spiritual is not first. The word is the Greek πρῶτος, which means first in sequence. However, that is not the complete thought behind πρῶτος. There is more here than just sequence. The emphasis is not upon the body as such, but it is on the status of natural and spiritual. In the general sense, the lower precedes the higher. There is a quality involved here. There is a development here, lower to higher. From a lower circumstance to a higher circumstance which follows. Natural and spiritual here includes the whole concept of man's development from the natural realm to the spiritual realm.

Natural Man and Spiritual Man

1. Because of regeneration of faith alone in Christ alone, which is being born again. We are born once in Adam and in Adam, all die. Born again is not reentering the womb; it is an act of God when we express faith alone in Christ alone. Regeneration is a second birth. Man is transferred to a higher state of life.
2. Man is born spiritually dead.
3. But man is created a new creature in Christ, the spiritual man. The moment of salvation, we are a new creature, with a relationship with God in time and eternity. We are a spiritual man.
4. Adam became the first natural man. We become spiritual men by faith alone.
5. As spiritual men, we can grow spiritually in our relationship with God in time.
6. That is a temporal progression, the process of maturity for the spiritual person. This is a progression and we never reach perfection.
7. The higher state in time culminates in the highest state man can attain. The spiritual man in a resurrection body.

That is what is occurring here; natural versus spiritual. Psuchê and pneumatikos. Natural is the word ψυχικός, which is the unspiritual man. One who lives purely on the physical and soulish level. This reveals from unbeliever to believer and what the believer is.

The Progression of Natural to Spiritual to Resurrection

1. These two words represent the progression from natural to spiritual to resurrection.
2. We are born psuchikos, condemned as spiritually dead human beings.
3. At faith alone in Christ alone, we become pneumatikos, spiritually alive.
4. As spiritual men, we have a human spirit. God has given us Bible doctrine and, as a spiritual person, we have the Holy Spirit which indwells and fills us, with a grace apparatus for perception. We are in a state of spiritual man and we grow as spiritual man.
5. And then comes the final progression. Because we are regenerate persons in this life that we will receive a resurrection body.

1Cor. 15:46 Nevertheless, the spiritual [is] not first, but rather the one having the qualities and characteristics of a soul (the soulish), then afterwards, the spiritual.

Lesson #1091

1Cor. 15: July 8, 2010

Thursday

v. 46 is not about a natural and a spiritual body as in v. 44, nor is this verse specifically about the first and last Adam, which is what v. 45 is all about. The natural and spiritual here are statuses. These are statuses, e.g., man as a son of Adam; and spiritual as regenerate, in Christ, and his future status in a resurrection body.

Ψυχικός = natural. πνευματικός = spiritual. The natural is first and then the spiritual. What is here is a sequence; a progression, in these 2 terms. Πρωτος means next in sequence. However, that is only part of it. There is the natural and then there is the spiritual. That is the idea if protos simply referred to numerical sequence. However, this is a qualitative progression. There is a higher quality in the spiritual than in the natural status. The lower quality, moves toward the higher quality. The natural moves to the spiritual, and this is not some automatic change which takes place in every human being. Not every person becomes spiritual. People throw around the word spiritual all the time. They have a god, but it is a god that they make up for themselves; e.g., a god of love but not one of justice. They push aside some of His essence and choose the parts of God that you like. People call themselves spiritual when they do that. However, such a person is natural, no matter what they call themselves.

To move from the natural to the spiritual, in this way, there must be a change brought about by an outside force. We cannot bring this change about on our own. It is not the person himself. It is God Who makes the change, taking us from lower to higher. He is the only source of spiritual. When anyone expresses faith alone in Christ alone, the Holy Spirit takes that person to spiritual. That moves the believer.

Adam, at creation, was a spiritual man. He was born able to have fellowship with God. He was spiritual. God made him that way. Adam went from spiritual to natural. When Adam sinned, he lost his human spirit. He lost that personal relationship with God. He had no way of relating to God. He was lost and separated. This is our state until we are born again. However, from natural birth, we are natural men. For us, the natural is first, and then the spiritual. Regeneration gives us a relationship with God in time and in eternity. Man receives that which God gives. The recreated human spirit in this temporal existence in our lives. In the position of spiritual, he can grow spiritually.

The temporal the highest state of man can attain is in the resurrection body. The natural man, has no eternal future; the spiritual has the ultimate in futures.

A Correlation

1. Man was created lower than angels, but created a spiritual man.
2. At the fall, man became natural. He is perishing, corrupt, separated from God and condemned.
3. In relation to the Angelic Conflict, man has recreated on earth the fall of Satan on earth.
4. Man, in his fallen state, is now set, to resolve the Angelic Conflict.
5. Man resolves the Angelic Conflict through faith alone in Christ alone and being in union with Christ. When a person believes in Jesus Christ, he seals the fate of Satan. They cannot win the Angelic Conflict. Christ won the strategic victory and we win the tactical victory in Him.

6. In this status of union with Christ, man once again becomes spiritual. We become spiritual as opposed to natural.
7. As spiritual, we become an opponent of Satan; the natural man is an ally of Satan. That is lower to higher.
8. As spiritual, man wins tactical victories in the Angelic Conflict.
9. We are a witness for the prosecution for God against Satan.
10. As spiritual, believers are now positionally higher than angels.
11. As spiritual, man is a member of the royal family of God. We can glorify God more than the angels can. We are in a higher position as spiritual. We have the opportunity to glorify God more than angels.
12. In resurrection, the believer will be physically higher than angels. Angels will be beneath us in heaven. We will be higher than angels for all eternity.
13. We will have a higher spiritual status than all angelic creatures in resurrection bodies.
14. Adam sinned, the penalty for which is spiritual death, creating the natural.
15. But, through the death and resurrection of the last Adam, who is Jesus Christ, the spiritual man, regenerate man is given a higher sphere of life in the Angelic Conflict. The spiritual.
16. The spiritual man shares with Christ total victory as the ultimate spiritual man in a resurrection body.

This is connected to all that we are and will be. It is connected to our eternal future. We live as spiritual men in the Angelic Conflict. We grow in grace and knowledge to win tactical victories. We rise in our resurrection bodies, as the spiritual, one of the things we will be is a monument to victory in the Angelic Conflict. It is quite a legacy.

The fall of man comes before the cross and the resurrection. Man had to fall before the cross was necessary. The resurrection of Christ comes before our resurrection. Christ gives all men the option to regain the spiritual.

We draw ever closer to Him, progression from spiritual birth to eventually a resurrection body. That is the culmination of all that is spiritual.

1Cor. 15:46 However, the spiritual [is] not first, but rather the one having the qualities and characteristics of a soul (the soulish), then afterwards, the spiritual.

1Cor. 15:46 However, the spiritual is not first, but the natural; then the spiritual.

The general principle, that the natural precedes the spiritual; the lower precedes the higher. This is revealed in v. 47, where Adam is first and then Christ.

Κοικος means dust, so the first man is from the dust of the earth. This is not found elsewhere in Biblical Greek. The Hebrew noun that parallels this is אֲפָרָה. Both of these words refer to dust of the earth. Biological life + soul-life = human life. This is Adam's origin. He loses his human spirit at the fall. Believers with a recreated spiritual are also natural in the sense of εκ γης which is from the earth.

As we first move to spiritual, we are still of the earth. We are still natural in the sense that we are still of the earth and we have an indwelling sin nature. We still live in a natural body; and we are still a part of this world with a natural body. So, any person is subject to the disillusion of the body.

We will die and our bodies will go dust to dust. In the category natural, there is no hope; but if spiritual, there is hope. We start at natural, but we are still regenerate. Because we die at spiritual, we will be spiritual forever.

Every person, saved or unsaved, is born of Adam, and our natural bodies deteriorate. The Second Man is from heaven, is Jesus Christ, the God-man. Εξ ουρανοϋ = out from the source of heaven, out from a heavenly origin.

Christ is God, Who took on human form. When Jesus arrived on this earth, He was fully human. In that sense, His body could decay and was subject to physical death. When Jesus took on humanity, He took on a body just like ours, but minus the sin nature. After His death, He was only 3 days in the tomb, which was long enough for rigor mortis to set on. That precedes the process of decomposition. Jesus had aches and pains and subject to physical pain and to death.

Adam was created; God was the only man from heaven. He is the spiritual man; never natural. He was not born condemned. He is also the firstfruits of resurrection.

John 3:13 No one has ascended into heaven except the One who descended from heaven--the Son of Man.

1Cor. 15:47 The first human (man) [was/is] forth from out of the earth, dusty (dirty; soilish), the Second Human (Man) [is] forth from out of the midst of heaven.

1Cor. 15:47 The first man was from the earth and made of dust; the second man is from heaven.

1Cor. 15:48–49 July 11, 2010

Sunday 1

Communion Sunday:

Concentration is reciprocal love and thinking, and the result is an intimate relationship with Him Who has sacrificed Himself.

One designation of Him is the Last Adam; the first Adam brings death and the last Adam brings life.

1Cor. 15:45–49 So it is written: The first man Adam became a living being; the last Adam became a life-giving Spirit. However, the spiritual is not first, but the natural; then the spiritual. The first man was from the earth and made of dust; the second man is from heaven. Like the man made of dust, so are those who are made of dust; like the heavenly man, so are those who are heavenly. And just as we have borne the image of the man made of dust, we will also bear the image of the heavenly man.

So, as by one man, sin entered into the world, because all men sinned when Adam sinned. In Adam, all die.

Rom. 5:15 The free gift is not like the transgression. We all die, but we can be made alive by the free gift which can be given to us.

Antithetical work of Adam and the Last Adam. There is much more brought to us. The obedience of the one covers all of us.

Adam ate the fruit from the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil, which brings in all of the sin, death and misery into the world.

Why should there be such a far-reaching penalty for what seems, in retrospect, to be a minor infraction. In human terms, this may be true. But Adam's infraction was an act of total rebellion against God Himself. There can be no greater infraction. The penalty pronounced by God reveals the greatness of this sin. Adam's sin was absolute treason, rejecting all that God had provided for him. Adam's disobedience became our disobedience and his infraction became ours. That spiritual death is a gulf which cannot be bridged by us, no more than it could be bridged by Adam. Eternal life is as close as one act of faith at one moment in time. We are either in Adam or in Christ, the 2 modes of existence; there is no tweener when it comes to Adam and Christ. God had to condemn Adam for disobedience. God has to condemn us in Adam; His righteousness and justice has no other choice.

Therefore, Jesus told Nicodemus, "You must be born again." Not until we obtain the 39 absolutes, do we regain a familial relationship with God. The Lord Jesus Christ on the cross took upon Himself the sins of the entire human race. There is no other religion with a Savior as Jesus Christ. He sacrificed Himself for us. No other religion on earth has grace as the means of salvation. That is what makes Christianity unique. He redeemed all of us from the slave market of sin. The Lord Jesus Christ made it possible for the believer to build and enjoy a relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ. All believers are at peace with God; we are reconciled with God. Having been justified by God, we have peace with God by faith.

We are not spiritual because we make up our own God, or because we search our inner self, or we have some sort of feeling; we are spiritual because God makes us that way.

That is the family relationship to which we are restored. We are joint-heirs with Christ because of His work.

When Jesus said, "It is finished," all that went wrong since the fall was reversed. Jesus Christ brought on a new era and a new dispensation. We enjoy a unique dispensation with God. 2Peter 1:4 By these He has given us very great and precious promises, so that through them you may share in the divine nature, escaping the corruption that is in the world because of evil desires.

Every believer is given grace assets and can build an experiential righteousness and serve the Lord until we are face to face with Him. Our future is secured by Him. All of this because of 6 hours that the last Adam spend on the cross.

Paul will make the final contrast in vv. 48–49. Believers and unbelievers and their respective bodily statuses. The descendants of Christ are those who will inherit all that Christ has and all that He is. We become sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus.

Part of what we have is a resurrection body just like His. This is what we have been, what we are, what we can be, and what we will be in eternity.

1Cor. 15:48–49 Like the man made of dust [earthly man], so are those who are made of dust; like the heavenly man, so are those who are heavenly. And just as we have borne the image of the man made of dust, we will also bear the image of the heavenly man.

1Cor. 15:48 Such as the man (or: the one) made of and having the character and quality of dust (dirt; soil), of such sort also [are] the men (or: those) made of and having the character and quality of dust (dirt; soil), and such as the Heavenly Man (the one made of and having the quality and character of the supra-heaven, of such sort also [are] the supra-heavenly men (those made of and having the quality and character of the supra-heaven).

1Cor. 15:49 And correspondingly as we bear and wear the image of the dusty man, we can and should also bear and wear the image of the supra-heavenly One.

Lesson #1093

1Cor. 15:48–49 July 11, 2010

Sunday 2

Adam is the original natural man, the original man of the earth, totally condemned, with a corrupt body, and remained so throughout His temporal life. All of our bodies remain corrupt throughout our lives. Our body is unfit except for the moments of our temporal life. No matter how good it looks, no matter how much iron you have pumped, it is unfit for residence in heaven. The first Adam, condemnation; the Last Adam, eternal life.

No matter what your body is in this life or how miserable it is, we will be fit for all eternity because of the moment in life that we believed in Jesus Christ. What we receive from the last Adam comes through the heavenlies.

Unbelievers think that they have a spiritual life because they are in touch with their inner self; or they have created in their own minds, a god. They do not think about material things all of the time, so they count that as spiritually.

Spirituality is the filling of the Holy Spirit. That is spiritual. Without Christ and without the filling of the Holy Spirit there is no spirituality. You might want to make up your meaning for the word spiritual, but in truth, you are not.

So many religions in this world define themselves as being spiritual, but they are not.

Our bodies are still earthly. Our bodies must be converted. We always think of resurrection as occurring at the moment of the return of Christ. What about the unbeliever? They are resurrected as well, but still in an earthly body to be burned eternally.

The resurrection in the various companies. We are in Alpha company. Jesus Christ is our Company Commander. We are born in the likeness of Adam, but we will be raised in the likeness of Jesus Christ.

All persons with Adam's genetic code are guaranteed death. We are already spiritually dead. At some point in time, we will all die physically, the only difference is, do we exercise faith in Christ.

He is the resurrection and the life, and we will follow Him in resurrection. However, we are in a psuchikos body. Pneumatikos will describe our future body. It is the cross which gives us the opportunity to become something more than a man of the earth. The pneumatikos body will orient to and enjoy the status of the eternal state.

Image is eikon, which is an image that corresponds to the original. This is an exact image or likeness. We possess either one image or the other. This is the same concept as natural or spiritual.

The body of Jesus Christ is tangible; a body with substance, but with a different molecular substance. Yet, Thomas could feel the nail prints in his hands. His body was able to go horizontal as well as vertical.

Unbelievers will remain in the earthly, in the image of fallen Adam, eternally separated, and arrive in the Lake of Fire resurrected. They will wear their earthly bodies.

We can say, "How unloving God is toward His fallen creatures? How can a gracious, loving God be this way?" This is unthinkable to the minds of many. That is the natural man creating his own god. A god who fits his own preconceptions and fits his plans and his desires. A god who can be approached in any way. This is wrong.

Our God is a God of righteousness. There is more to God's character than love. He is just as much just and righteous, and these attributes cannot be compromised in the name of love. We give incredible latitude to the ones we love. As people, we must overlook faults.

If you think of God as anything less than what He is, that is your own god, in your own image. "Get out of the way, just help me when I ask for it."

Love, righteousness and justice; attributes which cannot be compromised. His love is Jesus dying for our sins, facing greater pains than we could ever enjoy. The righteousness of God cannot be compromised.

Appropriating this gift not only escapes condemnation, but that we will bear the image of Jesus Christ. Believers will live in heaven bearing the image of the heavenly body of Christ in resurrection. We share everything that He is and everything that He has.

Phoreô

1. This means, to bear; to wear.
2. This means to wear like a suit of clothing; something which covers your body.
3. Just as clothes cover the physical body, so the physical body covers something else.
4. Phoreô is about a covering, a suit of clothes.
5. This is a covering worn like a suit of clothes which covers the soul. We are dichotomus with a body over our soul.
6. What is striking here is, the image of God is covered; our soul is the image of God and it is masked in this life by our corrupted earthly body.
7. Consequently, the whole man is corrupted, body and soul.
8. That is what psuchê means; a living soul. We are born with a body; biological life. God breathes life into us and we become a living being, a living soul.
9. So we have a cover, a body, which is corrupt; the natural.
10. And God's image, the soul, is almost marred, corrupted, in relation to the body. That is the image of the earthly. The soul is immortal, regardless of whether we are believer or unbeliever.

In Contrast

1. The fully restore image of God is clearly manifested by a new set of clothes, the resurrection body. The old ones are raggedy, the new ones are something else.
2. The new ones are glorious; the whole man is glorified, outwardly and inwardly.
3. The resurrection body houses a soul and a spirit which will be uncorrupted as an image of the heavenlies.
4. The resurrection body that houses the soul is not in anyway marred. It is heavenly it is perfect without any vestige of the natural.

1Cor. 15:48–49 Like the man made of dust [earthly man], so are those who are made of dust; like the heavenly man, so are those who are heavenly. And just as we have borne the image of the man made of dust [of the earthy], we will also bear the image of the heavenly man.

1Cor. 15:48 Such as the man (or: the one) made of and having the character and quality of dust (dirt; soil), of such sort also [are] the men (or: those) made of and having the character and quality of dust (dirt; soil), and such as the Heavenly Man (the one made of and having the quality and character of the supra-heaven, of such sort also [are] the supra-heavenly men (those made of and having the quality and character of the supra-heaven).

1Cor. 15:49 And correspondingly as we bear and wear the image of the dusty man, we can and should also bear and wear the image of the supra-heavenly One.

Lesson #1094

1Cor. 15:50 July 14, 2010

Wednesday

The great treatise on the resurrection body throughout this chapter. The time during which we are on earth is very brief compared to eternity.

Resurrection is not possible without the demise which precedes the new life. How could it not be without physical death? What is our resurrection body going to be like? It will be like the body of the resurrected Christ.

All we know about the eternal condition is, it will be somewhere, but nothing like our contemporary earth, and we know that it will be for a long, long time (eternity). Eternity is beyond our understanding, but that is what this body is suited for. If there is an earthly condition, then there is also the spiritual. Death certainly ends the earthly existence for the believers. So what happens to those believers who are alive when the Lord returns? Where do they end up? Their body has not deteriorated.

Those who are alive and remain have their psuchichos bodies turned into pneumatikos bodies. Regardless of the status, living or dead, God will make victory over physical death complete. He has already made victory over spiritual death complete.

It is harder to solve the spiritual problem than it is to solve the physical. The 6 hours of taking on the penalty for our sin, that was difficult. However, the resurrection body is not as difficult.

Paul is giving a point of doctrine, something that he does not want them to miss. This is the culmination of everything he has been teaching.

Flesh and blood is the image of the earthly. It is what our body is consisting of. This is the material body, the natural, the physical. Paul is making a complete distinction here.

Then we have 2 verbs: δυναμαι + the negative. This mean to be unable to, to lack to ability to. κληρονομεω = to inherit, to receive possession of. The inheritance tax will destroy businesses. A business cannot be passed along without paying taxes, which means the business must be sold in order to pay for the taxes, which ends up laying a bunch of people off.

Christ has an inheritance and we have the same inheritance. We do not inherit it unless there are conditions which are met. 1Peter 1:3–4 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! According to his great grace, He has caused us to be born again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance that is imperishable, undefiled, and unfading, kept in heaven for you,

Our living confidence in Him. We are in a body of corruption. Our living confidence is the resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ. This is how we obtain. It is through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, an inheritance. It is imperishable and undefiled and will not fade away, reserved in heaven for us.

We have a great seat in the house; that is our inheritance. We might get this or that inherited from our parents, and it is perishable. However, what God has preserved in heaven for us is eternal and it cannot be taken from us.

Our Inheritance

1. In union with Christ, we have an inheritance. In fact, we share His inheritance.
2. Part of this inheritance is a reservation in heaven, the locale of God. So we inherit a place.
3. Furthermore, this is an inheritance that is imperishable and undefiled. This includes an imperishable body. We inherit the same thing. This inheritance was written into His will by His eternal decree. Before we even existed, this was written into the divine decrees.
4. That is the status of the divine inheritance.
- 5.
6. How has that imperishable inheritance been manifested in Christ? We get the same inheritance.
7. We get it in a resurrection body.
8. The eternal life of Jesus Christ in His humanity is acquired at his resurrection in His new body. He is in hypostatic union forever.
9. His human person was bodily reconstituted for an eternal future. The perishable cannot inherit the imperishable. Jesus Christ in His human body was perishable. He did die physically in his human body, but His body was reconstituted and resurrection and now He is in the Throne Room of God. Jesus Christ has localized Himself in many places, like the Temple where He dwelled, or upon the Mercy Seat, or by a cloud by day for the Exodus generation.
10. Jesus Christ is the firstfruits of resurrection and we will follow Him in resurrection.

Paul's Point Here

1. In the current state, the natural man, here called flesh and blood, in this context, is a believer, but with a deteriorating physical body.
2. Flesh and blood cannot inherit that which is inherit that which is inherently his in Christ. We have a position of inheritance. We cannot realize that inheritance until something happens. So flesh and blood has to go. The believer cannot inherit that which is his in Christ; he is not physically capable of.

3. We cannot inherit the kingdom of God in our current physical state.
4. The Kingdom of God is the location of God, in His heavenly home (which is how it is spoken of with regards to Church Age believers).
5. It is not that the inheritance that Peter talked about is not guaranteed, because we are in union with Jesus Christ. We share everything He is and everything that He has.
6. There must be a change in our physical makeup in order for us to reside in God's eternal kingdom in order for us to receive His eternal inheritance. Many times, wills have conditions, and we must fulfill these conditions in order to get the goodies.
7. Hence, the need for a reconstituted resurrection body which is suitable for eternity. That is the condition. We need a new body. We cannot inherit the kingdom of God with the perishable. Our inheritance is all about God's grace.
8. Without an imperishable body, there is no possibility of residence in the eternal kingdom. We cannot go. We are still dust. We cannot get off the ground. We cannot meet the Lord in the air until we are imperishable.
9. Without question, believers will reside in the kingdom. That status has been promised by the immutable God.
10. In order for us to fulfill this promise, all believers must acquire a physical body suitable to the inheritance. Reconstituted, imperishable body. A body like that of the Lord Jesus Christ. A body which He provides for us. None of the Corinthians deserve or earn a resurrection body, but they will get one. The Corinthians did not even think that they had a body before, and now it is obvious that they do. God does not change. No matter how lousy we are, no matter what jerks we are, we still have an eternal inheritance. We will not be written out of the eternal decree. A resurrection body is necessary and that we have it.

This is an all-important revelation that Paul gives to the Corinthians. Anyone who has expressed faith alone in Christ alone also has a living confidence in the imperishable. We can have confidence that we are imperishable.

If all of this is true and Jesus Christ has been raised in an imperishable body, that is our confidence. 1Peter 1:3–4 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! According to his great grace, He has caused us to be born again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance that is imperishable, undefiled, and unfading, kept in heaven for you, this is encouragement, at a time that we need it most.

Inheritance and the Imperishable

1. The imperishable in this verse is the eternal state where death and corruption have been abolished. The eternal state is after the end of the Millennium and Satan is tossed into the Lake of Fire. No more history, no more dispensations. It is outside the bounds of history.

2. Incorruption cannot be an attribute of corruption. They are mutually exclusive.
3. Our present perishable corrupt bodies are absolutely unfitted for the imperishable, uncorrupted kingdom. We cannot live in the eternal kingdom in a corrupt body.
4. Something must happen to this perishable flesh. There must be a transformation.
5. The believer must receive a resurrection body that is imperishable and cannot be corrupted in order to inherit the eternal and uncorrupted state of heaven.
6. For the believer, physical death means entrance into the presence of the Lord. 2Cor. 5:8 we pass into the presence of the Lord, which is not resurrection.
7. So, when the believer departs this life, he then awaits in the presence of the Lord for the moment of resurrection, which is the rapture of the church. There is an interim body, but it is not the complete resurrection body. It is capable of being in heaven. No one knows when that is going to occur. It is not about timing, it is about the fact that it will happen.
- 8.
9. When the Lord returns as in 1Thess. 4:13–18, that is when we inherit the imperishable.

1Cor. 15:50 Now I am saying this, brothers, that flesh and blood have no power and continue unable to inherit (receive or participate in an allotted portion of) God's reign and kingdom – neither is corruption and decay continuing on to inherit (participate in the allotment of) the Incorruption.

1Cor. 15:50 I tell you this, brothers: flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, nor does the perishable inherit the imperishable.

Lesson #1095    1Thess. 4:15–17    1Cor. 15:51    July 15, 2010    Thursday

vv. 51–57 Paul goes into the mechanics of the resurrection. Each paragraph has been a step in this direction. The resurrection will happen. There is no question about it. But how will the inheriting of the perishable happen?

We go first to a Thessalonians passage. We have just been translated from dust to the resurrection body. That is the order in which it happens.

1Thess. 4:15 For this we declare to you by a word from the Lord, that we who are alive, who are left until the coming of the Lord, will not precede those who have fallen asleep.

1Thess. 4:16 For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.

There are those who say the 2nd advent and the rapture are the same event because there is a trumpet in both of them. However, this verse makes a distinction between the rapture and the 2nd Advent of Jesus Christ. In the 2nd Advent, Jesus Christ comes down to earth and splits the Mount of Olives. In the rapture, He meets us, the church, in the air.

1Thess. 4:17 Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so we will always be with the Lord.

There are 2 orders of resurrection. There are believers alive at the time of resurrection. 2 groups will be resurrected, the dead and the living. There is no advantage of the living. The dead rise first. Many people want to be in the rapture generation. It is a privilege to enjoy dying grace and a privilege to be in the rapture.

Paul Addressing the Corinthians on the Rapture

1. In v. 51, Paul is addressing the Corinthians, who are alive before the resurrection. There are those He wants to address.
2. He has a living audience who are concerned about resurrection. "I know you have some concerns.
3. They realize that a resurrection will occur. They are getting a little concerned about when the resurrection and how the resurrection. So they are getting a little worked up over the resurrection.

We can get excited about it, but the Church Age must run its course. Paul is telling them that they may still be alive if the rapture occurs.

There is nowhere where Paul reveals the timing of the rapture, and there is no reason to think that we are able to call the day and the hour.

Paul is telling the Corinthians that the rapture is imminent and that it could occur at any time. Expect it, be ready; look toward it. Paul is encouraging them by giving them all the doctrine that they need to know. Paul is telling them that they may not ever experience death, because Jesus could return at any point in time. We may put the rapture off in the far distance, but that is not the picture that Paul paints. Paul suggests that this could happen at any time. This is not some pie in the sky pronouncement that Paul is making. Paul wants them to keep it hot. It is coming and it must be coming sooner than later. That is the mental attitude for us.

Bobby's grandfather was a pastor for 50 years in Tuscon, AZ; he always said the rapture would occur in his lifetime. He lived to be 102 and it did not occur. That is how he approached the rapture in his thinking. That is how he kept it imminent in his mind. It was the way that he thought. It was a motivation in his life. He was living his life in the light of eternity. It is imminent. He kept saying, "Keep on looking up." And he also said, "Those who are heavenly minded can be no earthly good." There is a balance. That is the attitude of all believers.

Expect it and get on with your life. This is a very encouraging note. Those who put this resurrection doctrine in the back of their minds are usually discouraged by adversity. They do not have the full perspective of the short time which we have here. We must remember this doctrine. It is worth remembering. Our time on earth is short compared to all eternity. This is the resurrection rationale which can be a part of our faith rest drill. Paul gives them this encouragement. Paul brings home the reality of it. Paul wants to give them the comfort of it happening in the future.

So, what about those who have died and are waiting...what's up with them?

Paul begins with an emphatic statement, and what he is revealing is brand new to time. Listen up, I am going to tell you a mystery! This goes far beyond any other mystery which is out there today. Historians have to compile and synthesize all of these things, and when there are holes, then theologians speculate. It is fun to know just where the mysteries are and how to fill them in. So, Paul is going to fill in the mystery of the ages, eternity, the afterlife. This is an enigma which crosses everyone's mind. Some people get skeptical because they cannot answer the mystery. This is a direct statement that what follows is the mystery doctrine of the Church Age. It is of the greatest importance. It brings the Church Age to an end. It is the end of the Church Age at the end. Paul opens up this incredible subject with a sensational beginning.

Paul turns to a description to the very instant of resurrection. What happens when we get the resurrection body which he has been describing? How do we get it and when do we get it? What is coming is a moment we ought to anticipate. Paul opens this verse with behold!. Up to this point in time, no one knew about the rapture.

This is the final solution to the great enigma of human existence.

Μυστηριον Which Is *Mystery

1. Paul pick spiritual advance word here. He does not pull this word out of thin air. This is a classical Greek word which is used for the secret doctrines and modus operandi of a Greek fraternity that outsiders are not aware of. Our college fraternities are different from the ancient Greek fraternities, but originate from them.
2. Paul is drawing from the pagan religion from the Greeks.
3. Every Hellenistic fraternity had secret doctrines and cultic rites. These portrayed the destinies of the gods in these rites. There are even secret rites and such in college fraternities.
4. They were supposed to share the fate of the gods. Particularly the god of the one they followed.
5. Hence the fraternity identified men with the specific gods of the Greeks. In essence, you hitch your wagon to a patron god and all that god or goddess represented. With Aphrodite, you were attached to the goddess of love and sex.
6. What we are doing here is getting background.

Greek Religious Life

1. No connection between morality and polytheistic worship.
2. There was no conflict between the conception of Zeus, the king of the gods, and his nature, which was beligerant, violent, sexual, etc. He dedicated himself to all of this stuff that we do not associate with a deity. Big departure from the absolute good of God.

- 3.
4. As a result of all of this separation of theology from morality, many of these cultic fraternities associated with the Greek gods were phallic, giastic or even murderous. The gods of polytheism represented nature, things from the natural world, represented human nature, etc. They could join a fraternity and indulge in these practices. This is exactly why Paul used this word μυστηριον.
- 5.
7. Paul takes this name from and ancient secret cults and fits it into the context of the resurrection.

1Cor. 15:51 See (Look; Consider)! I am progressively telling you a secret ([the] mystery)! We all, indeed, shall not be laid (made) to sleep [in death], yet we all will be changed (altered; transformed; rearranged to be another; made otherwise),

1Cor. 15:51 Behold! I tell you a mystery. We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed,

Lesson #1096 1Thess. 4:17–19 1Cor. 15:51–52 July 18, 2010 Sunday 1

T&P has a children's publication out.

We are bombarded with human viewpoint every single day.

This is the most extensive portion of the Bible on the resurrection. There will be a time when we follow Him. We study the nature of the resurrection, going from perishable to imperishable. All resurrected believers will have this resurrection body.

At this point, the home stretch, Paul reveals the moment and the mechanics of the resurrection. This is the culmination of all that we have already covered. This is how we put on the immortal, the heavenly; all synonyms for our eternal resurrection body. It is going to happen for all of us.

There is more on this particular subject in 1Thess. 4:15

No one knows the future but God, so Paul wrote this as if a secretary for God. Ditto for much of 1Cor. 15. This is directly from God, but without any reference to the mechanics.

1Thess. 4:15 For this we declare to you by a word from the Lord, that we who are alive, who are left until the coming of the Lord, will not precede those who have fallen asleep.

This corresponds and is interchangeable with, Look, I tell you a mystery. Both indicate a direct communication from God through Paul about the rapture. The description is precise. What is presented is an eschatological mystery. So, it is not out of line to combine the 2 openings together. Look, I tell you a mystery by the Word of the Lord. No one could know this apart from God revealing it to them. That is emphatic and dramatic. This is a climatic subject, an end time subject. It is our end and our future.

The Greek word is G3466 Neuter_noun: mustêrion (μυστήριον) [pronounced moos-tay'-ree-on], which means 1) hidden thing, secret, mystery; 1a) generally mysteries, religious secrets, confided only to the initiated and not to ordinary mortals; 1b) a hidden or secret thing, not obvious to the understanding; 1c) a hidden purpose or counsel; 1c1) secret will; 1c1a) of men; 1c1b) of God: the secret counsels which govern God in dealing with the righteous, which are hidden from ungodly and wicked men but plain to the godly; 2) in rabbinic writings, it denotes the mystic or hidden sense; 2a) of an OT saying; 2b) of an image or form seen in a vision; 2c) of a dream. Thayer definitions: Strong's #3466.

Each fraternity had a patron god, and those who belonged to the fraternity knew all of the inside information about that god. It is unusual that Paul would draw from the verbiage of this pagan religion, as they were far away from Christianity, and there was no relationship between morality and this fraternity. Many of these fraternities were Satanic, there were human sacrifices, they had orgies. One group became manic as they worshipped Dionices, a state that they worked themselves into. At the end, they would tear apart some person into piece.

Paul knows his audience, he knows they are all Greeks, and they know about the Greek fraternities, and they came out of these fraternities; and his audiences understood this word in one context, and Paul moves them to a different context.

Mustêrion

1. This is a technical, theological word which indicates doctrine totally unknown to Old Testament times (to anyone prior to Paul making these statements).
2. No one knew this doctrine even in the Church Age; not until Paul wrote and sent this.
3. So this is the connection to Greek fraternities, which also had mystery rites.
4. The Corinthians would identify mustêrion. When they joined Greek fraternities, they were brought into the mysteries of that fraternity. Paul is exposing them to an analogous mystery doctrine.
5. Mustêrion was all about timing. This was the right time to reveal this doctrine.
6. The timing was post-Christ.
7. The incarnation, the cross and the resurrection of Christ had to occur before this mystery doctrine could be revealed an initiated.
8. This mystery was Church Age specific. The idea that the assembly of the church simply replaced the assembly of the Jews as essentially the same things, is wrong. The Old Testament was about Israel only. Mystery doctrine is about our plan and our life.
9. After Christ, a new administration appeared in the divine outline of history, and that new dispensation's modus operandi had to be defined. When something is new, we need to know stuff about that knew thing. All the promises of Israel will be fulfilled in the future, separate from the church. Only the church will be a part of the exit resurrection. Before the Tribulation begins, there will be the exit resurrection.

10. Now, this new Church Age mystery doctrine defines the Christian way of life.

1Thess. 4:16 For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.

1Thess. 4:17 Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so we will always be with the Lord.

1Cor. 15:51 See (Look; Consider)! I am progressively telling you a secret ([the] mystery)! We all, indeed, shall not be laid (made) to sleep [in death], yet we all will be changed (altered; transformed; rearranged to be another; made otherwise),

1Cor. 15:51 Look! I tell you a mystery. We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed,

1Cor. 15:52 in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised imperishable, and we shall be changed.

1Cor. 15:52 within the midst of an instant (an uncut and indivisible moment), within the midst of a rapid sweep (or: blink) of an eye, within the midst of the last (final) trumpet. For also the dead one will be awakened and raised up incorruptible, and we will be changed (made otherwise; altered; transformed).

Lesson #1097

1Cor. 15:51 July 18, 2010

Sunday 2

Bobby was a classics major in college, mostly because it sounded more impressive than being a history major.

The Greeks gave us democracy and the term μυστήριον. This was a mystery religion found among the Greeks. They became devotees to the gods or goddesses of that fraternity. There was no connection to morality. These fraternities, to say the least, were degenerate. They could be phallic, orgiastic or sacrificial. Paul wanted these Greeks to remember. Paul drew upon this word, but in an entirely different sense. This is a mystery doctrine directed only toward the fraternal initiates. The mystery doctrine is directed toward a specific group; the pneumatikos believers.

KMΔ = Knowledge of Mystery Doctrine. Even know, this doctrine is partly a mystery; this doctrine deals with our eternal state, with a body only briefly described in 1Cor. 15. The moment of being transformed from physical and perishable to imperishable. We today can understand exactly what will happen at that moment. We might even be alive when this happens.

Bobby's grandfather, a pastor in Tucson, said, "I am going to be in the rapture generation." What he meant was, he was reflecting a mental attitude, knowing that we are in rapture generation and may be taken up at any time.

We have a spiritual life. We can understand pneumatikos information. We will be raptured into a pneumatikos body.

Lots of people can get into this or that fraternity. There are all sorts of different criteria to join this or that fraternity. However, there is only one necessity for KMD, and that is faith in Jesus Christ.

Sleep is used here as a metaphor for death. 1Cor. 11:30 1Thess. 4:13–15 The dead in Christ (those who are asleep) will rise.

So, Why Doesn't Paul Simply Use Death Instead of Sleep.

1. Paul writes great literature for us, and he writes in his own style. He uses this because death is not the end.
2. Physical death is not annihilation; it does not mean that we are no longer conscience, never to live again. This also describes a body as if it were sleeping, even though it is physically dead. In actual sleep, when we wake up, we yawn, we stretch. We open our eyes and we are conscious or semi-conscious. We see the world around us. We awaken afresh and we renew our everyday lives. There is an interim between where we were before and where we are now.
3. Likewise, we have a body that will sleep or die.

This is not Bobby's opinion; it is fairly easy to understand. Bobby learns just as much as we do because he studies it first. He learns from the Word of God just as we do. We cannot live the spiritual life apart from the Bible.

We do not take every illustration out to the nth degree. The use of sleep here does not mean that there is soul sleep. In the interim, we are conscious. The soul never sleeps; the body does, so to speak, but we do not.

The Bible never speaks of a soul without a body. In whatever state, we will be conscious after death.

Christ's body went into the grave, even though His soul remained active after the crucifixion. "Today, you will be with Me in paradise." So, as soon as the thief died, he was with Jesus in heaven. This soul would be separated from his physical body. Jesus spent time in Hades proclaiming victory to those there. We ought to be encouraged by the fact that we are in heaven.

This second phrase tells us that there will be a group who are removed from earth, but they will not undergo physical death. Bobby likes dying grace, and we get the full spectrum of God's grace. If Bobby is in the rapture generation, what will happen to his dog. This gives him some apprehension. Bobby would like to tell us that the animals go with us.

Paul was not promising that all of the Corinthians would be in the rapture. God would not promise something to them which is untrue.

Paul certainly did not know when the rapture was going to occur; and he knew that he did not know; so he is giving a warning order, an alert for a future period of time. Why would God reveal the time of the rapture to some pastor who knows when it is going to happen, and not tell Paul? It makes perfect sense for us to not know when this is going to come to pass. The objective in every generation is to live the spiritual life. There are no exceptions. Every generation should be motivated to grow and to serve the Lord. We are not simply to sit about and wait out the rapture. That has happened to various people at various times, and people have sold their possessions and property. Often these dates are set when there are difficult circumstances. Believers do not like what is happening in our country or in the world, so we want a way out. Too much human viewpoint and too much depravity.

There is a wonderful provision for us to live this life and to use our spiritual gift. "Just get me out of here, God." Instead of growing up, people just line up world events with the tribulational prophecies. They see dictators and anti-Christ's and population movements and parallels. They can be true, but this has occurred dozens of times. Countless times.

1Cor. 15:51 See (Look; Consider)! I am progressively telling you a secret ([the] mystery)! We all, indeed, shall not be laid (made) to sleep [in death], yet we all will be changed (altered; transformed; rearranged to be another; made otherwise),

1Cor. 15:51 Look! I tell you a mystery. We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed,

Lesson #1098

1Cor. 15:51 July 21, 2010

Wednesday

This is the circumstances of our greatest victory in life; victory over the grave and victory of life. There is no date applied to resurrection body. Spiritual life has more information than eschatology. However, there are some programs which deal with nothing else beyond eschatology. People lose sight of what is really important. You cannot sit around and wait and have itching ears about eschatology.

Believers do not retire from the Christian life. We do not remove ourselves from the mainstream of life. We don't think that God is done with us and now it is time for leisure for the rest of our lives. If you think it is time to be put out to pasture, that does not mean that God has that in mind for you. Even in your sunset years, do not forget the plan of God for your life. Some of us want to sit on a river bank and fish, but the plan of God continues for our life. He still has a geographical will for our lives. There is no time for you to go out on the beach, stick your feet in the sand, and live there. This does not preclude downtime, but God's plan for our lives does not end until we depart from this life. We are always in the middle of God's plan for our life. There is only one way to execute the plan of God for our lives. Do not forget the overarching purpose for our lives. Circumstances in our lives change, but the mission has not. God's plan is the best plan, and we must execute that plan.

