

1977 Romans

by R. B. Thieme, Jr. (enhanced notes)

This is still a work in progress (so far, I have listened to #1–648). I may possibly break this down into two sets of notes. Without any work being done here, these notes run in excess of 1300 pages (and 3080 pages by the end of chapter 14). I expect to have these notes completed perhaps mid-2024 (I am beginning with lesson #1 June 13, 2022; but putting together this document prior to taking notes has taken a month or two).

Updates (to be put in the list of doctrines): The Doctrine of Hope

1977 Notes of Romans Links
Beginning of Document				Specials Contained in the Book of Romans
Doctrines Taught in the Book of Romans				Lesson Index and Links
1–100	101–200	201–300	301–400	401–500	501–600	601–700	701–758
Beginning of Notes				Translation of the Book of Romans
What Are Enhanced Notes?				Berean Literal Bible

If you are going to go through this entire study, it is best to listen to Bob's teaching while following along in the notes. For some of you, you want to look up a particular verse or passage and read Bob's take on it. That is fine. But the best way to study any book is from beginning to end.

I used the Berean Literal Bible is the starting point for each verse. When other passages outside of Romans are cited, I have used the ESV. I may have marked most of the BLB verses with ESV (these translations are not dramatically different). I realized that I messed up around lesson #470.

There is a text of these notes floating around, which I used as the base text. This original set of notes is surprisingly sparse, focusing primarily upon the text of Romans and the Greek behind the text (as well as Bob's corrected translation). At the end of each chapter, there are references to the doctrines covered in the chapters, doctrines for which notes are not provided in the existing notes for Romans. I will integrate these doctrines back in, taking them out of Notebook1 or Notebook2 (which are existing notes of the doctrines given by R. B. Thieme, Jr.).

Bob's talking on anything outside of the book of Romans is generally not included in the existing notes for this chapter. The doctrines covered in the lesson, for the most part, are not included in these notes, but there are two notebooks of doctrines which will be referenced when a doctrine is inserted from those notes. As has happened before, sometimes the doctrine notes from the notebooks will be a good match and sometimes not.

To go back and fill in many of these gaps is going to be a little over a two year project for me (but, I am expecting this to be a very fulfilling endeavor—this is my second time to hear this study). As a warning, unlike the sets of notes floating about, I do not tend to take word-for-word notes.

So, in general, the notes will not match up as well in the following ways: (1) when Bob goes off topic or makes an application to contemporary society; (2) his reviews of material previously taught; (3) the doctrines taught within the book of Romans. In the first two things, these are my notes, which I do not take word for word; and in the 3rd thing, I take a doctrine which often has been worked out over a period of years, so the doctrine might be complete and pretty good; but not necessarily an exact match to what Bob is teaching in the Romans series.

I made a few changes to the notes in general. Each doctrine will be found only once in this study, all placed with the same lesson. Later lessons which continue or repeat this doctrine will be linked to where that doctrine was placed. It took me until lesson #363 before I began to do this; so some doctrines may be repeated prior to that lesson.

When Bob concluded this study and went on to cover 2Thessalonians 2 in his Strong Delusion Thanksgiving special (which continued into December), he referred back to the Roman's study as the "end of an era." What appears to be the case is, Bob started in 1977 and worked on this straight through to 1979 with few if any detours into specials or other studies (for lengthy studies, Bob would occasionally stop, do something else, and then go back and pick up that study where he left off—that does not appear to be the case for this 758 lesson study).

Sometimes when Bob repeats a doctrine, rather than writing it down a second time, I provide links to where it is found first. On some occasions, Bob may repeat a doctrine, but, also add a point or two; or elaborate on a point or two. This will become obvious on the first time that you read a doctrine while simultaneously listen to his teaching (which is what I recommend, as opposed to simply reading these notes).

As a personal note, I moved to Houston August 1978, when Bob was in the middle of this study.

What I add to these notes is a good base text (the BLB); a fuller approach to the Greek words (giving the English transliteration, the Greek word and the pronunciation as taken from Strong). I will repeat Bob's corrected translation at the end of these notes (it appears that he gave a corrected translation for all of Romans); and I have hyperlinked this study to make it easy to move around.

There is no substitute for listening to this study that Bob has done. Some people find it to be helpful to have these notes while listening (some may find them to be a distraction).

For whatever reason, Bob took 3 chapters in the middle of Romans and taught them at the end of the book of Romans. He also went back, from time to time, and re-taught a second or a verse. I kept Bob's lessons in order of his teaching, but shifted the existing text around to match his order of teaching (the existing text of his notes are in order of the book of Romans). At some point in the future, I would like to cover the book of Romans, and for my own study of it, the notes will be in the order of the book and its chapters.

R. B. Thieme, Jr. Ministries holds the copyright to Bob's lessons and words.

At some point, I may break this up into two sets of notes. It all depends on WP and how it is dealing with such a large document.

Specials Contained within the Study of Romans
458	Psalm 23 • Romans (1977)	285–291	7
458	A Fortiori • Romans (1977)	153–168	16
458	Baptisms • Romans (1977)	189–190	2
458	Dynamics for Disaster • Romans (1978)	607–628	22
458	Spiritual Gifts • Romans (1978)	353–359	7
458	Jewish Panorama • Romans (1978)	555–758	204
458	Shield of Freedom • Romans (1978)	381–392	12

Links for Romans Notes
Doctrines Taught in Romans	Lesson Summaries	Beginning of Notes
Romans Translation	Old Testament Translations	New Testament Translations

Doctrines Taught in Romans
A–G	H–N	O–Z
A Fortiori Logic A Fortiori Logic (#2) The Basis for a Fortiori Argument Abraham as the Pattern for Old Testament Salvation Abraham's Salvation Abraham's Salvation—When Did It Occur? Abraham Sets the Pattern for Spiritual Maturity When Abraham was Saved—Part II The Seed of Abraham The Abrahamic Covenant Abraham's Sexual Prosperity	The Hardness of Pharaoh's Heart The Heart Heathenism The Historical Interpretation The Holiness of God — Summary The Convicting Ministry of God the Holy Spirit The Holy Spirit's Ministry in the Age of Israel The Seven Things That the Holy Spirit Does for Us at the Moment of Salvation Homosexual Conclusions Doctrine of Hope House Slave Principles Human Good Human Good Human Good and God's Justice	The Old Sin Nature Omniscience and Foreknowledge The Original Sin of Adam The Panorama of Israel (by R. B. Thieme, Jr.) Advancing Under the Gift of Pastor Teacher Paul and Rome Paul on the Law and Greek Drama Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey Paul's Misdirection Paul's Reversionism Pleasing God Doctrine of Plêroô Various Uses of Plêroô Positional Truth Prayer Pride Pride (Revised) The Priest Nation The Connection Between the Believer's Priesthood and His Ambassadorship Propitiation

A–G	H–N	O–Z
Adam’s Sin is Imputed to All Adam’s Sin Imputed to Us at Birth Many Condemnations from Adam’s Original Sin Adjustment to the Justice of God Adam’s Trend Inherited Adjustment to the Justice of God Removes all Racial Issues The Doctrine of Adoption The Advantages of Being a Jew Adverbial Accusative of Measure Ambassadorship Anthropopathisms The Anthropopathism of Love Anthropopathisms Aposiopesis, Anacoluthon Aposiopesis, Anacoluthon and Hyperbaton Apostleship An Apprenticeship Deed from 1942 Ascension and Session The Attributes of God (Review; continued) Authority Orientation	Impartiality with God The Impartiality of God, Part II The Importance of Bible Doctrine Imputation of Adam’s Sin is the Basis of Our Condemnation Imputation (from Notes) Imputation, Spiritual Death, and Adam’s Original Sin Doctrine of Imputations The Principle of Imputations—real and Judicial The Indwelling of the Jesus Christ The Indwelling of the Holy Spirit The Integrity of God (a Review) Man and the Integrity of God The Integrity of God and Man’s Guilt The Integrity of God Principles The Stability of the Integrity of God Interim Life The Interpretation of History	Quoting an Old Testament Passage in the New Testament Race and the Integrity of God Doctrine of the Rapture The Doctrine of Rebound Doctrine of Reconciliation Redemption Doctrine of Refreshment Regeneration and the Jewish Race Repentance Retroactive Positional Truth Retroactive Positional Truth Principles Categories of Reversionism Stages of Reversionism Righteousness and Justice and Disappointment Roman Culture Roman Culture and History Roman Government and Culture Roman Historical Progression Roman History and Culture and Origins Morals of the Roman Empire

A–G	H–N	O–Z
The Doctrine of Baptism Baptism of the Holy Spirit The Seven Kinds of Baptism in the Scriptures Believers as Sheep Categories of Blessings for the Supergrace Believer Blessing by Association Categories of Blessings for Supergrace (Review) The Blood of Christ Capital Punishment Categories of Blessings Condemnation and Justification of the Human Race Cherem	Human Self-righteousness and God's Integrity	The Royal Family Honor Code Royal Family Honor Code (1977) The Royal Family Honor Code (1978) The Royal Family Honor Code (a review/summary) The Royal Family Honor Code broken down to individual doctrines The Place of Morality in the Honor Code The Principle of Love in the Honor Code Royal Family of God [Jesus as] the Royal High Priest The Royal Family Honor Code Function Provides for Variation in Standards Review of the Royal Family Honor Code (1978)
Christ versus Adam Circumcision The Benefit of Circumcision Client Nation The Crisis Personality Current Positional Truth Current positional truth and retroactive positional truth Romans 6:9) Communication Condemnation → Justification → Salvation The Conditional Particle Doctrine of the Conscience	Integrity of God The Integrity of God and Love of God (A Brief Review) God's Integrity and Man's Lack of Integrity The Integrity of God (Basic Points) The Integrity of God Cannot be Cancelled (Human) Interpretations of History Ishmael and Isaac, Jacob and Esau Israel's Pre-eminence	Salvation Adjustment to the Justice of God Salvation by Works Salvation in the Old Testament Sanctification Sanctification (2) Satan Satan and Demonism Scar Tissue of the Soul

A–G	H–N	O–Z
Classifications of Death The Classification of Death (2) Seven Deaths Found in the Scriptures Comments on Death Biblical Comments with Regards to Physical Death Deity of Jesus Christ The Devil's Triangle Diakonos Differences among Believers Divine Essence (Part 1) A Review of the Divine Essence Divine Establishment Divine Guidance The Seven Postulates of Divine Integrity The Divine Integrity and the Shekinah Glory Divine Justice Can Only Bless Divine Righteousness Divine Justice Can Only Bless Divine Righteousness (2) Divine Justice Can Only Bless Divine Righteousness (2) The Divorce Analogy The Right Time to Die (Dying Grace) The Importance of Doctrine	Jealousy The Concept of the True Jew The Unique Origin of the Jewish Race The Unique Origin of the Jewish Race (2) Judging and its Consequences Judgment, by One Man Over Other Men The Judgment Seat of Christ Judgment Seat of Christ (1985–1987, 1995) Justice of God Blessing and Salvation Summary of the Justice of God in Romans 1 The Justice of God (in Romans 2) Alternatives to the Justice of God The Justice of God Replaces the Love of God Doctrine of Justification Justification by Faith versus Keeping the Law The Justification from the Justice of God The Doctrine of Kissing The Knowledge of God	Self Righteous Legalist The Self Righteous Man of Romans 1–2 Self-Righteousness Principles Self-righteousness Principles (review) Separation of Church and State Separation (Romans Study) The Sin Nature Will Not Lord it over You Sin unto Death The Failure of Sincere Christians The Sins of the Tongue The Sins of the Tongue II The Sins of the Tongue (3) Slavery Options Following Salvation Doctrine of Slavery Doctrine of Sleep Solving Sin, Good and Evil Antithetical Solutions for Sin, Good and Evil Soul, Body, and Imputation Principles

A–G	H–N	O–Z
 The Edification Complex of the Soul Doctrine of Elapse of Time The Doctrine of Emotion Emotions and Authority Enemyship Epaenetus' Spiritual Life Equality and Freedom (among believers) The Essence of God Essential Doctrine and Non-essential Application Eternal Security Forty Things God Provides Every Believer at the Moment of Salvation 	 The Last Judgment The Last Judgment (2) The Distortion of the Law and Circumcision The Distortion of the Law and Circumcision The Law, the Jew and the Gentile (Part II) The Purpose of the Law The Purpose of the Law Students and Doers of the Law Legalism v. Grace 10 Principles 	 Spiritual Death, Adam's Original Sin, and Adam's Trend Spiritual Death, Adam's Original Sin, and Adam's Trend Part II Spiritual death and the Imputation of Adam's Sin Spiritual death at the Time of Birth Spiritual Death Principles Spiritual Gift of Giving Doctrine of Spiritual Gifts Paul's Obligation Based on His Spiritual Gifts
 Faith Doctrine of Fear Fear and the Believer The Filling of the Holy Spirit The Fox Distraction The Fox Has its Burrow Freedom 	 Logistical Grace Doctrine of Love Love, Integrity and Original Sin Love 1 Versus Love 2 Love 1 versus Love 2 (a review) God's Love Contrasted with Human Love Love Versus Justice Loving Other Believers Lust and the Sin Nature 	 Stopping the Sin Nature from Ruling in Your Mortal Body The Strong Believer The Doctrine of Suffering

A–G	H–N	O–Z
The Big Genuflex Impersonal Giving The Glory of God God's Ability to Bless Man God's Essence When Dealing with Man God's Love—the Attribute and the Anthropopathism God's righteousness versus Self-righteousness God's Timing and the Romans God Consciousness and Gospel Hearing Disobedience to the Gospel The Gospel The Gospel Reveals the Integrity of God	There is no Excuse for Maladjustment to the justice of God Maladjustment to the Integrity of God and the Individual Maladjustment to the Integrity of God and National Application Maladjustment to the Mosaic Law Man, God, the Garden and Spiritual Death The Mature Believer and Guidance The Means and the Ends Mental Attitude	Doctrine of Taxation Taxes (Divine Viewpoint) Ten Commandments Principles Thanksgiving The Theology of the Perfect Plan of God The Third Hope and Seventh Imputation Timothy Doctrine of Tragic Flaw Transitional Doctrines Principles The Unconditional Covenants and Time Undeserved Suffering Principles Vessels The Virgin Birth Volition and God Consciousness

A–G	H–N	O–Z
The Doctrine of Grace Grace Apparatus for Perception Grace, Good, Evil, Legalism, Antinomianism Two Systems of Grace Mechanics The Grace Provision for Learning Doctrine Greater Blessings than in the Garden How are the Greeks Obligated to the Jews?	The Millennium Optimum Life in the Millennium The Mosaic Law is an Instrument of Condemnation The Mosaic Law Mosaic Law (Codices) The Mosaic Law, the Jew and the Gentile Doctrine of Murder Murder: the Principle of the 6th Commandment The Delusion of Negative Volition Newness of Life	The Way of Peace The Weak Believer The Weak and the Strong Believer Part I The Weak and the Strong Believer Part II Weak and Strong Believers Principle #3 Weak and Strong Believers Principle #4 Witnessing Weak Believer Versus the Strong Believer Weak Believer Versus the Strong Believer (2) The Weak Believer's Weakness (which is Judging) The Woman and Spiritual Growth The Worthless Mind [X] + [Y] + [Z] = the plan of God

1977 Romans
458	1	01/07/1977	Rom. 1	Introduction. The Doctrine of the Adjustment to the Justice of God Etymology of dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay]
458	2	01/09/1977	Rom. 1:1a	Roman personal names; slavery vs. freedom; Apostleship
458	3	01/09/1977	Rom. 1:1b–2	The Gospel; true and false issue; baptism issue The Doctrine of the Gospel

1977 Romans
458	4	01/14/1977	Romans 1	The Doctrine of Salvation in the Old Testament The Gospel in the Old Testament believer and by Jesus Christ
458	5	01/16/1977	Romans 1:3	Doctrine of the Deity of Jesus Christ Doctrine of the Virgin Birth The importance of submission to authority
458	6	01/16/1977	Romans 1:4	Doctrine of Divine Essence (Part 1) (The doctrine posted much longer than the doctrine given in the lesson) re hypostatic union of Jesus Christ; sustaining ministry of the Holy Spirit to Jesus Christ
458	7	01/17/1977	Romans 1:5a	Spiritual gifts; Grace Apparatus for Perception (pts.1–4)
458	8	01/18/1977	Romans 1:5b Job 32:1-9	French Revolution philosophy; Doctrine of GAP (cont.) Advancing Under the Gift of Pastor Teacher
458	9	01/19/1977	Romans 1:6	Roman History and Culture and Origins Royalty of Jesus Christ; the privileged
458	10	01/20/1977	Romans 1:7a	Huskies; Roman Culture Royal Family of God
458	11	01/21/1977	Romans 1:7b	Rhodesia: terrorist criminals; The Doctrine of Sanctification
458	12	01/23/1977	Romans 1:7c–8a	Roman Empire; prosperity; concept of thanksgiving Roman Government and Culture
458	13	01/23/1977	Romans 1:8b–9a	Roman Culture and History ; “God is my witness”
458	14	01/24/1977	Romans 1:9b–10a	Morals of the Roman Empire The Doctrine of Prayer

1977 Romans
458	15	01/25/1977	Romans 1:10b–11a	“God willing”; documentation of the reversionism of Paul; enthusiasm
458	16	01/26/1977	Romans 1:11b–12	“Sharing”; exploitation of spiritual gifts; pastor–teacher encouraged to study by positive volition
458	17	01/27/1977	Romans 1:13	Negro culture; Transitional Doctrines Principles God’s Timing and the Romans Doctrine of Divine Guidance
458	18	01/28/1977	Romans 1:14–15	Degeneration of the Roman Republic; obligations of believers; Roman Historical Progression Paul’s Obligation Based on His Spiritual Gifts The Doctrine of Witnessing
458	19	01/30/1977	Romans 1:16–17a	Shame; Jews first; The Doctrine of the Adjustment to the Justice of God (This link goes back to Lesson #1)
458	20	01/30/1977	Romans 1:17b; Eccl. 9:13–10:13	The Doctrine of the Adjustment to the Justice of God (This link goes back to Lesson #1) (points 5–10) Evil U.S. government.
458	21	02/04/1977	Romans 1:17a	(Review) Evils in Roman Republic; “justification”; love 1 & 2 re God
458	22	02/06/1977	Romans 1:17c–18	Roman Republic and U.S. liberals; justice and anger of God
458	23	02/06/1977	Romans 1:19	Intro. Julius Caesar; The Doctrine of Heathenism
458	24	02/07/1977	Romans 1:19–20	Augustus Caesar; issue of God–consciousness Volition and God Consciousness
458	25	02/08/1977	Romans 1	Augustus to Nero A Review of the Divine Essence

1977 Romans
458	26	02/09/1977	Romans 1:21a	Flavian Caesars; The Attributes of God (Review; continued)
458	27	02/10/1977	Romans 1:21b–22	The Delusion of Negative Volition Results of negative volition at EPIGNOSIS Gospel hearing
458	28	02/11/1977	Romans 1:23	Pattern of heathenism resulting in idolatry
458	29	02/13/1977	Romans 1:24–25a	Divine delivery over to reversionism and degeneration
458	30	02/13/1977	Romans 1:25b–27	Blessing God; sexual perversion Justice of God Blessing and Salvation Homosexual Conclusions
458	31	02/14/1977	Romans 1:28	“people smart”; delivery to the function of evil Satan
458	32	02/15/1977	Romans 1:29a	Satan and Demonism Doctrine of the Worthless Mind
458	33	02/16/1977	Romans 1:29b	Three categories of anti–justice; The Doctrine of Jealousy Doctrine of Murder
458	34	02/17/1977	Romans 1:29c Psalm 12:1–2	Arrogant and inadequate; The Doctrine of the Sins of the Tongue
458	35	02/18/1977	Romans 1:30–32	Implacability and perfidiousness of the maladjusted Love Versus Justice There is no Excuse for Maladjustment to the justice of God Summary of the Justice of God in Romans 1
458	36	02/20/1977	Romans 2:1a	Love 1 & 2; justification by faith; self righteousness God’s Love Contrasted with Human Love Doctrine of the Anthropopathism of Love The Justice of God (in Romans 2)

1977 Romans

458	37	02/20/1977	Romans 2:1b	Rationalization of the self-righteous; subjectivity Self Righteous Legalist The Doctrine of Pride
458	38	02/21/1977	Romans 2:2	Self-righteousness; holiness of God; judging is the divine prerogative Self-Righteousness Principles The Knowledge of God The Holiness of God — Summary
458	39	02/22/1977	Romans 2:3	Rationalization of self-righteous persons; love 1 & 2; holiness of God The Self Righteous Man of Romans 1–2
458	40	02/23/1977	Romans 2 review	Statistics on freedom loss in the world; review of lessons 36–39 Love 1 Versus Love 2 Anthropopathisms Judgment, by One Man Over Other Men Self-righteousness Principles (review) God's Essence When Dealing with Man
458	41	02/24/1977	Romans 2:4	The 36 things; 3 anthropopathisms re salvation Forty Things God Provides Every Believer at the Moment of Salvation
458	42	02/25/1977	Romans 2	The Doctrine of Repentance (revised, 6 pts.)
458	43	02/27/1977	Romans 2:5a	Love 1 & 2; Doctrine of Scar Tissue of the Soul doctrine of scar tissue of the soul (revised)
458	44	02/27/1977	Romans 2:5b	Doctrine of the Heart (points. 1–4)
458	45	02/28/1977	Romans 2:5b	Doctrine of the heart (pts. 5–12); draft dodgers
458	46	03/01/1977	Romans 2:5c–6	Human Good and God's Justice Doctrine of the Last Judgment The Doctrine of Human Good

1977 Romans
458	47	03/02/1977	Romans 2:7a; Acts 17:22–31	Mechanics of, cf. principle of, salvation; abstract Gospel of Paul to Athens
458	48	03/03/1977	Romans 2:7b	Seeking God after positive volition at God consciousness; “glory” cf. “glorify” God Consciousness and Gospel Hearing Adverbial Accusative of Measure
458	49	03/04/1977	Romans 2:8–9a	Certainty of judgment of self–righteous unbeliever; anger; integrity Disobedience to the Gospel Alternatives to the Justice of God
458	50	03/06/1977	Romans 2:9	Energy crisis; love 1 & 2; Missions; culture
458	51	03/06/1977	Romans 2:10–11	Paragraph S–G2 blessing; OUK; Categories of Blessings for the Supergrace Believer Impartiality with God
458	52	03/07/1977	Romans 2:11	Principles; love of God; integrity; doctrine of love and partiality The Impartiality of God, Part II
458	53	03/08/1977	Romans 2:12	Greek middle voice; integrity and impartiality of God re self–righteous Jews The Mosaic Law, the Jew and the Gentile
458	54	03/09/1977	Romans 2:13	Intro. NATO weaknesses; Jew + the Law; arrogant America The Law, the Jew and the Gentile (Part II)
458	55	03/10/1977	Romans 2:13–14	Condemnation of self–righteous doers of the Law; Students and Doers of the Law Doctrine of the Mosaic Law
458	56	03/11/1977	Romans 2:15a	Self–righteous religious terrorism; Doctrine of the Conscience The Gospel Reveals the Integrity of God
458	57	03/13/1977	Romans 2:15b–16	Rafferty on Education; Gospel reveals the integrity of God

1977 Romans
458	58	03/13/1977	Romans 2:17	Communion service; misconception of legalism "If" clauses; finesse and flexibility The Conditional Particle
458	59	03/18/1977	Romans 2:18	Integrity; distortion of the law; self-righteous delusion of superiority God's righteousness versus Self-righteousness
458	60	03/20/1977	Romans 2:19	Doctrine of the Client Nation (= the Priest nation) (pts. 1–5)
458	61	03/20/1977	Romans 2:19	(Summary) Doctrine of the Priest (Client) Nation (pts. 6–11)
458	62	03/21/1977	Romans 2:20–21a	Rafferty on children's literature; debater's technique; self-righteous teachers' delusion
458	63	03/22/1977	Romans 2:21b; Matthew 15:1–9	Keegan; public opinion; distortion of the Mosaic law; stealing; KORBAN
458	64	03/23/1977	Romans 2:22–24; John 8:3–11	Idol temple banks; guilt of self-righteous Judaizers; negative reaction of Gentiles
458	65	03/24/1977	Romans 2:25a	Doctrine of the Priest Nation (review); Jewish race An Apprenticeship Deed from 1942
458	66	03/25/1977	Romans 2:25a	(Review); Protasis of apodosis; The Purpose of the Law Doctrine of Circumcision (pt. 1–3)
458	67	03/27/1977	Romans 2:25a via	Doctrine of Circumcision (pts. 4–13)
458	68	03/27/1977	Romans 2:25b–27	True circumcision of the soul cf. ritual without reality
458	69	04/01/1977	Romans 2:28 intro.	Doctrine of the Integrity of God (+R, justice, love 1 & 2)

1977 Romans

458	70	04/03/1977	Romans 2:28; Psalm 118:1-4, 8-9	True cf. false Jew; meaning of Palm Sunday (this may have been the Palm Sunday Special at one time) The Distortion of the Law and Circumcision
458	71	04/03/1977	Romans 2:28 via Psalm 118:1-4, 8-26	(Review) true issues of Palm Sunday; national anthem of Israel
458	72	04/04/1977	Romans 2 via Mark 11:1-10	Israel's maladjustment to the justice of God, wanted the crown before the cross
458	73	04/05/1977	Romans 2:29; Mark 12:1-11	True Jew (regenerate) cf. false Jew (distorts use of the Mosaic Law)
458	74	04/06/1977	Romans 3:1a	The Integrity of God and Love of God (A Brief Review) The Seven Postulates of Divine Integrity (Three Personal; Four National) Maladjustment to the Mosaic Law
458	75	04/07/1977	Romans 3:1b	The Doctrine of Israel's Pre-eminence The Doctrine of the Priest Nation The Doctrine of the Advantages of Being a Jew The Benefit of Circumcision
458	76	04/08/1977	Romans 3 via Job 5:1-3	Seven postulates of integrity; the advantage: The Essence of God (not given as a series of points)
458	77	04/10/1977	Romans 3 via Job 5:1-12	Illustration of advantages; U.S. reforms minus integrity of God
458	78	04/10/1977	Romans 3 via Job 5:13-23	Four reasons for maximum adjustment to the justice of God; deliverance and dying grace
458	79	04/11/1977	Romans 3:2; Job 5:22-27	Advantage(s); timing; death; Priest Nation Israel The Right Time to Die Dying Grace

1977 Romans

458	80	04/12/1977	Romans 3:2–3a	love; idiom re alternatives Doctrine of the Importance of Doctrine
458	81	04/13/1977	Romans 3:3b	Disadvantages can't cancel integrity of God The Integrity of God Cannot be Cancelled
458	82	04/14/1977	Romans 3:4a	Dishonesty and ignorance of man God's Integrity and Man's Lack of Integrity
458	83	04/15/1977	Romans 3:4b	Vindication of and maligning of the integrity of God The Integrity of God (Basic Points)
458	84	04/17/1977	Romans 3:5a	Attack on divine integrity; self-righteous Jew claims his unrighteousness promotes the +R of God Human Self-righteousness and God's Integrity
458	85	04/17/1977	Romans 3:5b–6	Justification; unrighteousness, self-righteousness and divine integrity God's Love—the Attribute and the Anthropopathism God's Ability to Bless Man
458	86	04/24/1977	Romans 3:7	Glory of cf. glorifying God: source and object
458	87	04/24/1977	Romans 3:8	Communion; end doesn't justify the means, slandering grace The Means and the Ends Judging and its Consequences
458	88	04/25/1977	Romans 3:9	No human factor can satisfy the integrity of God; Senator Tower letter The Doctrine of the Old Sin Nature
458	89	04/26/1977	Romans 3:10	Spiritual death; integrity of man cf. integrity of God
458	90	04/27/1977	Romans 3:11–12; John 16:8–11	The Doctrine of the Convicting Ministry of God the Holy Spirit

1977 Romans
458	91	04/28/1977	Romans 3:13; Psalm 5:9	The cobra analogy The Doctrine of the Sins of the Tongue II
458	92	04/29/1977	Romans 3:14–16; Psalm 10:7; Isa. 59:7–8	Communist atrocities in Cambodia; Celts The Doctrine of the Interpretation of History
458	93	05/01/1977	Romans 3:17–18; Psalm 36:1	The Doctrine of the Interpretation of History (cont.) The Way of Peace Maladjustment to the Integrity of God and the Individual Maladjustment to the Integrity of God and National Application
458	94	05/01/1977	Romans 3:19–20; Matthew 19:16–28	Jew's distortion of the Mosaic Law condemns cf. Jesus Christ saves The Integrity of God and Man's Guilt (an Analysis of Romans 3:19) The Mosaic Law is an Instrument of Condemnation
458	95	05/06/1977	Romans 3:21	Analysis of Dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] THEOU; forensic justification Man and the Integrity of God
458	96	05/08/1977	Romans 3:22a	Appropriation of justice of God; The Doctrine of Faith
458	97	05/08/1977	Romans 3:22b–24a	Monetary crisis; doctrines of faith (cont.) Doctrine of Justification
458	98	05/09/1977	Romans 3:24a; via Gen. 15:6; Matthew 11:18–19	Doctrine of justification (cont.); total words for salvation
458	99	05/10/1977	Romans 3:24b	Doctrine of grace (1–4) re Romans; hypocrisy; power
458	100	05/11/1977	Romans 3:24c–25a	Doctrine of Redemption Doctrine of Propitiation

1977 Romans
458	101	05/12/1977	Romans 3:25b	Soviet beam weapon, WWII 1981; Doctrine of Propitiation (points 3–7) Doctrine of the Blood of Christ (half of point 1)
458	102	05/13/1977	Romans 3:25b; Lev. 17:10–14	Doctrine of the Blood of Christ (revised, point 1 amplified)
458	103	05/15/1977	Romans 3:25b	Divine Justice Can Only Bless Divine Righteousness Doctrine of the Blood of Christ (pts. 2–7 revised)
458	104	05/15/1977	Romans 3:25c–26	Delay in judgment of Old Testament sins; Divine Justice Can Only Bless Divine Righteousness (2)
458	105	05/20/1977	Romans 3:27	Integrity of God excludes human boasting, self righteousness and works
458	106	05/22/1977	Romans 3:28	Law of faith cf. law of works; failure of perfect environment Salvation Adjustment to the Justice of God
458	107	05/22/1977	Romans 3:29–31	Adjustment to the Justice of God Removes all Racial Issues Race and the Integrity of God
458	108	05/23/1977	Romans 4	The Stability of the Integrity of God Love 1 versus Love 2 (a review) The Integrity of God (a Review)
458	109	05/24/1977	Romans 4:1–2	Abraham as the Pattern for Old Testament Salvation The Justification from the Justice of God Doctrine of Salvation by Works New Testament salvation; justification
458	110	05/25/1977	Romans 4:3	Respectability and morality The Doctrine of Human Good Abraham's Salvation

1977 Romans
458	111	05/26/1977	Romans 4:4–6; Psalm 32:1–2	Union demands; results of justification by faith cf. by works; +R cup
458	112	05/27/1977	Romans 4:7–8	Salvation: addition of +R and subtraction of sins
458	113	05/29/1977	Romans 4:9	Salvation cf. circumcision of Abraham; importance of imputed divine righteousness
458	114	05/29/1977	Romans 4:10–11	Circumcision and sex; Abraham: pattern of salvation; potential + capacity = reality Abraham's Salvation—When Did It Occur? When Abraham was Saved—Part II
458	115	05/30/1977	Romans 4:12	Military sacrifices (Chambers; Patton, George V); essentially, a Memorial Day service; divine justice can only bless +R Abraham Sets the Pattern for Spiritual Maturity
458	116	05/31/1977	Romans 4:13	Capacity for appreciation of great men; principles of justification and divine blessing The Seed of Abraham Doctrine of the Abrahamic Covenant
458	117	06/01/1977	Romans 4:14	Never quit (marksman Ad Topperwein); four principles re legalism and grace mechanics; salvation and the Mosaic Law Legalism v. Grace 10 Principles Two Systems of Grace Mechanics Justification by Faith versus Keeping the Law The Purpose of the Law
458	118	06/02/1977	Romans 4:15	Trends re Soviets; The Grace Provision for Learning Doctrine
458	119	06/03/1977	Romans 4:16	Arrogance and misery; security; integrity and promises

1977 Romans
458	120	06/05/1977	Romans 4:17a	Equality; Old Testament spirituality; Abraham's Sexual Prosperity (which is the promise of Abraham's ultra-supergrace blessings)
458	121	06/05/1977	Romans 4:17b	Faith-rest of Abraham re sexual death; security of divine blessings in maturity; Classifications of Death
458	122	06/10/1977	Romans 4:18	Abraham looks to reality; Arabs blessed by association with Abraham
458	123	06/12/1977	Romans 4:19–20a	Doctrine and dynamics of faith-rest in maturity for the hopeless situation
458	124	06/12/1977	Romans 4:20b–21	Maturity recognizes that the integrity of God is real and able
458	125	06/13/1977	Romans 4:22	Potential cf. capacity; Doctrine of Imputations
458	126	06/14/1977	Romans 4:23	General Singlaub; doctrine of imputation (cont.); postulates of integrity with potential + capacity = reality
458	127	06/15/1977	Romans 4:24b–5:1a	Belief in God cf. belief in Jesus Christ; prosperity results in justification
458	128	06/16/1977	Romans 5:1	Principles of the integrity of God, adjustment to the justice of God and supergrace 2 (SG2) blessings
458	129	06/17/1977	Romans 5:2	(Intro.) Principles of divine justice can only bless +R and postulates of divine integrity
458	130	06/19/1977	Romans 5:2a	Failures of man and the justice of God; Eternal Security
458	131	06/19/1977	Romans 5:2b	Boasting in the integrity of God; The Doctrine of the Glory of God
458	132	06/20/1977	Romans 5:3a	Glorying in adversity; The Doctrine of Suffering (pts. 1–5)

1977 Romans
458	133	06/21/1977	Romans 5:3b–4	Doctrine of suffering (pts. 6–10); courage under adversity
458	134	06/22/1977	Romans 5:5a	Doctrine of Hope (pts. 1–5) (this is removed from Lesson #134 and moved to Lesson #363 . Profanity; confidence in the integrity of God
458	135	06/23/1977	Romans 5:5b	Doctrine of hope (pts. 6–9); Righteousness and Justice and Disappointment Disappointments in men, not in God
458	136	06/24/1977	Romans 5:5c	“Fortress America” rejected; Doctrine of Love meaning and capacity for, from Bible doctrine in the soul
458	137	06/26/1977	Romans 5:6–8a	Helpless beaver analogy; motivation of man cf. of Jesus Christ to die for man
458	138	06/26/1977	Romans 5:8b–9a	Love 1 & 2; anthropopathisms; demonstrated divine love
458	139	06/27/1977	Romans 5:9b	A Fortiori Logic Review of the doctrines of justification and the blood
458	140	06/28/1977	Romans 5:10a	Wide gap between God and man; reconciliation
458	141	07/11/1977	Romans 5:10a	The Doctrine of Enemyship (review) Doctrine of Reconciliation (revised) Personal sins are not imputed to us
458	142	07/12/1977	Romans 5:10b–11a	The barrier; doctrine of reconciliation (cont.); love 1 re Adam
458	143	07/13/1977	Romans 5:11b–12	Love, Integrity and Original Sin Spiritual Death Principles Spiritual death at the Time of Birth The barrier; divine love cf. justice re cursing and blessing

1977 Romans
458	144	07/14/1977	Romans 5 via 1Timothy 2:9–15	“Perfection” = “innocence”; femininity re authority, reaction and response; capacity
458	145	07/16/1977	Romans 5:13	Sin and salvation preceded the Law; imputation of sinful trend of Adam cf. personal sin Imputation of Adam’s Sin is the Basis of Our Condemnation Adam’s Sin Imputed to Us at Birth
458	146	07/17/1977	Romans 5:14a	The Doctrine of Imputation (from Notes) Spiritual death and the Imputation of Adam’s Sin Adam’s Sin is Imputed to All
458	147	07/17/1977	Romans 5:14b	Doctrine of the virgin birth (See leeson#5) and divine attributes (partial)
458	148	07/18/1977	Romans 5:15a	A FORTIORI capacity for blessing; first cf. last Adam; false points of contact with God Christ versus Adam
458	149	07/19/1977	Romans 5:15b	A FORTIORI salvation provides the believer with more than Adam lost at the Fall Greater Blessings than in the Garden
458	150	07/20/1977	Romans 5:16	Good production of the old sin nature; one sin of Adam lead to condemnation of all, one bearing sins leads to one justification Many Condemnations from Adam’s Original Sin
458	151	07/21/1977	Romans 5:16	Principles; function of and superiority of divine justice to love 1 The Justice of God Replaces the Love of God Condemnation and Justification of the Human Race The Basis for a Fortiori Argument

1977 Romans
458	152	07/22/1977	Romans 5:16–17a	“Greater” and “less”; justice condemns before it blesses Condemnation → Justification → Salvation
458	153	07/24/1977	Romans 5:17b	[A FORTIORI SPECIAL Lessons 153–168] A FORTIORI re weak cause (sin of Adam) cf. strong cause (justification) A Fortiori Logic (#2)
458	154	07/24/1977	Romans 5:17c	A FORTIORI of eternal blessing from the justice of God Divine Justice Can Only Bless Divine Righteousness (2)
458	155	07/29/1977	Romans 5:12	Breakthrough on old sin nature re genetics; (Intro) doctrine of imputation must have direction
458	156	07/31/1977	Romans 5:12a	(Review of lesson 155) Results of the Fall; doctrine of imputation must have direction (cont)
458	157	07/31/1977	Romans 5:12b	Spiritual death; true reason for fig leaves; provisions of love 1 cf. to the justice of God
458	158	08/01/1977	Romans 5:13	Real and judicial imputations; spiritual death; target of personal sins Spiritual Death, Adam’s Original Sin, and Adam’s Trend Spiritual Death, Adam’s Original Sin, and Adam’s Trend Part II
458	159	08/02/1977	Romans 5:14a	Pattern of spiritual death; Jesus Christ the exception to genetic contamination by the old sin nature
458	160	08/03/1977	Romans 5:14b–15a	Variations in old sin natures; first cf. second Adam; A FORTIORI of parlaying

1977 Romans

458	161	08/04/1977	Romans 5:15b	Imputation of Adam's sin + old sin nature = spiritual death; grace gift; source of physical death
458	162	08/05/1977	Romans 5:15c	Human race facsimile of Adam; no eternal life in the Garden of Eden; greater effort
458	163	08/07/1977	Romans 5:15d	The greater blessings are available after the Fall than before it
458	164	08/07/1977	Romans 5:16	Parlaying the condemnation into justification; keys to verse 16
458	165	08/08/1977	Romans 5:16	Keys (cont.); second function of the justice of God; basis for A FORTIORI
458	166	08/09/1977	Romans 5:17a	Old sin nature: the woman's and at physical death; Greek grammar; genius
458	167	08/10/1977	Romans 5:17b	Eighteen point summary of verses 12–17; A FORTIORI of divine blessing Man, God, the Garden and Spiritual Death
458	168	08/11/1977	Romans 5:17	Principles on the concept of eternity: judgment seat of Christ
458	169	08/12/1977	Romans 5:17–18a	(Principles) Grace factor and the justice of God; imputation of the sin of Adam (1–11) Imputation, Spiritual Death, and Adam's Original Sin
458	170	08/14/1977	Romans 5:18b	Imputation of Adam's sin (cont.); parthenogenesis of Jesus Christ Adam's Trend Inherited
458	171	08/14/1977	Romans 5:18c	APOSIOPEISIS; real and judicial imputations; antithetical functions of the justice of God
458	172	08/15/1977	Romans 5:18–19a	(Principles) Disobedience and results in women and men; "socio-biology" and the old sin nature The Original Sin of Adam

1977 Romans
458	173	08/16/1977	Romans 5:19b	“Socio–Biology” (cont.); obedience; four imputations
458	174	08/17/1977	Romans 5:19c	Real and judicial imputations; before and after the Fall; two encapsulations
458	175	08/18/1977	Romans 5:19	Keys: freedom through respect for authority; original sin = disobedience to divine authority
458	176	08/19/1977	Romans 5:20a	Grace factor since the Fall; doctrine of and purpose for the Mosaic Law Paul on the Law and Greek Drama
458	177	08/21/1977	Romans 5 via Romans 8:32	Common sense in government; A FORTIORI summary; two real and two judicial imputations
458	178	08/21/1977	Romans 5:20b	Purpose of the Mosaic Law (cont.); personal sins augment Adam’s original sin; concepts of grace The Doctrine of Grace
458	179	08/22/1977	Romans 5:21a	Doctrine of the old sin nature (revised); Jesus Christ minus an old sin nature and imputation of Adam’s sin
458	180	08/23/1977	Romans 5:21	Doctrine of the old sin nature (revised and cont.); weaknesses; TV journalists anti–business
458	181	08/24/1977	Romans 5:21b–6	(Intro.) Rulership of grace through the imputation of +R; Lordship of Jesus Christ; integrity of God
458	182	08/28/1977	Romans 6	(Intro.) Concepts and principles related to the integrity of God and man; only God can glorify God The Integrity of God Principles
458	183	08/28/1977	Romans 6:1	Integrity of God is not arbitrary; four imputations; results of real imputations

1977 Romans

458	184	08/29/1977	Romans 6:1	Principles; abrogation of the rule of the old sin nature; sin not the source of the increase of grace
458	185	08/30/1977	Romans 6:2	(Intro.) Review of the doctrine of the old sin nature (revised in lessons 179–180)
458	186	08/31/1977	Romans 6:2a	Principles of divine justice can only bless +R; Paul refutes false claim; a credit to others
458	187	09/01/1977	Romans 6:2b	Baptism of the Holy Spirit cancels the sovereignty of the old sin nature; increase of grace through spiritual growth, not sin
458	188	09/02/1977	Romans 6:2	Imputation of eternal life to spiritual birth; doctrine of the salvation ministry of God the Holy Spirit
458	189	09/04/1977	Romans 6:3a	Doctrine of seven baptisms; water baptism The Baptism of the Holy Spirit The Doctrine of Baptism The Seven Kinds of Baptism in the Scriptures
458	190	09/04/1977	Romans 6:3b	Baptism of the Holy Spirit; Church Age believers get double +R and eternal life The Doctrine of Positional Truth ["In Christ"]
458	191	09/05/1977	Romans 6; Gen. 2:9, 16–17; 3:1–6	Tree of the knowledge of good and evil; human good; morality; trees in the Garden of Eden
458	192	09/06/1977	Romans 6	Brain cf. mentality; anti–gun legislation; principles re human and satanic good and evil
458	193	09/07/1977	Romans 6:4a	Review of verses 1–3; distortion of “yield” and grace

1977 Romans

458	194	09/08/1977	Romans 6:4a	Church Age believer's identification with Jesus Christ's spiritual and physical death; burial & rejection of good and evil
458	195	09/09/1977	Romans 6:4b	Brain (computer) re drugs and programming with doctrine; Newness of Life
458	196	09/11/1977	Romans 6:5a	Evil U.S. government policies; Doctrine of Retroactive Positional Truth
458	197	09/11/1977	Romans 6:5b	Brachylogy of Paul's genius The Doctrine of Current Positional Truth
458	198	09/16/1977	Romans 6:6a	Intelligent comprehension; importance of repetition and retroactive positional truth; encapsulation Retroactive Positional Truth Principles
458	199	09/18/1977	Romans 6:6b	Doctrine of the old sin nature (review lessons 179–180)
458	200	09/18/1977	Romans 6:6b	Doctrine of the old sin nature (cont.); indwelling of the Holy Spirit in the body; weaknesses and self-righteous critics; adjusting to people cf. God Solving Sin, Good and Evil
458	201	09/19/1977	Romans 6:6c	Retroactive positional truth re the old sin nature, personal sins and good and evil Antithetical Solutions for Sin, Good and Evil
458	202	09/20/1977	Romans 6:7	Freedom from slavery to the old sin nature; doctrine of retroactive positional truth (review); Sam Ammons
458	203	09/21/1977	Romans 6:8	Evil of Edward II vs. integrity of Andrew Harclay; truck industry; current positional truth
458	204	09/22/1977	Romans 6:9a	Leadership quotes; relaxed mental attitude vs. social mixing; doctrine of current positional truth (review)