A lacedaisical approach to the Christian life may come from thinking we are in the rapture generation. It is fine to wait for the Lord to come. "I don't like this world, so come and get me, Lord Jesus." They are not looking for the plan of God for their lives, but just to get out of it.

The doctrine of resurrection is only a small part of all the doctrines which we learn. It is encouragement, but it is not designed for us to focus upon it. How does these date setters sound accurate? How do they fool people.

There is a lot about the horror of the Tribulation. There is no prophecy before the end of the Church Age. Bob talked about the trends of history in relation to tribulational events. He was using present-day events to illustrate what was going to happen.

We are still here, and we are the church; therefore, setting dates at this point is all hype. It is a privilege to watch world and national events, and it is hard to do without blowing your stack from time to time. It is a good test for your mental attitude.

You want to march into Washington and burn buildings down, but keep your perspective. The Tribulation will come when it is time. Prophecy will come to pass at the proper time. The resurrection is not to be used as an escape mechanism. We are not here to be a part of the world. We are in this world, but not of this world.

Some believers have ended up drinking the kool aid. They have sold everything and are on a mountain top gazing into heaven. Until the moment of resurrection or our physical death, serving Jesus Christ is our obligation as a believer. We do not have a choice.

What Ought Our Attitude Be?

1. All generations are to have the attitude that Christ will return at any moment. We could be all sitting here and, next thing we know, resurrection bodies in the air. It could happen at any moment.
2. We must continue to serve Him. We do not retire from the plan of God.
3. But, in the imminency of the resurrection, there is a heightened sense of urgency that we must have. We do not know when He will come, but we know He will come. That is the motivation for our urgency.
4. We must press on in this life to be prepared for eternity. When you are young, you do not think about death, but there is a reasonable chance that it will happen.
5. The hourglass is running out for us to execute the spiritual life. This is when you want, "Well done, My good and faithful servant."
6. That is the attitude and the modus operandi that God intends for believers to maintain in this life. Some people take these steps dragging with no spring in our step. That is preparing for eternity. We do this by executing the Christian way of life. In Ranger school, it was, drive on, just one more step.

7. This is the attitude that our Lord will judge at the Judgment Seat of Christ.
8. Your rewards for eternity are shaped by our spiritual life and producing divine good in this life. Preparation and looking forward to eternity. Our rewards are for eternity. We have a few years to prepare. Are you going to chase after fun, make as much money as you can, etc.?
9. Believers must be prepared in every generation; to die or to be raptured. It is one and the same attitude. There is no more honor or reward being in the rapture generation as any other. Being in the rapture generation is nothing which we have done.
10. The Lord Jesus Christ's imminent return is a strong motivation for living in the light of our eternal future that could come at any moment.

There is not question that some will sleep or die. The fact that Paul says, "We will not all sleep" means that some would sleep.

At one moment in time, there are going to be a bunch of believers resurrected. Now this is a minuscule group in Christian history. In the larger picture, "We will all be changed" includes every believer in the Church Age. This is not about staying alive until the resurrection. It simply means that we are all going to be there. Only one generation will be raptured alive. We will all see it, dead or alive, we will all be there.

The doctrine of the imminency of the rapture. That is what we are looking at. Paul is simply guaranteeing that there will be some who will be raptured. We could be the rapture generation.

1Cor. 15:51 Look! I tell you a mystery. We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed,

1Cor. 15:51 See (Look; Consider)! I am progressively telling you a secret ([the] mystery)! We all, indeed, shall not be laid (made) to sleep [in death], yet we all will be changed (altered; transformed; rearranged to be another; made otherwise),

Lesson #1099 1Cor. 15:51–52 1Thess. 4:16–17 July 22, 2010 Thursday

All the things which have happened around Berachah Church and of all the people who have been through Berachah, who knows what discussions might take place?

The final phrase begins with δε, which is a commonly used conjunction. "We will not all sleep [or die], but we will all be changed [transformed];..." There is a contrast of groups here. All Church Age believers who have lived, are living and will live, will all be changed into a resurrection body. This is our eternal future. The rapture group and all previous generations of believers. Αλλασσω = to change, to alter; to transform. It will be the living physical body to a resurrection body or from dust to a resurrection body.

Now we know when. This is your motivation for getting out and witnessing. That gets us one more person closer to the transformation. We know the time frame, which is v. 52:

1Cor. 15:51 Look! I tell you a mystery: we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed [transformed],...

1Cor. 15:51 See (Look; Consider)! I am progressively telling you a secret ([the] mystery)! We all, indeed, shall not be laid (made) to sleep [in death], yet we all will be changed (altered; transformed; rearranged to be another; made otherwise),

We know the time frame, which is v. 52: εν ατομος, from which comes the English word atom. The alpha-privative, which is a negative. The noun is τομος, which means cutting. So, ατομος is something which cannot be cut, or cannot be divided. Therefore, this means indivisible. Therefore, this is something which cannot be cut; some which is indivisible.

How Does this Fit with the Time of Transformation?

1. The resurrection will occur in such a short period of time that it cannot be further divided.
2. One of the smallest divisions of time is a second, but that can be broken down into a millisecond. This resurrection experience cannot be further broken down to a lesser period of time. There is no lesser period of time.
3. We could say that this is instantaneous.
4. In other words, in an instant.
5. Acquiring the resurrection body is not a process; it is not a matter of growth. It is not taking some dust from the ground and forming a body and breathing life into it. This is a picture of a period of time which is so fast that it is not even calculable.

Then we have in a twinkling of an eye. Πιπτη means a rapid movement [of the eye]. What is the time frame for that. How fast does a beam of light shine into the eye. This twinkling eye is the fastest rate of movement. This was a measurement of time that was infinitesimal. It was lightening quick. Whatever the time is, is when it takes place.

Bobby is fascinated by how quickly a woman scans a room, and it is so quick, then you do not realize she is even seeing anyone, and yet, she has already evaluated the room. It is a beautiful illustration of speed. That is how fast it is. Time that is indivisible. Bobby is making the point that in the resurrection, we are changed so fast, that if we blink, it is all over. That will occur for those who are living. Those who are alive will not even know what hit them. One moment on this earth, and the next moment in the air in a resurrection body. There will be none of this hearing a trumpet, thinking about it, and anticipating it all occurring.

This is what is wonderful about an memorial service; they have lost a friend or lost someone they admired. We will see them again. When you die, you will cross over the river and you will be introduced to the Lord. But, in the rapture generation, it will all happen in the blink of an eye.

This event is heralded by the blast of a trumpet. There will be a sound, which accompanies this instantaneous occurrence. In those days, the trumpet sound was a call for troops to spring into action. All of the commands were gone over in the Roman army and all other armies. They all knew what was going on. They knew what to do based upon the commands of the trumpet. It is a sound which could be heard for long distances and over competing sounds.

Paul knew that they would understand what he was saying here. These Corinthians understood the idea of bugle calls.

Ex. 19:15–20 On the morning of the third day there were thunders and lightnings and a thick cloud on the mountain and a very loud trumpet blast, so that all the people in the camp trembled. Then Moses brought the people out of the camp to meet God, and they took their stand at the foot of the mountain. Now Mount Sinai was wrapped in smoke because the LORD had descended on it in fire. The smoke of it went up like the smoke of a kiln, and the whole mountain trembled greatly. And as the sound of the trumpet grew louder and louder, Moses spoke, and God answered him in thunder. The LORD came down on Mount Sinai, to the top of the mountain. And the LORD called Moses to the top of the mountain, and Moses went up. The power of God is revealed here, in a thunder blast which caused the people of Israel to tremble. We can understand this in our finiteness. The whole nation of Israel at the bottom of the mountain, continued to tremble more, probably on their faces in the dirt. So Moses went up. This is a mandate from the Word of God. Moses got it directly, and we get it from the Scripture.

At this point, Moses got the freedom code of Israel, the Ten Commandments. This was an earth-shaking development in the life of Israel. The appearance of God was heralded by the trumpet blast.

The only difference between what did happen then, and what will happen in the future, is the dispensation. They are both times heralded by the trumpet sound.

The Sound of the Trumpet

1. The trumpet of 1Cor. 15:52 is directed exclusively toward alpha company. We are the second ones to be resurrected after Jesus Christ.
2. The trumpet sound of 1Cor. 15:52 is the sound which ends the Church Age.
3. It is the sound that heralds the resurrection of the church.
4. It is the sound which assembles individual believers together to meet the Lord in the air.

This trumpet call is perfect for warriors of the Angelic Conflict. It is assembling those who will be victorious in the Angelic Conflict. These soldiers will be called for one last assembly and the awards at the bama seat. This is an assembly, just as the first nation of Israel is called to assemble. There is still time to be victorious in the Angelic Conflict. When we do assemble, when we have done all that we can, on the field of battle, we can stand tall, put our chest out, and hear, "Well done."

You can just about see it; the town crier and the trumpet and the assembly. This trumpet call can be heard over everything else.

1Thess. 4:16 For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.

After the dead in Christ rise first, we assemble with them, those who are still alive. There are different platoons coming from different directions.

1Thess. 4:17 Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so we will always be with the Lord.

So we have to understand and interpret the trumpets and Bobby is going to get complicated then. There is a difference here in trumpets.

1Cor. 15:52 in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised imperishable, and we shall be changed.

Lesson #1100 1Cor. 15:52 1Thess. 4:16 Rev. 11:15 25July 2010 Sunday 1

Bobby is already studying 1Cor. 16, so he is moderately eager to move on.

All believers, whether living or dead, will be transformed into a body of incorruption, which takes place at the rapture of the church. How long does the transfer process take place? Also, what announces that moment of resurrection? V. 52 answers these 2 questions. The answers here are to solidify the resurrection in our minds; but the information does not necessarily help us in our daily Christian lives.

The length of time is in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye... There will be the trumpet sound and we will be changed. How fast is the twinkling of an eye? What kind of speed are we talking about? Ev atomas which refers to an increment of time which can no longer be further divided. It is too small of a thing to be divided further.

The rapid movement of an eye, a blink. A woman can take in the whole room and never see it. She takes it in and gets it; we may stare for awhile and never get it.

Adjective: atomos (ἄτομος) [pronounced AHT-om-oss], 1) that cannot be cut in two, or divided, indivisible; 1a) of a moment of time. Thayer Definitions only.: Strong's #823.

The trumpet is loud enough to override all of the din of battle and it could be heard over all else. It was the perfect instrument to tell the military of what they needed to do. It was the means of issuing an announcement or calls to the army. This was a means of communication. The shrill sound of a trumpet. It may call for an assembly of troops, or a march, or a command for a maneuver in battle.

This trumpet call is made around the entire earth, and all will hear it (I guess, all believers?).

There is an additional sound which heralds the resurrection. 1Thess. 4:16

1Thess. 4:16 For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.

Human kings are heralded by a trumpet call.

Ex. 19:16–19 announced the appearance of God. The voice is described as thunder. First the trumpet, which gets louder and louder, and then the voice like thunder. This appearance was a huge event. These Jews had just walked away from the tyranny of Egypt. This loud voice was a call to assemble and then to begin to move.

Israel began as a theocratic kingdom, meaning ruled by God. God gave the Jews the Law, by which they lived; it defined every aspect of their lives. It is the Law which is reflected in Scripture. We are ruled by Law in the United States. When leadership departs from the law, then the land is no longer governed by law, but by whatever whim occurs to the leaders.

The Jews wanted a king and they got Saul, who made a mess of things. There are always parallels.

In v. 52, the trumpet heralds an appearance of Jesus Christ.

What Does this Mean?

1. The appearance is the return of the Lord Jesus Christ at the 2nd Advent. He will assemble us, His victorious army.
2. This is the sound which ends the Church Age and initiates a new age. We leave and another begins; the Tribulation which is the final 7 years of Israel.
3. The trumpet is the call for the transformation of believers, living and dead, to assemble in resurrection bodies.
4. This sound gathers resurrected believers. We come together from every part of the earth. This assembly is instantaneous.
5. The sound that summons these believers to assemble at the bama seat of Christ, and the victorious army is evaluated. We receive rewards and decorations for our time in combat. These rewards are given on the basis of our production here on earth. We will hear this, living or dead. It is the announcement.

1Cor. 15:52 in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised imperishable, and we shall be changed.

1Cor. 15:52 within the midst of an instant (an uncut and indivisible moment), within the midst of a rapid sweep (or: blink) of an eye, within the midst of the last (final) trumpet. For also the dead one will be awakened and raised up incorruptible, and we will be changed (made otherwise; altered; transformed).

There is a crucial dispensational point that Bobby needs to make here. Which return of Jesus Christ does this herald? Is this the rapture or is this the 2nd Advent. There is the 7th trumpet sound of Rev. 11:15, and some equate these trumpets.

Bobby brings this up, because this highlights the difference between dispensational thinking and others, which are incorrect.

There is a trumpet with the announcement "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and of his Christ, and he shall reign forever and ever." How do they work this? How do they confuse all of the timing? They both have trumpets in them. In both of them, the trumpet sound announces something: the return of Jesus Christ, and the other is an announcement of the kingdom of Jesus Christ. Now, these are identical (is Bobby giving the opposing view here or is he stating the truth?). However, this Revelation passage is all about the 2nd Advent and it has nothing to do with the rapture.

Rev. 11:15 Then the seventh angel blew his trumpet, and there were loud voices in heaven, saying, "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ, and He shall reign forever and ever."

Lesson #1101

Rev. 11:15 1Cor. 15: July 25, 2010

Sunday 2

There is no connection between 1Cor. 15:52 and Rev. 11:15, but some connect them, because of the trumpet.

The 2 trumpets are connected as the 2nd advent. It is clear that the trumpet in Rev. 11:15 is all about the 2nd Advent, as we are speaking of the new kingdom of Jesus Christ.

Bobby is going to explain why and how he comes to his conclusions, and cover how others have come to their ideas as well.

There is the cross followed by the resurrection of Jesus Christ, 50 days later, when the Church Age began. All we know is, in the pre-Tribulational rapture, the Church Age ends, when the rapture of the church occurs. 1Thess. 4:15–17. Then we have 7 years, which is the most horrible period of time of human history, and it is a terrible period of time and we will not be here. At the end of this 7 year period, the Lord returns. His return is called the 2nd Advent. The 1st Advent was when He was born as a child in Bethlehem. He came as the Savior the first time, and then the King of Kings Who will reign forever, the King over Israel, the Son of David, the Greater Son of David. This is where it comes to fulfillment.

Then we will have the 1000 year reign of Jesus Christ, and those who went into the Millennium will be resurrected at the end of the Millennium. There will be people who are living at the time of the Tribulation, and they will go into the 1000 year reign of Jesus Christ, and they will keep the same bodies that they are in now. After that, we go into the eternal state.

Misguided Sequence of Events

Disclaimer: Bobby is giving us false theology.

1. If these verses refer to the same trumpet, the conclusion must be that all resurrections must occur at the same time, because the time frame is the same.
2. Since the trumpet of Rev. 11:15 clearly heralds the 2nd Advent, then the trumpet of 1Cor. 15:52 must herald the same thing.
3. Therefore, there timing of all resurrections will be just prior to the 2nd Advent and not prior to the Tribulation. Or, at the 2nd Advent. That is the false view.
4. If we accept this view of both trumpets being synonymous, it negates a pre-tribulational rapture of the church. There can be no other companies.
5. If the trumpets are all linked, then the church, are not raised until prior to the dispensation of the Tribulation. There is no rapture. There is no resurrection of the church.
- 6.
7. That means the trumpet in our passage would herald the return of Jesus Christ at the 2nd Advent than at the rapture.
8. This means the church, along with Old Testament saints and Tribulational martyrs are all raised at the same time at the 2nd Advent, prior to the Millennium (not prior to the Tribulation). There is no more alpha and bravo company; they are all combined.
9. The church would not be in heaven during the Tribulation. Those who are alive at the time will go into the Tribulation. We would remain on earth to endure this horrible 7 year dispensation.

There is another caveat to this, but Bobby will get to it later.

If these are the same trumpet blown at the same time, then logically the time frame of these 2 passages would be the same. It is clear from the context that all of this would take place at the 2nd Advent, as per Rev. 11:15. Along with this, goes the idea that the church and Israel are the same thing. This is called a post-Tribulational view of eschatology.

The cross, the resurrection of Jesus Christ, the resurrection of the church, then the Tribulation, and at the end of the Tribulation, there is the 2nd Advent, at which point, all are resurrected. In this view, we could be in the Tribulation right this very moment.

This is an insidious theology. A post-Tribulation resurrection means something else to us. That means that all believers at that time will enter into the Tribulation. As things get worse in Israel, as things get worse in the world, as the U.S. seems to get more and more hostile to Israel, then we think, "Hey, we are in the Tribulation." In dispensational theology, there is a clear delineation between the church and Israel.

This is how the rapture of the church is negated. This is how all resurrections are combined. The final result of the post-Tribulation is, alpha company is resurrected with everyone else, and there is one judgement at the end.

The Right View

1. The contexts of 1Cor. 15:52 and Rev. 11:15 are different.
2. These refer to different trumpets.
3. Rev. 11:15 refers to the 7th and final trumpet in a series of trumpets. It begins in Rev. 8 and continues through Rev. 11.
4. Each trumpet heralds a series of judgments within the Tribulation. There are a number of judgments in the Tribulation.
5. So the trumpet sound of Rev. 11:15 refers to the Tribulation. No one disputes that the time of the Tribulation will be horrendous.
6. In marked distinction, the trumpet of v. 52 is the last trumpet, but not the last in a series of trumpets.
7. That points to a different context of the 2 trumpets.
8. In v. 52, this last trumpet closes out the Church Age. It is the call to all Church Age believers, living and dead, who are instantaneously changed into resurrection bodies.
9. The trumpet of Rev. 11:15 is the last in a series of tribulational judgments, which are literal judgments. Revelation is filled with figurative language; word-pictures, and many time people get off from Revelation. Because there is figurative language, some want to interpret this language in a variety of ways. When literature has a bunch of figurative language, then you can go hog wild on interpreting the passage. However, this does not mean that there is not a literal interpretation of Revelation. There is a single meaning which God intended. Some churches just allegorize passages with figurative language and misinterpret them.
10. The trumpet in Rev. 11:15 is blown in the middle of the Tribulation; and the judgment is over at the end of the Tribulation.
11. The trumpet in v. 52 is blown at the end of the Church Age. So these are different times altogether. They cannot refer to these horrific judgments.
12. The last trumpet of v. 52 is a call to the gracious resurrection initiated by Jesus Christ before the Tribulation begins.
13. There is a judgment involved in the last trumpet of v. 52; but this is only in terms of the church being gathered and evaluated at the bama seat of Jesus Christ. We will be judged at the bama seat.

but that is the end of our part in this conflict. How well did you do during your time on earth? It is time that you are evaluated. Bobby's last assigned was recruitment, the area commander of recruiters. 100's were called to Fort Sill in OK. One by one, every single recruiter had to talk about how they were doing as recruiters. We must make the same operational report to Jesus Christ.

Does this last trumpet refer to the rapture or the return of Jesus Christ at the 2nd Advent? In the pre-tribulation view, which has been held by many theologians, the rapture of the church and the 2nd advent are 2 different returns of Jesus Christ. They are separated by 7 years, the Tribulation. This is Daniel's 70th week that ends the age of Israel. 490 years before the cutting off of the Messiah, and there is one week which remains.

There are post-tribulationists who say that the rapture does not occur at all. They say there is only one future return of Jesus Christ. Bobby sometimes presents opposing points of view because it is the best way to learn the Word of God. The 1st Advent, of course, is when Jesus Christ came to the earth the first time, in the incarnation. In between this period of time is the church, which is the time period in which we find ourselves.

Covenant Theology/post-tribulation View

1. If there is no rapture of the church, then we go from the Tribulation to the 2nd Advent; and Old Testament Saints and New Testament believers are all resurrected at the same time. It all happens at one time. There is no doctrine of the imminency of the return of Christ.
2. Israel and the church are seen as one continuity; the church is seen as a form of Israel. There is no national significance to the nation Israel. Those who believe this are in danger of becoming anti-Semitic. If Israel has no future as a nation, then we become confused about the U.S. being a haven of the Jews. Many Jews fought for the Fatherland in WWI, and Germany was a Christian nation. This can be a problem when this particular view is taken.
3. God's covenant promises to Abraham as the progenitor of a race, a race that is blessed according to the covenant, with a promised land and a future kingdom—all of which is transferred to the church, according to covenant theology.
4. Only the church can fulfill God's promises to Abraham.
5. Jews and the church are all lumped together as spiritual Israel.

When Jesus Christ ascended on the Day of Pentecost, and this kicked off the Church Age. Jesus Christ returns, but we meet Him in the air at the rapture of the church. Then we go before the Bema seat of Jesus Christ. In the Tribulation, the Jews will be attacked from every side when living in the land. There is alpha company and bravo companies; and then there is the battle of Armageddon.

Then we have the promised kingdom to Israel, which is the Millennium. Some will survive the Tribulation, those who are still alive, and they go into the Millennium. They will go in, in physical bodies. Then they will be resurrected at the end of the Millennium.

The covenant theologian does not have this distinct 7 year Tribulation. They all know that it is true, but they stick it wherever. If we are alive during the Tribulation, then we will go through it (as per the covenant theologian). This has a tremendous bearing on the interpretation of Scripture and all that we understand of it.

1Cor. 15:52 in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised imperishable, and we shall be changed.

1Cor. 15:52 within the midst of an instant (an uncut and indivisible moment), within the midst of a rapid sweep (or: blink) of an eye, within the midst of the last (final) trumpet. For also the dead one will be awakened and raised up incorruptible, and we will be changed (made otherwise; altered; transformed).

This passage in Revelation becomes extremely important. At the end of the Tribulation, Jesus Christ sets up the kingdom of Israel, as a fulfillment of His promises to Abram and David.

In the Millennium, Jesus Christ will incarcerate Satan, but then he will be let out and he will lead a rebellion again, and get tossed into the Lake of Fire.

If They Are the Same Trumpets

1. Post-tribulationists make both trumpet sounds the same.
2. They say these things occur at the same time and for the same reason, to herald the return of Jesus Christ.
3. So if the trumpet of 1Cor. 15:52 and Rev. 11:15 are the same trumpets blown at the same time, the logical time frame of v. 52 and v. 15 would be the same thing.
4. If they are synonymous, the trumpet of v. 52 could not refer to the rapture of the church; it would refer to the 2nd advent.
5. The rapture and 2nd advent as we understand them to be, are the same event.
6. The conclusion is, there is no separate rapture of the church. This departs completely from our understanding of...

But these are not the same, and Bobby will cover this in the next hour.

Rev. 11:15 Then the seventh angel sounded [his trumpet], and there were loud voices in heaven, saying, "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ, and He shall reign forever and ever."

Lesson #1103 1Cor. 15:52 Rev. 3:10 11:15 August 1, 2010

Sunday 2

There is no question that the 2nd advent of Jesus Christ is then followed by the Millennial kingdom; all groups of theologians believe that.

The post-Tribulationists see the trumpets of Rev. 11:15 and 1Cor. 15:52 as being identical. Why is the post-tribulationist view a false view?

There is a different context for these passages. In Rev. 11:15, we are looking at a series of 7 trumpets, each of which is a judgment—terrible, horrible judgments. These begin in Rev. 8 and continue through Rev. 11, and they extend over 2 years, which is suggested by the 5th trumpet, which is tied to 5 months. The trumpet sounds are grouped. The first 4 judgments are heralded by the first 4 trumpets. The first trumpet is one of grass and forest fire, hail and fire mixed with blood. Where have we seen something like this happening? There were 10 plagues in Egypt, and this occurred as one of those plagues.

These trumpets arise from demonic or earthly forces. Rev. 9:1–12 a plague of locusts, which is world-wide, which mirrors one of the judgments against the pharaoh of Egypt.

All of these trumpet sounds occur within the Tribulation. It is a terrible series of judgments within the Tribulation. No one disputes that this period of time will be horrendous.

In marked distinction, the trumpet of 1Cor. 15:52 is the last trumpet. There is no series of trumpets in 1Cor., whereas the other is the end of a series of trumpets; the first at the end of the Church Age, the second at the close of the Tribulation.

Israel has a national future. The promises of Abraham were not transferred to the church. This is not possible for God to do this. God is immutable. The conference was about the faithfulness of God, and God does not renege on any of His promises. He also has the power to fulfill His promises and He has foreknowledge, so that there would be no reason for God to give a promise, get surprised by some future event, and change stuff around.

Anti-Semitism is absolutely wrong and can destroy a client nation in a hurry. The trumpet is last, in that it closes out the Tribulation. The other 6 are blown during the Tribulation, in the midst of it. We will not be on earth when these 7 trumpets sound; but we will be on the earth or in the earth when the trumpet of 1Cor. 15:52 is something that we will hear.

The final trumpet of v. 52 is what we will hear, and separate from those found in Rev. 11.

There is a judgment involved in both trumpets. The trumpet of v. 52 is only in the sense of the church being assembled in the air. This is for believers only, for rewards and decorations. What is it worth to you to reject or neglect Bible doctrine? What is it worth to you not to advance spiritually?

Our life on earth is a tiny dot compared to all eternity. Eternity goes on forever, and our life here on earth is brief. What is happiness worth to you in this life? Is it enough to neglect Bible class?

The greatest, happiest time on this earth is when your thinking has been renovated.

Rev. 11:15 Then the seventh angel blew his trumpet, and there were loud voices in heaven, saying, "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ, and He shall reign forever and ever."

1Cor. 15:52 in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised imperishable, and we shall be changed.

1Cor. 15:52 within the midst of an instant (an uncut and indivisible moment), within the midst of a rapid sweep (or: blink) of an eye, within the midst of the last (final) trumpet. For also the dead one will be awakened and raised up incorruptible, and we will be changed (made otherwise; altered; transformed).

There is another verse in Revelation which is important in determining the time of the rapture of the church. Rev. 3:10:

In the context, this is addressed to a particular local church, the church at Philadelphia.

“I will keep you from [out from, removed from] the hour of testing.” This is a very specific promise, and this promises that they will not have to endure that hour of testing.

Rev. 3:10 Because you have kept my word about patient endurance, I will keep you from [our from, removed from] the hour of trial that is coming on the whole world, to try those who dwell on the earth.

This hour of testing is described, beginning in Rev. 6, which includes the 7 trumpet judgments. They are promised here that Jesus Christ would keep them out of these great judgments, which are to come. John used the preposition εκ here.

Post-tribulationists interpret this to mean that Jesus Christ would preserve the church through the Tribulation; but John would have used the preposition δια instead.

We Are Kept from the Hour of Testing

1. The presupposition εκ and the future active indicative of τηρεω means will keep out from the hour of testing.
2. The church is kept out of the future Tribulation because the rapture occurs prior to the Tribulation. If the church is kept out of the Tribulation, then we must go somewhere to escape it.
3. That obvious meaning of εκ keeps us from going through the hour of testing.
4. The church will not endure the Tribulation on earth.
5. The expression the hour of testing is a time period.
6. The church will be kept out of that time period.
7. There is no legitimate way to get around Rev. 3:10

Rev. 3:10 and the Church at Philadelphia

1. Rev. 3:10 was said to the church at Philadelphia before the Church Age.
2. But most of the book of Revelation is prophecy of the future. He addresses the churches in the first 3 chapters, and then the Tribulation.
3. The church in Philadelphia did not live to see the Tribulation.

4. They hear it as future just as we hear it as future.
5. Not this church nor any other church experienced this.
6. So, the hour of testing was not directed toward their future experience as an isolated local church, but it would be in the future of someone else (Israel).
7. Also, it would make no sense for God to keep the church of Philadelphia out of this Tribulation, and let all other churches go through the Tribulation.

There are those who say the Tribulation occurred at A.D. 70, and that is the great time of discipline. They put the rapture as the next future event. However, this would make no sense, since Revelation was written after the fall of Jerusalem.

Those who make these false claims, then they must take the language of Revelation and interpret it figuratively. They must allegorize it. That is always a wrong hermeneutical approach. Hermeneutics

Many apostate teachers go down this road of bad theology and bad interpretations.

Lesson #1104      1Cor. 15:52–54   Isa. 25:8   August 4, 2010      Wednesday

Sunday was a tough time. The bottom line from Sunday was, the rapture is not the same as the 2nd advent, and they are differentiated in the Bible. Bobby never takes the Scripture lightly, and he always realizes that He is handling the Word of God. It is important to be accurate as a teacher; and much more so when dealing with the Word of God.

There is a bottom line to those 3 passages, which is the pre-tribulational rapture is the correct view. John 1:1 and 1:14 God became flesh and dwelt among us.

We as believers 2000 years later have the very words that He spoke. We do not know what Jesus looked like. He was unlikely emaciated, because he lifted the tables of the money changers and threw them out of the Temple.

The central point of history. Historians often discuss, when did the most important set of events occur? For all the advances, we just have not advanced much as human beings. The central point of all history, the transition point, the greatest transition took place between 5–4 B.C. and A.D. 30, those 33 or 34 years. 6 hours of our Lord on the cross is the central moment of human history.

The difference between pre-tribulationalism and post-tribulationalism. There is no Israel to begin the Tribulation in post-tribulationalism, and the church replaces Israel.

Bobby had a lot of preparation in Berachah as well as his seminary training.

1Thess. 4:17 tells us that all believers of the Church Age will meet the Lord in the air and we will follow Him into heaven, wherever that is. This is where the bama seat of Christ will sit. Bobby likes to think this as a one-by-one evaluation. We face our Lord Jesus Christ, each one of us, and hear Him evaluate each one of us. We can look at our lives in retrospect and realize just what God has provided for us. Will there be regrets? Bobby doesn't know, but it will now stay with us. "I failed in this area, and I had every opportunity to meet the plan of God at that point."

The instantaneous sequence of the rapture. There is a sequence described for us by the Word of God. However, in reality, that will be instantaneously not even governed by a period of time.

1Cor. 15:52 in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised imperishable, and we shall be changed.

1Cor. 15:52 within the midst of an instant (an uncut and indivisible moment), within the midst of a rapid sweep (or: blink) of an eye, within the midst of the last (final) trumpet. For also the dead one will be awakened and raised up incorruptible, and we will be changed (made otherwise; altered; transformed).

There is a privilege in dying for those of the Church Age. But then there is "We, the living, will experience an instantaneous transformation."

1Thess. 4:15 For this we declare to you by a word from the Lord, that we who are alive, who are left until the coming of the Lord, will not precede those who have fallen asleep.

1Thess. 4:16 For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.

1Thess. 4:17 Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so we will always be with the Lord.

Then, in the next couple verses, we look at how we are changed:

it is necessary for us to be changed. The perishable old body must clothe itself in the new imperishable body. There is a similarity here. He throw clothes upon ourselves; however, in this verse, God throws a new body upon us. That new outfit will be impeccable. It is bodies which are being clothed and our Lord is doing it.

Ενδύω is similar to the verb φορέω, which goes back to v. 49. Then it meant to wear something like a suit of clothing. We have a soul and spirit which puts on a resurrection body.

An example of this, we are working out in a sweaty tee shirt and gym clothes. Maybe you are going out that night, and you put on formal clothes, and, you have then transformed yourself. It is ratty old gym clothes to new clothes. We will go to our imperishable body. This change of outfit is infinitely better.

The perishable is the body of those believers who have died; the body of those who have perished. The soul and the spirit leave the body. They go into the presence of Jesus Christ.

When we die, the soul and the spirit leave that lifeless body and go to be face to face with Jesus Christ. The perishable body turns to dust, and the physical body is simply no more. The quick way to do this is cremation. Much longer if we are embalmed. When we die, that body will disintegrate, eventually.

1Cor. 15:53 For this perishable body must put on the imperishable, and this mortal body must put on immortality.

1Cor. 15:53 For it continues being necessary (it is habitually binding) for this corruptible to instantly plunge (sink) in and clothe itself with (put on) incorruption, and this mortal (one that is subject to death) to instantly plunge (sink) in and clothe itself with (put on) immortality (deathlessness; undyingness).

We will be transferred from a body which is mortal into an immortal body. The bodies we will have will not be comparable. That is when the living are raised, when the soul and spirit are transferred.

Torῆ means when. At the time of the rapture, there is a certain result.

Paul is the consummate Old Testament scholar. He knew the Old Testament backwards and forwards, so that when he wrote, he could pull passages from the Old Testament. This is what happened when he quotes this from Isa. 25:8

1Cor. 15:54 When the perishable puts on the imperishable, and the mortal puts on immortality, then shall come to pass the saying that is written: "Death is swallowed up in victory."

1Cor. 15:54 Now whenever this mortal instantly plunges (sinks) in and clothes itself with (puts on) the Immortality, then will come into existence (will be birthed; will take place) the word (the thought; the idea; the message; the saying) which has been written, "The Death was drunk down and swallowed into Victory!

This matches up what we know from Revelation. The diaspora of the Jews is over, and they will be regathered. For the Lord has spoken, which testifies to His immutability. God makes promises and He will fulfill each and every one of them. God does not forget; He is faithful in all that He says and does.

This is a bit odd for the dispensationalist, as this actually refers to the resurrection of Israel at the end of the Millennium. They will be resurrected in Bravo and Charley companies. This is Isaell, of course, and not the church.

We know that the Lord will be on the earth during the Millennium. Charley company will be resurrected at the end of the Millennium. Those who die during the Millennium and are killed in the Gog and Magog revolution.

So, isn't this odd that Paul would take something out of the Old Testament which applies to Israel, and puts it onto the church. What is his purpose to do this? Why would he confuse the issue? In Corinthians he is talking about believers in the Church Age, but he pulls out a passage on Israel.

Covenant Theologians will take a passage like this to equate Israel with the church. Paul takes an Old Testament prophecy, and applies it to the new dispensation, but with a new application. He cannot change God's immutability. God gave this promise only to Israel.

People think that Israel failed to live up to God's expectations, so it is given to someone else? Let's make this personal; let's say God made a promise to you and He takes it away because of your mediocre Christian life. How can God take away a promise made to Israel and still be God? "Lo ami," not my people. You can bet that, when God makes a promise, he will keep it.

The fallacy is, if God will take a promise away from Israel, why not take promises away from you? In the general sense, the quote in Isaiah deals with the cessation of death. The promise of Israel is tied to the promise of the cessation of death. Resurrection, no matter when, brings no more death. When alpha company is resurrected, no more death. When Charley company is resurrected, no more death. This is our confidence as believers in Jesus Christ. Death is swallowed up in victory.

Isa. 25:8 He will swallow up death forever; and the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from all faces, and the reproach of his people he will take away from all the earth, for the LORD has spoken.

Lesson #1105

1Cor. 15: August 5, 2010

Thursday

Even though life looks dim and the future of our nation appears to be weak, we do know that, at the end, we will triumph.

Vv. 51–54a, Paul assures all of us that Church Age believers will be resurrected. When the trumpet sounds, to announce the gathering of believers, and this is heard throughout the earth, all believers, living and dead, will receive a resurrection body. We will all be changed to wear a resurrection body.

1Cor. 15:53 For this perishable body must put on the imperishable, and this mortal body must put on immortality.

1Cor. 15:53 For it continues being necessary (it is habitually binding) for this corruptible to instantly plunge (sink) in and clothe itself with (put on) incorruption, and this mortal (one that is subject to death) to instantly plunge (sink) in and clothe itself with (put on) immortality (deathlessness; undyingness).

After everything that has happened, when the resurrection of the church is complete, then will come about the saying, Death is swallowed up in victory. This was not a phrase original to Paul; he pulled it out of Isaiah.

1Cor. 15:54 Now whenever this mortal instantly plunges (sinks) in and clothes itself with (puts on) the Immortality, then will come into existence (will be birthed; will take place) the word (the thought; the idea; the message; the saying) which has been written, "The Death was drunk down and swallowed into Victory!"

Isaiah is the source of Paul's statement. Israel has been reproached many times; they are currently under divine discipline. Ultimately, Isaiah is talking about the end-time resurrection. Isaiah did not know anything about the church. This is a future for Israel, which is exactly the way God expected it to be taken. Israel needed this guarantee. Isaiah was fully aware of the state that northern Israel was in. The reason for much of Isaiah's prophecy was based upon was the degeneracy and unfaithfulness of the Northern Kingdom.

Isaiah prophesied that even Judah would fall under the fifth cycle of discipline, just as the northern kingdom did.

Bobby did make a mistake the other night. He said Isaiah was dragged off the Egypt, but that was Jeremiah. Isaiah was long dead by then.

The children of Israel would chase after false gods, but God did not forget Israel.

Hosea was a contemporary of Isaiah and he named one of his bastard sons, not My people. God never forgets His people. The nation would be made up of regenerate people. This was encouragement to a people who would be devastated. However, some would still trust in Y<sup>e</sup>howah God. What happened to them could be happening in our nation today. God will remember us no matter what our circumstances are. No matter what, no matter where we go as a nation. Bear that in mind, even if some talk show host tells you how bad things are (and they are).

Isaiah celebrates in poetry God's destruction of the corrupted earth. This is what sin has wrought. This is a celebration of the destruction of all of that. There is a wonderful statement of Old Testament believers over death. Every time you turned around, God was spanking Israel for its apostasy. If death is defeated, so is the world. Throughout the Old Testament, there are guarantees like this verse. This is when death is finally and totally defeated, which occurs in the dispensation of the Millennium. It takes place at the end of the Millennium. This is the promised kingdom of Israel. At the end of this time, death is defeated.

What Happens to Defeat Death?

1. Satan is thrown into the Lake of Fire forever. At the end of the Millennium, Satan foments the Gogand Magog revolution.
2. All unbelievers are raised and judged, and they will be cast into hell with the fallen angels forever.
3. A new heaven and a new earth are established forever, minus all unbelievers, minus those with a sin nature, minus Satan and his minions.
4. Believers of the Millennium are resurrected. This completes all resurrections in human history.
5. Death is no longer in existence for this final resurrection.
6. The resurrection of all believers totally defeats death. Resurrection means no more death; the resurrection body cannot die. It is imperishable; it is immortal. This statement of victory over death, is stated as a completed fact; death is swallowed up; death is no more. It is not directed in any way by Isaiah toward the church.

God's totally victory over death does not occur at the rapture. So why would Paul quote this verse, which is about the end of death; but Paul is not using it as the end of death. There are no dispensations at the end of the Millennium, because there is no more time. Paul is pulling something out of the Old Testament which has nothing to do with the church.

Why Did Paul Quote it Here?

1. This resurrection takes place after a process. There is a process of conclusion after operation footstool.
2. So begins operation footstool.
3. Alpha company's resurrection is the time that death is defeated for one entire dispensation. This is not for all, but for one.
4. Resurrection in general regardless of when it occurs or in which dispensation it occurs, brings no more death.
5. Therefore, resurrection as the defeat of death is universal for all dispensations.
6. So in the general sense, the quote from Isaiah deals with the defeat and cessation of death.
7. A defeat of death will certainly occur when alpha company is resurrected. That is a defeat of death. It is a specific defeat, but it falls under the category of a resurrection and defeat of death.
8. Paul wants to convey the cessation of death for the church. Paul cites the Old Testament, which is Scripture, and applies it in a general sense to a specific point in time (unknown to Isaiah). When Isaiah speaks of it, it is the death of all death for all human history. This is the beginning of God's total victory over death.

9. Paul does not change the meaning of the original prophecy of Isaiah. He simply applies the truth of it to a different dispensation. He is guaranteeing what he is writing based upon what the Old Testament tells us about death.

Death is often presented in poetry in the Bible. Isaiah is full of it; all Old Testament prophets utilize poetry. Many present death as a mouth which is wide open. It is depicted as a big gulp, consuming everything. Sooner or later, death takes us all down. We are chewed and digested by death.

However, here, we have the exactly opposite of death swallowing us all; the Lord swallows up death, He swallows death. He defeats death through our resurrection. His power raises us and we are immortal and imperishable.

After the rapture, death will continue for believers, and for all mankind. After the church receives the victory, and death is swallowed up for another 1007 years. The last dispensation and the last resurrection.

Because of a previous study. This is not the same death spoken of in 1Cor. 15:26 The last enemy that will be abolished is death. This is parallel to what Isaiah was speaking of.

How many times does death intrude upon your thinking? Is this something that you only think about when at a funeral or a memorial service? Many an unbeliever will squirm when they hear about death during a funeral. However, death is already defeated; there is no hold of death over us. All believers will be resurrected, but we lead the way. After the rapture, at the moment of resurrection, we are ready for eternity. Eternity has not arrived, per se, but we are ready for it. The course of human history is not over when the church is resurrection. The course of human history will run, and Israel will be redeemed. The course of history must run; the church is alpha company, the first to be raised after Christ. We will return. We are waiting as well to be joined by Bravo and Charley company.

We of the Church Age have a certain honor in being resurrected. We are the firstfruits. We as the church are in a very unique position. We have been given so much in the unique spiritual life that we have been given. We have the glory of being first in heaven; before anyone else, we are there.

The motto of the Army Rangers is, Rangers lead the way. They are an elite group of soldiers, highly trained and well-coordinated, with specific doctrines for their operations. The church is highly trained in mystery doctrine; we have more doctrine than any other dispensation. We are coordinated and taught by pastor-teachers. We will lead the way; alpha company leads the way.

The Church Leads the Way

1. Following the church that leads the way, all believers will enter into resurrection. We are all Rangers.
2. So begins the total victory of the eternal state after the church leads the way.

3. /*This total victory is named in 1Cor. 15:56 and we will lead the way. Once we get our foothold in heaven, it is inevitable; nothing can stop it.
4. God destroys death and the cosmic system forever.
5. At the rapture, death will be defeated for every Church Age believer. That is death swallowed up for us all.

Isa. 25:8 He [God] will swallow up death forever; and the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from all faces, and the reproach of his people [Israel] He will take away from all the earth, for the LORD has spoken.

Lesson #none

1Cor. 15: August 8, 2010

Sunday 1

Communion Sunday:

It is ironic that the Mosaic Law was opposed to crucifixion. Their method of capital punishment was stoning. Blasphemy against God could have a person stoned. Jesus Christ was accused of blasphemy.

Isa. 53:3 says He was pierced through for us, and Zech. 12:10 tells us that He was pierced through, and a psalm reads, they have pierced my feet.

Psalm 22 is an extraordinary psalm of the crucifixion. Almost everything that Jesus said on the cross are found in Psalm 22.

There are 7 sentences recorded in the Bible. Matthew records 1 and John and Luke each record 3 each. There were 3 hours of light and 3 hours of darkness when Jesus was on the cross.

“Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.”

“Today, you will be with me in paradise.”

“Behold, your mother.”

3 statements about His Own Person:

“I thirst.”

“It is finished.” The status of the mentality of His soul.

“By His knowledge, My Servant will justify the man.”

“In Your hands, I commit My Spirit.”

At the moment His hands were being nailed into the cross, and Jesus was thinking about forgiveness. There were 6 trials in less than 24 hours, and many lied about Him. It would seem logical that He would scream for vengeance from God upon all of His enemies. This was a prayer of benediction and not malediction. He prayed for the withholding of God’s just wrath against these men.

Eph. 1:7 In Him, we have redemption, through His blood, the forgiveness of our trespasses, according to the riches of His grace.

When God forgives through Christ, our sins are forgotten. What a revelation it is, that the first sentence out of His mouth is the depth and breadth of His forgiveness.

On both side of Jesus Christ, there were 2 thieves. One ridiculed Him and the other appealed to Him. “Lord remember me when You come into Your kingdom.” Jesus answered him, saying, “Truly, I say to you, today, you will be in paradise with Me.”

This man expected Jesus Christ to survive the cross, and the thief wanted to be a part of whatever that was. If anyone thinks that death is the end, let him consider the words of the Lord. There is a paradise for the believer after death. The thief exercised faith alone in Christ alone.

Looking out through the pain of the cross, and Jesus saw His mother and His disciple John. “Woman, behold your son; and behold your mother.” From that time, John took care of his mother. Hearing these words, is the epitome of virtue love in His soul. He was always thinking of others, even to His dying hours. Could there be more evidence of a mature benevolent love than this?

Many become bitter, when things don’t go as they want them to go.

In the dark hours of the cross, we have the 4th sentence:

“My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?” Our sins were imputed to Him. This is the knowledge of His substitutionary mission. He knew what He was doing and why He was there. Jesus suffered as the just for the unjust.

Psalm 22:6 I am a worm and not a man. This separation between the Father and the Son took place because He was taking our place. He suffered for sins that we might be brought to an eternal relationship with God.

Then He called out, "I thirst." Through this expression, we see the suffering of His humanity. It is not that God died, but He became man so that He might suffer death in order to redeem man. It took the God-man to mediate between God and man.

That through death, He might render him powerless. Heb 2:14–18 Since therefore the children share in flesh and blood, He Himself likewise partook of the same things, that through death He might destroy the one who has the power of death, that is, the devil, and deliver all those who through fear of death were subject to lifelong slavery. For surely it is not angels that He helps, but He helps the offspring of Abraham. Therefore He had to be made like His brothers in every respect, so that He might become a merciful and faithful high priest in the service of God, to make propitiation for the sins of the people. For because He himself has suffered when tempted, He is able to help those who are being tempted.

He supplied water to others, and He was denied water to quench His Own thirst. He was offered vinegar. The last thing which man offered to Jesus Christ was vinegar, while He offered salvation to all who will drink from it.

Since the Savior finished the work of redemption, then there is nothing more that we can add to it.

The 7th and final cry was, "Father, into Your hands I commit My Spirit." Jesus Christ did not die because of the cross. No man could take His life from Him. He could take it up again because He was God. For all of us, death acts upon us; but Jesus Christ acts upon death. His death was the mightiest act of His entire life.

No class because of the length of communion.

Lesson #1106    1Cor. 15:53–55    Hosea 13:14    August 8, 2010    Sunday 2

We saw what His actions and thoughts were from the cross. God the Holy Spirit saw fit to only record those 7 sentences. This tells us what He thought and did on the cross.

1Cor. 15:53 For this perishable body must put on the imperishable, and this mortal body must put on immortality.

1Cor. 15:53 For it continues being necessary (it is habitually binding) for this corruptible to instantly plunge (sink) in and clothe itself with (put on) incorruption, and this mortal (one that is subject to death) to instantly plunge (sink) in and clothe itself with (put on) immortality (deathlessness; undyingness).

1Cor. 15:54 When the perishable puts on the imperishable, and the mortal puts on immortality, then shall come to pass the saying that is written: "Death is swallowed up in victory."

1Cor. 15:54 Now whenever this mortal instantly plunges (sinks) in and clothes itself with (puts on) the Immortality, then will come into existence (will be birthed; will take place) the word (the thought; the idea; the message; the saying) which has been written, "The Death was drunk down and swallowed into Victory!

Now that Paul knows that death is swallowed up, he tweaks the tiger's tail. These are words of triumph, and not of sarcasm and derision. Jesus Christ has conquered death for all of us.

Death is the unknown for many, so people cling to life; they will not sign a living will. They must cling to life. They just don't know. However, we do not need to cling to physical life. We ought to know what the end is, and we know that physical death is just the beginning. For the unbeliever, it is just the beginning as well.

Paul gives us these 2 rhetorical questions, which we answer to ourselves. We can cut loose with words of celebration, because hell has no power over us. Fear of death has vanished. Ask the same rhetorical question, and we know that Jesus Christ has conquered death.

Paul likes to back up his statements, so he quotes Hosea 13:14, a book which Bobby used for the conference in Gatlinberg.

Hosea had to write for all to see, all about the cuckoldry of his own wife. Israel was portrayed by his wife, Gomer. Hosea was told to go out and marry a prostitute. She did not begin that way, but she has problems in her soul. She was always looking for a better deal. She was able to go to all the parties that Hosea took her to. But Hosea was boring and people did not like many of the things which he said. God wanted Israel to see through the personal life of Hosea just what Israel was to God. Israel was the unfaithful wife. They are depicted as the unfaithful wife.

The people are worshiping Baal in the Temple of Jerusalem, and they are called Him Y<sup>e</sup>howah. They are about to go under the fifth cycle of discipline because of this tremendous syncretism. In 721 B.C., their apostasy is so monumental, that God will have to take them out via the fifth cycle of discipline.

The Jews are to ask them this question, and that God will answer this question for them. "Will I redeem them from death?" The answer is, absolutely yes. They have a promise. His promise is immutable. If God's promise changes. What security do you have in God because you fail? But there is the lying theology that the church has replaced Israel. And there is no reason to be anti-Semitic ever. The covenant is still in effect. This will be fulfilled to a national entity, not a spiritualized entity.

Sheol here represents the grave. Jesus Christ will regather Israel and He will be their king. Christ is their King, and this promise will be fulfilled literally in the Millennium. This is a great affirmation for Israel. Regenerate Israel must look to Him and wait for Him. Apostasy and unbelief is not a part of His program. Apostasy and unbelief are not a part of God's program, but redemption and forgiveness are.

Death is pictured as a plague or as pestilence. 1/3rd of the continent was destroyed by the Black Plague, and this happened constantly.

God will bring the plagues of death on them through Assyria. Are we apostate enough to be scattered?

Our country is already been shaken. You have no idea what kinds of problems are in our country. You think the problems are Congress and the administration? It is us. It is apostate believers in Jesus Christ. We are the problem and the solution.

Vote for people who have integrity; vote for those who do not lie. Vote for those who support the rule of law. Our vote will not deter the fifth cycle of discipline if we do not grow simultaneously. If we do not grow, Assyria will metaphorically sweep through this country. One of the interesting things is hate speech, that it could come to pass that teaching about the sinfulness of homosexuality can get a pastor locked up. God will bring plagues of death upon us, 70 years after the discipline of the Southern Kingdom, the people returned to the land under Zerubbabel, Nehemiah and Ezra. Nothing can take you off this earth until it is the Lord's time to go. Hosea's generation will certainly die, but God will still deliver Israel down the road. So Hosea says, "Bring it on," because plagues will be eventually overcome by God. God is still in His heaven and we as believers in Jesus Christ can still be delivered. We still live in the greatest state in the union.

Now, Paul, knowing full well, transfers this from deliverance from destruction, and he pulls this passage to explain to the Corinthians about their individual futures.

In the final line of this verse, death is portrayed as having a sting, like a venomous animal, like a snake, like that which pierces mankind. Particularly snakes which are poisonous, we know they can destroy tissue. A coral snake can destroy tissue; this is how death is pictured. The snake loses its fangs; its sting is gone.

Hosea 13:14 [Shall I ransom them from the power of Sheol? Shall I redeem them from Death? O Death, where are your plagues? O Sheol, where is your sting \[destruction\]? Compassion is hidden from my eyes.](#)

1Cor. 15:55 "O death, where is your victory? O death, where is your sting?"

1Cor. 15:55 [Where, O Death, \[is\] your victory? Where, O Death, \[is\] your stinger \(sharp point; sting; goad; spur\)?"](#)

The sting of death is sin, and the Law is the power of sin. V. 56

Bobby has heard this called the First Church of the Galleria.

These 2 rhetorical questions describe the victory of Jesus Christ over death. Victory over death is the answer to these questions. This should bring several other questions to mind. Wrapped up in this sting of death is the power of death; this is the only part of either question. Once we know what the sting of death actually is, then we can know exactly how the sting is overcome by resurrection.

1Cor. 15:55 "O death, where is your victory? O death, where is your sting?"

1Cor. 15:55 Where, O Death, [is] your victory? Where, O Death, [is] your stinger (sharp point; sting; goad; spur)?"

Paul goes on to define in v. 56. The sting of death is sin and the power of death is the law.

What Is the Sting of Death?

1. Adam's original sin imputed.
2. The genetically transferred sin nature.
3. We are doomed from the beginning because we got bitten by the snake when Adam did; we got the same venom that he got.
4. We have all been stung since the moment of birth.
5. If there was no sin, there would be no death. Rom. 5:12

Jesus Christ removes the barrier between God and man. The sting is removed by the sting of the cross.

What Is the Barrier Made up Of?

1. The barrier He removed includes personal sin emanating from the volition giving in to the temptation of the sin nature. Rom. 3:23
2. This includes the penalty of sin. Rom. 5:12 6:23
3. The barrier include our physical birth, which separates us from God; we are born spiritually dead.
4. Our relative righteousness, human good, cannot please God, no matter how good we are. Human good is not good enough.
5. The righteousness of God cannot accept us. Perfect righteousness and one sin cannot be mixed. We have a nature of sin. That is offensive to God.
6. Finally, our position in Adam, whose sin is imputed to us, is part of the barrier. Christ knocked the barrier down; all we have to do is walk through it. We do that through faith alone in Christ alone. What Christ did on the cross was unlimited atonement. We are all capable of salvation because he died for all of us. We share everything that He is and share everything that He has.

Right now, we have victory over death. This guarantees us that death has been defeated. Death has no victory; it has been defeated.

Then Paul continues with the power of sin is the law. This is important for us to understand sin, the Law, and death. Everyone wants to talk about the Mosaic Law, and they are confused about it.

What Does the Power of Sin Is the Law Mean?

1. This refers to the strength of sin. Sin is powerful; it is one of the strongest things in our lives. It is overpowering in the life of all unbelievers.
2. It is because there is a law, a divine standard of righteousness; it is because of this that sin has strength and even that sin exists.
3. The Law spoken of here is not the Mosaic Law per se. It is bigger than that.
4. We might call this, the law of God, including His will and His mandates and that which reveals His perfect mandates. The Law is the antithesis of sin, and, yet, at the same time, it defines sin.
5. Certainly the law of Moses reflects perfect righteousness and it is a set of divine standards; spiritual, national and moral standards. No one can keep the law and be saved; it is like saying, "I can do enough human good to be saved." We cannot meet that perfect standard on our own.
6. However, this is bigger than the Mosaic Law. This is all that God demands as part of His perfect righteousness.
7. Any violation of His standards of righteousness is sin.

The Power of Sin Is Defined by Law

1. His law shows how far we fall short of God's standards. The law shows us that we cannot meet our standards. It shows us what sin is.
2. Without the law, we would not know what sin was or could we understand it. We need a limit, a barrier, a definition in order to grasp what sin is. It is our yardstick, our gauge, if you will.
3. If there is not standard of sin defined by the law which man must obey, there can be no such thing as failure to meet that standard.
4. Sin is linked with God's law and with His perfect righteousness.
5. If there is no statute of national, state or local law, then there can be no violation of those laws. Where there is no law, there is no violation. There must be stacks and stacks of so many laws. If there is no law against theft, then it is not illegal and it carries no punishment with it. We hear today about decriminalizing the use of some drugs and there is a push to do that with more laws. This simply removes a standard by which we determine that something is wrong. You need to have statutes against something in order to define it as wrong.
6. If there is no standard of God's Law, then there can be no condemnation.
7. On what basis can anyone be condemned without law against sin. Without a standard against sin. There is no basis.

8. Sin cannot be imputed when there is no law. Rom. 5:13
9. There is the strength of sin as it is defined by law.
10. We are caught in the power of that sin because there is divine law which reveals it.
11. The law does not cause sin; it merely reveals sin and defines the penalty. Having a law against murder does not cause murder.
12. The law gives strength to sin because it condemns. The law reveals our condemnation because it condemns. The statutes of the law condemn us. The law utterly condemns and convicts us because of sin.

The Law's Power

1. The law shows sin's power to destroy man because it reveals sin that separates man from God. It shows sin's power to destroy man.
2. It shows man's inability to equal God's righteousness on His own.
3. God's standards as defined by law can never be met by man's efforts. How can we equal perfection? How can we keep every perfect statute of God's law.
4. This is the power that sin holds over us. That is its strength. That is the sting of death.

Death

1. Death no longer has the sting; sin no longer has the destructive power of law.
2. God's righteousness imputed to believers at the moment of salvation breaks the power of sin as defined by law.
3. Death has no more sting or victory or power; no more.

1Cor. 15:56 The sting of death is sin, and the power of sin is the law.

1Cor. 15:56 Now the stinger (sharp point; sting) of the Death [is] the Sin (the mistake; the error; the failure), and the power (or: ability) of the Sin [is] the Law.

Then Paul gives us s benediction in v. 57:

This is the payoff.

Thanks is not a work you would expect in the Greek; χαρις means grace, in its standard form. Here, it is directed toward God from us. That is our χαρις. This carries the meaning of exceptional gratitude. We understand God's love and our reciprocal love; but there is a reciprocity when it comes to grace as well. So this refers to gratitude with appreciation. We do have some obligation to say "thank you" to God for what He has done. No one else can do that. He remakes our bodies into something which is fantastic.

How Did Jesus Do This?

1. Jesus Christ accomplished this victory through propitiation.

2. He satisfied the requirements of the law.
3. Thus He defeated the power of sin, which is the law which condemns us. Rom. 8:1 there is, therefore, no condemnation for those who are in Jesus Christ.
4. So there is no condemnation against us, and that is His victory.

1Cor. 15:57 But thanks [χαρις = grace, total gratitude] be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

1Cor. 15:57 But grace [is] in God (by God) – the One constantly (repeatedly) giving the Victory to us (in us; for us) through our Lord (Owner; Master), Jesus, [the] Christ!

Lesson #1108

1Cor. 15:57 August 12, 2010

Thursday

Those verses describe what Berachah Church is all about.

There are many great chapters in the Bible. Almost every chapter is a great chapter in some way or another; and the Bible is filled with that which we need to know.

There are several chapters in the book of John, in the book of Hebrews, in 1Corinthians. Bob did a special on great chapters. If Bobby was doing such a series, he would finish it off with this resurrection chapter. Paul closes with a prayer. He used χαρις for his own thankfulness as well as for the grace of God. V. 57 is a prayer of thanksgiving, and then v. 58 is going to be a doctrinal conclusion.

But thanks be to God, Who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. All the prayers that we offer. Bobby, if he thinks of something that needs to be prayed for, he prays for it right then and there, as it comes up. Others make lists. This prayer constitutes worship. This is a prayer of worship and thanksgiving. The more a believer loves God, the more he appreciates the Lord for what He has done. The attitude of thanksgiving. This is directed toward the Lord Jesus Christ, through Whom he has victory, and God has provided that victory. Christ has done it; through faith alone in Christ alone, we appropriate that victory, the regeneration, the new birth. On the cross, Jesus Christ became our substitute; and by His work on the cross, Jesus Christ delivers us from condemnation to eternal life. On the cross, He made us acceptable to God through propitiation. There is, therefore now, no condemnation for one who is in Christ Jesus.

Victory is won by a number of battles. The first one is the battle in our soul for regeneration. That is where it begins and it continues through our spiritual life and our temporal life. We win tactical victories for our temporal life. When our temporal life is over, Jesus Christ consummates the victory.

1Cor. 1:30 by His doing, you are in Christ Jesus, Who became to us wisdom through God and righteousness. We became righteous before God because we possess His righteousness.

God's Righteousness Is the Victory

1. We became righteous before God because we have His righteousness.
2. We have been justified, as His righteousness was imputed to us.
3. Therefore, God's law and standards are met in us by His righteousness in us.
4. We are now acceptable to God because we have His righteousness and the strength of sin is rendered powerless because the law is fulfilled.
5. So victory over condemnation and death is finished. It is finished; it is a done deal; it is tied up in a neat package. He won the strategic victory.
6. Possessing His perfect righteousness even before we die, we are made righteous. This is even before we die. Death is defeated because we have His righteousness.
7. Our resurrection is the consummation of His victory.
8. This is the permanent solution to death. Physical death is defeated because we have eternal life.

If we understand that, then we have the best of reasons for complete gratitude to Him. This is it. This is the reason for our complete gratitude.

Why We Should Have Gratitude

1. By His death, Jesus Christ satisfies the demands of God's righteousness and justice.
2. If the law that gives sin its strength and its reality, it becomes real to us as we understand the law, as we understand what sin is.
3. If sin gives death its deadly sting, and it does, then...
4. The Lord Jesus Christ, Who propitiates God's power through
5. The law no longer condemns us. The law which gives sin its strength can no longer condemn us because sin has handled us. We are therefore no longer condemned.
6. The law is fulfilled in a certain way. It is fulfilled by justification. Christ defeated sin at the cross. We appropriate that defeat of sin when we believe in Christ and are justified.
7. Christ is the One Who deprives death of all of its power. Death appears to be the end and it affects our power and it affects our lives, when death is no longer the enemy.
8. That is what our overwhelming gratitude is all about. Victory over death; justification, propitiation.

Gratitude is one of the great attitudes to develop. We have no excuse. Gratitude should be at the very fabric of our life. We all get saving grace and living grace and dying grace and we all have an eternal future.

We are thankful for what we receive from God. One of the ugliest of sins is ingratitude. It is petty and small and for the believer, it keeps him or her spiritually poor. The less capacity that you have for solving problems. The person who has gratitude is a happy person because they have capacity for life. Gratitude solves so many problems; it is the opposite of bitterness. Ingratitude is arrogance; it is one of the worst. Ingratitude is nothing more than being self-centered. It is the thinking which most people have who have no grace orientation. Most of us deserve a lot less than what we have. Gratitude is a much easier and happier way of life. We have the opportunity to live the American dream; where we receive things that we cannot get anywhere else. We earn things in the American life, but in the spiritual life, we do not get what we earn or deserve; we get God's grace. People who are ungrateful are never satisfied; there is always something more. "You owe me more" is the dependent attitude of the welfare state. "I am entitled to more." Even the poor in this country live so much better than the poor anywhere else. Even the poor in this country have great things to be thankful for.

Ex. 16 is a good example of people with no sense of gratitude. God gave this people more miraculous deliverance than to anyone else in the Bible, and they had no gratitude for what they received. One of the greatest miracles that they every received was manna, and this was in a desert; and they got this every day. All they had to do was walk outside and pick it up; it was delivered. The Jews complained about this manna and they actually rejected the grace of God. Num. 21:5b-6 and the people spoke against God and against Moses, "And there is no food and no water and we loath this miserable food." If you don't like grace, how about a little discipline. That was God's response. So God sent fiery scorpions to them.

What Is Ingratitude?

1. Ingratitude is the epitome of immaturity; a 5 year old is all about them. "I want it and I want it now."
2. You will always be immature when you have no gratitude for what you have graciously received.
3. If you have no capacity for gratitude to express toward Him, you therefore have no reciprocal love. Gratitude and love go hand in hand.
4. Personal love cannot grow without gratitude. At Christmas time, you look at the presents that you receive and you want to return them, and that is a lack of gratitude. These people had you in mind when giving you these things. God knew us before the creation of the universe.
5. Gratitude for God's grace is the basis for problem solving devices; sharing the happiness of God and . This gratitude is dependent upon the status of our spiritual life.

Gratitude

1. Gratitude is the measure of increased capacity for personal love and happiness. People who are not gracious are not happy. Self-centered people are not happy. No gratitude means no capacity for personal love.
2. Gratitude animates the believer's attitude in everything that he does. Self-centered people are not animated people when they receive something from someone else.
3. Gratitude is a state of being. It is a state of virtue. It is capacity for life, for love. It is constant in the soul. It is constant in the soul of the maturing believer.

4. Gratitude from doctrine in the soul is the measure for our capacity for deep thanksgiving.
5. Only renovated thinking can raise the level of gratitude in your soul. As your thinking is renovated, so is the gratitude in your soul, unlike Israel, who never got it. That is when grace breaks through the fog of your thinking. If grace never ceases toward you, then your gratitude should never cease either.
6. Once we have gratitude in our souls, then and only then do we have thanksgiving in our souls.

Col. 2:7 having been rooted and built up in Him [edification complex] and established in the faith, just as you were taught, abounding in thanksgiving.

1Cor. 15:57 But thanks [χαρις = grace, total gratitude] be to God, Who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

1Cor. 15:57 But grace [is] in God (by God) – the One constantly (repeatedly) giving the Victory to us (in us; for us) through our Lord (Owner; Master), Jesus, [the] Christ!

Lesson #1109

Col. 1:23 1Cor. 15:58 August 15, 2010

Sunday 1

Bobby speaks of Bob and his legacy. There is no tombstone for Bob. At death, it appears as though death is the winner. We have the great assurance that our loved ones are not lost to us forever, but missing for a short time, in the light of eternity. So our grief is not the grief of those who have no hope.

In this temporal life, we also win tactical victories. We can look to the future for the resurrection, which is the consummation of victory over death. Death is swallowed up in victory. Our Lord Jesus Christ will return so that death cannot hold us; nor does it hold us hostage now. We can already claim by faith the conquest of death. The moment of salvation, we defeated death.

Death is a focal point for gratitude. It represents our great victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. The sting of death is removed forever. Therefore, death reminds us of the coming victory of our own resurrection.

A Conclusion to Our Study Is Very Important.

1. Jesus Christ gave us victory in time through justification. That means His righteousness in us makes us acceptable to Him. Without that, we are not acceptable. There was nothing that we could do to be acceptable to Him. There are not enough good deeds which make any of us acceptable to Him.
2. By His power, He regenerates us; we are born again. He creates in us a human spirit, which we have studied, which guarantees our spiritual status and our future victory. Victory in time and eternity.

3. In our temporal life, in the life in which we now live, the body in which we now exist, victory is an ongoing process of spiritual growth. If we are not growing spiritually, we are not advancing; we are deadbeats; we have no spiritual standing.
4. As the believer matures, he wins tactical victories in the Angelic Conflict. We execute the spiritual life; this makes Satan grind his teeth. The believer grows in grace and knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. We exploit our Lord's strategic victory on the cross. There is the victory of our Christian life.
5. It is in the power of God the Holy Spirit, the filling of the Holy Spirit, where we, in this life, progressively defeat the power of sin in our lives. The power of sin is broken in our temporal life; the unbeliever has no control; the reversionist believer has no control.
6. In final victory over death, God delivers our bodies from the grave, whether we are dust to dust, ashes to ashes, etc. Those who are believers who do not die before the rapture.
7. Jesus Christ transforms believers into glorious bodies just like Himself. We will attain by grace the body of Christ at our resurrection. We share all that He has. Our immortal, imperishable body.
8. Had it not been for the victory of the Lord Jesus Christ, death would reign over the human race forever. There would be no relief from death. We would be hopeless and helpless with no way out and no light at the end of the tunnel. We could look forward only to eternal condemnation. Thanks be to the Lord Jesus Christ Who has given us the victory. All that God gives us is true and can only be called grace. God does the giving and man does the receiving. We do not give anything to God that we can call grace.

St. Peter is not going to do all the things the jokes tell us that he will do for us. We should thank God every day for all that He has done for us. It is like receiving a Christmas gift that we never thought we could get, that seemed so expensive, and that there was a sacrifice involved to get it.

Paul has one final conclusion to make in v. 58.

You go on in doctrine, otherwise your Christian life stagnates. This same message in v. 58 is given in Col. 1:23. So, what does this resurrection have to do with us here and now? Why all of this about the resurrection?

So many Christians just do not have time for doctrine; their life is so full; they have all these things; a long way to drive to get to Bible class. There are a lot of reasons why not to go the Bible class. There is only one reason to be in class. You understand doctrine and you want to be in it. If you just have to stay home, then do not neglect or reject; that is why we have DVD's and MP3's.

Paul is saying here, do not go into reversionism; there is no peace of happiness there.

There is a guarantee that all who want to hear Bible doctrine will hear it. If anyone wants to hear the gospel, God will send it to him; God is obligated to do that. Missions are critical for that reason. Without the dedicated missionaries, this would not be true. The client nation which stops sending out missionaries will find itself under extreme discipline. Much of the money which comes into Berachah goes right out the door to missionary ministries.

Paul left out here that he is also a writer of Scripture, so that it can be taught for all time. This passage can be applied to the Colossians and to the Corinthians. They must persist in doctrine and not be sidetracked by their checkered past. Many came out of the phallic cult. They must not be hoodwinked by their past, by the many human viewpoint philosophies that surrounded them. This applies to us just as well.

Col. 1:23 ...if indeed you continue in the faith [doctrine], stable and steadfast, not shifting from the hope of the gospel that you heard, which has been proclaimed in all creation under heaven, and of which I, Paul, became a minister.

Paul closes this final verse, a warning, which is parallel to Col. 1:23:

1Cor. 15:58 Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

Lesson #1110 Philip. 1:29 2Tim. 2:3 1Cor. 15:58 Aug. 15, 2010 Sunday 2

Glady did Bob's favorite songs in a medley earlier.

There will be a reunion when we all receive our resurrection bodies. Whomever it is, there will be a great reunion, which is a wonderful security; the greatest security that we have in this life. Some of us have a lot of money, and in human terms, there is a lot of security in money. However, if you have doctrine, you realize that security is not in money. It can come and go very quickly.

The Christian life is not futility; it is the farthest thing from futility. Every day that we get up, this is the day the Lord has made.

Paul gives several results: encouragement and more encouragement. These are results. The doctrine of resurrection is absolute truth, and he uses this to encourage and to exhort; there is no futility here. The one area where there is no futility is the spiritual growth in our lives.

Encouragement from the Resurrection

1. This is a motivation to press ahead in the spiritual life, when you realize what awaits in eternity. Press ahead. Be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord.
2. We are encouraged to serve Him, not ourselves. Most people, life is all about serving oneself. "Look at what I am doing," even when they are doing some supposedly altruistic action. Sometimes it is a fine line between pride and working toward eternal things. Visitation, working around the church; people do it because they want recognition or their 15 minutes of fame in the Christian world.

3. Resurrection doctrine is also a comfort in time of difficulty. It is the faith rest rationale to press on in adversity. There is a good analogy; we are to press on in adversity because of what is at the end; eternity. We press on through a little hardship because we have eternity in front of us. There was a lot of hunger and hardship and weight loss in Ranger school, but no one wanted to quit because they wanted to get a little tab to wear, which reads Ranger. It represented what happens to what occurs in the lives of Rangers; and this is earned.

We do not earn anything in the Christian life, but we do have rewards which come to us through grace. What is 8 weeks of misery based upon wearing the crowns of glory for eternity. A faith rest rationale to press on in times of adversity. The doctrine of the resurrection motivates us to live our lives in the light of eternity. No futility in our life. No floundering from day to day. 90% of the people hate their job; but when viewed in the light of eternity, our lives are not in vain. We are in the vocational plan of God, the geographical will of God, and our lives are not in vain. A lot of people do a few nice things, but if it is not in the protocol plan of God, then these nice things mean nothing. The plan of God is all about God and not at all about us. It God's plan, it is easy to live the Christian life. Our serving Him is not in vain. You will never get the Ranger tab based upon your own idea of what you ought to do. They set the standards and the tests; and the same is true of God. Everything that we do in life, as we move through whatever it is, athletics or business, and we take it as it comes in the way that it was designed, we do it in a certain way, with a protocol involved. That is all the Lord asks. Do it in His way and that is all we need to do. So few people understand what the Christian way of life is.

There is all kinds of things in which we can fail. And we fail in the Christian way of life because we have no doctrine in our souls and we are not filled with the Holy Spirit. We are neither steadfast or immovable; and our lives, therefore, are in vain.

Hardships fade when the eternal future is real in our souls. There is a comfort and encouragement there to press on. Stress is replaced by a relaxed mental attitude. Stress is hard and stress kills us; we sweat under stress; we fail under stress; we do not do our best because we fail under stress. Stress is replace by a relaxed mental attitude. Therefore, it becomes a privilege when we endure the hardships of life.

Philip. 1:29 for to you, Christian, it has been granted to you, for the sake of Christ, not only to believe in Him, but also to suffer for His sake. Hardship is a privilege.

2Tim. 2:3 suffer hardships with me as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. When we are in a military unit, there are a lot of soldiers with him. Soldiers suffer hardship; terror, loneliness, boredom, in a higher plane than we will ever live.

Paul says, "I am your commander, suffer hardship with me." Soldiers to this for a cause which is far greater than themselves. Unlikely we will have to endure what Paul endured.

If we suffer with Him, then we have not done so in vain. If it was not done for the Lord, then it was done in vain.

Ask yourself, how many times throughout the week do I even think of the Lord Jesus Christ? Bobby is fortunate enough to live his life in the Word constantly. How do we live our lives not in vain apart from the Word of God? Those who live for themselves live in vain.

The unbeliever represents the cosmic system. They have no spiritual life. All they have left is the cosmic system, no matter how good they are. Satan is a great deceiver and he disguises himself as an angel of light. Our identification is not related to Satan's lies, which are disguised as light.

Look at the size of the house that I've got; look at my trophy wife that I just got! But what is your profit in life if you gain the world and yet lose your own soul.

We are in the world, surrounded by Satan's cosmic system. It is on television, it is in the bar, it is in our educational system. We are not of this world; we are outside of Satan's cosmic system. It is necessary that we be associated in the workplace or in the church. In whatever group we are a part of, we are associated with many people. However, do not forget that your primary association is with the Lord Jesus Christ. When other associations take you in a different direction, then you must disassociate to the extent so that they no longer have no adverse affect upon you.

We know some really nice unbelievers; and they are fun to party with and they are very moral and don't stab you in the back. But, it does not matter if they are believers or unbelievers, if you are affected adversely, then you separate. You are in the world, but not of the world. We are never to identify with the cosmic system. If we are, then we need to check out our priorities.

Have you ever talked to an unbeliever about what their future holds, where they are going, and what is death. Start such a conversation sometime. See what they think. There is no real confidence, there is fear and anxiety; and sometimes even curiosity.

The unbeliever has not real purpose in life apart from himself. It all comes back to him. I am here now and I want something and I am going to get it. Who cares about God? Do you share in self-aggrandizement, self-promotion, self-enjoyment.

Bobby has his own areas of weakness, and he needs to be check all the time as well. This is why Paul wrote these words, to be steadfast and to be immovable; because he knows us. Those who live under religion still live for themselves; not for God. All of those religious people out there are living for themselves.

Religion as Opposed to Biblical Christianity

1. Religion requires a person to please God enough to earn salvation. That is the fundamental premise of religion. It is what man does for God in order to impress

God enough to get into heaven. Hinduism, Buddhism, Islam and all of the Christian cults.

2. Religion is about gaining God's approbation for what the religious person accomplishes for God. We accomplish things for God, but utilizing His power in His way.
3. Religion is about the religious person, not about God's grace. Christianity is all about grace; religion is all about man's accomplishment.
4. This is why religion is the devil's ace trump; it is counterfeit. It can be Christianity, but without grace. What about all those nice things I did? What about all that charity? These things are not the Christian way of life. If it is not done God's way, then it is not the protocol plan of God. That is not His way, so it does not please Him. It is nice, but it is not the Christian way of life. If it leaves out the empowerment of the Christian life and the knowledge, then it is meaningless. Every time we darken the door to Berachah Church, we are renovating our minds.
5. Conversely, we serve Him so that we might glorify Him, not ourselves.
6. Religion takes away the focus on the Lord and what He has provided for us, and places it on man and what man can do for himself. That includes service to one's fellow man. Jesus Christ has graciously secured out eternal life. That frees up the believer and motivates him to focus and live for the Lord.

Why end your life saying, "That was futile and in vain. Why did I waste all of that time?" We get that for eternity. We will enjoy our lives as believers in fellowship and we accomplish things. We will live for the Lord and produce divine good. Why do human good when you can do divine good just as easily?

1Cor. 15:58 Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

1Cor. 15:58 Consequently, my beloved brothers, progressively come to be seated and settled ones – immovable (unswerving) ones – continuing to always be surrounded by more than enough (superabounding) within the midst of the Lord's work (= Yahweh's or Christ's deed or act), having seen and now knowing that your fatiguing labor (toil) does not exist without contents (is not empty) within and in union with [the] Lord [= Christ or Yahweh].

Lesson #1111

1Cor. 15:58 August 18, 2010

Wednesday

George Mueller tomorrow night.

The practicality of this book was wonderful, and if Bobby could teach only one book, this would be it. Paul tells the Corinthians and us to be steadfast, immovable, and always abounding in the Lord. We are to know that our labor is not in vain. These are characteristics of the Christian life which are the specific results of the resurrection doctrine being implanted directly in our soul. All of this is connected. There is more to the doctrine of resurrection than, Christ died and was raised, and so we will be. That is just the bare outline of the doctrine. Paul outlines a much larger doctrine than this. Everything that surrounds it.

Paul has given us impeccable logic. Bobby heard a Christian come on talk radio, and this guy had it all figured out, that right before Israel strikes Iran, that is when we all go up. Paul has given us the facts of that event.

All of this doctrine build confidence in our souls. This makes for us a whole faith rest doctrinal rationale. This is an assurance like no other assurance in life. We have few assurances in life, e.g., life or financial security or a job for as long as we need it. The only assurance that we have is, one of an eternal future; something which we can find no where else in life. V. 58 becomes a reality and this is a motivation to live our lives in the light of eternity. This is the practical side for the here and now as it relates to the resurrection and eternity. What does God expect of us, based upon what is given to us. This takes us from anxiety to a relaxed mental attitude. It moves us to an eternal perspective. The connection between our temporal Christian lives is placed in perspective. The resurrection is critical doctrinal viewpoint. The light of eternity meets the grid of actual living. If the motivation for us to keep on keeping on, all that we can be in the Christian way of life. There is a practical and doctrinal balance presented in this verse. We begin to overfocus, to overfocus on nothing but eternity, rendering our lives on earth to be nearly useless. We have been given a spiritual life for us to live. Our life, no matter what the circumstances, no matter what; no matter our health, none of it is overwhelming with the spiritual life. We can also handle the prosperity with the spiritual life. We do not have an escape from this life because of the doctrine of resurrection. God has a plan for us, certainly in eternity, and for this life. This is why suicide, even on a deathbed, is forbidden. Suicide is not authorized by the Word of God. This removes God's prerogative to remove us when our time is up. There is no reason for us to ever consider suicide, because God has a plan for us. Until the very last moment, there is a reason.

During the final 7 years when Alzheimer's ran its course, and Bobby wondered why Bob was still here. The time and the place of our death is up to God and not to us. Every day, Bobby reminded himself of that. That is a faith rest rationale. We are assured of our deliverance and our eternal future. That overrides all other adverse conditions and difficulties. Even if the quality of our life is poor or non-existent. Even if the end is seemingly useless, God is still using that person. Bobby was affected to focus on God's plan rather than his own. That is true for all of us. It became clear to Bobby God's plan for his life during that time period and it had a great affect upon him. The focus is on the plan of God and it is never more intense than at that moment. God does not forsake us in this life. Not in any way. Eternity will more than make up for any inconvenience to us. Bobby saw his grandfather live into his 100's and his last few years were anything but pleasant. Even at this point in time, Bob's life and death are a focus.

Present active imperative of γινώμαι, which is a form of the verb to be. This is an imperative of entreaty. There is not the finality of an out-and-out command. Paul is not calling the Corinthians to attention, telling them to be something. "I, Paul, am strongly requesting you to be.” Be all that you can be, Corinthians. Your life will not be in vain. Be these things and your life is not in vain. Your work will not be in vain.

Ἐδραῖος is used as a predicate adjective. Bobby understood English grammar from what he learned in Greek.

adjective hedraios (ἔδραῖος) [pronounced hehd-RYE-oss] which means 1) sitting, sedentary; 2) firm, immovable, steadfast. Thayer only. Strong’s #1476.

We get stability from the doctrine of resurrection. All Bible doctrine makes us more stable in our lives. We don’t become stable because we simply say, “I want to be stable.” Bible doctrine is the only true source of stability; this is the only real stability that life has to offer. We have the only true security. There is no security in our future healthcare plan. Or in all that goes on in our future today.

When the saints are looking heavenward, that is the source of their stability.

To doubt His plan particularly in the grand finale, always brings a lack of stability. No believer can afford to have doubts. Doubt brings fear and anxiety and fear hampers clear thinking. Fear and anxiety can negate thinking. Human viewpoint always destabilizes the soul. Doubting the reality of the resurrection bring fear that God’s plan may not turn out right. Maybe it will not turn out in the way that God said. Security in your eternal future provides the motivation to live in adversity or in prosperity. If you doubt it, you don’t. Philip. 1:21 To live is Christ and to die is profit.

When dates for the end times are set, we become disillusion and destabilized. Doctrine cannot keep you stabilized if you are focused on something which is false.

Stability and the Doctrine of Resurrection

1. True peace of mind and stability is the product of a believer with the knowledge of the doctrine of resurrection which he applies to every situation.
2. This doctrine of resurrection is implanted in the soul as renovated thinking. The unbeliever can never have these thoughts. They can never have the renovation of this stability.
3. Application of divine viewpoint in the doctrine of resurrection is the epitome of stability.
4. The doctrine of the resurrection absorbed strengthens the soul and maintains stability of mind. That is the invaluable result of the doctrine of the resurrection.