1977 Romans

458	205	09/23/1977	Romans 6:9b–10a	Physical death; results of current positional truth; intensification of good and evil in the Middle Ages Current positional truth and retroactive positional truth Romans 6:9
458	206	09/25/1977	Romans 6:10b	Our position in Christ; blessings secure for the believer though disciplined for carnality (David)
458	207	09/25/1977	Romans 6:11	Roman Empire Commodus cf. Pertinax; Rogers Standing Orders Socrates on emotion; conclusion from positional truth; resistance from temptation
458	208	09/26/1977	Romans 6:12	Madame Roland and the French Revolution; right pastor–teacher Stopping the Sin Nature from Ruling in Your Mortal Body Doctrine of Logistical Grace
458	209	09/27/1977	Romans 6:13a	Horatio Hornblower; authority; “yield” = place yourself under orders: military analogy
458	210	09/28/1977	Romans 6:13	Doctrine of rebound (revised 1–3); Elihu Root on government and the U.S. Constitution
458	211	09/29/1977	Romans 6:13; via 1John 1:9; 1Cor. 11:31	Doctrine of rebound (4, 5); tattling; “Three Musketeers”
458	212	09/30/1977	Romans 6:13; via Matthew 18:23–35; 1Corinthians 5:1 2Cor. 2:5–11	Explanation of 1Cor. 5:1ff and 2Cor. 2:5–11; doctrine of rebound (6–11) The Doctrine of Adoption
458	213	10/02/1977	Romans 6:13	Brain cf. soul and influences between them Soul, Body, and Imputation Principles Doctrine of the Filling of the Holy Spirit (Points 1–3)

1977 Romans

458	214	10/02/1977	Romans 6:13b	Doctrines of the filling of the Holy Spirit (4–9) and pseudo–spirituality
458	215	10/06/1977	Romans 6:13c	Guadalcanal; distractions from Bible doctrine; “deaths”
458	216	10/07/1977	Romans 6:13	Guadalcanal campaign part II; Grace pipeline; anatomy of and re–programming of the brain from good and evil to Bible doctrine
458	217	10/09/1977	Romans 6:14	General Keegan on U.S. crisis; old sin nature = husband #1; Law = marriage counselor; Jesus Christ = husband #2 The Sin Nature Will Not Lord it over You
458	218	10/09/1977	Romans 6:15	Distortion of grace; maximum Bible doctrine results in increase of grace; Wilson vs. T. Roosevelt Grace, Good, Evil, Legalism, Antinomianism
458	219	10/10/1977	Romans 6:16a	Authority: legitimate, of Caesars and attacks on authority of management
458	220	10/11/1977	Romans 6:16b	Paratroopers and elite troops; opting for proper authority; happiness in obedience
458	221	10/12/1977	Romans 6:16c	Jackson, etc.: spiritual preparation for disaster; reversionism and sin unto death under the rule of the old sin nature
458	222	10/13/1977	Romans 6:17a	Marriage analogy of slavery to the old sin nature or Jesus Christ and husband; volition
458	223	10/14/1977	Romans 6:17b	Authority in marriage; rejection of first husband, the old sin nature, made experiential by GAP
458	224	10/16/1977	Romans 6:18	Legitimate slavery (as in marriage); rejection of the rule of the old sin nature for enslavement to +R

1977 Romans
458	225	10/17/1977	Romans 6:18–19a	Importance of imputed +R; slavery: legitimate and to +R; freedom from the old sin nature rule Slavery Options Following Salvation
458	226	10/17/1977	Romans 6:19b	Ranger Field Manual, RBT3; professional Christians; benefits of slavery
458	227	10/18/1977	Romans 6:19c	“The Desert War” Time–Life publication; sanctification in phase 1, 2, 3 and results
458	228	10/19/1977	Romans 6:20; 7:1–7	Taxpayer’s complaint; unbeliever a slave to the old sin nature, excluded from +R of God
458	229	10/20/1977	Romans 6:21	Establishment vs. total depravity; Doctrine of the Last Judgment (second death)
458	230	10/21/1977	Romans 6:22	Results of divorce from the old sin nature at salvation and slavery to Jesus Christ
458	231	10/23/1977	Romans 6:23	(Corrected translation verses 1–22) Rations from the old sin nature: spiritual and second deaths
458	232	10/23/1977	Romans 7:1a	Virgin birth; old sin natures of Mary and virgins; doctrine of imputations (real and judicial)
458	233	10/28/1977	Romans 7:1b	“Panzer Battles”; Mosaic Law a marriage counselor for the unbeliever; counseling
458	234	10/30/1977	Romans 7:2; Deut. 24:1–4a; Matthew 5:32	Old Testament divorce (death to old spouse); salvation = divorce the old sin nature and marry Jesus Christ The Divorce Analogy
458	235	10/30/1977	Romans 7:2–3	(Review of verse 2) Results of positional truth; Paul retrieves wandering minds regarding divorce

1977 Romans
458	236	10/31/1977	Romans 7:4a	Military resolutions; privacy for GAP; believer back under the old sin nature and three codices of the Mosaic Law
458	237	11/01/1977	Romans 7:4b	Marriage analogy (cont.); children of the marriage to Jesus Christ
458	238	11/02/1977	Romans 7:5	Intro. review of the doctrines of the baptism of the Holy Spirit and positional truth
458	239	11/03/1977	Romans 7:5	Intro. MacArthur (CMH); racism; doctrine of retroactive positional truth; migrations to the United States
458	240	11/04/1977	Romans 7:5–6a	Children of the first and second marriages; functions of the three codices of the Mosaic Law
458	241	11/06/1977	Romans 7:6b	MacArthur re Nov. 11; abuse of authority; can't rebound good and evil
458	242	11/06/1977	Romans 7:6c	Power and the old sin nature corrupt; self-promotion; basic power is volition
458	243	11/07/1977	Romans 7:7a	The Rangers; only the Mosaic Law reveals old sin nature trends; stay with the system
458	244	11/08/1977	Romans 7:7b; Exodus 20:17	MacArthur as a General; role of the Mosaic Law; lust: definition and illustration in trends Lust and the Sin Nature
458	245	11/09/1977	Romans 7:8a	General Sir Walter Walker; doctrine of the Mosaic Law (review); three codices; thoughtfulness
458	246	11/10/1977	Romans 7:8b	Mitchell Paige, USMC, CMH; doctrine of the old sin nature (review); lust vs. tenth commandment

1977 Romans
458	247	11/11/1977	Romans 7:9	Unknown Soldiers (Tombs); unbeliever's ignorance of the old sin nature; lusts invigorated by knowledge of them
458	248	11/13/1977	Romans 7:9–10	(vs 9 principles) General Sir Walker; profit motivation: Mosaic Law gives problems and solutions
458	249	11/13/1977	Romans 7:11	General Keegan; rationalizing lusts of the old sin nature after knowledge of them; old dog nature
458	250	11/14/1977	Romans 7:12–13a	Mosaic Law is not the culprit, but the perfect marriage counselor
458	251	11/15/1977	Romans 7:13b–14a	Monopolies; repetition; old sin nature and the wife are culprits, not the Mosaic Law
458	252	11/16/1977	Romans 7:14b	Carnality cf. reversionism; public confession of sin; culprits of first and second marriages
458	253	11/17/1977	Romans 7:15	Yielding to the old sin nature without rebound; "lack of spiritual progress" report
458	254	11/18/1977	Romans 7:16	(vs 15 principles) Carter and the USSR; first attack of the ex-husband, the old sin nature; crusades hinder GAP
458	255	11/20/1977	Romans 7:17	Roles of the old sin nature, volition and the Holy Spirit re inner conflict of the believer
458	256	11/20/1977	Romans 7:18a	Can't depend on people; soul is the issue not the body; role of volition and knowledge of Bible doctrine
458	257	11/21/1977	Romans 7:18b–19	The Failure of Sincere Christians Christians; policy; human vs. divine solutions
458	258	11/22/1977	Romans 7:20	Second attack of husband #1; inner conflict; shift of responsibility from the old sin nature to believer's volition

1977 Romans
458	259	11/23/1977	Romans 7:21	Battle of the Bulge–1; conflict in the soul from coexistence of Bible doctrine and the old sin nature
458	260	11/24/1977	Romans 7:22	Battle of the Bulge–2; The Doctrine of Thanksgiving doctrine in NOUS can't be applied; prisoner of war of the old sin nature; volition
458	261	11/24/1977	Romans 7:23	Battle of the Bulge–3; negative volition of the believer = prisoner of war of the old sin nature; doctrine aids volition against attack
458	262	11/25/1977	Romans 7:24	Battle of the Bulge–4; principle of the increase of the grace of God
458	263	11/26/1977	Romans 7:24	Battle of the Bulge–5; principle of rescue from this body of death to newness of life
458	264	11/26/1977	Romans 7:24	Principle 25, basis for the increase of grace; conflict of options; A FORTIORI
458	265	11/26/1977	Romans 8:1; John 6:69	Battle of the Bulge–6; Doctrine of Sanctification (2) : agents, phase 1
458	266	11/27/1977	Romans 8	Intro. only SG2 blessings glorify God; doctrine of sanctification
458	267	11/27/1977	Romans 8	Intro. the new life; doctrine of sanctification (revised pt.5–8)
458	268	11/28/1977	Romans 8:1	Result of positional sanctification; condemnation cf. judgment; doctrine of the Last Judgment
458	269	11/29/1977	Romans 8:1	Review of the doctrines of eternal security and current positional truth
458	270	11/30/1977	Romans 8:2	Diary of a Yankee soldier; review of the doctrines of the convicting ministry of the Holy Spirit and baptism of Holy Spirit

1977 Romans

458	271	12/01/1977	Romans 8:3	Mosaic Law is not for salvation, spirituality or to reach maturity; The Principle of Imputations—real and Judicial
458	272	12/02/1977	Romans 8:3	Battle of the Bulge–7; principle of amplification of the doctrine of imputation (cont.)
458	273	12/04/1977	Romans 8:4a	Divine justice can only bless +R; real imputation of divine blessing to +R without compromise of the essence of God
458	274	12/04/1977	Romans 8:4b	Doctrine of Plêroô Various Uses of Plêroô The exploitation of imputations; legal requirement of the Mosaic Law
458	275	12/05/1977	Romans 8:5	Intro. Battle of the Bulge Plans; doctrine of the filling of the Holy Spirit (revised; with lesson #213)
458	276	12/06/1977	Romans 8:5	Intro. Battle of the Bulge, 14 th CAV.; doctrine of the filling of the Holy Spirit (pts. 8–10); pseudo–spirituality
458	277	12/11/1977	Romans 8 via 1Kings 19:1–18	Fear vs. faith–rest; doctrine of the filling of the Holy Spirit (pt.11)
458	278	12/11/1977	Romans 8:5	Review; conflict of thought patterns; carnality defined
458	279	12/12/1977	Romans 8:5	Tension, mental attitude of troops without company commanders; rapport and diplomats The Doctrine of Mental Attitude
458	280	12/13/1977	Romans 8:5–6a	Military disaster trends of the U.S.; results of mental conflict; Doctrine of the Sin unto Death
458	281	12/14/1977	Romans 8:6b	Hungarian crown; costly U.S. Dept. of Energy; blessing imputed to +R only

1977 Romans
458	282	12/15/1977	Romans 8:6	Necessity of two judicial imputations before the real imputation of divine blessing (6 categories) to +R Categories of Blessings for Supergrace (Review)
458	283	12/16/1977	Romans 8:6 via Job 5:1–18	Factors in imputations; basis and permanence of divine blessings cf. logistical grace
458	284	12/18/1977	Romans 8:7a; Job 5:19–27	Undeserved suffering in SG2 blessings; categories of disaster; divine timing of death
PSALM 23 SPECIAL, lessons #285–291
458	285	12/18/1977	Romans 8; Psalm 23:1	[PSALM 23 SPECIAL, lessons 285–291] Permanence of imputed divine blessings in spite of the failure of the believer; The Shepherd and sheep Believers as Sheep
458	286	12/19/1977	Romans 8:6; Psalm 23:2–3a	Battle of the Bulge; security of and capacity for divine blessing; +H in adversity
458	287	12/20/1977	Romans 8:6; Psalm 23:3b	Battle of the Bulge; guided in tracks of imputed +R; divine blessing cf. logistical grace
458	288	12/21/1977	Romans 8:6; Psalm 23:4a	Battle of the Bulge: St. Vith; you die alone; no fear in supergrace; concept of divine integrity
458	289	12/22/1977	Romans 8:6; Psalm 23:4b	Temporary target for imputation; SG2 believer's temporary loss of blessing enhances them
458	290	12/23/1977	Romans 8:6; Psalm 23:5a	Battle of the Bulge: Bergdorf; banquet table from Bible doctrine in the soul; background for David's undeserved suffering

1977 Romans
458	291	12/25/1977	Romans 8:6; Psalm 23:5b–6	Battle of the Bulge: Bastogne; David's temporary separation from SG2 blessings
458	292	12/25/1977	Romans 8:7a	Patton, Gen. Creighton Abrams; biblical form of government; three categories of thought hostile to God
458	293	12/26/1977	Romans 8:7b	Battle of the Bulge: Abrams; right mental attitude respects authority; insubordination to divine policy
458	294	12/27/1977	Romans 8:8	Battle of the Bulge: "Monty"; issue of means for pleasing God; reversionism cf. carnality
458	295	12/28/1977	Romans 8:8	Battle of the Bulge: CMHs; American aggressiveness; distractions from Bible doctrine; means for pleasing God Pleasing God
458	296	12/29/1977	Romans 8:9	Necessity and function of the indwelling of the Holy Spirit; issue of the doctrine of procession Doctrine of the Indwelling of the Holy Spirit (Revised)
458	297	12/30/1977	Romans 8:10	Doctrine of the Indwelling of the Jesus Christ missing link between imputed +R and divine blessing
458	298	12/31/1977	Romans 8; Psalm 138:2	Memorial to Hood's Texas Brigade The Importance of Bible Doctrine
458	299	01/01/1978	Romans 8:11	Ministry of the indwelling of the Holy Spirit
458	300	01/01/1978	Romans 8:12–13a	"Brother"; obligation and authority; results of the believer living under the authority of the old sin nature
458	301	01/02/1978	Romans 8:13b–14a	Doctrine of the sin unto death; alternatives in the Christian life; concepts of divine guidance

1977 Romans

458	302	01/03/1978	Romans 8:14a	Doctrine of divine guidance: comparing of divine will, decrees, foreknowledge, omniscience and laws
458	303	01/04/1978	Romans 8:14a	Divine guidance (cont.); review of lesson 302; categories of the will of God
458	304	01/05/1978	Romans 8:14b	Doctrine of divine guidance (cont.); will of God (+ mechanics) for the human race and believers The Mature Believer and Guidance
458	305	01/06/1978	Romans 8:15a	Fear and the Believer Doctrine of Fear Biblical doctrine of adoption: definition and Roman custom
458	306	01/08/1978	Romans 8:15b	Biblical doctrine of adoption (cont.): mechanics and illustrations from Roman Caesars
458	307	01/08/1978	Romans 8:16a	Analysis of the movie “Castle Keep”; devil’s triangle; two witnesses of adoption of the believer by God
458	308	01/13/1978	Romans 8:16b	Doctrine inserted into life; two witnesses establish Bible doctrine as reality, Holy Spirit and human spirit
458	309	01/15/1978	Romans 8:17a	“Beggar’s Opera”; our Anglo–Saxon heritage; bureaucracy; heirship demands blessing
458	310	01/15/1978	Romans 8:17b	Capacity for and purpose of undeserved suffering for the mature believer cf. the unique suffering of Jesus Christ Undeserved Suffering Principles
458	311	01/16/1978	Romans 8:17–18	Present suffering cf. eternal glory; emotion; Doctrine of Suffering (pts.1–4a)
458	312	01/17/1978	Romans 8:19	Intro. Eric Hoffer; doctrine of suffering (4b–9); self discipline and economic depression

1977 Romans
458	313	01/18/1978	Romans 8:19	In undeserved suffering since the fall of man, nature awaits the Second Advent; chronology of the future
458	314	01/19/1978	Romans 8; 1Cor. 15:50–58	The Rapture (extensive review); emotion and the big genuflect Doctrine of the Rapture
458	315	01/20/1978	Romans 8:20	Doctrine of the Rapture (pts. 7–10); undeserved suffering of the material universe
458	316	01/22/1978	Romans 8:21a	Parties and peasants; concepts of The Millennium ; Optimum Life in the Millennium ; suffering of nature from the corruption of man
458	317	01/22/1978	Romans 8:21b–23a	Blessing from undeserved suffering of the supergrace believer cf. of nature though sharing the corruption of man
458	318	01/23/1978	Romans 8:23b	Blessing implications of “First Fruits of the Spirit”; doctrine of logistical grace
458	319	01/24/1978	Romans 8:23c–25	General Keegan re Soviets; groans of undeserved suffering of nature and SG believers anticipating future blessings
458	320	01/25/1978	Romans 8:24–25	Three hopes + intensification by undeserved suffering; construction of potential from imputation
458	321	01/26/1978	Romans 8	Relationship of imputations, potentials, Bible doctrine and hope; stimulus of undeserved suffering for hope of SG3
458	322	01/27/1978	Romans 8:26–27	X+Y+Z=Glory of God; intercessory prayer of the Holy Spirit on behalf of the mature believer in undeserved suffering
458	323	01/29/1978	Romans 8:28a	Math formula for converting potentials of the imputations into hope and reality

1977 Romans
458	324	01/29/1978	Romans 8:28b	Formula for the Plan of God for the mature believer; X+Y+Z=Good; Doctrine of the Third Hope and Seventh Imputation
458	325	02/03/1978	Romans 8:28	(Review) X+Y+Z=Good; virgin pregnancy; guillotine; principle of the Y radical
458	326	02/05/1978	Romans 8:29	X+Y+Z=Good; five steps to glory: Essence of God; Step 1. Thinking; summary of the doctrine of divine attributes
458	327	02/05/1978	Romans 8:29	Step 2. Reality of the plan of God and doctrine of divine decrees; Omniscience and Foreknowledge
458	328	02/06/1978	Romans 8:29b–30a	“The First Born”; Steps 2 and 3. Entrance into the plan of God; attacks on X+Y+Z; election
458	329	02/07/1978	Romans 8:30b–31	Election; Step 4. Justification by imputation of +R; first of five challenges to new life: opposition
458	330	02/08/1978	Romans 8:32	Concept of and encouragement thru A FORTIORI; prosperity; doctrine of imputation (revised, 1. a–j)
458	331	02/09/1978	Romans 8:32	Doctrine of imputation (pts. 2–4); real imputations at physical birth, exception of Jesus Christ; personal sins on Jesus Christ
458	332	02/10/1978	Romans 8:32	Doctrine of imputation (pts. 5–6): Judicial imputation of +R and real imputation of eternal life at salvation
458	333	02/12/1978	Romans 8:32	Doctrine of imputation (pt. 7a): Real imputations and categories (1–3) of SG2 blessings in time

1977 Romans

458	334	02/12/1978	Romans 8:32	Doctrine of imputation (pts. 7b–8): SG2 blessings category 4–6 blessings in eternity; judgment seat of Jesus Christ The Judgment Seat of Christ
458	335	02/13/1978	Romans 8:32	Doctrine of imputation (pt. 8b, judgment seat of Jesus Christ); decorations: military and athletic analogy The Judgment Seat of Christ
458	336	02/14/1978	Romans 8:32	Doctrine of imputation (pt. 9–13): equation, potential and doctrine produces Hope
458	337	02/15/1978	Romans 8:33	Privacy of the royal priesthood; judging cf. legitimate evaluation; divine prerogative re judgment
458	338	02/16/1978	Romans 8:34	“You can’t be a Christian and do that”; The Doctrine of Ascension and Session (review); Jesus Christ our defense attorney
458	339	02/17/1978	Romans 8:34–35a	Challenge 3: Judging; privacy; Jesus Christ, our advocate; love Doctrine of the Royal High Priest
458	340	02/19/1978	Romans 8:35b–36	Challenge to the plan of God 4,5: undeserved suffering; martyrdom; de–capitalization; life of Nero
458	341	02/19/1978	Romans 8:37–39	Six adversities; angelic hierarchy; confidence in the security of the believer in divine love
458	342	02/20/1978	Romans 12:1a	Interim Life The Royal Family Honor Code The Devil’s Triangle privacy; blessing and motivation
458	343	02/21/1978	Romans 12:1b	Decline of aristocracy; honor code of the royal family of God; peasant thinking; worship

1977 Romans
458	344	02/22/1978	Romans 12:2a	Verse 1 principles; The Doctrine of Rebound ; worldliness and molded to good and evil
458	345	02/23/1978	Romans 12:2b	Bible doctrine reveals the will of God; privacy vs. counseling; renovation of thought by doctrine
458	346	02/24/1978	Romans 12:2	(Principles) Aristocracy; honor code of the royal family; doctrine of divine guidance, will and the sovereignty of God
458	347	02/26/1978	Romans 12:3	Exegesis; subordinate subjectivity of mental attitude arrogance to the objectivity of Bible doctrine common sense
458	348	02/26/1978	Romans 12:3	Principles; doctrine of mental attitude – renovation of thought; personality and inner beauty
458	349	02/27/1978	Romans 12:3	Military justice, Vietnam POW; doctrine of pride (1–3): terminology, fall of Satan and results of human arrogance Doctrine of Pride (Revised)
458	350	02/28/1978	Romans 12:3	Doctrine of pride (pts. 4–8): reversionism, alcoholism and hallucination re the opposite sex; psychology
458	351	03/01/1978	Romans 12:3	Paul Harvey: majority rule; doctrine of pride (arrogance 9–11): trigger mechanism; psychopathic personality
458	352	03/02/1978	Romans 12:4a	Doctrines of the royal family of God (review) and Doctrine of the Differences among Believers ; equality and standards
458	353	03/03/1978	Romans 12:4b–6a	Believers = many parts of the body; Doctrine of Spiritual Gifts (Points #1–4; however, all points were placed in #353): definition, Scripture, source and purpose

1977 Romans

458	354	03/05/1978	Romans 12:6	Doctrine of spiritual gifts (pts. 5–7); perspective, function and abuse of spiritual gifts
458	355	03/05/1978	Romans 12:6	Doctrine of spiritual gifts (pt. 8a): temporary; doctrine of the gift of tongues (pt.1–5)
458	356	03/06/1978	Romans 12:6b	Book: “How to Cure Yourself of Positive Thinking”; doctrines of tongues (6–9) and spiritual gifts (8b): permanent
458	357	03/07/1978	Romans 12:6c	Three factors re spiritual gifts; inferiority, race, middle class and freedom; gift of prophecy
458	358	03/08/1978	Romans 12:6d–7	Spiritual gifts of service and pastor–teacher: acquisition, purpose, function and authority; volition
458	359	03/09/1978	Romans 12:8	Spiritual gifts of counseling, giving and acts of mercy; doctrine of giving; eight principles of gifts Spiritual Gift of Giving
458	360	03/10/1978	Romans 12:9	Love the brethren; technical vocabulary; despise evil and adhere to good; royal family honor code
458	361	03/12/1978	Romans 12:10	Basis of brotherly love: +R, privacy, relaxed mental attitude and production; Doctrine of Ambassadorship (revised)
458	362	03/12/1978	Romans 12:11	Doctrine of ambassadorship (pts. 3–7); disarming; believer’s Christian service cf. priesthood
458	363	03/16/1978	Romans 12:12a	Weirdo movies; Army promotion list; Doctrine of Hope (revised, 1–3a) and confident assurance
458	364	03/17/1978	Romans 12:12a	Doctrine of hope (revised 3–5): re the integrity of God, equation and mechanics

1977 Romans
458	365	03/19/1978	Romans 12:12a	Doctrine of hope (pts. 6–8a): potential cf. hope, first hope–salvation issues
458	366	03/19/1978	Romans 12	Doctrine of hope (8b–9): blessing in time; production, “God bless you” and “can’t take it with you”
458	367	03/20/1978	Romans 12	Doctrine of hope (10–11): undeserved suffering; solution to historical disaster; “dry bones”
458	368	03/21/1978	Romans 12	Doctrine of hope (12–13): re the reversionist and unbeliever; results of rejection of authority; human cf. eternal life
458	369	03/22/1978	Romans 12:12b	UN resolution and Rhodesia; undeserved suffering; doctrine of prayer and distortion of promises
458	370	03/23/1978	Romans 12:13	Fellowship of the royal family of God; Doctrine of Refreshment (from doctrine) and psychotic Saul
458	371	03/24/1978	Romans 12	Doctrines of refreshment (pts. 5–6) Blessing by Association service organizations
458	372	03/26/1978	Romans 12:14 (Easter)	Seven imputations; poise and objectivity under persecution; legitimate purpose of hazing
458	373	03/26/1978	Romans 12:15	The Royal Family Honor Code (a review/summary) aristocratic thought; tabooism; true rapport
458	374	03/27/1978	Romans 12:16a	Teutonic and Celtic behavior; transformed by thought (Bible doctrine); authority; mental attitude
458	375	03/28/1978	Romans 12:16b	Communist objectives; Wedemeyer; Stalin’s 6–point program; Picasso; mental attitude of the honor code

1977 Romans
458	376	03/29/1978	Romans 12:16c	Whitaker Chambers; Communist evaluation of American POW's; arrogance; royal family honor code
458	377	03/30/1978	Romans 12:17	Communist brainwashing of American POW's; U.S. military code; retaliation blasphemes God
458	378	03/31/1978	Romans 12:18–19a	Live in harmony with your periphery; royal family honor code vs. retaliation
458	379	04/02/1978	Romans 12:19b 20a	Inspiration of Scripture; royal family honor code demands grace function toward personal enemies
458	380	04/02/1978	Romans 12:20b	Authority and consistency; sustaining life cf. lowering self to the standard of the antagonist
Shield of Freedom Special, lessons #381–392
458	381	04/03/1978	Romans 12:21	[SHIELD OF FREEDOM SPECIAL, lessons 381–392] Government service; principles of the doctrine of evil; the believer is to support the legal system though it be distorted
458	382	04/07/1978	Romans 13	Introduction to Romans 13: Doctrine of Divine Establishment (1–2b): definition, freedom, privacy, volition and marriage
458	383	04/09/1978	Romans 13	Book on U.S. changes; doctrine of the laws of divine establishment (2c–3): family, nationalism and evangelism
458	384	04/09/1978	Romans 13	“Majority Rule” in Africa; doctrine of the laws of divine establishment: discipline, authority and military
458	385	04/10/1978	Romans 13	Gun control; doctrine of the laws of divine establishment (8–9): freedom; Ten Commandments; envy; U.S. Coat of Arms; theft

1977 Romans

458	386	04/11/1978	Romans 13:1a	Book: "Clichés of Socialism"; property rights; doctrine of the laws of divine establishment (10–11); morality; Naziism; violence; police; government authority
458	387	04/12/1978	Romans 13:1b	Welfare state; subordinate self to the office of authority; anarchy of the Jews; revolution
458	388	04/13/1978	Romans 13:1c	Socialism, strikes; source and purpose of civil authority; Separation of Church and State
458	389	04/14/1978	Romans 13:2a	Excess government + national debt; democracy is anti Christian; anti-laws of divine establishment of the reversionistic believer
458	390	04/16/1978	Romans 13:2b	Technical and moral change; internationalism; believer: obey civil law or reap divine discipline
458	391	04/16/1978	Romans 13:3a	Productivity of free enterprise vs. bureaucracy; capital punishment; fear cf. respect
458	392	04/21/1978	Romans 13:3a	[SHIELD OF FREEDOM SPECIAL – end] Jeff Cooper and the 45 automatic; referees in divine establishment; un-Americanism; U.S. Coat of Arms
458	393	04/23/1978	Romans 13:3b	Russian hero on the U.S. cf. USSR; misapplication of eschatology; evangelism and the laws of divine establishment of Goths; police authority
458	394	04/23/1978	Romans 13:3c	Gun registration; origin of "THIEME"; Teutons + biblical teachers stabilized Western Europe; laws of divine establishment encapsulated X+Y+Z

1977 Romans

458	395	04/28/1978	Romans 13:4a	Complaining about your job; form of government and Christian anarchy; DIAKONOS of God = government authorities
458	396	04/30/1978	Romans 13:4b	Systems of government; principles re the source of civil authorities and evil: obedience or punishment
458	397	04/30/1978	Romans 13:4c	Advocating violence against the government is wrong; the criminal mind; Capital Punishment
458	398	05/01/1978	Romans 13:4d	U.S. Constitution; distinguish between the man and the office; prep school discussion; criticism of authority
458	399	05/02/1978	Romans 13:4–5a	Closing points on v. 4. Referee rules; pivot vs. evil government; be subordinate to government authority; drugs cf. alcohol
458	400	05/03/1978	Romans 13:5b	Restraint by fear and conscience; doctrine of conscience (1–2); standards and privacy
458	401	05/04/1978	Romans 13:5	Essential Bible doctrines cf. non–essential application; tolerance; privacy; doctrine of conscience; negative volition
458	402	05/05/1978	Romans 13:6a	Spiritual freedom; equality destroys freedom; French Revolution; pay your taxes. Taxes (Divine Viewpoint)
458	403	05/07/1978	Romans 13:6b	Basic of American cf. of French Revolution; inequality; taxes pay for public services; Doctrine of Taxation by R. B. Thieme, Jr.
458	404	05/07/1978	Romans 13:7–8	Employee not to complain; principle of obligation and indebtedness; debt of tolerance

1977 Romans
458	405	05/08/1978	Romans 13:9a	Adultery cf. fornication; David's crimes and punishment; theft; perjury; lust Murder: the Principle of the 6th Commandment
458	406	05/09/1978	Romans 13:9a	German soldiers; morality and Christian responsibility to the laws of divine establishment; evil espousal of causes Ten Commandments Principles
458	407	05/10/1978	Romans 13:9b	Marijuana; "doing good"; personal cf. impersonal love (based on own standard)
458	408	05/11/1978	Romans 13:9b	U.S. Army marksmanship; basis of "Love thy neighbor"; relaxed mental attitude, grudges and smother love
458	409	05/12/1978	Romans 13	Doctrine of the royal family honor code (revised); aristocracy; relaxed mental attitude; personal cf. impersonal love The Royal Family Honor Code broken down into various individual doctrines
458	410	05/14/1978	Romans 13:10	Love: personal, impersonal and relaxed mental attitude fulfills the law; essentials and non-essential standards; royal family honor code
458	411	05/14/1978	Romans 13:10–11a	Basis for relaxed mental attitude love is doctrine in the soul; humor: overworked few; Doctrine of Sleep (Points 1–2)
458	412	05/19/1978	Romans 13:11b	Doctrine of sleep (pts. 3–8): laziness, reversionism and other analogies; German innovators
458	413	05/21/1978	Romans 13:12	Ike vs. Monty and the importance of Germany; imminence of death or the Rapture; priorities
458	414	05/21/1978	Romans 13:13a	Col. Henderson's "T. J. Jackson"; U.S. evils and immigration; doctrine of the royal family honor code

1977 Romans
458	415	05/22/1978	Romans 13:13b	“T. J. Jackson”: character and conduct; self-discipline; doctrine of the royal family honor code (3–9)
458	416	05/23/1978	Romans 13:14	Henderson: causes for the U.S. Civil War; social action (lust); distractors from GAP
458	417	05/24/1978	Romans 14	Intro. R. E. Lee’s letter on slavery; definition of weak and strong believer; moral courage; self-justification
458	418	05/25/1978	Romans 14:1	Henderson: secession of the South; weak vs. strong believer re essentials and opinions
458	419	05/26/1978	Romans 14:2	Training; German General staff; flexibility; weak and strong believers re food and beverage taboos
458	420	05/28/1978	Romans 14:3	Intro. “Stonewall”; movie “Tunes of Glory”; moral cf. physical courage; military and business; taboos vs. privacy
458	421	05/28/1978	Romans 14:3a	Predictions vs. Bible doctrine; Emory Upton, German general staff and Elihu Root; occupational hazards The Weak and the Strong Believer Part I The Weak and the Strong Believer Part II
458	422	05/29/1978	Romans 14:3b–4a	“Friend of God”; error of strong and weak believers to each other; household servants Weak and Strong Believers Principle #3 Weak and Strong Believers Principle #4
458	423	05/29/1978	Romans 14	Equality; self-criticism; house slave; occupational hazard of weak and strong believers; House Slave Principles Doctrine of the Sins of the Tongue (3)

1977 Romans

458	424	05/30/1978	Romans 14:4b	Soviet attack; military coup; authority orientation; doctrines of sins of the tongue (7–10) (those notes placed above), Stages of Reversionism Categories of Reversionism
458	425	05/31/1978	Romans 14:4c	Prep School staff and music; arrogant weak believer vs. strong believer; privacy Weak Believer Versus the Strong Believer Weak Believer Versus the Strong Believer (2)
458	426	06/01/1978	Romans 14:5	The Doctrine of a Day at a Time; Attitudes of the weak and strong believers re special days; flexibility; self-righteousness
458	427	06/02/1978	Romans 14:5	Ike vs. Monty: national objectives; privacy of the priesthood and norms from Bible doctrine vs. bullies
458	428	06/04/1978	Romans 14:6a	Doctrine of the royal family honor code (review); movie “The Big Country”: moral courage and cowardice
458	429	06/04/1978	Romans 14:6b	Greek definite article; priorities; work maintains sanity; Bible doctrine for Indians
458	430	06/09/1978	Romans 14	Flexibility in the military, Sir Claude Auchinleck; tolerance of the weak believer; heroes and norms
458	431	06/11/1978	Romans 14:6c	Ike and military doctrine; manners; application of the weak believer; keep the standard until Bible doctrine changes it
458	432	06/11/1978	Romans 14:6–7a	Variance in spiritual growth re the royal family honor code; Patton; freedom guarantees inequality
458	433	06/12/1978	Romans 14	Live life as unto the Lord; freedom guarantees inequality; toleration of different opinions

1977 Romans
458	434	06/13/1978	Romans 14:7b	William E. Simon: "Time for Truth", freedom cf. the USSR; dative of advantage (dying grace) or disadvantage (sin unto death)
458	435	06/14/1978	Romans 14:8a	Simon: free enterprise; necessity for original language of Scripture; dative of advantage: doctrine of dying grace The Classification of Death (2) Comments on Death
458	436	06/15/1978	Romans 14:8b	Simon: USSR and capitalism; profit is legitimate motive; genius of Paul; efficiency; spirituality and appearance
458	437	06/16/1978	Romans 14	Simon: Socialism and Western Europe; health practices, privacy and tolerance in non-essentials
458	438	06/18/1978	Romans 14:8c	Simon: money to communists; personal and impersonal love; essentials and non-essentials (flexibility) re military leadership
458	439	06/18/1978	Romans 14:9–10a	Crisis personality; Battle of the Bulge; Jesus Christ is Lord of all; occupational hazard of the weak believer The Weak Believer's Weakness (which is Judging)
458	440	06/19/1978	Romans 14:10b	Contempt of the strong believer; orientated to reality; non-essentials and love; The Crisis Personality Loving Other Believers Judgment Seat of Christ (1985–1987, 1995)
458	441	06/20/1978	Romans 14	Doctrine for the crisis; third world; doctrine of the judgment seat of Christ (2–4) (notes placed with lesson #440), time and efficiency rating

1977 Romans
458	442	06/21/1978	Romans 14	Doctrine of judgment seat of Christ (pt.5–7); Rapture; flexibility of the great captains; hope
458	443	06/22/1978	Romans 14	Complaining vs. professionalism; orientation to authority; athletic analogy; doctrine of the judgment seat of Christ (8–9); slights
458	444	06/23/1978	Romans 14	French in Africa; doctrine of the judgment seat of Christ (10–12); German military decorations; crowns
458	445	06/25/1978	Romans 14:11	U.S. unprepared; application from inspiration of Scripture Doctrine of the Big Genuflex (1–14)
458	446	06/25/1978	Romans 14:12	U.S. crisis; doctrine of the big genuflect (15): eternal happiness real issues at the judgment seat of Christ; knowable, unknowable and God
458	447	06/26/1978	Romans 14:13	Royal family honor code application to controversy between weak and strong believer; hypocrisy of actors
458	448	06/27/1978	Romans 14	Greatness of Ike; varying responsibilities of weak and strong believers under the royal family honor code; thoughtfulness and flexibility
458	449	06/28/1978	Romans 14:14a	Ike's preparation and flexibility, North Africa; doctrine vs. food taboos and health
458	450	06/29/1978	Romans 14:14b	Ike vs. critics and Patton, Sicily; flexibility; legalism re food vs. doctrinal norms
458	451	06/30/1978	Romans 14:15a	Ike: qualifications and British; crusading; weak and strong believer re the honor code and conscience
458	452	07/01/1978	Romans 14:15b	Ike vs. prima donnas; General Singlaub; Royal Family Honor Code (1977)

1977 Romans

458	453	07/02/1978	Romans 14	Character of Ike; royal family honor code demands more of the strong believer; flexibility without tyranny
458	454	07/02/1978	Romans 14:15c–16	General Singlaub vs. Carter; problem and responsibility of the mature believer; Jesus Christ vs. weak believers
458	455	07/03/1978	Romans 14:17a	“Kingdom of God”; aristocracy; spiritual vs. physical food
458	456	07/03/1978	Romans 14:17b	Freedom and authority; no capacity and no divine blessing; targets for blessing
458	457	07/04/1978	Romans 14	Happiness by means of the Holy Spirit; X+Y+Z=good; Christian way of life
458	458	07/04/1978	Romans 14:18	Function of the royal priesthood cf. royal ambassadorship (+ doctrine of, 7 pts.)
458	459	07/04/1978	Romans 14:18–19	Six categories of SG2 blessings; doctrine of the importance of Bible doctrine (review) Categories of Blessings
458	460	07/05/1978	Romans 14:20	L. Burke; jogging; when the law of love supercedes the law of liberty; right pastor–teacher; right vs. flexibility
458	461	07/06/1978	Romans 14:21	Avoid distracting the weak believer from doctrine; priorities vs. non–essentials; doctrine of drinking
458	462	07/07/1978	Romans 14:22a	Lord Tedder of the RAF & Ike; conscience of the strong believer toward the weak; law of liberty vs. the law of love
458	463	07/09/1978	Romans 14	General C. R. Huebner; two tragic flaws; non–essential image (actors) and arrogance (experts)
458	464	07/09/1978	Romans 14:22b	Memorials to D.D. Eisenhower; tragic flaw #3: personality issues

1977 Romans
458	465	07/10/1978	Romans 14:23	Doctrine of Tragic Flaw arrogant subjectivity: problems vs. GAP; doubts
458	466	07/11/1978	Romans 14:23b Romans 15 intro	Violation of conscience producing guilt reaction turns right into wrong; The Strong Believer The Weak Believer doctrine of the weak and strong believer (A–C)
458	467	07/12/1978	Romans 15	Intro. Carter errors; doctrine of the weak and strong believer (D–G): variations and essentials; equality; love The Royal Family Honor Code Function Provides for Variation in Standards Essential Doctrine and Non-essential Application Equality and Freedom (among believers)
458	468	07/13/1978	Romans 15:1a	General Fredendall, errors in Tunisia; responsibility of the strong believer under the royal family honor code; flexibility
458	469	07/14/1978	Romans 15:1b	Obligation of the mature believer; tolerance; Review of the Royal Family Honor Code (1978) (points 1–11)
458	470	07/16/1978	Romans 15:2	USSR vs. U.S., Adm. Zumwalt; principle of sensitivity under the royal family honor code; impersonal love & capacity
458	471	07/16/1978	Romans 15	Thirty years after Guam D–Day; flexibility of Napoleon; prep school; The Edification Complex of the Soul
458	472	07/17/1978	Romans 15:3–4a	Rafferty; importance of grammar; momentum and motivation; mechanics of Old Testament inspiration; perseverance
458	473	07/18/1978	Romans 15:4b	Korea: history, Presbyterian and indigenous missions; doctrine of hope (revised, pt. 1–2)

1977 Romans
458	474	07/19/1978	Romans 15	Wagner's ring operas; tragic flaws in drama characters; hopelessness of all beings without Jesus Christ; doctrine of hope (3–8)
458	475	07/20/1978	Romans 15	Wagner's ring operas (cont.); doctrine of hope (revised, pts. 9–13); capacity for life
458	476	07/21/1978	Romans 15:5	Ring operas; perseverance in, comfort, and reciprocity through Bible doctrine; thinking
458	477	07/23/1978	Romans 15:6	Charles Wohlstetter re unqualified bureaucracy; unanimity of believers through the royal family honor code function
458	478	07/23/1978	Romans 15:7–8a	Wohlstetter (cont.); reciprocity in application of the royal family honor code, Jesus Christ our example; Diakonos
458	479	07/28/1978	Romans 15:7–8a (Minor problem with sound)	Jesus Christ, Minister to the Jews; time elapse before fulfillment of the covenants to Israel The Unconditional Covenants and Time
458	480	07/30/1978	Romans 15:8b–9a	Wohlstetter: Government in the Shadows; Doctrine of Elapse of Time The time for fulfillment of covenants to Israel
458	481	07/30/1978	Romans 15:9b	Conspiracy against U.S. Army; Jesus Christ, minister to the Gentiles; blessing by association, U.S. immigrants
458	482	07/31/1978	Romans 15:10–11	Solzhenitsyn: U.S. loss of courage; blessing of Gentiles in the Old Testament; "praise" cf. "laud"
458	483	08/01/1978	Romans 15:11–12	Solzhenitsyn, U.S. evils; Jesus Christ, minister and evaluator of Jew and Gentile of every dispensation

1977 Romans

458	484	08/02/1978	Romans 15	Doctrine of the royal family honor code (revised, pt.1–6); dueling; morality The Royal Family Honor Code (1978)
458	485	08/03/1978	Romans 15	Doctrine of the royal family honor code (7–10); morality; greater obligation of the strong believer
458	486	08/04/1978	Romans 15	Doctrine of the royal family honor code (11, necessity of authority orientation to maintain momentum for advance); delegated authority at Berachah prep school
458	487	08/06/1978	Romans 15	Doctrine of the royal family honor code (12–14); reciprocity; self–pity; self–righteousness; doctrine of the tragic flaw
458	488	08/07/1978	Romans 15	Doctrine of the tragic flaw (cont.); personal problems; doctrine of the weak and strong believer
458	489	08/08/1978	Romans 15:13a	Principle of hope motivation; doctrine of hope (pts. 1–5); eternal security
458	490	08/09/1978	Romans 15:13b	Doctrine of hope (pts. 6–13); undeserved suffering focuses mature believer on eternity
458	491	08/10/1978	Romans 15:13c	Flexibility traps illustrated by airlines, knife fighter and Napoleon; doctrine of happiness
458	492	08/10/1978	Romans 15:13d	Gentleman’s flexibility in social life and manners; concept of prosperity, categories of blessing
458	493	08/13/1978	Romans 15:14	Book: “Crisis in Command”; structured Bible doctrine for motivation; tortilla image: divorce from reality

1977 Romans

458	494	08/13/1978	Romans 15:15a	“Crisis in Command”; Gen. John Wood; principle of alertness in Bible doctrine and personal defense
458	495	08/14/1978	Romans 15:15b	Experience; John Keegan: “Face of Battle”; decisiveness; doctrine of logistical grace; Roman Empire cf. Republic; Patton’s lack of grace
458	496	08/15/1978	Romans 15:16a	FDR, unconditional surrender; doctrine of communication: Old Testament and Church Age gift of evangelism cf. witnessing Doctrine of Communication
I arrived in Texas sometime around this time.
458	497	08/16/1978	Romans 15:16b	Korean War, William F. Dean; prep school flexibility and illustration of Old Testament priest use of training aids
458	498	08/17/1978	Romans 15:16c–17	Blessing without capacity; Thaddeus Kosciuszko; distortion of missions; Talleyrand
458	499	08/18/1978	Romans 15:18	Modus operandi of a missionary; history of missions; importance of administration
458	500	08/20/1978	Romans 15:19a	History of missions and empires; purpose of miracles; missions and letters of Paul; positive volition
458	501	08/20/1978	Romans 15:19b	“End of Roman World”; evangelization of Celts and Teutons; church and state; missionary function
458	502	08/21/1978	Romans 15:20	Columba; Charles Martel; missionary policy and the royal family honor code; Paul and Spain