1Cor. 15:58 Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

1Cor. 15:58 Consequently, my beloved brothers, progressively come to be seated and settled ones – immovable (unswerving) ones – continuing to always be surrounded by more than enough (superabounding) within the midst of the Lord's work (= Yahweh's or Christ's deed or act), having seen and now knowing that your fatiguing labor (toil) does not exist without contents (is not empty) within and in union with [the] Lord [= Christ or Yahweh].

Lesson #1112      Utopianism   1Cor. 15:58   August 19, 2010      Thursday

George Mueller tonite.

These characteristics derive from the doctrine of resurrection. If you metabolize this doctrine, then you will have the qualities listed here. This is actually an urging to metabolize the doctrine of resurrection, which will yield the following results.

There are few things that we can have confidence in. We can depend upon resurrection in the future. We, as advancing believers, become stabilized in our souls, because we know the doctrine of resurrection. This is stability and security.

The adjective here is hedraios (ἑδραῖος) [pronounced hehd-RYE-oss] which means 1) sitting, sedentary; 2) firm, immovable, steadfast. Thayer only. Strong's #1476. This is stability. When we are in spiritual advance, our soul is stable. That is the great stabilizing factor. Every time you get into the panic mode, every time life overwhelms you. Every time you get into that mode, we have to realize that we are secure; we have stability. Only our position in Christ offers us stability. That is one thing which can bring a relaxed mental attitude to our soul.

This promise of resurrection is real; to doubt this, to fail to metabolize this doctrine, brings on anxiety which clouds our thinking. You cannot live in the light of eternity when you are being destabilized by fear, anxiety and doubt. This is just one of the great faith rest rationales. So, we have examined the first adjective.

Repetition of points:

Stability and the Doctrine of Resurrection

1. True peace of mind and stability is the product of a believer who is steadfast with the knowledge of the doctrine of resurrection which he applies to every situation this is always the first line of defense.
2. This doctrine of resurrection is implanted in the soul as renovated thinking. The unbeliever can never have these thoughts. They can never have the renovation of this stability. It is the product of renovated thinking.
3. Application of divine viewpoint concerning security in eternity is the key to stability in this life.
4. The doctrine of the resurrection provides eternal perspective and strengthens the soul and you simply become stable in all things. Stability in a person is quite noticeable. It is the witness of our life, which is an invaluable result. This is a decisive stabilizing factor. The assurance of resurrection translates to emotions that are balanced, which emotions are the appreciators of life. When emotion takes over your soul, you are destabilized.

When life is all over, it is just beginning. To live is Christ, to glorify Him; and, no matter what happens in this life, death is profit. We will be resurrected. What profit is there outside of the salvation of the Lord Jesus Christ. We gain the whole world and what does it profit us if we have no eternal future? Or, what is you are a pauper? You still gain in eternity.

The second exhortation is be immoveable. This is also a predicate adjective.

adjective ametakinêtos (ἀμετακίνητος) [pronounced am-et-ak-IN-ay-toss], which means 1) not to be moved from its place, unmoved 2) metaphorically firmly persistent; (3) unshakeable. Thayer and Bobby. Strong's #277.

Bobby will give an example of an example; the hurricane that is here. No believer should be conned or moved away from the doctrine of resurrection and the perfect which God will bring in heaven. We are bound for perfection in heaven. Utopia on earth; a heavenly goal to be reached by humanity. It is a doctrine, a utopian doctrine of the cosmic system.

Who and what is a socialist? The doctrine of the resurrection keeps us from buying into any socialistic utopian system. The idea that the efforts of mankind can bring about some humanistic visionary system which is political and/or humanistic. It is promised by politicians in one form or another. This utopianism is usually tied to socialists who tout this great system. The dangerous politicians are the ones who try it, who believe that they can do it. They believe that there is some system of perfection which can be reached by human means. They are far worse than politicians who only claim that they will do this, but promise this in order to get votes.

Here is where the doctrine of resurrection protects us from these terrible results.

The Utopia on Earth

1. Instead of providing equal opportunity under the law, the socialist tries to coerce equality of results. He does it by legislation.
2. Equality of results means that every person experiences the same basic outcome in life.
3. Everyone has what everyone else has. Neither wealth nor poverty, but some middle ground.
4. How is this accomplished? Through equality of goods and services the socialist touts peace and prosperity for all, the earthly paradise they believe that man is capable of through their humanist system.
5. The socialist demands equality of results for all people, on pain of some penalty to those who do not conform. This equality of results is very dangerous. It is contradictory to freedom.
6. The desired results of the utopian socialist must be imposed on the masses from those in power.

1. Equality of opportunity, not equality of results, is what freedom provides.
2. Opportunity means a chance to succeed or to fail for everyone without the intrusion of government regulation or some other form of duress or force. This is the real purpose of civil rights legislation. It is to provide equality of opportunity.
3. You cannot provide equality of opportunity for everyone when the government furnishes exorbitant entitlements or welfare programs. The utopian circumstance cannot be realized without government coercion and a restriction of freedom.
4. These programs, these welfare programs are paid for by taxation of those who produce, which means an increasing confiscation of wealth. The higher taxation, the more money which is taken from your bank account.
5. When you take from one segment of the producing population and give to others who do not produce, it destroys incentive on both sides.
6. Voluntary charity from individuals and private organizations is one thing, and it is a good thing, but when government entitlements operate under the guise of charity and benevolence, then it is not voluntary, it is legislated and it is taxed. It is not truly charity. It is law. We are compelled.
7. In the socialist view, the only way to achieve equality of results is this form of coercion.

Socialistic Programs Are Robin Hood Schemes

1. Take wealth and give it to the poor.
2. Leave the wealthy something, and bring others to a higher footing. You take from above and this brings those at the bottom up. There is no more jealousy, anger, pride, etc. But this is not possible. We ought to know this because we know the doctrine of resurrection. Only Jesus Christ can level the playing field. No socialist utopian can do it.
3. Take from the successful and give to the unsuccessful or the unproductive.
4. The unproductive become enslaved to the provider.
5. These people look for and demand equality of results, regardless of their work ethic or how they do it or whether they do anything at all. They have and I want it.

Some say that social security is nothing but a welfare program, but we pay social security taxes, and it was supposed to be a means of savings for your future. But it has been robbed from to pay for other government welfare programs and has been used to pay those to vote for them. Give me bread and circus and we will let you live. This is the mentality of enslavement.

By Definition, Equality of Opportunity Means...

1. The results will vary; we will not all be equal.
2. They cannot be the same if people are given the same opportunity to succeed on their own. They will not be equal.
3. Given equal opportunity, volition, initiative, enterprise and some talent, success can be achieved.

4. There are rewards which are the fruits of individual labor.
5. This requires freedom to exercise these qualities to go as far as you can. This country has more opportunity than any other in all human history.

Poor will be brought out of poverty by their own incentive. They must do it. Just giving it to them destroys incentive. All segments of society have succeeded in this country. The law should provide an equal chance and freedom means that some will fail. People are enslaved by socialism. In this country, there is no excuse. Victims are self-made, generally speaking (there are individual exceptions).

6. No one has the qualities to an equal degree, so the results will be different.
7. Given freedom, some will fail and some will succeed.
8. Socialism, which attempts to engineer equality of results, and freedom which requires equal opportunity for results cannot exist.
9. Socialism and freedom cannot coexist.
10. Socialism requires coercion to achieve equal results, which it never achieves. Equal results can never be achieved.
11. We are responsible for our failure or success; life can throw us some hard times and difficulties, that is the thinking of a victim. Freedom means that we can go as far as we can go. The results must be coerced.
12. The exercise of volition means that freedom is required.
13. Freedom of volition is the first divine institution. Part of the laws of divine establishment is freedom.

God does not engineer equality of results. Unbelievers will be in hell and believers in heaven; that is no equality. We determine whether we advance or not in the spiritual life. Even under God, there are no equality of results.

Their socialism is religion to them. They have grown up with it; they cannot denounce it; they have no other alternatives. They have already rejected Jesus, so that is why they cling to this utopian ideal. We have free will. If we make ourselves a victim, we are nothing more. We are immovable. It is freedom or utopian socialism; they do not go together ever.

1Cor. 15:58 Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

1Cor. 15:58 Consequently, my beloved brothers, progressively come to be seated and settled ones – immovable (unswerving) ones – continuing to always be surrounded by more than enough (superabounding) within the midst of the Lord's work (= Yahweh's or Christ's deed or act), having seen and now knowing that your fatiguing labor (toil) does not exist without contents (is not empty) within and in union with [the] Lord [= Christ or Yahweh].

George Mueller. His son was born in 1960 in Idaho, and he attended some Bible class in Portland. He communicates in 4 languages. Cameroon, German, English and something else (Pigeon?).

He handed out a sheet.

France, Switzerland and Germany. Poland and Rumania, and there is contact with people there. A good mission verse is, cast your bread upon the waters. People who want the bread of life, will find it. Know your enemy know your weapon and be on your guard.

Then Allah sent Adolf Hitler. Satan's strategy in history seen in present days. Heil Hitler means salvation from Hitler.

A picture of Adolf and Hussain, the mulfti of Jerusalem. He came during WWII, 1941, the uncle of Yasar Arafat. Hitler granted him a personal audience and there was a warm greeting and he was paid to do propaganda in Arabic. "Kill the Jews, wherever you find them" is the message of the Mulfti. For many years, Jews were safer in some Muslim countries than in Christian countries. Nazi propaganda for the Muslim world?

There is great discipline for those who practice anti-Semitism. He suggests that we do some reading. In spite of all the abuse that they suffered in history, God gave the Jews special properties for survival.

The greatest evangelism challenge in history during the Tribulation.

God judges according to His measurement and His absolute standards.

God removed some anti-Semitic people who suffered greatly before they were removed.

Duesseldorf had a great love and peace thing, with music or whatever, and 19 people trampled to death and a few hundred injured.

His high school bombed out, and the student body was sent to Prag and they were then taught about Hitler's millennial vision. 10 year old children sent off and the parents did not see them again for 2 years. He learned to believe in Jesus Christ and learned to love the Jewish people.

The Moslems have a different way of conquering. Christians under nazi rule. Hitler demanded new registration through all churches. He manipulated the churches to get money, except some were not allowed.

The church of believers had to go underground. Hitler got the names of all the dispensational believers, and Hitler planned to burn them because he could not manipulate them.

The Moslem dome.

A chart comparing Christian and Muslim teachings. Some 1300 years ago, few paid attention to the Arabic inscription outside the building, and it reads, "Allah has no son." this is a marker of Satan himself. This was built where Abraham was to sacrifice his only son.

1John 2:22 Who is the liar? He is the one who denies Jesus. He denies the Father and the Son.

The pope kissed the Koran and he supports a one-world government?

Moslem insists on a unified religion. Moslems are very successful in invading Europe and they marry Christian girls. They misuse love.

Salvation is found in no one but Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is God to believers; and not to Muslims. Muslims say He is not fit to be an intercessor. They call Him simply another prophet. They believe that He will return in yellow garments and land on a mosque in Syria. He will marry and have children and then die after 40 years.

Muslims are impressed by eternal security. That catches their attention. A Muslim who was selling life insurance to George, and George said he is going to heaven, no question.

6 steps of conversion versus faith alone in Christ alone.

This is insecurity. Some even teach everyone will make it, including the devil. Or, the heresy that some want to make God responsible for their failures. Replacement theology, even taught by St. Augustine, where the church takes over all of the promises of the Jews. He said if God could hate the Jews, than we could to (Augustine???). Maybe the church father should have ordered the basics from T&P.

Liberation theology is another serious heresy. Human works, man ushers in the Millennium.

Absolutes of divine standards can never be violated.

Relative religion against relationship based upon Biblical absolutes.

New word in Germany is yein, which is a combination of yes and no.

The last page; our volition is challenged. Every decision has consequences; some far reaching.

Established churches in Germany, Cameroon and Africa. Charismatic rampant in Cameroon.

Lesson #1113

1Cor. 15:58 August 22, 2010

Sunday 1

We see a certain adjective used here. Amethekinêtos adjective ametakinêtos (ἀμετακίνητος) [pronounced am-et-ak-IN-ay-toss], which means 1) not to be moved from its place, unmoved 2) metaphorically firmly persistent; (3) unshakeable. Thayer and Bobby Strong's #277.

With those rationales of doctrine and eternal profit, we can begin to relax in life; nothing can shake us from day to day. The viewpoint of our eternal future carries over into our day to day life. We cannot be influenced or ensnared by Satan's false doctrines. The more doctrine that you have in your soul, the more you recognize the doctrine of demons. There are many storms in life, but we must be immoveable. We must remain unshaken in the many storms of the Christian life.

Bobby gave us an example Thursday. Almost any doctrine in the Bible will make us immoveable in one area or another. Bobby took an example from contemporary life. The doctrine of the resurrection tells us that the Lord Jesus Christ is the only One Who can provide a paradise on earth. The resurrection of Jesus Christ removes that sting of death. Our body no longer contains a sin nature at that time. We will live in paradise, as Jesus Christ described it to the thief on the cross. Jesus Christ will bring a Millennium on earth when he returns. There will be no more war, no more strife; a perfect environment for all. The wolf will dwell with the lamb.

We are constantly bombarded with human philosophies, like utopia on earth. Any sort of political or social perfection for mankind. It is the crowning state brought about by the efforts of mankind. The idea that there is an elite group who just need the power of a centralized government so that they can work their humanistic magic. God is left entirely out of schemes like this. This is their religion and it is opposed to divine will and purpose. It replaces God in human history. Those who tout such a system are tools of the cosmic system. This is Satan's system. Against such secularism, we must be unshakeable, in the face of such lies and deceptions. We must continue to understand God's purposes in this less-than-perfect world. The future utopia can only be brought in by the Lord Jesus Christ.

This is almost always proclaimed by the Marxist socialist who apply an economic system which is applicable to all. Peace and equal prosperity to all and an environment which is in total balance. They propose to do this through an anti-God scheme. They hope to engineer equality of results. He socialist tries to engineer equality of results. Every person should experience a similar economic outcome in life. No wealth and no poverty, but a middle ground. They hope, by this, to bring about an earthly paradise of peace and prosperity for all. Equality of results for all people with the threat of pain to those who do not buy into it. Equality of opportunity and not equality of results is true freedom. We get to succeed or fail, based upon our own free will efforts. Freedom and free volition guarantees inequality of results.

Why is individual freedom to be preferred over governmental directives for the betterment of all? Freedom is the first divine institution. This is the way that God designed it. God does not engineer equality of results. The Angelic Conflict cannot be resolved without equal opportunity for believers and unbelievers. People get to choose for or against Jesus Christ. Not every human being will go to heaven. We do not always use rebound or the problem solving devices. A believer can remain immature by his own choice at his own peril.

We are given free will by God to make these choices for ourselves. There are no equality of results in the spiritual life. We are all given equal operating assets, but there are unequal results. We must be immovable in the face of a great cosmic doctrine today. Government needs to allow us to flourish or to falter. Equality of results is impossible. We all have a sin nature; there is the problem and there is the fallacy of utopian schemes. Utopia is unattainable via human schemes because of this sin nature.

Utopian socialists and idealists, who have rejected God and His Word, or those who are into liberal theology which rejects the total depravity of man, and reject the spiritual solution, they are humanistic with a touch of religion thrown in. So the utopian dream is the create universal brotherhood without God, which includes a great deal of coercion. Freedom will not bring the equality of results that they are looking for. Such people who believe this become frustrated and angry, because this utopian vision cannot be realized.

Bobby is presenting satanic schemes of utopian ideas which never work. The utopian type sees himself as cooler, more knowledgeable, more educated, and above it all; and if he gets his way, he can establish a worker's paradise. This means that all opposition must be suppressed in gulags and in death camps. NAZI stands for National Socialists. Utopian socialism is a massive display of arrogance. It is anti-God, anti-establishment and anti-freedom. Only the return of Jesus Christ can bring universal prosperity.

These people think their ideas are good. No man or woman, no matter how talented and ingenious and how well-intentioned they are, can provide heaven on earth. They cannot provide equality of results for every human being. They are not God; they only think that they are a god.

If capitalists are relieved from the means of production and this is taken by the government and distributed to the people it deems fit, then life will be better. It is the greedy capitalist which brings all of these other evils into the world. And government is never greedy right?

And those in government do not have power lust, do they? They do not have sin natures as we do, right? Of course they do. This has never worked in history and it never will work.

When facing these doctrines, we must be unmoveable; we must be unshakable when it comes to the future and the peace and prosperity Jesus Christ will bring. Nations and people have been destroyed by attempting this experiment.

Go ahead, try to change the sin nature. Of course we should give equal opportunity apart from race, creed and color. That is what civil rights legislation was all about. In spite of a lot of propaganda, the US has more opportunity for more people than any other nation in history. You can find plenty wrong with this country. Greed and poverty are parts of this cosmic system. They will continue until Jesus Christ returns.

We must recognize that there is evil and inequality and all kinds of problems in this life. We must maintain the perspective of the light of eternity.

1Cor. 15:58 Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

1Cor. 15:58 Consequently, my beloved brothers, progressively come to be seated and settled ones – immovable (unswerving) ones – continuing to always be surrounded by more than enough (superabounding) within the midst of the Lord's work (= Yahweh's or Christ's deed or act), having seen and now knowing that your fatiguing labor (toil) does not exist without contents (is not empty) within and in union with [the] Lord [= Christ or Yahweh].

Lesson #1114

1Cor. 15:58 August 22, 2010

Sunday 2

As believers in Jesus Christ, we must be able to make application; we must be able to separate truth from falsehood.

We are studying be unmoveable, be unshakable. Equality of results means that freedom must be reduced. The individual is incapable of making his own choices. They mean an inequality of results. Equality of opportunity allows for free choice. The law can provide that, to some degree. Everyone should have equal opportunity, which is the divine way. Jesus Christ provides equal opportunity to believe in Him; and then equal assets to live the Christian life. However, the results are unequal. We must decide to sit in Bible class and to utilize Bible doctrine. We must be able to utilize the faith rest drill. Some people do not advance and they remain immature. It is all about choice.

Bobby covered Marxist socialism, designed to bring in the worker's paradise. They must oppose capitalism. There are problems in both systems, but one must be able to sort out what is evil and what is evil in each system.

If the Marxist socialists get their way, everyone will have equal amounts; there will be no economic inequality. However, wherever there is freedom, there is equality. They believe that this inequality cause jealousy, wars and strife. The socialist believes that he knows best for all of us, and this system is a part of the cosmic system, because it offers up less freedom.

The exercise of free will by man is the first divine institution. Whatever provides the most freedom corresponds best with God's plan. Socialism attempts to provide an iron-clad safety net along with equality of results. There is the Biblical norm of charity; but this does not include the equality of results.

Capitalism provides the best hope to end poverty. Capitalism is not a perfect system and there are laws to deal with abuses; and these laws ought not to restrain a person's ability to exercise his free will.

Since the heart of man cannot be changed, then the Marxist socialist must impose his solution by tyranny. He has nothing else to believe in but humanism. That is his religion. That secular humanism is where he is immovable. This explains why some think the way they do; they are immovable and intractable in their own thinking.

The Marxist socialist is a cruel master. Tax the rich and give it to the poor with great entitlements. There is this all-encompassing independency and irresponsibility. Those who are given these things have no incentive to invest or to produce. That is the reality of the human nature. Collectivism does not foster individual motivation. If someone works hard, the result is the same as the person who does not work. There is no incentive. Without motivation, people become indolent, complacent, apathetic, and unmotivated, without incentive and dependent upon whomever promises them the most, who will offer them the most security. Freedom brings insecurity into one's life. Production stagnates, because hard work is not rewarded. This is self-destructive and anti-Biblical.

Work and production is a means of individual satisfaction. Eccles. 9:9 [Enjoy life with the woman whom you love, all the days of your vain \[fleeting\] life that he has given you under the sun, because that is your portion in life and in your toil at which you toil under the sun.](#) There is no eternal reward for the unbeliever, so this is the best he can enjoy; love and relationship in life. Since there is no relationship with God, this is the best a person can expect as an unbeliever. Work and production is also a part of your life and enjoyment of life. It is Bible doctrine; not what the state does for you, for the believer. For the unbeliever, it is your wife and your work. If you do not want to work, then you will miss out on that great satisfaction in life. Do you think you will be happy simply because someone gives you something that you do not work for?

The system which is closest to the Word of God is capitalism, which emphasizes free will; as over and against socialism, which removes individual freedom. Under socialism, you are working for the state; collectivism. The disappearance of private ownership. This is central control of an economy by a government, which will bankrupt a nation. There is not enough money to produce equality of goods and services.

What the soviets provided was vodka in order to give happiness to the people.

The people become enslaved, bitter, and despondent.

We are members of a client nation. The socialist system has never built a utopian system and it never will. The fundamental principles of a utopia are wrong. Freedom is the ideal condition of man in this life as ordained by God. Socialism is just a cog in the cosmic system. It is how Satan tries to make his kingdom a better place.

We can buy into utopianism and humanism, and you have just deserted Biblical doctrine. The socialist write the regulations and they impose these upon us with unchecked power. They pass relative laws based upon situational ethics, and not based upon eternal principles. The constitution is interpreted in today's circumstances, and not as per the intent of the framers.

As a result, the socialist government has rules which is applied to the governed, but not to the governors. The constrains of the constitution are ignored, aided and abetted by a compliant media. They are prone to lies to get their way. They are nothing more than dictators imposing their will for the common good. Mao in China, Pol Pot, Chavez, etc.

There is no utopia which man will bring in. There is only one utopia which God brings, and that is the utopia of our soul. Humanism is a part of the cosmic system. It is a very insidious part of the cosmic system. Doctrines like socialism easily seep in because they objectives seem right; we are doing this for mankind.

The less freedom man has, the less he will prosper. Could this happen in the US? It already has and is. Many of these things are happening right now.

What Is Going on in Our Own Country Right Now

1. Redistribution of wealth and huge entitlements. Our children and grandchildren will not be able to dig their ways out of this.
2. The seizure of the means of production.
3. Heavy regulation of the capitalism system.
4. Government always delving deeper and deeper into the personal lives of its citizens.

A small trend. The US department of justice changed its website with a stark black and white homepage (no longer red, white and blue); the common law is the law of mankind issuing from the will of mankind. Behind those words is exactly what Bobby has been talking about; it is from C. Wilfred Jinks, from the 1930's who wanted to impose a global law which supported workers rights throughout the world.

Tragically, we are becoming a nation dependent upon government.

The doctrine of resurrection and the total depravity of man should preclude us being deceived. We are immoveable and unshakeable.

1Cor. 15:58 Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

1Cor. 15:58 Consequently, my beloved brothers, progressively come to be seated and settled ones – immovable (unswerving) ones – continuing to always be surrounded by more than enough (superabounding) within the midst of the Lord's work (= Yahweh's or Christ's deed or act), having seen and now knowing that your fatiguing labor (toil) does not exist without contents (is not empty) within and in union with [the] Lord [= Christ or Yahweh].

Lesson #1115

1Cor. 15:58 August 25, 2010

Wednesday

edreios was one of the descriptors. The adjective here is hedraios (ἑδραῖος) [pronounced hehd-RYE-oss] which means 1) sitting, sedentary; 2) firm, immovable, steadfast. Thayer only. Strong's #1476. There is no fear to deal with, if you have a fixation of eternity. Doctrine is a slow process by which your thinking is renovated and your mind is changed. Things which used to keep you awake at night, now you sleep through these things. You will sleep better with doctrine metabolized in your soul. You will gain a peace of mind that you can have in no other way. Resurrection is your assurity of an eternal future.

Love requires you to use your mind. You have to use your mind and to be objective when dealing with people you love or think you might love. You need to use norms and standards in order to evaluate. If you can't do that. What are your relationships based upon. Whom do you associate with and why.

The second one is the adjective ametakinêtos (ἀμετακίνητος) [pronounced am-et-ak-IN-ay-toss], which means 1) not to be moved from its place, unmoved 2) metaphorically firmly persistent; (3) unshakeable. Thayer and Bobby. Strong's #277. Γίνομαι is used here again with this word. This is a person who is immoveable in his confidence and unshakeable in one's divine viewpoint.

If you correctly tie off a boat, then it is immoveable; it will ride out a storm. You will be secure and grounded in your thinking. Humanistic religiosity is all of Satan. It is Satan's cosmic system. The believer who knows evil when he sees and hears it. The believer who is immoveable and unshakable knows that there can be no perfect environment initiated and completed by man or Satan. How frustrating that must be for Satan. Only the eljc can fulfill the promise of a perfect environment, as per Isa. 11:6 The wolf shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the young goat, and the calf and the lion and the fattened calf together; and a little child shall lead them. What struck Bobby was that Isaiah chose a wolf, a lion and a leopard, which are known for their predatory habits and he picked their prey. They are predators. Has man ever removed the predatory nature of a beast like this? Never. We cannot remove this nature from an animal. They are not controllable even when tame. Man cannot change his own sin nature any more than he can remove the nature of these animals. This is a radically changed environment. Only Jesus Christ can change the predator's nature; and only He can change the sin nature of the human race (by its complete removal).

There are humanistic systems today which are constantly trying to do this. The human race cannot engineer equality of results.

The 3rd exhortation is new and it is the present active participle of perisuw, which means abounding. This is going above and beyond the call of duty; that is the idea behind this word.

perisseuō (περισσεύω) [pronounced per-is-SUE-oh], which means 1) to exceed a fixed number of measure, to be left over and above a certain number or measure; 1a) to be over, to remain; 1b) to exist or be at hand in abundance; 1b1) to be great (abundant); 1b2) a thing which comes in abundance, or overflows unto one, something falls to the lot of one in large measure; 1b3) to redound unto, turn out abundantly for, a thing; 1c) to abound, overflow; 1c1) to be abundantly furnished with, to have in abundance, abound in (a thing), to be in affluence; 1c2) to be pre-eminent, to excel; 1c3) to excel more than, exceed; 2) to make to abound; 2a) to furnish one richly so that he has abundance; 2b) to make abundant or excellent. Thayer definitions only. Strong's #4052.

Paul was always abounding. Service is a direct result of spiritual growth. Many times, some people do not have the right work ethic, even though they do a lot of spiritual stuff. We take work from the spiritual perspective. Often in the working world, we do not care what the motivation is. That is a human work ethic.

Witnessing, praying, volunteering, etc. are all wonderful things, but they can be done with the wrong motivation, like nosiness, being a busybody, legalism, bossiness, competition, etc. Attitude is key here; it is all-important. Service to the Lord is never self-serving. All of these works must be accomplished by the attitude set forth by God.

You begin a job, and the boss pulls you aside and says, this is what I expect of you, and these are the standards, etc. Now, if you ignore him and you apply your own standards, you have ended up below his standards.

The key is being in fellowship and with the understanding of Bible doctrine. When you utilize God's assets and you use His power in His way, that is divine good. The key is, if the unbeliever can do it, then it is not divine good. The unbeliever cannot operate in the power of God the Holy Spirit. So the same deed carries a different standard and result. In the Spirit. As a believer in Jesus Christ, we must operate within the protocol of God's design for the spiritual life, utilizing the spiritual assets which He has provided. Deeds of Christian service are not done for personal gain or self-promotion.

Are You Doing That Which Is Divine Good?

1. Have I used rebound and am I in fellowship while accomplishing these deed of service. When you are praying, always begin your prayer with rebound, and then pray.
2. Ask the question, why am I doing what I am doing? Is this self-serving? Is this for approbation? What is my motivation here?

3. What is the difference between the Lord's work, which I am doing, and simply good works of charity which an unbeliever does?
4. Who's criteria do I operate under? God's or my own? Bobby asked this of an assignment which he was given in seminary. An unbeliever might pray or give money or even witness; and anything like this is admirable; but these things are not divine good. This is the best an unbeliever can do.

Welfare entitlements are used by the government in order to gain power. This is offering the pseudo security for gaining power. Private charity truly helps the helpless without political motive. It is designed to get a person back on their feet; not to make them dependent. It is motivated out of real altruism or properly motivated Christian service. People are enslaved by inordinate entitlements.

The work of the Lord requires us to use precisely correct procedure. This means the power of the filling of the Holy Spirit. So rebound must be consistently applied. There can never be motivated by power lust or approbation. Those attitudes disqualify a person from producing divine good.

Good deeds can be evil, like government entitlements. To rightly serve the Lord, we must glorify Him. Serving God requires functioning within the protocol plan of God, adhering to His procedures. We glorify Him by using the provisions by His grace. Any other method of service is no different than what an unbeliever can do with human good works.

God wants us to utilize our spiritual gift; and He wants us to advance spiritually.

We are not the Apostle Paul because his deeds and words will live forever. But God also has a job for us; we stay in fellowship and be aware and motivated to serve Him and it will happen.

1Cor. 15:58 Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

1Cor. 15:58 Consequently, my beloved brothers, progressively come to be seated and settled ones – immovable (unswerving) ones – continuing to always be surrounded by more than enough (superabounding) within the midst of the Lord's work (= Yahweh's or Christ's deed or act), having seen and now knowing that your fatiguing labor (toil) does not exist without contents (is not empty) within and in union with [the] Lord [= Christ or Yahweh].

Lesson #1116 Rom. 8:8 Eph. 2:10 1Cor. 15:58 Aug. 26, 2010 Thursday

Paul refers to the Corinthians as his beloved brothers, even though he has ripped them a new one throughout.

In serving the Lord, there is no wasted time; it is never in vain. It is always one of the most worthwhile activities. We are exhorted to go above and beyond the call of duty. No believer has any excuse not to go above and beyond the call of duty.

What does it mean to do the work of the Lord? Obviously, this is Christian service; good deeds, acts of Christian service, volunteers, teaching young one Bible doctrine. Training aids and working hard to supply them. However, we should never get the cart before the horse.

Service for the Lord

1. Service to the Lord is not about what you actually do for Him. Everyone concentrates upon what we do.
2. How and why we do this, is more important.
3. Once we get the how and why under our belts, then what we do is accomplished in God's way.
4. Accomplishing true Christian service must occur within the confines within His protocol plan. Serving Him is done within these procedures and utilizing the assets which he has given us. We adhere to the precisely correct procedures which we have learned.
5. Christian service does not focus on the believer who accomplishes the deeds. It is not about self-promotion. "Look at what I am doing for God."
6. We must glorify Him, and this occurs by using His provisions from His grace. We don't get to set up the criterion here; God sets up the criterion.

Production of Divine Good

1. Whatever you do, do in the power of the Spirit
2. Rebound must be consistently applied. You need to begin any Christian service filled with the Holy Spirit.
3. This is the only way that deeds of the Holy Spirit can be categorized as divine good. Do you think you can do divine good on your own?
- 4.
5. The maturing believer empowered by the Holy Spirit produces deeds which meet God's standards and gain His approval.
6. Here is how: motivation is critical. Reciprocal love. Advancing and maturing. You are motivated to further His plan and not your own. You do not anyone to end up on the Lake of Fire, and you are motivated not to see that. This is the mental attitude for Christian service. You are accomplishing the practical purposes that God designed us for and we are properly motivated to glorify Him.

Anything which the unbeliever and the carnal believer can do by way of good deeds can only be human good. The unbeliever never escapes the control of the human spirit. The believer who is carnal chooses not to escape the control of the sin nature. Nothing of divine good is accomplished under those conditions. The unbeliever cannot produce divine good.

Rom. 8:8 Those who are in the flesh cannot please God. This includes believers out of fellowship and all unbelievers. Only divine good meets the standard. Paul tells us that we must serve over and above. These are the deeds with intrinsic and eternal value.

Eph. 2:10 For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand, that we should walk in them. When we are regenerated, we have eternal life with the 39 irrevocable absolutes. We are in Christ and share everything that He has. We are created for good works, which God prepared beforehand.

The Divine Good God Expects

1. We are created as regenerate people with the same spiritual life and part of that is the spiritual assets which we receive.
2. This is a life that is entirely outlined in the plan of God from eternity past.
3. We are designed beforehand to walk in God's plan, including in His service. That is a part of the plan. Our service is all a part of the plan of God.
4. We should walk in these good works, in these deeds. This walking produces divine good. It is defined as gold, silver and precious stones. Our human good will make a good bonfire at the Throne of Jesus Christ.
5. Divine good is what is acceptable to the perfect standards of God. There is nothing else. This is the only thing which pleases God. Rom. 8:8
6. Divine good fulfills the standards of God. It is the only way to fulfill His standards.
7. Divine good receives recognition and reward in heaven. It is the only thing which receives recognition and rewards in heaven.
8. There is human good, which is charity and helps the human race, but it is not permanent. Although human good can serve altruistic services to mankind, it carries no weight with God. There is no recognition. There will be no "Good servant" if there are a pile of good deeds in front of you.

It is how and why you do it. How is in the power of God the Holy Spirit. Our work is not in vain before the Lord. This is the end of 1Cor. 15. It does not mention resurrection, and yet it caps this chapter off. There is no greater scope of doctrine on the resurrection except right here.

So why is this verse here? Why are we told about this, at the end of the resurrection? There is no meaning apart from the resurrection. There is no meaning to Jesus Christ if He is just some guy who died. It is not better than the Muslim religion or Buddhism. It is all just stuff. Without the resurrection, Christian service is nothing more than relative good deeds.

This is the final point; we made it to the end of this chapter.

1Cor. 15:58 Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

1Cor. 15:58 Consequently, my beloved brothers, progressively come to be seated and settled ones – immovable (unswerving) ones – continuing to always be surrounded by more than enough (superabounding) within the midst of the Lord's work (= Yahweh's or Christ's deed or act), having seen and now knowing that your fatiguing labor (toil) does not exist without contents (is not empty) within and in union with [the] Lord [= Christ or Yahweh].

This is the last great extensive doctrine in Corinthians. 1Cor. 16 seems to be anticlimactic, and there are all of these seemingly innocuous subjects and a lot of greetings, and the final chapt of this great book has minimal doctrine in it. So, why did God the Holy Spirit preserve such a mundane chapter? Have you read that thing? Where is the doctrine in greetings? What spiritual advance can we get in this chapter?

Why Should We Care about These Comings and Goings, or These Greetings?

1. One obvious answer is a personal touch. There is a sense of a real relationship in the ministry. Here are personal instructions for the congregation as a whole. The work of the ministry must continue. There are many business items in this work, behind the scenes information. Bobby changed the bulletin, because it was a crucified Christ and Jesus is not longer on the cross. This chapter is like grabbing the Berachah bulletin and reading through it and finding out what is going on. This is a collection of historical facts, as mundane as they are. There are mundane activities which occur from day to day in the time of the Apostle Paul as it is today. Paul has been pounding them with great doctrines, but this is, life goes on
2. Secondly, there is still much to do in the plan of God as long as we are alive.
3. Thirdly, everyone has their place in the church. Each gift plays a part in the church, in the function of the church and for the execution of the plan of God.
4. Fourth: there are activities and service going on for the Lord.
5. You advance and you make application. 1Cor. 16 is all of the things which go on in the local church. Let it happen. Our everyday spiritual life must progress.
6. As we grow and advance, it does so in humdrum administrative ways from time to time. Sometimes we think of Christian service as being exciting and dramatic, but it is not always that. Sometimes, it is just simple day to day stuff. The soldiers faces hours and days of boredom, interspersed with short time periods of stark terror.

This is where Paul is going with this chapter. There are other reasons why Paul wrote this chapter.

Preview of coming attractions Sunday. This chapter proves why this is an authentic book of the canon of Scripture.

Lesson #1117

1Cor. 16:1 August 29, 2010

Sunday 1

Why should we care about all of these salutations and greetings and travel itinerary?

There is leadership in this church which is recognized. We also see what sorts of things go beyond the scenes. We get to see what goes on behind the scenes of Paul's ministry and what is going on with Paul's team. We learn the nuts and the bolts of this behind the scenes activity.

The work of the ministry must continue, and there is a routine for those in the ministry.

This is doctrine with a personal focus. We get an impression of reality. There is a nuts and bolts reality which comes through loud and clear. This convinces of an authentic communicate. It lends credibility and veracity to the whole thing.

Many tried to forge portions of Scripture. Often centuries later. Paul knew the people in Corinth personally. If someone tried to, at this time period, tried to fake an epistle to the Corinthians, they would know immediately that the epistle was a fake. It is a personal touch which indicates that this epistle is genuine. For the greetings at the end to be inaccurate, the Corinthians would have trashed such an epistle. Some would try to get their false doctrines across or they are malicious or whatever; and such a false epistle would be recognized immediately.

1Cor. 15:58 would have been a great ending to this epistle; it would have been a dramatic close; but Paul affirms in 1Cor. 16 that he is really Paul. He has built relationships with various people in the church.

The Importance of 1Cor. 16

1. Because of chapter 16, the Corinthians unequivocally accepted this epistle as legitimate; and so, we accept it.
2. Therefore, in the time in which it was written, this epistle was recognized as inspired and approved as accurate doctrine.
3. Therefore the Corinthians utilized this epistle for doctrine. It was studied and passed along to other churches.
4. This epistle continued to be used this way in following generations. This epistle still stands even today. We know it is divinely inspired because the early church accepted it.
5. This is one way to confirm that this epistle must be included as part of the whole canon of Scripture. This is one way people made a decision to include this book in the canon of Scripture. It enjoyed continued acceptance in generation after generation.

This chapter opens with a doctrine and a personal instruction to the church. It is about the giving and processing of money received in offerings. A principle of Christian service is giving; it is a part of worship. Paul wants the Corinthians to take an offering in the same way that the Galatians did. In dealing with money, we can hear the voice of authority here. When it comes to money, someone ought to have authority to properly dispense it.

There is a precedent which was set in Galatia. There were many churches in the province of Galatia, which is today modern-day Turkey. It was, at one time, the center of Christianity. Today, it is a firmly Muslim country.

Paul had authority over all of the churches, and all of the epistles are normative for all churches. Apostolic authority disappeared with the last Apostle. There are no more Apostles. All of the doctrine of all the churches is now in writing and it is now available. You do not need anyone else to rule over the church. Doctrine; the truth of God's Word, rules over the church. Church authority is now local rather than global. The pastor is the authority over a local congregation. Sometimes, there are those who want to dictate doctrines which are not found in the Word of God. They want to depart from the authority of the local church and grab authority over several churches, which is evil.

Collection is λογεια, which is a late koine word, found in the Papyri and it refers to a collection of money, and it was originally used to collect money for some god or for some heathen temple. Generally seen as a collection for religious purposes. Paul is not talking about passing the plate in a local church. This offering would be forwarded to believers in Jerusalem from other churches.

We don't, in Berachah, take up a collection, generally to support other churches (although Berachah has done this in the past). Sometimes, a portion of Berachah funds are used for the needy.

The believers in Jerusalem were dramatically persecuted unlike any other church in any other area. The pharisees and sadducees had a great deal of practice in this area when it comes to persecuting believers. They or their fathers persecuted the Christ. Rom. 15:26 tells us about the poor saints in Jerusalem. Paul loved the Jews and wanted to help them.

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

Lesson #1118    Acts 4:32, 34–35    1Cor. 16:1    August 29, 2010    Sunday 2

The Corinthians could get letters from anywhere, and there were many who forged letters. They wanted to change doctrines or they wanted to mess with the people who believed in Jesus Christ. This was passed down as a part of the canon of Scripture. This is from the Apostle Paul.

Dan Quayle's wife was a taper and news stations even set up in the auditorium. And there was one reporter who was going to expose this church for the weird church that it is. Berachah passes the plate in the first service, but it is not a subtle request for money. Apparently, this surprised the newsman.

Paul directs the church in Corinth to collect some money, as have the churches in Galatian have done, and this was done for a church in Jerusalem. Some churches ask for a percentage and some will even expect a direct deposit. Paul asked for an offering for these people. Paul mentions the saints in Jerusalem as being very poor. Why were these people in Jerusalem poor? They were persecuted by the religious leaders in Jerusalem. This was a continuation of what happened to our Lord. There is another reason as well, and it is possibly their own fault. Acts 4:32.

Acts 4:32 And the multitude of those who believed were of one heart and one soul. And not one said that any of the things which he possessed was his own. But they had all things common. This is church socialism; private socialism among Christians. Nobody regarded property as being under personal control. It is like gathering together and assigning all of our resources to Berachah Church and then let Berachah determine how this money was to be spent. This is a directive that no one wants to hear. When someone was in need, this money would be distributed to those in need. This was church communism, even though there was a good motivation here, as occurs by some with regards to socialism. This was Christian love and they wanted to help our their brothers and sisters.

Acts 4:34–35 For neither was anyone needy among them, for as many as were owners of lands or houses sold them and brought the prices of the things that were sold, and they laid them down at the apostles' feet. And distribution was made to every man according as he had need.

This is an excess of emotion over knowledge and this may account for the poverty of the Jerusalem church. It simply does not work. The results are often less than the group at large. This approach did not help everyone in the end; it ruined them financially. There was outside pressure to conform and some resented this. It is not the way that we purposed this in our heart.

In government dole, there is often some favoritism involved; there is always corruption in a system like that. There are rip offs and cons within a church. There a televangelists who have enriched themselves dramatically. People who send in money are often conned. They beg for money to enrich themselves.

People want so much money; and others who are in real need, do not get money. Community property works if there is no selfishness or indolence in the group. What if you work your tail off and all the money goes into the same pot? There is no utopia from that system. Even the church cannot make this system work. This approach kills motivation; these are immature believers in the church in Jerusalem. This is a system which is entirely flawed. Church socialism does not work. It is not the way to care for the needy. It ends up impoverishing people, even Christians with a love motivation. Christians have sin natures and giving cannot be enforced through confiscation of property. That is taxation or, worse, robbery.

This church socialism was not continued in any other church and it was abandoned there. When you lower taxes and encourage business, prosperity is increased for everyone. Socialism in a church violates 2Cor. 9:7 Let each one give, as he purposes in his heart, not grudgingly, or of necessity, for God loves a cheerful giver.

Giving is voluntary; it is not mandated. Tithe means 10%. That is a tithe. How is that giving from your own volition? Don't you ever tithe!

There was poverty due to persecution by unbelievers. There was the lessening of incomes due to church socialism. Another reason for poverty in Jerusalem was the economy in Jerusalem was based upon one thing. Our economy has become less and less productive. There was an influx of pilgrims and visitors and that was their main industry at that time.

When tongues was first spoken, it was because there were so many pilgrims from so many different places. For these reasons, the Jerusalem church was in perpetual poverty.

Paul has some good reasons. He wants to give to the needy; he wants to help the poor. But Paul's primary motive is, he has a special part in his own heart for his race, the Jews. He could not believe that he was the Apostle to the gentiles. Paul went to the gentiles and he still had a soft spot for the Jews. He wanted to help the destitute in Jerusalem. He also wanted solidarity and grace orientation.

The Jewish Christians and the believers in these other cities did not know each other; they might never meet. But they were brothers and sisters in Christ and they were all a part of the same body in Christ. If we have believed in Jesus Christ, even if our theology is completely off base. That is what is aggravating at times; but we are all part of the body of Christ.

Most of the churches of Galatia were poor, but they gave liberally and they did it happily, properly motivated. It is all about grace orientation, and not about money. We decide whether Berachah stays open or not. There are so many televangelists who do not understand grace orientation.

If you deprive your family in order to give to the church, you are worse than an infidel.

A seminary guy asked Bobby about giving and asked, "How do you get enough money with this policy?" Berachah has survived for years without having to ask for money; that is a testimony to God's grace.

Feminine noun logia (λογία) [pronounced lohg-EE-ah] which means, a collection of money gathered for the relief of the poor. Thayer definition only: Strong's #3048.

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

Lesson #1119

1Cor. 16:1 September 1, 2010

Wednesday

Bobby had an amazing day of study and completed 5 verses of study in 1 morning. When Paul wrote this chapter, the believers in Jerusalem were destitute. Rom. 15:26 Acts

3 Reasons for Jerusalem Church to Be Poverty Stricken

1. They converted to Christianity, but they remained in Jerusalem, and because of that, they were severely persecuted. The persecution was done by Jews and Gentiles (Romans). Jesus Christ died for all believers. Acts 8:1 very difficult to make a living when you are being hounded and persecuted. A consequence is privation. China is a good example for today. Those who are known in China and not killed or in jail, are in poverty.

There was also Christian socialism, which was thriving in Jerusalem. It was a church society based upon collectivism. Acts 4:32 Many have taken this one passage and have touted Christian socialism in one form or another. Acts 4:32 And the multitude of those who believed were of one heart and one soul. And not one said that any of the things which he possessed was his own. But they had all things common. The church had all of the property and they were all financially dependent upon the church. When someone was in need, some of the property or good was sold and distributed. This was essentially a church dole; a Christian communism. All of the Jerusalem was in poverty and the poverty of the whole group was exacerbated by this socialism, despite their good intentions. Poverty is not the goal of Christianity. In the Middle Ages, thousands took vows of poverty. This does not make a person a great Christian. Money is such an issue in the human race. But money is not the root of all evil; it is the love of money that is the problem. As believers grow to spiritual maturity, this focus on money is replaced by love for God. Money falls into its proper place. God ordained that man would work by the sweat of his brow.

- a. This was a flawed system, because someone had to determine who gets what. Maybe there was a panel or a couple of deacons. The common wealth was redistributed to those in the greatest need. They did this based upon need and upon the limited resources of the church. There was no equal distribution. History has taught us that throwing everything into one big pot and doling out the resources never works.
- b. The sin nature of believers and unbelievers is never negated by a collective system. There is always selfishness, indolence; and there is fraud among Christians. Bobby cannot tell us how many people are robbed and defrauded in a church. Deacons, pastors, etc. Berachah has an independent audit every single year and they are careful about this issue.
- c. Some people worked harder and got the same amount or less. When you work hard, you make more, but then you just give it up. It works this way in national socialism and in Christian socialism. Some try to tout this as a wonderful system of Christianity. Is he commending this poverty?
- d. This system inevitably contradicts 2Cor. 9:7 where God loves the well-motivated believer. This does not require for us to give up everything. Every time you take up an offering, giving is worship. Giving, like communion, is worship. Everything is just a necessity when it is required.
- e. Then there is the economy of Jerusalem as well. This was an economy based upon people visiting Jerusalem. This tourism. occurred less and less.

Now, what about Paul asking for money? People take this as normative. So we need to sort this out. Community assets diminish and distribution is reduced month after month to a level of poverty for all. There is not a socialistic country in the history of the world which has not been poverty stricken. Capitalism, with all of its faults, is still the best system for incentive and production and wealth of a nation.

The Jews could have done something about the collectivism; but they could not deal with the other problems. This church collectivism was mentioned here alone. It was never sanctioned again by the Apostles and it did not work.

So Paul seeks a one-time gift from the Corinthians for the churches in Jerusalem. Paul, an outsider, is asking for a collection for a poverty stricken church elsewhere. There is still a mental attitude involved.

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

Paul is calling for an offering. They are to give like those in Galatia. V. 3 tells us that this is for the Jewish believers in Jerusalem. Paul's sole purpose was for gentile believers to help destitute Jewish believers. This is a new dispensation and the church is a new entity. The body of Christ was key here.

The Corinthians often had the wrong motivation for doing things. They fought over which faction was the best; and there is wrong motivation all the way to chapter 16.

The Galatians were poor and the Corinthians were not. Paul did not want the Corinthians to feel as if they were singled out because they are wealthy. Getting hit up for money because you are wealthy is wrong. The Corinthians and other churches were going to make offerings. Giving is an across the board situation. The amount of money is not the issue. Churches and ministries often find the wealthiest people in the congregation and they put them on a board so that they can make up the difference. Wealth is so exploited by Christians all of the time. For these various boards, you look for those with the greatest talent and properly gifted. Paul indicated that the Corinthians were not the only ones giving to the Jews. All of the dirty details of giving always comes to us. Paul did not want this church to resent his directives for giving. This fosters grudging giving and it violates the proper mental attitude for giving.

Berachah Church supports missionaries and other ministries. We are all part of a team; we all support evangelism. Berachah supported a church in this town for a long time.

There was a problem between the Jews and Gentiles; there was animosity and distrust. In Paul's thinking, he wanted them to know that they both belonged to the same body of Christ. There can be no animosity on a team.

The Jews in Jerusalem were suspicious of Paul. He spent all of this time with the gentiles. He worked with the gentiles; and they were concerned. Paul wanted them not to be suspicious. Paul cares about the Jews and he is asking these gentiles to help out. Many Jews rejected the mystery doctrine because of this distrust. So Paul wanted to demonstrate his care and concern. He wanted to get across the principle of giving and the motivation of giving. Secondly, he did this to alleviate their cynicism and apprehension about him and about gentile believers. Paul cared about the Jews; he wanted to go back and minister to the Jews.

Paul went to Jerusalem instead of Rome, so God took him to Rome as a prisoner. This is how much he cared about the Jews. So he directed gentile churches to help out here. Paul also did this to highlight this new dispensation. This was a dispensation change. The Gentiles were getting it. Paul wanted all of the churches to realize that the Jews were part of the church. How and what was money all about in the age of Israel? Taxation; tithing. The Jews tithed. Paul never mentions tithing. That would violate 2Cor. 9:7.

The condition of poverty of the Jewish believers in Jerusalem was about to be dealt with by the gentile believers elsewhere.

Paul was sensitive toward the poor. He wanted to help them. Paul does remember the poor; he thinks about them. Paul collected this offering.

Paul should not be involved with money here. He has many other things to do. He is not the collector and distributor of money. He wants others to handle this and to take it there themselves. He was going to send letters with them, but then he went along because he could not help himself.

This was first a relief fund for Jerusalem believers who were destitute and suspicious. Secondly, and most importantly, to gain their trust; to indicate that they were members of the body of Christ. This would get them to accept mystery doctrine, which Paul himself was teaching. Finally, he was highlighting the principle of giving.

Διατάσσω = to direct, to order, to command. Paul is not making a directive. Paul is not threatening them. This is a directive to the church; they must not give grudgingly, even though Paul commands it. Paul had the authority to tell them to give the money. But that would violate 2Cor. 9:7. There is no call for a specific percentage here either.

Verb: diatassô (διατάσσω) [pronounced dee-ahT-AHS-soh], which means to arrange, appoint, ordain, prescribe, give order. Thayer Definition only. Strong's #1299.

Giving is the support for every ministry. However, too many churches charge for this or that. Giving is an important commitment. If you feel pressured, then your motivation is wrong. You need to give from your gratitude for the Word of God and for the teaching of the Word of God.

Giving to sustain a ministry never means to deprive your family of food, shelter or clothing. Such a person is worse than an infidel. This does not make them an infidel; it makes them worse than one. This is shameful. There is not capacity for love here. Giving with the wrong motivation is wrong.

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

Bobby is amazed as to how quickly these verses are going.

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

Λογία is a collection of money. This is for the saints in Jerusalem, and this would be akin to the giving of the Galatian church. This is a very practical part of church life. Paul is going to address the giving and the handling of money. Giving is a very critical subject. Grace giving is the only way for the church to be supported. Giving is also the means of charity. We have discussed what has occurred in the Jerusalem church. They had a collective system; they had church socialism, defined in Acts 4:32. They did have a good motivation and they attempted to help those in need. The church, for awhile, prospered doing this. But, it inevitably degenerated. The result of socialism eventually comes to an end. Giving is also for the purpose of ameliorating needs inside and outside the church.

Administrative leadership is required. Paul makes it clear that is not his purpose. There are others who must take care of this. Paul is going to clarify in this opening section, this doctrine of giving. He directs the churches in Galatia to make a donation; an offering. It may sound as if Paul is saying, "Dig deep; give me as much money as you can."

this offering is for a specific purpose; it is for a relief effort, and he is highlighting the principle of giving. Paul has a final reason which is very important; to reveal the new dispensation, the Church Age.

So, why is Paul looking to relieve poverty in Jerusalem if there is poverty elsewhere? Poverty was not specific to Jerusalem. Paul selected Jerusalem because those who were poverty stricken were Jews. This is a principle that he wants to get across, to develop a union between Jews and Gentiles. There was animosity and distrust between Jewish and gentile believers. The Jews in Jerusalem were very suspicious of Paul and his work among the gentiles. It is as if Paul, a Jew, had abandoned them. Paul had a specific purpose here; and there was a resentment between Paul and the Jews. The Gentiles were not that thrilled with the Jews. Paul could not allow this division to continue. He reasoned that, if Gentiles helped impoverished believers in Jews, this would go a long way to improve relationships between them.

Everone who expressed faith alone in Christ alone was a part of this new dispensation. The Jews as a specific entity used by God was set aside. The Jews saw themselves as God's people,

In this directive of an offering to the Corinthian church does not imply that the churches have no volition in this manner; nor does this mean that they would be ostracized for not giving. The church cannot give grudgingly. Paul cannot contradict this approach to giving. 2Cor. 9:7 is the proper mental attitude.

Some churches come to these passages and try to fleece their congregation. No one ought to give under pressure and no one ought to give and bring deprivation upon their family. We do not have the right to put our own family in deprivation. Giving money is not the issue. There are priorities of needs. If a Christian does not live up to the best of their ability, then we are worse than infidels.

Paul is giving instructions as per his leadership over more than one church. Paul had apostolic authority over every church, so that he can make legitimate directives to every local church. Paul is bringing to their attention the needs of other believers, and he is also prescribing the proper way to help out those other believers.

Paul is addressing administrative leadership, and he expects them to act with integrity and with competence. This is critical. The correct response is dependent upon positive volition of that administrative leadership. This same administrative care that Paul is addressing here is necessary today in handing the donations to the church. There must be leadership and correct motivation. It must be done correctly, transparency, correct motivation and the money needs to be handled with integrity.

Bobby has been asked before why the plate is passed in Berachah. Isn't that a subtle form of asking for money? Isn't that reminding people that they need to give? You understand giving and you understand that it is necessary; so you know the principle. This is not to shake us down. When the Apostle Paul asked for an offering at a church for a church service, it has a doctrinal purpose. The mental attitude and the doctrinal application is all important. Anytime we worship the Lord, this must be with the proper motivation and powered by God the Holy Spirit. This is an opportunity for this to occur. There is nothing wrong with reminding people of grace orientation. Do not give, if you are not expressing grace orientation. You need the desire to support the ministry, the dissemination of Bible doctrine.

There is a church down the street that passes buckets and they pass it a lot. Giving is a necessity and a principle of doctrine. And Bobby always reminds us of the criterion of giving.

The policy of Berachah Church for giving is posted on every DVD and MP3 and on all of the literature and on the church bulletin. This stuns people. When gratitude for the Word of God motivates a person to give, then we have that opportunity. If Berachah cannot survive without grace giving, the doors will close. "You don't make an issue out of giving? How do you stay in business?"

Berachah is the most valuable piece of property in Houston. A sheik offered all kinds of money to build a church 3x this size. There was a faction a long time ago that wanted to sell this church. People get weird when there is a lot of money involved, and they get big plans of what to do with all of that money.

The procedure for handling money should be precise; checked and rechecked. This is not out of distrust, but it is the proper way to handle God's money. There should never be a hint of malfeasance ever. There have always been precise procedures for the giving of money and how to handle it. Money is one of the biggest issues in the Word of God. God's grace is the only support in giving.

This is often the problem with mega-churches. Their focus is not on teaching doctrine or motivating believers to grace orientation. They have all of these big programs to keep going. They want all of these peripheral things. They want the activities of the church supported. They are great at fund-raising. Some even have fund-raising dinners, like a political organization.

Paul is calling for an offering for a group that is in need.

2Cor. 9:6 The point is this: whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows bountifully will also reap bountifully.

There can be blessing to the person who gives. There is the satisfaction with functioning in the plan of God. Also a similar passage in Proverbs. There can be material blessing to God to the giver. Material blessings from the grace of God has a purpose beyond providing us with a better lifestyle. People think, "If I give enough, then I will reap bountifully and get to live a great lifestyle." The person who is blessed with more material and more money is now the possessor with a greater wherewithal for giving. He can give as he has been blessed. He does so as a response as one who has been graced out. Money from the grace of God should never engender arrogance in the soul.

We are not responsible for judging what others have or do not have. We are not to judge how anyone else is doing; that is self righteous and legalistic and such a one has lost track of the source of his blessing. It is hard for some to be grace oriented if they have a talent for making money. Be grace oriented and be thankful to the Lord with what you are given. You give as you are prospered.

God does not bless a right thing done in a wrong way. Giving centers not in your checkbook, but in your mind. It is the right mental attitude sins that we must have. 2Cor. 8:2 it is a right mental attitude. Mental attitude is all-important to God.

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

Lesson #1121 Acts 4:32–35 1Cor. 16:1 2Cor. 8:12 9:6 9/5/10 Sunday 1

Paul is directing the Galatian churches and the Corinthian churches to make an offering. Galatia provides the precedence. There is a donation being gathered for the destitute of Jerusalem. The situation in Jerusalem was desperate; they were hounded and harassed, and many were put to death. There were the Romans and Jewish unbelievers who persecuted the Jerusalem church. These believers in the church had already made an attempt among themselves to come to the aid of their fellow believers. There was a little too much emotion and immaturity. The congregation was of one heart and soul. Not one of them held claim to private property, but they put their money and goods together, and this helped for awhile.

Acts 4:32–35 Now the full number of those who believed were of one heart and soul, and no one said that any of the things that belonged to him was his own, but they had everything in common. And with great power the apostles were giving their testimony to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and great grace was upon them all. There was not a needy person among them, for as many as were owners of lands or houses sold them and brought the proceeds of what was sold and laid it at the apostles' feet, and it was distributed to each as any had need.

This collectivism was done very early during the time of the church, and this occurred very early on, soon after the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. Now, this was 30 years later, and this church socialism was not working. They ran out of money. Obviously, if you sell all of your goods and property, there will be wealth for awhile until it ran out.

Romans was written when Paul was in Macedonia, and this is the same offering that Paul is talking about. Achaia is Greece and it includes Corinth. This was the mid-50's and all of these churches were involved; and Paul, in his travels, asked on behalf of the Jerusalem church.

In Berachah Church, we follow the Biblical principles of giving; but we have to know what those principles are.

The direction of any offering cannot clash with free will. If Paul presented this as an absolute requirement, then he would be violating the concept of giving. The correct mental attitude is all-important in giving. Your mental attitude needs to be right in order to give. Only the mental attitude that is correct for giving need be applied.

Whenever there is a problem with giving, then a church needs to look at itself and determine, what are we doing wrong? Giving is an act of worship that commemorates the grace of God. Giving is part of our Christian service when we are properly motivated.

Paul is leaving the actual giving up to the individuals. That is a matter of individual choice and it must reflect the proper mental attitude.

There are certainly members of a church who cannot give. Some were slaves and they had no resources; others were too poor to contribute. Paul could not demand from them what they did not have. They were not required to put themselves further in debt in order to deal with the need of the Jerusalem church.

When churches demand money which makes it a hardship on their congregation, then they are wrong. Scripture is all about renovating our thinking. Giving is simply a by-product of a good mental attitude.

Even if we have no money, and even if we cannot pull enough money out of our own pocket to eat lunch, the right mental attitude is as acceptable to God as actual giving.

2Cor. 8:12 For if the readiness is there, it is acceptable according to what a person has, not according to what he does not have. The correct mental attitude is important. Never put any money in the plate out of guilt.

2Cor. 9:6 The point is this: whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows bountifully will also reap bountifully. If you don't put much into the ground, you don't get many crops. This sounds like, if you don't sow enough, you won't get much back. Giving is not about receiving a return on your money.

Blessing from God is always a by-product of the mental attitude of grace orientation. God's blessing is a commemoration of grace in your soul.

There is great satisfaction as seeing great missionaries on the field and providing Bible doctrine for those who believe. Our giving helps us to remain a client nation.

Material blessing received from God are in part so that we can further his ministry. Having nice things is a nice by-product, but we need to continue to advance. Grace is, God gives us whether we deserve it or not. God blesses us with material blessings so that we might turn around and give; and we are given this to express God's grace from a mental attitude of grace orientation.

Remember one more thing: do not have the attitude to give in order to impress other people with your generosity. You have approbation lust rather than grace orientation.

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

Lesson #1122

1Cor. 16:1–2 September 5, 2010

Sunday 2

3 Issues Covered in the Early Service

1. No request for money is mandatory; free will giving is the only mode. People make this out to be a demand on the Corinthians.
2. Even without money, if the mental attitude is correct, that is acceptable to God. If you do not have money.
3. Giving is not about receiving a return on your money; it is not about receiving a return on your gift.
4. Giving for a group outside of the church is valid, even for today; just as these other churches did on behalf of Jerusalem.

Many churches may support the same missionaries. There are several churches which support these missionaries, and this is a good thing. Not all churches has the wherewithal to take care of many missionaries.

The Red Cross was originally a product of Christianity, and the red cross stood for the blood soaked cross of Jesus Christ. It is no longer a Christian organization, but it was a worthy cause to support.

It is reasonable to support certain Christian organizations; and Berachah does this with various missions and missionaries and missionary organizations. This is good and right when a ministry is based upon sound doctrine.

There are some ministers and ministries and missionaries who are not above lying in order to get money. Power and money makes a person into a different person. When money is thrown into the bin, people get strange.

Berachah Church sits on the most expensive piece of property in Houston; but when this was known, there were those who wanted to do this in order to deal with all kinds of money. If we are not doing the right thing, God will yank that money carpet from under. Whenever there is a lot of money involved, sometimes integrity goes right out the window. Do not waste money on falsehood. Support those whose purpose is based upon gospel information.

Berachah does not give out a list of approved charities. Berachah will direct support to those who are dedicated to the dissemination of Bible doctrine.

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

Paul is not asking for all property and goods to be turned over to him. We give as we are prospered; we do not put everything into the church treasury. The doctrine of giving must always precede the act of giving. You can never separate these principles; the principle and its application. From doctrine comes the motivation; the right motivation. From that motivation, we are motivated to give. Giving is worship and it is grace orientation expressed. We give out of appreciation for the grace of God, and we return that grace toward someone else. What possible worship is there when you feel resentment or you have been pressured to give with some sort of compulsion.

Giving belongs to all believers as a part of their Christian service. The mental attitude comes first. Paul is talking about a worship service and he is talking about giving.

The Greek word is σαββατον in the genitive singular.

Neuter_noun: sabbaton (σαββατον) [pronounced SAHB-baht-on], which means 1) the seventh day of each week which was a sacred festival on which the Israelites were required to abstain from all work; 1a) the institution of the sabbath, the law for keeping holy every seventh day of the week; 1b) a single sabbath, sabbath day; 2) seven days, a week. Thayer Definition only. Strong's #4521.

Why Did Paul Choose Sunday?

1. The feasts some occurred on Sunday
2. Christ arose on Sunday.
3. The church began on a Sunday.

How Was Such a Distinction Made? We Are Not Bound to Sunday for an Assembly Worship?

There are several reasons for this

1. There is circumstantial evidence. John 20:19, 26
2. Without the resurrection, there is no Christianity.
3. John called Sunday the Lord's day.
4. This was the beginning in the Apostolic church. Acts 20:7
5. Therefore, it was traditional and it had some practical application.
6. Therefore, Sunday was adopted by the early church and continues today as our tradition.
7. Any day of the week is suitable for the worship of Jesus Christ.

Some go to other churches other than Berachah because they are lazy and people do not like discipline.

Application of Giving

1. Giving ought to be a systematic thing; the plate is never passed during a Bible class night. Why don't we do this once a month or once a year? Church expenses are ongoing. So offerings need to be picked up consistently.
2. The public aspect of giving should never be a time to indulge in approbation lust. Don't pull out your wallet, shake out a couple of hundreds, and drop it in.

Let each one of you refers to all of those in Corinth, but this applies only to those with the correct mental attitude. Paul could have gone about and just gone after the rich people. Did he carry around pictures of those sad children to engender sympathy and guilt? Paul doesn't go after those who are less affluent, thinking, you know, they can't really give much anyway. But giving is a mental attitude, and therefore, Paul directs this toward everyone. No one is left out.

This Is Directed Toward All Believers in a Church

1. The intent and correct principle is for all to participate. Paul doesn't give a principle for just a chosen few. This is for the entire church.
2. Since giving was a part of worship, all believers were to be involved. No believer should be left out, since this is a part of worship.
3. There is a unity here as there always is in the body of Christ.
4. This is a service to the Lord that all can render. Spiritual gift or not. Spiritual gift is how we serve the Lord.

5. Regardless of the amount given, or none, all are included in participation in the serving of Jesus Christ and His Word. The emphasis is not on the amount given but on our mental attitude.
6. All should be involved in this service, but only with the right mental attitude and without depriving one's own household.

1Cor. 16:2 On the first day of every week let each of you put on one side and store up at his home whatever gain has been granted to him; so that whenever I come, there may then be no collections going on.

Lesson #1123 Mark 12:41–44 1Cor. 16:2 September 8, 2010 Wednesday

1Cor. 16:2 On the first day of every week let each of you put on one side and store up at his home whatever gain has been granted to him; so that whenever I come, there may then be no collections going on.

Paul has directed an offering for the destitute believers in Jerusalem, it now makes perfect sense that he tell us how and in what way this offering ought to be made. It is to be made on the sabbaton. sabbaton (σάββατον) [pronounced SAHB-baht-on], which means 1) the seventh day of each week which was a sacred festival on which the Israelites were required to abstain from all work; 1a) the institution of the sabbath, the law for keeping holy every seventh day of the week; 1b) a single sabbath, sabbath day; 2) seven days, a week. Thayer Definition only. Strong's #4521.

This offering is to be taken the first day of each week. It was the assembly worship day every week. Part of that worship was to take up an offering. This was not an arbitrary choice by Paul. There were precedents for a Sunday assembly and for the offering to be taken on that day. It was a convenient day for the meeting of the early church. Most of them were able to get away from work on Sunday. They walked or rode and some went some distance. There were no DVD's or MP3's and this day needed to suffice for Bible class. The most likely day for most of them to come together.

There were also theological reasons for Paul to take Sunday. This was a dispensational break from the Jewish Sabbath. It was a dispensational choice. There was some historical factors in Paul's choice. The feast of the firstfruits and Pentecost began on Sunday. Jesus arose on Sunday. The church began on a Sunday. This became the tradition, one which was passed on to today.

The opportunity for giving was a systematic option of giving. Sunday is the day of worship. Giving is done on that assembly day. We build reciprocal love and grace and doctrine in our souls.

We need to have some sort of divine viewpoint on a daily basis; it is too easy to get lost in human viewpoint. There are only a few hours in a week that you spend in Bible doctrine.

We meet on a systematic weekly day; we follow the tradition that Paul has set for assembly worship. Sunday is not some magical or mandated day. It is not more holy than any other day. Every day is a day that the Lord has made. Every day is a day that we can pray and worship. This is public assembly for worship. Every Christian has a part in the offering. This is not a passage that Paul is directing only toward the wealthy. Every believer has this option. We all participate as a part of the whole body of Christ.

Giving and All Believers

1. Since giving was a part of worship, all believers are involved in worship.
2. Giving is a service for the Lord that all can render. It does not matter what your spiritual gift is when you give.
3. There is a unity here. All are participating, as a part of the body of Christ. It is about unity; it is about a corporate witness.

All are involved, regardless of the amount given and the spiritual gift. How much you give has nothing to do with giving. The emphasis is upon the mental attitude.

Closing Points

1. It is the mental attitude which is all-important. That is true in everything; and certainly true with giving.
2. Giving is neither compulsory nor is it oppressive. We are never compelled to give nor should this be difficult for us financially.
3. Since the principle of giving includes a correct mental attitude and motivation being present, then it is most likely to be the attitude of a growing believer. Spiritual growth is involved in the attitude.
4. The immature believer can certainly understand this principle and give. They can worship to the best of their capacity; and not giving grudgingly or out of necessity. It is too easy for the immature believer to give for the wrong reasons.
5. Giving is connected to worship and worship is deepened as maturity is gained. There is that connection in giving. Our service counts for the Lord when our mental attitude is correct. This is when our thinking and action is rewardable.
6. Reciprocal love and grace orientation principle, which increase with maturity.
7. Reciprocal love and grace orientation are motivations to give.

All of this means that, even though giving is necessary to support a ministry; the offering has a personal spiritual intent.

Giving is strictly between us and the Lord.

More Closing Points.

1. Giving should be accomplished in our own soul. That is where it begins. We offer to Him a commemoration of His grace.

2. Giving should always reflect the correct motivation and mental attitude that comes from metabolized doctrine.
3. These are the essential elements of freedom in the soul to worship. You will know the truth and the truth will set you free.
4. You have the grace orientation to give without strings or personal gain. How many people use money with a string attached to it. If you are going to give someone money, do not expect them to do what you want to do. If you think they will be destructive with it, then don't give it.
5. The spiritual intent of giving is highlighting mental attitude and doctrine in Christian service. This is not must giving money. Money is a vehicle of expression, but that is not what giving is all about.
6. If someone has no money, and no money to give, out of a job or poor or whatever reason, they can still fulfill this principle through a grace oriented attitude. You are giving to God, even without dumping money into a plate.

Grace orientation is the only motivation for giving.

To put aside is not a command but an urgent request. Paul makes an urgent request for an urgent need. It is in the context of money.

There is a specific savings here; the idea is to set aside money and it is saving for giving. It is putting aside money in order to give.

Present active participle of thêsaurizô (θησαυρίζω) [pronounced ]thay-sow-rid'-zo which means 1) to gather and lay up, to heap up, store up; 1a) to accumulate riches; 1b) to keep in store, store up, reserve; 2) metaphorically so to live from day to day as to increase either the bitterness or the happiness of one's consequent lot. Thayer only. Strong's #2343.

This is like setting aside money in a bank account. There is never to be some outside authority telling you the amount that is necessary. If a church or a church bully dictates to this, then you are functioning probably with some compulsion and you will probably resent it.

When money is involved, we confuse Mark 12:41–44 Then Jesus sat down opposite the chests for the Temple offerings, and watched how the people put money into them. Many rich people were putting in large sums; but one poor widow came and put in two farthings, which make a half-penny. On this, calling his disciples to him, Jesus said: "I tell you that this poor widow has put in more than all the others who were putting money into the chests; for every one else put in something from what he had to spare, while she, in her need, put in all she had--everything that she had to live on."

These are free will offerings. Some would strut up there and drop a lot into a bag and then strut off. All of these people drop in all of this money, and the woman drops in a couple copper coins. And Jesus says that she gives more than anyone else. She gave the lowest denomination that a person could give. This amount was not insignificant money. This was a day's wages. She gave 2 of these coins. It was all that she has in the world. She put herself into a financial bind, but no one else. Recall, she is a widow. Now, does this mean that we, without family, must give all of our resources?

Many have used this to impose a guilt trip on you. Her sacrificial giving is a correct lesson in the proper mental attitude. The others gave a big amount, but they had a lot more. For them, it was just a token with no correct motivation. It was like Christmas, and you pass a salvation army bucket, and you drop a couple dollars in the bucket, and that ends up being very little of your fortune. There is no appreciation at all for the grace of God in this act, and that is what is being demonstrated here.

The Widow's Mite

1. This poor widow gave all that she had in recognition of her dedication to the Lord and of His grace in providing for her.
2. That is why Jesus said she gave more. It was her attitude.
3. This was the value that God places on grace orientation. It is the attitude that matters.
4. So this woman has the right motivation and the right attitude. She is a hero of the faith. It is not that she gave everything, but it is all about her thinking.
5. She gave from a deep devotion and true humility. The others were showing off and she had true humility. She knew what God had given her; and the others did not even recognize that. It is her thinking that is the key.
6. This is true worship, which she represents. This is not some phoney formality. Lots of people have phoney formality worship.
7. This narrative is not about how much or how little the woman gave. It is not about the amount; it is about how much she had left, which is nothing.
8. In giving everything, she showed her dependence upon the grace of God to provide for her needs. This commemorates the grace of God.
9. This is what giving is all about. It is not the amount. It is what is in your soul; not how much you give.
10. If you are a widow, this is not a call to give everything that you own. It is a call for everyone to give from the same motivation that this woman had.

1Cor. 16:2 On the first day of every week let each of you put on one side [put aside; to save, to deposit] and store up [save] at his home whatever gain has been granted to him; so that whenever I come, there may then be no collections going on.

Lesson #1124    Mark 12:41–44    1Cor. 16:2    September 9, 2010    Thursday

Bobby frequently makes disparaging remarks about churches in the United States, particularly in the area of giving. This problems are from his own perception. Bobby is going to give us some documentation. An article handed to Bobby by Brett McCracken. It comes from Hipster Christianity, where church and cool collide. A gusher of a different sort; young people pouring out of their churches, never to return. Many of my peers are losing their interest in church. Why didn't mega-churches work in attracting youth in the long term? Increasingly, the plan has taken the form of a total image overhaul, presenting the church as hip and relevant, a rebranding. There are various ways churches try to be cool; to see more culturally cool. Quoting Lady Gaga or Stephen Colbert. Some pastors try to look cool with skinny jeans and an $80 haircut. There is one church which meets at a nightspot. Texting and twittering with the pastor during the service even encouraged during the service. Some try to appeal to younger kids by being shocking. Sex is a popular shock topic. Many churches are using sex-themes to lure people into a church. What sort of Christianity are they being converted to? Christianity is not easy, trendy or popular; and our world is image obsessed, superficial, sexually obsessed, etc. People come to church to see the alternative to what is in the world.

If it's not sex, it is money. The question is not ever, how much but why do you give? You need to get the mental attitude settled first. There is a criterion for the amount. Acts 11:29 gives us the criterion. This motivation originates from reciprocal love and gratitude toward God. Grace giving means grace orientation.

There were free will offerings being brought by wealthy donors. There were those will inflated self-importance and their desire for approbation lust. They made their obligatory deposits on the day in which it was supposed to happen. They did it because it was expected. This was an empty religious activity.

People should be impressed by the reason behind the offering. People there were impressed by the amounts given. Today, we might give money to a vagrant and we feel good about doing this. The large amount that they were giving did not mean anything; there was no eternal results because of it.

Then a widow walks in and approaches the treasury and she contributes 2 copper coins, but this was all that she had. When the Lord saw this, "This poor widow put in more than all of others." This narrative is not about how much was given; it is all about the motivation of doctrinal and grace orientation. This poor widow gave everything; she gave sacrificially. She was a total picture of grace orientation and reciprocal love in the soul. She was not worried about tomorrow. She was an illustration to all those who saw her.

There is a spiritual gift of giving; and these give over and above what others give. That is also giving sacrificially. Such donate a larger proportion of their income. The woman provided a look into the soul and attitude of a grace oriented believer.

Mark 12:41–44 Then Jesus sat down opposite the chests for the Temple offerings, and watched how the people put money into them. Many rich people were putting in large sums; but one poor widow came and put in two farthings, which make a half-penny. On this, calling his disciples to him, Jesus said: "I tell you that this poor widow has put in more than all the others who were putting money into the chests; for every one else put in something from what he had to spare, while she, in her need, put in all she had--everything that she had to live on."

When the money goes into the bag, money you have set aside, the leadership of the church has the responsibility to properly and honestly distribute this money. Church theft can be just as much of a problem as anything else. Berachah has always an independent audit every single year.

In this verse, Paul is not setting the amount for giving. There is no percentage which Paul demands. That is another mistake. Churches cannot wait to put a 10% tariff on your income.

You Are Not Given a Set Amount

1. A believer normally determines the amount of the gift based upon his wherewithal. We have to decide and do this from the right motivation.
2. Giving is proportionate in keeping with one's income and ability.
3. Acts 11::29 So the disciples, without exception, determined, in proportion to their means, to send something to help the Brethren living in Judea.
4. The income of some would enable them to give in greater measure; proportionate.
5. Even those with smaller amounts of capital participate in monetary giving proportionately.
6. In the time in which this was written, there were slaves, and they had no money of their own. They could have the mental attitude to give. The mental attitude is critical, so that, if freed or have some money, they can give as they are prospered.
7. This phrase as he may prosper includes the motivation of grace orientation and the practical aspect of individual decision making. Concerning the size of the offering. If you have no grace orientation, then this means nothing. We determine the size of the offering; no one else makes this determination.

There is to be no motivation of guilt. People give because they feel guilty. Maybe you give a beggar money for this reason. Do not give from a guilt attitude ever. Or the pastor who puts on a sad face and gives a sad story about a poor missionary somewhere, and tell how much they need, and the money pours in. What a con job and there is no grace giving.

There are many subtle and not-so-subtle ways to solicit money. Going to a person's home or begging from the pulpit. There should be a clear policy presented, related to grace.

Berachah Church is such an oasis in the desert when it comes to giving. Bobby is glad that all of those related to the church have the right attitude and understanding of these principles.

First Set of Principles

1. The principle of the well-motivated giver must never be ignored or violated by church leadership.
2. The individual believer must make his or her choice free from outside pressure and free from guilt, approbation lust, free from a trade out with God.
3. A good church will not all such pressure tactics.

There are great men of doctrine and they have still fallen apart when it comes to money and giving. God prospers as He sees fit.

1Cor. 16:2 On the first day of every week let each of you put on one side [put aside; to save, to deposit] and store up [save] at his home whatever gain has been granted to him; so that whenever I come, there may then be no collections going on.

Sunday 1

Communion Sunday:

We are lost in our trespasses and sins, separated from God; but the nature of God Himself demands that our sins be handled in a way that does not compromise Him. God cannot come into contact with sins and remain perfect righteous God, which is His and our dilemma. God had to provide the means by which the enmity between man and God could be removed.

God cannot simply dismiss our sins; He cannot simply wink at sin. His dilemma would be, under those circumstances, the sin problem would never be resolved. If He simply accepted us, then God would be tainted by sin, and Satan would gain equality with God. Slaves and masters do not socialize together. We must be removed from this slavery in order to have an association with God. Because of imputed and inherited sin, we must be condemned and justice must be done. God must carry out a death sentence upon us, capital punishment which must be carried out against us. God loves us and would like to pardon us, but His justice demands must be met. We on our own are unable to satisfy His judicial demands.

As sinners, we have no assets by which we can purchase our freedom.

Slaves were not made free because they so requested it or demanded it. Hundreds of thousands of men had to die in order for slaves to be made free. We cannot thank them enough nor can we make reparations for their deaths.

In the same way, we need someone to intervene on our behalf, in order for us to be redeemed. Who could thank Jesus enough? Which one of us can thank Him enough?

The Old Testament animal sacrifices were used to portray His work. Kaphar means to pass over, to cover. The sacrificial animal took upon itself the sin. This animal paid the price for death instead of the sinner. This ritual becomes reality only in the sense that it points toward Jesus Christ on the cross. Jesus Christ is, in fact, our only liberator.

Punishment focuses on divine righteousness and justice. If love is the only factor in salvation, then there is no necessity for integrity to be satisfied or need for any substitution to be made. If love was the solution for our sin, then there is no integrity.

To overcome the spiritual death of mankind, God, in the form of man, must experience sin Himself. God the Son lowered Himself to become true humanity, while still remaining undiminished deity.

Deity cannot take on sins; Deity can only turn away from sins. The humanity of Jesus Christ bore our sins in His Own body on the cross. None of us have a clue as to what it took for Jesus to take upon Himself our sins. Those sins were beyond abhorrent to Him. We know that He did it and this was in keeping with His righteousness and justice.

If there was a way around this, don't you think that God would have taken this path? The integrity of God always stands guard over His essence. None of His attributes will ever be violated. Where there is sin, God's justice must condemn it. His was the only sacrifice that could make man reconcilable to God. This is the only thing that could redeem us for our sin. It could have happened in no other way. God's standards are so high that no one can meet them except God Himself. A perfect God-man is necessary.

The human and the divine natures of Jesus Christ must be united in order to satisfy God's integrity. God chose to pay a debt; a debt which He personally did not owe.

There are a few more points on giving to still cover.

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

We have already gone over why this is the poorest church. Several churches are responding to Paul's request for financial help. If Paul directed this offering from the Corinthians, then it makes sense that Paul will tell them how he wants this done.

The first phrase tells us when he wants this offering to take place. Then and now, Sunday is the assembly day of the church. Giving became commemorative of God's grace. Paul is directing what appears to be a one-time offering for the Jerusalem church, but he tells them to take an offering up every week. Paul is directing this one offering, and he is also suggesting a weekly, systematic offering on Sunday. Why a continuous offering.