1977 Romans

458	503	08/22/1978	Romans 15:21	Pseudo missions by knights; Columbanus and Boniface; negative volition of Gentiles without the Gospel Quoting an Old Testament Passage in the New Testament
458	504	08/23/1978	Romans 15	Scandinavian missions: Ansgar, Iceland, Thorvald and Eric; ministry of Holy Spirit in the Age of Israel; doctrine of the indwelling of the Holy Spirit; health is not a spiritual issue The Seven Things That the Holy Spirit Does for Us at the Moment of Salvation The Holy Spirit's Ministry in the Age of Israel
458	505	08/24/1978	Romans 15:22	Timing and legitimate asceticism of a missionary; Constantine and Methodius; 3 conditions of the believer
458	506	08/25/1978	Romans 15:22	Principle; doctrinal missions in Europe; review of the doctrine of divine guidance; the will of God for you
458	507	08/27/1978	Romans 15:23–24a	Schwarz and India; analogy of Keil Und Kessel; Paul and Rome Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey
458	508	08/27/1978	Romans 15:24b	Engedi and Iceland; Moravians; legitimate sacrifices, asceticism and recreation of a missionary
458	509	08/28/1978	Romans 15:24c–25	Bible doctrine priority over social life; emotion and rationalization Doctrine of Paul's Reversionism
458	510	08/29/1978	Romans 15:26	Mrs. "Stonewall"; military honor codes; rationalization; giving to the destitute Impersonal Giving
458	511	08/30/1978	Romans 15:26–27a	"Crisis in Command" and military honor codes; distorting right into wrong; principle of giving

1977 Romans

458	512	08/31/1978	Romans 15:27b	Lord Kitchener's pal Battalions of WWI; anti-Semitism; giving; How are the Greeks Obligated to the Jews?
458	513	09/01/1978	Romans 15:28a	Good strategy and bad tactics; fall of Napoleon and Ney; inflexibility in the non-essentials
458	514	09/03/1978	Romans 15:28b-29a	Paul's neutralization of his good strategy re the fourth mission; inflexibility cancels virtue Paul's Misdirection
458	515	09/03/1978	Romans 15:29b-30	Sir Douglas Haig; teamwork; artillery analogy to prayer; flexibility in leadership
458	516	09/04/1978	Romans 15:31-32	Inaccurate prayers wasted; desire of Paul in Jerusalem and then in Rome
458	517	09/05/1978	Romans 15:33-16:2	Flexibility on Wake Island; certification of Phoebe, Patrones and friend of Paul
458	518	09/06/1978	Romans 16:3	"Heroines of Dixie"; Sherman's policy; role of Phoebe; integrity plus service of Aquila and Prisca; doctrine of the royal family honor code (1-2)
458	519	09/07/1978	Romans 16	New American games without competition; doctrine of the royal family honor code (3-7, amplified); relaxed mental attitude and stoicism
458	520	09/08/1978	Romans 16:4a	Vietnam War; conspiracies in the U.S.; doctrine of the royal family honor code (8-16); laws of supreme sacrifice and love
458	521	09/10/1978	Romans 16:4b	Doctrine of the royal family honor code (re-organized, pts. 1-5) definition, freedom, plan of God, privacy and flexibility

1977 Romans

458	522	09/10/1978	Romans 16	Doctrine of the royal family honor code (re-organized, pts. 6–14); love, morality, integrity, production, strong vs. weak, self-pity and self-righteousness The Principle of Love in the Honor Code The Place of Morality in the Honor Code The Connection Between the Believer's Priesthood and His Ambassadorship
458	523	09/15/1978	Romans 16:5	Living includes dying, done alone; pluggin in GAP gets to spiritual maturity Epaenetus' Spiritual Life
458	524	09/17/1978	Romans 16:6a	MacArthur speech 01/26/1955; death and divine provision for crises of the supergrace believer; woman's beauty
458	525	09/17/1978	Romans 16:6b	Principle of dying grace; woman's advance and production; self-determination; single woman Seven Deaths Found in the Scriptures Biblical Comments with Regards to Physical Death The Woman and Spiritual Growth
458	526	09/18/1978	Romans 16:7–8	"St. Paul from the Trenches"; concern of Paul for Jews; missionary use of APOSTLES
458	527	09/19/1978	Romans 16:9	Freed slaves; collective and individual self determination; incompetence; friendship
458	528	09/20/1978	Romans 16:10–11	Cursing by association with anti-Semitism; biblical principle of slavery, rights of the master and slaves Doctrine of Slavery (R. B. Thieme, Jr.)
458	529	09/24/1978	Romans 16:12	Reunion of athletes; Roman Empire; dying well; honor of women who worked to exhaustion
458	530	09/24/1978	Romans 16:13–14	Edwardian England; mature believer family of Simon of Cyrene and local church men; marathon

1977 Romans

458	531	09/25/1978	Romans 16:15–16	Third local church of Rome; doctrine for old age; The Doctrine of Kissing (29 point survey)
458	532	09/26/1978	Romans 16:17	Alert discernment avoids reversionistic apostates; arrogant inordinate competition
458	533	09/27/1978	Romans 16:18a	Honor code function exceptions; doctrine of emotion of the soul (pts. 1–3); voting franchise The Doctrine of Emotion
458	534	09/28/1978	Romans 16:18b	Lord Salisbury re voting; doctrine of emotion (4–9); emotion and spirituality in Church Age and Millennium Emotions and Authority
458	535	09/29/1978	Romans 16:19a	Book: “The First Day of the Somme”; doctrine of tongues (review)
458	536	10/01/1978	Romans 16:19b	MacArthur Speech 03/14/1973; Rhodesia; biblical concept of authority orientation; “the good” Authority Orientation
458	537	10/01/1978	Romans 16:19c	Misplacement of authority orientation; freedom vs. criminals; Separation (Romans Study)
458	538	10/05/1978	Romans 16:20a	Prince Albert re Grenadier Guards; confusion re conspiracies; security; prosperity
458	539	10/08/1978	Romans 16:19a	Omniscience and decrees of God. Why are we here? Authority orientation; principle of establishment
458	540	10/08/1978	Romans 16:19b	Importance of authority orientation in different areas of life; principle and summary of evil
458	541	10/09/1978	Romans 16:20a	Divine decrees; believer losers win with Jesus Christ over Satan at Second Advent; personality of Satan

1977 Romans
458	542	10/10/1978	Romans 16:20a	Personality and strategy of Satan (pts. 10–17), his counterfeits, quote by L. S. Chafer
458	543	10/11/1978	Romans 16:20a	Angelic conflict (cont.): demons and systems of demon possession; stages of reversionism
458	544	10/12/1978	Romans 16:20b	Occult and demon practices and illustrations (Moros, Hitler, Egypt), drawing room approach, Satan's powers and use of demons; grace protection
458	545	10/13/1978	Romans 16:21–22	Effects of the feminist movement; Timothy eyes and relaxation of Paul; secretaries of Paul and Napoleon
458	546	10/15/1978	Romans 16:23a	Concept of the pivot; postulates of the integrity of God; Corinthian honor guard; Roman Empire education
458	547	10/15/1978	Romans 16:23b-25a	Politicians; preconceived notions re the plan of God; review of the doctrine of logistical grace
458	548	10/16/1978	Romans 16:25b	Thesis and antithesis; alternatives; origin of Denominations; doctrine of the mystery (review); arrogant students; speculation
458	549	10/17/1978	Romans 16:25c-26a	The Doxology (cont.); doctrine of dispensations (review); Millennium; Church Age = the age of writing
458	550	10/18/1978	Romans 16:26a	The Theology of the Perfect Plan of God (1–3) definition, sovereignty and the will of God
458	551	10/19/1978	Romans 16	Doctrine of the theology of God's perfect plan (3–5j): will of God, providence, omniscience, and decrees of God

1977 Romans
458	552	10/20/1978	Romans 16	Doctrine of the theology of God's perfect plan (5k–7p): divine decrees, foreknowledge, will of God and decrees
458	553	10/22/1978	Romans 16	Doctrine of the theology of the perfect plan of God (8–14): will, decrees, and glory of God; election and predestination
458	554	10/22/1978	Romans 16:26b–27	Obedience to authority, self-indulgence; principle of the client nation: Hood's Texas Brigade; "AMEN"
458	555	10/26/1978	Romans 9:1–14	Intro. Jewish problem; doctrine of Israel's preeminence; conspiracies; future of Israel
458	556	10/27/1978	Romans 9:1	Colonel Blimp; triple oath of Paul; inspiration of Scripture; conscience; unconditional covenants secure
458	557	10/29/1978	Romans 9:2	Paul's burden for Israel; patriotism; Soviets re slavery and U.S. communications; Josephus
458	558	10/29/1978	Romans 9:3	General Westmoreland re Vietnam; Paul's wish to be a sacrifice for the Jews; doctrine of CHEREM=cursed; racial cf. true (spiritual) Jew; concern for the lost Cherem
458	559	10/30/1978	Romans 9:4a	Hardness of Pharaoh vs. divine power; Priest (Client) Nations; adoption in SPQR; spiritual heritage of Israel
458	560	10/31/1978	Romans 9:4a	Principle and amplification of the doctrine of (biblical) adoption: live up to heritage; Jews under the Nazis
458	561	11/01/1978	Romans 9:4b	Heritage of Americans and Jews; synonyms of "Jew"; SHEKINAH glory and the integrity of God

1977 Romans

458	562	11/02/1978	Romans 9:4c	Honor code of Colonel Blimp; SHEKINAH and ICHABOD: unconditional covenants: Abraham and Palestine; EL SHADDAI
458	563	11/03/1978	Romans 9:4d	Benefits of the Mosaic Law vs. U.S. government evils; four divine institutions; Jew's feasts and responsibilities
458	564	11/05/1978	Romans 9	Mosaic Law: codices and principles of; Jewish problem; spiritual heritage and arrogance problem of the Jews
458	565	11/05/1978	Romans 9	Iranians; self-righteousness; Jews reject the visible God; The Divine Integrity and the Shekinah Glory
458	566	11/06/1978	Romans 9:5	Origin of Gentiles (X radical) and Jews (Y); negative volition of the Jews; passiveness to Bible doctrine and persecution; reality
458	567	11/07/1978	Romans 9	Dead baby saved; spark of life permanent; virgin pregnancy; negative volition of the Jews The Unique Origin of the Jewish Race
458	568	11/08/1978	Romans 9:6	Racial (physical seed) cf. true (spiritual seed) Jews; terminal self-righteousness; all born into X-radical
458	569	11/09/1978	Romans 9:7a	X+Y+Z re Gentiles and Jews; imputation of Adam's sin + condemnation; legitimacy vs. regeneration The Concept of the True Jew
458	570	11/10/1978	Romans 9:7b	Doctrine of the true Jew; self-determination and election of Jews; divine decrees printout: election and condemnation

1977 Romans

458	571	11/12/1978	Romans 9:8	Universal military training; Clausewitz; Jews: unique origin of and heirs of the promises of God if born again The Unique Origin of the Jewish Race (2)
458	572	11/12/1978	Romans 9:8–9	Primogeniture vs. regeneration re origin of the Jewish race and covenant promises to Israel
458	573	11/13/1978	Romans 9:10	Intro. doctrine of the theology of God's perfect plan (review 1–4): definition; sovereignty, will, and the omniscience of God
458	574	11/14/1978	Romans 9	Doctrine of the theology of the perfect plan of God (review 5–10): decrees, will, glory, and pleasure of God; thought
458	575	11/15/1978	Romans 9	Education; doctrine of the theology of God's perfect plan (10–13a): imputations, election, predestination, integrity of God; divine attribute of love
458	576	11/16/1978	Romans 9	Doctrine of the theology of God's perfect plan (13b–g): anthropopathism of love; justice, faithfulness, and the integrity of God; Jewish pivot
458	577	11/17/1978	Romans 9:10a	Doctrine of the theology of God's perfect plan (14–15); origin of the Jewish race excludes primogeniture and human factors Ishmael and Isaac, Jacob and Esau Regeneration and the Jewish Race
458	578	11/19/1978	Romans 9:10b	Origin of Jews and inheritance of covenants only by regeneration; twins by 2 fathers, Pharaohs
458	579	11/19/1978	Romans 9:11a	Printouts from divine decrees; doctrine of election (revised 1–2); foreknowledge and predestination

1977 Romans

458	580	11/20/1978	Romans 9:11b	Industrial capitalism; doctrine of election (3–6); election of Jesus Christ, Church Age believers, Israel, one per dispensation
458	581	11/21/1978	Romans 9:11c–12	Characteristics of nations and heritage from Jacob vs. from Esau; high authority and arrogance
458	582	11/22/1978	Romans 9	Battle of Arnhem; R.E. Lee re providence; doctrine of divine decrees (revised 1–2): mechanics, function and omniscience
458	583	11/23/1978	Romans 9:12	Doctrines of thanksgiving and divine decrees (2c–3): mechanics and characteristics, video tape analogy
458	584	11/23/1978	Romans 9	Doctrine of divine decrees (4–8): will and glory of God, blessing and freedom of man; California cult and equality
458	585	11/24/1978	Romans 9:13a; Mal. 1:2–3	Battle of Arnhem; illustration, love 1 and 2 Doctrine of Anthropopathisms (pt.1–4)
458	586	11/25/1978	Romans 9:13b	Jacob cf. Eau in decrees; freewill; conspiracies; human freedom and divine decrees
458	587	11/25/1978	Romans 9:14	Omniscient use of actual and probable; integrity and sovereignty of God vs. freewill and self-righteousness of man
458	588	11/25/1978	Romans 9	Anthropopathisms show the divine policy re positive or negative volition (+V or –V); immutable integrity of God; grace provides what +R demands
458	589	11/26/1978	Romans 9:15a; Exodus 33:18–19	Moses: vs. reversionistic Israel and Pharaoh and sees X+Y+Z in the divine decrees
458	590	11/26/1978	Romans 9:15b; Exodus 33:18–20	Moses sees the glory of God through Bible doctrine; grace from the divine decrees to now

1977 Romans
458	591	11/27/1978	Romans 9:16	Blessing not acquired by hustling, but by grace, maximum Bible doctrine and capacity; crying; sincerity
458	592	11/28/1978	Romans 9:17a; Exodus 9:16	How God hardened the heart of Pharaoh Amenhotep II to glorify God and evangelize the world The Hardness of Pharaoh's Heart
458	593	11/29/1978	Romans 9:17b; Psalm 76:10	Thankful Vietnam vet; God's power over and use of arrogant negative volition (-V) of Pharaoh; jealousy
458	594	11/30/1978	Romans 9:17c	Paul insults negative volition of Jews by comparing them with Pharaoh of the Exodus; Thutmose IV not the eldest son
458	595	12/01/1978	Romans 9:18	God allows free will, used negative volition (-V) of Pharaoh to evangelize the world; principle of scar tissue of the soul and negative volition (-V) to Bible doctrine
458	596	12/03/1978	Romans 9:19a	"Overqualified?" Debater's questions re the cause of scar tissue; G. B. Shaw: "Great Catherine"
458	597	12/03/1978	Romans 9:19b	Essence of God vs. freewill of man; British self righteousness in India; the plan of God uses positive and negative volition
458	598	12/04/1978	Romans 9:20a; Isa. 45:8-12	Cults and Marxism; panic: 3 types; Paul's new words; the impudent reject authority
458	599	12/05/1978	Romans 9:20b; Isa. 29:15-16	Arrogant man blasphemes and blames God for man's own negative volition, scar tissue and results
458	600	12/06/1978	Romans 9:21	Ancient pottery; rhetorical use of OU and ME; Jones cult; freedom; authority of the Potter

1977 Romans
458	601	12/07/1978	Romans 9:21	Vessels in Scripture; coexistence of human free will and the sovereignty of God re dishonor; Aposiopesis , Anacoluthon
458	602	12/08/1978	Romans 9:22a	WCC and terrorism; debater's technique: aposiopesis (1–17), anacoluthon (continued from #601); rights and patience of God
458	603	12/10/1978	Romans 9:22b	Vessel of wrath by own negative volition; concept of the last judgment; freedom vs. equality
458	604	12/10/1978	Romans 9	Pistol course; volition of man determines his eternal blessing or cursing; patience of God; arrogance cancels genius
458	605	12/11/1978	Romans 9:23a	Conservatism; aposiopesis; imputation of blessing to +R in the believer with capacity from maximum Bible doctrine
458	606	12/15/1978	Romans 9:23b	Pseudo-intellectuals cf. Ike and MacArthur; concentration; vessel of cursing or blessing by own volition
458	607	12/17/1978	Matthew 8:18a	[DYNAMICS FOR DISASTER – lessons 607–628] U.S. recognition of Peking and mixed-up thinking; characteristics of mobs (9 pts.); separate from mobs to get Bible doctrine
458	608	12/17/1978	Matthew 8:18b–19a	Separate; order; function of evangelist; Sea of Galilee; authority; pseudo-intellectual
458	609	12/18/1978	Matthew 8:19b	Characteristics of pseudo-intellectuals; arrogance; emotional verbal decisions vs. reality; approbation
458	610	12/19/1978	Luke 11:21	Two Fredericks and Prussia: Carthage; gun control; PISTEUOO; pseudo-intellectual vs. reality

1977 Romans

458	611	12/20/1978	Job 5:19–27	Napoleon and Austerlitz; plan of God; types of disaster; Bible doctrine in Prussia; dying grace; counseling [X] + [Y] + [Z] = the plan of God
458	612	12/21/1978	Matthew 8:20a	Solzhenitsyn; freedom vs. equality; human security vs. doctrine Freedom Doctrine of the Fox Distraction
458	613	12/22/1978	Matthew 8:20b	Human security vs. Bible doctrine; concentration and motivation; principle of the bird distraction
458	614	12/24/1978	Matthew 8:21	Believer distracted by protocol; details of life (non essentials) vs. Bible doctrine (essentials); public opinion
458	615	12/24/1978	Luke 9:60	Answer of Jesus Christ to protocol; funerals, customs of society, pleasures and human good vs. GAP
458	616	12/25/1978	Luke 9:61	Procrastination; GAP and duty priorities over loved ones; remember the Source by Bible doctrine
458	617	12/26/1978	Luke 9:62	Answer of Jesus Christ to love priority vs. GAP; distractions from GAP cause loss of capacity
458	618	12/27/1978	Matthew 8:23–24a	Crisis personality; noble things can distract; continuity; Bible doctrine in the soul for the crisis
458	619	12/28/1978	Matthew 8:24b–25a	Deliverance; calm before the storm; sleep of Jesus Christ and security; panic; pseudo-prayer
458	620	12/29/1978	Matthew 8:25b	Infantry; panic and promises; disaster has divine purpose; thinking under pressure
458	621	12/31/1978	Matthew 8:26a	Jesus Christ's reprimand of the disciples; cowards; concentration in training produces thinking in the crisis

1977 Romans
458	622	12/31/1978	Matthew 8:26b	Distracting self from Bible doctrine; “short time trusters” fail in concentration and application of Bible doctrine
458	623	12/31/1978	Matthew 8:26c–27	Counseling; instant obedience of nature; Beaufort Scale; posture in teaching cf. in command
458	624	01/01/1979	Matthew 8:27b; 2Peter 2:12–15	The arrogant reject repetition; overreaction and renunciation cf. priority of Bible doctrine
458	625	01/02/1979	2Peter 1:16a	U.S. disaster defined; Marxist Jones cult; Second Advent; Bible doctrine preparation for disaster
458	626	01/03/1979	2Peter 1:16b; Matthew 16:27–17:8	Second Advent dry run; selfish wish of Peter to perpetuate his happiness
458	627	01/04/1979	2Peter 1:17–19	Poise; empirical experience vs. Bible doctrine; embarrassment; experience; concentration
458	628	01/05/1979	2Peter 1:19–21	“Doomsday for America”; Second Advent; inspiration of Scripture; rejection of the priest nation [DYNAMICS FOR DISASTER – lessons 607–628 end]
458	629	02/06/1979	Romans 9:19–20	God’s right to judge; reason for persecution of the Jews: blot out of First Advent cf. Pharaoh
458	630	02/07/1979	Romans 9:21	USSR forces in East Germany; illustration of debater’s finesse; volition determines honor or dishonor
458	631	02/08/1979	Romans 9:22–24	Midland, TX vs. Feds; aposiopesis logic shows the unbeliever wrong; causes of historical disaster of the Jews
458	632	02/09/1979	Romans 9:24	CMH: H. Erwin; Paul concerned for the Jews though he is apostle to the Gentiles; missionary burden and will of God

1977 Romans
458	633	02/11/1979	Romans 9:25; Hosea 2:23	Why the persecution of fine Jews; great blot out; no Jewish client nation in the times of the Gentiles
458	634	02/11/1979	Romans 9:26; Hosea 1:9–10	Anne Frank; human failure no hindrance to the plan of God; Jewish believers in each generation
458	635	02/12/1979	Romans 9:27a; Isa. 10:21–23	Gov. Clements re defense; nice Jews' negative volition to Jesus Christ hinders the evangelization of others
458	636	02/13/1979	Romans 9:27b	Shah of Iran; blot outs big and little; basis of prosperity and fall of nations; only Jews are permanent
458	637	02/14/1979	Romans 9:28	Divine decrees and Jesus Christ's Alpha and Omega glory; negative volition result is the sting of death; Jews rejection of the First Advent cf. the remnant
458	638	02/15/1979	Romans 9:29a; Isa. 29:9–14; 1:7–9	Definition of the big blot out; shock over the Holocaust from the counter-pivot
458	639	02/16/1979	Romans 9:29b	JEWS: passive, persecution of in Russia, etc., #1 in I.Q. and permanence of; prejudice and propaganda
458	640	02/18/1979	Rev. 1:7; Deut. 6:4	Summary of the persecution of negative volition Jews; Alpha and Omega glories of Jesus Christ; lip service; Jews and the Second Advent of Jesus Christ
458	641	02/18/1979	Rev. 1:8; 21:1–8; 22:12–15; Deut. 6:4–6	Jews re the Alpha and Omega glory of Jesus Christ; future for negative volition and positive volition Jews
458	642	02/19/1979	Romans 9:29–30a	Classism and racism; reverse pivot and spinoff of the reversionist; permanence of the Jews; concept of the pivot and survival of the Priest Nation; negative volition of Jews cf. positive volition of the Gentiles

1977 Romans
458	643	02/20/1979	Romans 9:30b	Governor of Texas: separation of church and state; self righteous –V racial Jew of the #1 spiritual heritage causes own condemnation
458	644	02/21/1979	Romans 9:30	Principles; Hitler: “The Bunker”; faith–rest promises; works vs. faith (1–21); condemnation of self righteousness
458	645	02/22/1979	Romans 9	Humorous laws; “The Bunker”; big blot out of self righteous Jews cf. Gentiles with +R; free will; evangelism of the world
458	646	02/23/1979	Romans 9:31	Jews without excuse; inversion; terminal self righteousness and works vs. imputed +R of the believer in salvation and the Christian way of life
458	647	02/25/1979	Romans 9:32a	Sight orientation; promises; purpose of the Mosaic Law; Mosaic Law (Codices) ; missions; reason for Jewish failure
458	648	02/25/1979	Romans 9:32b–33; Isa. 28:16; 8:14	Jesus Christ, Stone of Stumbling; The Panorama of Israel (by R. B. Thieme, Jr.) The past through the future
458	649	03/01/1979	Romans 10:1a	Purpose of the Age of Israel, Paul’s concern for negative Jews; +R vs. self–righteousness; weapon of prayer and gun analogy
458	650	03/02/1979	Romans 10:1b	Doctrine of prayer (review); prayer for vs. volition of the unbeliever
458	651	03/19/1979	Romans 10:2	Basis for the evaluation of Israel; purpose of the Age of Israel; intercessory prayer; arrogant zeal for God without +R or Bible doctrine
458	652	03/20/1979	Romans 10:3a	POW rescue attempt; arrogant self–righteousness and ignorance of the righteousness of God; principle of the integrity of God

1977 Romans

458	653	03/21/1979	Romans 10:3a	Principle; Reese: appeasers; rejecter of +R, tries to establish his own self-righteousness; integrity of God and logistical grace
458	654	03/22/1979	Romans 10:3b	Madame Chiang Kai-shek; arrogant anti-grace self righteous vs. +R target of logistical and special blessing
458	655	03/23/1979	Romans 10:4	Cult identification; Jesus Christ fulfills the Mosaic Law; imputation of +R replaces all systems of self righteousness
458	656	03/26/1979	Romans 10:4	Principle; conflict of self-righteousness by works vs. imputed +R of God as the basis for salvation and blessing ends at salvation
458	657	03/27/1979	Romans 10:5a; Lev. 18:1-6	Battle of the Bulge: scout platoon at Lanzerath; Moses' reference to codices 1 and 3 of the Mosaic Law
458	658	03/28/1979	Romans 10:5b	Principle of morality as a necessary lifestyle of everyone for survival cf. works for salvation and spirituality
458	659	03/29/1979	Romans 10:6a	Billy Graham, change of viewpoint; "The Black Death"; Jews with maximum knowledge of Jesus Christ in the right lobe reject Him
458	660	03/30/1979	Deut. 30:11-12	CO's to think, not outdo the troops; Jews say salvation unattainable, obscure and requires self-righteousness
458	661	04/06/1979	Deut. 30:11-12	Cooper course; self-righteousness vs. +R; arrogance; salvation not unattainable nor unavailable
458	662	04/09/1979	Deut. 30:13-14; Amos 9:2	Why Paul changes from SEA to SHEOL; Jesus Christ after physical death; Stone Age viewpoint

1977 Romans
458	663	04/10/1979	Romans 10:6b	Right lobe source of faith or arrogant rationalization; rejecting the true function of Codex 2 + First Advent of Jesus Christ
458	664	04/11/1979	Romans 10:6c	Ritual without reality and the Millennium without salvation; destructiveness of socialism; heaven rejects self-righteousness
458	665	04/12/1979	Romans 10:7	Jews with #1 spiritual heritage blaspheme God by the rejection of Jesus Christ and reap persecution; salvation as near as the right lobe and mouth
458	666	04/13/1979	Romans 10:8	Jews substitute keeping the distorted Mosaic Law for faith in Jesus Christ; review of the doctrines of faith and salvation in the Old Testament
458	667	04/16/1979	Romans 10:9a	General Wedemeyer; blind arrogance hinders witness; Jewish salvation in the Old Testament; mechanics of the expression of faith
458	668	04/17/1979	Romans 10:9b	Communist psychological warfare; Big Blot Out; salvation is private and without works; use "resurrection" in evangelizing Jews
458	669	04/18/1979	Romans 10:10	S. Hannon: Political Tactics and Defense Strategy; private expression to God vs. Baptist distortion of salvation
458	670	04/23/1979	Romans 10:11; Isa. 28:16	Coolidge vs. police union; Old Testament verification of the mechanics of salvation
458	671	04/24/1979	Romans 10:12a	Rhodesia vs. WCC; universal character of salvation; race issues in the U.S. and history

1977 Romans
458	672	04/25/1979	Romans 10:12b	Arrogance; U.S. intelligence; race not an issue in the plan of God and logistical grace for all believers; snobs; five synonyms of faith; self-righteousness
458	673	04/26/1979	Romans 10:13; Joel 2:31-3:2; Acts 2:21-24	Seven judgments; blindness of the Big Blot Out Jews and U.S. liberals
458	674	04/27/1979	Romans 10	Gov. Roberts and Texas Oil; principle of the client nation; missionaries; Islam enslaves; evangelism
458	675	04/30/1979	Romans 10:14a	Salt; Israel and the U.S. responsibilities as client nations; principle of heathenism: missions and God consciousness
458	676	05/01/1979	Romans 10:14b	Nuclear power; divine guidance of missions; client nation; indigenous churches need believers and evangelization; heathenism
458	677	05/02/1979	Romans 10:14c	Missionary evangelism; client nation function and positive volition areas; common and efficacious grace
458	678	05/03/1979	Romans 10:15a	Review; Mosaic Law codices 1-3; evangelism; communists conquer by thought; freedom vs. equality
458	679	05/04/1979	Romans 10:15	Prep School curriculum; a Rabbi re resurrection; proper function of missionaries
458	680	05/07/1979	Romans 10	29 th Anniversary of R. B. Thieme, Jr.; obscure son of George II; mobs; doctrine of A FORTIORI; faith-rest and Israel's cursing and blessing
458	681	05/08/1979	Romans 10:16; Isa. 53:1	Rejection of truth produces scar tissue and voids former understanding and application to Israel and the U.S.

1977 Romans

458	682	05/09/1979	Romans 10	Self-pity, arrogance, Hannibal, scar tissue of the soul and results in the individual and the nation; force necessary to protect positive volition from negative volition; embarrassed mind of man needs divine truth
458	683	05/10/1979	Romans 10:17	Witnessing and the client nation; doctrine of reconciliation; there will never be a conversion of the whole world any time
458	684	05/11/1979	Romans 10:18–19a; Psalm 19:1–4	Provision for positive volition at God-consciousness from observation of the universe; no excuse at the Last Judgment
458	685	05/14/1979	Romans 10:19b; Deut. 32:21	Liberals; concept of the doctrine of anthropopathisms and divine love cf. the anthropopathism of love
458	686	05/15/1979	Romans 10:19c	Divine discipline by inversion, positive volition Gentiles get blessing, negative volition Jews lost; dangers of arrogance
458	687	05/16/1979	Romans 10:20; Isa. 65:1	Toland re execution of the Jews; CHIASMUS; Gentile salvation without the client nation function of Israel
458	688	05/17/1979	Romans 10:20b; Isa. 65:2	Jesus Christ's direct evangelization of the Jews; doctrine of inversion, reverse roles of Jews and Gentiles
458	689	05/18/1979	Romans 11; Rev. 1:7a	Intro.; MacArthur, 6/2/1931; negative volition to truth; Big Blot Out of the Jews; supernatural darkness
458	690	05/21/1979	Rev. 1:7b–8a	Inflation spiral; Big Blot Out of the Jews Second Advent frustration; aggressive genius; U.S. rejection of the truth
458	691	05/22/1979	Rev. 1:8b; Deut. 6:4–6	Alpha and Omega glories of Jesus Christ; missionary and divine guidance; results of rejection of the truth

1977 Romans

458	692	05/23/1979	Romans 11:1a	Department of Energy and California; rhetorical questions; Jews not fully rejected by God; rejection of truth leads to belief of lies
458	693	05/24/1979	Romans 11:1b-2a	Arrogant self-pity; plan of God unhindered by negative volition; spankings; discipline of Israel = divine prerogative
458	694	05/25/1979	Romans 11	Divine foreknowledge cf. omniscience; spiritual heritage and preeminence of Israel; stability of the British Government
458	695	06/01/1979	1Kings 19:1-8	Fourth estate and Vietnam; ultra supergrace believer Elijah fears and forgets faith-rest and logistical grace; arrogant men vs. smart women
458	696	06/04/1979	1Kings 19:8-16	Dangers of arrogance in leaders; self-pity, self righteousness, inflexible and useless in the plan of God
458	697	06/05/1979	Romans 11:2b-3a	Divine foreknowledge; arrogance of Elijah; results of obsession with apostasy and disaster
458	698	06/06/1979	Romans 11:3b	Preoccupation with disaster: distracts from faith-rest and Bible doctrine and causes spiritual flinching and crusades; sin unto death of Old Testament prophets
458	699	06/07/1979	Romans 11:3c-4a	Energy; arrogance of Elijah forgets logistical grace and the pivot and lacks capacity for authority; Patton
458	700	06/08/1979	Romans 11:4b-5	Elijah's abuse of authority; principle re the pivot and client nation status and hovering disaster
458	701	06/15/1979	Romans 11:6a	Logistical grace vs. ignorance of misrepresentation of sin, spiritual status and works; marking time

1977 Romans
458	702	06/18/1979	Romans 11:6b	Grace, spiritual growth and the pivot vs. works, crusades, social and political action
458	703	06/19/1979	Romans 11:7a	Occupation with the gift and deliverance vs. with the Source; arrogance vs. true humility; MacArthur's one failure
458	704	06/20/1979	Romans 11:7b	Tranquillity; unfairness; catering to minorities; election to privilege vs. human systems
458	705	06/21/1979	Romans 11	Privilege; crusades; doctrine of election addendum: Jesus Christ, Israel and the Church to change history; the pivot; big businessmen
458	706	06/22/1979	Romans 11:7c	The pivot and the elect vs. scar tissue of the soul and hazards of arrogance; substitutes for +R; miracles
458	707	06/25/1979	Romans 11:8a	God extended the life of Pharaoh of the Exodus to evangelize the world; con artists; doctrine of the inspiration of Scripture (review)
458	708	06/26/1979	Romans 11:8b; Isa. 29:9–14; Rev. 1:7–8; Deut. 6:4–7	Negative volition to truth causes scar tissue of the soul and insensibility; doctrine of the Big Blot Out
458	709	09/23/1979	Romans 11:2a	Future of T&P and right pastor–teacher; Jews: blessed through obedience to the laws of divine establishment or salvation; IQ; only believers foreknown
458	710	09/23/1979	Romans 11:2b–3a	Jews and divine decree printouts; Elijah distorts truth and shocks Paul; imprecatory prayer
458	711	09/24/1979	Romans 11:3b–4	Interlocking systems of arrogance (1–8); insanity; self centeredness, altruism and drug slaves

1977 Romans
458	712	09/25/1979	Romans 11:5	Objectivity training; orthodoxy vs. tradition; reacting compromises Bible doctrine; the pivot
458	713	09/26/1979	Romans 11	General John K. Singlaub, decline of the U.S. Military; doctrine of election (review); divine judgment of Africa
458	714	09/26/1979	Romans 11:6a	Patriotism, WCC–NCC; grace vs. works; pivot cf. anti communist organizations re deliverance of the U.S. now
458	715	09/27/1979	Romans 11:6b–7a	Psychology cf. the pivot re hurricane; objectivity vs. subjectivity in teaching; genius and objectivity of Paul
458	716	09/28/1979	Romans 11:7	Pivot politics vs. power politics; review; X+Y+Z, interlocking systems of arrogance, scar tissue of the soul and the faith–rest drill
458	717	09/30/1979	Romans 11:8a	Lecturers; inspiration of Scripture; Jews: IQ; thought, blessing to the client nation, –V; degeneracy and language
458	718	10/04/1979	Romans 11:8b	Military crisis; pivot vs. failure of conservatives; arrogance, neuroses and emotion; IQ's of races
458	719	10/05/1979	Romans 11:8c	European viewpoint re Jews; negative volition of the clergy; arrogance produces cults and greater negative volition to salvation and Bible doctrine
458	720	10/07/1979	Romans 11:9a	Catharsis of drama, emotion and music; prosperity distractions; greater spiritual heritage and responsibility
458	721	10/07/1979	Romans 11:9b	Bitterness; denial of spiritual heritage yields fear; results of ignoring responsibility as a client nation

1977 Romans
458	722	10/08/1979	Romans 11:10	Americans standing in line to die; scar tissue of the soul degeneracy neutralizes IQ and invites national destruction
458	723	10/09/1979	Romans 11	Berachah Church Policy; results of scar tissue of the soul and interlocking systems of arrogance: slave mentality and degeneracy; genius misfit
458	724	10/10/1979	Romans 11:11a	Crime rate; socialist exploitation of Germany of World War II and U.S. economy; Prussian plan for democracy
458	725	10/11/1979	Romans 11:11b 12a	Paratrooper, CMHs; permanence of Jews; integrity of God; scar tissue of the soul and the Big Blot Out; transfer of spiritual heritage
458	726	10/12/1979	Romans 11:12b	Fifth cycle not to destroy Jews; blessing from the dispersion; client nation prosperity
458	727	10/14/1979	Romans 11:13a	Intercessory prayer; doctrine of A FORTIORI; blessing of Gentiles in Jewish apostasy and greater in the Millennium
458	728	10/14/1979	Romans 11:13b	Doctrine of apostleship; DIAKONOS; Gentile blessing by fifth cycle of discipline to Israel; Jews' failures and the Church Age believer
458	729	10/15/1979	Romans 11:14–15a	Soviet arms race; Jews: stimulated to faith in Jesus Christ and believers in every generation; doctrine of reconciliation
458	730	10/16/1979	Romans 11:15b 16a	Jews: Second Advent promises, perpetuation in the dispensation of Israel; offering of first fruits and mass of Old Testament believers

1977 Romans

458	731	10/17/1979	Romans 11:16b 18a	Intimidation of police; olive tree analogy to Jesus Christ, prosperity and Church Age believers; perpetuation of believer Jews in the Church Age; arrogant superiority; IQ and truth
458	732	10/17/1979	Romans 11:18b	Doctrine of interlocking systems of arrogance: criminal, crusader, righteous indignation, psycho, and sexual vs. the plan of God
458	733	10/19/1979	Romans 11:19	Interlocking systems of arrogance: psychopathic, sexual, superiority, and distortions; anti-Semitism
458	734	10/21/1979	Romans 11:19–20a	Anti-nukes refuted; arrogance of personality and anti-Semitism; third-world degeneracy and conspiracy
458	735	10/21/1979	Romans 11:20b 21a	Interlocking systems of arrogance re degeneracy, respect and believing lies; divine discipline for anti-Semitism; flattery
458	736	10/25/1979	Romans 11:21b	Relaxed mental attitude toward critics; interlocking systems of arrogance re anti-Semitism, maligning, divine discipline and cf. reversionism
458	737	10/26/1979	Romans 11:22a	Liberal critic of the left; blessing from the integrity of God; punishment of nations from the severity of God
458	738	10/28/1979	Romans 11	Applications re the severity and integrity of God; review of reversionism, interlocking systems of arrogance, logistical grace and supergrace blessings
458	739	10/28/1979	Romans 11:22b	Divine discipline for the unbeliever and negative volition of Jew and Gentile; review of the 5 cycles of discipline of the client nation

1977 Romans
458	740	10/29/1979	Romans 11:23	Jesus Christ the hope for unbelieving Jews while alive; divorcement from reality; power of Jesus Christ to control history
458	741	10/30/1979	Romans 11:24–25a	Freedom; A FORTIORI of grace re believers grafted in; client nation status; doctrine of the mystery
458	742	10/31/1979	Romans 11:25b	Anti-gun motivation; conservatism; doctrine of the mystery (cont.); arrogance from ignorance and rejection of Bible doctrine
458	743	11/01/1979	Romans 11:26a	U.S. failure cf. the Swiss government and UMT; anti Semitism; future deliverance of Israel from four powers
458	744	11/02/1979	Romans 11:26b	Zion; inspiration of Scripture; future restoration of Israel after removal of all unbelievers
458	745	11/04/1979	Romans 11:27	Price of freedom; U.S. client nation function; doctrine of the covenants to Israel: contract and Messianic line
458	746	11/04/1979	Romans 11	Doctrine of the covenants to Israel (4–6): Abrahamic, real estate and military, Mosaic Law. Church Age client nation
458	747	11/05/1979	Romans 11	Hitler; military of the client nation and Switzerland; freedom; doctrine of the covenants to Israel (7–8): Davidic and New; Coniah bypass; doomsday
458	748	11/06/1979	Romans 11:28	Military of modern Israel; anticipation of the new covenant to the Church cf. to Israel; election to privilege
458	749	11/07/1979	Romans 11:29	Iranians; preparation for crisis; negative volition to truth and “Wake up America”; immigration surge

1977 Romans
458	750	11/08/1979	Romans 11:30	Hitler and anti-Semitism; Greek comparative clauses show pivot-Jew-Gentile relationship
458	751	11/09/1979	Romans 11:31	Muppets and Marines; Church Age unbeliever Jews substitute self-righteousness for imputed +R; doctrine of the great inversion
458	752	11/11/1979	2Thess. 2:10	Iran crisis: what's wrong with America; negative volition to truth yields scar tissue of the soul, belief of lies, then degeneracy and divine discipline
458	753	11/11/1979	2Thess. 2:11-12	Rejection of truth, delusion, believing lies and pleasure in unrighteousness reaps cycles of discipline (illustration of the U.S.)
458	754	11/12/1979	Romans 11:32a	VOLAR: low IQ's; decline of the U.S. military; emotion re Iran; grace before judgment of the client nation; control of the old sin nature
458	755	11/13/1979	Romans 11:32b	Weakness of the U.S.; imputation of human life to the soul and why Adam's original sin to the old sin nature; judicial and real imputations; mercy
458	756	11/14/1979	Romans 11:33a	Army secretary; wealth is thought; divine self knowledge, omniscience and foreknowledge; Berachah Sunday School literature
458	757	11/15/1979	Romans 11:33b; Isa. 40:13-14	Happiness from divine wealth; inscrutable decrees of God; emotion vs. authority; multitude of counselors
458	758	11/16/1979	Romans 11:34-36	U.S. degeneracy and weakness; redistribution of wealth; faith-rest drill and occupation with the Source of grace END OF SERIES

1 01/07/1977 Romans 1 Introduction. Doctrine of the adjustment to the justice of God; etymology of dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay]

Chapter 1

The epistle to the Romans is the story of adjustment to the justice of God in all of its facets and aspects.

Bob previously taught Romans when he taught each book weekly, and there was a loss of continuity. He had to change things up and teach the same book every night.

The Doctrine of the Adjustment to the Justice of God

(These notes come from 3 other places: Prov 12/20/76; Rom 1/30/77, 6/16/77; I will keep these notes as is and add to them where necessary; I am leaning towards letting this doctrine stand as is in this lesson, and pointing back to it when Bob reviews it in later lessons. It is clear that this first time through this doctrine, Bob leaves a lot out.) Also found in Lesson #19 and Lesson #20 and Lesson #128 (the notes will all be found here; they will not be repeated).

- A. Definition: Adjustment to the justice of God is the divine freedom to bless man apart from any compromise to the character of God.
1. Divine grace is administered through the character of God. Ultimately, all blessing or discipline from God to us must be filtered through His justice. As goes the justice of God, so goes blessing or cursing to us
 2. What God provides in grace must not compromise His perfect essence. He cannot compromise His sovereignty, His justice or any other attribute. God's character cannot be compromised, or He is not God. This is why immutability is a part of His essence. God cannot save us simply because we are sweet, nice people; or because we live a good clean life.
 3. Love is the motivation of grace, but justice is the function of grace. Love isn't a mechanic, action or function of grace. God's justice is the key to the plan of God and the Christian way of life. We always relate grace to God's love, but it should be related to God's justice. All these verses about the love of God reflect motivation but not mechanics. This is a motivation that we cannot reproduce. Love is an anthropopathic representation of God. God's love has no emotion; God has no emotion, yet God has perfect capacity for life. God can only love perfection. We are not going to somehow break into the actual function of the love of God.
 4. Therefore, God's justice must be free to give blessing to sinful man without violating divine integrity. Whatever you receive in blessing, divine justice must "OK" it first. Justice must approve everything that comes from God to man.

5. God's motivation is love; His decision is sovereignty. But neither love nor sovereignty can go any farther than justice will take them. Justice has the final say in whether you will be blessed or cursed in this life
6. So how can God avoid compromising His perfect righteousness and still have a relationship with us? The missing link is our adjustment to the justice of God.
7. You cannot adjust to any of the other characteristics of God. You can only adjust to the justice of God. Once you adjust to the justice of God, everything else in your life will fall into place.
8. Adjustment to the justice of God is the divine freedom for justice to provide either blessing or cursing for us through grace without compromising or jeopardizing any aspect of the essence of God. Whether you are blessed or cursed, the integrity of God is never violated or compromised, but remains in status quo.
9. Adjustment to the justice of God occurs in three categories: salvation, rebound, and spiritual maturity.

B. Salvation Adjustment to the Justice of God.

1. God is fair; it is impossible for God to be unfair because He has perfect righteousness and immutability. God can't change what He is: perfect justice. When perfect righteousness and justice team up, the blessing of salvation must be provided without any compromise of divine essence.
2. Divine justice administers what divine perfect righteousness demands. Therefore, perfect righteousness makes a demand upon justice: that justice cannot save anyone in the human race unless perfect righteousness is perfectly satisfied and remains in status quo. This means all the sins of the human race must be judged in Someone qualified. Justice must judge to maintain the perfect status quo of divine perfect righteousness. Deut 32:4; 2Chron 19:7; Job 37:23; Psalm 19:9, 50:6, 58:11, 89:14; Isa 45:21; Jer 50:7; Rom 3:26; Heb 10:30-31, 12:23.
3. When Jesus Christ was on the cross, our sins were poured out on Him and judged by the justice of God. Our sins were transferred to Jesus Christ. All of the sins of every person who has ever lived were paid for, including those of Stalin and Hitler. The human race is born under the penalty of sin, but the built was shifted by the work of Christ on the cross. 1Peter 2:24; 2Cor 5:21.
4. The guilt of the sinful human race was shifted to Jesus Christ on the cross, Rom 5:12, 6:23. We are born spiritually dead, but we are not born guilty!
5. Therefore the justice of God was propitiated by the efficacious sacrifice of Christ on the cross.
6. The scene of the cross was a real and perfect courtroom scene. The work of Christ satisfied the justice of the Father, and freed anyone to believe in Christ, so that man is free to adjustment to the justice of God. The justice of God is now free to pardon, and more - to justify sinful mankind through man's non-meritorious adjustment to the justice of God, Rom 3:21-28, 4:5, 8:1.