Paul is writing this from Ephesus, so he cannot immediately receive this offering, so he asks for this offering to be taken on a recurrent basis. Paul is also setting the precedent for future giving for all churches heretofore. All churches function on the basis of offerings. The missionary activities of Paul and co. require financing. There will be other times when those in need require help, just like the Jerusalem church. It is not about money and it never has been about money; it is about the attitude of grace orientation in the soul. Paul has one other purpose. Paul's directive is an obvious departure from the Jewish mandate for spiritual rest on a Saturday. This is a break from the dispensation of Israel. This is just one more way to illustrate this transition.

1Cor. 16:2 On the first day of every week let each of you put on one side [put aside; to save, to deposit] and store up [save] at his home whatever gain has been granted to him; so that whenever I come, there may then be no collections going on.

Lesson #1126

1Cor. 16:2 September 12, 2010

Sunday 2

We do not have an instruction for the church, but these are instructions for individuals. He is speaking to each person in the Corinthian church. Each one of you set aside and save.

Paul does not set a figure for the giving; not a percentage and not as a specific amount. It is simply as we are prospered. There is a proportion. All have a certain means, each is determined to send a contribution on their own as individuals. Clearly, Paul is making this an individual choice. Giving is accomplished individually. Paul makes this a Christian obligation. This is a service to God. Giving is worship; giving is a service. Even the Apostle Paul could not operate apart from money. However, at the same time, he makes it clear that this is an option.

The principle always holds; the believer takes care of his family first. He is not to deprive them of the necessities. Anything beyond that is the believer's own decision of how much to give. There is no starving required in order to give.

There seems to be a disparity between Paul asking an offering for Jerusalem and his injunction to individuals about giving in general. Why did Paul ask for an offering? Isn't that a form of outside pressure? Isn't there is disconnect here? The contemporary question, if his request for money the correct method for leadership today? Or, is this a way to circumvent free will giving with a gentle nudge.

Paul is not going to violate one principle of giving without being grudgingly or of necessity by giving opposite remarks. Paul is the one writing most of the epistles in the New Testament and he teaches most of the mystery doctrine. We have to see this as normative and practical doctrine. This will carry weight in the thinking of believers.

Should Bobby send out visitation delegations to get money? Paul is writing and teaching mystery doctrine which has not been taught before. He is giving theological and practical doctrines never given before. In the Jewish age, there was a percentage required to support the priesthood.

There is a real need here, and Paul is making the needs of the Jerusalem church known. Financial needs of the church and others are never to take precedence over free will giving principles. Paul is not putting on any pressure here nor is he violating any principles for practicality. Paul is giving a practical reason for free will giving. It is accepted that there are specific needs outside of the local church, and this is a legitimate function for a church to engage in. Ministries must have funds with which to operate. These are needs which grace giving can fulfill. There is no demand from an outside source. Paul is identifying a need, but he is not negating the free will aspects of giving. There are needs out there and sometimes these need to be laid out for the congregation. It is not wrong to consider needs for missionaries, Christian organizations, financial relief, etc.

Pastor so-and-so wants to buy a new building so we can get out of this dump. Or let me show you photos of some people with sad faces. This is what goes on. Needs can be discerned by individuals without announcements, pressures or whatever from the pulpit. Bobby does not address specific needs; he just teaches the principle. Giving can always be done in recognition of the church and of others. Giving can be done on general principles or because we have looked into the matter personally. Up until this time, there was no other way that they would know about this need. This is a church in the 1st century. However, after this, Paul does not ever do this again. People know this and it does not have to be beaten into their heads.

Paul is setting the parameters of free will giving without violating the basic principles of giving. The Jerusalem believers are starving and they are hurting, and this is a one-time gift. This is not a continuous harangue for support. There are lots of beggars out there looking to get a free ride, by pastors and otherwise. This giving ought to be done with care and research ought to be done in order to wisely allocate church funds. Every person coming through town does not get to ask for money. The Berachah missionaries don't ask for money. We know what they are like and what they teach, and we take their needs into account and give accordingly. Giving is done without pressure.

A client nation is going to be a more prosperous nation, simply on the basis of God's grace and blessing by association. Therefore, client nations will have more money to give. Missionaries go into countries where there is not necessarily a lot of positive volition, and therefore, they are poor countries, and there will be greater need. That is, a congregation of a missionary will not be very rich; there won't be very many of them; so they cannot give enough to support a particular missionary.

There are individual needs and corporate needs in Berachah Church which are important. If the money is not there, they don't do it; and if it is, they do. Paul is making this point by directing this offering to churches and to individuals.

Grace orientation is the paramount issue. Mental attitude must precede the action in everything. Doctrine in the soul must precede our Christian service.

Practical needs never supercede individual choice and correct motivation. Paul has made this principle abundantly clear on his various writings about giving. This is still about correct motivation and the way to meet legitimate needs. No one wrote more about giving than Paul did. Paul is not negating free will giving by revealing a need and then demanding that this need be met.

The pastor ought to harp on doctrine and not upon needs. The giving will be forthcoming in the properly motivated souls of believers. This is how needs are met. These needs

There mere fact that Paul sets up an offering, does not mean that Paul is individually directing anyone to give. This is not coercion, but directing an offering to be taken. He is presenting an opportunity and leaving the rest up to the individuals in the church. There will be an offering, because Paul has so directed it.

Giving should never be done if it deprives your family. It will not return blessing to you.

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

All believers are involved in this offering. Christian service and worship are always obligations of the believer. All are to participate as the body of Christ. There is a unity involved here, as there always is in the body of Christ. We are to present a united front.

Giving is a privilege and a duty for all of us. Whether we are rich or poor; spiritual gift of giving or not.

Thirdly, once the individual makes the decision to give, Paul has personal instructions as to how this should be done. There is the mechanic of setting aside the money at the first of each week. This is like a savings deposit. The money is being put aside for future use. Determine what you can give, set it aside, and then give it when appropriate. Each individual must determine how much he or she will give as he or she is prospered. There is no amount and no percentage specified. Giving more or less is all about our decision. It is all about the attitude and not about the amount. The individual believer makes this determination for himself. We are never to be pressured from an outside source. Tithing is no longer valid for the Church Age. Apparently, that will be our study later on.

Fourthly, asking the church to set aside an offering, is not an individual mandate. This dispensation had only been going on for about 25 years. This was all new. Giving was a part of a new approach, a new doctrine for the new age. There are principles of giving to be delineated here, both practical and doctrinal. Paul states practical principles here.

How often do pastors stand in the pulpit and describe all the needs of the church. Our bus ministry, our missionaries, and then there is a sad story delivered. All of this is pressure from an outside source. This is bogus. Yet it goes on all of the time. Paul is simply indicating a practical reason and a target for free will giving. He is identifying a need but not negating the free will aspect of giving.

Paul's action of revealing practical application is never license for churches to pressure people, even to cite legitimate needs. Bobby could name the missionaries needs and suggest we give this or that person twenty grand. The needs are legitimate but the method is not. Specific needs are not necessary for us to know. We don't need to know exactly how many jungle trails a missionary walks and how many pairs of shoes he needs.

Sometimes, very little money reaches to organization where it ought to go. When you give to some organizations, you may not be giving to that place or person you want it to go to.

It is not a bad thing to ask questions and to determine how much money is going where. Any missionary or organization in Berachah's bulletin is legitimate and has a need. And we have the privilege to give to Berachah for missionaries that Berachah supports; or we can give to a mission organization which gives to these people.

You will hear all kinds of approaches; but it is unlikely that you will ever hear a church saying, "Give as God has prospered you; according to your correct motivation." Pastor-teachers ought not to stand up and harp about how much people should give. Too many pastors are spiritual beggars.

When believers grow up spiritually, needs are met. It is always what the Lord needs to further His work on this earth.

There is one way that believers are forced into giving today, and it is the erroneous concept of tithing.

1Cor. 16:2 On the first day of every week let each of you put on one side [put aside; to save, to deposit] and store up [save] at his home whatever gain has been granted to him; so that whenever I come, there may then be no collections going on.

Lesson #1128

Tithing 1Cor. 16:2 September 19, 2010

Sunday 2

You may have come from a church where tithing was a major part of that church. Tithing is not really a part of this dispensation. Paul is not covering the doctrine or subject of tithing in this passage, but there is a thunderous silence here. There is not real tithing in the New Testament, and he discusses giving more than any other writer than anyone else; so, he is certainly the authority on this topic.

Tithing means a 10% of one's income; a flat tax, as it were. Paul never says, "Let me make it easy for you; give 10% of whatever. But he never does that. Correct motivation is never considered when a figure is set. It is forced giving; so that is erroneous. Individual determination in tithing is never considered; it is simply done. The money is often donated grudgingly and of necessity, if a person is tithing. Under this system of tithing, people are sometimes required to pledge money before they have even secured it. That is a specific amount, even without taking into consideration how God prospers. Sometimes churches garner wages right off the top. You never see it. How is that for individual choice? No thought or mental attitude from the individual believers. And when this is done, this can foster resentment.

The Old Testament is valid for us; it is the Word of God; so why can't we simply transfer the information found in the Old Testament into today. After all, many principles for the Old Testament apply to today. Doesn't tithing set a precedent for the church today?

The Doctrine of Tithing

1. God commanded Israel to bring tithes under the Law. There was no request here; this was a mandate.
2. That was a mandate where no choice was given, which is already a departure from the principle that Paul delineates.
3. What were Old Testament tithes?
  - 1) In Mal. 3:8–10 tithes were brought into the treasury of Israel; into the storehouse; this was a national treasury.
  - 2) These tithes were a national taxation, according to Lev. 27
  - 3) As a tax, Old Testament tithes were levied against Jewish believers and unbelievers, which is also a departure from Paul's doctrine of giving. Unbelievers should never give money to a church.
  - 4) The amount given was 10% of what one owed or received for one's labors or goods.
4. Failure to pay taxes was a violation of the Mosaic Law. Just as failure to pay our taxes violates the U.S. code, subject to all kinds of penalties.
5. The Mosaic Law combined spiritual and civil functions. Israel was not a democracy, republic or a monarchy; it was a theocracy, ruled personally by God through the Law. That outlined His policies. This is why a king was a problem, as they were intermediaries and some were no good.
6. Israeli was a unique union of true religion and state. Today, Islam is a union of mosque and state; that is what Sharia law is all about.
7. Every citizen of Israel, believer and unbeliever, was responsible for supporting the nation through tithing or taxes.
8. They supported in this tithing religious institutions, like the Levitical priesthood and that sort of thing. The Levitical priesthood was a part of national existence. They were purveyors of the law.
9. Old Testament tithing in the dispensation of Israel was not synonymous with voluntary giving. It was a tax, a flat tax; it was required. Certainly, some back then cheated on their taxes. Our feeling about tithing to the church is not unlike paying our taxes on the 15th.
10. There was an aspect of giving in Israel parallel to Church Age giving.
  - 1) There was giving that went beyond the requirement to tithe.
  - 2) The principle for giving in the Old Testament is found in Deut. 15:7 If there is among you a poor man of one of your brothers inside any of your gates in your land which Jehovah your God gives you, you shall not harden your heart nor close your hand from your poor brother. There is a picture of grace here; God has given Israel this land and He has given individual pieces of land to individual Jews. If your brother needs help, you will help them. That is charity. You help the destitute.
  - 3) This sort of giving in Israel has alms for the poor and other charitable occasions was commended.
  - 4) In fact, the people's attitude toward the poor was a reflection of their gratitude to God's grace in giving them the land. It was reciprocal love. This is grace orientation. That is a parallel; it is not tithing, even in Old Testament Israel.

- 5) Mark 12 and the widow who gave way over 10%; she gave everything. She put money into the treasury of the Temple. This was a special offering on the Day of Atonement and this was to support the Temple and all of its functions. She gave in devotion and in appreciation for the grace of God. Hers was voluntary giving beyond a tithe.
11. Failure to distinguish between giving and tithing is truly a problem today.
- 1) Tithing in our churches today represents a misunderstanding of the difference between the dispensational differences.
  - 2) Giving functions in every dispensation; but tithing does not. If you are an unbeliever, you can get back any money that you gave today. Such giving is invalid. Giving is appreciation for what God has done for us; and only believers can have this appreciation.
  - 3) Only a free choice with a grace oriented motivation meets the mode of grace giving in either dispensation.
  - 4) That motive in any dispensation centers on a willingness to honor what God has provided and to support what God is doing in this world today. Luke 11:42 the Jews failed in their mental attitude. The pharisees always referred to the Mosaic Law to the letter and everything they did was an expression of self righteousness. Giving for the pharisees was a big deal and they were very legalistic when it comes to tithing. Tithing is taxation and giving is an attitude. Their emphasis was upon legalism in every aspect of giving.

That completes tithing and why it is no good for us today. Tithing is nothing more than coercion. Giving today ought to be free will giving based upon our means and grace orientation.

Every Sunday, the day of assembly worship, which, in itself, was a disconnect from the Old Testament Law.

We are to give in recognition of the blessing we have received by God.

Then Paul says, there should be no collection occurring when he shows up to teach. Paul does not want any offering collected when he arrives. What does this matter to him? What difference does it matter whether the offering together before he comes or while he is there?

Why Does Paul Have Everyone Set Money Aside Before He Gets There

1. Paul, as a doctrinal teacher, does not want to handle money or be involved in the collection himself. He is not an administrator.
2. Paul has many other apostolic duties on which to concentrate.

3. Paul carries the overall leadership in the Church Age. His apostolic office carried authority over all churches. This was the gift given him by God. He was a pope, for all intents and purposes.
4. So it is imperative that Paul always be very careful about the subject of money, and he was. Everything must be done in such a way so that there would never be a question of his integrity. It must be above-board and transparent. This is a part of the testimony of the church.
5. Paul never went out on his own; he never took offerings; he never accumulated large sums of money in his own
6. No questions must be asked about Paul's integrity or the disposition of money. He did not, on his own, collect for the poor or distribute the money on his own. There would have been a variety of questions at this point, if Paul was closely involved with this money. Therefore, he wants those to handle it on his behalf. It is very important for Berachah to be consider above board. Bobby collects no money directly, no checks with his name on it, or for funerals, memorials or weddings.

Also, Paul never wanted his teaching to appear as if he is charging for his ministry. So he does not come and collect money as a part of his teaching ministry.

1Cor. 16:2 On the first day of every week let each of you put on one side [put aside; to save, to deposit] and store up [save] at his home whatever gain has been granted to him; so that whenever I come, there may then be no collections going on.

Bob used to say, "Don't let me die in a hospital; I'd rather crawl out onto the grass." or words to that effect.

Bobby begins reading back with v. 1:

1Cor. 16:1 As to the collection [of money] for God's people, what I have directed the Churches of Galatia to do, you must do also.

1Cor. 16:2 On the first day of every week let each of you put on one side [put aside; to save, to deposit] and store up [save] at his home whatever gain has been granted to him [as he has been prospered]; so that whenever I come, there may then be no collections going on.

There are many factors which go into your giving. You are not required to give as many churches demand. The greatest blessing is participating in the dissemination of the gospel and the Word of God. It is the mental attitude which counts; you do not have to give when this harms your family.

Paul does not want any collections to be made after he enters into church. He gives a general time, and these Corinthians know that they must take up this collection before. There is a very practical purpose here. Paul is not an administrator. That is not what he is called to do. He is an Apostle, the greatest communicator of Church Age doctrine. He is the preeminent Apostle, even though they were all important. We do not know what all of them did, but we know a lot about Paul, and a little about Peter, James and John. Paul had very critical duties that he was involved in. He had to teach. He was on the road all of the time, forming churches, evangelizing and choosing leaders, and determining who might teach at this or that church. There is no one person or council which is over all of the churches. However, that was Paul's gift. He was a leader over all of the churches.

For that reason, there must never be a misuse of this authority. Money is often central to corruption. Power and money can corrupt; and Paul had power. However, here, he needs to set an example of how to deal with money with integrity. It was imperative for Paul to be careful when it comes to the handling of money. He did not want to have anything to do with money. He needed transparency and accountability when it comes to money. So he distances himself as much as possible from this collection of money.

Many ministries are pulled down because of either stealing from the given money or mismanagement. Nothing could be more heinous than that. Paul is making certain that pastors and administrators are taking this well.

No question must be asked as to Paul's integrity or as to the disposition of the money. Therefore, Paul puts this into the hands of others. He will not carry it by himself or distribute it by himself. If he did any of these things, no one would really know how any of this money was being handled or distributed. Paul could not be questioned on this point. Paul had many inside the church. His enemies would have ammunition against him. Just the appearance of handling money in a wrong way. He did not even want the appearance here and no suspicions at all.

Unfortunately, some ministers lack accountability in church business. They are handling money that they ought not handle. They take compensation which should go directly to the church. Pastors get salaries. Pastors are not to deal with the offerings. They are bypassing tax laws. The pastor most of all. We still have the obligation to pay our taxes and, most of all, a minister. A minister ought to follow the laws to the letter. No pastor ought to deal with the offerings of a church. Even if there are only 3 people in the church hierarchy. The pastor does not handle it; one of the others handles it, with the 3rd man double-checking the money.

A pastor should have no direct contact with the money. His name should not be on any of the checks, he should not be able to write checks on the church account; he should not count the money, etc.

Paul needs to be free to think and teach doctrine; and he must make the best use of his time; everyone has limited time and there is limited time for the pastor. Time should never be spent handling money or making a distribution of that money. Recall that Judas handled the money, not Jesus.

Paul does not want to put pressure upon anyone. His setting up the offering is not putting pressure upon any believers to give. He will never know who gave what. He will never be able to connect this Corinthian gift with any individual or any individual's wealth.

It is always harder when you are doing this for the wrong reasons. Some pastors have honed their money-pitching skills. Paul does not want to directly talk about this with the Corinthians.

1Cor. 16:2 On the first day of every week let each of you put on one side [put aside; to save, to deposit] and store up [save] at his home whatever gain has been granted to him [as he has been prospered]; so that whenever I come, there may then be no collections going on.

Grace orientation is very difficult for new believers or immature believers. Grace is the foundation of divine viewpoint. It is easily distorted. Satan wants to distort the grace of God in our thinking. Paul wants us to think very seriously about giving. Paul, in directing them to take up this offering, gives them time to put it together.

There is no confusion of grace when it comes to Paul's teaching and offerings. Paul does not want these Corinthians to think that they are paying Paul for this teaching.

V. 2 tells us how to give, which includes the motivation and the mechanics of this giving.

Then next 2 verses clinch this for us. Someone else will handle the money and take it to Jerusalem.

Money is not a part of the arena in which Bobby operates. There is leadership in the Corinthian church, even though there are problems with it.

Aorist active subjunctive. Δοκιμαζω = to approve, to approve by testing; to accept. This is a potential event that will occur in the future. The subjunctive indicates that this is all contingent. The church at Corinth has to follow Paul's directions. These individuals must be tested, examined and approved. Do they have proven integrity. Is this someone who can handle a large sum of money. Is this someone who can go on a trip with a lot of money. Qualified people must be decided upon. Every Christian group must select qualified people to handle money and the use of money. Paul is not involved in selecting those who will carry the money. He defers to the Corinthian church. Despite all of the shortcomings, Paul still defers to them when it comes to handling this money. Many there will scrutinize Paul in everything that he does. Christian leadership is always scrutinized. It would be interesting to burn a Koran to smoke out some of the activities going on in the United States, but that is not the responsibility of some pastor. Activism is not the ministry of the pastor. We are not to whitewash the devil's world.

There are many people in Corinth who are watching Paul and are ready to discredit him, so he has to be completely above board, and what he does cannot be questioned. People look today for reasons to discredit.

Once the carriers are approved, Paul promises to send them on their way with letters of introduction. The other option is for Paul to go with them to Jerusalem. However, he will accompany the delegates and he will vouch for these delegates in person. However, Paul will not handle the money in any case.

1Cor. 16:3–4 And when I am with you, whatever brethren you accredit by letter I will send to carry your kind gift to Jerusalem. And if it is worth while for me also to make the journey, they shall go as my companions.

There is a subjunctive in the 3rd class condition. Paul accompanying this group is a maybe. It will depend upon certain factors. Predicate adjective here. We do not know what would make this worthwhile. It could be the size of the offering which may be an issue. Paul has no interest here in the size of the offering. A small sum would not be conducive to Paul's intent. He wants this sum to be a peace offering between Jews and Gentiles. It was certainly for relief of their poverty. There was great animosity between Jews and Gentiles, so this would smooth some of that over, form a bond, and they need to be brought together. There is an ulterior motive. The Gentiles are making the offering and the Jews are receiving it. A small amount of money would defeat this purpose and be insulting. However, Paul knows that, in Corinth, they are rich. They have also been properly instructed. Therefore, Paul can depend upon this.

Paul has to consider these practical problems. He keeps his eyes on the objective. This is not all about the relief of poverty; or poverty only. This is all about doctrinal teaching and forming a bond. This is teaching them that they are one in Jesus Christ. Paul wants unity in the body of Christ. He has to be small about this and politic. Paul walks a fine line here.

Paul will teach some grace orientation here as well. Paul and the gentiles will have their best interest at heart.

This actually tells us that socialism does not work. We are attempting socialism in Jerusalem, and it is not working. The grace that Paul is teaching gains some validity in the eyes of the Jews. Paul has to make a genuine, personal demonstration in order to be accepted and bring unity here. We are all in this together.

Now the question for Paul is, should he go to Jerusalem or should he just let this delegation go on their own. Paul is the Apostle to the gentiles, and yet, his heart is with Jerusalem. He makes the mistake of going to Jerusalem based upon emotion. This will constitute a bad decision. Paul should have gone from Corinth to Rome, as directed by God. Paul could have accomplished this by letters of introduction.

1Cor. 16:4 And if it is worth while for me also to make the journey, they shall go as my companions.

1Cor. 16:5–8 September 30, 2010

Thursday

This next section, vv. 5–9, we have a travelogue, where Paul will be going and where he won't. This is Paul's 3rd missionary journey. This will inform the Corinthians about a planned trip to Corinth.

These verses are important because they lend an air of historical credibility and there is also a personal touch in these verses, not only when this was written, but centuries later for us. This passage brings Scripture alive and it attests to its accuracy and inspiration, because of all of the personal details that we will find here. Only Paul and his immediate circle would know about these details. Who else apart from Paul could have written these verses. This book could have been easily disallowed if the history or geography was wrong; then it could be seen as a forgery. These verses are all about acceptance of this epistle as genuine. If the 1st century Christians accepted this book as coming from the hand of Paul and as authoritative.

We still have this authentic schedule recorded today, right here in the Bible. It is part of the Word of God and a snapshot of the life of the Apostle Paul. Therefore, we know about the Apostle Paul. We know intimate details about him. This is a real travelogue from 2000 years ago.

Paul's original plan was to go directly from Ephesus to Corinth. He wrote this letter from Ephesus in A.D. 56. However, Paul postpones this trip in favor of Macedonia. That is the first change of schedule. He also reveals that he would be staying longer in Ephesus than he expected.

One of the reasons for 2Corinthians is the trouble that ensued because Paul turned out not to come to Corinth when he said that he would.

Paul has opposition in the city of Corinth. There were factions in Corinth. They associated one another with various believers and even with Jesus Christ. These factions who did not like Paul used this change against Paul. Some were hypersensitive about this and they get their panties all up in a wad because of this. They blow up of the most minor thing; blown up out of proportion. They will grasp at anything to discredit the opponent.

“If Paul can’t stay on schedule, how can he be depended upon for anything? If Paul is not dependable, maybe his doctrine is not dependable.” A little change of schedule, and these people can get a little crazy about this stuff. They can only think about their own annoyances and their own personal feelings.

This change of schedule was not a slight against the Corinthians. Paul just was unable to come to Corinth at this time. Paul stayed in Ephesus because he had a great opportunity for ministry; and the same will be true of Macedonia. Paul had other things that he needed to do. There were ministries which loved the teaching that Paul was giving them.

Reality is brought to what we are studying. We don’t think much about how they lived and what they did from day to day, but this tells us what they did. The Ephesians loved being taught by Paul. They had positive volition. So why wouldn’t Paul teach there.

To get around the Mediterranean, Paul would need to go by boat, and spring was a good time for a boat trip; so that explains why Paul would wait until spring to travel the Mediterranean. Travel on the Mediterranean shut down in the winter. So, there were practical reasons for Paul to stay where he is. All of this is the plan of God, and it all works together. Weather restraints can reveal the plan of God. All that is moving Paul in the geographical will of God right now is weather. It is simple. Paul did not originally plan to stay an entire winter in Corinth, but that is what he is leaning towards.

1Cor. 16:5 I shall come to you after passing through Macedonia; for my plan will be to pass through Macedonia;

Paul’s preferred eventual destination is Jerusalem. That is emotional. The Apostle Paul would love to be in Corinth. He will spend a winter with them. He will do it for 2 reasons. There needs to be some teaching, so he cannot just blow through. Ephesus are advancing rapidly and he is enjoying teaching them. The first chapter of Ephesus is solid doctrine. This was a seminary for Paul. And then there is Corinth. They need their rear ends kicked.

Timothy and Apollos had both been in Corinth teaching; and there were still a myriad of problems in Corinth. So Paul needs to go there personally and straighten them out. There was an obvious affection that he had for the Corinthians.

1Cor. 16:6 and I shall make some stay with you perhaps, or even spend the winter with you, in order that you may help me forward, whichever way I travel.

It is reasonable for Paul to come to Corinth and stay the winter with them. He will winter in Ephesus and, potentially, in Corinth, for traveling reasons. Traveling overland would be dangerous and slow in the winter; and going by boat is the best means of transportation.

This is the geographical will of God at work. There is a time for Paul to travel and a time for him to cool his heels, and the weather was a part of it.

Paul loved to teach, and when believers began to advance spiritually, then he formed some great friendships because of this. When Bobby goes to a conference and there are wonderful people that Bobby likes to spend time with. So he understands exactly what is going on.

Paul Took These Things into Account:

1. The change was based upon the needs of the ministry.
2. As the circumstances required, things changed. The offering.
3. As travel permitted; the seasons.
4. Primary is the will of God. However, this is all related to what has already been stated.

If the Lord permits means that it is all about God's will.

What Paul Needs to Consider:

1. What does God want me to think?
2. What does God want me to do?
3. Where does God want me to be?
4. When does God want me to be there?

If the Lord permits me to go, is a part of determining what God's will is for Paul's life.

Bobby has lived all over: Chicago, Austin, San Antonio, Georgia, Arizona, Hawaii, Oregon. We have to consider these things above when it comes to determining where we ought to be.

Quite obviously, people move into places which are outside of His geographical will, and God might even allow them to be prospered. God will show us which way to go. Doctrine in our soul and the circumstances of our life guide up. This can be suffering, great failure, or great disappointments can move you to where you ought to be.

What is most important? Owning a hill with cattle on a hill or having the Lord, Who owns the cattle on a thousand hills?

1Cor. 16:7 For I do not wish to see you on this occasion merely in passing; but if the Lord permits, I hope to remain some time with you.

We do not deserve what we have with God. We are so far beneath Him, that we are dust in His sight. God has seen fit to tell us about Himself. This ought to be a humbling experience. This should give us an idea as to His grace.

Vv. 5–9 are read: 1Cor. 16:5–9 But I will come to you when I pass through Macedonia; for I am going through Macedonia. And it may be that I will stay with you, and even spend the winter with you, so that you may set me forward wherever I go. For I do not desire to see you now in passage, but I am hoping to stay some time with you, if the Lord permits. But I will stay in Ephesus until Pentecost. For a great and effective door opened to me, and many are opposing.

These words are recorded forever in the Word of God. This is first an affirmation of the genuineness of this entire epistle. These seemingly minor details are very important to the Corinthians. This way, they can authenticate that this epistle is really from Paul. Some courier brings the letter to them, and he claims to be from Paul, but they don't know him, and they don't know whether or not this is a forged document.

At this time, there were false apostles and false prophets and faked epistles, which would continue for centuries after Jesus Christ. If this was a forgery, then the Corinthians should disregard this letter; they could throw it away.

They might not know Paul's writing; this may have been written by an amanuenses. Furthermore, Paul says a lot of difficult things, things which may be difficult for them to agree to or to deal with. So, they would be more than willing to cast this epistle aside.

This section is stuff that no forger would know or even be interested in. No forger would know about this stuff. It is easy to check on this itinerary. So, a forger would not include this stuff. This itinerary confirmed to the Corinthians that this is Paul who is writing them. This is proof positive that this is Paul. The Corinthians approved of this and this was normative doctrine; authoritative doctrine. The Corinthians knew Paul well enough to recognize that this had to have come from him. This is authentic and normative for Bible doctrine.

We cannot overlook that these verses are a part of the Bible and will remain so forever. It was Bobby's tendency to think this would be quick and easy to cover these verses.

This is also a part of the life of the Apostle Paul himself. This was a real man taking a real journey for a real purpose. Paul and the Corinthians' situation is brought to life for us.

The book of Acts tells us what happened over a period of time. Travel in that era was a major undertaking. For Paul to get to Corinth, a sea voyage was necessary. Paul was in Ephesus in A.D. 56 to get to Macedonia and then to Corinth would be by sea. The road would be arduous and long and difficult.

Paul knew what was going on in the Mediterranean. No one sailed in the Mediterranean during the winter. There were a lot of bad storms, and that affected Paul's traveling times.

This is a real-world problem that Paul has to deal with. He cannot leave Ephesus until Pentecost, which marked Spring. So, staying in Corinth would be through the winter, for the same reasons. This is the reality and limitation of external circumstances. This lends reality to Paul's life. These are real-life concerns.

Paul's itinerary had changed from what he first told them. Paul originally was going to come to Corinth immediately. Paul had already told them he was coming to them, but then he postpones his scheduled trip, and this causes the Corinthians to go into a tailspin. They had anticipated his arrival and looked forward to it. They did not like the fact that Paul was doing this. And Paul takes a detour through Macedonia; and to the Corinthians, they were far more important in their own minds than Macedonia. The Corinthians felt slighted.

Some of the great critics of Paul would use this change to criticize him. "The Apostle Paul is untrustworthy; you cannot depend upon him. Do you think you can depend upon his doctrine?"

So Paul tells them that he would come to them after passing through Macedonia first. Paul has determined that the will of God is for him to go the Macedonia. No matter what others want for you, or think you ought to do; God's plan is what you need to follow. God's will takes priority.

He would probably winter in Corinth, for the winter of A.D. 56–57. The Corinthians were having problems; they would grow and then misapply doctrine, or someone would let their sin nature run wild, and the rest of the church would take sides.

They were litigious; they would file lawsuits against one another. There is a sink hole at the back. It was engineered badly and there is an underground river, and the wall was built because of the Galleria. Bobby was teaching 1Cor. 6 when this all was happening. There were engineers which were hired. The Galleria has fixed their parking lot. There were no lawsuits. Don't file lawsuits and wait on the Lord. We can park in the back and our car will not fall into a hole.

There were all sorts of problems in Corinth; drinking at the Communion Table, the abuse of spiritual gifts, the confusion of the law of love and law of liberty, etc. The church at Corinth was riddled with problems, and Paul gave them time to deal with these problems. Paul has given them doctrine, and now it is time for them to take this doctrine and apply it. This would allow the Word of God to renovate the thinking of the Corinthians. The lag time would be their time to metabolize the epistle and to advance spiritually. By the time that Paul arrives, ideally speaking, they will have developed a good mental attitude. So Paul can build doctrine upon doctrine, precept upon precept.

Apparently 2Corinthians comes from Macedonia? There is a means given the Corinthians by which they can grow spiritually. They have the doctrine and there is no face to face from Paul. There are many people who have spent a lifetime not being face to face. Paul says, read it, study it, live it. Was there a pastor there? It wasn't Timothy or Apollos, who are with Paul in Ephesus.

1Cor. 16:5 I shall come to you after passing through Macedonia; for my plan will be to pass through Macedonia;

1Cor. 16:6 and I shall make some stay with you perhaps, or even spend the winter with you, in order that you may help me forward, whichever way I travel.

1Cor. 16:7 For I do not wish to see you on this occasion merely in passing; but if the Lord permits, I hope to remain some time with you.

Lesson #1132

1Cor. 16:5–9 October 3, 2010

Sunday 2

There is a reality here; there is a personal touch here which we might not get with just doctrines. Also, there is a verification that Paul is real, and a verification for the Corinthians that this is normative and from Paul.

An overview of Paul's 3rd Missionary Journey, and he is proposing the latter portion of his missionary journey. American Bible Society Map (ABS): The green is Paul's journey.

There was opposition to Paul, even in Ephesus. Wherever there is opportunity for ministry, there is always opposition. Paul had adversaries that we will not remotely experience. There is opportunity and opposition wherever Paul goes.

No one who is in God's will will have to beat the bushes for opportunity for service. What Paul finds is overwhelming. Opportunities abound, if we are ready. We become ready by growing by grace and knowledge.

This appears to be a better map for the 3rd missionary journey. From Bible Atlas.

Sometimes, God leads us to places that we don't particularly like; a lousy landscape; terrible weather. Do not miss an opportunity for service. There is nothing more wonderful than to fulfill the purpose that God has for us in life.

As we become positive toward doctrine, opposition will increase. The more you grow, the more opposition increases, but then, the more we are able to handle it.

When a great team finds itself in a championship game, their opponents are also tough. There is a great opportunity for this team at the same time. The greater the opposition, the greater the opportunity.

Are you afraid to say you are a believer? Afraid to say you attend Berachah Church? It is always convenient to not serve God; always convenient not to go to church. Always able to find something which is a little more important than church. Are your plans greater than those of God's? There is no blessing in a self-centered life. All of our excuses are meaningless to God. We answer to God about these excuses.

There was the contribution made. Corinth was a wealthy church and Ephesus was well-off, but up in Macedonia, these were poor churches, and they gave liberally; they were great examples of grace orientation.

The Corinthians lacked flexibility. Check your own flexibility when flights are delayed or schedules are changed. Change is inevitable and reaction to change is pure emotionalism.

These Corinthians wanted Paul there right then or awhile ago; and Paul continues in the will of God. No pastor and no evangelist can do just what people want them to do. They have to be able to determine the will of God themselves. The Corinthians were self-centered and they got their feelings hurt.

Paul tells them, just stick with it; get with the doctrine.

Paul will stop in Athens, and this is on the way to Corinth. It is his first stop in Greece, and, in Athens, he is opposed by philosophers. Acts 17? The Corinthians will have both letters to the Corinthians and Paul will spend the winter with them, and he will teach them this doctrine and additional doctrine. While Paul was in Corinth, he wrote to the Romans as well, which would have been taught simultaneously to the Corinthians. This would be the luckiest church alive.

Paul will retrace his steps and end up in Jerusalem, when he should have gone to Rome. He got out of the will of God.

1Cor. 16:5 I shall come to you after passing through Macedonia; for my plan will be to pass through Macedonia;

1Cor. 16:6 and I shall make some stay with you perhaps, or even spend the winter with you, in order that you may help me forward, whichever way I travel.

1Cor. 16:7 For I do not wish to see you on this occasion merely in passing; but if the Lord permits, I hope to remain some time with you.

1Cor. 16:8 I shall remain in Ephesus, however, until the time of the Harvest Festival, 1Cor. 16:9 for a wide door stands open before me which demands great efforts, and we have many opponents.

Lesson #1133

1Cor. 16:10–12 October 6, 2010

Wednesday

Paul wrote this book in A.D. 56 from Ephesus. This book is one of the great transfers of mystery doctrine. Paul was an Apostle, certainly. He was a great Bible teacher; a pastor wherever he went. . He was in Ephesus thoroughly enjoying himself, writing and doing all that he wanted to do. He took the gospel to the uttermost parts of the earth. He took his gift very seriously.

When in Antioch, Paul decided to go on his 3rd missionary journey. This was about A.D. 53, and completing it in 57. His first stop was in Galatia, and he stopped in several churches in Galatia. This is where he requested the offering.

After leaving Galatia, he stopped in Ephesus and he stayed there for 2 years. There was wide door for effective service was opened for him.

Paul takes this long route to Corinth. A long route through Macedonia. He previously planned to go from Ephesus right to Corinth; and then changed his plans. The Corinthians had trouble and everything there seemed to be troublesome. This change directly affected them, and they opposed the change. They did not want Paul to go to Macedonia. It was a necessary change.

The Corinthians were impatient. They wanted it right now. They acted like 5 year olds. They were spiritual babies. They were only able to take in the milk of doctrine. They were not capable of moving on. They were self-centered, out of fellowship. One faction hated another faction. They reacted to Paul's change to go to Macedonia, this detour, made them disconcerted. There was another purpose here.

We grow in increments. We do not grow up in a hurry. Sometimes, these increments are so small that we do not notice them. More of the day, you realize that divine viewpoint has renovated your soul. You remember back to the early days and how the Lord has changed our thinking back then.

We think that we are in the plan of God and we think that God ought to manipulate people in a particular way; and this is what we expect, and that rarely happens.. Often marriages are like that. You think you know what God's plan is, and you are going to let them know what it is.

The Corinthians would love to manipulate the Apostle Paul, and this was one more to do it. "Paul was not coming when we expect him to." They should have trusted God's plan and been patient. Doctrine takes time. Paul's purpose, whether he knew it or not, and there was time for the reacting to the carnal Corinthians. They were not ready for the Apostle Paul yet. They needed rebound and they needed some basic principles.

Doctrine takes time to renovate the soul. It would bring them up to speed. They needed some time to absorb this great epistle. While he was in Macedonia, Paul wrote a second epistle to the Corinthians, before he every arrived in Corinth. 2 great epistles. When Paul finally left Berea, then he went straight south. He showed up in Athens. He should have just kept right on moving, waved goodbye, and went straight to Corinth.

The Areopegas was a beautiful place and this is where the philosophers discussed various issues, and Paul began to debate some of them. He apparently was not very good in his debate. He was accused of bringing a false God to Athens, but he was run out of town there. He did not do his best work there.

When he then moved into Corinth, then he taught them a lot of stuff, after sending them 2 epistles. Bobby cannot continually answer questions and still study and teach. Eventually, our questions will get answered. We just need to be patient.

Somewhere in here, Paul wrote Romans.

The worst church of that era got the most teaching; Corinth. That is grace. A.D. 57 was when Paul got to Jerusalem, and he was outside of the geographical will of God. He longed for Jerusalem. It was not hard to talk him into going to Jerusalem. He decided to accompany those taking the offering to Jerusalem. Paul really belonged in Rome. Jerusalem had James and Peter. Jerusalem was not where God wanted him to be.

Paul was imprisoned and he wrote 4 epistles from prison. They may have seemed to be wasted years, but they were not. You either do it your way or God's. God constantly has a place for us to be, and if we fight it, God will kick us in that direction. Some of us have been kicked a few times. God's plan marches on whether we are aware of it or not.

Paul had desires, but even he had desires and even he got out of line.

Timothy is doing what I am; so don't make him afraid.

1Cor. 16:10 If Timothy pays you a visit, see that he is free from fear in his relations with you; for he is engaged in the Master's work just as I am.

Timothy is Paul's man. Help Timothy move along his way in peace.

Paul wanted Timothy to prepare the Corinthians for Paul's arrival. 1Tim. 4:7?

1Cor. 16:11 Therefore let no one slight him, but all of you should help him forward in peace to join me; for I am waiting for him and others of the brethren.

Apollos said he wasn't going there; he knew what was going on in Corinth and didn't really want any part of it. Paul was going to try to talk him into it.

1Cor. 16:12 As for our brother Apollos, I have repeatedly urged him to accompany the brethren who are coming to you: but he is quite resolved not to do so at present. He will come, however, when he has a good opportunity.

Who Is Timothy?

He was a great man of the early church. We might not like him at first.

1. Timothy's mother was Jewish Acts 16:1–3 and his father was a Greek. Normally he would have been subject to circumcision, but he was not. His mother was apparently not practicing strict Judaism, so he was not circumcised.
2. Timothy was trained extensively in the Old Testament. He was taught by his mother and by his grandmother. 2Tim. 1:5 3:15

3. Acts 16:1 became a Christian maybe in Lystra or hooked up with Paul there.
4. 1Cor. 4:17 1Tim. 1:2 Paul calls Timothy his son, so Paul probably witnessed to him. "Messiah has come" and Timothy latched onto it.
5. 1Tim. 4:14 Timothy was put into the ministry in Lystra and he became Paul's nearly constant companion. He took Tim A.D. 49–52 He was a special comfort and encouragement for Paul.
6. Timothy traveled with Paul, from Lystra on. He taught and exhorted and evangelized. 1Tim. 4:14 2Tim. 4:5
7. Paul asked for Tim to be with him in Rome. 60–62 A.D.