7. This adjustment to the justice of God is instantaneous at the moment we believe in Christ, Jn 3:16, 20:36; Acts 16:31. Of all things non-meritorious in life, the greatest of all is faith.
8. Only faith in the object of Christ can provide that instant adjustment to the justice of God. When man believes in Christ, the justice of God is free to provide for Him the forty things of salvation.
9. For those who do not adjust to the justice of God at salvation, the justice of God is not free and must condemn to the lake of fire forever those who do not believe in Christ, Jn 3:18, 36. You can't have heaven without hell. The link is the justice of God; He must be fair. The justice of God is only free to curse negative volition at the point of God-consciousness or Gospel-hearing. If God did not send unbelievers to hell, His justice is compromised and therefore there is no salvation.
10. Our sins must be judged in order for God's justice to be satisfied. Justice can only administer what righteousness demands.
11. Justice is the watchdog, as if were, for God's essence, so that God's essence is not violated by giving us salvation. Everything depends upon what God thinks; nothing is dependent upon what man thinks. Doctrine tells us that Christ paid for it, meaning that it is free to us. He was judged for every sin that we have committed. Salvation is free, in a moment of time. We simply come to the cross and believe. For those who do not adjust to the justice of God, God's justice will adjust to him.

C. Rebound Adjustment to the Justice of God.

1. Rebound is technical for the believer's restoration to fellowship and recovery of the filling of the Holy Spirit. This technique is necessary because the believer continues to have an old sin nature after salvation.
2. 1John 1:9 says that this adjustment to the justice of God occurs through our naming, citing, or confessing our sins. Because the believer's sins were judged on the cross, this adjustment to the justice of God is also instantaneous. It is possible by simply naming your sins. How you feel makes no difference because judgment already has been accomplished, Psalm 32:5, 38:18, 51:3-4; Prov 28:13; Jer 3:13; 1Cor 11:31; 1John 1:9.
3. When the believer confesses a sin, the justice of God is free to forgive that sin because the justice of God was propitiated at the cross. Only justice and no other part of God's essence can forgive sin. It is a matter of justice which gets us back in fellowship.
4. Therefore the believer cites his sins directly to God and is immediately restored to fellowship, and the filling of the Holy Spirit is resumed in place of grieving or quenching the Holy Spirit. This is a private matter between the believer and God.
5. Blasphemous approaches to the rebound adjustment to the justice of God:
 - a. To confess sins to other believers; they can't absolve you from sin. No intermediary can attain forgiveness for us.
 - b. To feel sorry for your sins and count on that for your forgiveness.

c. To go through some system of penance or works.

6. Rebound adjustment to the justice of God is never a licence to sin; the only licence is the encouragement for the believer to adjust to the justice of God, recover from sin, and continue in his spiritual momentum.
7. We share all that Jesus Christ is and has; and we are in the "top circle" forever. But when we commit sins, we are out of fellowship. God is faithful and justified to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. We simply confess our sins to God and we are restored to God's justice.

D. Maturity Adjustment to the Justice of God.

1. Through the consistent and daily function of GAP (grace apparatus for perception), the believer reaches the maturity barrier and breaks through into supergrace A where the believer has rest and relaxation, and then his momentum is continued.
2. Then the believer moves into supergrace B where God is glorified. Finally, God is pleased in the primary zone of blessing: ultra-supergrace.
3. These categories of spiritual growth have two zones of blessing. In the secondary zones of supergrace A and supergrace B, God is glorified; in the primary zone of ultra supergrace, God is both glorified and pleased.
4. Maximum doctrine in the soul of the believer frees the justice of God to provide blessing for the mature believer.
5. This blessing is called paragraph supergrace 2. There are five categories in this blessing package. Some of the blessings are received immediately, while others are received as the believer continues to grow. The five categories in paragraph supergrace 2 are: spiritual, temporal, association, historical, and dying blessings.
6. All categories of blessing emanate from the justice of God.

E. Maladjustment to the Justice of God.

1. Either mankind will adjust to the justice of God and be blessed or the justice of God adjusts to him and he will be cursed.
2. If man doesn't adjustment to the justice of God, then the justice of God is only free to punish, discipline, and judge.
3. The issue in the Christian life is that we either adjust to the justice of God and receive blessing from God, or the justice of God will adjust to us and we will receive divine discipline from God.
4. Adjustment to the justice of God is the difference between cursing and blessing.
5. When mankind doesn't adjust to the justice of God it is called maladjustment.
6. Maladjustment can occur in 3 categories: salvation, rebound, or doctrine.

F. Salvation Maladjustment to the Justice of God.

1. This is the rejection of Jesus Christ as your personal Savior through negative volition at Gospel hearing. The justice of God adjusts to the unbeliever in eternity by throwing him into the lake of fire.

2. Any unbeliever who is establishment oriented is not judged in time, only in eternity. But the unbeliever reversionist is judged in both time and eternity, 2Peter 2; Rom 1:18-32.

3. So salvation maladjustment is the basis for spending eternity in the lake of fire, as well as the basis for much of the great sorrow, tragedy, heartache, and disaster in history.

G. Rebound Maladjustment to the Justice of God.

1. This is the believer's failure in time.

2. The believer is permanently indwelt by the Holy Spirit in his body. But through carnality and/or reversionism, he loses the filling of the Holy Spirit which is the Spirit controlling his soul.

3. Grieving the Spirit is carnality; quenching the Spirit is reversionism.

4. Perpetuation of carnality results in divine discipline, and if left unchecked eventually leads to reversionism.

5. Without the filling of the Holy Spirit, the believer cannot perceive Bible doctrine.

6. Failure to rebound results in judgment and discipline from God. It keeps the believer off balance for his entire life. The inevitable result is reversionism.

7. Any believer can be spiritual or carnal. The reversionistic believer doesn't rebound.

8. If you add anything to naming your sin, that is legalistic and not efficacious, for legalism and grace are mutually exclusive. Then your rebound is ineffective because no grace is involved.

H. Maturity Maladjustment to the Justice of God.

1. This is rejection, apathy, or neglect of doctrinal teaching; it results in reversionism and coming under the influence of evil.

2. This is the Christian counterpart to heathenism.

3. In eternity, maturity maladjustment means loss of rewards, loss of decorations, and loss of special blessings. In time it means warning, intensive, and dying discipline.

I. Grace and the Justice of God.

1. God waits to be gracious, Isa 30:18 (Therefore, the Lord waits to be gracious to you; furthermore, He is on high to show compassion to you; for the Lord is a God of justice. How blessed are those who wait for Him [which is the daily function of gap; it is the patience and the dedication to the intake of Bible doctrine on a daily basis]) Prov 1:3 (To receive through the function of gap doctrinal instruction of prosperity, justice or judgment [blessing or cursing], but always with integrity.).

2. It all depends upon your attitude towards doctrine; not in how much time you clock in prayer or run around the church.

3. The Lord waits for our three adjustments to His justice, especially maturity adjustment. There is no supergrace blessing to the believer apart from maximum Bible doctrine in his soul.

4. Compassion is grace in action. Grace action comes through justice. "For the Lord is a God of justice."

J. Adjustment Verses Maladjustment.

1. Maladjustment or adjustment to the justice of God is the issue in your life. This concept is portrayed in Ecclesiastes 9:13-10:13. I have also seen this example of wisdom under the sun, and it seemed great to me. There was a little city with few men in it, and a great king came against it and besieged it, building great siegeworks against it. But there was found in it a poor, wise man, and he by his wisdom delivered the city. Yet no one remembered that poor man. But I say that wisdom is better than might, though the poor man's wisdom is despised and his words are not heard. The words of the wise heard in quiet are better than the shouting of a ruler among fools. Wisdom is better than weapons of war, but one sinner destroys much good. Dead flies make the perfumer's ointment give off a stench; so a little folly outweighs wisdom and honor. A wise man's heart inclines him to the right, but a fool's heart to the left. Even when the fool walks on the road, he lacks sense, and he says to everyone that he is a fool. If the anger of the ruler rises against you, do not leave your place, for calmness will lay great offenses to rest. There is an evil that I have seen under the sun, as it were an error proceeding from the ruler: folly is set in many high places, and the rich sit in a low place. I have seen slaves on horses, and princes walking on the ground like slaves. He who digs a pit will fall into it, and a serpent will bite him who breaks through a wall. He who quarries stones is hurt by them, and he who splits logs is endangered by them. If the iron is blunt, and one does not sharpen the edge, he must use more strength, but wisdom helps one to succeed. If the serpent bites before it is charmed, there is no advantage to the charmer. The words of a wise man's mouth win him favor, but the lips of a fool consume him. The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness, and the end of his talk is evil madness.
2. People don't appreciate Bible doctrine in the believer's soul; only God does. Don't count on people to bless you.
3. Only Bible doctrine counts, not people. Only Bible doctrine saves the country; it is the secret weapon that wins wars.

Some of the comments made while Bob was teaching the doctrine above:

The Greeks had a different concept of díkē (δίκη) [pronounced DEE-kay] than we do. There is no morality attached to their concept of righteousness; it is all about obligation. When they fulfilled their obligation to their gods, they were called dikê, later called dikaíōs (δικαίως) [pronounced dik-AH-yoce].

Agamemnon was called noble and righteous. He had fulfilled an obligation to the gods that no one else had ever done (he offered up his daughter to the gods).

Our concept of righteousness to us is attached to some concept of morality; but that is not how the Greeks thought of it.

Greeks began to have abstract thoughts long after 9th century B.C. They often added sunê to some words to indicate an abstract concept.

The whole key to justification is that we have sinned. Saying, just as if I never sinned is imbecility.

There is no middle ground. Blessing or cursing for the believer. Love is the motivation of grace, but justice is the mechanics of grace. Justice must approve everything that comes from God to man. Neither love nor sovereignty can go any further than justice can take them. When people love you, that determines what they do to/for you. But with God, it is His justice that determines whether we are blessed or cursed in life.

The book of Romans is so that we can understand the concept of the justice of God. We cannot adjust to the immutability of God or to the sovereignty of God.

We do not have to adjust to people or to other personalities; we only need to adjust to the justice of God. Romans is one of the greatest books on common sense. It is spiritual common sense.

Good and evil will continue throughout human history, including in the Millennium. Sin was judged on the cross, but good and evil will remain in life.

[1] The subject of chapter one is, maladjustment to the justice of God.

The Outline of the Romans 1

Verses 1-13, Introduction to the epistle.

Verses 14-17, mental attitude toward maladjustment.

Verses 18-23, the history of maladjustment.

Verses 24-31, the three judgments of maladjustment, or divine adjustment of the justice of God to our maladjustment.

Definition: The Greek word dikaio $\acute{\sigma}\acute{\upsilon}\nu\eta$ (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] means justice as a characteristic of a judge. The judge is God. Dikaio $\acute{\sigma}\acute{\upsilon}\nu\eta$ (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] Theou (God in the genitive case)—which is translated, the justice of God. We will see that adjustment to the justice of God is the true meaning of justification. Sometimes it is translated righteousness, but it is properly rendered justice. When the Athenians agreed to the code of Solon's laws, they agreed that only he could change any of these laws. When they passed his laws, he traveled for 10 years. You could describe his concepts as civil justice. The people during this time had to adjust to the laws of Solon. The whole concept is, the people had to adjust to Solon's laws. Many writers used this word in that sense.

Josephus saw this noun and it became legal righteousness. It was understood to be a source of blessing or a source of cursing (depending upon your relationship to the law).

This word is used in the Septuagint. God is the norm for the standard of justice and righteousness.

We have no personal righteousness which is acceptable to God. We can only be saved if we possess God's righteousness. We must have legal righteousness. This comes from adjusting to the justice of God.

1977 Romans

Lesson #2

2 01/09/1977 Romans 1:1a Roman personal names; slavery vs. freedom; doctrine of apostles

An oversimplification, there is a good attitude and bad attitude. First half is Paul's good attitude; second half is the bad attitude types. The believer can have a good attitude as can an unbeliever.

Obituary for a John Alexander Hodel. 27 years old; and he wrote his own obituary a year previous. For the professional soldier, glory is the most meaningless of concepts. I love the army; and thanks to it, I have lived an entire lifetime in 26 years. If there is nothing worth dying for, there is nothing worth living for.

Paul, as a minister of the gospel, would actually save the Roman empire. The present ruler of the empire was Nero, Lucius Hannabarrus. Paul and Nero died within a couple of months of each other. During the period of the Antonine Caesars, this was the greatest era that history has ever known. Whenever you have those who crack the maturity barrier, you can exploit grace as did the great apostle.

Greeting

Romans 1:1 Paul, servant of Jesus Christ, a called apostle having been set apart for the gospel of God,...

Verse 1 – the human author. "Paul," Paûlos (Παῦλος) [pronounced POW-loss], which means "little." A perfect name for a person who understands the justice of God and the fact that the believer has no rights before God. The only privilege he has is to adjust to the justice of God, and if he does not adjust to the justice of God then the justice of God will adjust to him in discipline. If we adjust to the justice of God there is blessing, and the difference between cursing and blessing for the believer is attitude toward Bible doctrine. The principle is that under the justice of God, God has all the rights. With the justice of God we do not need rights for blessing.

Paul is a surname. A Roman could be identified by the system of naming him. The prinomen was given first, sometimes just the initial was given. Lucius, Gaius, Publius are common ones. Paul's was Saul. Next is the nomen, the tribe. The Cornelius tribe, the Julian tribe, Paul was born a Roman and a Jew by race. Benjamin was his tribe.

The cognomen, where we have some of the famous families in Rome. Cæsar, Hannifbarbas are famous ones. The university of Tarsus was the third highest of the universities at that time. The true concepts of scholarship in Alexandria and Tarsus. Paul used Tarsus here. Saul Benjamin Tarsus Paulos is his full Roman name.

Paul is the link between God and the writing of the epistle. Paul inhales Bible doctrine and he exhales truth when he writes Romans.

This was the Spring of A.D. 58. Paul was in the home of Phoebe. The message of Romans was for that generation and all future generations as well. The adjustment to the justice of God is the most important subject.

Paul did not wave his personality, personal feelings, his vocabulary in order to write the book of Romans.

“servant” – Paul describes himself in terms of total orientation to grace and maximum adjustment to the justice of God, at this time. “Servant” is incorrect, it is the nominative of apposition from the noun doulos (δοῦλος) [pronounced DEW-loss] which means a slave. By using this term he recognizes that as a mature believer he has no rights. God has all the rights, Paul only has the privilege of adjusting to the justice of God, and at the time of writing he has done so. The rights belong to God, the believer under grace has no rights, only privileges and blessings in adjusting to the justice of God, and only discipline for maladjustment to the justice of God. Paul is a slave, and being a slave it is the responsibility of God to provide everything he needs for logistical grace.

Freedom carries a responsibility far higher than the thought process of most people who have it. Freedom demands courage and honor and daring. There is no security in true freedom.

Marriage is a woman making a decision to be a slave; and if that is not her attitude, she does not have her right man. Slavery is considered to be the worst evil; but this is someone who takes the responsibility to provide everything for you that is necessary.

Paul recognizes that he has entered into a status of slavery with regards to God.

Most of us are security-minded; and we think that is a great thing. Businessmen reject personal security and they keep on expanding their businesses, which takes a great risk; but that is why our nation has great prosperity.

Rhodesia is about the only nation today which has true freedom and true free enterprise.

Bob was always appreciative that parents could take their recalcitrant teenager before a court to have him executed.

“of Jesus Christ” – genitive of possession, Christos (χριστός) [pronounced krees-TOHSS] Iêsous (Ἰησοῦς) [pronounced ee-ay-SOOCE]. This genitive of possession indicates the fact that Paul possesses a master, and anyone who possesses a master is a slave. “Paul, a slave of Christ Jesus.”

A master has the right to decide on what sort of freedom we can have. K

We simply believed in Christ, and we are immediately given those 36 things because we have adjusted to the justice of God. When we are saved, then God gives the freedom to adjust to His justice or not. Believers are slaves, those who have believed in Christ. The beautiful thing about our slavery is, it includes freedom.

Paul, a slave of Christ Jesus... .

“called” – nominative singular from the adjective klētós (κλητός) [pronounced klay-TOSS]. This is a nominative of exclamation. When it is desired to stress a thought with great distinctness the nominative is used without a verb. The designation stands alone and therefore receives the greater emphasis. It is like a child pointing to candy and shouting, “Candy!” The nominative is a pointing case, and its point or capacity is strengthened when it is unencumbered by a verb, as here. The adjective klētós (κλητός) [pronounced klay-TOSS] connotes both privilege and function as a part of being the royal family of God. It represents the authority of Paul, the nominative points out that he is the highest and greatest in authority.

“an apostle” – apostolos (ἀπόστολος) [pronounced ap-OSS-to/oss]. The word means the highest-ranked, the highest authority that anyone could possess. It does not mean “one sent,” it does not refer to a missionary.[2]

Athens became a great power through its Navy. 6 top admirals. The council looks them over and decides who will be in charge. The problem that they faced is, the one in charge might be open to bribery. So there are 6 men with the same rank, and the council decides which one is sent forth, in order to reduce the likely chance of him having been bribed (no one would know how to bribe).

John was the last of the Apostles. There was no plan for them to be continued. They were appointed at the moment of salvation. Each one receives from God the spiritual gift of Apostleship. Until Jesus was seated at the right hand of the Father, there were no Apostles. This gift carried tremendous authority; they had authority over all local churches and over all believers anywhere.

The apostles to Israel in Matt 10; and 1Corinthians 15:7–10 are the Apostles to the church. God the Holy Spirit chose those who would have this gift. Apostles are identified by their spiritual gifts. The doctrine below is not at all what Bob is giving in class.

Apostleship

1. Apostleship is a spiritual gift - 1Corinthians 12:28
2. Apostles are appointed (Sovereign decision - no merit involved) by:
 - a. God the Father - Romans 1:1
 - b. Jesus Christ provided the spiritual gifts - Ephesians 4:11
 - c. The Holy Spirit matches the gift to the individual - 1Corinthians 12:11
3. No apostle was appointed to the Church until after the Ascension of Christ - Ephesians 4:8-11. Peter was NOT appointed an apostle to the Church in Matthew 16:18,19. The disciples were appointed apostles to Israel (at that time), not to the Church. Note Matthew 10:6, "house of Israel" .The "keys" are the prerogative of witnessing and they do not carry special authority.
4. An apostle must be an eye witness to the resurrected Christ - 1Corinthians 9:1; 15:8,9.
5. An apostle also had the gift of miracles. Paul did not have the gift of healing at the end of his life, it was removed from him before he died, some ten years before, in 57 AD - 2Corinthians 12:6-10; Philippians 2:27 with 2Timothy 4:20.
6. This using of miracles was necessary to sustain their absolute apostolic authority - Acts 5:15; 16:16-18; 28:8,9.
7. There is no perpetuation of apostleship. No sons became apostles. We never receive anything in the Christian life through physical birth. Everything we have comes as a result of spiritual birth, regeneration.
8. Apostles exercised absolute authority (spiritual dictatorship) over the churches until the completion of the Canon of scripture (66 Bible books) which is now absolute. Today no one has the right to exercise authority over more than one church. Each local church should be self-sustaining and self-governing.
9. Apostles received direct revelation from God. All revelation today is through the Word. All writers of the New Testament were either apostles or someone closely associated with an apostle (Mark and Luke).
10. No one today has or will reach apostolic stature - 2Corinthians 12:12. No human being can perform miracles at will today.
11. Once the Canon of scripture was complete, the gift of apostleship was withdrawn (Writing of Revelation). The Canon of the New Testament became the basis of modus operandi and the absolute criterion.
12. Apostle is an Attic Greek word: Admiral, supreme commander, one who has the highest rank. Apostles exercised absolute authority (spiritual dictatorship) over the churches until the canon of scripture was completed. The Canon is now the absolute authority.

Apostolic authority could be delegated. They were not Apostles, but the power was delegated to them by actual Apostles (like James, Apollos and others)

3 01/09/1977 Romans 1:1b–2 Doctrine of the Gospel; true and false issue; baptism issue

Romans 1:1 Paul, servant of Jesus Christ, a called apostle having been set apart for the gospel of God,...

“separated” – perfect passive participle from the compound verb aphorizô (ἀφορίζω) [pronounced af-or-ID-zoh], a combination of the preposition apó (ἀπό) [pronounced aw-PO] —from, or away from—and horizô (ὀρίζω) [pronounced hohr-IHD-zoh] which means to decree, to appoint, to set boundaries. So to appoint also means to separate, to sever, to mark off for service. This can be translated “marked off” or “separated.” This is a dramatic perfect which emphasizes the completed action and the results of that action. The passive voice: Paul receives the action of the verb, having been marked out for service by God. The participle is an instrumental participle indicating the means by which apostleship is accomplished in divine appointment. This is translated literally, “through having been appointed,” rather than “separated.” This indicates that it was a judgment call on the part of God which resulted in Paul becoming the twelfth apostle.

“unto the Gospel” – incorrect, and misleading as it stands in the KJV. This is a prepositional phrase, eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative of euangelion (εὐαγγέλιον) [pronounced yoo-ang-GHEL-ee-on], “because of the Gospel.”

“of God” is the ablative of source from theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] meaning “from God.”

Romans 1:1 Paul, a slave of Christ Jesus, called an apostle, through having been appointed because of the Gospel from God.

The word “gospel” needs amplification because euangelion (εὐαγγέλιον) [pronounced yoo-ang-GHEL-ee-on] does not mean gospel in the sense of evangelism in every passage where it is found. It is technical and it does mean good news, and generally the good news is dealing with the gospel; but sometimes it has another meaning which is compatible with the phrase “good news.”

The Doctrine of the Gospel

1. Definition. To define the gospel you must look at the Greek word - euangelion (εὐαγγέλιον) [pronounced yoo-ang-GHEL-ee-on]. It is compounded: eû (εὐ) [pronounced yoo] means good; aggelos (ἄγγελος) [pronounced AHN-geh-loss] means message or news. The gospel, then, by definition is some kind of good news: the communication of doctrines pertaining to salvation. Gospel or good news pertains to the message and communication of doctrines pertaining to the work of Christ on the cross.
2. The boundaries of the gospel - 1Corinthians 15:1-4. The first boundary is the fact that Christ died for our sins, and "according to the scriptures" refers to the Old Testament. It is taught in the Old Testament as well as in the New. "He was buried" is to indicate that after He died for our sins He died physically. So we have spiritual death; physical death. "That he was raised in the third day, according to the scripture." So the gospel ends with resurrection. There are the boundaries. If you go away from the cross you are out of bounds; if you go away from the physical death you are out of bounds; if you deny the resurrection you are out of bounds. The playing field with boundaries is from death to resurrection.

- a. Note that the gospel the fact of sin or the penalty of sin. These are true doctrines but they are out of the boundary. In other words, when you give the gospel the doctrine of hamartiology is true but it is not the gospel. The good news is that Christ did something about it on the cross.
 - b. Preaching the gospel is the explanation of salvation in terms of redemption, reconciliation, and propitiation. The boundaries of the gospel run from the death of Christ for our sins to the resurrection of Christ. Those are boundaries.
3. The enemy of the gospel - 2Corinthians 4:3,4. 2Corinthians 4:3–4 And even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled to those who are perishing. In their case the god of this world has blinded the minds of the unbelievers, to keep them from seeing the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God. Satan is the enemy of the gospel.
 4. Usage of the word "gospel." Gospel is often used with other words. It is used with adjectives, participles, with all kinds of words. Therefore there are words with most contexts which describe certain emphases of the gospel. For example:
 - a. We have "the gospel of Christ" in Romans 1:16,17. This is emphasis on the person of the gospel.
 - b. We have the "gospel from the glory" in 1Timothy 1:11. This gives us the source of the gospel which is the essence of God.
 - c. We have "my gospel" or "our gospel" as in 2Timothy 2:8; 2Corinthians 4:3,4. This emphasizes the fact that the gospel is the same but it belongs to us as believers. We possess it, therefore we propagate it.
 - d. We have in Ephesians 6:15 "the gospel of peace." This is not a different gospel but the emphasis in this passage is on doctrine and the doctrine is reconciliation. Peace is the removal of the barrier between man and God.
 - e. We have "the gospel of the Kingdom," the same gospel exactly, found in Matthew 24:14. It emphasizes the fact that the unconditional covenants to Israel are only fulfilled to those Jews who believe in Christ or appropriate the gospel. That is why it is called the gospel of the kingdom.
 - f. In Revelation 14:6 we have "everlasting gospel," which is the same gospel but the emphasis is on the preparation for eternity.
 - g. All of these have the word "gospel" but they have defining words, emphasizing words. The content of the gospel never changes but the emphasis of the gospel changes with the defining words in context.
 5. The attitude toward the gospel is found in Romans 1:16.
 6. The emphasis of the gospel - 1Corinthians 1:17. Salvation is not by baptism even as salvation is not by keeping the law. "Not in cleverness of speech." When you get clever about the gospel you void the power of the cross.
 7. The place for the gospel - Romans 15:20. Proselytising is not preaching the gospel.

8. The gospel without charge - 2Corinthians 11:7,8. This is a great weakness in mass evangelism. The passing of the plate should not occur when the function of the meeting is giving out the gospel.
9. There is a false gospel - Galatians 1:8.
10. The gospel belongs to the Old Testament - Galatians 3:8, "preached to Abraham, saying ..."
11. The gospel is revealed by the Holy Spirit - 1Peter 1:12.

Bob seems to take this doctrine as a jumping off point to make a few points.

In retrospect, it appears that the Doctrine of the Gospel in NB2 might be closer.

Most of these other organizations which present the gospel, they often present it inaccurately; they add something to it. Sin is not an issue in the gospel. The fact that we are sinners is bad news, not good.

Too often the gospel is given most every day in some churches. You cannot grow from that. Many of you learned a canned system for witnessing. Being a sinner is a true fact, but it is not a part of the gospel. We are born spiritually dead; true, but not a part of the gospel.

The justice of God must be satisfied before we can be saved.

So often, the person witnessing is a worse sinner than the person he is giving the gospel to; and this can confuse the believer giving the gospel. So sin cannot be the issue.

1Corinthians 15:1–4 Now I would remind you, brothers, of the gospel I preached to you, which you received, in which you stand, and by which you are being saved, if you hold fast to the word I preached to you—unless you believed in vain. For I delivered to you as of first importance what I also received: that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the Scriptures, that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures,...

Just as football has boundaries, the gospel also has boundaries. In order to give the gospel, you need to know what it is. The good news is that we can make instantaneous adjustment to the justice of God. The justice of God is free to vindicate us, which is proven by the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Preaching sin is not proclaiming the gospel.

Baptism appears to be a temporary ritual. In the epistles, it is spoken of in a negative way.

About halfway through, the Doctrine of the Gospel synched up with Bob's teaching.

The Closing Points on Romans 1:1

1. Before Paul could be appointed as an Apostles, he needed to personally adjust to the justice of God.
2. The justice of God is free to save anyone who believes in Christ.
3. Because Christ was judged for our sins on the cross, the justice of God is free to save us.
4. One of the 36 things that we receive at the point of salvation is a spiritual gift. Paul received the gift of Apostleship.
5. Paul had other gifts necessary to establish his apostleship.
6. Paul had to adjust to the justice of God before receiving his gift.
7. No man had anything to do with the appointment of Paul as an Apostle. In that early meaning, the 11 remaining Apostles did not consider voting Paul in.
8. The opinions of other believers had nothing to do with your spiritual gift.
9. Spiritual gifts are the sovereign gift of God the Holy Spirit at the moment of salvation.
10. Man's approbation has nothing to do with your spiritual gift. What God thinks is what is important.

A congregation can recognize, accept or reject the authority of the pastor-teacher; but they cannot remove that authority. A pastor establishes his authority by teaching the Word. There are Berachah congregations all over the United States and in other nations.

Romans 1:2 ...which He promised beforehand through His prophets in the Holy Scriptures,...

Verse 2 – introducing the gospel in the Old Testament. The gospel was taught in the Old Testament as it is in the New, obviously with some differences because the cross had not occurred historically during the time of the writing of the Old Testament.

“Which” – nominative neuter relative pronoun hos. The antecedent is the gospel.

“he hath promised afore” – aorist middle indicative of proepangéllomai (προεπαγγέλλομαι) [pronounced pro-ep-ang-GHEHL-lom-ahee] [pro = before; epaggellō (ἐπαγγέλλω) [pronounced ehp-ang-EHL-low] = undertake or promise]. It means to previously promise or to announce ahead of time. The aorist tense is a constative aorist, it takes the writing of the Old Testament canon and gathers it up into a single entirety, from when Moses wrote Genesis all the way to the last book, 2Chronicles. [Malachi is in the middle section in the Jewish canon]. The word “which” refers to the gospel as found in every book of the Old Testament. So it represents the Old Testament canon, says the aorist tense. The middle voice emphasizes the agent while the active voice emphasizes the action. The middle voice is the subject or agent acting with a view toward participating in the results—a direct middle which refers the results of the action directly to the agent with reflexive force. It says that every man who wrote an Old Testament book was saved and knew the gospel very well. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of historical reality—“which [gospel] he had previously promised.”

“by his prophets” – dia plus the genitive of prophêtês (προφήτης) [pronounced prof-AY-tace]. It should be “through the [agency of His] prophets.”

“in the holy scriptures” – en plus the locative of graphê (γραφή) [pronounced graf-AY] and hagios (ἅγιος) [pronounced HA-gee-oss], “in the holy scriptures [or, writings].”

3 kinds of prophets. Moses had the gift and office of prophet (I never really understood the difference here). The office of prophet only. Call neviim. Joshua, Samuel, Isaiah, Malachi. They were official communicators of the Word. They were officially recognized. There are former prophets and latter prophets. The third second is the gift of prophecy. They were not preachers/teachers. Nevertheless, God revealed truth through them. David and Solomon. They were not preachers, but they had the gift of prophecy. Psalms, Proverbs and Job fall into this section. Then the five scrolls. 3 more: Daniel, Ezra & Nehemiah; then Chronicles.

Romans 1:2 Which [gospel] He Himself had previously promised through His prophets in the holy writings.

1977 Romans

Lesson #4

4 01/14/1977 Romans 1 Doctrine of salvation in the Old Testament; Gospel in the Old Testament believer and by Jesus Christ

Bob was away at the North Dallas Bible Church, with Herman Maddox as the pastor. Some people apparently left the church, but this was the largest conference to date.

Where Bob was staying, the hotel was buzzed by some unknown plane by a Berachah person.

Worst weather in Dallas, 7°. Largest crowd in Dallas ever. Bob slipped on the ice and made a one-point landing on one hand. He has to raise his hand above his heart now and again; but he is not turning into a holy roller. Don't wave back.

Bob refers to some as stealers of doctrine, without giving documentation or credit.

Given the date below, this doctrine ought to be on point.

When L. S. Chafer would spend a class on teaching salvation in the Old Testament. Half of this class was often devoted in half to the false views. Bob did this asa paper for class and Chafer told him to hold onto it to publish it.

The Doctrine of Salvation in the Old Testament

1/14/77; 4/13/79

A. Definition and Description.

1. Salvation is instant adjustment to the justice of God through faith in Christ. If God's justice is not satisfied, then God cannot bless us with salvation. Jesus Christ bore our sins and the justice of God judged those sins and was satisfied, This is instant adjustment to the justice of God. 1Pet 2:24; 2Cor 5:21. When we believe in Christ in a moment of time, the justice of God is free to save us.
2. The Gospel is the information provided whereby we make that instant adjustment to the justice of God.
3. In the Old Testament when you believed, you received the perfect righteousness of God, eternal life, and God the Holy Spirit regenerated you. In the Church Age you receive these things and much more.
4. While Jesus Christ had not yet died on the cross in Old Testament times, His efficacious sacrifice was certain as a part of the divine decrees. This freed the justice of God to save anyone who believed in Old Testament times. On the basis of the decrees anyone in Old Testament times could be saved by believing in Christ by any of the various ways Christ was revealed.

B. The First Statement of the Gospel, Gen 3:15.

1. At the time of man's fall, the promise of salvation was first given. Man rejected God's order not to eat of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. The knowledge of good and evil was not necessary for relationship with God. Morality was not an issue, but rather rejection of God's command.
2. Morality was not an issue in the fall of man. They were not moral before sinning and immoral after.
3. This resulted in instant adjustment to spiritual death. The sin was negative volition, which allowed Satan to become the ruler of the world, and put man under spiritual death. Personal sin caused the existence of the old sin nature, which cancelled out the human spirit, causing man to become dichotomous. We are born physically alive and spiritually dead.
4. We are born sinners because of the imputation of Adam's sin and the existence of the old sin nature in the cell structure of the body. We are not sinners because we sin, but because we are born. Adam chose for the entire human race that we would be born sinners. As a result, the justice of God is unable to enter into a relationship with us. Only by sins being paid for can God's justice be satisfied.
5. We start with the old sin nature and go to personal sin, in contrast to Adam. The solution to Adam's problem was God becoming the God-man.
6. The woman sinned in ignorance, while Adam knew exactly what he was doing, but both are guilty because both used their volition to sin. Both the man and the woman were guilty. The sin nature is passed down through the man.
7. The virgin birth was essential so that Christ could be born as a man without the genetically formed old sin nature, and therefore without the imputation of Adam's original sin. Christ lived a sinless life in the prototype divine dynasphere under the indwelling and filling of the Holy Spirit. Thus being without sin, He was qualified to go to the cross and be judged for our sins.

8. The justice of God found a way to save sinful man, Gen 3:15. Christ is "the seed of the woman." The "crushing of Satan's head" is His victory at the Second Advent. The "crushing of Christ's heel" is His suffering on the cross prior to being judged for our sins. Satan now rules the world; the crown of rulership is on his head. But his head will be crushed.
9. In Gen 3:20-21, man responded to the Gospel.
10. Adam identified her as Ishah; but she became Eve at the point of her salvation.

C. The Pattern of Salvation in the Old Testament, Gen 15:6.

1. The pattern is exactly the same as New Testament salvation.
2. Abraham believed in Christ and God the Father imputed perfect righteousness to him. When we adjust to the justice of God, we receive God's perfect righteousness. You cannot improve God's perfect righteousness, compromise it, or destroy it. All believers have it.
3. Rom 4:1-5 and Gal 3:6 teach the same concept as Gen 15:6.
 - a. Romans 4:1–5 What then shall we say was gained by Abraham, our forefather according to the flesh? For if Abraham was justified by works, he has something to boast about, but not before God. For what does the Scripture say? "Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him as righteousness." Now to the one who works, his wages are not counted as a gift but as his due. And to the one who does not work but believes in him who justifies the ungodly, his faith is counted as righteousness,...
4. The justice of God is not free to save man based on any works or ritual. Arrogant legalists always boast about how great they are. The more you work for salvation, the farther away you get.
5. The pattern for salvation adjustment to the justice of God has always been the same: faith in Jesus Christ which frees the justice of God to give instant and eternal salvation.
6. In the Old Testament, the judgment of Jesus Christ on the cross was just as real as it is to us retrospectively.
7. No matter how Christ was revealed in the Old Testament, the non-meritorious expression of faith in Christ resulted in eternal salvation.

D. How was the Gospel presented in the Old Testament?

1. It was presented directly in theology by direct doctrinal teaching, Isa 53:1, 4-6, 10-12.
 - a. Verse 4 states directly that Christ carried the guilt of our sin. The justice of God judged our sins on the cross. Christ carried our sins. Christ was judged in His spiritual death, not His physical death. He was the One pierced for our transgressions.
 - b. Isaiah 53:10 Yet it was the will of the LORD to crush Him; He has put Him to grief; when His soul makes an offering for guilt, He shall see

His offspring; He shall prolong His days; the will of the LORD shall prosper in His hand.

- c. Verse 11 states that justice is satisfied by the judgment of sin in Christ.
 2. It was presented in the Levitical offerings.
 3. It was presented in the Temple worship.
- E. The Levitical offerings reveal the Gospel.
 1. This is witnessing by ritual. The ritual is found in three offerings.
 - a. In Lev 1, the burnt offering was propitiation with emphasis on the work of Christ, indicating that Christ had to bear our sins in order for the justice of God to be free to give us salvation.
 - b. In Lev 2, the food offering emphasizes the person of Christ propitiating the Father's justice.
 - c. In Lev 3, the peace offering represented the work of Christ on the cross which removes the barrier between God and man, thus making it possible for the justice of God to give man eternal life.
 2. The remaining offerings in Lev 4-5, the sin offering and the trespass offering, were for sins of cognizance and sins of ignorance. If you feel sorry for sins or "try to make it up to God" through penitence, then the justice of God isn't free to forgive you. You do not rebound unknown sins when you learn at a later date that what you did was a sin. That is blasphemy, because the justice of God is fair and forgives unknown sins when you acknowledge your known sins.
- F. The Tabernacle reveals the Gospel, Rom 3:24-26.
 1. Romans 3:24 "Receiving justification gratuitously by His grace through the redemption of the one who is in Christ Jesus, Whom God has predetermined the mercy seat [the place of propitiation], through faith by means of His blood, for a demonstration of His justice, because of the passing over of the previously committed sins by the clemency of God."
 2. Christ is the mercy seat. Sin is inside the mercy seat. The righteousness and justice of God see the blood on the mercy seat, which represents the work of Christ on the cross, and are satisfied.
 3. Judgment was delayed on all sins until the cross. This was true for all sins past, present and future.
 4. Romans 3:26 "...for the showing forth of His righteousness in the present time, for His being righteous, and declaring him righteous who [is] of the faith of Jesus."
 5. Verse 26 teaches that God must be just and the justifier, so that God is not compromised when He saves and blesses man. God went to a lot of trouble to save us. You will develop a lot of respect for God from the book of Romans. Love means nothing without respect; and category #1 love does not exist without respect.

- G. Positive volition existed in Old Testament times.
1. Ex 33:7, "Everyone who sought the Lord."
 2. Isa 55:6, "Seek the Lord while He may be found. Call upon Him while He is near."
 3. Where positive volition exists, there must be salvation available. God is fair and just, therefore He provides the information necessary to be saved wherever positive volition exists.
- H. Job gave testimony to the salvation principle of the Old Testament, Job 19:23-27. Who grants now, that my words may be written? Who grants that they may be inscribed in a scroll? With a pen of iron and lead—They may be hewn in a rock forever. That—I have known my Redeemer, || The Living and the Last, || For He raises the dust. And after my skin has surrounded this [body], || Then from my flesh I see God—Whom I see on my side, || And my eyes have beheld, and not a stranger, || My reins have been consumed in my bosom.
1. Job what he had to say was written down permanently. He wanted to chisel into the rock what He said about the Lord. His words were put into the canon of Scripture, where they remained forever.
 2. Job gave testimony to OT salvation.
- I. Gentiles responded to the Gospel in Old Testament times.
1. The Assyrians responded to the Gospel, Mt 12:41; Lk 11:32
 2. Jonah's revival, Jonah 3.
 3. Nebuchadnezzar was a believer, Dan 4:30-37
- c 1989, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

1977 Romans

Lesson #5

5 01/16/1977 Romans 1:3 Doctrines of the deity of Jesus Christ and the virgin birth; importance of submission to authority

The justice of God is of primary interest. The cross is the key.

It is God's objective to bless us in time.

Romans 1:3 ...concerning His Son, having come of the seed of David according to flesh,...

Verse 3 – “Concerning his Son.” This is a prepositional phrase, the preposition peri plus the object huios (υἱός, οὗ, ó) [pronounced hwee-OSS]. Peri takes the genitive case in the object, and the genitive of relationship also of an intensive pronoun, autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS], is included. Peri with the genitive means “concerning.” The word huios (υἱός, οὗ, ó) [pronounced hwee-OSS] is used here as a noun to designate the deity of the Lord Jesus Christ. The intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS] is used for a personal pronoun and emphasizes the identity of Christ before the virgin birth/incarnation. It indicates Jesus Christ as God. So the phrase “Concerning his Son” in the Greek refers only to the deity of the Lord Jesus Christ. Not found in the text is “Jesus Christ our Lord.”

Doctrine of the Deity of Jesus Christ

3/28/76, 1/16/77

A. Definition.

1. Jesus Christ is eternal God. As a member of the Trinity, He always existed. There never was a time when He did not exist.
2. He is coequal and coeternal with the Father and the Spirit, Colossians 1:15–16 [Jesus Christ] Who is the (exact) image of the invisible God, firstborn of all creation, because all things were created in Him, those in the heavens, and those on the earth, those visible, and those invisible, whether thrones, whether lordships, whether principalities, whether authorities; all things have been created through Him and for Him,... In eternity past, Jesus Christ had the same essence as the Father and Spirit.
3. In time He still had the same functions of deity, but He also became true humanity. Therefore, He is unique.

B. The Syllogism of Deity.

1. A syllogism is a logical formula consisting of two premises and a conclusion, a major and minor premise plus a conclusion, derived from deductive reasoning.
2. Syllogisms go back to 5th century Athens.
3. Following this formula: the Trinity is eternal. Christ is a member of the Trinity. Therefore, Christ is eternal.

C. Scriptural Documentation.

1. Micah 5:2 says Jesus Christ is eternal God during the incarnation. “And you, Beth-Lehem Ephratah, || Little to be among the chiefs of Judah! From you He comes forth to Me—to be ruler in Israel, || And His comings forth [are] of old, || From the days of antiquity.”
2. Jn 1:1-3, "In a beginning which was not a beginning there existed the Word [Jesus Christ]."
3. John 8:58, "Before Abraham was born, I had always existed."
4. Rom 9:5, "Jesus Christ is over all" (because He is God).
5. Titus 2:13 "the great God and our Savior."
6. In Heb 1:8-10, the Father says, "Your throne, O God [Jesus Christ]." He is called both Son and O God.
7. 1John 5:20, "this One is the true God and eternal life."

D. The preincarnate work of Jesus Christ indicates He was God. He is the creator of the universe, John 1:3; Col 1:16; Heb 1:10. He had to be God to preexist all other creatures. Jesus Christ is the Creator of all things and all beings.

E. The doctrine of divine decrees proves the deity of Christ. Christ is so identified with the divine decrees so as to be God, Psalm 2:7-9, 22:1-6; 40; 110.

F. The Hebrew word JHWH is one of the titles for Jesus Christ. The Jews never pronounced the word. Instead they said Adonai, which means deity. Elohim (plural) refers to the Trinity. JHWH is used for Jesus Christ in Isa 9:6-7, 40:3; Jer 23:5-6; Zech 12:10.

G. The essence of God is ascribed to Jesus Christ.

1. Savior, Psalm 2:6; Mt 28:18; Acts 2:36; 2Peter 1:11; Rev 19:16.
2. Perfect righteousness and justice = holiness, Lk 1:35; Jn 6:69; Heb 7:26.
3. Love, Jn 13:1, 34; 1 Jn 3:16.
4. Eternal life, Isa 9:6; Micah 5:2; Jn 1:1, 8:58; Col 1:16-17; Eph 1:4; Rev 1:11.
5. Omniscience, Mt 9:4; Jn 2:25; 1 Cor 4:5; Col 2:3; Rev 2:23
6. Omnipresence, Mt 28:20; Eph 1:23; Col 1:27.
7. Veracity, Jn 14:6; Rev 3:7
8. Omnipotence, Rev 1:8.
9. Jesus Christ did not suppress His deity in the incarnation; this is the false doctrine of kenosis. Instead, He gave up the independent use of His divine attributes.

H. Appearances of Christ in History.

1. Theophanies (before the First Advent).
 - a. As a man, Gen 18, 32:24-32.
 - b. As a phenomena of nature, Ex 40:38, 33:9-23, 3:2ff, 25:22; Acts 7:30.
 - c. As the angel of JHWH, Gen 16:7-13, 22:11-18, 31:11ff.
 - (1) Christ is said to be the angel of JHWH in Gen 24:7, 40; Ex 23:20, 32:34; 1 Chron 21:15-18; Isa 63:9; Zech 1:12-13.
 - (2) Because Christ is always the visible member of the Trinity, He never appears as the angel of JHWH after the First Advent, John 6:46, 1:18; 1 Tim 6:16.
2. Christophanies were post-resurrection appearances.
3. The First and Second Advents. Phil 2:6 "who though He existed in the essence of God, He did not think equality with God a gain to be seized." Jesus Christ, even though He is equal to God the Father, submitted to the authority of God the Father; and this is the basis of our salvation. Apart from this, we have no salvation.

c 1989, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

There are no organizations which are legitimized in the New Testament. Some of them claim that local churches go apostate. God still uses the local church and He still raises up men with the gift of pastor-teacher.

Even Bob has problems with some pastor-teachers. Many of them seem to be quite wimpy. It is neither the personality or the general demeanor that counts. It is all about their authority.

Logically, if Jesus can submit to the authority of God the Father, we can submit to the authority of the pastor-teacher.

There is no spiritual maturity to be found outside of the local church. That is what God has provided. There is so much emphasis upon freedom that authority is set aside.

All of these organizations say that the churches have gone apostate, and so they believe that they must raise up an organization to take up the slack. But these organization is are not described in the Scriptures. When God ordains something, that does not mean that sometimes, this organizations sometimes fail. The local church fails in many circumstances.

There is no evangelism without freedom; and no spiritual growth without evangelism and freedom. However, freedom is abused. That does not mean that freedom is wrong.

Only doctrine resident in the soul is the basis for growth. Prayer does not cause you to grow.

The Constitution would have been meaningless apart from the military providing freedom for it.

Next we find that God had to become something else to fulfil the Father's plan. The second person of the Trinity "was made" – aorist active participle of the verb ginomai (γίνομαι) [pronounced GIN-oh-my] which means to become, also to come to be. In its connotation of coming to be it also means to be born, and that is the way it should be translated here—"who was born." The aorist tense is a constative aorist which contemplates the action of the virgin birth in its entirety—from conception to the moment when God gave the spark of life. The active voice: Christ produces the action of the verb. The participle is circumstantial for the virgin birth and is translated like a relative clause.

Bob's presentation only synchs up with the following doctrine in a few places. This is covered against in lesson #147. Any additional notes from that lesson will be placed here with this doctrine.

Doctrine of the Virgin Birth

- A. The Necessity of our Lord's Virgin Birth.
1. Adam's original sin is the origin of the old sin nature in the human race, Romans 5:12. Therefore, there is an affinity between Adam's original sin and the old sin nature. It is Adam's original sin that is the antecedence for the old nature, not the woman's original sin, since Adam's sin was deliberate; the woman was deceived. Therefore, the old sin nature is transmitted through the twenty-three male chromosomes which fertilize the female ovum in copulation.
 2. The man and the woman were equally guilty; but the penalties assigned were appropriate to the sins they committed.

3. The woman listened to the voice of evil in the garden; and in marriage, she will listen to the voice of her husband; and in church, she will listen to the authority of her pastor-teacher (in order to grow).
4. This imputation of Adam's original sin to the old sin nature is a facsimile of Adam at the point of his fall in the Garden. In this real imputation at birth, there are two factors.
 - a. Adam's original sin. Adam intentionally sinned, knowing that this was forbidden.
 - b. The old sin nature is passed down through the man.
5. All the cells in your body are contaminated by the old sin nature. (Cancer is a good illustration for the old sin nature). When God the Father imputes Adam's original sin to the old sin nature, spiritual death results.
6. Through meiosis and polar body, twenty-three chromosomes are thrown off the female ovum, leaving twenty-three uncontaminated chromosomes in the female ovum prior to fertilization. All the other cells in the female body are contaminated by the old sin nature; the ovum prior to fertilization is the only exception.
7. Although both the man and the woman in the Garden were equally guilty, the woman's sin of ignorance was the reason she became the bearer of the embryo, 1 Tim 2:13-15. While both man and woman are carriers of the old sin nature, only the man can transmit the old sin nature through the fertilization of the female ovum.
8. Since it is only the male's twenty-three chromosomes that carry the old sin nature and not the female's, this means that if a woman could have a virgin pregnancy, i.e., if her ovum could be fertilized apart from male copulation, the progeny could be born into the world without an old sin nature. And being born without an old sin nature, Adam's original sin could not be imputed to that person, there being no affinity required for this real imputation.
9. This was the case in the birth of the humanity of Christ, originating from Mary's virgin pregnancy and virgin birth. Being born without an old sin nature meant there was no imputation of Adam's original sin to our Lord.
10. This was how our Lord was born as the last Adam. The first Adam was created perfect; the last Adam, Jesus Christ, was born perfect. So Jesus Christ was the facsimile of Adam before the fall.
11. Mary, with an old sin nature, was still a virgin when she became pregnant for the first time with our Lord. In Mt 13:55 and Mk 6:3, Mary's other children are mentioned, so we know she eventually copulated with Joseph. She had at least two daughters and four sons, at least six children by Joseph. So there is no such thing as the perpetual virginity of Mary.
12. Mary's virgin pregnancy was caused by God the Holy Spirit fertilizing the female ovum. He provided twenty-three perfect chromosomes to fertilize her twenty-three perfect chromosomes which were uncontaminated by the old sin nature. In this way, Mary had a virgin pregnancy, PARTHENOGENESIS, the origin of our Lord's humanity into the world. So the virgin pregnancy resulted in the virgin birth, thus excluding the old sin nature from the humanity of Christ.

13. Remember that while Mary was a virgin, she was not perfect or impeccable. Only her virgin-born Son was absolutely perfect at birth.
14. Mary received at birth the imputation of human life to her soul and the imputation of Adam's original sin to her old sin nature; so she was not perfect. But in the case of her Son, Jesus, God the Father imputed human life to his human soul, but divine justice could not impute Adam's original sin since there was no target, no home, no antecedence, no affinity, there being no genetically-formed old sin nature in Him.
15. No old sin nature means no imputation of Adam's original sin. For a real imputation cannot occur without a target, affinity, or antecedence.
16. So it is the virgin birth that is the basis for redemption, because it provided the world with a perfect human being, the only One qualified to be judged for the sins of the world.

B. The Contrast Between Our Birth and Our Lord's Birth.

1. Human life is, in each case, created by God and imputed to each person at birth. There is no life in the womb. There is only life when God imputes it to the human soul.
2. Simultaneously, Adam's original sin is imputed to the old sin nature, genetically-formed by the twenty-three male chromosomes. Our personal sins are never imputed to us. They were all collected into one PROM chip for a one-time only printout and judgment to Christ on the cross.
3. At the birth of our Lord Jesus Christ, God the Father created human life and imputed it to His human soul. But because our Lord was born without an old sin nature, there could be no imputation of Adam's original sin. So our Lord was born physically alive and spiritually alive. 4. Instead of a sin nature, our Lord was born with a human spirit, born as Adam was created. Instead of receiving the imputation of Adam's original sin, He received the imputation of the prototype divine dynasphere, imputed to His human spirit. In His humanity, Jesus was born filled with the Spirit. He was born trichotomous with a body, soul and spirit.

C. The Impeccability of our Lord's Humanity.

1. The doctrines that teach how our Lord was sustained on earth in His humanity all relate to the fact that He was born into the prototype divine dynasphere, the place of the filling of the Spirit.
2. His humanity advanced very rapidly. Jesus "grew in wisdom [Bible doctrine], stature, and in favor with God and man," Lk 2:52. He quickly reached gate #5 and spiritual self-esteem from personal love for God; then gate #6 with spiritual autonomy and impersonal love for all mankind, and eventually reached gate #8, spiritual maturity. This was "evident" by the unique temptations of His evidence testing found in Mt 4.
3. So after being born perfect, our Jesus Christ continued to live perfectly for thirty three years in the prototype divine dynasphere. Not once did He ever sin. He was tempted far beyond anything we will ever understand, but totally apart from sin. He resisted temptations that we will never even experience. He reached the cross with impeccability.

D. The Hypostatic Union of the God-Man.

1. This doctrine cannot be taught without an understanding of the doctrine of the Hypostatic Union.
2. Jesus Christ is God, and as God, He is coequal and coeternal with God the Father and God the Holy Spirit. All three members of the Trinity have identical essence. When speaking of the attributes of God, God is said to be one. But there are actually three persons in the Godhead, all having identical attributes. Each one has coequal, coeternal, and coinfinite sovereignty, holiness, justice, righteousness, love, eternal life, omniscience, omnipresence, omnipotence, immutability and veracity. So God is One in essence but three in persons.
3. But Jesus Christ became different from the Father and the Holy Spirit at the point of the virgin birth, because He now became true humanity; hence, the God-man. This is the doctrine of the Hypostatic Union.
4. In the person of the incarnate Christ are two natures, inseparably united, without mixture or loss of separate identify, without loss or transfer of properties or attributes, the union both personal and eternal.
5. In other words, since the incarnation, our Lord Jesus Christ is both true humanity and undiminished deity in one person forever. So Jesus Christ is different from the Father and the Spirit in that He is true humanity. He is different from true humanity in that He is God.
6. But note that whoever is the mediator between God and man must be equal with both parties. Jesus Christ is both God and true humanity. Therefore, as God He is equal with party of the first part, God the Father. As true humanity, He is equal and superior to all members of the human race. So as the God-man, He becomes the Mediator between God and man.
7. The preincarnate person of Christ was deity. But once His First Advent occurred at the point of the virgin birth, Jesus Christ became the unique person forever, the God-man.

E. The Significance of the Virgin Birth to the Angelic Conflict.

1. While Jesus Christ was the Angel of Jehovah in the Old Testament, He never really became an angel; He simply appeared as an angel. (See the Doctrine of Theophanies.)
2. Note that Jesus Christ bypassed the angelic creation by His human birth. He became true humanity. But Jesus Christ was never a true angel.
3. Once the Lord came in the flesh in the incarnation, there were no more manifestations of the Angel of Jehovah.
4. In bypassing the angelic creation, God did a remarkable thing. He prepared the way in eternity for every believer in Jesus Christ to be superior to angels in his resurrection body. Angels are superior to us now during history, but we will be superior to them for all eternity. This is the subject of Hebrews 1 and 2.

F. The Necessity for Christ Becoming a Member of the Human Race.

1. To be our Savior. As God, Jesus Christ could have nothing to do with sin. To provide redemption, the sins of the world had to be imputed to Christ on the cross. Then from His justice, God the Father judged every one of those sins. That's the basis for our so-great salvation. Without becoming true humanity, Jesus could not have been judged for sin.
2. To be our Mediator, 1 Tim 2:5-6; Heb 9:14-15.
3. To be our High Priest.
 - a. Now seated at the right hand of the Father in His humanity, Jesus Christ as our great High Priest now makes intercession for us.
 - b. He is not a Levitical priest as the Jews had in the Old Testament, but with His third royal patent He became a royal priest.
 - c. As His royal family in the Church Age and sharing all He has by positional sanctification, each Church Age believer is a royal priest.
 - d. A priest is defined as a member of the human race representing himself or humanity in general before God. We, the royal family in the Church Age, are a "kingdom of priests," 1Peter 2:9.
4. To become the Son of David, 2 Sam 7:8-16; Psalm 89:20-37.
 - a. Over 3000 years ago, God promised David that he would have a son who would reign forever.
 - b. This promise was made in the form of an unconditional covenant; being unconditional it must be fulfilled.
 - c. So at the First Advent of the virgin birth, our Lord receives His second royal title, "Son of David." In order to become the Son of David, Jesus Christ had to become true humanity.
 - d. In His Second Advent our Lord will fulfill that promise to David. The humanity of Christ, riding a white horse, will come back and reign on earth, not only for the 1000 years of the Millennium, but for all eternity in the new earth.
 - e. So the promise was offered in the First Advent; it is fulfilled in the Second Advent.
 - f. When the apostles dealt with the Jews after the Day of Pentecost in the early part of Acts, they always brought up the question: how can Jesus Christ be the Son of David and at the same time God? Of course, the answer is found in the Hypostatic Union, which in turn leads to the concept of redemption.

G. Scripture.

1. The first prophecy of the virgin birth: Gen 3:15-16. Gen 3:15–16 “...and I put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her Seed; He bruises your head, and you bruise His heel.” To the woman He said, “Multiplying I multiply your sorrow and your conception; you will bear children in sorrow, and your desire [is] toward your Man [[or husband]], and He [[or he]] will rule over you.”

2. The Jewish prophecy of the virgin birth: Isa 7:14 (Therefore the Lord Himself gives a sign to you, || Behold, the virgin is conceiving, || And is bringing forth a Son, || And has called His Name Immanuel,...), 9:6.
3. The historical fulfillment of the virgin birth: Mt 1:19-25.
4. The result of the virgin birth: Jn 1:14; Rom 1:3; 1Timothy 3:16; Heb 2:14; Phil 2:5-11. There is no salvation apart from the virgin birth.
5. Catholics consider her sinless and that is not the key.

Eph 283 5/11/86; Phil 3/29/76; 1/16/77; 7/17/77
c 1989, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

Bob covered some of the first and last points of this doctrine.

“of the seed of David” – the word for “seed” is sperma (σπέρμα) [pronounced SPEHR-mah]. If He is going to become humanity He must be related to someone. David is royalty. Jesus Christ in His humanity was born into a royal family, the Jewish royal family. As eternal God Jesus Christ is royalty—equal with the Father and with the Holy Spirit who are His royal family.

There was never a humiliation like Jesus becoming a man, under the authority of God and many others. Then, an even greater humiliation was the pouring out of our sins upon Him.

As humanity He is the Son of David, and therefore all of the family of David which preceded Him and all the family of David that followed Him are His royal family. The dynasty of David will continue forever. As the resurrected Christ seated at the right hand of the Father He will be called King of kings and Lord of lords, and this is the unique royalty, the royalty which came as the result of the victory in the angelic conflict. But He is minus a royal family, He has no royal family in His angelic victory. That royal family must be born, therefore the Age of Israel came to a halt and the Church Age began. Now the Church is the body of Christ or the royal family. Sperma (σπέρμα) [pronounced SPEHR-mah] Doud is a genitive of relationship.

Jesus Christ eternal God did not think that it was horrible to do, to submit Himself to the authority of God the Father, His equal. So much of what He did was humiliating, yet He did this within God’s plan for our salvation.

This brings us to the Davidic covenant in which God promised David that he would have a son who would reign forever. That son came from the virgin birth. Mary was descended from David and it is therefore, “Jesus Christ from the seed of David.”

“according to the flesh” – kata plus the accusative singular of sarx (σάρξ) [pronounced sarx], which means humanity. As humanity it includes the fact that Jesus Christ not only had a body but that body was the residence for His soul and therefore His human spirit. So Jesus Christ became the God-Man.

Romans 1:3 Concerning his Son who was born from the seed of David according to the flesh.

1977 Romans

Lesson #6

6 01/16/1977 Romans 1:4 Doctrine of divine essence re hypostatic union of Jesus Christ; sustaining ministry of the Holy Spirit to Jesus Christ

Romans 1:4 ...having been declared the Son of God in power according to the Spirit of holiness, by resurrection from the dead: Jesus Christ our Lord,...

Verse 4 – “And declared.” There is no word for “and” in the original, there is simply a definite article with the aorist passive participle of horizō (ὀρίζω) [pronounced hohr-IHD-zoh]. This is an articular participle, it is the definite article which though not translated should be. The word horizō (ὀρίζω) [pronounced hohr-IHD-zoh] means to mark out, to define, to determine, to explain. It is derived from a noun, oros (ὄρος, οὐς, τό) [pronounced OH-ross], which means “boundary.” Here it means “appointed” or “marked out” by divine decree. The constative aorist tense takes the action of the verb and gathers it up into one entirety. It takes something in eternity, the decrees that which deals with the incarnation, the virgin birth, the hypostatic union, and everything related to the first advent, and gathers it up into one entirety when it was actually decreed in eternity past. The reality of these things is in eternity past. The passive voice: Christ receives the action of the verb in the decrees of eternity past. The participle is circumstantial and is translated with the definite article as a relative clause. It should be translated, “Who was marked [specified] out by the decrees.”

We have had the doctrine of decrees recently.

The aorist is an abstract tense, not in time specifically.

“the Son of God” – the objective genitive of huios (υἱός, οὐ, ό) [pronounced hwee-OSS], referring to the fact that Jesus Christ accepted the authority of God the Father in eternity past when it was decreed that He would come in the flesh. Then the descriptive genitive of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—“Son of God.” This is the title for the deity of the Lord Jesus Christ in the hypostatic union. The deity of Christ apart from the hypostatic union has the title from the Tetragrammaton in the Hebrew—Jehovah. The noun huios (υἱός, οὐ, ό) [pronounced hwee-OSS] indicates that Christ in the first advent subordinated Himself to the authority of God the Father in providing for us the so great salvation we enjoy. The justice of God must be satisfied and cleared from any compromise. The noun theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] indicates that Christ is God, co-equal with the Father and with the Holy Spirit.

The following doctrine is perhaps 37+ pages, so it is not covered in this lesson of Romans. Only bits and pieces of this will be covered in this lesson of Romans. Bob covers this doctrine as related to the Lord's Hypostatic Union (but not the same detail as is found below). Parts of this doctrine are covered in Lesson #147 (the notes are included here). Next time, I will try another one of the doctrines related to this. This particular one seems to be very disorganized and not helpful for lesson #6 or #147.

Doctrine of Divine Essence (Part 1)

A. Definition.

1. Without essence a thing would not be what it is.
 - a. Essence is derived from the Attic Greek adjective OUSIA. The Doric Greek used a similar word ESSIA. The Latin word for essence, ESSE, came from the Doric Greek. OUSIA and ESSIA mean that which is one's own, a substance that belongs to one person, substance, being, the inner nature, the qualities or attributes of a person, that which is one's own.
 - b. Essence is defined as the basic constituent of a thing, the intrinsic nature of something. Essence is defined as that in being which underlies all outward manifestations and is both permanent and unchangeable; it is the existence or actual being. Essence implies both being and identity.
 - c. In our study, essence refers to the qualities or attributes of God, attributes which have always existed.
 - d. Essence is what remains stable in change. Therefore, without essence, a thing would not be what it actually is. Without God having essence, God would not be God.
 - e. The qualities and perfections which belong to God are classified as His attributes. The sum total of God's attributes is His essence.
 - f. The attributes or essence of God belong to three persons: God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit, who are one God in essence.
 - g. The believer is totally dependent upon divine revelation in the canon of Scripture to understand exactly what God is like, the nature and attributes of God, and what forms His divine substance or essence. The attributes of God are only understood by us as they are revealed in Scripture.
 - h. There are two concepts of God provided in the Scripture.
 - (1) Theism is the existence and character of God.
 - (2) Trinitarianism is the recognition of the teaching of the Scripture regarding the three-fold personality of God. God is one in essence but three in persons who have identical essence. (See the Doctrine of the Trinity.)
2. There is no subject more exalted to which the human mind can address itself than the contemplation and cognition of the person and character of God. It is not an inscrutable subject. All other branches and categories of theology are related to created and finite beings.

3. The essence of God is the study of His being and His attributes. At no point does the believer feel his limitations more than when confronted with the responsibility of accurately recognizing the essence of God. And yet His essence is revealed to be understood. Moses was commanded to remove his shoes because he stood on holy ground when confronted with the essence of God.
4. While God is one in essence, there are three coequal, coeternal, and coinfinite persons in the Godhead, all possessing identical essence, being, or substance.
 - a. However, this does not imply there are three gods or three modes of God. The word trinity is used to express three persons in one Godhead.
 - b. There is one divine nature or being which is tripersonal, making distinction between God the Father, Son, and Spirit. The three persons in the Godhead are joint partakers of the same nature and the same majesty of God.
 - c. Therefore, God is one in essence but three coequal, coeternal, and coinfinite persons in that one essence.
 - d. When divine essence is the subject, God is revealed and studied as one. When divine persons are the subject, God is revealed in three persons who are distinguished throughout Scripture.
 - e. In the unity of God, there is only one essence and one substance. In the persons of the Godhead, there are three: God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit. The fact that God exists in three persons is documented in Isa 48:16; Jn 10:30 cf Psalm 110:1; 2 Cor 13:14; 1Peter 1:2. God is one in essence, not in persons.

B. The Anti-Theistic Theories.

1. Polytheism is the belief in the plurality of God like the Greek and Roman Pantheon.
2. Pantheism is the philosophy that God and the universe are one. This denies the transcendency of God, or that God has any existence outside the universe. Pantheism also denies the personality of God and contends that He exists in the sum total of all life; this is the way the Hindus regard Him.
3. Evolution believes that the cosmos has been developed from crude homogenous material to its present heterogenous state by means of resident forces. There are two kinds of evolution.
 - a. Theistic evolution is believed by many scientists who are Christians. It recognizes God as the creator of the original materials, but contends that evolution is the method by which all developed from its primitive state to the present completeness.
 - b. Atheistic evolution rejects the person of God and contends that matter is eternal and self-developing.

4. Materialism is that form of atheism which denies the existence of God and contends that matter is eternal and that life is a product of matter. This is the basis for all communist beliefs. This is the philosophy of communism.
 - a. Materialism contends that within material substance is the basis for and only explanation of all things.
 - b. Materialism is one type of monism, which is any system of thought which recognizes one substance only.
5. Idealism is another system of monism which recognizes one thing only, the human mind. Idealism is a system of thought which contends that the mind is the only entity. Hence, the universe is no more than an impression or an illusion of the mind. Your body isn't really your body; you really are immaterial. Some idealists do believe in God, but they deny His creation of material things because they deny materialism.
6. Positivism is a system of thought which accepts nothing which cannot be accredited by human evidence. Hence, it disregards God and the soul.
7. Monotheism is the belief that there is only one person in the Godhead, in contrast to the existence of the Father, Son and Spirit. This is the view of Islam and all Muslims (the largest religion in the world today). This is also the belief of the Sikhs and of Judaism.
8. Deism says that God is personal, infinite, holy, and the creator of the universe. But it contends that God purposely abandoned His creation when He completed it with the intent that it would be self-sustaining and self-promoting by forces which are resident in it. Deism rejects the Scriptures or any suggestion that God is immanent and transcendent in the universe. Deism was subscribed to by such people as Thomas Paine, Hume, Gibbon, and Voltaire; this was very popular in the eighteenth century.
9. In contrast to all of these, we are classified philosophically as Biblical theists.

C. The Theistic Arguments for the Existence of God.

1. The religious argument says that God exists because men universally believe in Him and possess certain religious instincts.
 - a. The basis for all anti-theistic arguments is either one of two systems of reality-rationalism or empiricism.
 - (1) Under rationalism, reason alone is the source of knowledge and independent of experience. This is why men like Descartes and Spinoza rejected the theistic argument for the existence of God.
 - (a) Rationalism contends that reason is the superior authority in matters of opinion, belief, or conduct. All knowledge is expressed in self-evident propositions. It contends that human reason, unaided by divine revelation, is an adequate and sole guide to truth.
 - (b) The problem with rationalism is that it cannot break the barrier between human thinking and the reality and substance of God. One of the biggest problems people have philosophically is that they try to use rationalism as the absolute means for determining truth, and it won't work. Only divine revelation in the Scripture will help.

- (2) Under empiricism, all knowledge is derived from a sense or experience or experiment. It depends on the experience of or observation of something. Empiricism is the pursuit of knowledge by observation and experimentation. Empiricists include John Locke and David Hume.
- b. The religious argument for the existence of God is related to God-consciousness and found in Rom 1. However, God-consciousness must be followed by the desire to know Him. That takes us out of the realm of rationalism or empiricism, because neither one is adequate to actually resolve the problem.
 - (1) Descartes in his great genius decided to develop a philosophy starting with God, which he called the absolute. He used rational arguments to try to discover what is beyond this, then beyond that, etc., seeking an absolute premise that was related to something outside of himself. He pushed his mind to the point where it stalled out, so that he had to come back to what exists. He started with himself and concluded, "I think; therefore I exist." This was the best he could come up with under rationalism, and it became the basis for eighteenth century rationalism.
 - (2) By contrast, the Bible says "In the beginning which was not a beginning was the Word [EN ARCHE HO LOGOS]," which means there never was a time when God did not exist. Rationalism or empiricism is entirely the wrong approach to ever discover the essence of God.
 - (3) The only thing rationalism can legitimately do is bring you to a point of God-consciousness, in which you conclude there has to be a God. At that point, God is responsible to reveal Himself, which He has done in every generation.
2. The ontological argument contends that since the human mind possesses the idea of a perfect and absolute being, such a being must exist. That is as much as the human mind can do; it cannot determine any detail with regard to the substance or essence of God. But there must be such a thing as God, because the human mind keeps coming up with the idea of an absolute being as the source of everything around us. The existence of God is a necessary idea to the human mind. Beyond the sphere of intuition there is the infinite. Beyond the relative there is the absolute.
3. The moral argument is sometimes classified as the anthropological argument. It says that mankind possesses the faculty of conscience with an urge to choose right over wrong.

- a. The structure of society and government is based on human recognition of virtue and truth. This phenomenon could not exist unless there was an absolute or supreme being whose existence and influence is always for good rather than evil.
 - b. A material and ungoverned universe can know nothing of moral values and distinctions. What is beyond people is something that is absolute and that is for good.
 - c. Once again, the mind comes right up to the door of infinity and stops. The finite mind cannot use a finite system to comprehend infinity.
 4. The teleological argument says that the universe is both telescopic and microscopic. Looking at the stars through a telescope causes you to realize there is no accident in the creation of the universe. Looking through a microscope reveals tremendous arrangement, adaptation, and purpose in biological life. All this denotes a designer.
 - a. Stones which accidentally fall from a hillside never form automatically into a symmetrical wall.
 - b. All the chemical components of the human body are in the world, but they never accidentally form man.
 - c. You cannot shuffle the twenty-six letters of the alphabet into a beautiful poem; there has to be a poet.
 - d. A study of any of the sciences causes you to appreciate the fact that there is a tremendous design in the universe.
 5. The cosmological argument says that the intuitive law of cause and effect demands the existence of God. In no sense can the universe be its own cause.
 - a. Our Lord Jesus Christ is revealed to be the creator in Jn 1:3, Col 1:16, and Heb 1:10.
 - b. Gen 1:1, the Hebrew phrase BERESHITH BA ELOHIM, "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth," refers to Jesus Christ as the creator.
 - c. Furthermore, the universe has a preserver who is also the Lord Jesus Christ, Col 1:17; Heb 1:3.
 6. All these theistic arguments show that the human mind intuitively concludes there is a God out there, but it can do nothing about it. The greatest of human minds cannot discover God through thinking; it has to come through revelation. God has to reveal Himself to us. Furthermore, God has to reveal Himself in a way that is understandable to both the simplest of minds and the most complex of minds. For the believer in Jesus Christ, regardless of his I.Q., the doctrine of the essence of God is understandable because it is a part of the Word of God. As a believer, you now have the equipment and spiritual I.Q. to comprehend these things.
- D. Propositions about the Essence of God.
1. Definition of a Proposition.

a. A proposition is defined as anything stated for the purpose of discussion. In logic, a proposition is a statement that affirms or denies something so that it can be characterized as being either true or false. In mathematics, a proposition is defined as a formal statement of truth to be demonstrated, like in a theorem.

b. In this study, all these definitions apply with one addition- a proposition is a Bible doctrine, clarified through categorical analysis, brings us into an understanding of God.

2. There are six propositions about God for this study.

a. God exists. Obviously, this categorical study will have a great deal to say about God. Whether or not you think God exists is really not the issue for the moment.

(1) If you are logical and a good thinker, you would be incorrect to say, "I do not believe that God exists." You could say, "On the basis of rationalism or empiricism, God does not exist." But to say you do not believe that God exists is stupid and shows that you are not organized in your thinking because you have no criteria for your thinking. You should say, "On the basis of rationalism (or empiricism), I do not believe that God exists."

(a) Ps 14:1, "The fool has said in his heart [stream of consciousness], 'There is no God.'" This is repeated in Psalm 53:1.

(b) Ps 53:2, "God has looked down from heaven on the human race to see if there is anyone who acts wisely, who seeks after God." Seeking after God is the function of the unbeliever who is positive at God- consciousness and the function of the believer who is positive to the teaching of Bible doctrine.

(c) If you do not believe that God exists, at least express it with the right verb to show that you can think. To say you don't believe God exists is to use the wrong verb; for faith in itself, by its very definition, is not qualified to say that. But if you say that on the basis of rationalism or empiricism, God does not exist, that is at least consistent. For neither rationalism nor empiricism can come to any understanding of God. If you do not believe God exists, at least be accurate and correct in your thinking.

(2) There are three basic systems of human perception.

(a) Rationalism is perception through reason, or accepting reason as the supreme authority in matters of opinion, belief, or conduct. Philosophically, rationalism contends that reason alone is the source of knowledge, and is independent of experience. This was the view of Descartes and Spinoza, who had a lot to do with the founding of modern rationalism, although it all originated with Plato and his teacher Socrates.

- (b) Empiricism is the doctrine that all knowledge is derived from sense or experience. Hence, it relies on perception by experiment and observation. Philosophically, Locke and Hume are representative of this school of thought.
 - (c) Faith is a non-meritorious system of perception that depends on the object of faith for its merit. In salvation, the object is the Lord Jesus Christ-believe in Him and you will be saved. God or doctrine about God in the Bible is always the object of faith in Christianity.
- (3) When faith is used as a system of perception, it is inevitable that the first proposition, God exists, becomes a reality. The perception and merit of faith is always found in its object.
 - (4) To say that "God exists" does not imply but rather states with absolute confidence that God exists infinitely and eternally.
 - (5) To say that God exists eternally is not a figment of one's imagination, but the reality of a divine being in the status of eternal existence. Faith is a system of perception which makes it possible to come to an understanding of the absolute truth found in the word of God.
 - (6) If you reply, "Who is God?" or "What is God?", that is not difficult to answer, because God has revealed Himself to mankind. However, the system of perception for understanding this revelation is faith. Rationalism and empiricism cannot break into infinity.
 - (7) Therefore, if God has always existed and if He is going to reveal Himself to mankind, then He must reveal Himself in a way that makes sense.
- b. God reveals Himself.
 - (1) If God exists eternally, unsustained by anyone or anything else, then we can assume that God had something to do with our existence. We are not rational creatures by accident.
 - (2) Furthermore, if God has something to do with our being here on planet earth, it is only on God's part that He reveals Himself to us.
 - (3) If God has always existed and if God is going to reveal Himself to mankind, then He must reveal Himself in a way that makes sense, so that we can understand.
 - c. God makes sense.
 - (1) If you persist and persevere in learning the doctrines that pertain to God, you will learn and conclude that God does make sense.

(2) Furthermore, God makes organized sense because God is organized.

(3) God's organized sense means that God has a plan for your life as an individual, and God's plan is organized. This plan is divided into three parts.

(a) God has a plan for eternal salvation through personal faith in Jesus Christ.

(b) God has a plan for time. In this dispensation, He has a plan for the royal family of God, the unique protocol plan. A right thing done in a right way is right.

(c) God has a plan for the eternal state, beginning with physical death, continuing into resurrection, and extending into the eternal state.

d. God has a plan and a purpose for your life.

(1) God's plan for you begins at the moment you believe in Jesus Christ, when He does forty things for you.

(2) God is perfect, and therefore His plan for you is perfect. This fact demands that we understand something about God; therefore, we study the doctrine of the essence of God.

(3) The essence of God reveals how God can provide a perfect plan for human beings that are imperfect.

e. I am a human being.

(1) If you can say you are a person and human being with a soul, then you can conclude that God has a plan for you.

(2) God had a purpose in your creation. God had a purpose in your birth. God's plan begins with regeneration.

(3) The point is that you are alive on planet earth. If there is a God, if He has revealed Himself, if He makes sense, and if He has a perfect plan, then you owe God a hearing.

f. I owe God a hearing.

(1) Note the use of the word "hearing." Nothing is required of you except an open mind, concentration, and listening. There are no gimmicks. Simply listen to the information given about God. All you have to do is concentrate on what is taught and blot out other distracting factors around you or in your own soul.

(2) In other words, you haven't a thing in the world to give God but a hearing. You are not required to give money or to do something. You are only required to hear, which is a non-meritorious function. God has a great deal to give you.

3. Conclusion.

a. While the subject at hand is the essence of God, you should understand the purpose and objective of studying divine essence.

- b. The first purpose is to make sure you have eternal salvation, an eternal relationship with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.
 - c. The second purpose is designed for those who believe in Christ to understand the protocol plan of God under persistent post-salvation epistemological rehabilitation.
 - d. The third purpose is to understand the hereafter, the true meaning of death, life beyond the grave, and to lift the veil with regard to the eternal state so you can see how the soul functions after death.
4. Summary of the Six Propositions for Unbelievers.
- a. God exists.
 - b. Because God exists, He has revealed Himself.
 - c. Because God has revealed Himself, God makes sense.
 - d. Since God makes sense, God has a plan for your life.
 - e. I am a human being, a member of the human race.
 - f. Therefore, I owe God a hearing.
5. There are seven propositions for the believer.
- a. God exists eternally and unchanged.
 - b. God reveals Himself to mankind and specifically to the believer in Jesus Christ.
 - c. God's revelation of Himself makes sense.
 - d. God has a plan for your life as a believer.
 - e. God's plan for every member of the human race comes in three categories: salvation, living, and dying. Each category is based on His policy of grace. Grace is divided into three categories.
 - (1) Presalvation grace-common grace, the divine call, and efficacious grace.
 - (2) Salvation grace-the forty things God gives us at salvation.
 - (3) Postsalvation grace-"more" or "greater" grace.
 - f. The Christian is saved by grace, now he must live by grace after salvation.
 - g. Therefore, you owe the plan and grace of God a hearing.
- E. The Attributes of God.
- 1. The essence of God equals His being or substance plus His attributes. Essence is the being which is attributed to God, since these characteristics are eternally inherent in Him. Essence means the combined attributes.
 - 2. Since the grace of God and the work of God are manifestations of His essential attributes, it is important to understand the divine attributes, and to understand the thoughts and functions of God. You are designed as a royal priest to understand the thoughts and functions of God.
 - 3. The difficulty in the study of divine essence is that it brings the finite human mind into constant contemplation and concentration on the infinite. But the Holy Spirit makes these things clear.

4. This study therefore includes who and what God is. This study is designed to include the attributes of God which are both inherent to His eternal glory and related to mankind.
5. Theology recognizes two categories of divine attributes.
 - a. The absolute attributes of God are inherent and intransitive. They are primary and incommunicable (they cannot be related to something we understand.) We do not come into contact with these. These attributes are most important in God's relationship to God; they are not related to man. We have a soul (immaterial) and body (material); and we have a difficult time understanding God, Who is totally immaterial.
 - b. The relative attributes of God are related to mankind. They are transitive (expressing an action which is carried from the subject to an object) and anthropopathic. Relative attributes are secondary and communicable (we can define and understand them). By anthropopathic is meant that God often reveals Himself in terms of man's experience and activities. For example, anthropopathic terms used in the Bible to describe God include integrity, love, faithfulness, happiness, and grace. (See the doctrine of Anthropopathisms.)
6. This study is not exhaustive. It is not intended to make the usual theological distinctions between absolute and relative attributes. (See the doctrine of the Attributes of God for these distinctions.) The attributes of God will be described in this study in terms of divine revelation in Scripture and how they relate to you personally as a regenerate member of the royal family of God.
7. What makes this study somewhat difficult is the fact that God is composed of things immaterial. Jn 4:24, "God is a spirit; they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." Spirit and truth are both immaterial.
 - a. Therefore, we cannot understand God apart from the function of the human mind under the enabling power of the Holy Spirit in delving into what is immaterial and absolute.
 - b. Spirit does not have flesh and bones; Spirit is not material, Lk 24:39.
 - c. Jesus Christ in Hypostatic Union is the only visible manifestation of God, Jn 1:18, 6:46; 1 Tim 6:16; 1 Jn 4:12. When those who were alive during the dispensation of the Hypostatic Union saw Christ, they saw only His humanity; they didn't see His deity. No one has seen deity because it is spiritual.
 - d. But the spiritual can be understood by absolute truth.
 - e. God is invisible, but God is also personal. Even though He is invisible, He is living, an active spirit, and eternal, infinite, and unchanging in existence.
 - f. Therefore, we say God is immanent and transcendent as a spiritual being.
8. In this study, we will note ten major divine attributes.
 - a. The sovereignty of God.

- b. The integrity or holiness of God.
- c. The love of God.
- d. The life and personality of God.
- e. The omnipresence of God.
- f. The omniscience of God.
- g. The omnipotence of God.
- h. The faithfulness of God.
- i. The happiness of God.
- j. The grace of God.

F. The Sovereignty of God.

1. Definition of the Sovereignty of God.

- a. The sovereignty of God is His eternal, infinite, unchangeable will expressed in the doctrine of divine decrees in eternity past. The doctrine of divine decrees is the eternal, unchanging thinking of God regarding you, and the infinite number of decisions God has made about you. All of God's decisions were made in eternity past.
- b. The sovereignty of God is His infinite, immutable, eternal, and perfect divine volition. His decisions are based on His thinking. God has never had to come up with a thought. There never was a thought or decision He didn't have from eternity past. God has never made a bad decision.
- c. God is eternal, Psalm 93:2. God is infinite, Psalm 8:1; Acts 5:39; Heb 6:13. God is self-determining, Job 9:12; Psalm 115:3, 135:6; Prov 21:1; Dan 4:35. Therefore, God's sovereignty is eternal, infinite, and self-determining.
- d. The expression of divine volition or the sovereignty of God as found in Eph 1:5 results in a divine plan for the human race, i.e., for you personally, Heb 6:17. There never was or will be a person for whom God did not have a perfect plan in eternity past. God's plan for our life is the only way of happiness, tranquility, and blessing. God's plan always begins with salvation. No one is left out and no one is insignificant. Remember that God always thinks in terms of concentration and organization. He makes perfect decisions from an organized mind.
- e. By divine decree, the sovereignty of God and the free will of man coexist in human history. Both are invisible, though we can see their results.
 - (1) In 2Peter 3:9, God expresses His sovereignty in a marvelous way. "He is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to a change of mind [about Jesus Christ]." God's plan for all of us is to believe in Christ. The unbeliever who makes a lot of bad decisions often destroys their own stream of consciousness. When too many bad decisions are made by too many people in power, there are wars.

(2) Jn 7:17, "If any man is willing to do His will, he shall know of the doctrine." Notice that before you learn, your volition must be involved. Some people will not learn because their volition is already negative. Negative volition to doctrine begins when a person believes that they will lose some of the wonderful things in their lifestyle, if they follow God's plan for their life.

(3) Phil 2:13, "For it is God who is at work in you, both to will and to do His good pleasure." We will never have any happiness in life until we do His good pleasure. God's good pleasure is found in the canon of the Scripture.

(4) These passages document the sovereignty of God, but you are involved because you can will to do His good pleasure, or you can will not to do so. Volition always comes first, because you must be motivated by your volition to learn Bible doctrine. In spite of all of our failures, as long as we are alive, God still has a plan for our life.

2. The sovereignty of God must be related to the personality of God.
 - a. The most basic parts of personality are self-consciousness and self-determination. One must first be aware that he exists, then he can make decisions in relationship to that awareness. Self-consciousness and volition are the key factors in your personality. This is how man was created in God's own image.
 - b. God recognizes Himself as a person and as such, He functions with perfect integrity and perfect rationality. Personality should have integrity and rationality. Rationality means you think, and integrity means you apply what you think. Therefore, God is infinite personality. He is perfect and eternal virtue, which the Bible calls holiness.
 - c. God is infinite personality. God's perfect integrity or holiness combines with His self-determination to reveal, to define, and to communicate His plan, His will, and His purpose for mankind, as well as His own divine essence.
3. The sovereignty of God must be related to His divine infinity.
 - a. By infinity is meant that God is without boundary or limitation. He unites in Himself those perfections which belong to His person and character.
 - b. This means that God cannot be complicated by ignorance or compromised by absurdities. Therefore, human beings cannot superimpose upon God their silliness and their arrogance.
 - (1) Since God is not irrational, He is not going to come up with an irrational plan.
 - (2) God is not silly; He is not going to come up with a silly plan.

(3) God is not ignorant; He is not going to tolerate stupidity from ignorance of doctrine. God dislikes ignorance, and there is no excuse for ignorance of doctrine.

- c. The volition or sovereignty of God cannot be tempted in any way, cannot sin, and cannot tempt creatures to sin. Furthermore, God does not tempt anyone to human good. Human good plus ignorance produces human good or dead works. The sovereignty of God never makes a decision to condone sin, evil, human good, or ignorance of Bible doctrine.
- d. Infinity characterizes all that God does: His sovereign will, the function of His love, His perfect integrity, His omniscience, and His omnipotence. God cannot be complicated with ignorance or absurdity. We are connected to infinite power.
- e. God's eternal glory existed billions of years before creation. There never was a time when God's perfect glory did not exist. God recognizes His own glory and claims it in the interest of absolute truth. God recognizes His Own glory and claims it as a matter of truth.

4. The Functions of Divine Sovereignty.

- a. It was the sovereign will of God to reveal Himself to us through Bible doctrine.
- b. It was the sovereign will of God to deal with us through a policy of grace, and to give us the most fantastic and unique plan ever given to believers in any dispensation, i.e., the protocol plan of God.
- c. It was the sovereignty of God the Father that sent Jesus Christ to the Cross to provide our eternal salvation.
- d. Divine motivation is the function of God's sovereignty. God's decisions are based upon perfect and eternal knowledge, as well as perfect and eternal motivation. God can only have perfect motivation.
- e. God's sovereignty always functions for His own glory.
- f. The sovereignty of God always functions in total compatibility with all of His other divine attributes.
 - (1) God is self-existent, which means He is eternal. His perfect decisions from His sovereignty are compatible with His eternal and infinite self-existence.
 - (2) God is immutable and unchangeable. Therefore, He has never had to reverse a decision. God does not have to be flexible, for He is perfect. As perfect, infinite, and eternal God, He never has to withdraw a decision. His decisions were perfect billions of years ago and they remain perfect in time.
 - (3) God's perfect policy of grace is based on infinite, eternal, and sovereign decisions. This policy was established in eternity past in the divine decree.
 - (4) God's integrity is incorruptible. God's decisions are perfect with regard to His integrity. God's sense of humor is also perfect, and there must be some amusement in heaven concerning the things we fail to understand.

- (5) God's gracious love toward us is perfect, based on His integrity.
 - (6) Therefore, all these add up to the fact that God cannot make a bad decision even once. And from His sovereignty, God has made billions and billions of decisions.
- g. The sovereignty of God provides every member of the royal family of God with his own portfolio of invisible assets. Every decision that God has made with regard to each one of us is one that spells out blessing; for this is backed by His wisdom rather than ours.
- h. No greater expression of the sovereignty of God exists than the one found in Col 1:27, "To whom God willed to reveal to the Gentiles the glorious riches of this mystery, which is Christ in you, the hope of glory." That in itself was one of the greatest decisions of the sovereignty of God of all time. God made a decision to indwell us as the confidence of glory. To think that He actually found a way to communicate and reveal to us the riches of the unique factors of the Church Age.
- (1) Our portfolio of invisible assets.
 - (2) Our escrow blessings for time and eternity.
 - (3) The fantastic availability of divine omnipotence.
 - (a) The omnipotence of God the Father related to that portfolio.
 - (b) The omnipotence of God the Son who both preserves the universe and perpetuates human history.
 - (c) The omnipotence of God the Holy Spirit who provides for us enabling power inside the divine dynasphere.
 - (4) Col 1:28 continues, "Whom [Jesus Christ] we proclaim [Bible teaching], constantly inculcating every person, even constantly teaching every person with all wisdom, in order that we may present every person mature in Christ." The combination of verses 27-28 gives the pastor the responsibility of teaching who and what God is.
- i. Out of the trillions of decisions ad infinitum, God has never made a bad decision. All divine decisions from the sovereignty of God are made from a position of eternal and infinite strength. All divine decisions are based on eternal wisdom and omniscience. Therefore, it is impossible for God to make a wrong decision.
- j. When it comes time for us to die, the time, place, and manner of our dying are determined by decisions from the sovereignty and love of God. God in His sovereignty expresses supreme rulership, wisdom, and grace in His decisions that relate to us. God has never made a mistake or a bad decision with regard to our living, and He never makes a bad decision with regard to the time, the place, and the way in which we depart from this life.