Leadership is part of the pastor-teacher package. The pastor leads and the sheep follow. That is the principle. The pastor develops skills through application of doctrine or dealing with people. This requires training and experience. There was some leadership training in seminary. Bobby did not need it since he spent 10 years in the armed forces. That is a place where leadership is a part of the training.

There are many styles of leadership; many categories of them. For the pastor-teacher, this is the manner or leadership style; the manner or approach of teaching. There is the authoritarian style, which is the style that Bob had. Decisions are in the hands of the pastor as well. It can fall into dictatorship, but that was not Bob. You were never uncertain about what Bob thought about things. You ought never to be uncertain about what doctrine is. There is another style, a more democratic style, a delegating style, where the leader depends more upon his subordinates in decision making. In the pastor-teacher's case, his administration approach is more of a factor. However, there is a danger here, where there is too much delegation, where doctrinal viewpoint is distorted. The pastor must be the overall director of policy, based solely on the precepts of the Word of God. What is the point? Doctrine is to be used. Some people walk out of Berachah and never apply what they learn.

There is an academic approach, but it is not about academic knowledge.

Styles of leadership often blend together. There is a time to say, do it; and a time to ask, what is your opinion? Bob was partial to the wisdom around him, but he was able to make the big decisions. He applied doctrine in order to make these decisions.

Regardless of the style or the personality, it is the gift of pastor-teacher which the authority comes from. If the pastor does not teach, then he is shirking his responsibility. His leadership will suffer and the church will suffer. Factions will end up taking over, as they did in Corinth. Corinth was in disarray. Paul commends Timothy as a leader.

The Corinthians should not be opposing Timothy, nor should they despise him. To be openly critical of a pastor, that is a problem. If a pastor is not the right person for the pulpit, God will remove him. Why would anyone want to defy a pastor-teacher whom God has called to the pulpit. Lots of people want to complain about everything that is wrong.

Bobby has no doubt that he belongs there; and if someone has left because they oppose him being there, that is a good thing. That is what they ought to do. This becomes a distraction for the pastor. God takes care of His Own men in the pulpit. He does not allow attacks to go without something done.

There are factions; some want recognition or attention; and these motives exhibit blindness when it comes to the Word of God. A believer must always examine his own motivation when becoming critical of a pastor. Do not become your own judge and jury. Leave that up to the Lord to deal with a pastor who is failing. God will handle it in ways that you have no conception of. Don't get in the way or you will get some of it. Don't sit in judgment or try to interfere.

If you do not like a pastor-teacher, quietly move on and find someone under whom you can grow.

If you idolize or obsess over your pastor, you are wrong as well. You do not make an icon out of a pastor.

Bobby has been on 4 conferences this year, and he has something to say.

Principles on the Pastor-teacher

1. Listening to several pastor-teachers all at one time, the itching ear, is a dangerous endeavor. Lots of people do not believe it and think it is harmless.
2. Plurality of pastors is not a good option.
3. Plurality of pastors is not a substitute for finding the pastor-teacher who teaches solid doctrine under whom you can grow. The exception for most, would be the tapes of R. B. Thieme, Jr.. Confusion can result from a plethora of pastors. Sometimes people believe that they are growing faster when they hear more pastors.
4. Because listening to too many pastors requires doctrinal decisions that we ought not make. We will have to make our own doctrinal decisions. We are sheep. That is what we are called. In some respects, that is not flattering, but it is descriptive, and sheep are easily led. It is dangerous to listen to the voices of several shepherds; you can end up in the wrong pen. You may not even know it. Bobby has seen it many times.

5. Humility is critical in this area. Find a pastor-teacher that you can stick with. Supplement with recordings from R. B. Thieme, Jr. ministries.
6. Admittedly, there are pastor-teachers who teach essentially the same doctrine. What is wrong with listening to them. That does not mean that there are no departures in their teaching. There may be this tiny aberration which continues to widen. How do you think we ended up with so many apostate churches? In overt and subtle ways, these departures occur. If you trust one of these pastors and you do not realize that you are departing from doctrine, you then have built-in confusion. There are pastors who came out of Berachah who went from dispensational to covenant theology. Their congregations are being led down the primrose path. Students coming out of seminary can end up with conflicting doctrine and if they go wrong, then we will also be confused by them.
7. You cannot submit to the authority of 2 shepherds at one time. That ends up in authority disorientation. You become the arbiter of your own doctrine. No pastor is perfect and no pastor exactly interprets Scripture exactly right every time; you still grow spiritually. Some of you think, if you compare pastors, you will get it all straight. Then you can look at a doctrine and decide for yourself which doctrine is best. These are circumstances that you should not involve yourself with. It is not an excuse to listen to several pastors, saying, "I am listening to doctrine daily." And they do it because there are no pastors teaching every day. Bobby takes hours to put together a message, and he makes them dense. So either relisten or go to tapes from R. B. Thieme, Jr..
8. So listening to multiple pastor-teachers because a question of authority-orientation and doctrinal accuracy.
9. It is a problem to take from each pastor-teacher what you decide to accept as accurate. Guaranteed, you will run into something different with 2 or more pastors. Often those with itching ears find a pastor to back up their own notions.
10. This is a plurality of elders in churches and this confuses their congregation and there ought to be one shepherd over the sheep.

Why do you think that Paul recommends Timothy and endorses his authority in the Corinthian church. Timothy has great doctrine to teach which Paul has confirmed as accurate. It is necessary for the Corinthian church to become oriented to Timothy's authority.

Let's not go overboard here. Do not say, "I am not going to listen to Rick Hughes when he substitutes, and that would be listening to 2 pastors at the same time." That is an overreaction. Rick is not a pastor-teacher nor is he a full-time teacher of the Word of God. And he is approved by Bobby to teach for a limited amount of time. He is also not our alternative for the teaching of Bible doctrine. He is under the umbrella of Bobby's authority.

He does not teach anything that Bobby does not approve of. He is not our alternative doctrinal teacher.

We do not know if Timothy ever actually made it to Corinth. Paul was only going to winter there in Corinth. Somebody stayed and Paul commended Timothy. There is the principle; authority in one church. Paul was not mandating that Timothy or Apollos go wherever he wants them to. Apollos did not want to go to Corinth. Paul is not the arbiter; he is not the bishop over many churches. No one can say for certain what God's will is for us. Bobby cannot do it; not our best friends, etc. Others may have suggestions, but God's will for us is what counts and He leads us toward open doors.

Bobby was in a doctrinal program in seminary and he realized that the PhD program would not really do him any good, and circumstances pointed him away from it. So he calls his father and asks. So Bob says, come back and work for me until you figure out what you want to do. And here Bobby is, 20 years later. We find this by continuing to grow and by applying the doctrine God wants us to know.

Closing Points

1. Paul left the final decision as to who went where to the will of God and to the thinking of the candidates.
2. What Paul is doing here is laying the groundwork in his recommendation of men whom he sees as a good fit for Corinth. Paul considered who was available.
3. You never have to worry; God always makes the right person available when the time is right. Someone will become available.
4. The church and the availability of the right pastor will coincide.
5. No pastor has to lobby or politic to get the job. He just needs to present himself as a candidate. His credential is his teaching, which he demonstrates to the congregation and to the church leadership. The candidate then leaves all of this in the hands of the Lord.
6. God's leading might not be in our desire or in our plan. So flexibility is important.
7. God opens and closes doors and God may open up a new direction in our life which was not part of our own plan.

1Cor. 16:10 If Timothy pays you a visit, see that he is free from fear in his relations with you; for he is engaged in the Master's work just as I am.

1Cor. 16:11 Therefore let no one slight him, but all of you should help him forward in peace to join me; for I am waiting for him and others of the brethren.

Lesson #1139

1Cor. 16:10–11 October 17, 2010

Sunday 1

We find out in this chapter how the gospel was spread and how there was teaching and how did it.

This is a 3rd class condition, which means that Timothy may go to Corinth and maybe he won't. Paul will make the trip to Corinth is certain, but Tim traveling there is debatable.

No church will be left without spiritual leadership where there is positive volition. The pastor-teacher will be supplied for that church. Such a pastor needs to be prepared and ready to teach. Someone would be made available for Corinth who would be just right for that wild church. This would take a pastor who is strong and willing to do what is needed. Paul understood this because he was sensitive to God's plan in this area. We do not think of Paul as being sensitive, but he is. Paul is not mandating Timothy going to Corinth or Apollos, for that matter. No one else can direct us into the plan of God except for God. The principle is, no one can say for certain what God's will is for you until God begins opening and closing doors. This is true of a pastor-teacher and of anyone else as well. God never leaves us in the lurch. He always provides for us in this area. You cannot reject this door or walk away from that door.

This same principle is true of the gospel; there are so many ways for the believer to present the gospel and there are times for this to be presented.

There may be subtle ways. A woman in Uzbekistan goes back to her flat and puts on an MP3 and she turns up the volume as loud as possible. People are dragged away in the middle of the night to torture chambers.

Timothy is a perfect example of being overly-sensitive and he was kicked out of town by spiritual bullies. He will not be deterred by those who ridicule or scorn him. Rejection does not stop a believer from fulfilling the great ministry that God has for us. Paul knows that God will supply the right man at the right time. So Paul left the final decision as to who went where to God and the leading of God the Holy Spirit.

Paul is training and preparing Timothy and Apollos; he is simply laying the groundwork, and he may think that these men are available for a church. God always makes the right person available when the time is right. Look back on your life and how you ended up where you are today.

The church in Corinth will be ready and whoever needs to teach there will be available at the same time. No pastor needs to lobby for the job or politick for the job. He just presents himself and his credentials, and God will put the right man in the right church for him.

Bobby didn't ask for Berachah nor did he even want it. This may be a direction you would have never seen or expected and you may think, a few years previous, that you do not even want to be there. God closes doors and He opens doors. He may cut off a direction that you had planned. Your plan is never equal to God's plan. So many believers think that they have a great plan which God must endorse. God knows these things and He may even pull us out of circumstances that we really like.

Paul knows that the criterion for his own life has been God's will, and he looks to have these same standards applied to Timothy and Paul. God has a plan and circumstances are moving us in that direction. We have a part in this. We have free will.

We know that Titus went to Corinth and that Timothy was with Paul in Macedonia when 2Corinthians was written, so Timothy may not have gone to Corinth. Timothy definitely went to Ephesus and to Asia Minor.

It is reasonable the Paul thought Timothy ought to go to Corinth, but God sent Titus instead.

We can advance the plan of God or not. We have this choice. We will be the happiest when we are advancing the plan of God. We will be miserable outside of the plan of God. It is God's thoughts which matter; it is His plan which matters.

1Cor. 16:10 If Timothy pays you a visit, see that he is free from fear in his relations with you; for he is engaged in the Master's work just as I am.

Paul gives more instructions in v. 11. Paul is aware of the history of Timothy with this church; and, at one point, this was an adversarial situation. In almost every church, someone has a burr under his saddle about the pastor. The pastor can also get out of fellowship, and, after awhile, there is a battle between them.

Paul knows Timothy and Timothy has no people skills; he liked to be in the background. Particularly in the area of Paul's tremendous personality. Timothy had his own ministry but with a low-key personality. Many did not see that Timothy has a real teaching gift and they did not see that he had a gift of teaching. They did not recognize that God had given him a teaching gift.

Of course, it matters, the presentation of the message and whether or not you can get something out of it; but that is what you find with any teacher.

Timothy took off and he became ready to teach later. How many of us make the same mistake over and over again? Timothy learned from getting hammered in Corinth and he began to overcome his shy and retiring nature because he has doctrine in his soul.

Had Bobby not listened to his father's advice, he may have been elsewhere; or he may have ended up in Berachah, but it would have been a harder road. Never discount what God knows about us personally. A gifted leader will take charge. A man with the doctrine is compelled to bring it to the people he shepherds. Leadership is build into the message. People skills will develop with the advance to maturity and a little experience.

If God has places a pastor into a church, then why should anyone oppose that placement? No pastor-teacher is everyone's right pastor-teacher. The fact that some do not take to this personality does not negate God's plan for that pastor or for the church.

Mental attitude sins in the souls of believers control the life and consume it and turn believers against their own pastor, by his own choice and his own resistance. Recognize that God has us in the palm of His plan.

1Cor. 16:11 Therefore let no one slight [despise] him, but all of you should help him forward in peace to join me; for I am waiting for him and others of the brethren.

Lesson #1140

1Cor. 16:10–12 October 17, 2010

Sunday 2

We all fail. Timothy is a good example of abject failure. He flew it as a pastor at Corinth. Paul knew what happened and Paul knew that Tim was ready to go back. We never know where we will end up. We do not know where our failures will end up as successes. The only real success is to fulfill the plan of God.

The outside world can look at us as failures or as successes, but it does not matter how the world sees us. It matters how God sees us. We are a smashing success in the way that God sees us. Knowing all of this, Paul wants to assist him in every possible way, to ease his path, and to warn the Corinthian opposition of God's will.

We often go the opposite direction and we end up in the belly of a fish and get thrown up somewhere. The Christian way of life is getting up after a failure, dusting yourself off, and moving forward.

Tim's personality is the same. The Corinthians see him as the same old Timothy. They mistook humility for weakness, but it is strength. The Corinthians saw latent leadership as a lack of leadership. Do not underestimate the quiet person. Do not underestimate them due to their personalities; reserve your evaluation.

Εξουθενεω = to despise. This is the aorist active subjunctive. This is a potential.

Verb: exoutheneō (ἐξουθενέω) [pronounced ex-oo-then-EH-oh], which means, to make of no account, despise utterly. Thayer definition only. Strong's #1848.

The reversionistic Corinthians did not recognize what they had in Timothy.

1Cor. 16:10 If Timothy pays you a visit, see that he is free from fear in his relations with you; for he is engaged in the Master's work just as I am.

Timothy is going to be an interim pastor, if Paul has his way.

Verb: προπεμπō (προπέμπω) [pronounced prop-EM-poh], which means, 1) to send before; 2) to send forward, bring on the way, accompany or escort; 3) to set one forward, fit him out with the requisites for a journey. Thayer definition only. Strong's #4311.

added to this is εν ειραινη. When Tim leaves in peace, the people have appreciated the message. Paul is asking them them to let Tim leave in peace, which means graciousness on the part of the Corinthians toward him. Don't scorn Tim while he is there and do not allow him to leave in the midst of strife and turmoil.

Timothy would explain this epistle to them. "I was there when Paul wrote this and I talked it over with him, and here is what he meant. Here is his thought process; this is how Paul was thinking."

We are building doctrine upon doctrine. The Corinthians got 3 different epistles and each built more doctrine upon more doctrine.

We have it all in front of us. There is the gift of pastor-teacher to teach it to us.

Ἐρχομαι is a common verb used here. Paul has a lot of work for Tim to do. He wants to send Timothy to the Corinthians on a temporary basis.

Paul leaves room for Timothy to follow the guidance of God. Paul desires to have Timothy back, but he does not presume to supercede the will of God.

There are those who want to manipulate others to get their way. There are ways to manipulate. That is a favorite past time of the members of a congregation. Bobby gets letters like that; from manipulative people.

It was dangerous to move about in the ancient world. When Bobby travels, there is a support team that goes with him, to deal with a number of various things.

Timothy traveled with Paul and he became the pastor of Ephesus and then moved to different churches in Asia Minor.

1Cor. 16:11 Therefore let no one slight [despise] him, but all of you should help him forward in peace to join me; for I am waiting for him and others of the brethren.

Acts 18 gives us a good background on Apollos.

Apollos

1. Apollos is named after a Greek god
2. He was born in Alexandria, but he was a gentile. Alexandria was one place where the LXX was translated into Greek.
3. Traveled to Ephesus in the summer of 54.
4. He was an eloquent and learned man. Acts 18:24
5. He had been instructed in the way of the Lord. He knew the gospel. Acts 18:25
6. He was a take charge, out front, ready to lead kind of guy.
7. Apollos had some theological shortcomings. He only knew about the baptism of John. Acts 18:25 John proclaimed the coming of the Messiah.

8. He was a Jew from Alexandria, a grand place of learning. He was fearless, but he did not have all the information. Tim was the opposite. He had the information but no personality for teaching.

Paul uses opposite personalities and that are to two ways by which... We get on different roads and with different missions, but to accomplish the same thing.

1Cor. 16:12 As for our brother Apollos, I have repeatedly urged him to accompany the brethren who are coming to you: but he is quite resolved not to do so at present. He will come, however, when he has a good opportunity.

Lesson #1141

1Cor. 16:12 October 20, 2010

Wednesday

Apollos is the subject for the evening. Paul tried to encourage Apollos to go to Corinth. 7 times in the book of Corinthians; twice in Acts and once elsewhere. It appears that he was taught by Paul directly. He is a very important fellow worker in the ministry at Corinth.

Apollos was a Jew from Alexandria, Egypt. In the summer of 54, Apollos traveled from Alexandria to Ephesus. Acts 18:24: But a certain Jew named Apollos, an Alexandrian by birth, an eloquent man, came to Ephesus, being powerful in the Scriptures. There were a lot of Jewish scholars in Alexandria and this was a great center of learning. Around 300 B.C., this is where they began to translate the Old Testament into Greek. We can look at the LXX in order to figure out what the Hebrew words mean. It was closer in time to the writing of the Old Testament. This is the town from which Apollos came. Apollos may have been a Jewish scholar in Alexandria. The word of Jesus Christ came to Alexandria and Apollos believed. Act 18:25–26a This one having been taught by mouth in the way of the Lord, and being fervent in spirit, he spoke and taught accurately the things about the Lord, having understood only the baptism of John. And this one began to speak boldly in the synagogue. Once John the Baptist began to minister, having a great ministry in the Judæan desert, and he presented a ritual identification for those who were baptized by him. The Jews would have to change their minds. Repent means to change one's mind. They had the idea, as keepers of the Law, you were in the Kingdom of God. John wanted them to change their minds from that view. John was talking in Old Testament terms. He knew the Messiah was coming.

John announced the Savior; he announced the Messiah to come shortly. He baptized the Lord Jesus Christ at the beginning of his ministry. When John the Baptist baptized Jesus Christ, he identified Him with the Messiah.

Apollos knew nothing, however, about the doctrines of the Church Age. Apollos only understood what John taught about the Lord Jesus Christ, as far as that message went. We do not know how much Apollos knew about the cross or the resurrection. However, because he lacked this Church Age doctrine, Apollos needed some updating. He got that when he got to Ephesus. Acts 18:26b And hearing him Priscilla and Aquila took him and more accurately expounded the way of God to him. So, Priscilla and Aquila filled him in on the entire gospel. He was a man who could teach. He was not intimidated by the church in Corinth. Acts 18:27–28 And he having intended to go through into Achaia, having been encouraged, the brothers wrote to the disciples to welcome him; who, having arrived, helped much those who were believing through grace. For he powerfully confuted the Jews publicly, proving through the Scriptures Jesus to be the Christ. Paul always went to the Jews first, and he began to refute the Jews in public. He could take Messiah from the Old Testament and show how those prophecies were fulfilled in New Testament times. They wanted the Kingdom of God right then and there. They did not want the cross. John taught, there was another part of this—changing one’s mind. Jews at that time would close their minds to the gospel. Even today, this can upset Jews.

Then Apollos ran into a major problem. There were a number of Corinthians who just loved Apollos, and they began Apollosites. The faction problems of Berachah were solved by getting rid of the assistant pastors.

This faction wanted to be seen as greater than the other groups in Corinth; but this was not the intention of Apollos.

A.D. 54 Paul arrives in Corinth. Apollos had left Corinth by that time and moved to Ephesus. A.D. 56 Apollos may have told Paul some of the things that went on in Corinth.

Apollos took in doctrine under Paul. You never know how long you have. You never know how long you have. Take advantage of the time. Redeem the time.

Paul had great confidence in Apollos and thought him to be the best for Corinth. Paul knew that Apollos was ready for something else. So he encourages Apollos. Paul did not demand that Apollos go to Corinth. He encouraged him greatly. Paul believed both Apollos and Timothy to be ready. He thought it was a good fit for Apollos. However, Paul is not saying, “Please go.” He encourages him greatly. This is an ongoing persuasion.

Paul shows great restraint and wisdom when dealing with Apollos. Paul has incredible wisdom and great genius. He demonstrates this in all that he does. Paul never abused his apostolic authority over others. Those in Paul’s entourage were not Paul’s servants; they were servants of the Lord. Paul encouraged Apollos, but he did not force him to go. In arrogance, Paul may have demanded Apollos to go to Corinth.

Bob and Roger Lewis both wondered about Bobby taking over Berachah. However, the decision was to be Bobby’s. He wasn’t ready at that time; and Apollos felt the same way. It was not God’s plan for Apollos.

The independent Bible church more conforms to the principles of the Bible. God makes people available at the right time in the right way. There is the aorist active subjunctive of ἐρχομαι. He makes his wishes known in the subjunctive (Paul could have used the imperative). Paul left it open, and Apollos was giving it some thought.

Apollos probably wanted Paul to go back first and rip the factions apart first. However, we cannot escape these things. Apollos refused temporarily. He was wise; he did not want to exacerbate the preexisting conditions in the church. No pastor wants a church to be all about them. So many times, people have said that Berachah was a personality cult.

1Cor. 16:12 As for our brother Apollos, I have repeatedly urged him to accompany the brethren who are coming to you: but he is quite resolved not to do so at present. He will come, however, when he has a good opportunity.

Lesson #1142

1Cor. 16:12–14 October 21, 2010

Thursday

Timothy and Apollos were out of Corinth and apparently glad to be out of Corinth. Paul is addressing what Paul wants them to do; return to Corinth. Paul does not want these 2 guys to be beat by Corinth. Paul is not dogmatic; Timothy might arrive in Corinth in the near future, but it is not certain; and the same is true with Apollos; that is, he might not return until he is good and ready (from reading in between the lines).

Paul, at this time in Ephesus, believes it is time for Timothy and Apollos to get moving; they are prepared enough. "Apollos, you need to get back to Corinth." However, this did not sway Apollos; he was not one to be hustled to this or that place. At this point, he just did not want the job. Paul could have gotten quite impatient and overbearing, but he did not. However, Paul did not do this. He showed great restraint and great wisdom. He did not issue any orders to that effect. He was well-aware that Apollos had free will and he was not the servant of Paul. Paul was not the pope. He was unable to simply order various personnel around. He knew that Apollos had to make up his own mind.

Paul allows Apollos to make up his own mind. It is always about the message. Apollos wanted this whole faction thing straightened out (from reading between the lines); and he was probably waiting out Paul to go their first and straighten them out. Apollos had had enough of their bickering and strife and arrogance. Apollos was content with the friendly confines of the city of Ephesus.

Bobby understands the seminary time and that it was really nice to spend that time in the Word and discuss this and that; but it was harder in a church, where there are a buttload of problems.

Principles from this Verse

1. Paul does not claim to know the will of God for another believer. If they think they do, it is only speculation. If Paul can leave room for the will of God and the decision of an individual believer; then why can't we? Paul had a reason to get Apollos into that church. So, on 17 May 2003, Bob stepped off the podium for the last time, and a few months later, Bobby was asked to step up and fill-in until they could figure out what to do. While fishing prior to this, Rick Hughes suggested that Bobby, if given the chance to fill in, to take it. Suddenly, the whole thing was laid out in front of him. Some people find their niche this way.
2. In his wisdom, Paul helps to point out the way; however, he does not order Apollos there. It is not his final decision.

3. Paul neither condemns nor commends Apollos' refusal to go to Corinth. Instead, Paul writes, "Apollos may come there later to teach."
4. Paul makes his thoughts and desires known, but does not mandate a course of action for Apollos.
5. Paul merely revealed the decision of Apollos, as well as his own preference; but without censor or praise. However, Paul condemns the negative atmosphere of the Corinthian church. If their church was so untenable for Apollos or Timothy, what must this church look like to the outside world? Where is the testimony of this church?
6. Paul is not demanding anything. He is a man of doctrine. He is a man who knows the will of God is all-important.
7. Further, Paul did not attempt to manipulate Apollos; nor does he pry into his reasons for not packing up immediately and going.
8. Although Paul does not like the negative atmosphere in Corinth, he does now chew them out, but he subtly implies that the fault is in Corinth and not with Apollos.
9. Neither does Paul seek to mold Apollos in his own image. Emulate God; not Paul.
10. Paul recognizes that Apollos can legitimately live his own life before the Lord. Apollos is not to live for Paul's personal desires for his future pastoral life. This is a major problem in churches today. People manipulate others to live the life they think they ought to live.

1Cor. 16:12 As for our brother Apollos, I have repeatedly urged him to accompany the brethren who are coming to you: but he is quite resolved not to do so at present. He will come, however, when he has a good opportunity.

So, what does Paul mean by telling these people to act like men?

Jeff Cooper's course of gun fighting; and Jeff teaching this to men and women. 2 in the chest and 1 in the head. We don't think of women doing this, but these women were there acting like men, so to speak. They were pursuing the same objective as a man. They were learning how to protect themselves if necessary. They were moving toward the same objective.

He stressed to notice what is going on around you at all times. Notice how their eyes move; notice their body language. He also suggested to stay out of bad areas where confrontations tend to occur. White is the condition of most people most of the time. Those who are blissfully unconscious of their surroundings. This is the way most people are most of the time. They are never looking ahead; they are not alert. They blindly walk into developing danger. If you are in condition white, you are less likely to avoid trouble; you are more likely to find it. So, don't be in condition white when on the street. Do not heedlessly walk into a situation where you must defend yourself with deadly force. That is your last resort. When you have to shoot someone, that is when trouble begins. When you shoot, you can end up in more trouble than when you started. So, Cooper said, condition white is not a condition to be in when you are on the street carrying a gun.

Condition orange is how we ought to be when on the streets and among people. This means, be alert. Pay attention to everything, and, in so doing, you will avoid trouble; and if trouble comes, you will be prepared. Jeff Cooper had the same idea as Paul. Be alert, which is what Paul is saying here.

1Cor. 16:13 Be on the alert; stand firm in the faith; acquit yourselves like men; be strong.

1Cor. 16:14 Let all that you do be done from motives of love.

Lesson #1143

1Cor. 16:13–14 October 24, 2010

Sunday 1

We are empowered by God the Holy Spirit to take in the Word of God.

We will prove today that we are a militaristic church. That is, we love those on the front lines who defend our freedom. We are also in a battle all of our Christian lives. Paul wants this verse to sound like a military command. However, he finishes this off with v. 14. These ought to be the final verses of this epistle.

There will be some closing salutations to various members of the church. However, these 2 verses are the closing thoughts of this epistle to the Corinthians. Nothing is more important than the Corinthians complying with these mandates.

Many Corinthians have ignored these words to their own detriment. They are weak in the spiritual life. They have succumbed to every wind that has gone by.

Paul uses military analogies, and Paul spent 2 years surrounded by the Praetorium guard. He appreciated the military and they rescued him from a Jewish mob who wanted to stone him.

How many of you have gone out on a first date and say, "I love you." That is not love. When we develop this love, we can also have reciprocal love for all mankind. One love builds upon another love which builds upon another love.

Present active imperative of γρηγορεω, which is an order. A soldier is to never fall asleep at his post and is to always be alert. There are so many enemies from many different directions who are out there constantly.

Verb: grêgoreuô (γρηγορεύω) [pronounced gray-gor-YOO-o], which means, 1) to watch; 2) metaphorically give strict attention to, be cautious, active; 2a) to take heed lest through remission and indolence some destructive calamity suddenly overtake one. Thayer Definition only. Strong's #1127.

Why do the Corinthians get this command, and other churches do not? They are surrounded by enemies; and they appear not to be alert most of the time. They seem to be asleep when on guard duty.

What does alert mean for any believer? The believer needs to be able to recognize the enemy. How do you recognize the enemy in the spiritual life? It is doctrine; this is how we guard our spiritual life. This keeps us from being infiltrated. The enemy is very sneaky and will infiltrate us. 1Tim. 6:20 it is relative knowledge which opposes us. Timothy, guard what has been entrusted to you, avoiding irreverent, empty speech and contradictions from the "knowledge" that falsely bears that name. 2Peter 3:17 Therefore, dear friends, since you have been forewarned, be on your guard, so that you are not led away by the error of the immoral and fall from your own stability.

We have to be able to stand firm, meaning we have strength in doctrine. In the faith is the doctrine which they have been taught and that which they believe. Stand fast is another military term, which means to follow the highest orders from the very top of the command chain. This is our second general order.

Verb: stêkô (στήκω) [pronounced STAY-koh], which means, 1) to stand firm; 2) to persevere, to persist; 3) to keep one's standing. Thayer Definition only. Strong's #4739.

You die in place. You do not retreat. We continue to fight; we stand firm.

The question is, how do we stand fast in the faith? What is the technique for that? Daily, we face all of these things? What is there to help us along in this? Of course there is. The most basic way to stand fast is the faith rest drill. This is a drill. This is the frontline of defense. Stability in our soul is based upon what God has promised. We know what God has said about everything in our life and we know what He has promised us. We apply this guarantee to our circumstances.

Rom. 4:19–21 And not being weak in faith, he did not consider his own body already dead (being about a hundred years old) or the deadening of Sarah's womb. He did not stagger at the promise of God through unbelief, but was strong in faith, giving glory to God, and being fully persuaded that what God had promised, He was also able to perform. This is Abraham and he cannot procreate; he cannot have children. Sarah was also old and could not conceive either. They were both too old to have children. This was a hopeless situation. God had given Abraham a guarantee. But God promised them children. It was impossible, humanly speaking. There was no reason for him to doubt or fear or act apart from his orders. The older he became, the more steadfast in faith he became. All he had was God's promise. Abraham knew that, what God had promised, He was able to perform. Few of us have been in a situation like this. Abraham stood firm because of his faith. He knew what God promised was true.

We may realize that there are promises and that God is there; but this may seem to be a broad outline.

1Cor. 16:13 Be on the alert; stand firm in the faith; acquit yourselves like men; be strong.

1Cor. 16:14 Let all that you do be done from motives of love.

Paul has used some military terms here and he is enthusiastic. Bobby understands orders and the reason for following them out. There are no gray areas; there is no question about what we ought to be doing.

When Bobby left the military, he was told, “Be careful, sir, there is no one in charge out there.”

We are in spiritual combat constantly.

We are going to learn a fail-safe technique; a drill to follow every time.

3 Steps for Standing Firm; the Faith Rest Drill

1. Claim a promise to stabilize your soul. This is what is done in combat. This is a direct confrontation. This is adversity. Here, we claim a promise to stabilize our souls.
  - a. First of all, we have to recall a promise from the Word of God. God has given us innumerable promises from the Word of God. We must have a promise in our soul that we claim. If we know a promise, we can do this. If we don't, then we have no promise that we can depend upon.
  - b. Think about what this promise actually means.
  - c. Realize that, from the divine viewpoint, we always know that our situation is not hopeless. Our situation is never hopeless because of the guarantee. We get guarantees on appliances for about a year, and then everything goes wrong with them. However, we have an iron-clad guarantee on them.
  - d. God is still in control; He can do what He says He will do. He is immutable and sovereign and truth. He does not waltz on an obligation. God is not a manipulator. He gives it to us. We can fail, but it is still there. That is our guarantee.
  - e. He holds us in His all-powerful loving arms, so what can we be afraid of? His arms may be invisible, but they are still real.
  - f. Now that we have the promise, we can use it. God the Holy Spirit will bring the proper promise to your thinking when you need it (as long as you have learned it in the first place).
  - g. You think about what the promise has to do with your own particular situation. He cares for us, and that is all that we need to know.
  - h. This realization quiets our fears, tears, or whatever.
  - i. This realization enables us to focus on the Bible doctrine which we know. The promises of God always brings the solution into focus.
2. Use the promise in a doctrinal rationale.
  - a. A rationale is an underlying reason; a justification or a rationalization.
  - b. Every Biblical promise is backed by a doctrine or a set of doctrines.

- c. The promise is a capsule summary of many related truths. When we bring this to mind, suddenly our minds begin to churn.
  - d. This is a doctrinal rationale, and it is a logical process. Most human beings like to be logical. It is a process which moves toward a Biblical conclusion. This is a divine viewpoint application. We are making an application now. This is a doctrine which was triggered by a promise.
  - e. The promise which we use in step 1 triggers in our mind a whole realm of doctrine which we can apply. The Holy Spirit helps us here. The Holy Spirit brings a promise to mind and then helps us with this promise. However, we have to have that promise and doctrine in our souls in order to use this technique. Knowledge is necessary.
  - f. Our faith rest, that rationale, become more effective; our thinking stabilizes. When we are under pressure, our thinking is all over the place; especially when we are in anxiety mode. The promise and the rationale stabilizes our thinking. Doctrine weaves these altogether. That focuses on Who God is. That is the very nature of God. The essence of God rationale is in Rom. 4:21; what God had promises, God was able to perform. Whatever God says, He can accomplish because He is God. We do not need to worry; God makes a promise and He is able to keep it. Luke 1:47 Nothing is impossible for God. This ought to be reassuring to us always.
  - g. The logistical grace rationale, which emphasizes that God is faithful to supply our needs. God's faithfulness is everything that He is. Our salvation would be meaningless if He was not faithful? What good would rebound be?
  - h. Philip. 4:19 My God will supply all your needs. Food, shelter, clothing, existence. Philip. 4:11–19 we have spiritual assets given us by God to fulfill our purpose here on earth. The plan of God shows us our purpose. God has us individually in mind. Deut. 31:8 The Lord is the One Who goes ahead of us. He will not fail us or forsake us. Do not fear or be dismayed. He never forsakes us. 1John 5:4 For whatever is born of God overcomes the world. And this is the victory which has overcome the world. It is our faith which overcomes the world. 1Cor. 2:5 Your faith should not rest upon the wisdom of men but upon the power of God. The first thing Bobby considers is, what is the will of God; and then, what is the will of God for me? The only opinion that matters is God's. We will continue to grow in grace and knowledge and God will take care of the rest. The plan is there; it is in place. All we have to do is grow up and move into it. The plan of God rationale. It is there for us and He will work it out.
3. There is one more step. Reach doctrinal conclusions. All of this information is in our brain and now we have to put it all together.
    - a. Doctrine in the mind leads to doctrinal conclusions.
    - b. One of the greatest conclusions that we can make is Rom. 8:31. What do we say about these things? If God is for us, who can be against us? Why be stressed if this is always true? We must learn. Adversity is inevitable; stress is optional.

- c. When we move through the faith rest drill, we believe the conclusion that we have come to. Bobby knows a lot of promises and he knows the promises behind them and the doctrine behind them. However, the conclusion of the faith rest drill is, this is true.
- d. We may accept the doctrinal conclusion as true. The faith rest drill brings this promise alive so that we find courage, rest and comfort in this truth. Now, finally, we can handle the adversity, rather than just falling apart. This is our protection. This is standing firm in the faith no matter what the enemy throws at us.

The 3rd exhortation is Act like men. He does not say, Be men. Paul is not ordering women to be men. He is not crossing gender lines. He is not negating the gender roles as defined in Eph. 5. He makes this exhortation for us to act like men. So, why would Paul say this?

Paul uses the present middle imperative of ἀνδρίζομαι, which is derived from the noun ἀνερ, which simply means man. The emphasis is not upon gender but the quality of manliness. This is a military metaphor which Paul is using here. It makes perfect sense to use this verb here. In the ancient world, it was men who went to war. We must interpret this passage during the time in which it was written. Men exhibited certain characteristics in war. Paul's frame of reference was the Roman warrior, who stands firm in battle. This is a metaphor for courage, to stand fearless in the face of the enemy. We are all Christian warriors.

Verb: andrizomai (ἀνδρίζομαι) [pronounced an-DRIHD-zohm-ahee], which means, 1) to make a man of or make brave; 2) to show one's self a man, be brave. Thayer Definition only. Strong's #407.

Act like Men

1. Paul is referring to the quality and trait of courage. And courage is developed. Especially in the face of terror and the face of fear. Courage must be developed. For the military, the man facing death all the time, he must face this daily.
2. This is not a reference to a courageous gender.
3. Courage comes in all genders, no matter how strong or weak.
4. Paul mean, be both men and women of courage. All believers are in the Angelic Conflict. Be courageous in the face of the enemy. The onslaught of carnality; the assault of the cosmic system.
5. Also, act like men can refer to not just courage but to maturity. An older soldier is also a well-trained soldier and one who has learned to function in a unit. The more training we receive, the better conditioned we are in combat.

Be on guard, steadfast in doctrine, and be courageous in the face of the enemy. Each of these orders are key to victory in the spiritual life. No soldier can win or fight without these. We are in this war whether we like it or not. We ought to like this. We are here for total victory. If we win at this, we win at life.

1Cor. 16:13 Be on the alert; stand firm in the faith; acquit yourselves like men; be strong.

1Cor. 16:14 Let all that you do be done from motives of love.

Lesson #1145

1Cor. 16:13–14 October 27, 2010

Wednesday

The cosmic system so easily gets us off track and keeps us from fulfilling the plan of God. The same humanistic attributes that any unbeliever has is not the Christian way of life. When Paul wrote v. 13, this was to believers. Unbelievers are incapable of fulfilling these mandates in the Spirit. Unbelievers can fulfill establishment principles and they can contribute to the client nation. However, they cannot fulfill these mandates in v. 13. Only the spiritual life and filling of the Holy Spirit make us capable of fulfilling these things.

These 4 general orders are solutions to the general problems faced by the Corinthians, who were not effective warriors of the Christian way of life.

Be on the Alert

1. This is a military term telling us to be on constant alert; we are to be always vigilant. The enemy is relentless; he never stands down.
2. To be alert to the diverse tactics of the enemy, the believer must fill his soul with the intelligence. He needs combat intelligence. He identifies the enemy and his capabilities.
3. The intelligence information comes from one source, the revelation of the Holy Bible.
4. The believer with Bible doctrine stays alert. He is able to recognize the enemy. Not only to recognize him, but to pinpoint his tactics. We must be alert and recognize the enemy and the tactics, and we do that by understanding doctrine and the distractions in life, and the human viewpoint which we face constantly. That viewpoint is so subtle in so many ways, and it is all a part of the assault of the cosmic system. 1 degree of human viewpoint and you head off in a different direction.
5. The believer who is on the alert is never taken by surprise by a new cosmic approach. All these approaches are included in his doctrinal intelligence summary. Everything that we learn about the spiritual life and the Angelic Conflict and Satan and his minions is a part of our intelligence summary.
6. In this way, the believer avoids the pitfalls of being overwhelmed because of not paying attention. How easy it is to be overwhelmed in the spiritual life. No believer should experience a spiritual 9/11.
7. There is something else about being on alert; like any good soldier, you must know your weaknesses and your limitations.
8. The predominant trend of your old sin nature and the ways that can be taken advantage of by the temptations and deceptions of the enemy. This is how we will be attacked. This is the chink in our armor. Know your weaknesses and your limitations. The believer is alert to all of those things. In that way, he is maintaining vigilance. We are not going to be left alone. There will be assaults upon us and distractions and human viewpoint. The cosmic system is very powerful and it can be very subtle. The alert believer can always be prepared. He is never caught by surprise. He never ends up in reversionism. All of these things cannot penetrate our soul.

We then have another task which follows, to stand firm in the faith.