- k. The closer we come to lining up with His decisions in time, the greater becomes blessing in our life. When we fail to line up with the sovereign decisions of God, the greater becomes our self-induced misery and discipline.
5. The Sovereignty of God in the Christian's Death. See the doctrine of Life and Death.
- a. There are three categories of alternatives in life.
 - (1) The first alternative is to believe in Christ and receive eternal life or to not believe and receive eternal judgment.
 - (2) The second alternative is the option after salvation to execute the plan of God through perception, metabolization, and application of Bible doctrine and have meaningful life during the Church Age, or to be miserable in life and never understand life, never have happiness, but have self-induced misery from the arrogance and emotional complex of sins.
 - (3) The option to die well when God decides from His sovereignty, or to die under maximum discipline from the sin unto death.
 - b. After salvation, there are two stages to our life on earth: the living phase and the dying phase. In the living phase, the sovereignty of God and the free will of the believer coexist by divine decree for the purpose of resolving the angelic conflict. The dying phase is strictly a matter of the sovereignty of God. This concept is found in Phil 1:20-21, "On the basis of my confident expectation and hope, that I shall not be put to shame in anything, but with all boldness, Christ shall even now, as always, be exalted in my body, whether by my life or by my death. For me, living is Christ, and dying is profit."
 - (1) The Living Phase.
 - (a) During the living phase (called the protocol plan of God), the believer has full use of his volition to exercise his options, which are available under God's plan, will, and purpose for his life. The sovereignty of God provides everything necessary for the execution of His plan. Therefore, the sovereignty of God has provided for all believers equal privilege and equal opportunity for the execution of the protocol plan of God. There are no distinctions between race, sex, or social status with regard to the execution of God's plan.
 - (b) Under election, equal privilege is our royal priesthood and equal opportunity is logistical grace to both spiritual winners and losers. Under predestination, equal privilege is our union with Christ and equal opportunity is entrance into the divine dynasphere-the filling of the Holy Spirit.

- (c) In the living phase, the believer uses his volition toward Bible doctrine-the revelation of God. Positive volition means Bible doctrine becomes the number one priority in the life. Negative volition results in various tragedies in life. There is a conflict between positive and negative volition in every believer. Positive volition means the development of the spiritual skills: the filling of the Spirit, cognition of doctrine, and execution of the protocol plan. Negative volition means various categories of carnality, the development of Christian moral or immoral degeneracy, garbage in the subconscious, and scar tissue in his stream of consciousness.
 - (d) Living was Christ to Paul because he was a mature believer. He executed the protocol plan; there was no garbage in his subconscious; there was only metabolized doctrine circulating in his stream of consciousness; he had developed all of the problem solving devices. Living was Christ because, having executed the protocol plan of God, he had received the distribution of his escrow blessings for time. Living was Christ because, under the occupation with Christ principle, he had performed maximum divine good in his Christian service.
- (2) The Dying Phase.
- (a) For the believer in Christ, the final victory in this life is dying and death.
 - (b) Death is God's victory because our death is God's decision. Even if we take our own life, it is only by God's permission. This is where human volition ends and divine volition continues. 1 Cor 15:55, 57; Job 1:21; Psalm 116:15.
 - (i) If living is occupation with Christ and dying is absence from the body and being face to face with Christ, then dying can only be much more profitable than life.
 - (ii) In the living phase of the protocol plan of God, the emphasis is on the believer's volition in response to Bible doctrine and life under the grace policy of God. In the dying phase of the protocol plan of God, the emphasis is on the function of the sovereignty and grace of God, because God decides the time, manner, and place of our death. Those who use the doctrinal rationales related to the faith-rest drill have no problem with death at all.

- (c) The dying phase of the protocol plan of God emphasizes the fact that the believer has no control in three areas: the time, the manner, and the place of the believer's death. These are the wise and sovereign decision of the volition of God. The physical death of the believer is the decision of the sovereignty of God based on God's wisdom, God's integrity, and God's love for every believer in Christ. Because God is holy, He is absolutely fair regarding the time, the manner, and the place of our death. Because God is infinite and eternal, perfect in wisdom and love, perfect in integrity and sovereignty, He decides the time, the manner, and the place of our dying.
- (d) Since our death is the decision of God, totally apart from our volition, the death of every believer, winner or loser, is God's victory. While death is God's victory, He gives to us that victory by deciding the time, manner, and place of our death.
- (e) In all matters of life and death, God's timing is perfect. Since God is perfect, His timing is perfect both in life and in death. Since the death of the believer is a wise and gracious decision of God, no one has the right to question God's perfect wisdom in the matter. We who are left behind have no right to question the wisdom, the justice, the grace, or the perfect timing of God in the death of someone we love dearly. Psalm 116:15, "Precious in the sight of the Lord Is the death of His saints." Job 1:21, "And he said, `Naked I came from my mother's womb, and naked I shall return there. The Lord gave and the Lord has taken away. Blessed be the name of the Lord." Rev 21:4, "And He shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall no longer be any more death; there shall no longer be any more mourning, or crying, or pain; the old things have passed away." Job 5:19-27, "In six disasters, He will deliver you; furthermore, in seven, no evil will touch you. In famine, He will preserve you from death, and in war from the power of the sword. You will be hidden you from the lash of the tongue, neither will you be afraid of death when it comes. You will laugh at death and famine, neither will you be afraid of violent death [wild beasts]. For you will have a covenant with the stones of the field; and the beasts of the field will be at peace with you. And you will know that your tent [interim body] is secure; for you will visit your home [heaven] and you will never forfeit your blessing. You will know also that your progeny will be many, and your descendants as the grass of the earth. You will come to the grave in full age, like a shock of corn in its season. Behold this, we have investigated it, thus it is; hear it, and know for yourself."

- (f) Because death is God's victory, the grave has lost its sting-there is no appointment with judgment. 1Peter 1:3-5; Jn 14:1-6; Rom 8:38-39; 2 Cor 5:8. God transfers victory over death by His decision to provide the time, the manner, and the place of our death.
 - (g) The death of a loved one does not stop history, therefore, life must go on for the living. We cannot resent others who seem to be having a good time while we are mourning for the loss of a loved one. Your comfort in time of sorrow must come from the doctrine in your own stream of consciousness. Your grief is a private matter between you and the Lord. You have no right to bitterness, anger, or abnormal grief. Bible doctrine gives you the power to rejoice over those loved ones who are in the presence of the Lord. Your loneliness, sorrow, grief, memories, and comfort because of their happiness in heaven belongs to you. In occupation with Christ, you remember the profit of death.
 - (h) The physical death of the believer is a matter of two problem solving devices: grace orientation and doctrinal orientation. God knew in eternity past exactly when you would be born and exactly when you should die. God does not stop a suicide because the free will of man and sovereignty of God coexist in human history. The death of every believer is always a matter of God's grace. Since God has eternal, personal love for each of us, it is impossible for God to do anything incompatible with His perfect love for each one of us. Therefore, we have no right to question the wisdom or justice of God, when someone we love dies.
6. The Sovereignty of God and the Free Will of Angels and Mankind.
- a. The sovereignty of God expresses the supreme rulership of God, the divine prerogative based on the perfection of His being.
 - b. All forms of existence are within the scope of His dominion.

- c. This does not contradict the fact that God has chosen to provide both volition and freedom to at least two categories of rational and responsible creatures.
- (1) The angelic creatures of prehistoric times.
 - (2) Mankind in human history.
- d. The sovereignty of God and the free will of angels coexisted in the prehistoric times. The sovereignty of God and free will of man coexist in human history by divine decree.
- e. The sovereignty of God has seen fit to create beings with the power of choice and free will. God rules over these creatures with power, justice, wisdom, and grace; and yet He has given to us the freedom to reject or accept His plan, to reject or accept salvation.
- (1) Jesus Christ had to make a decision from His humanity to submit to the Cross and bear the judgment for the sins of the world. Then God the Father had to make a decision to impute the billions of sins to Christ on the Cross and judge them.
 - (2) Now we must make a decision regarding Christ and His work on the Cross. With positive volition, we believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and have eternal salvation. With negative volition, we reject Jesus Christ as Savior and have eternal condemnation.
 - (a) Jn 3:18, "He who believes in Him is not judged, but he who does not believe is judged already because he has not believed in the name of the uniquely-born Son of God."
 - (b) Jn 3:36, "He who believes on the Son has eternal life, but He who does not believe shall not see life, but the wrath of God abides on him."
 - (3) Therefore, we are free to make a decision for eternal salvation, pro or con. God does not coerce us (as per Calvinism). God provides information so we can make free will decisions, but He never coerces free will.
 - (4) Therefore, human creatures today have free will, just as angelic creatures in eternity past had the same free will. Some chose for Satan and some chose for God. Now mankind is created as a lower creation but with the same pattern of options in order to resolve the angelic conflict. So again, the principle is that the sovereignty of God and the free will of angels coexisted in eternity past by divine decree. The sovereignty of God and the free will of man coexist in human history by divine decree.
 - (5) According to 2Peter 3:9, "He is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to a change of attitude toward Jesus Christ." So the fact that people reject Jesus Christ as Savior indicates the fact that volition is a valid factor in the Word of God.

- (6) God rules over His creatures with power, justice, wisdom, and grace. This means everyone has a chance to be saved. There is no such thing as a person who has never heard; they get the opportunity at God-consciousness, Rom 1-2.
- (7) The sovereignty of God has selected a short period of time in human history for the believer to exercise his free will in positive volition toward His plan, His purpose, and His will.
- f. The sovereignty of God is seen in His role as judge of rational creatures, both angelic and mankind.
 - (1) God's role as judge over mankind is found in Psalm 50, in the five cycles of discipline, and in the Last Judgment.
 - (2) In the angelic realm, God judges Satan in Isa 14 and Ezek 28. In prehistoric times, God's judgment separated elect from fallen angels.
- 7. Scriptural Documentation for the Sovereignty of God.
 - a. Ps 93:1, "The Lord reigns; He is clothed with majesty. The Lord has clothed Himself with power. In fact, the world is firmly established; it will not be moved."
 - (1) Human history will continue to exist in spite of nuclear and sophisticated weapons, and in spite of the evil of man.
 - (2) The human race will not be destroyed until God sees fit to terminate human history, which occurs at the end of the Millennium.
 - b. Deut 10:17, "The Lord your God is the God of gods, the Lord of lords, the great and mighty, even the awesome God who does not show partiality, who does not take a bribe."
 - (1) You cannot bribe God by your good deeds, by your sweet and loving life, or by altruism. God is not subject to bribery.
 - (2) To the contrary, we are the beneficiaries of His grace decisions and His grace policy. We benefit from Him; He does not benefit from us. Our life does not depend upon who and what we are, but upon who and what God is.
 - c. Job 36:5, "Behold, God is mighty but does not despise any. He is mighty in strength and understanding." God's power and understanding are equal in their eternity and in their infinity.
 - d. Eph 1:11, "In whom also we have received an allotment, having been predestined with reference to a predetermined plan from Him who works all things in conformity with His purpose and His will." Since God is perfect, not only is His will and decisions perfect, but His motivation is also perfect.

- e. Dan 4:17, 25b, "The Most High God is sovereign over the realm of mankind, and gives to anyone He wishes power." He gives nations and the rise of nations to whom He wishes.
 - f. Dan 5:21, "The Most High God is sovereign over the realm of mankind, and He sets over it whomever He wishes."
 - g. There is a time in the life of every believer when the function of his free will is shut down. This time is the beginning of the death of the believer. The sovereignty of God has chosen the time, the place, and the manner of the believer's death. The sovereignty of God has also chosen what happens to the believer after his physical death-being absent from the body and face to face with the Lord. The sovereignty of God has chosen the time, the place, and the manner of the believer's resurrection. The sovereignty of God has chosen the eternal state for the believer. Therefore, the believer has only a short time on this earth between the moment of salvation and the moment of death to glorify God by the proper use of human volition.
 - h. As a part of the angelic conflict, the sovereignty of God and the free will of man coexist in human history by divine decree. The sovereignty of God has selected a short period of time, called human history, for each believer to exercise his own free will in positive volition toward His will, plan, and purpose.
 - i. The will of God for mankind is divided into two general categories stated in 1 Jn 3:23, "This is His mandate that we believe in the person of His Son, Jesus Christ, and that we love one another just as He commanded us." Mandates or commands are always an expression of divine sovereignty.
8. Principles related to the sovereignty of God.
- a. The sovereign will of God is backed up by the omnipotence and omniscience of God. God has the wisdom and God has the power for the execution of His sovereignty. There never was a time in eternity past and never will be a time when God does not know every thought, motive, decision, and action of every rational creature, angelic or human. Therefore, God has complete and total knowledge, which makes His sovereignty and His decisions perfect, because He has all the facts. When God makes a decision, it is based on complete cognition of the issues.
 - b. God has the power to execute His will under all conditions. Not only does He have the omniscience to know what is a good decision, but He also has the omnipotence to back it up.
 - c. God's sovereign will and power are not arbitrary, but are compatible with His other attributes. They are compatible with His justice, for God is fair. They are compatible with His love, His righteousness, and His wisdom.
 - d. Divine sovereignty and human responsibility are not contradictory in human history since God has decreed the function of the free will of man. God has decreed that during the course of human history, the sovereignty of God and the free will of man will coexist. This part of God's plan is designed to resolve the angelic conflict, i.e., to demonstrate to Satan and all fallen angels that God's judgment of them in prehistoric times was absolutely, completely, and totally fair.

- e. When mankind fails to do the will of God, this is a contradiction, and there is the inevitable result, as noted in Jn 3:18 and 3:36. God uses human means to accomplish His will and purpose, yet such means never involves coercion. Coercion is the evil function of human beings who try to get their way in life. This is the demand syndrome.
- f. The sovereignty of God does not minimize or compromise human responsibility in history. No one can exist independently of the sovereignty of God. He keeps you alive to reject or to accept His will. The attempt to live independently of God is the quintessence of arrogance and blasphemous insolence. The person who dies without reaching the point of accountability is automatically saved under the principle that the sovereignty of God and free will of man coexist. The sovereignty of God gave you the life that resides in your body at birth.
 - (1) Only a fool could say, "There is no God," when God sustains the life of that fool. God sustains the breath and existence of the atheist, who uses the faithfulness of God to deny His existence.
 - (a) Ps 14:1, "The fool has said in his heart, `There is no God.'"`
 - (b) Ps 53:1, "The fool has said in his heart, `There is no God.'"`
 - (2) The sovereignty of God keeps both believer and unbeliever alive. There is no life apart from the sovereignty of God, and that applies to the entire human race, not only to believers in Jesus Christ.

9. Sovereignty and Man's Objective in Life.

- a. While the sovereignty of God and free will of man coexist in human history, the objective of the Christian way of life is for the believer's volition to line up with the sovereign will of God as much as possible. This is only possible through cognition and inculcation of the mystery doctrine of the Church Age. Until we know a lot of doctrine, we do not even have a clue as to what the will, plan, and purpose of God for our life really is.
- b. Originally, the mystery doctrine of the Church Age was written in the Greek language, which means that the sovereignty of God is expressed in the Greek imperative mood, the Greek hortatory subjunctive, the Greek imperative of prohibition, and in the Greek imperatival participle. There is no substitute for the spiritual gift of pastor-teacher understanding the original languages of Scripture.

Many divine mandates are expressed in the word of God which relate to fulfilling the sovereign will of God.

- c. Therefore, God has revealed His sovereign will to the believer so that the individual member of the royal family of God can actually execute that will, plan, and purpose of God for the Church Age.
- d. The various functions of the faith-rest drill are definitely related to the believer's volition being compatible with the sovereignty of God in phase two (from birth until death).
- e. Contradictions between the believer's volition and the sovereign will of God are caused by ignorance of Bible doctrine or willful rejection of divine mandates where cognition exists, therefore, the function of the sin nature, weakness of spiritual strength, malfunction of the problem solving devices of the protocol plan of God. The sin nature gains control any time there is adversity (outside pressures of life) converted into the inside pressure of stress in the soul. Only the problem solving devices prevent the conversion of adversity into stress.
- f. There is no life or opportunity for the function of human free will apart from the sovereignty of God creating soul life and imputing it to each one of us at birth.
- g. During the period of the operation of our free will, each one of us has the opportunity of making many decisions, the most important of which is to believe in Christ. After salvation, the believer has many opportunities to exercise his free will in the fulfillment of the protocol plan of God for the Church. This is related to inculcation and cognition of Bible doctrine. Eph 3:19-20, "And to come to know the love for Christ [occupation with Christ] which goes beyond gnosis [academic understanding], that you may be filled with all the fullness from God. Now to Him who is able to do infinitely more than all we could ask or dream on the basis of the power that works for us."
 - (1) The life beyond gnosis is the function of positive volition toward doctrine, resulting in its metabolization so that it becomes a part of our life. You understand and believe Bible doctrine. That is where you understand love and the faith-rest drill comes into action. A part of learning love from doctrine is understanding the doctrinal rationales and putting the faith-rest drill into operation in your life.
 - (2) The fullness of God includes the true capacity and ability to love in all of its connotations.
 - (3) There is no spiritual connotation to dreams. There is nothing great in dreams. The life beyond dreams is the result of attaining spiritual maturity through consistent post-salvation epistemological rehabilitation. There is no spiritual benefit until you get beyond gnosis to spiritual understanding.

h.

The sovereignty of God and the free will of the Church Age believer coexist during phase two of the protocol plan of God for the Church. The fact that the Church Age believer can reject or fail to execute God's plan or even refuse to do the will of God is a very clear reason for the existence of homo sapiens in human history. The fall of Satan and his prehistoric revolt, followed by warfare in heaven and the eventual judgment of all fallen angels, is directly related to the creation of mankind and the beginning of human history. Satan was sentenced to the Lake of Fire, appealed the sentence, and the sentence was postponed for the insertion of human history, in which mankind was created to resolve the prehistoric angelic conflict.

- (1) Creature volition is the issue of human history. The angelic volition rejected God and followed Satan as in the case of the fallen angels. Therefore, in eternity past, the sovereignty of God and the free will of angels coexisted. Satan had free will and began a revolt against God. "I will be like the Most High God."
- (2) The volition of the elect angels was compatible with the sovereignty of God. The volition of the fallen angels contradicted the sovereignty of God.
- (3) In the divine judgment against fallen angels, they were sentenced to the Lake of Fire at the end of the prehistoric angelic conflict. All angels had made a decision; there was a trial; and at the end of the trial, the decision rendered by God is found in Mt 25:41, "Depart you who have been cursed into the eternal fire which has been prepared for the Devil and his angels." However, the sentence was not carried out at that time and will not be carried out until the end of human history, Rev 20:10.
- (4) Mankind was created to resolve the angelic conflict because Satan appealed his sentence. Human history is the appeal trial of Satan and all fallen angels. The only thing mankind has in common with angels is volition. Just as angelic volition and the sovereignty of God coexisted in prehistoric times, so human volition and the sovereignty of God coexist in human history. The final condemnation of Satan and fallen angels results from the fact that human volition is compatible with the sovereignty of God.
- (5) As members of the human race, we glorify God by making our volition compatible with the sovereignty of God. There are two ways in which this is accomplished: 1 Jn 3:23, "This is His commandment that we believe in the person of His Son, Jesus Christ, and that we love one another as He gave commandment." God is glorified by faith in Jesus Christ and by use of the problem solving devices, as represented here by the use of impersonal love for all mankind.

i. Conclusion.

- (1) Because of the prehistoric angelic conflict, the sovereignty of God and free will of man coexist in human history. Human history is merely an extension of the angelic conflict. This coexistence of divine sovereignty and human volition is the basis for the resolving of the prehistoric angelic conflict. We are here for a purpose related to thought. This is why mental attitude sins are the worst sins. The power and glorification of God is in thinking, not in service, works, or action.
- (2) The implications of this doctrinal principle are extremely important. The implications are:
 - (a) Compliance with the sovereignty of God is the way in which mankind glorifies God. This means glorification of God by faith alone in Christ alone for eternal salvation and glorification of God by postsalvation epistemological rehabilitation.
 - (b) Contradiction or rejection of the will of God is how we fail. The human race fails at the point of rejection of Christ and the believer fails at the point of rejection of Bible doctrine.
- (3) To understand the sovereignty of God and the free will of man it is necessary to master the doctrine of the angelic conflict.

G. The Integrity or Holiness of God.

1. God's Integrity as part of His Essence.

- a. God has absolute and eternal holiness, which we will classify as divine integrity or absolute virtue. God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit have perfect, eternal, infinite, and coequal virtue or holiness. God's virtue is not a relative factor, but absolute.
- b. God's integrity is maintained by His sovereign will. God has used His will to maintain perfect integrity. Therefore, God's integrity is part of His unchangeable self. God has never used His volition to lose His integrity. His integrity is absolute, infinite, and eternal virtue.
- c. God exists eternally, unsustained by Himself or any other source. God's existence is unalterable. Furthermore, God is the cause of all existence outside of Himself.
- d. Since God is infinite, eternal, and invisible, it is necessary for Him to reveal Himself to mankind, and this He has done through Bible doctrine. This response to this on the part of Isaiah was Isa 6:3, "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of the armies; the fullness of the entire earth is His glory." "Holy" is repeated three times, once for each person in the Trinity.

e. The modern word "integrity" is synonymous with holiness. Moses taught the integrity of God Ex 15:11; 19:10-16. When the noun holy or holiness is found in the Bible, it always refers to the integrity of God.

- (1) While the Hebrew word ELOHIM is used for the essence of God in the Old Testament, the Hebrew sacred tetragrammaton JHWH is used for the individual persons in the Trinity.
- (2) JHWH (Jehovah or Yahweh) means the self-sustaining one. It applies to each member of the Trinity, for each is coequal, coeternal, and self-sustaining.

2. There are three categories of divine integrity-justice, righteousness, and love. Divine integrity is composed of three separate and distinct assets, which are totally related, i.e., God's justice, righteousness, and love.

a. Divine justice is mankind's point of reference with God. Although it is true that God loves us, God's love is not our point of reference. God can do nothing for mankind that would compromise any of His divine attributes. Therefore, many prayers are offered that are never answered because they make a demand upon God which would be totally incompatible with His divine essence.

b. Prior to the fall of mankind in the Garden, the love of God was the point of reference. Man and woman were the objects of God's love. But this changed because of the original sin.

(1) There was no need for the function of divine justice prior to the fall of man, that is, not until the original sin of Adam and the woman.

(2) There was a warning to Adam and the woman from divine justice given in Gen 2:17, "The day you eat from this tree, dying thou shalt die." The first Hebrew word "dying" refers to spiritual death; the second Hebrew word "die" refers to physical death. At the moment Adam and the woman committed their first sin, they died spiritually, moving them into a state of total depravity, total separation from God, and total helplessness to use any human work to enter into a relationship with God. In operation fig leaves, the man and woman tried to regain fellowship with God through their works and their adjustment to each other. This was the first manifestation of their spiritual death.

(3) In the garden, the man and woman in a state of innocence did not have to choose between good and evil. The warning to Adam from divine justice was the prohibition of eating from the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil.

(4) The issue for mankind in the Garden was recognition and obedience of God's authority or rejection of the same. Lack of authority orientation is still the number one problem in the world today. As long as man chose obedience, his point of reference with God was divine love. So the issue was obedience or disobedience to the divine prohibition with regard to one tree. The issue for mankind originally came from divine justice, but divine justice was not the point of reference until man entered into disobedience to the divine prohibition.

(5) The will of God for mankind when he was in a state of creative perfection was the issue of obedience or disobedience. The original sin was not a sin of immorality, but of disobedience to the stated will of God under conditions of perfect environment. Authority orientation was first rejected by the woman. Most authority is delegated by God to the male.

(6) But after the original sin, divine justice became the point of reference, and it continues to be until the end of human history at the end of the millennial reign of our Lord Jesus Christ. Once mankind sinned, then divine integrity became the point of reference; specifically, divine justice.

c. The integrity of God equals divine justice plus perfect divine righteousness.

3. Divine Justice.

a. God is fair. It is impossible for God to be unfair in the function of divine justice.

b. All three members of the Trinity sit in the supreme court of heaven, and therefore, the justice of all three persons is involved in one way or another. Divine justice administers the system of divine laws which are compatible with divine integrity and with divine sovereignty. Divine justice is the function of eternal God as the judge of mankind, rendering daily decisions in the court of heaven with regard to all members of the human race.

c. The decisions of the court of heaven are compatible with God's perfect righteousness. God is wise, incorruptible, perfect, and a fair judge of mankind. He is the one judge who has never rendered a wrong decision. In all the trillions of decisions God has rendered, not one has ever been unfair or incorrect. It is impossible for perfect God to render a bad decision as judge. Therefore, God is the perfect judge, as illustrated by the judicial decisions in the divine decrees.

(1) Any time the law of volitional responsibility is operational in your life and you do not like what is happening to you, you just have to remember that God is fair. If you have made bad decisions from a position of weakness, then you are going to suffer the consequences. To react by bitterness, vindictiveness, implacability, hatred, pettiness, jealousy, or any other mental attitude sin is the worst thing that could happen to you.

(2) If you do not have a clear understanding of how God functions and operates, you are never going to have any true thanksgiving or even be grateful for anything that has happened to you. If you do not have the capacity for thanksgiving, you do not have the capacity to love anyone except yourself.

- d. The justice of God administers the penalties and decisions which are demanded by His perfect righteousness. This is taught in many passages of the Word of God: Deut 32:4, 2 Chr 19:7; Job 37:23; Psalm 19:9, 50:6, 58:11, 89:14; Isa 45:21; Jer 50:7; Rom 3:26; Heb 10:30-31, 12:23. The application-"Vengeance is Mine, I will repay," says the Lord." This also means "Retribution is Mine, I will repay." If you want to have an unhappy life, all you have to do is to seek vengeance, or be vindictive and implacable and seek to hurt someone else, and you are the one who will be hurt. The justice of God does not need any help in dealing with the unfairnesses and injustices that come to us.
- e. The justice of God is portrayed in a very dramatic way at the point of the Cross, where Christ was judged as a substitute for us. Our Lord never said anything about being judged unfairly for us.
 - (1) Jesus Christ as the lamb of God was qualified to go to the Cross because He remained absolutely perfect in His humanity, because His humanity remained inside the prototype divine dynasphere during His thirty-three years on the earth. Not once did He lose His impeccability in being made sin for us.
 - (2) Therefore, He was qualified to become the sacrificial lamb, as portrayed by the Old Testament sacrifices.
 - (3) While on the Cross, our Lord remained inside the prototype divine dynasphere. Even though the ridicule He received was intensified and Satanically inspired, not once did our Lord succumb to the greatest of temptations during His first three hours on the Cross.
 - (4) Then during the last three hours on the Cross, the justice of God called for the printout of all the personal sins ever committed in the human race. The omnipotence of God the Father imputed all those sins to Jesus Christ on the Cross.
 - (5) Then the justice of God the Father made the most difficult decision of all time-to judge every sin ever committed by all the members of the human race. For three hours He administered this decision to judge sins ad infinitum. So many sins that they numbered in the trillions. There never has been a sin committed in the history of the human race which was not judged on the Cross. That is why anyone who believes in Christ "shall never perish but have eternal life."
 - (6) Because God's perfect righteousness demands the judgment of sin, all the sins had to be judged on the Cross.

(7) The justice and righteousness of God were the point of contact with Jesus Christ in Hypostatic Union on the Cross. His humanity had to be judged for our sins. This was why He said, the night before His crucifixion, "This represents My body which is given for you; take and eat thereof."

(8) Jesus Christ remained perfect in His humanity while He was being judged for our sins. 1Peter 2:24, "He carried our sins in His own body on the Cross."

(9) The love of God the Father for the world was expressed in the virgin birth. Jn 3:16, "For God loved the world so much that He gave His Son, the uniquely-born One." God's love for the world, while not our point of reference, was the point of motivation. God the Father was motivated to give life to Jesus Christ at the moment of His physical birth.

(10) Because all personal sins were saved into one prom chip in the divine decrees, reserved for their judgment on the Cross, God provided the Passover. The Passover taught that God "passed over" all the sins of the people in the ancient world, for they were not judged until the Cross.

(11) After the Cross, the Passover was replaced by the reality of the work of Christ on the Cross. Sins could no longer be passed over. During those last three hours when that prom chip was released or printed out, as it were, the righteousness of God demanded judgment from the justice of God.

f. Therefore, from the point when we are born into spiritual death, the justice of God is our point of reference, and it continues to be our point of reference after salvation.

g. There are two categories of the love of God toward us, determined by our status with the justice of God.

(1) From the time of our physical birth until we believe in Jesus Christ, we are the objects of God's impersonal love. Impersonal love emphasizes the integrity of the subject and the unworthiness of the object. In spiritual death, we are in total depravity, total separation from God, and total helplessness to have any relationship with God. Rom 5:8, "God demonstrated His love toward us in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died as a substitute for us."

(2) Once we personally believe in Jesus Christ, we become the objects of God's personal love because of His imputed righteousness in us. Since personal love emphasizes the worthiness of the object, God's personal love can only have as its object divine righteousness. However, the justice of God continues to be our point of reference. The justice of God is what keeps us alive in the devil's world.

(3) However, God's impersonal and personal love are only motivating factors in our relationship with Him. The justice of God is always our point of contact.

- h. It is so important to understand that the justice of God is our point of contact. God is fair to the entire human race because He provided for the entire human race eternal salvation. Since God is fair, there never was and never will be a human being who didn't have a chance to have eternal salvation. After salvation, God continues to be fair, for His justice continues to be our point of reference.
- i. The decision from the justice of God to judge our sins on the Cross is the basis for our eternal salvation. This is well documented Scripturally: Rom 5:6; 2 Cor 5:14-15, 19; 1 Tim 2:6, 4:11; Tit 2:11; Heb 2:9; 2Peter 2:1; 1 Jn 2:2. All our sins were judged on the Cross. Christ was judged for all sins committed in the history of the human race when He was hanging on the Cross. This was the agony of His last three hours on the Cross.
- j. Other Functions of Divine Justice.
 - (1) The justice of God causes the rise and fall of nations.
 - (a) The justice of God administers the five cycles of discipline to client nations; i.e., to Israel in the Old Testament and to Gentile client nations during the times of the Gentiles which runs coterminously with the Church Age.
 - (b) No nation ever falls historically apart from the function of the justice of God. Every client nation to God in the past has risen to astounding greatness and then taken a terrible fall.
 - (2) The justice of God also administers many judgments.
 - (a) There are future judgments to come, such as the judgment of the baptism of fire at the end of the Tribulation.
 - (b) There are last judgments of fallen angels, the Great White Throne Judgment of all unbelievers.
 - (c) Divine justice also daily administers punitive discipline to carnal believers in time; i.e., warning discipline, intensive discipline, and dying discipline.
 - (3) So divine justice is the source of both blessing and cursing.
- k. The Supreme Court of Heaven.
 - (1) The supreme court of heaven is open twenty-four hours a day, 365 days a year; it is never closed. The supreme court of heaven is composed of three members: God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit.
 - (2) The supreme court of heaven is the highest court in the universe and hears cases related to the following categories:

evil in the world, sinfulness and injustice in human affairs, the rise and fall of nations, anti-semitism, conflicts among believers, satanic accusations against believers, and divine discipline of believers.

- (3) The role of Jesus Christ as the supreme court judge.
 - (a) Scriptural documentation. Jn 5:22, "For not even the Father judges anyone, but He has given judgment to the Son." Jn 5:27, "And He [God the Father] gave Him [God the Son] authority to execute judgment because He is the Son of Man."
 - (b) Jesus Christ as the Son of Man emphasizes His hypostatic union, and the hypostatic union emphasizes our Lord being judged for our sins on the Cross. The judgment of our Lord on the Cross qualifies Him to be a supreme court judge on the one hand, and to represent us personally as our defense attorney on the other hand.
 - (c) He presides on the bench in historical judgments on the earth, such as, the rebound judgment which is self-judgment on the part of the believer-priest, the judgment of the believer's works and Christian service after the Rapture, the judgment of the tribulational Jews at the Second Advent, the judgment of the tribulational Gentiles at the Second Advent, the judgment of all unbelievers of the human race at the end of the Millennium, and the judgment of Satan and all fallen angels at the end of the Millennium.
 - (d) The uniqueness of Jesus Christ as the supreme court judge has to do with the doctrine of the hypostatic union. Jesus Christ is unique because of His hypostatic union-the unity of His divine and human natures. In His glorified state, the resurrected humanity of Christ resides at the right hand of God the Father to perform certain functions: the function of a supreme court judge of heaven and the function of a high priest to the Church where He makes intercession for believers.
 - (e) Jesus Christ, as judge of the supreme court of heaven, is eternal God, perfectly qualified to function as a justice of the supreme court. His qualifications are related to divine essence, including His holiness or integrity which is composed of His righteousness and justice. Jesus Christ judges on the basis of His perfect divine essence on the one hand, and on the basis of His perfect resurrected humanity on the other hand. This means that the integrity and capability of our Lord to preside in the supreme court of heaven is one of eternal and infinite qualifications.

- (f) Since the integrity of our Lord, in both His deity and humanity, is beyond reproach, and since the omniscience of the Lord knows every fact of every case, His legal decisions are made in perfect and eternal wisdom. He judges every case with perfect fairness, totally without prejudice or any form of partiality.
- (4) Jesus Christ also functions as a defense attorney in the supreme court of heaven for the believer.
- (a) The believer continues to sin after salvation, 1 Jn 1:8, 10.
 - (b) Satan uses his demon intelligence system to accumulate a sin file on every believer. Periodically, when your sin file is big enough, Satan accuses you before the supreme court of heaven. Job 1:6, 11; Zech 3:1-2, "Then he showed me Joshua the High Priest standing before the angel of the Lord [Jesus Christ] and Satan standing at his right hand to accuse him. And the Lord said to Satan, `The Lord [God the Father] rebuke you, Satan. Indeed, the Lord who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you. Is he [Joshua] not a burning stick, snatched from the fire?'"
 - (c) When Satan brings accusation against believers before the supreme court of heaven, our Lord functions as our defense attorney. 1 Jn 2:1-2, "My dear children, I keep writing you these things to you in order that you may not sin. However, if anyone sins, we keep on having a defense attorney before the Father, Jesus Christ, the righteous one; and He is a propitiation for our sins; and not for ours only, but also for the entire world."
 - (d) Our Lord's defense of the believer before the supreme court of heaven is a fact. He was judged for those sins before Satan ever brought them before the supreme court. 2 Cor 5:21 is the basis for our Lord acting as our defense attorney.
 - (e) God the Father, presiding judge in these cases which Satan brings before the court, judged every sin on the Cross that Satan mentions.
 - (f) Under the law of double jeopardy, those sins were judged once and for all on the Cross and cannot be judged again by God the Father. Rom 6:10, "For the death that He [Jesus Christ] died, He died once and for all with reference to sin."

(g) Therefore, every case of satanic accusation of a believer is thrown out of court as illustrated by Zech 3:1-2.

(h) However, the sins of the believer become a family matter for administration of divine parental discipline. Heb 12:6, "For whom the Lord loves, He disciplines. And He scourges with a whip every son whom He receives."

4. Divine Righteousness.

- a. God possesses eternal, unchangeable, and perfect righteousness.
- b. All justice is administered from the perfect righteousness of God. This is the subject of many passages in the Word of God: Lev 19:2; 1 Sam 2:2; Psalm 22:3, 47:8, 119:9; Jn 17:11; Rev 3:7, 4:8, 6:10. Many passages tell us that behind God's justice and judgments is the other half of divine holiness, which is God's perfect and absolute righteousness.
- c. God is absolute good. This is not goody-good, not legalistic good, not distorted good from the old sin nature, whereby man tries to impress God and people with how good he is. Absolute good is perfect righteousness, Psalm 25:8, 34:8, 86:5, 119:68; Lk 18:19.
- d. God is perfect, both in His person and in His character, Deut 32:4; Psalm 7:9, 11:7, 97:6, 113:3, 119:137; Jer 23:6; Jn 17:25; Rom 1:17, 10:3; 1 Jn 2:29.
- e. God is totally free from sin. God has never sinned. God cannot tempt or solicit to sin. God cannot in any way be involved in sin except to judge it. This is why Jesus Christ had to become perfect humanity to be judged for sin as our substitute. In His deity, He could have nothing to do with sin except to judge it.
- f. God is perfect righteousness in attitudes and in actions.
- g. As perfect and absolute righteousness, God rejects all relative standards of righteousness, and therefore, all human standards of righteousness, with the one exception of human compliability with the laws of divine establishment.
- h. Isa 64:6 tells us exactly where human righteousness will get us with God. "For all of us have become like one who is unclean, and all of our righteousnesses are as filthy [menstrual] rags, and all of us wither like a leaf, and all of our sins like the wind take us away."
 - (1) You cannot be consistent by sinning one moment and being good the next moment. This is a relative situation which is totally unacceptable to perfect divine justice.
 - (2) This is why it was important for our sins to be judged, and for our righteousness to be rejected for salvation.
- i. Salvation cannot be attained through any system of human works or righteousness.

(1) Tit 3:5, "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us."

(2) The works of keeping the Law will not save either, Gal 2:16.

j. The righteousness of God is available to anyone who believes in Christ. Rom 3:22, "Even the righteousness of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe; for no distinction is made [between Jew and Gentile]." When either a Jew or Gentile believes in Jesus Christ, the righteousness of God is imputed to him.

k. God is perfect and cannot be anything less than perfection. Because of God's holiness or integrity plus His immutability and eternity, it is impossible for God to be imperfect. Therefore, God always has perfect righteousness. God has always been perfect and there never will be a time when He is not perfect. God's righteousness is never in conflict with God's love or God's grace policy.

l. Divine perfection includes every aspect of divine integrity in both His justice and His righteousness.

m. Divine justice can only bless perfect righteousness. We have the righteousness of God imputed at the moment we believe in Christ. Having the righteousness of God is one half of divine holiness. Our point of reference continues to be the justice of God. Divine justice blesses His own righteousness imputed to us at salvation. This is logistical grace blessing. The principle of logistical grace avoids compromise of the attributes of God, and is compatible with the integrity of God.

(1) The justice of God, one-half of divine holiness, sends to the indwelling righteousness of God (the other half of divine holiness) everything it takes to keep us alive plus blessing. This logistical grace is given to winners and losers alike.

(2) There is nothing you can do to be sustained or blessed by the grace of God. For the grace of God comes from divine justice and righteousness. God found a way to bless us as believers totally apart from any system of works, righteousness, or Christian service.

(3) Once we understand this part of the personality of God, we can adjust and get on a right basis with God in our modus operandi. Then we can function so that our Christian service will be a result of spiritual growth, never the means.

5. Divine justice and divine righteousness have inseparable functions.

a. God loves His own integrity as a part of His divine self-esteem. God loves His own righteousness and the identical righteousness of the other members of the Trinity. Each one of the persons in the Trinity has divine self-esteem.

(1) God never feels threatened by any creature, from Satan to the present time.

(2) In His grace, God has even provided a way for us to have spiritual self-esteem.

- b. Therefore, what the righteousness of God rejects, the justice of God condemns. Our Judge never feels threatened. He has an absolute standard by which all judgment is made.
 - c. What the righteousness of God accepts, the justice of God blesses. This is the reason for logistical grace. We receive the righteousness of God at salvation, and from then on we receive logistical grace support blessing from God.
 - d. The justice of God administers what the righteousness of God demands. As the Romans said, "Justice is steady in its purpose."
 - e. At the moment of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ, the righteousness of God is imputed to each one of us. This means we can live with God forever because we are as good as God is, having His righteousness.
 - f. There are two post-salvation results of justification which are directly related to our possession of the righteousness of God.
 - (1) Logistical grace blessing.
 - (2) The impersonal love of God toward unbelievers is changed into personal love toward believers.
 - g. What makes the difference in both cases is the possession of God's perfect righteousness.
6. Divine justice can only bless perfect righteousness.
- a. The integrity of God, composed of divine justice and perfect righteousness, is not only the guardian of the divine attributes and the believer's point of contact with God, but it is the basis of blessing each one of us. There never was a time when God did not have within Himself the mechanism for perfect blessing.
 - b. In the function of the divine policy of grace, no attribute of God can ever be compromised. For you to be blessed because of anything you did would be a compromise of divine integrity. God has to find a way to bless us without compromising His attributes. Since we continue to possess an old sin nature, this requires the genius of God.
 - c. Perfect righteousness demands perfect righteousness for blessing. The fact that righteousness demands righteousness and justice demands justice is the modus operandi of divine integrity. The righteousness of God is the principle of divine integrity. The justice of God is the function of divine integrity. What the righteousness of God demands, the justice of God fulfills.
 - d. God cannot accept anything less than perfect righteousness and God cannot bless anything less than perfect righteousness. We possess that perfect righteousness as a double portion (the imputation of God the Father's righteousness and sharing the righteousness of our Lord) at the very moment we believe in Jesus Christ.

- e. Consequently, the justice of God is the source of all direct blessing from God to the believer, the source of logistical grace blessing, and the source of happiness. Divine justice is only free to provide blessing to believers, both winners or losers, where perfect divine righteousness resides.
 - f. Perfect divine righteousness resides in every believer from the moment of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ. Therefore, the believer is qualified to receive life support and fantastic temporal blessing under the principle of logistical grace. Matt 6:33 states this principle for the unbeliever. "First seek the kingdom of God and His righteousness [imputed], and all these things [logistical grace blessings] shall be provided for you."
 - g. Divine integrity is not canceled because some members of the human race reject Christ as Savior. God's integrity is not canceled because believers fail to execute the protocol plan. Lack of integrity or virtue in mankind never cancels the integrity of God. God never stoops to our old sin nature level in dealing with us.
 - h. The justice of God is the source of two things: judgment and condemnation on the one hand, and life support and blessing on the other hand.
 - i. The integrity of God is infinite, absolute, and eternal, a part of perfect divine essence. The integrity of God is not maintained in any way by the self-righteousness of mankind. Divine righteousness rejects man's self-righteousness. God does not depend on us to glorify Himself, we depend on Him. God can get along without any of us.
 - j. Divine righteousness demands perfect righteousness. What the righteousness of God demands, the justice of God executes in both blessing and cursing. What the righteousness of God rejects, the justice of God judges. Cursing is a result of the absence of divine righteousness. Blessing is a result of the presence of divine righteousness.
7. The Integrity of God Related to Mankind.
- a. There is nothing mankind can do to destroy or compromise the integrity of God.
 - b. The integrity of God stands eternally without help from mankind, including man's self-righteousness, works, or any form of legalism.
 - c. Legalism does not promote the integrity of God; for legalism is the enemy of the integrity of God.
 - d. God has found a way to bless mankind without compromising His integrity, i.e., by imputing His righteousness at salvation. Neither man's sinfulness nor self-righteousness can advance the glory of God.
 - e. Only divine integrity or holiness advances the glory of God.

- f. Therefore, only God can glorify God. What God has provided in grace for us is the means by which we glorify Him.
 - g. Man glorifies God through cognition and utilization of grace provision from God. Such cognition comes from consistent post-salvation epistemological rehabilitation, i.e., perception, metabolization, and application of Bible doctrine.
8. Every attribute of God is compatible with the love of God and two attributes.
- a. The first of these attributes is personal love among the members of the Trinity.
 - b. The second of these attributes is impersonal love toward all mankind in a state of sin. This means that some other attributes have to be added under the concept of impersonal love.
 - c. The problem of love motivation from God.
 - (1) Motivation can be described in terms of inducement, incentive, influence, something caused of. A person is moved to action by motive, inducement, and incentive.
 - (2) In the Scripture we do not have motivation in the sense of competition or trying to impress people with who and what you are.
 - (3) Motivation applies to knowledge and thinking. You are to be self-motivating as a Christian. You are to take the responsibility for your own decisions.
 - (4) Reciprocal love for God is motivated by the love of God as a part of the entire personality and character of God. Once we understand the love of God, then we can respond. That is the doctrine of reciprocal love for God. That is how we will be motivated by something far greater than anything else in life.
 - (5) God's love is our point of reference and we respond to His love for us as a part of our motivation. That is why we have a double function with Bible doctrine advancing us to spiritual maturity and God's love doing exactly the same thing. They have to advance together. One does not advance without the other. We will not continue to advance if we drop one or the other.
 - d. The perfect love of God is eternal virtue. That is our point of reference, and we are motivated in reciprocity to respond to this.
 - e. Our sinfulness does not change God's love for us. He punishes us in love because He wants us to understand the importance of our relationship with Him and to bring us around to reality. We are not punished for the sins we commit, because Jesus Christ has already been punished for those sins on the Cross. So we are punished to alert us to the importance of the fact that God loves us and wants to give us greater things in time and eternity.

All people have self consciousness, but they do not express this in the same way.

Jesus, in the Hypostatic union does not reveal all of the characteristics of God at the same time. Perhaps not at all.

Are all of God's attributes functioning at all times?