Standing Fast in the Faith

1. In the faith is the doctrine which has been taught and metabolized. The sphere of doctrine which has been implanted in your soul. You must be in the faith in order to do this.
2. With this doctrine, we are able to stand fast in the doctrine. We are told to be steadfast, immovable, entrenched in the doctrine of God. This is standing fast in the full armor of God. This is a part of our assets.
3. The techniques, the mechanics for standing fast is the faith rest drill. The first time believers come into contact with the faith rest drill, they are overwhelmed. We have the 3 steps of the faith rest drill:
  - a. We claim a promise to stabilize our souls. When instability strikes, there is always a wonderful promise from the Word of God which enters into his thinking and calms him, and he is able to think under pressure. 30 or 40 promises in Bob's book Faith Rest. You get to a point where you can mentally repeat a promise during a problematic period. In all of these promises, we can forget fear and instability. Every time, we recognize that Jesus Christ is in control. We cannot escape even if we want to.
  - b. Then we think of what this promise means under our personal circumstances and using the promise in a doctrinal rationale. Every Biblical promise is backed by a doctrine or a series of doctrines. What does this promise mean in the wider scope of doctrine? If we practice, when we get in the game, we can execute. It is a logical process; it is God the Holy Spirit and His power in us, moving us from one promise to an entire doctrine which backs that promise. The promise is a summary of many related truths. When we trigger this doctrine, our confidence is increased. What do they mean? We look at the promise and the rationales and we begin to understand. Then we begin to realize. Logistical grace means that God takes care of us. Bobby knows that many of us are in dire financial straits.
  - c. To reach a doctrinal conclusion. This is the application of what we know from the promise and rationale from the promise to the doctrine to an application. This is the mechanics of how we do it.

Then we are told to act like men, addressed to men and women.

Act like Men

1. This refers not to gender, as such, but to the quality of courage found in the soldier, found in combat. One must be there. Fear can be present, but courage means we think and operate despite the pressure. We do our duty despite what we face.
2. This is another military metaphor. This is conducting oneself in a manly way.
3. In the time this was written, Paul's frame of reference was the Roman soldier, the Roman legions throughout the Roman world who fought and demonstrated great courage in battle.
4. This is a perfect metaphor for the Christian warrior who bravely does battle.
5. The courageous soldier is the mature well-trained soldier. He has skills, which is not just to survive but to be victorious. The skills and the discipline gained in training brings courage in combat. The skills become second-nature.
6. His ability in spiritual warfare is found in the application of doctrine to spiritual warfare. Deut. 31:6 Be strong and courageous; do not be afraid and tremble before them. We are never alone. We have all the support that we need all of the time. We must have food and water; we need all of these things to function. In spiritual combat, it is always there. Jesus Christ is always with us; He never forsakes us. His courage becomes our courage because we are advancing in the spiritual life.

There is a final exhortation, the final general order is, be strong. Paul envisions all believers as warriors constantly under attack. All of the other specific problems which we have covered, these are a litany of problems and circumstances and difficulties that we face. There is no way for us to be strong when we depend upon human fortitude, or human inspiration or bravery which depends on human ability or resources.

Be Strong

1. No matter how strong a person is, everyone is weak and vulnerable in many areas of life; all of us are.
2. To compensate, there are many people who try to acquire what they consider strength to live their lives. Some live by true grit, by human strength. There are many complications here. Any unbeliever with resolve and gut out life. Others work out compulsively, thinking that physical strength is the key to mental, emotion and moral strength; some even think this as spiritual strength. Others join groups and they find strength in numbers. You get propped up by other people. Another way that people attempt to be strong in this world. Some people immerse themselves in religious activities apart from the teaching of doctrine, like mysticism or meditation, and they think they get strength from this. Others use legal and illegal drugs to help them feel good when they don't. They need an artificial lift, and it becomes exactly the opposite. It temporarily solves weaknesses with a temporary euphoria. They become physically dependent after that; even weaker. This masks the real problem. People use that for strength, and it is temporary. You are strong for a couple of hours, and then you are right back in it.
3. These and other methods are attempts to gain human strength in the face of weakness.

4. Human strength is the fickle power of determination of limited perseverance, of self-centeredness and self-glorification.
5. What passes for strength in the human realm can only take a person so far, and then it ends.
6. People can really tough out difficulties and hardships in a very dogged way, and they keep on keeping on; they drive on, as is said in Ranger school. Human strength would have never gotten Bobby through that. Gutting it out does not mean that we have a relaxed mental attitude so, there is no lasting strength.
7. Human strength has an ebb and a flow. It is there and it is not there. It often fails. If pressed hard and tested enough, it will fail. And there are a lot of people without even a modicum of human strength.
8. Human strength is temporary; it cannot provide a moment by moment solution to fear and anxiety; it cannot stand up under every circumstance.
9. For the believer in Jesus Christ, human strength is never enough to withstand the vicious attacks of Satan's system. It cannot be done. There is no divine strength; they have no human strength.
10. Human strength can never be what Paul commends in relation to the spiritual life. This glorifies humanity and will ultimately fail. We can only be strong in the power of God's might.

Human Strength Versus Divine Strength

1. Human strength is a great quality, but it can never replace the power of the Christian warrior.
2. The strongest person in human strength is cowardly compared to divine strength. We have so much more in divine strength.
3. Divine strength does not depend upon one's own resources, which is always flawed and inadequate.
4. It is only the believer who can have strength from the source of God, and that is strength.
5. This power is available to the believer only.
6. His strength is His power working in us and His doctrine applied by us. Hence we have consistent strength and the power of the Holy Spirit and the doctrine resident in our souls. We have consistent strength as we apply it.
7. 2Cor. 12:10 therefore, I am well content with weaknesses, with distresses, with persecutions, with difficulties for Christ's sake. A good question would be, why does Paul endure so much? For when I am weak, then I am strong. Human strength is ultimately weakness.
- 8.
9. For believers, in our human weakness and in our human strength, we can fall back on divine strength.
10. Thus we as believers are able to weather any storm because of His strength in us. We can handle it because of His strength.

11. We are stronger under those circumstances than any personal guts can make us. When we are weak, then we are strong, when we have divine strength.
12. We have the divine assets which will make us stand courageous against the cosmic system and win.
13. Divine strength sustains us no matter what we face or how humanly weak we become. We are sustained by the power of God in us. That power in us is true strength. Here, we are applying His power and strength.

1Cor. 16:13 Be on the alert; stand firm in the faith; acquit yourselves like men; be strong.

1Cor. 16:14 Let all that you do be done from motives of love.

Lesson #1146

1Cor. 16: October 28, 2010

Thursday

2Cor. 12:10 For the sake of Christ, then, I am content with weaknesses, insults, hardships, persecutions, and calamities. For when I am weak, then I am strong. These words define what we are studying. From the perspective of human viewpoint, no one assumes that being weak means you are actually strong. This does not compute with most people. No one can remain weak and gain and maintain strength at the same time. How are you content in weakness? There is no way around the fact that weakness is not strength. This verse just isn't possible.

Human strength can certainly turn into weakness. It lasts only so long. Human strength is a finite commodity; it lasts until it breaks down. Strong personalities and true grit and the stoic person. The stoic person simply masks his weaknesses and his emotion. In your soul, there is still agonizing, emotional intensity; but you put on that strong front to everyone else. People work incessantly to have great muscles, and many who do this mistake this for real strength. Some even link their health to spirituality. Religious yoga is an example of this.

Whatever people do to combat adversity is simply using their own human strength. And Paul writes, When I am weak, then I am strong. This is divine viewpoint and this is a long ways from human strength. There is a different kind of strength here. Human weakness highlights divine strength in our souls. We depend upon God for our power. We do not depend upon our own resources. Our own power is weak before God. Divine strength is God's power.

Divine Strength and Human Weakness

1. Divine strength shines in human weakness. In the sphere of the spiritual life.
2. This type of spiritual strength is mandated for the believer.
3. Human strength cannot fulfill the mandate to be strong.
4. Only living the spiritual life can fulfill this mandate, be strong.

5. We are truly strong in the spiritual life because our strength is centered in something besides ourselves. Human strength is all about us. It is the power which we have as a person.
6. When we are weak, then we are strong. This only comes through the spiritual life. This is when we are strong in the power of His might.
7. Such strength is unparalleled in all human existence. It is His strength in us. Any unbeliever is strong because of his own personality or some other human resource. We may be much weaker than the strongest person with human strength, but we are stronger than any unbeliever with the power of God in us.

Divine Strength

1. Divine strength is not something which we develop; it is given to us.
2. What God gives us is the filling of the Holy Spirit. This is the power to fulfill the mandate to be strong.
3. When the power of human strength reaches its limits, and it always does, then you can fall back on the unlimited power of God the Holy Spirit, His strength in us. He works in us and provides us the source of our strength.
4. Applying the divine viewpoint that permeates our souls is the demonstration of that strength. When we are at our weakness, when we feel hopeless, when you have done something that bums us out; or someone has done something to us that makes us feel so bad. So we say, "This is beyond my capability." God will always answer us. He will provide us the strength. We are weak in ourselves but strong in the power that He provides us. Human viewpoint has no chance in the face of that kind of strength.

What is the application. When it says, be strong, what does that strength mean to us?

What it Looks like to Be Strong

1. Divine strength brings contentment; a relaxed mental attitude. That means we have the capacity for peace in all circumstances.
2. Divine strength bring mental stability. Stability when ti comes to the faith rest drill. This is a basic mechanic to our strength. That is a promise which stabilizes our thinking. We all fear and have fears. That is a great time of weakness. You can't sleep because of a nagging fear in your soul. You think about it and there is fear. The realization of God's power is the divine viewpoint which quiets your soul. It is the strength in otherwise destabilizing fear.
3. Spiritual strength brings poise and composure marked by self-assurance. The believer who has experienced the effectiveness of doctrine in his own life has experienced divine strength. You know the promises which God gives you are iron-clad and true. The stoic puts on false composure. A face to handle every difficulty. The believer has real composure behind the poise and the composure is real. That is the difference between uman strength and divine strength.

4. The epitome of divine strength. The strong believer is secure in the knowledge that divine grace has made complete provision for him in this life. God's grace gives blessing in this life. That is where divine strength lies. Living grace and dying grace solve all of our shortcomings and all of our weaknesses. Grace orientation not only means we understand what God has provided for us, but we do not compromise our own integrity.
5. Divine strength demonstrates an attitude of humility. Such a person avoids the arrogance which is the epitome of weakness. It is no longer my plan but God's plan. It is not all about us anymore. Our plans never seem to work out the way that we plan them. We as believers can relax because we have a plan that always works out because it is His plan for us. That is strength.
6. Another result form divine strength is making good decisions from a position of strength. There are so many bad decisions; some which last for awhile and some for a lifetime. The believer presses on despite past failures, not eaten up with guilt. Guilt is a crushing mental attitude sin. Strength is precluding guilt from bad decisions.
7. Divine strength bring personal control over one's own life. So many people have lives which are completely out of control. When doctrine controls your thinking and not other people, then you have control over your life. One of the biggest problems is when you are so influenced by people that you follow them no matter what. Doctrine has to substitute for that. You must not be influenced by the human viewpoint feelings of others. The strong believer's focus in life is on God. We focus on God and His plan. Then God is in control of our life.
8. Spiritual self esteem is a manifestation of spiritual strength. It is the assertion of Bible doctrine resident in the soul. It is living by one's own thinking from that doctrine. It is then making application with the doctrine to all circumstances, including suffering. Spiritual self esteem solves the problems of inadequacy of uncertainty concerning one's niche in life. The believer with spiritual self esteem views difficulties as opportunities to utilize the doctrine in one's soul. Adversity can bring weakness, but this is an opportunity to apply doctrine.
9. The believer with spiritual strength has self-control, self-restrain, self-regulation.
10. Divine strength brings a new dynamic attitude toward life. The believer's perspective changes from human viewpoint to divine viewpoint. When we see the command to be strong, we know what it means and what it brings to us.

Isa. 40:31 ...but they who wait for the LORD shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings like eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint. We can trade in our own weakness for God's all-sufficient power, and we mount up like eagles. The Christian warrior who never backs down from the assaults of the Angelic Conflict.

1Cor. 16:13 Be on the alert; stand firm in the faith; acquit yourselves like men; be strong.

1Cor. 16:14 Let all that you do be done from motives of love.

There are 4 commands, given to us as spiritual soldiers. Be alert, be on guard; particularly in combat. You cannot have victory in the Angelic Conflict if you are in a state of rejection. Legalism is anti-grace and legalism opposes it at every turn. You must be alert to human viewpoint which surrounds us all of the time. Then there is Satan's cosmic system which is assaulting us constantly. In order to do this, we must gather intelligence, as any good soldier would do, which comes from the Bible doctrine in your soul. Know your enemy; understand who he is, so that we are alert to his strategy and tactic. In this way, we stand firm in the faith. Do not fall prey to the traps set for us. That which protects our soul from all of these enemies is Bible doctrine in our souls.

We also have the faith rest drill, which takes the promises of God, of which we have so many; these promises represent doctrinal rationales. We must know His promises and believe them, so that we can apply them. There is no room for doubt in our souls; if God's Word is paramount in our thinking, we can remain steadfast in the faith no matter what the enemy throws at us.

The 3rd mandate is act like men, a necessary act; this is a metaphor for courage. Paul addresses every believer in Jesus Christ, and this is all about courage, which is not gender specific. The greatest test of courage is in combat. Our spiritual fight is not against flesh and blood, but against principalities and powers, against the rulers of darkness in this world; against spiritual evil in high places. That is with whom we war. Everything that goes with this, which includes human viewpoint and all the world's philosophies; but there is only one truth in this world.

We must become the courageous soldier that God means us to be.

We are to be strong, which is almost a summation of all that has gone before. This is not human strength, but resting upon divine strength. It is never strong enough our own human strength. Human strength will fail. We all have weaknesses that we cannot overcome. We can all name areas of our life that we cannot seem to defeat. It is entirely possible to depend upon God's power. When I am strong, then I am strong. The opposite of human viewpoint. In the secular world, weakness and strength are mutually exclusive. God's strength is absolute strength; when we use it, we are weak; but we are strong at the same time. This does not derive from a fallible human source. The Bible associates divine strength with human weakness in the spiritual life. Paul knows exactly what he is mandating here. This is the mandate to live the spiritual life, overcoming human weakness with divine strength. We can withstand our own weaknesses and function with great power in our spiritual lives. We are only truly strong when we function utilizing God's power.

The filling of the Holy Spirit is the beginning, which is our power source. This is plugging into an electrical socket. There is the unlimited power of the Holy Spirit. The divine viewpoint needs to permeate the soul and it is applied to all of the circumstances of weakness in our lives. That is the manifestation of our unailing strength.

These 4 orders are the general characteristics of all of those things that we can never seem to quite face up to or deal with. This is our strength and the further that we go with the spiritual life, the stronger we become. Nowhere in the human existence is this true; only in the spiritual life.

1Cor. 16:13 Be on the alert; stand firm in the faith; acquit yourselves like men; be strong.

V. 13 deals with the internal threats. We are a unit fighting shoulder to shoulder on the battlefield. How do we treat our fellow soldiers? How do we treat those soldiers in the fox holes with us? All of us deal with the same things. There relationship between us and other believers is important. V. 14 sums up the relationship between believers on the battlefield. Let all that you do be done from motives of love. Bobby could launch off into a sappy sermon at this point. However, this is the love of 1Cor. 13, which Bobby spent months teaching us. If we do not have this in our souls, then we do not have the capacity to love.

The development of virtue love from the believer always begins at the top. It always begins with God's unfailing love. God's impersonal love for all mankind was demonstrate by the Lord Jesus Christ on the cross. This was demonstrated toward all humanity. What God has provided for us, unlimited atonement, is the gracd means of our salvation. That is the greatest love that there is.

Jesus Christ came for the specific purpose of dying for us; of paying the penalty for our sins. That was His purpose. Every time someone points to some difficult circumstance in their life or in the lives of others, and therefore, God is not love; you then point to the cross. God demonstrates another love in a very personal love in a very personal relationship. He gives each one of us the filling of the Holy Spirit. He gives us an unlimited supply of Bible doctrine. He gives this to us. Most of us think of love as something which someone else gives us. If you do not get this gift, then we may think they are not really loving us. But, we can never say that about God's personal love for us. The Word of God is the greatest gift which can be given to us. It is all ours. It is given ot us. That is personal love. We have problem solving devices and He disciplines every child that He receives, to bring us back into line. That is also love. If you are a parent, you know that disciplining your children is important, to help guide them in the correct direction. A moment of pain in order to preclude a lot of pain in the future. That is an expression of personal love.

When you get to know someone and how they think and you get to know their value. You do not fall in love on the first date. Anyone can pull the wool over another's eyes on the first date or the second or the 10th. We must get to know God and understand what He has done for us. When we get to know Him, we cannot help but fall in love. That love, building that capacity to love God can be translated into our ability to love others.

Let all that you do be done from motives of [virtue] love. We can tell someone about Jesus Christ with what you say, and it has no impact compared to the virtue love in your relationship with them. Paul exhorts the Corinthians here, exhorting them in the spiritual life. This one verse reveals just how short the Corinthians fall in their own spiritual lives.

Virtue love and the souls of these believers will solve all of their problems. Here is the spiritual life; do everything in the sphere of virtue love.

1Cor. 16:14 Let all that you do be done from motives of [virtue] love.

In the next several verses, Paul gets very personal, after his last line of doctrine, which is a reference to virtue love. Paul has previously spoken of his well-trained companions in the ministry. Now he commends some other men and women who are in the service of Jesus Christ.

Stephanas is the first one mentioned, and adds in his entire household. His wife, children and his slaves (if he has any). They form a corporate witness to Jesus Christ.

Philemon had a slave, Onesimus.

This is a great blessing; an entire household of believers in Jesus Christ. This comes from fulfilling the 4 mandates + 1.

1Cor. 16:15 And I beseech you, brethren--you know the household of Stephanas, how they were the earliest Greek converts to Christ, and have devoted themselves to the service of God's people--

1Cor. 16:16 I beseech you, on your part, to show deference to such men, and to every one who participates in their work and toils hard.

1Cor. 16:17 It is a joy to me that Stephanas, Fortunatus and Achaicus have now arrived, because what was wanting so far as you are concerned they have supplied.

1Cor. 16:18 They have refreshed my spirit, and yours. Acknowledge such men as these.

Lesson #1148

1Cor. 16:24, 15–18 October 31, 2010

Sunday 2

Paul has taught these people the most important thing that we can teach, and this is why they love him (apart from the gospel).

Bobby understands, in a limited way, the appreciation that people have for the teaching of the Word of God. Paul is obviously grieved by some of the antics of the reversionists. However, Paul never ostracized or deserted these people, even though they are some of the worst people to come down the pike. A lot of legalists would have blackballed the Corinthian church. These are 2 of the longest epistles in the New Testament, taken together. He loves them. He has chewed them out, up and down, and taken them to task for their carnality and their lack of spiritual advance. They are not executing the spiritual life, and yet, Paul closes the entire epistle with, my love be with you all (this is v. 24). This is the most relaxed and easy life to live. This is the most wonderful experience in life, and Paul is simply trying to get that over to them.

It is an occupation hazard for a pastor to take things personally. Wherever criticism finds Bobby, it is not personal. He will do his job, whether we like it or not. We do not take it personally. Sometimes it is hard not to and sometimes we rebound and move on. We apply impersonal love, and it is difficult with some people.

If you have ever dealt with young children, and they demand your attention constantly. Here is Paul, doing the exact same thing. As a parent, you can really get sick of it all. "Is this my child and I wonder if there is an orphanage which will take them."

This closing line is made to the biggest babies that Paul has dealt with. Some reject his teaching and some cause problems; and he has affection for everyone.

Just as you want your children to grow up and have successful lives, so a good pastor wants the best for his own congregation.

Bobby found over and over again in this 6 years of teaching 1Corinthians, that there is a direct application to his life and the church. This is the love which Paul expresses. He expresses this to the entire church at Corinth.

1Cor. 16:24 My love in Christ Jesus be with you all.

Paul does single out a few believers and commends certain believers who are leaders in that church.

He begins with Stephanas and his household, which would include his slaves, if he had them. Slaves in the Roman world were much more prevalent in the ancient world. 6 million slaves in the Roman empire and 1 million in Rome. There were more slaves than free people. Every time the Romans conquered a people, they took many slaves. There have been more periods of time with slavery in human history than without. It has only been the most recent last few generations.

The household of Stephanas was the first full family to believe in Jesus Christ, and the entire family was interested in the teaching of the Word of God. There was a whole family of like-minded believers. This is a family standing shoulder-to-shoulder, a demonstration of the corporate witness; and their children become a part of the pivot by which their nation is blessed.

So Paul makes an exception here and names this family. Paul did not run around and baptize everyone. However, this family was special, and he baptized these people in front of the church. Baptism is a testimony to our salvation that we have believed in Jesus Christ. When we go down under the water, we are identified with positional truth, and when we come up, we are identified with retroactive positional truth??

This is a well-known family. They stood out in the use of the spiritual gifts. They were advancing and maturing believers. They had a good reputation in the church, and their faithfulness was clear to those who knew them. They stood out. They practiced virtue love. Paul spoke of virtue love and then he thought of this family immediately. You might be a meek and quiet person, but the practice of virtue love gets around. They are demonstrating that which virtue love reveals. This is a ministry that anyone of us can have.

We do not know the spiritual gifts of this family, although none of them seem to have the gift of pastor-teacher. They probably have service gifts; helps, mercy, exhortation, faith.

This was a special family, and they led by example. They were not expressing bravado; they did not demand everyone else's attention. These believers quietly stood out, serving Jesus Christ quietly and faithfully.

Joshua 24:15b “But as for me and my family, we will serve the Lord.” That is spiritual leadership.

Aorist active indicative of  $\tau\alpha\sigma\omega$  which means, devoted to a purpose or to a cause. This refers to an addiction, in a good sense.

The Compulsion of the Christian Life

1. Once we have a taste of operating with our spiritual gift, we can do nothing else.
- 2.
3. This is a craving; and overwhelming desire. We get up in the morning desiring to utilize this gift.
4. We see as a believer matures, the use of his spiritual gifts become a compulsion. This is why Paul is commending this family. They have a ministry to the saints.

1Cor. 16:15 And I beseech you, brethren--you know the household of Stephanas, how they were the earliest Greek converts to Christ, and have devoted [addicted] themselves to the service of God's people--

Lesson #1149

1Cor. 16: November 3, 2010

Wednesday

Paul closes all of his epistles with some sort of greetings, salutations. These are letters, so we would expect there to be some personal information throughout. There are benedictions, grace by with you all, love to all, etc. 1Corinthians is probably the longest closing. There are commendations to believers whom he singles out for special recognition. Paul reveals his tremendous ability to love and the great friendships that he has made. He has tremendous friends of like mind; he shows the tremendous love that he has. Regardless, Paul expresses his true feelings.

The first commendation is to Stephanas. Essentially, this is a mini-biography of Stephanas. The whole family was growing and thinking divine viewpoint. They were a family corporate witness. Not even Job's family was with him; his wife told him to curse God and die. Stephanas has a confident outlook toward his loved ones, toward those in his family and he knows they have eternal security. They will never be separated for long.

Life then was shorter and more people died in youth; and yet, this family knew that they would be together forever. Paul did not do much baptizing, but he baptized this family. This family stood out because they were advancing and maturing believers. This family had service gifts which they used effectively in the church.

Virtue love was their modus operandi. The results in their lives was exactly what they should have been. This family, in these closing verses, are being commended as demonstrating the operation of their spiritual gifts. They also demonstrated spiritual leadership as well. They were devoted to this purpose. They were addicted to using their spiritual gifts for the service of God's people. Service and use of a spiritual gift becomes a compulsion or an addiction, so to speak.

The noun here is διακονία. Here, we have the general meaning of the word, which is service; it is not an appointed office. This is the practical service of any believer. It can be helps or exhortation or mercy. If you serve, you are a servant. They did not look for others to do things for them; they were doing things for other people. This modus operandi in this church was quite unusual. There was an attitude required; an attitude of humility and grace orientation. There is no way anyone could easily serve this church without grace orientation.

It takes true virtue love to stomach or to serve arrogant people. They magnificently displayed all there was in the Corinthian church. This should have heaped shame upon those whom they served.

The Stephanas family was not looking for recognition. They were down-to-earth, fun-loving and nice to be around. They were not trying to be top dogs of anything. They were not sponsoring a cult.

1Cor. 16:15 And I beseech you, brethren--you know the household of Stephanas, how they were the earliest Greek converts to Christ, and have devoted [addicted] themselves to the service of God's people--

Paul wants the Corinthians there to learn something from the Stephanas family. There were others there growing in grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior. He singled them out for their humility and service; because the problem in Corinth was their arrogance and factionalism. Everyone in that church were being told to look at this Stephanas family; they should have been able to see how doctrine could make such a difference in a family like this. Paul commends them. They exemplify what Bible doctrine does in the soul. The exemplify what all of us ought to be.

Paul recognizes the natural leadership of believers in the church. Servants who are leaders; they do not seem to go together, but this is the spiritual realm, a realm which is entirely different from the secular realm. In the secular realm, those who are serving are at the bottom. In the spiritual realm, there is great spiritual leadership.

Bobby is reading between the lines here. There was apparently no pastor-teacher in Corinth at this time, or he was weak or ineffective or not teaching. This family was a positive influence in this church.

To the Corinthians, Paul says, "Be in subjection to such men." Only men carry formal leadership in the church, something Paul has written about on many occasions. Men were heads of households, as was Stephanas, and he represents the entire household.

Υποτασσω means to submit, to subordinate oneself in the middle voice. The subjective indicates some contingency. It is contingent upon the volition of a person. This subordination must develop humility.

Paul designates this family as ones to whom we ought to subordinate. They had distinctive qualities above all others. That means to demonstrate leadership. It is compulsory in the church for those in the church to subordinate themselves to the pastor, but there is also unofficial leadership as well.

Unofficial Leadership

1. An unofficial leader is someone without a position of authority.
2. They are someone that others naturally follow. Informal leaders, that others just naturally follow and respect. So other listen to a person like that, even though it may not be the team captain.
3. That example is executing the spiritual life and functioning with the spiritual gift. These are spiritual mature believers.
4. These are believers that other believers inherently follow.
5. They follow because of their exceptional character, and charge in the church. They demonstrate wisdom by application of doctrine. When people apply doctrine, that is attractive; that is unofficial leadership. Stephanas is the guy who will lead by example and others will follow. Manipulation is not leadership; that is exactly the opposite. It is all about doctrine.
6. Unofficial leadership are those who are simply serving the church from virtue love motivation. They demonstrate a shining example of what others should be. They are not trying to tell others what they are doing. They are not trying to manipulate others.
7. These are not legalistic or judgmental and they do not interfere in the lives of others.
8. They simply go about their business and get it done, and, in so doing, they have impact upon others.
9. Such unofficial leaders never seek to usurp the authority of the official leadership. There were those in the past who wanted to usurp the leadership of Berachah, and that is not true unofficial leadership.
10. Unofficial leadership continually demonstrates humility along with grace orientation and virtue love and they are the example which others ought to imitate.

No one should put themselves under arrogant leadership. Corinth was filled with arrogance. Paul commends one family and Paul say, "Look at these people." Unofficial leaders are not loudmouthed, bullying egotistical types.

True Humility

1. For someone to voluntarily place themselves into subjection to another is humility.
2. Humility is a way of thinking and a way of life.
3. As a way of thinking, it is freedom from arrogance and human viewpoint.
4. As a way of life, it is grace and authority-orientation resulting in virtue love and service. That is leadership.
5. Humility is acquired in the believer be spiritual growth. They are oriented first and foremost to the Word of God. That is the first submission that we all make. The pastor teaches the Word of God and he carries that authority as well. That is where the real authority lies. Bobby's true authority is via teaching the Word of God.
6. The humble believer is motivated by personal love for God. Personal love for God means serving the Lord and others.
7. When a believer thinks and acts in humility, he is expressing divine viewpoint.
8. When any believer operates in such a manner, with a mature spiritual life, thinking and acting with humility, the mandate of 1Peter 5:5b Clothe yourselves in humility toward one another.

Family and Unofficial Leadership

1. The characteristic of humility in the mature believer is an example that others can respect and subordinate to.
2. Subordinating demands humility in the person who is subordinating. That must be developed.
3. Every humble person serving the Lord in humility becomes an unofficial leader by example.
4. Other believers can see the results of spiritual growth. It is nor phony, not some fruit inspector, but truly someone growing in grace.
5. Then, the believer responds in kind because they see the difference.
6. In essence, a believer subordinates to another believer is evidencing humility.
7. Subordinating is a picture of the spiritual life. This is subordinating to the Lord.
8. This is not setting up another believer as an icon. All too often, there are icons in the church, which leads to factions or tearing the icons down when the feet of clay are seen.
9. This is one believer serving the Lord and demonstrating the attitude of humility.
10. This characteristic that defines the mature believer in the spiritual life and Christian service makes a natureal spiritual leader.

1Cor. 16:16 I beseech you, on your part, to show deference to such men, and to every one who participates in their work and toils hard.

Bobby wants to finish this by 1st service Sunday.

1Cor. 16:15 And I beseech you, brethren--you know the household of Stephanas, how they were the earliest Greek converts to Christ, and have devoted [addicted] themselves to the service of God's people--

Stephanas was leadership by example, and this is someone who can truly lead. Such a person has no official title. Such leadership requires humility; and humility of service impacts all of those around such a leader. Emulating is not just copying the activities of another believer. What must be emulated is the humility of the believer. The leader by example. The type of emulation is spiritual advance. Paul said, “Be imitators of me.” Paul was speaking of emulating his spiritual advance. Emulate me as I am an imitator of Christ. It was his thinking, his doctrinal maturity. Stephanas and his family.

Someone before Christ was reminding Bobby of those who have emulated the maturity of another believer. They are entirely effective in what they do for the Lord, in the church and outside of the church.

Then Paul commends others in v. 16. These are those in a church operating like Stephanas. This is not the out-front type of leadership. These are believers operating behind the scenes, serving in anonymity. They are the backbone of Christian service.

Works and labors are two different words, but they are in the dative case. Article in front of works but none in front of labors. This is a Granville-Sharpe construction in the Greek, and works and labors refer to the same thing. The mature believer is in service to the Lord using his spiritual gift. This phrase further defines the Stephanas family. They are to subordinate their own arrogant ideas to Stephanas and men like him. Notice the Stephanas is serving and he is a leader by example. He is functioning in his spiritual gift and serving the Lord. Do not imitate what is evil [arrogance and evil and human viewpoint], but imitate what is good.

1Cor. 16:16 I beseech you, on your part, to show deference to such men, and to every one who participates in their work and toils hard.

Paul speaks about Stephanas and 2 other men. These other two men are mentioned only here and nowhere else. Since they are named with Stephanas, they are mature believers and from Corinth. Fortunatus was probably Roman and Achaicus was a Greek. All 3 men had traveled from Corinth to Ephesus during the 2 years that Paul was in Ephesus and during the time that Paul wrote this epistle.

These men would probably bring back Paul's instructions to the church in Corinth. They supplied what was lacking in the Corinthians.

1Cor. 16:17 It is a joy to me that Stephanas, Fortunatus and Achaicus have now arrived, because what was wanting so far as you are concerned they have supplied.

Γαρ is an example of the previous phrase. Πνευμα can have several meanings. This is the part of the soul which stores doctrine. The spiritual life as it affects the whole person. Paul's spiritual life, his life in general, is enhanced by this refreshment. Philemon was also a refreshment to Paul? This includes like-minded believers who refresh one another; they provide refreshment and encouragement and relaxation for one another. This is a pleasant and refreshing experience. It is the enjoyment of getting together with like-minded believers. Spending time with believers who love Bible doctrine and can deal with your personality with impersonal love. This is a capacity that is the result of a mature spiritual life. Such people have an awesome impact. Anyone is blessed by having an association with a believer like this. We are leaders by examples and ought to exhibit qualities only found in the mature believer. This refreshment is so good to Paul after all he has been through. These are some men who have taken the doctrine which he has taught and have run with it. These people will have an impact in this crazy church in Corinth. So, Paul makes mention of such men. These are people we ought to seek out for a relationship. Such a relationship never gets old and it never gets stale.

Doctrine of Refreshment

1. While refreshment connotes restoring strength with food and drink, in the Bible, it means to restore spiritual strength to revive divine viewpoint and capacity for life. This does not replace Bible doctrine in the soul. There is a wonderful encouragement, a spiritual strength, a leader by example.
2. Refreshment requires that someone else has something that you do not. So they come along and provide what is lacking. The Apostle Paul needs this just as much as anyone. Did he lack doctrine? Of course not.
3. Spiritual refreshment provides stimulation, blessing and association with a mature believer. This is a true friendship. Everyone should have a relationship; at least one like that. Paul was happy that these men showed up.
4. Refreshment connotes an interlude of relaxation in spite of tough circumstances; like an oasis in the desert. God provides these sorts of things.
5. The ministry of refreshment is not just the function of the pastor-teacher, but the ministry of refreshment is for all believers. You can be one of those refreshers or you can be refreshed.
6. A mature believer has the basis through Bible doctrine in the soul to communicate warmth, stability, encouragement, and comradery in the face of spiritual warfare and adversity. In warfare, you trust your life to the person next to you in the foxhole. That is what another believer can do for someone else.
7. Someone else is comforted and encouraged by the overflow of the capacity for life and sharing the happiness of God.
8. Refreshment comes from friends or anyone who is advancing in doctrine and exhibits virtue love. A mature believer.
9. The personality of the one who refreshes is not the issue, but the refreshing attitude and viewpoint that he or she brings. The spiritual life that he or she demonstrates.

There are all sorts of personalities which grow up spiritually. Often the rough edges are taken off with spiritual growth, but the believer, regardless of personality, demonstrates the spiritual and divine viewpoint.

10. This refreshment capacity is a part of the unofficial leadership in the church.
11. Refreshment is a blessing by association. The mature believer is a refreshment to those associated with him or her.
12. The ministry of refreshment is the fulfillment and function of spiritual maturity.
13. This ministry of refreshment is of inestimable value, for individuals and for the church as a whole. As a mature believer, we are a tremendous encouragement of doctrine in action in our lives. It is a permanent solution and the means of refreshment for others. It has an application to us and to others.

Their ability to refresh Paul also filled a gap in Corinth. They brought an enhancement to the lives of the Corinthians. These men have had an impact there and Paul is commending these men to their fellow believers in Corinth because they are worthy of acknowledgment. They are a wonderful gift to all that have received it.

1Cor. 16:18 [For example], they have refreshed my spirit, and yours. Acknowledge such men as these.

This takes us to the final 5 verses, which are salutes and greetings, along with a warning, and a beautiful benediction. Bobby reads these verses.

Ἀσπάζομαι is carried over from the Hebrew into the Greek; it is like shalom. This recognizes the salvation of another person in Christ. We are a part of the royal family. The first to send these greetings are the churches in Asia. These are the churches named in Rev. 2–3 and there are others as well. Ephesus is the capital of that area, called Asia.

The Corinthians probably did not know any of these people, but Paul wants these Corinthians to know that these other churches were interested in them. There was salvation and like-mindedness when it comes to doctrine. Bobby goes elsewhere to a conference, and immediately, there is a comradery because of doctrine.

There are 2 people who greet them, Aquila and Priscilla; Claudius had thrown all of the Jews out of Rome, so he kicked all the Christians or Jews out? Not sure which. Aquilla became a tentmaker. One of the highest men among the pharisees and, what does he do? He makes tent. Paul may have met them in the market place, where they both might have been selling tents.

Rom. 16:3 tells us that they risked their lives for Paul. When Paul was in Corinth, they helped him. When Paul left Corinth, Aquila and Priscilla went with him. The church was in their house. That was the center of Christian activity in Ephesus. This was probably a central meeting place in Corinth, right in their home (which is where most believers met at that time).

They grabbed Apollos when he came into town, and taught him some Church Age doctrine, and then they sent him to Corinth. 2Tim. 4:19, written shortly before Paul was beheaded. Paul expressed a desire for Timothy to come to him in prison from Ephesus. This married couple was always mentioned together, probably because they were always so effective together.

1Cor. 16:19 The Churches in the province of Asia send you greetings; and Aquila and Prisca, in hearty Christian love, do the same, together with the Church which meets at their house.

1Cor. 16:20 The brethren all send greetings to you. Greet one another with a holy kiss.

1Cor. 16:21 The final greeting of me--Paul--with my own hand.

1Cor. 16:22 If any one is destitute of love to the Lord, let him be accursed. OUR LORD IS COMING.

1Cor. 16:23 The grace of the Lord Jesus be with you.

Lesson #1151

1Cor. 16: November 7, 2010

Sunday 1

Daylight Savings Time ends

Paul is ending with some greetings to spiritual people in Corinth.

Perhaps you have heard “Extend the right hand of fellowship;” this is “Extend the right cheek of fellowship.” This greeting would have included Timothy and Apollos. Timothy was run off and Apollos left on his own. Paul wants to make it clear that there are no hard feelings.

They were at odds with one another. They were filing lawsuits against one another; they developed factions. Paul here is commending a manifestation of virtue love. Paul uses this salutation to 2 other churches. Rom. 16 1Thess. 5:26 and again at the end of 2Corinthians.

This is an ἀδελφός kiss. This is like the kisses between family members. Of course, every family has wars with one another, and there is bitterness and estrangement. Paul is saying that, even though this is true, this should not occur between mature believers. As mature believers, we ought not to participate; it is not worth it. There is nothing they have done that is worth it. As a mature believer, we have the responsibility to get along. We ought to recognize that it is not our place to be on this or that side of a war between family members. Family testing is some of the worst testing of all. This is because they are able to get to us all of the time.

Why would Paul use terminology like kiss? Many of the believers in Corinth had a very pagan background. Many of them came right out of the phallic cult. These pagans kissed their idols and the images of their gods. Noun neuter:philēma (φίλημα) [pronounced ], which means, 1) a kiss; 2) the kiss with which, as a sign of fraternal affection, Christians were accustomed to welcome or dismiss their companions in the faith. Thayer Definition only. Strong's #5370.

1Cor. 16:20 The brethren all send greetings to you. Greet one another with a holy kiss.

Often Paul used amanuenses. This freed up his mind and perhaps he dictated the words.

This signature that Paul adds. This is not capital letters that Paul refers to, but an oversized letter. He is increasing the size, probably because of his vision problem. The second reason for greeting them with his own hand. Paul is looking to emphasize something here. Paul has roundly reprimanded this church throughout this epistle. His authority and leadership is conveyed by this signature. This is truth; this is authority. That is what Paul is saying.

1Cor. 16:21 The final greeting of me--Paul--with my own hand.

Paul does not use αγαπω here. Paul uses φιλω here. There is a negative and the present active indicative of φιλω. This reads if no love.

Who are these people and why does Paul use this word instead of the word for virtue love. Φιλω means a tender affection. This is like the affection for family members for one another. This is normal and natural affection. Here, they have no tender family affection for their Lord. These are unbelievers with no relationship with God. They are incapable of familial love because they are not a part of the family. Attending church does not make anyone a believer. You may never darken the door of a church building, but it is faith alone in Christ alone. The implication is, there are unbelievers in the church.

They should have demonstrated phileo love, but they did not. Paul says, “Let him be accursed.”

Neuter_noun anathema (ἀνάθεμα) [pronounced an-AHTH-em-ah], which means, 1) a thing set up or laid by in order to be kept; 1a) specifically, an offering resulting from a vow, which after being consecrated to a god was hung upon the walls or columns of the temple, or put in some other conspicuous place; 2) a thing devoted to God without hope of being redeemed, and if an animal, to be slain; therefore a person or thing doomed to destruction; 2a) a curse; 2b) a man accursed, devoted to the direst of woes. Thayer Definition only. Strong's #331.

The return of the Lord is connected to something here. Paul says, “Come, O Lord,” to unbelievers.

Interjection: maran atha (Aramaic transliterated into Greek) (μαρὰν ἀ'θά) [pronounced MAHR-an-AHTH-ah], which means, :1) our Lord comes or will come. Thayer Definition only. Strong's #3134.

1Cor. 16:22 If any one is destitute of love to the Lord, let him be accursed. OUR LORD IS COMING.

Then Paul closes out this epistle, not with a warning and not with a curse, but a benediction. This should have meaning to those who have read his letters before.

The Corinthians, despite all of their failures, just received a letter of pure grace from Paul. How much more evident is God's grace in our failures? As Paul writes, put those things behind you. We are still alive, so we march on.

1Cor. 16:23 The grace of the Lord Jesus be with you.

Paul's love is a virtue love. He has extended reciprocal love toward all in Corinth. He says this to some of the worse Christians and he says, "My love be with you."

We are family, regardless of the ups and downs. We have spent 6 years in this epistle.

1Cor. 16:24 My love in Christ Jesus be with you all.

1Cor. 16 subscription The first epistle to the Corinthians was written from Philippi by Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus and Timotheus.