You may bring a gift to a party, and you may choose an outstanding bottle of wine, but they don't drink wine. You need to choose a gift which they appreciate, not one which you like. It is good manners to consider the people you are with/seeing and providing that which they like. Those are matters of thoughtfulness.

Sometimes volition is free, and we do whatever we want. But when we are with other people, then we merge into that group and do that things which they like.

We all have a common essence, but they are not manifested in the same way. So we should not be surprised that God has an essence as well.

We can reasonably call all the human race one; man is one, but with many personalities. The same thing is true of God. There are 3 separate personalities when it comes to God, but He is One in essence. Understanding the attributes of God is to understand, to a limited degree, God's essence.

The life of God has no beginning or ending. Technically, we have everlasting life. We have a beginning, but we do not have an ending. God is eternal. The life of God which we have is everlasting.

God is a person; and He recognizes Himself to be a person and always acts in a rational manner. God's characteristics have no beginning. There is no way that His personality can be imperfect.

Jesus, in His incarnation, submitted Himself to the authority of God the Father.

Relative attributes are how God's essence relates to finite man.

The affections of God are all anthropopathisms. Scorn, compassion, benevolence, etc.

God's authority is over actual and possible things.

When we change, God also appears to change. However, God remains consistent. His justice has not changed. God still operates with the same essence. Justice has not changed; man has changed.

“with power” – the preposition en plus the instrumental of dúnamis (δύναμις) [pronounced DOO-nahm-iss]. The instrumental means miracles or manifestations of power—“by means of [supernatural] power.” This is not the power of the direct work of Jesus Christ in His deity, it is the power of the Holy Spirit. All through the period of the incarnation it was ordained in eternity past that God the Holy Spirit would sustain the humanity of Christ and set up a pattern for the royal family in the Church Age.

“according to the spirit of Holiness” – the preposition kata plus the accusative of pneuma (πνεῦμα) [pronounced PNYOO-mah], a reference to God the Holy Spirit, the third person of the Trinity who in the divine decrees of eternity past was ordained to sustain the Lord Jesus Christ. With this is a descriptive genitive, hagiôsunê (ἁγιωσύνη) [pronounced hag-ee-o-SOO-nay], which refers to a quality rather than a state, showing that the quality of pneuma (πνεῦμα) [pronounced PNYOO-mah] is God. So “spirit of holiness” is really “Holy Spirit.” But since this is God the word “holy” as an adjective [with sunê] indicates that this is not an ordinary sanctified holy spirit, this is a title of God. In other words, the third person of the Trinity is defined by the suffix sunê. Translation: “according to the Holy Spirit.” It is literally, “according to the spirit of holiness” or “the spirit of sanctification,” and it is a reference to the ministry of God the Holy Spirit in sustaining the Lord Jesus Christ.

In other words, the dúnamis (δύναμις) [pronounced DOO-nahm-iss], the power of Jesus Christ, mentioned in the previous phrase was from the indwelling Holy Spirit. The prophecy of this is given in several passages in Isaiah: 11:1-3; 42:1; 61:1. See also Matthew 1:20 John 3:34 Matthew 3:16–17 12:18, 28 Luke 4:14 for instances of the sustaining ministry of God the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit had to forsake Jesus Christ on the cross.

“by the resurrection” – the preposition ek plus the ablative of anastasia (ἀνάστασις) [pronounced an-AS-tas-is]. This is the ablative of means. While the ablative is not the usual case for expressing means it is used when accompanied by the implication of origin or source. So the means by which Christ becomes a new type of royalty is resurrection. Christ on the cross was divine royalty and Jewish royalty, but after the resurrection He is a new type of royalty related to the angelic conflict. The resurrection is the transition—“by means of resurrection.”

“from the dead” – incorrect. This is ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative of source plural from nekros (νεκρός) [pronounced nehk-ROSS]—“from deaths.” That means two deaths on the cross.

Jesus was still alive and breathing when He said, “Finished.” His physical death is not related to the payment for sins had been accomplished.

Romans 1:4 Who was marked out [specified by the decrees] the Son of God by means of power, according to the Holy Spirit, by means of resurrection from deaths.

Principles from Romans 1:4

1. In the divine decrees of eternity past the second person of the Trinity was marked out as the Son of God because of His ministry of the first advent.
2. It was Christ on the cross bearing our sins who was judged by the justice of God. The judgment of sin on the cross freed the justice of God to provide eternal salvation for anyone who would instantly adjust to the justice of God.

3. That instantaneous adjustment is faith in the Lord Jesus Christ—Acts 16:31.
4. Faith is no-meritorious and compatible with grace—Ephesians 2:8,9.
5. The Father judged the Son of the cross when He was bearing our sins—2Corinthians 5:21; 1Peter 2:24.
6. Consequently, salvation was completed during the first death when Christ was bearing our sins—John19:30.
7. The resurrection not only demonstrated the efficacy of Christ’s work on the cross but was the means of Christ’s victory in the angelic conflict.
8. For the person who does not adjust to the justice of God at salvation the justice of God will adjust to him in eternity. That means eternal punishment of the lake of fire—Revelation 20:12-15.

1977 Romans

Lesson #7

7 01/17/1977 Romans 1:5a Spiritual gifts; doctrine of GAP (grace apparatus perception) (pts.1–4)

New York Times article. He believes that the Soviet Union has military superiority over the United States. He believes that they are aiming for superiority and preparing for war.

A letter from the House of Representatives from Washington state. Bob held a Seattle conference, apparently. He had questions about infractions which require the death penalty.

Romans 1:5 ...through Whom we have received grace and apostleship unto obedience of faith among all the Gentiles on behalf of His name,...

Verse 5 – “By whom” is a prepositional phrase, dia plus the genitive of the relative pronoun hos. It should be “through whom.”

“we have received” is the aorist active indicative of the verb lambánō (λαμβάνω) [pronounced lahm-BAHN-oh]. It means to take or receive something into one’s possession. This is a culminative aorist tense, it contemplates all adjustments to the justice of God in their entirety but regards them from the viewpoint of existing results. The two existing results here: “grace and apostleship.” The active voice: the human author is Paul and the Roman believers are the recipients. Together they produce the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative expressing unqualified assertion, a simple statement of fact. “We” refers to anyone who adjusts to the justice of God.

“grace” – accusative singular direct object of the noun charis (χάρις) [pronounced KHAHR-ic]. Grace is a description of the entire plan of God. Sometimes grace refers to something specific, like logistical grace or saving grace. Here the emphasis will be on salvation, at the point of which every believer receives a plan and a spiritual gift.

“apostleship” – accusative singular direct object from the noun apostolos (ἀπόστολος) [pronounced ap-OSS-tol-oss].^[7] This is the highest rank in the Athenian navy. This was a temporary gift given to 12 men and not renewed.

Spiritual gifts are distributed to the royal family of the Church Age at the point of salvation. They are given only in this dispensation, and the reason they are given is because when one believes in Christ he becomes royalty. These spiritual gifts are a part of the recognition of the strategic victory of the Lord Jesus Christ at the right hand of the Father.^[8]

They are also the Father’s organized witness to the plan of grace, says Hebrews 2:4. Spiritual gifts demand royalty function under grace, and it demands that each one of us fulfil our gift by advancing to spiritual maturity. These gifts constitute a balance; and male and female believers are needed for their generation. Each of these gifts are necessary for a particular geographical area. 1Corinthians 12 temporary and permanent gifts. Pre-canon period and post-canon period. Gifts necessary to move the nascent church forward before the New Testament had been written.

Certain gifts allowed a pastor or an Apostle to establish himself and his authority. After this authority was established, this gift apparently left him.

Ephesians 4 Romans 12 1Corinthians 12 are the passages on spiritual gifts.

There was an abuse of some spiritual gifts, which happened to those in reversionism. Those claiming any of these gifts today, they are apostate and reversionistic. The only authority gift remaining is the gift of the pastor-teacher. The gift of evangelism has no authority over any local church. Churches are not to call evangelists to take control of their church.

The gift pastor-teacher requires special preparation. It is good to get under tough, unfair, unreasonable authority. Everyone who has the gift of pastor-teacher must learn discipline; and it is good to be under bad authority. Maltreatment is a great place to learn and understand authority.

The only authority a woman has is over her own children and those whom she teaches in prep school. It is hard for a woman to exercise authority, because God designed women to be responders.

Males who sit back and criticize the most are generally the worst people to have authority. Bob suggests that such a man soak his face and knuckles in brine for an hour a day.

Other gifts like administration. All gifts are necessary. The body of Christ is a team; and all of these gifts are necessary.

“for obedience” – the preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative singular of the noun hupakoê (ὑπακοή) [pronounced hoop-ak-oh-AY] [hupó (ὑπό) [pronounced hoop-OH] = under authority; ακοῦô (ἀκούω) [pronounced ah-KOO-oh] = listen or hear].

Speaking is exercising authority, listening is obedience to authority. Eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] here introduces the concept of purpose and it should be translated “for the purpose of obedience.” This means to listen under authority.

“to the faith” – objective genitive singular from the noun pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs], which does not mean “faith” here. It means what is believed, the body of doctrine. It is used for the orthodox doctrine handed down in the local church and it should be translated “for the purpose of obedience to doctrine.” This is a reference to the mature adjustment to the justice of God through the daily function of GAP.^[9]

Romans 1:5a Through Whom we have received grace and apostleship for the purpose of obedience to doctrine...

Time to review the doctrine of GAP.

Grace Apparatus for Perception

1. GAP is an acrostic. Definition and description: a system by which every believer can make the maturity adjustment to the justice of God. It is a grace system no matter how dumb or brilliant you are, you can learn doctrine. It is God’s grace provision for believers to perceive and assimilate Bible doctrine.
2. There are three primary systems of perception in life.
 - a. Rationalism relies on reason as the source of knowledge, claiming that reason is superior to and independent of any sensory perception. It believes that reality is what you think. Rationalism subjects Bible doctrine and scriptural interpretation to the test of human reason. Therefore, rationalism always rejects dogmatic authority.
 - b. Empiricism is the scientific system of learning by observation and experimentation. Empiricism holds that reality lies in the function of your sensory system relaying information to the brain.
 - c. Both of these systems are dependent upon human I.Q. Therefore, if God made either one the criteria for learning doctrine, He would be arbitrary and unfair, which is impossible.
 - d. Faith is a system of learning by accepting the authority of the criterion. Faith is learning by accepting words as vocabulary, or by accepting the authority of the one teaching. Faith is a non-meritorious system of thinking. Therefore, faith is the only system God could use and be consistent with His policy of grace toward the human race. The validity of faith depends on the object of faith. Heb 11:1 calls faith, “the reality of the unseen.” You accept a premise and everything is built upon that premise. Suppose you wanted to study chemistry yet reject the structure of matter.
3. A distinction, therefore, is made between human and spiritual I.Q. Bob does not think that there is a valid IQ test after age 14. Spiritual IQ is another story. This is determined by the amount of Bible doctrine in the soul. Spiritual IQ is the amount of Bible doctrine stored in the human spirit and in the right lobe. It's stored under the noun in the Hebrew, châk^emâh (חָכְמָה) [pronounced khawk^e-MAW], and by the Greek word epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis]. The distinction between human and spiritual IQ is the subject of 1Corinthians 2.

4. 1Corinthians 1:19–2:16 (Bob reads a corrected translation of this passage) Human IQ is not a factor in spiritual IQ.

This doctrine only synched up a few times in various sets of points. However, this doctrine is presented differently here than is found in NB1 or NB2.

1977 Romans

Lesson #8

8 01/18/1977 Romans 1:5b Job 32:1-9 French Revolution philosophy; doctrine of GAP (cont.)

Romans 1:5a Through Whom we have received grace and apostleship for the purpose of obedience to doctrine... (R. B. Thieme, Jr.'s Corrected Translation so far)

Bastille day is the 4th of July in France. Excellent book, Robespierre, the Voice of Virtue.

The equality of all classes, all evil and all sin was the fault of society, so taught Rousseau. Others readings from this book by Scott.

Grace Apparatus for Perception

5. Foremost is we have the preservation and formation of the canon of Scripture.
 - a. We do not live in a day of prophets or Apostles. This liberates everyone to follow the format, verse-by-verse. The mechanics of inspiration. The preservation of the canon illustrates that greater is He that is within us than he who is in the world. Scholars have been able to go back and reconstruct the life which they lived. God has provided for us in grace the completed canon of Scripture. Even though the Bible is the most attacked books in human history.
 - b. The Bible is our textbook and the local church is the classroom. We assemble as students without portfolio. We have no rights except those related to good academic discipline, emphasizing good manners, poise, good concentration, submission to the authority of the pastor. Deacons perform the policies set by the pastor teacher. No one grows outside of the local church. There is no do-it-yourself kit. There may be very many different configurations for a local church. There are groups of people who start out around a tape recorder, but they lost the discipline there.
 - c. The third provision is the gift of pastor teacher. This gift is given to males only, but to all types of personality. This cannot be gotten by surrendering to preach. A pastor teacher who understands his calling, studies and teaches. It is not his job to call on people in the hospital or to counsel. The original Apostles chose some deacons to wait on the tables so that they could spend their time studying and teaching. The job profile calls for a lot of teaching and a lot of studying. Bob saw wonderful pastors doing their best to study and teach, but they were taught to be nice and sweet and to let people run over them.

- d. The royal priesthood of the believer. This provides privacy and freedom to grow. Every royal priest must develop the maturity of his own soul. But this requires privacy of the priest to advance.
 - e. The ministry of God the Holy Spirit is necessary. The Holy Spirit provides five things at salvation and then provides what is necessary for the believer to take in Bible doctrine after salvation.
 - f. We have a human spirit, received at the point of salvation; and this is the inner receptacle for doctrine. The Holy Spirit bears witness with our spirit.
 - g. The provision of the laws of divine establishment. This divides the population of the world into national entities. Internationalism destroys divine establishment concepts. All divine establishment laws are related to national entities. The national government is not a problem solver, but it is to maintain the principles of the Word of God. Privacy, property, freedom are all provided; and protection of churches. The function of law enforcement. The principle of human authority.
 - h. Principle of human anatomy with nonmeritorious functions, to hear and to assimilate Bible doctrine, while your body remains alive. You must have oxygen in the blood in order to assimilate information.
6. The principle of the way gap works. There is the nous (the mind) and kardia (the heart). People assume that if they have doctrine in the right lobe and they can discuss it, that is enough. The right lobe is just a staging area. The doer of the Word is someone who gets doctrine into the right lobe. Doctrine must be gotten into the left lobe first, and then there must be a transfer from the left lobe to the right lobe. It gets into the left lobe by hearing. When you believe the doctrine, then it is transferred over to your right lobe.
7. The pastor communicates all of this information to the believer. You are at receptive comprehensive. To transfer from the left lobe to the human spirit and then into the heart (the right lobe). When you understand the information, you simply accept it or reject it. At the point, γνῶσις is transformed into ἐπίγνωσις.

Job 32:1-9 –

Job 32:1 So these three men ceased to answer Job, because he was righteous in his own eyes.

Verse 1, “he was righteous in his own eyes.” That means he was unteachable, full of arrogance. When there is arrogance in the soul a person is unteachable.

Job 32:2 Then Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, burned with anger. He burned with anger at Job because he justified himself rather than God.

Verse 2 – his anger burned against Job because Job justified himself. You cannot teach people in a congregation when they are constantly trying to vindicate themselves. All conspiracies are formed by people trying to prove something, trying to vindicate themselves, trying to justify their course of action or rejection of authority, or some bad attitude which they have.

All church conspiracies begin with a person trying to justify himself.

Job 32:3 He burned with anger also at Job's three friends because they had found no answer, although they had declared Job to be in the wrong.

Verse 3 – his anger burned against his three friends because they had found no answer, and yet they condemned Job. Job was unteachable but they didn't have any answers.

Job 32:4 Now Elihu had waited to speak to Job because they were older than he.

Verse 4 – Elihu had to wait his turn to speak to Job. Good manners, poise, thoughtfulness, because they were years older than he. Elihu was not only mature but he was a gentleman, and he followed the protocol of good manners. He deferred to age.

Job 32:5 And when Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of these three men, he burned with anger.

Verse 5 – When he found there was no answer from the three men he was angry.

Job 32:6 And Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered and said: "I am young in years, and you are aged; therefore I was timid and afraid to declare my opinion to you.

Verse 6 – "I was young, and you very old. Therefore I was reticent and shy of telling you my knowledge of doctrine."

Job 32:7 I said, 'Let days speak, and many years teach wisdom.'

Verse 7 – "I thought to myself, Age should speak first, and a multitude of years should communicate [doctrinal] wisdom."

Job 32:8 But it is the spirit in man, the breath of the Almighty, that makes him understand.

Verse 8 – "But there is a spirit in man; and the inhale from the Almighty gives understanding [of doctrine]."

Job 32:9 It is not the old who are wise, nor the aged who understand what is right.

Verse 9 – "The abundance in years [believers who have been saved a long time] may not be wise; nor the elders understand adjustment to the justice of God."

This is the principle of the function of the function of GAP. While he was young in years he had the answers because he had the doctrine. These people were arguing with Job, and they were philosophical but they were minus doctrine. There are five men in this passage. First, there is Job who in his arrogant self-righteousness in trying to vindicate himself is unteachable. There are his three friends who tried to teach him but they were minus doctrine. Elihu had doctrine—but he also had good manners and he waited. When the others ran out of gas and he communicated to Job, he got Job squared away.

Romans 1:5 ...through whom we have received grace and apostleship for the purpose of obedience of faith among all the Gentiles on behalf of His name,...

“among all nations” – en plus the locative plural of pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs] and ethnos (ἔθνος, ους, τό) [pronounced EHTH-noss], “among all Gentiles,” indicating that local churches exist throughout the Roman empire.

“for his name” – the preposition hupér (ὑπέρ) [pronounced hoop-AIR] plus the genitive of onoma (ὄνομα, ατος, τό) [pronounced OHN-oh-ma] which means not only “name,” but personality, person, reputation, or fame. This should be translated, “for the sake of his person [reputation].” In other words, the believer’s mature adjustment to the justice of God through the maximum assimilation of Bible doctrine results in glorification of the Lord Jesus Christ. It is the advance to spiritual maturity which glorifies God; not works, not production.

Romans 1:5 Through Whom [the resurrected Christ] we have received grace and apostleship, for the purpose of obedience to doctrine among all nations, for the sake of His person (reputation, fame, name).

Advancing Under the Gift of Pastor Teacher

1. Apostleship is a communication gift. It has no counterpart today in the extension of its authority over all the churches.
2. Pastor-teacher is the comparable gift, but with authority extended over one congregation only.
3. The communication gift is necessary for every believer to make the maturity adjustment to the justice of God.
4. Believers cannot advance spiritually except under the teaching ministry of their right pastor, whoever he is.
5. Believers must hear the Word taught for spiritual advance. This involves the concept of academic discipline, respect of authority, all of the principles which give orientation to life as well as capacity for life. No one has capacity for life who rejects any system of legitimate authority in life.
6. Hearing the Word includes the principle of academic discipline, respect for authority, good manners, and thoughtfulness for others.
7. The sacrifice of Christ is the means of both salvation and rebound adjustment to the justice of God.
8. The sacrificial life of constant study and persistent teaching is the means of maturity adjustment to the justice of God.

9. In this sense the pastor does not live a normal life because continuous study and teaching of the Word makes normal living impossible.

1977 Romans

Lesson #9

9 01/19/1977 Romans 1:6 Roman life (1); royalty of Jesus Christ; the privileged

The first 13 verses are an introduction to the book. By the time we finish the introduction, we will spend some time each evening dealing with the subject of Rome itself. The Romans, how they came into existence, etc. will be covered. The Italians there today are unrelated to the Romans.

Roman History and Culture and Origins

- A. Rome, it's history. There is the concept of the center of gravity of history. At one time, the Tigris-Euphrates valley was the center of gravity. The rise of the Persians caused it to move east. Rome was the last great center of gravity in ancient history. About 600 B.C., the Greeks became the leaders of civilization. Alexander the Great conquered the east and he developed a Greco world. Then a shift to the west, with Rome as being the center. Rome came into prominence about 200 B.C.
- B. Rome stands for government and law as distinctly as Greece stood for art and intellectual culture. Rome was to make an empire and rule it. Their village grew into a city state which grew into a united Italy. Rome did for the villages around it what Athens did. Athens had the intellect and culture; but they failed to do for Greece what Rome did for Italy. The Roman empire is the central lake in which the streams of ancient history lose themselves; and all streams of modern history flow out of. The languages of Greek and Latin were equivalent languages. Rome's great genius was in discipline and respect for law. The Romans did not have great generals, but they had the finest troops in the world. It was the political wisdom, their respect for law, and their organization principles that made them great. The Romans were stern and harsh; they were just and obedient, and if they revered anything, it was law. They were very disciplined and they loved order. If it were not for the Romans, we would know nothing about the Greeks. The Romans preserved Greek culture. The Greeks lacked stability. Rome had a very developed view of virtue; and they were very close to the laws of divine establishment. The Romans and Greeks were closely related for being so different. There is no such thing as a Roman race. The Latins came in and settled down right on top of the Villamnovans. Roman law made it possible. The navigable river, the only one there, and still the only one. Combined with the Sabines and the Etruscans. Sabines usually blonde, short to medium height, very rugged people. The Etruscans are still not understood; but they caused the Romans to exist. The many centuries of history, those living in Italy are a product of about every nation in the world. Italy did not become a nation until 1870; and the armies that went through there were of every race around. Many Slavic, many indoeuropean, etc. The Italians are the most mixed up group of people. They are a geographical designation.

- C. The mingling of the races made possible through law and order. Etruscans are Lydians or related to the ... Latins, Sabine and Etruscans. How they amalgamated, nobody really knows. Several other very famous people who lived in Italy. Gauls in the north. Gaul and many German groups are just as much Roman as anything else. The Venetians who lived in the marshes. Rome was famous for being able to amalgamate races. Respect for law, respect for authority, a great love for the family, and great self-discipline.
- D. Tiber River is the only navigable river and Rome is built around it. Rome was a mark state. It bordered many hostile people whom they met with the military. This gave them a great strength.
- E. The classes of people: Patricians and the Plebeians. Nobility and the common people. Patrician means men with fathers. Early struggle was the Plebes fighting for rights.
- F. The families called gentes; all discipline in Rome started with the father. The only society in all the ancient world who had a concept similar to the Bible. Parents could take their children to court and executed. The Romans followed this Biblical principle. Young Roman people age 18 and up. Huskies are a work dog, not a breed or a purebred. The Romans were like the Huskies; not one race but the toughest of the races. They did not have a problem until they stopped executing their youth. They would not allow hotheads and anti authority types to live. This is one of the reasons for their greatness. Saul of Tarsus was a great Roman. He was a Jew by race and Roman by citizen. The greatest state in all of history was Rome, which lasted 1000 years. It was the natural cradle for Christianity. They had a great system of law. Both systems of laws were distorted to put Jesus on the cross.
- G. The emergence of a great Patrician society. Citizenship went to those who were not aristocrats. Romans would have equal rights before the law, but the people themselves were not equal.
- H. The Patrician government divided into 3 parts. A king, the Senate and the Assembly. The Senate eventually became the key to everything. When someone dominated the Senate, he became a dictator. When the Senate could not be dominated, Rome was at its best.
- I. The book of Romans was addressed to Roman citizens. None of them had the name of Peter. Peter was not connected with Rome whatever. He functioned in Asia Minor, Bithynian, and elsewhere; but not Rome. Peter was not even a Roman. Paul is a Roman who died in Rome. Peter was never a Roman and he did not die in Rome. The legends of Peter growing up to be the Pope are false. Paul is the greatest Roman of all and a wonderful Jew.
- J. The Romans did more for all nations than anything else. A Roman had a certain attitude and a citizenship. The Roman centurion was amazed that Paul was a Roman; as the centurion had to pay a great sum of money to become a Roman.

Romans 1:5 Through Whom [the resurrected Christ] we have received grace and apostleship, for the purpose of obedience to doctrine among all nations, for the sake of His person (reputation, fame, name).

Romans 1:6 ...among whom are you also, called of Jesus Christ.

Verse 6 – “Among whom,” en plus the locative of the relative pronoun hos. Paul was born a citizen of Rome by birth and Jewish by race. He is one of the most unusual members of the human race. Paul did not start the Roman church, however the Roman believers were included in the concept of the totality of nations to which the apostle was sent. Paul has a message of adjustment to the justice of God for all of the Romans.

At this point, Paul had not yet been in Rome. He arrived in Rome the hard way.

“are ye also” – the adjunctive use of kai, used here in the sense of also, plus the present active indicative of eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME], the verb to be, translated “you are.” This is a retroactive progressive present, it denotes what was begun in the past and continues into the present time. It denotes the fact that the Romans are recognized as a people and have been now for almost seven or eight hundred years. The active voice: Roman believers produce the action of the verb. These are Roman people living in their capital of what at this time was a great empire. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality.

The Etruscans ruled Rome for about 200 years; they built beautiful homes in Rome. They were either Hittites and definitely a part of the famous sea peoples of the ancient world. They took the stupid people and turned them into a great people. The rape of the Sabine women is a myth.

We were founded as a republic. You cannot amalgamate races without a great system of authority; and a recognition that there is not such thing as equality between people (but they should have the same rights before the law). That is why Rome always landed on its feet; and that is why Rome came out of the worst pits in history. They never lost their respect for history. Regardless of the system of leadership. Even when they were ruled by incompetent people. Rome was to be the center of a great missionary impetus. The Roman church would survive the fall of the Roman empire. The Roman church of the ancient world up past A.D. 300, it was still a great church. It was only with Gregory the Great became the Pope and the ruler of the Roman church and things began to change. Even in the middle ages when Romanism became synonymous with legalism, there would many fundamentalists within the Roman church who were fundamentalists.

France became the most prosperous nation in the world when the Huguenots entered into France 15th through 17th centuries and they were squared away.

“the called” – this is not because they were Romans but because they had made the initial adjustment to the justice of God. This is the nominative masculine plural from the adjective klētós (κλητός) [pronounced klay-TOSS]. This word “called” means also “invited.” There are three words which are synonymous: klētós (κλητός) [pronounced klay-TOSS], eklektós (ἐκλεκτός) [pronounced ek-lek-TOSS], and pistós (πιστός) [pronounced pis-TOSS]. Cf. Revelation 17:14. They each emphasize something different about the doctrine of election.^[10] Klētós (κλητός) [pronounced klay-TOSS] describes the concept of privilege—we are a privileged people as of the moment we are born again. This is a synonym with our royalty. Our privilege is based on relationship.

One of the 36 things which we receive is, Christ was elected in eternity past and we share His election. Klêtos means that we are a privileged people. We are born again as royalty in the Church Age. Only a few believers in the Age of Israel were born as royalty. We have royalty from regeneration. Called is a concept of privilege as well as function.

The basis for our klêtos is Jesus Christ. 3 categories of royalty of Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is royalty as God. He possesses all of the attributes of God; He is coeternal and coequal with the other Members of the Trinity. Jesus Christ was born in the Davidic line. Joseph was descended from Solomon and Mary was descended from Nathan. Our royalty began A.D. 30 the first day of the Church Age. Battlefield royalty is the best way to describe it. When the justice of God judged our sins. Jesus Christ receive a new type of royalty, but minus a royal family. Both of these titles are found in Romans 1. Jesus is called King of Kings and Lord of Lords. This is royalty. The Roman empire decided that the one sitting on the throne of Rome was deity, which caused a problem, as Jesus is the King of Kings.

Rome had to have an aristocracy. No nation can survive without good leadership; but more important than that, a system of authority. Nero was a bad ruler and yet Rome survived him and thrived. You must have a recognition of authority. We need a commonly recognized aristocracy.

Klêtos refers to a privileged people. The way of expression is to be a part of a plan. This plan is called grace. There is an overall plan of believers in history. We are a privileged people, aristocracy by the new birth. We have privileges never enjoyed before in history. Our bodies are the temple of the Holy Spirit, a privilege not enjoyed before. Certain believers in the Old Testament had a filling of the Spirit; but we have greater privileges. Everyone who has believed in Jesus has this now.

All systems of human security are not true security. We have, with privilege, security. Paul tells the Romans that being born-again believers is the true advantage of history. Believers are the privileged of Cæsar or of SPQR; they are the privileged of Jesus Christ, which is something that we share with the Roman believers, and share with Paul, Peter and John.

“of Jesus Christ” – genitive of relationship of Iêsous (Ἰησοῦς) [pronounced ee-ay-SOOCE] and Christos (χριστός) [pronounced krees-TOHSS]. Our privilege is based upon relationship. We are not an aristocracy based upon what we do (like all other aristocracies), but based upon what Jesus Christ did. All aristocracies in the past begin with great accomplishments (although they degenerate into nothing after that).

Aristocracy also means responsibility. We need to adjust to God’s justice through rebound and through maturity adjustment to the Justice of God.

Roman voting is for those who are male and served in the military.

We will survive the fall of the United States, if that is in God's plan.

Romans 1:6 Among whom also you are the privileged royalty of Jesus Christ.

1977 Romans

Lesson #10

10 01/20/1977 Romans 1:7a Huskies; Roman life (2); royal family of God

The Romans were not a single race but an amalgamation of races. Romans not the same as the Italians who live there today. Many invasions of Italy since the days of Rome. The Italians themselves are also an amalgamation.

Bob illustrated that with the husky; and he brings out an article from Sport's Illustrated by Cole someone. The sled dog is an anachronism but not a museum piece. Sled dogs make it through the night curls up to protect its head. The husky has been bred from the stern process of elimination. Today's sled dog is more mongrel than ever. Recently a marathon event starting in Anchorage and ending in Nome.

Nugget lead dog. Wonder bitch; 79 miles a day for 14 days. Despite this, Nugget became pregnant in this race.

Roman Culture

- A. 367–200 B.C. is the greatest period of Roman vigor. The class distinctions had died out, but a new class developed. They made Rome first the mistress of Italy and then of all the world.
- B. Free enterprise began at this time. Most farmers had a few acres and they would bring their crops every eighth day to the market. The Roman garden was the center. Primarily ate beans, cabbages, turnips and some fruits.
- C. They had labor unions of a sort. The craftsmen organized into guilds or unions, which were designed to improve the character of the work. The trade union would fire those who did not do quality work. Carpenter's union. The boss did not have to fire him; the trade union fired him. The Romans became some of the most skilled artisans of that era. Their organizations made them great in contrast to the Greeks, who praised individuality. Weaver and bakers added later; and the flute union as well. They were never known to strike for greater privileges.
- D. The concept of wealth was different. Neither great wealth or extreme poverty of this era. The poor had jobs provided for them in colonies which were conquered. Patricians, Cicinatus of the 5th century B.C. He was gardening and then threw off his clothes and went into Rome to run things. Pecos; they used to pay in cattle; and the way to function without money took place for a long time. Eventually they used copper, but they did not use silver. The Roman was always trading, and that kept them sharp. A very independent thinking and he did a lot of thinking about how he could trade. They always figured out a way to work their way out of jams, even without a leader.

- E. Their home and manner of life. Family was everything. Their homes were simply built with a central room, with a table and wooden couches. Usually 3 generations lived under one roof. They all started this way; and they would built off the original house as they needed. They often ate porage and pork sausage. Bread was barley or ___ and baked in flat cakes. They were always tough, always ready for any kind of hardship. They were very frugal, temperate, tough, strong, flexible; and one of the best diets in the world. But they were not small. The Gauls saw the Romans and laughed, as the Gauls were very tall and the Romans were no taller than 5'9". Primitive loin cloth of linen. They wore some larger than a jock strap and they would wear a tunic pulled over. This shirt fell to his knees. When people would show up, and he wore this tunic. He might wear a white blanket, a toga, one of the most famous garments in history, went he went into town. For extreme weather, they might wear a cloak. Laced shoes but no stockings. No stockings and hats until they became decadent. The women were very fond of jewelry and every man who was a Roman citizen wore a ring. Member of senatorial families wore a broad red ring. A pedagogue escorted a child to school to see that no harm came to them. Only one textbook, the 12 principles of Roman Law. There were physical exercises with sports, with the spear, javelon, wrestling and running. Very fond of exercise. Eventually the chariot races were added. Eventually the theater, which they got from the Greeks.
- F. Science and learning. They became great before they were educated. This is also true of the United States. We first became a great nation before everyone was educated. Liberal education, philosophical education, all of this happened after the United States was great. Liberal concepts of education is problematic for us today. The roads, bridges, aqueducts, 300–200A.D. ; and the Romans were great engineers. They had the attitude that you do not need many brilliant leaders, but a great people. Many nations are based upon some great leaders. The secret was their stern excellence. They had a very strong society and very moral. Very strong on freedom and on laws. Romans abstained from frivolity or anything that was particularly frivolous. Aristocratic poise. They were self controlled and obedient to the law. The ideal person was a man of iron, stern discipline, contemptuous of weakness, and dedicated to the state. They were coarse, cruel, rapacious when they began to conquer.
- G. Even when this letter was being written, the people still reflected hundreds of years of good habits. They had many things going for them. They admired the right things; and they had healthy minds, free of liberalism. They were smart; but not clever. They admired a person with honor and integrity. No Roman had to sign a contract; and it lasted for 500 years. In every true sense, they were an amalgamation bringing them to this point.

Romans 1:7 To all those being in Rome beloved of God, called saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Verse 7 – “To all” is the dative of indirect object, the plural of páς (πάς) [pronounced pahs]. The dative of indirect object indicates the ones for whom an act is performed. In this case, the action of Christ in bearing our sins and being judged by God for our sins; “that be” – dative plural of advantage from the definite article which is used here as a demonstrative pronoun. With it is the present active indicative of the verb eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. This is a historical present tense which means a past event is viewed with the vividness of a present occurrence. The active voice: the Roman believers produce the action of the verb. This is the historical indicative mood.

When at war, the Romans stopped the bleeding and then walked however many miles to get home, 100 or 200 miles. Better to leave it to mothers or daughters to fix them. They were not fans of medicine.

Check out art of Romans, and they are often strong, well-built, in excellent condition. You never saw a sloppy Roman until the time of Paul. Nero was a slob. He ate too much and drank too much. Later Roman parties were as famous as their self-discipline before. They would polish off a 10 course banquet, use a feather to throw up, and then go back after it. Jesus Christ came in the fullness of time, during the early stages of the Roman empire. What saved Rome was the Bible doctrine of Christianity. When they became conquerors and filthy rich, they needed some control. They were the riches people in the world.

We are at the verge of destroying ourselves and only Bible doctrine will save us.

“in Rome” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative. Usually Paul uses the word ekklêsía (ἐκκλησία) [pronounced ek-klay-SEE-ah], but he did not use it here simply because he did not start this church. The origin of the church at Rome is unknown. Neither Peter nor Paul founded the Roman church. The Roman church at this time was meeting in the home of Priscilla and Aquila—Romans 16:3-5. There were no church buildings until 300 years after this epistle was written.

“beloved of God” – dative plural indirect object from agapêtos (ἀγαπητός) [pronounced ag-ap-ay-TOSS]. This is a verbal adjective and it means “dearly beloved” or “beloved,” and it indicates motivation. They are loved by God. But being loved by God is not going to make them a good church, a great church, or even a church. The fact that God loves them doesn’t mean a thing in itself because that merely reflects motivation but not action, security, protection, supply, blessing. These all come from the grace of God, and they come from His justice rather than His love. Love is the motivator; grace is the provider. The function of all blessing to every born again believer has come through justice. God’s love cannot provide blessing. Only God’s justice can provide blessing. We have an ablative of means, emphasizing the origin of this love as being from the essence of God, and it should be translated “dearly loved by God.”

The men had just a little fuzz on top of their head. They were manly men and extremely feminine women. Very strong on monogamy until the empire. The woman came first and the children came second. The whole social concept was based upon one man and one woman; and they had great capacity for friendships. They were an aristocratic people. They all were a part of the military. They went to advanced infantry training immediately.

We have been a great people in the past; but that is no longer the case.

A guy Chubby that Bob knows who makes these knives and sells them. He gave fixed prices for the last 2.5 years. The prices on steel etc. have gone up. He will still deliver the knives at the price that he promised.

Chubby does not think like an American; he thinks like a Roman. He will lose money on the knives that he makes. His word is more important than anything else in life.

The Soviet Union has been studying us for a long time. They want a long war to prove their toughness over ours.

“called” – the verbal adjective of privilege, klētós (κλητός) [pronounced klay-TOSS]. This is the aristocracy principle, the concept of an aristocratic people. We could translate this word “privileged.” This word describes the people. They were an aristocratic people. They are all clean and neat; and they do not have excess hair on the males. Very self-disciplined. No two people are equal in an aristocratic society. The Romans could understand these words, saints, called. They knew about aristocracy.

The male Gauls were hippie looking people, with long hair and beards and handlebar mustaches. Boy, did the Romans clean their clock.

“saints” – hagios (ἅγιος) [pronounced HA-gee-oss]. This is the key. What is a saint? A saint is an aristocrat in his thinking—not by birth, not title^[11]. Bible doctrine in the soul makes the believer a saint in the experiential sense; he is an aristocrat in his thinking. The concept is aristocracy of thinking.

This doctrine is reviewed in Lesson #352.

Royal Family of God

1. A saint is a member of the royal family of God. They are set apart as different, as being better, as having integrity. Paul is addressing royalty. You are still called saints; you are a privileged class; you are a privileged people. A mental attitude of fearlessness in life; separation from people who are wimpy and mixed up. This is someone who says, when friends show up at time for Bible class. Nearly everything in American life is incompatible with aristocracy. Fundamentalists are doing the goofiest things which they call the spiritual life. The royal family is the family of the King, the King being the Lord Jesus Christ. At the moment of adjusted to the justice of God. Church, body of Christ, saint; these are synonyms for the royal family of God.
2. The Church Age is the picking up of the royal family. When the royal family is completed, that will be the rapture of the church. The royal family is antithetical to everything that you have known or understood.
3. Ephesians and Hebrews document the royal family. Ephesians is about the status; and Hebrews is about the royal priesthood.

4. The royal family is formed by the baptism of the Holy Spirit. This is a spiritual relationship with the King of Kings and Lord of Lords. On earth, we are the body of Christ; in heaven, we are the bride of Christ.
5. Our coat of arms is the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. This has never occurred before, apart from the humanity of Christ. We cannot lose the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. Every time we sin, we lose the filling of the Spirit; but the indwelling cannot be lost.
6. The sealing ministry of the Holy Spirit. That is our security.
7. The first meaning of the word is saint and that is royal family.

1977 Romans

Lesson #11

11 01/21/1977 Romans 1:7b Rhodesia: terrorist criminals; doctrine of sanctification

A Rhodesian named Monach, Aug 15, 1975 article in a Rhodesian military magazine. Mythology of Terrorism. One is that there is no defense against it. Terrorism can never succeed militarily, but only psychologically. The cult of appeasement and capitulation is what has been the UK's policy since War II. IRA terrorism was successful because it was fought with one hand tied behind its back. Western machines have not learned how to deal with terrorism. A predetermined will to surrender. An increasing defeatism on the part of the military; and a feeling of fatalism. Our oil problems was a result of the UK withdrawing from the Middle east and the United States from Vietnam. Recent wars have all revealed a military blindness with regards to terrorism.

Militarily, terrorists can never win, although they can hide well among the public.

The second myth is that terrorism can only be solved with negotiation. Compromise with terrorists can only be understood as appeasement.

Third myth: the terrorist war in Zambezi and the largest number of atrocities are committed against Africans. Those on who's behalf these terror acts, they attack the Africans more than anyone else.

The assault is on the moral fiber of Rhodesian and South Africa. It can only be done when the moral fiber is destroyed.

The principles that we are studying are closely related to this article.

Romans 1:7 To all those being in Rome beloved of God, called saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

We stopped with klêtos + agios = the called saints, the elected royals. All Romans were aristocrats, a part of the great amalgamation of history.

The Doctrine of Sanctification

There is one aristocracy today recognized by God. This doctrine seems to be fairly close to the second doctrine of sanctification from NB1. Additional information is given, but the outline is very close. Mostly, this left out the terminology justice of God. Points 7 & 8 left out in this lesson.

1. Sanctification means to be set apart to God. We are set apart in the sense of aristocracy or as royalty. The instant adjustment to the justice of God is salvation, which makes us not just family of God, but royal family of God. We are union with the Lord Jesus Christ making us royalty forever. When the royal family is completed, then there will be the resurrection of the church. The secondary zone of blessing, and the primary zone of blessing: supergrace, ultra super grace. These are all technical theological words. We are royal family of God; our palace is the Holy of Holies in heaven; we have access where no OT saint could go. We are in a grace contract of royalty. We are a royal priesthood. We sign a contract putting us into the royal family of God forever.
2. Etymology of the Greek vocabulary of the New Testament:
 - a. hagios (ἅγιος) [pronounced HA-gee-oss] - translated "holy" or "saint." It is used to describe one who is under a new contract forever, member of the royal family of God. All terms of saint and sanctification apply only to the royal family. All believers of the Church Age are royal family. We are all saints. We are not aristocracy by birth; we are aristocracy by the new birth. Saint has become understood to refer to someone who is all mixed up and lives a life of asceticism. Or they are thought of people who are unfailingly moral; someone who is always being good. Called aristocrat is a good designation.
 - b. hagiôtês (ἁγιότης) [pronounced hag-ee-OHT-ace] - holiness, the state of being under contract under the new covenant to the Church. This is our status quo as members of the royal family. It is called holiness, set apart, under contract, consecrated to God forever. This is status quo after salvation. Anyone before the cross or after the cross can believe in Jesus Christ and make instant adjustment to the justice of God. It is the justice of God which rides herd on everything, making certain that no blessing comes to us unless it is apart from any compromise of any divine characteristic. These 36 things are irrevocable. They cannot be taken from us; they cannot be improved. We are aristocracy forever. No matter what is in your background, you are still royal family. You may have criminals in your background and you might have rich and famous ancestors. That makes no difference. When you made the instant adjustment to the justice of God, you placed yourself into full time Christian service. No matter how ill-mannered a person is, no matter how much he lacks poise, he is still royalty.
 - c. hagiôsunê (ἁγιωσύνη) [pronounced hag-ee-o-SOO-nay] - sanctification or the state of being under consecrate. Sunê at the end of a word means that we are dealing with a concept. Might be best to render this aristocracy, permanent aristocracy. It is different, as it comes in 3 categories:
 - i. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God is the first adjustment to the justice of God. We believe in Jesus Christ; salvation justification.

ii. For those who reach maturity adjustment to the justice of God, that is experiential sanctification. Those who take in doctrine until they reach maturity. Not all aristocrats make this one.

iii. Ultimate sanctification is our state in eternity.

d. hagiasmos (ἁγιασμός) [pronounced hag-ee-as-MOSS] - consecration, sanctification, the state of being holy, it emphasizes the results of being holy or in the plan of God or under contract.

e. hagiazō (ἁγιάζω) [pronounced hawg-ee-AD-zoh], the verb - to set apart, to sanctify, to consecrate, to dedicate, but what it really means is to be under contract. This is the verb of sanctification.

f. There are other words. John 6:69 Ho hagios tou theou = the aristocrat from the God.

g. We are born into a permanent aristocracy and we will be there forever.

3. Phase one sanctification. Instant adjustment to the justice of God. This is a reference to the fact that God the Holy Spirit takes each one of us at the moment we believe in Jesus Christ and enters us into union with Christ. This is called the baptism of the Spirit, the means by which we come under the contract forever - The Corinthians were some of the worst Christians in that era, but they were born into aristocracy and they will be aristocracy forever. They included some very weird believers, including one who committed incest. Saints by called means privileged ones by election. We have been given the justice of God so that God is able to bless us. 1Corinthians 1:2,30; Hebrews 10:10,14.

4. Phase two sanctification. Experiential; cracking the maturity barrier. This is fulfilling the tactical objective of the contract in phase two. Under the contract God at the point of salvation has assigned us a certain amount of time. He has also broken this assignment down into allotments - time to study the Bible, social life, sex, business, and for everything. So the contract calls for the assignment of time and the breakdown of that assignment into allotments. Under phase two sanctification this time is enjoyed under the principle of the filling of the Spirit - 2Corinthians 2:13, and the daily function of GAP - John 17:17. The royal family on earth is called the body of Christ, the royal family in resurrection is called the bride of Christ, and the body of Christ is therefore under the principle of phase two sanctification.

5. Phase three sanctification. Even a person who loses out on his efficiency report. All of the royal family receive a resurrection body at the Great Genuflex. We stand before the justice of God and we receive our efficiency report. Two factors in our efficiency report: did we rebound and did we continue in the function of gap to move towards maturity adjustment to the Justice of God. This is ultimate in which the believer is in a resurrection body, minus the old sin nature, minus all of his human good. This is the royal family living with God forever - Romans 8:29; 1Corinthians 1:8; Philippians 3:21; 1Thessalonians 5:23; 1John 3:1,2

6. Called saints is privileged aristocracy. Regeneration is the same for all dispensations; eternal life is for all generations. But we have all sorts of privilege. The aristocracy, the universal priesthood; all of that is privileged.

7. The agents in sanctification. God the Father is the author of the plan, therefore He is not an agent, but under Him there are three agents. The believer is not an agent. The agents do all of the work under the contract, and since under grace there is no place for human good, no place for works, there is no place for the believer to do anything. The believer is in the contract but he doesn't work under the contract or you don't produce the work. You produce divine good under a grace system.
 - a. The Son of God - Hebrews 10:10,14.
 - b. The Holy Spirit - Romans 15:16; 2Thessalonians 2:13.
 - c. The Word of God, Bible doctrine - John 17:17; Ephesians 5:26. The Word of God is the only source of divine revelation to the royal family.
8. All phases of sanctification are related to the angelic conflict. Phase one: regenerate mankind or royal family is positionally higher than angels. This is why Christianity is not a religion. Christianity is a relationship. God the Holy Spirit enters the believer into union with Christ. We share the life of Christ - eternal life. We share His destiny; we are predestined. We share His election; we are elected. We share His sonship, His heirship, His priesthood, His kingship. We share everything that Christ is. This is a relationship. Religion is man by man's efforts seeking to gain the approbation of God. Christianity is God coming to man with a grace system where man doesn't work. Religion is works; religion belongs to Satan. Christianity is grace, it belongs to God. In the first phase God the Holy Spirit puts us into union with Christ, Christ is seated at the right hand of the Father higher than angels, so that right now positionally we are higher than angels. Phase two sanctification is also related to the angelic conflict - the supergrace believer occupied with the person of Christ, glorifying God, resulting in the tactical victory. In other words, if the believer grows up in phase two that is the tactical victory. The believer is supergrace has capacity for life called the cup, and God pours blessing into that cup. God does the pouring and God gets the glory. So by reaching the tactical victory of supergrace we discover that God is the host and we are His guests in this world. Therefore the angels observe God's blessing the individual in tactical victory. Phase three sanctification: The royal family in a resurrection body is physically superior to angels. This we anticipate for the future in resurrection bodies.

“Grace to you” – the nominative singular of the noun charis (χάρις) [pronounced KHAHR-ic]. This is one of the descriptive words for the plan of God. It includes saving grace, logistical grace, super-grace, ultra-super-grace, dying grace, and eventually surpassing grace. All of these are various phases or stages of the plan of God; “to you” is the dative plural indirect object from the personal pronoun su, referring to us today just as much as to the Roman believers at the time that Paul wrote. The dative of indirect object means that the person who is mentioned in indirect object is specially blessed of God. Again, it has the concept of privilege of aristocracy.

We are sinners and evil and depraved by divine standards; God is perfect and we are sinners. The first that we need to learn in the plan of God is to do nothing. Believers do not learn this and they are constantly screwing up everything around them. God does not need our help or our cooperation. We function in God's plan in a total nonmeritorious way.

God is not interested in our money, our human power, human greatness, our personality, etc. When we get out in the real world, these various organizations make us think that everything depends upon us. It does not. It never has and it never will. If one believer can do one thing to help God, that throws everything out of whack. We are to stand still and be blessed. Don't hustle. Some of you think that you can bribe God with 10% of your measly income. We are required to comply to what He has provided. That is the only way that we can adjust to His plan.

“and peace” – the nominative singular of eirênê (εἰρήνη, ης, ῆ) [pronounced eye-RAY-nay]. The word means “prosperity.” The conjunction kai introduces the result which comes from what precedes, and is translated “and so.” This is the key to everything: prosperity. This is the purpose for God putting the believer into His plan. His purpose is to bless the believer, to give him eirênê (εἰρήνη, ης, ῆ) [pronounced eye-RAY-nay].

Since a woman is always responding to one man; so how can she be stable. The name Irene, which means, prosperity not peace.

Grace to you and prosperity...

As an aristocrat in God's plan, we do nothing. God does it all. God's purpose is to bless us; He is to give us εἰρήνη. This demonstrates to Satan that His plan is perfect. This demonstrates to Satan that his whole system is already lost. We are only left alive to be blessed by God. If we are doing something, we are messing up the plan.

There are a lot of mixed up fundies. They will tell you that you need to be suffering for Jesus. This happens when you crack the maturity barrier. Before then, it is to keep your feet to the fire; or discipline.

Or if you are enjoying something too much, you have to give it up. Bob was worried that all people in seminary were kooks. But, turns out only half of them were.

Bob talked to one guy in seminary who always had a long face. Bob asked him what was up, and he said, “I haven't given enough up.” Turns out he thought he should give up his wife. He enjoyed her company so much that he felt guilty about it. And he felt that he should give her up for Jesus. She was a magnificent person in every way, and he felt guilty about it.

How many times have you given up something because you were told that you need to give up something for Jesus. If you have to give up something, you need to do this on the basis of Bible doctrine. We are aristocracy; and we might as well be aristocracy. The manifestation of aristocracy comes only through spiritual growth.

1977 Romans

Lesson #12

12 01/23/1977 Romans 1:7c–8a Roman Empire; prosperity; concept of thanksgiving

3 things have made legitimate nations great. Total adherence to the principles of divine establishment. They are taught in the Word of God; they are also well-documented in many other sources. The second factor is to have a great spiritual heritage, those who understand the principles of Bible doctrine. Or, have a combination of the two.

Some have had a spiritual heritage began there and developed divine establishment concepts as a result. No greater nation today than Rhodesia.

Rome was not a race but an amalgam of peoples. Villanovans and the Latins. Not related to the present Italians. Then came others, the mountaineers like the Samites and the Sabines. Then a mysterious group, maybe the Lydians or Hittites, who became known as the Etruscans. These are all eventually amalgamated into a single race. They represent the rise to greatness. Many people from many different races developed a fanatical respect for law and order. They lasted longer as a nation. No greater people in all of history than the Romans.

We have not yet noted the changes which took place with the empire.

It is very interested that a group of people who were so establishment oriented. Liberals cannot stand that the Romans became greater as the Roman empire.

God the Holy Spirit gave to Paul, who was born Saul of Tarsus. He represents the best in establishment and the best in spiritual background. We are going to see why we are no longer a great nation. We came from Anglo-saxon concepts. Our background is similar to our ancestors across the water. We brought tons of immigrants for building. Many Orientals came to the United States and they are every bit as American as anyone else. We had Slavic peoples. We became an amalgamation of people. This requires something which binds these peoples together. Establishment principles can hold a people together.

Our peoples are held together by divine establishment principles. When private property becomes a thing of the past, we have lost the concept of establish. No Roman voted until he fulfilled his military service of 5 years minimum. The military is the basis for freedom. Labor unions should improve the quality of labor, not for demanding more money.

We have idiots in Congress and buffoons in the White House.

The fulness of time for the 1st advent of the Lord; and the right time. Jesus came at the right time, not during the Roman republic. No other people has been able to make a claim at 1000 years as a nation. Rome was greater while it was an empire, not while it was a republic.

There were five Julian emperors who followed Julius Cæsar, over a period of about 100 years. Then were the Flavians, then the Antonine emperors. These were provincial. It was during this period that doctrine was consolidated.

Roman Government and Culture

- A. Under Augustus, the government of the empire grew out of the genius of one man, Julius Cæsar. He developed this machinery. This would all peace, prosperity, a minimum amount of crime. Low on crime and strong on freedom. Slaves had rights before the law. There was a state religion. Power or a censor; he could appoint and degrade senators. These powers belonged to one man. Every man after that would be emperor Cæsar something. Citizens do not do well when all idiots have a say so in government.
- B. The establishment of the empire was a gradual process. We start 27 B.C. (sometimes 49, or 31 B.C. is used). Augustus was not a genius, even though Julius was. Then Tiberius took over and no end point for his rule was defined.
- C. The uncertainty of the succession of the emperor was the weakest point of this monarchy. Not hereditary or elective. There could be good or bad emperors, there was a system of government would use the best people to administer the affairs of the empire. Cæsar could rave in his palace or he could walk through the streets and be praised. Things still went on well.
- D. At home, the assembly stopped being a law-making body. They eventually faded away, as some think Congress should do.
- E. Institutions for self-governing. Rome stepped in when they strayed from these principles. A tendency toward localized government.
- F. The greatest stabilizer outside of the knights, etc.; was the army of about 400,000. You rarely saw any Roman soldiers. Only a handful needed for internal cities. Roman citizens considered this a privilege to do their duty. Some were mercenaries and after 20 years, upon discharge, they got Roman citizenship. This great discipline and amalgamation extended into the army. Tremendous discipline in the army carried Rome for many hundred years. Germans and the Bergundians being brought into the army caused the problems. The army was the source of establishment and it became the source of new citizens. All of the new citizens came from 20 years in the military. Greatest system of business occurred at this time.
- G. Social values. Veterans who became full Roman citizens settled in various colonies, like Philippi. Various troops stationed in other national places.
- H. Natural barriers on three sides and the ocean. It extended to various seas, rivers, and the Atlantic ocean. Very satisfactory boundaries.

Romans 1:7 To all those being in Rome beloved of God, called saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

The source of all of these things: "from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ." The Holy Spirit is not mentioned in this salutation. He is not mentioned in compatibility consistent with His function during this dispensation. During the Church Age the entire objective of God the Holy Spirit is to glorify the Lord Jesus Christ.

Despite who Nero was, the capable administrators continued the greatness of the Roman empire. There was a new sphere of prosperity which historians do not acknowledge. All Romans in the Roman world; and these people became the area which gave Rome this great prosperity. The Christians in the empire made all the difference. There came to exist in the Roman empire believers who were filled with all the fulness of God. Historians often said, if I were to live at any time, it would be during the Roman empire. This was an overflow of what happens when born-again believers take in Bible doctrine and the move through the stages of spiritual maturity. They had capacity for love, capacity for life, and the ability to face sufferings and any difficulty in life. They would be persecuted many times; and these persecutions purified the believers. Many of the martyrs were in reversionism. There would be freedom. Temporal blessings, like great wealth, received or acquired. Recognition in one's sphere of life. Social prosperity, business prosperity, mental prosperity, cultural prosperity, establishment prosperity, there would be leadership dynamics; blessing by association, historical impact. A.D. 96–192 is the golden period of the Roman empire.

Just after Paul wrote this great epistle, there would be a great impact on the world. Roman citizens all over, in Spain, in North African, in Palestine, and they would make an historical impact. The Romans did not have many great leaders; but they did have great citizens.

“from God our Father” – the preposition από (ἀπό) [pronounced aw-PO] plus the ablative of source of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], and patêr (πατήρ) [pronounced pat-AYR] for “Father,” a descriptive genitive, and a possessive genitive plural pronoun hêmôn (ἡμῶν) [pronounced hay-MOHN]. The first person of the Trinity becomes the Father of all believers. The Holy Spirit is not glorified. For many of these addresses, the Holy Spirit is not mentioned. The Holy Spirit is not here to glorify Himself but the glorify the Lord Jesus Christ. Groups which glorify the Holy Spirit are mixed up and out of line.

The first Member of the Trinity becomes our father because we are in Christ and we have made adjustment to the justice of God.

The believers who reach maturity are the answer to any country and the problems the country has. People in this congregation have spoken to people in the White House, and their recommendations have always been ignored. Under the influence of liberalism today, we support scum and we give them time to develop their revolutionary tendencies.

“and the Lord Jesus Christ” – a continuation of the prepositional phrase. Kurios (κύριος) [pronounced KOO-ree-oss] is used in a special way. The Romans recognized this word to represent ultimate authority. The ablative of source is a reminder that all authority is vested in the Lord Jesus Christ. He controls history and is the source of our blessing.

Romans 1:7 To all who are in Rome, dearly loved by God, privileged royalty: Grace to you and so prosperity from God our Father, and from the source of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Paul replaced his Jewish name with a Roman name. He is as much of a Roman as they are. He is free and a Roman citizen. Paul was free not to be free. He had the highest rank in the church as an Apostle, yet was a slave of Jesus Christ.

Verses 8-10, a prayer for these Romans.

Longing to Go to Rome

Romans 1:8 First indeed, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you, because your faith is being proclaimed in all the world.

Verse 8 – thanksgiving. “First,” the adverb prôtos (πρῶτος) [pronounced PROHT-oss] used in the sense of an adverbial accusative, the limited function of the accusative not directly complementing the verb. In other words, it limits by indicating a fact indirectly related to the action rather than having the usual accusative concept of the object of the verb. The object of the verb directly affects the action of the verb. This is indirect, and so an adverb is used in what is called the adverbial accusative. Paul uses the word “First,” not in the sense of the greeting previously given, but now he is coming to the content of his message to the Roman church, and before he does so he says first there is prayer. He is going to express some thanksgiving for some people he has never seen. This is the way to begin his prayer.

“I thank” – present active indicative of eucharisteô (εὐχαριστέω) [pronounced yew-khahr-ih-STEH-oh], an unusual word for thanksgiving which means to be thankful or to feel an obligation to thank. The latter is the meaning here. Paul is saying he has an obligation to the believers at Rome. The pictorial present tense here is used for something that is now going on, i.e. is his expression of what might be classified as doctrinal and historical thanksgiving. The active voice: Paul produces the action of the verb. Also there is the declarative indicative indicating that this is a genuine gratitude based on Bible doctrine, rather than merely perfunctory thanksgiving.

“my God” – the object of thanksgiving, the dative of indirect object theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], dative of advantage but with a possessive genitive from an intensive pronoun autós (αὐτὸς) [pronounced ow-TOSS] it emphasizes the identity of God as the only one toward whom the believer should direct thanksgiving. All thanksgiving must be related to God. Thanksgiving must be based on knowing God through doctrine resident in the soul. Cf. Psalm 100:3, 5—“to know that Jehovah himself is God.” To “know” means Bible doctrine.

Thanksgiving goes to God. In the status of maturity, we are occupied with the gift. We may lose a gift, but we never lose the source of these gifts.

The Doctrine of Thanksgiving

1. Thanksgiving is the daily act of rendering gratitude to God. And there is no gratitude to God apart from Bible doctrine in the soul. Thanksgiving is often a public acknowledgment or celebration of worship in which the goodness and graciousness of God are extolled, 1Chronicles 16:7-36.
2. Thanksgiving is the normal mental attitude of the royal family of God, Ephesians 5:20; 1Thessalonians 5:18.
3. Thanksgiving is based on knowing God through doctrine resident in the soul, gratitude towards God comes a little bit at the time. Psalm 100:3-5.

4. Thanksgiving goes hand in hand with capacity for life.
 5. Thanksgiving is a mental attitude of love.
 6. Thanksgiving is a priestly sacrifice. It was a sacrifice in the Old Testament, it is a sacrifice for the royal priesthood of the New, Psalm 116:17; 107:22; Amos 4:5; Hebrews 13:15.
 7. Thanksgiving is a supergrace function, Colossians 3:15; 2Corinthians 4:15. Maximum ability in thanksgiving is related to the supergrace life, therefore maximum thanksgiving comes from maximum doctrine in the soul. You must have doctrine in the soul before you have the mental attitude of thanksgiving. 2Corinthians 9:10,11, related to the priestly function of giving. Personal testimonies, Daniel 2:23; Romans 1:8; 1Corinthians 1:4; Philippians 1:3; 2Timothy 1:3.
 8. Thanksgiving is motivated, therefore, by Bible doctrine resident in the soul, Colossians 2:7. You have to be taught before you overflow in thanksgiving.
 9. Believers who are positive toward doctrine motivate thanksgiving in others, 1Thessalonians 3:9.
 10. Thanksgiving is related to the function of prayer, Colossians 4:2.
 11. God is the object of thanksgiving, 2Corinthians 9:15; Revelation 7:12
- This tracks well this the Thanksgiving doctrine from NB1. Some additional points were added.

Bob commiserates with some of the strangers there. It is hard to get into these medicine bottles because 27 kids got into an aspirin bottle and ate it and died. One person is looking at his watch or having a terrible time in class, so should I let you all out early? Not now and not ever. We never play the small percentages. "Just think, when this class is over, you can leave and not come back. In fact, I will even ask you not to come back. And let me tell you something, this is a damn friendly church too."

"through Jesus Christ" is the way in which we approach God in prayer. All prayer goes through Jesus Christ—dia plus the genitive of Iêsous (Ἰησοῦς) [pronounced ee-ay-SOOCE] Christos (χριστός) [pronounced krees-TOHSS]. All effective prayer goes through the High Priest.

"for you all" – peri plus the genitive of pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs] and su, "for all of you." The plural pronoun refers to the Roman believers, and where thanksgiving exists there must be a reason and now Paul states that reason.

Romans 1:8a First I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you [you Romans]...

1977 Romans

Lesson #13

13 01/23/1977 Romans 1:8b–9a Roman Empire; prosperity; "God is my witness"

Roman Culture and History

- A. Good government and bad Cæsars. The system of government became so fixed in the rest of the world, that it moved along regardless of the Cæsar who was in charge. The Roman empire moved along with or without them. This means that Julius Cæsar devised a great system.
- B. There was peace and prosperity in the empire of Rome. There was a revolt in Britain, and this was little more than a frontier war. The rebellion of the Jews came at the same time. In England, in Gaul and in Palestine. 200 years of world peace, as far as they were concerned. Never before or since has there been so much freedom from war as was enjoyed at this time. The Mediterranean was a Roman sea. The golden age of humanity was the rule of the Antonines. During this time, the canon of Scripture for the New Testament was completed.
- C. There was great wealth and the growth of cities. Very beautiful markets of palaces, the footpaths became the greatest system of roads, their huts turned into palaces, and their water management... The virgin with her arms filled with wheat was indicative of great farming. When Cæsar came to power, there were no cities (in a particular area) but later 116 cities with aqueducts, schools, roads, buildings; beginning the greatness of western European civilization. The Romans were very particular about separating water from sewage. For the first time, everyone survived because they separated the water supply from sewage. Their water was probably better than in London today. They had public baths. This was the gymnasium and there were entire pools for bathing and 60,000 could be in a bath at any time. Each day the world becomes greater. Recent deserts bloom with beauty. Everywhere, there are houses, people and cities.
- D. The industry. Most of the cities depended upon agriculture. In Houston, there are 2-3 days worth of food in the city today. Alexandria, Corinth, and many other major cities with free enterprise and manufacturing. No one is idle. Money is the only god. Weaving in Sidon and the Phœnician city, they turned out the purple cloth known well among the Romans. Other places produced silk and other produced woolen products. 200+ places where oil was sold (in one city?). 75–80 million people living in small towns of 20,000 or less. It was so great, that wealth was beyond description. The baker, the mason and others might have 3 dozen slaves under them. A middle class of Romans. Eye and ear doctors and dentists. One speaks of his income as 600,000 sesterces a year. Banking, commerce, all famous.
- E. Travel and communication improved greatly. Piracy in the seas reduced; ports filled with boats and sails. An immense amount of traffic going across the Mediterranean. Also great trade with India and China crossing over the Indian Ocean. There were guidebooks about routes and there were even books on inns. Imperial couriers going up and down these roads. They would travel 100-150 miles to get messages from officials to other officials.
- F. Great foreign commerce. Products in one part of the empire being demanded by others. Women of the Swiss mountains had jewelry made from far away. Trade systems were in full sway. English and Dutch traders from America brought back furs. Toys, trinkets, wines, iron arms. East Africa and central Africa many things were brought in, including Negro slaves. Very unusual things brought in from all over. The gold supply began to be pulled out of Rome. They had the largest known gold supply, so India and China began to demand gold. India alone drew many 2 million dollars worth of gold each year.

- G. Banking and became very important. Early Greeks buried their mother, but they were taught not to do so. They began to put their money with bankers and they received interest. Borrowed capital became quite a thing; money lending. Bank drafts, bills of exchange. A slip of paper could be a very safe way to travel. Emperor Tiberius put a huge amount of gold into their treasury and this was the gold standards that they kept on.
- H. Taxation and roads. Heavy taxation. Provinces paid a lot. Land taxes; poll taxes. Goods departing. Inheritance 5%; Egyptian grain tax. Many systems of taxes within the Roman empire. The government encouraged free enterprise to do things, like schools and hospitals. Strong government but it did not destroy people's industry.
- I. Over 4 million people outside of Italy became citizens under... Gradually, 25 million people were citizens.
- J. At the time of the writing of Romans, there was great comradery among Romans. The lowest crime rate in history. They believed in capital punishment. Decapitation for a Roman citizen; and crucifixion was used on non-Romans. Hardly any crime anywhere. No pirates. The punishment was devastating. The Mamertine jail was practically empty later. Cæsar used to fill it up with Christians before sending them out before the lions. People all over the empire were happy being Romans. A person was a Roman not because of his race but because of his citizenship and it was highly prized. East spoke Koine Greek; and the west began to take up Latin. These were equivalent languages. The Latin helps us to understand the Greek. Many people were bilingual.
- K. There was a defusion of social life. It was not centered in Rome. Her walls were no longer... The walls in other cities were considered Rome. The pulse of Roman life began to beat more strongly in other cities outside of Rome.
- L. Rome finally started to become educated. It became great by ignoring public education. Rome, Alexandria, ____, Tarsus near to those three. Cleopatra was a guest professor in Alexandria. The government gave large sums of money to these universities. The professors had great salaries, assured retirement after 20 years. Language, rhetoric, and philosophy. Music, mathematics. No military in the education; that continued with the Praetorium guard.
- M. Also grammar schools endowed by the emperors from Vespasian and further. Not universal. The instructors had great professors. Maps and facts all over the walls and those things had to be learned before the person was able to move to another room.

Review of the translation.

Romans 1:8 First indeed, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you, because your faith is being proclaimed in all the world.

“that” – the causal conjunction hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee], should be translated “because.” We are going to have an explanation for this thanksgiving.

“your faith” – the nominative singular from the noun pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs], which refers to several things here. It is correctly translated “faith,” but it has meanings other than our understanding of the English word. It refers not only to the function of the faith-rest technique but it refers specifically to that portion of the function of the F/R technique—positive volition toward doctrine assimilated into the left lobe and then transferred finally to the right lobe. It means faith in relationship to the function of GAP. In other words, the Romans were learning doctrine.

“is spoken of” – present passive indicative of katangéllō (καταγγέλλω) [pronounced kat-ang-GHEHL-low] which means to celebrate or to proclaim. It means a fact that is well-known and recognized as commendable. It had become well-known throughout the empire that there were believers in Rome who were positive toward doctrine and were taking it in on a daily basis. The present tense is a historical present viewing a past event with the vividness of a present occurrence. The passive voice: doctrinal perception and the faith function in GAP of the Roman believers receives the action of the verb “celebration.” There is something to celebrate about when people are positive toward doctrine. That is the principle. The indicative mood is declarative, it represents the verbal idea from the viewpoint of reality and unqualified assertion of fact—“because your faith is celebrated/proclaimed.”

“throughout the whole world” – the preposition en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of holos (ὅλος, η, ον) [pronounced HOH-loss] plus kósmos (κόσμος) [pronounced KOSS-moss]. The Roman world was the entire world.

Romans 1:8 First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you [Romans], because your faith [doctrine] is celebrated throughout the entire world.

Romans 1:9 For God, whom I serve in my spirit in the gospel of His Son, is my witness how unceasingly I make mention of you,...

Verse 9 – “For God is my witness.” The conjunctive particle gar is used for a continuation and a transition from thanksgiving as one part of prayer to intercession as the next part of prayer. The subject ho theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] is in the nominative, referring to God. Then the present active indicative of the verb eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME], the verb to be. This is the present tense of duration, it denotes what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. God was always the witness with regard to any statement that Paul made that became a part of the canon. The active voice: God produced the action of the verb in observing Paul and all believers, and verifying certain facts herein stated. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of reality, and it connotes the alertness of the justice of God. In the predicate nominative we have the noun mártus (μάρτυς) [pronounced MAHR-tooç], it means a witness in a legal sense. So we have the perfect witness, for God the Father who sits in the supreme court of heaven is the witness to the operation of every believer, whether he adjusts to the justice of God or not.

Bob goes through many languages and this word, including Sanscrit and Anglo-saxon.

The whole issue is to adjust (or not adjust) to the justice of God. The justice of God is like a funnel, and every blessing and all discipline must come own through that funnel, the funnel of the justice of God. When we believe in Jesus Christ, that is instant adjustment to the justice of God. The second adjustment if citing our sins when we commit them. How we feel is not the issue, but we simply cite the sin and it is forgiven.

When a person says, with God as my witness, that is dishonest for the believer who is immature. Only the mature believer can say this phrase.

“my” – genitive singular from the pronoun egô: mou (μου) [pronounced moo]. This indicates that God belongs to Paul as his witness, indicating the fact that God is the only one who can vindicate or justify. Only God has the right of vindication, only God is the true witness, and only God has all the facts. Principle: What people think of you doesn't mean a thing. It is what God thinks of you that counts. What God thinks depends upon doctrine resident in your soul. You adjust to the justice of God by means of the doctrine in your soul.

1977 Romans

Lesson #14

14 01/24/1977 Romans 1:9b–10a Roman Empire morals; doctrine of prayer (effectiveness)

Morals of the Roman Empire

- A. The orgies of the Roman empire are well recorded by many different historians. They might continue for a week at a time or even a month at a time. High class prostitutes might be hired. They had many things to entertain. They may start with 1000 prostitutes, but later, they might bring in elephants or alligators. The divorce rate in Rome skyrocketed. Two mistakes do not undo the first mistake. Slavery became very extensive. Gladiator sports designed to give others the thrill to watch others die on the gladiator stage. The collected dwarfs and would have them kill one another for entertainment. Then the last one standing might be killed by an elephant.
- B. This can be overemphasized; and Christians and the infiltration of Bible doctrine began to turn these things around. Certain people began to scream for a better morality. Juvinal and Tacitus, the historian. The letters of Pliny revealed that there were some high-minded people of the Roman empire. One man might complain about his unfaithful wife; and next door, the man would praise his wife. This is a quote from someone.
- C. The woman's position improved considerably. Animals were treated with more kindness. Slavery grew milder. Harsh skepticism was toned down. Doctrine began to take hold. A back to the land movement about this time. A new enthusiasm among the citizens of Rome for military service and the concept of enlisting for the army.

- D. The women. Roman law finally came to say that the woman was equal to the man before the law. There was a time when a woman could not come to court. A higher view of marriage now. Plutarch and Seneca both talked about men being judged by the same standards as women. Equal rights before the law. Women became doctors for the first time in history. Women physicians became very outstanding at this time. One historian complains of being corrected by them.
- E. There was a principle of charity. Homes were developed for orphans. Large gifts of money was given to cities to build libraries, to repair the pavement and sewers, to provide help for the outcasts.
- F. Kindness to animals came into its own. Protest even then about hunting wild animals. Laws against wanton cruelty to animals. Better treatment of animals than people being treated today. A tombstone with a message about a dog. Another woman's verse was about a dog that she had. Crueller exceptions in the gladiator games.
- G. Slavery grew milder. Emancipation on an individual basis is the only true solution to slavery. One master freed 100,000 slaves; another freed 400,000 after 6 or 7 years of service. Slaves were given rights under the law. Some sold themselves into slavery because there were better opportunities. It was unconstitutional for Lincoln to call up volunteers to go after southern plantation owners.
- H. The sympathy and compassion of people in the empire for all races began to broaden. Philosophers began to talk about a brotherhood of all men. Marcus Areleus persecuted Christians, also made some enlightened statements.
- I. The gentler spirit of the imperial law. Same law, but it was broadened to show a more enlightened attitude. Torture use to extract confessions was removed. Better to let the guilty escape than to punish the innocent. Another saying, all men under the law are equal. Things were on the move, and doctrine was making inroads.

Romans 1:9 For God, whom I serve in my spirit in the gospel of His Son, is my witness how unceasingly I make mention of you,...

“whom I serve” is the dative masculine singular of the relative pronoun hos, whose antecedent is God the Father. This is the dative of possession. This is a Greek idiom for which there is no exact English equivalent. It is a personal interest particularized to the point of ownership. By our initial adjustment to the justice of God at the cross God the Father owns each one of us. We are in effect His slaves. Paul points out that he is in the service of the Lord, as are all members of the royal family—the present active indicative of the verb latreuō (λατρεύω) [pronounced lat-RYOO-oh], the word for service here. It is derived from a noun, latros (λατρος), which means wages or rewards. From this came another word into existence, latria (λατρία), which is a person who works for wages, a servant. Then came the verb latreuō (λατρεύω) [pronounced lat-RYOO-oh] which was used by the Greeks for service to the gods. But in the New Testament it refers to the priestly ministry of every believer.

The basic function of full-time Christian service is to take in Bible doctrine. Latreuô (λατρεύω) [pronounced lat-RYOO-oh] refers primarily to the believer's attitude toward Bible doctrine, his absorption and perception of doctrine, and the relationship of that to the Lord. In Philippians 3:3 is the verb latreuô (λατρεύω) [pronounced lat-RYOO-oh] used for maturity adjustment to the justice of God. The verb is in the present tense of duration denotes what was begun in the past, continuing into the present time. Throughout the Church Age this principle remains true. The moment the believer is born again is the moment of entering into full-time Christian service. The active voice: Paul is producing the action here as a mature believer, but all of us produce the action regardless of our status. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic, unqualified assertion of fact.

“with my spirit” – remembering that the service here is primarily the perception of doctrine, it is accomplished with the spirit. This is the preposition en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental of pneuma (πνεῦμα) [pronounced PNYOO-mah]. This is the human spirit where doctrine is stored, where doctrine is converted from gnôsis (γνώσις) [pronounced GNOH-sis] to epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis]. The function of GAP is the means of making maturity adjustment to the justice of God, and the storage of doctrine and the processing of doctrine occurs in the human spirit.

“in the gospel of his Son” refers to the function of Paul as a specific. Everyone must find their niche, and Paul found his in this sense. This is the preposition en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental of euangelion (εὐαγγέλιον) [pronounced yoo-ang-GHEL-ee-on]—“by means of the gospel.” There is also the genitive of reference huios (υἱός, οὐ, ὁ) [pronounced hwee-OSS], referring to the Lord Jesus Christ. This is the word for a mature son, plus the genitive of relationship of the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS] used to identify the Lord Jesus Christ and relate Him to God the Father who sent Him.

We receive 36 things at salvation, and those things cannot be changed, lost or improved. This is the result of an instant adjustment to the justice of God. Justice works; not man. We are not saved because of personality or good works or any other thing. Salvation precedes service.

Romans 1:9 For the God, whom I continue to serve with my spirit by means of the gospel with reference to His Son...

“that without ceasing” – a conjunction of comparison hôs (ὡς) [pronounced hohç], generally translated in this kind of condition “how.” Plus an adverb of unvarying practice, adialeiptôs (ἀδιαλείπτως) [pronounced ad-ee-al-IPE-toce], which means “constantly”—“how constantly.”

“I make mention” – present middle indicative of the verb poieô (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh], which means to make, to do, produce; and with it the object, the accusative singular direct object mneía (μνεία) [pronounced MNI-ah] which means to mention. You suddenly remember someone, and you then mention them. The present tense is a historical present, it views the past event of Paul's intercessory prayers for the Romans with the vividness of a present occurrence. He remembers them even though he doesn't know them. Their fame has gone before them, their attitude toward doctrine has become well known, they are in one of the most difficult places to live as unto the Lord, and Paul remembers them whenever he starts to pray. He is forced to remember them because of their dynamic attitude toward doctrine. The middle voice is an indirect middle which emphasizes Paul as a mature believer producing the action of the verb, rather than participating in the results. The declarative mood views the action of the verb from the viewpoint of reality.

Doctrine is going to change the Roman Empire. God must honor His Word. This does not preclude works.

These Romans are on the right track; and Paul prays for them. Doctrine can stop communism; doctrine changes people.

Thieme is reading a book, "How to live with a bitch." This book can still be found for about $50 on Amazon. Bob has skimmed it and has found some very quotable things. It is possible to live with a woman all your life. Everyone gets worked up and they want to do something great for God. You do not start a bombing mission until you are briefed. The Ploesti bombing mission. They had National Geographic magazine maps and that is what they handed out.

In the divine plan, you need to be briefed. The briefing comes from Bible doctrine in the soul.

"of you" – he prays for them because they are on the right track. It is easy to get off the track. This is the objective genitive plural from the personal pronoun su, referring to all of these believers living in Rome. The historical present is always translated as a past tense in compatibility with Greek usage. Note that Paul makes intercession for believers whom he has never seen.

Romans 1:9 For the God, Whom I continue to serve in my spirit in the gospel of His Son, is my witness how constantly (unceasingly) I make mention of you,...

The words "in prayer" could be added because that is what is coming up next. This is where the verse actually stops, the next verse starting, "always in my prayers." The verse is apparently divided up differently in different manuscripts.

Romans 1:10 ...always upon my prayers imploring, if perhaps now at last by the will of God I will make a prosperous journey to come to you.

Verse 10 – "Always in my prayers." The adverb pántote (πάντοτε) [pronounced PAHN-toht-eh] which means "always," it indicates something about all, and about prayer. First of all he uses prayer for what it is, one of the greatest weapons that God ever put in our hands, which when used properly has fantastic power. Used improperly it has no power at all. It all depends on whether the believer knows the weapon or not. Then this verse tells us that

Paul is consistent and stable. He prayed for them once and kept on praying for them. Stability comes through maximum doctrine resident in the soul, maximum adjustment to the justice through the daily function of GAP. With this is a preposition, epí (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE], plus the genitive of proseuchê (προσευχή) [pronounced pros-yoo-KHAY] for “prayer.”^[12]

Paul had a very effective prayer life because he had doctrine in his soul. You use prayer effectively when you know it.

There are apparently 3 or so doctrines of prayer in NB1. Bob’s teaching lines up with the first one of that group. The last point was expanded by Bob so it was taken from one of the other doctrines on prayer.

The Doctrine of Prayer

1. There are three categories of prayer received by God the Father:
 - a. Prayer from the high priest. The royal high priest is Jesus Christ, and right now at the right hand of the Father he offers prayer - Hebrews 7:25.
 - b. Prayer is from God the Holy Spirit. This is the age of the royal priesthood, the royal family. We are members of the body of Christ, Christ is royalty, we are one with Him, we are royalty spiritually. Therefore God the Holy Spirit does something in this dispensation He has never done before and will never do again, He offers prayer on our behalf. Romans 8:26,27.
 - c. Prayers from the royal family of God.
2. Prayer approach for the royal priesthood.
 - a. All prayer is addressed to the Father; no Dear Jesus or O Holy Ghost - Matthew 6:9; Ephesians 3:14; 1Peter 1:17.
 - b. The channel of approach is through the High Priest - John 14:13,14. You do not have to put in Christ’s name at the end of the prayer. You do not have to state the fact in order to make the prayer effective.
 - c. The power of approach is the filling of the Holy Spirit - Ephesians 6:18.
3. Extrapolation of prayer promises. Ask in faith. Prayer is related to the faith-rest technique - Matthew 18:19; 21:22; Mark 11:24. Prayer promises are to give you confidence as you approach the Father in the name of the Son in the power of the Spirit. OT promises - Psalm 116:1,2; Isaiah 65:24; Jeremiah 33:3. NT promises - Matthew 7:7,8; John 14:13,14; 15:7; Ephesians 6:18; Philippians 4:6; 1Thessalonians 5:17; Hebrews 4:16.
 - a. Women in Wheaton college who prayed with a friend that she might get this guy to marry her.
 - b. God is not a genie granting prayers Tuesdays and Thursdays.
4. There are eight basic principles of prayer.
 - a. Prayer effectiveness depends on the consistent function of GAP and resultant Bible doctrine in the soul. John 15:7; Ephesians 3:16-19.
 - b. Prayer is an extension of the faith-rest technique. It is actually a faith-rest exhale toward God - you inhale doctrine and exhale prayer Matthew 21:22.

- c. Prayer demands cognizance of the will of God and therefore demands maximum doctrine in the soul through GAP - 1John 5:14. Do not pray for things where God has said no.
 - d. Generally prayer must be offered in the spiritual status of the filling of the Spirit - Ephesians 6:18. The exception is a rebound prayer for a carnal believer or a repentance prayer for a reversionist.
 - e. Mental attitude sins result from both carnality and reversionism and these destroy the effectiveness of prayer - Psalm 66:18.
 - f. Efficacious prayer exists to the extent that the believer is grace oriented. Therefore the believer begins to be effective when he begins the construction of the edification complex structure
 - g. The eternal decrees took cognizance of all effective prayer in time. Jeremiah 33:3 God has answered our prayers in eternity past. There are answers in the divine decrees waiting for you to offer up the prayer.
 - h. Prayer effectiveness reaches its zenith at the time of supergrace status - Psalm 116:1,2.
 - i. Prayers are not a vehicle for us to get back at other believers. Imprecation prayers are just no good.
5. The agenda for private prayer. Confession of sin or rebound - 1John 1:9; 1Corinthians 11:31; Thanksgiving - Ephesians 5:20; 1Thessalonians 5:18; Intercession - Ephesians 6:18; Petition - Hebrews 4:16.
 6. There are some people who can pray 7 or 8 hours a day, those whose prayer life is effective. This is a gift that some have.
 7. Sometimes it is not good to share your personal things for other to pray for; as sometimes, that becomes fodder for gossip.
 8. The doctrine of intercession.
 - a. The dynamics of intercessory prayer is taught in passages like 1Kings 18:42-46, the principle being found in James 5:16-18.
 - b. The power of prevailing prayer - Acts 12.
 - c. The prayer for the unbeliever - Romans 10:1. (You cannot pray for something that will coerce their volition, so you pray that the gospel message will be made clear to them, will be revealed to them)
 - d. Prayer for an unknown believer - Colossians 1:3-11.
 - e. Prayer for the known believer - Ephesians 1:15-23.
 - f. The Lord's prayer - John 17.
 9. There are four categories for petition in prayer. Petition-desire
 - a. Positive-negative (Each petition is divided into two parts, the petition which is what you actually say; the desire, which is what you really want) in which the petition is answered with a positive but the desire behind the petition is not answered - 1Samuel 8:5-9; 8:19,20. The Jews asked for a king so that they could be like other nations, and God gave them a king - Saul - but they weren't like other nations, they had more trouble than all the others.

- b. The negative-positive, where the petition is not answered but the desire is - Genesis 17:18; 18:23-33; 2Corinthians 12:7-10. This is where God says no to the petition but He gives you the desire behind it.
 - c. Positive-positive, the ideal prayer, where the petition is answered and the desire is also answered - 1Kings 18:36,37; Judges 16:28; Luke 23:42,43; John 11:41,42,45.
 - d. Negative-negative, the worst prayer of all where neither the petition nor the desire is answered.
10. Nine reasons for negative-negative - why prayer is not answered.
- a. Carnality or reversionism or both causes failure to be filled with the Spirit. Failure to be filled with the Spirit means failure in prayer - Ephesians 6:18.
 - b. Mental attitude sins caused by either carnality or reversionism hinder prayer - Psalm 66:18.
 - c. The specific Satanic sin of pride and resultant self-righteousness. This is not just the mental attitude sin but what comes from it. Job 35:12,13 says this person is dead when it comes to prayer.
 - d. Lust type selfishness - James 4:2-4.
 - e. The malfunction of faith-rest - Mark 11:24. This means negative volition, toward doctrine, one of the maladies of reversionism.
 - f. A general lack of obedience or a lack of subordination to divinely constituted authority - 1John 3:22.
 - g. Insubordination to the known will of God - 1John 5:14.
 - h. Malfunction of marriage. Lack of domestic tranquillity - 1Peter 3:7.
 - i. Reversionistic lack of compassion and grace orientation. If you are legalistic your prayer life is ineffective. Proverbs 21:13.
11. The principle of grace in prayer.
- a. The scripture tells us that grace is a principle in prayer - Hebrews 4:16; 1Peter 1:7.
 - b. Prayer is the privilege of the royal priesthood, and since grace is the basis of prayer no believer can come to God in prayer and expect to be heard on the basis of his human merit, ability, or any other human success story.
 - c. In other words, every believer approaches God on the basis of the merits of Jesus Christ. The Father has already been propitiated with Christ and since He is no respecter of persons as far as we are concerned He accepts and hears our prayer on the basis of the fact that we are in Christ. In other words, God doesn't answer prayer because I'm good, because I'm benevolent, because I'm sincere, etc. God hears and answers prayer on the basis of who and what Christ is.

“Sincerity does not mean a thing. You can smile until your teeth get sunburned.”

Sincerity is a trap for Christians.

15 01/25/1977 Romans 1:10b–11a "God willing"; documentation of the reversionism of Paul; enthusiasm

J. Robert Sachel writing an article for the Washington Post. Recovering of the floundering world economy is dependent upon the domestic policies of the United States.

The Greek in the book of Romans is extremely difficult. A tremendous amount of idiom. Over 15 hapax legomenas in this first chapter.

Bob never complains about the difficulty of a passage, because that is his responsibility to dig out the truth.

Corrected translation thus far.

Romans 1:10 ...always upon my prayers imploring, if perhaps now at last by the will of God I will make a prosperous journey to come to you.

“making request” – present middle participle from the verb deomai (δέομαι) [pronounced DEH-om-ahee]. The original significance of this word is to lack, to be in need of. In other words, to be short of something, to be aware of the fact that you had a need and to seek implementation. In the Koine Greek of the New Testament, however, deomai (δέομαι) [pronounced DEH-om-ahee] finally change a little and advanced to mean to ask, to seek; not only recognizing the need but looking for the solution. When used for requests to God it refers to petition. The present tense is a tendencial present for a petition which is purposed, though it has not yet taken place. The middle voice is the direct middle describing the agent as participating in the results of the action. Therefore the subject acts with a view toward participating in the outcome. Paul is very definitely related to the Romans in this prayer. The participle is a temporal participle and it should be translated “Always in my prayers when offering a petition.”

“if by any means” – we have a conditional particle, ei (εἰ) [pronounced ī], which introduces a first class condition. Also an enclitic particle, -pōs (-πώς) [pronounced poce], which means “somehow”—“if somehow.”

“now at length” – an adverb of time, êdê (ἤδη) [pronounced AY-day], plus an enclitic particle of time, poté (ποτέ) [pronounced poht-EH], “at last.” Paul is looking forward to an event with anticipation of great blessing. These four particles together indicate some excitement on Paul’s part; anticipation. Looking forward to an event. If somehow, now at last...

“I might have a prosperous journey” – future passive indicative from the compound verb, euodoō (εὐοδῶ) [pronounced you-oh-DOH-oh] [eû (εὐ) [pronounced yoo] = good or prosperous; hodos (ὁδός, οὐ, ἦ) [pronounced ho-DOSS] = road], and it means to get along well, to prosper, to succeed. The verb is derived from an adjective, euodos, which means easy to travel. The passive voice plus the infinitive suggests the translation “I will succeed.” Paul is anticipating success. This is a gnomic future tense, a statement of fact or performance which may be rightfully expected under normal conditions—divine guidance.

“by the will of God” – he wants the Romans to know that when he gets to Rome it is because God wants him to be there, and he is there to give them doctrine. [Paul’s reversionism began right here.^[13]

We do not add, God willing to everything that they say. Obviously, things must be within God’s will. These phrases are a facade of meaningless language.

Here is the statement that it was the will of God for him to come to Rome, but he turned around and went the other way] This is en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental of thelêma (θέλημα) [pronounced THEHL-ay-mah], “by the will.” Then comes a possessive genitive from theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—“of the God.” Note that the absence of the definite article in the Greek calls special attention to the noun—anartharous construction. But we have a definite article here—tou theou in the genitive case. The definite article plus the proper noun indicates someone well-known to the readers. The implication is that when you get into the book of Romans you know something about God.

Paul’s teaching here puts to shame many commentators.

Principle: When God becomes familiar to you personally then you become familiar with His plan. You read yourself into His plan and therefore there is nothing in history that can disturb you. And there should be nothing in your life that can disturb you because you know God personally.

This is a first class condition indicating Paul’s awareness of God’s will to go to Rome. Instead, Paul in emotional revolt will go in the opposite direction.

“to come unto you” – aorist active infinitive of the verb érchomai (ἐρχομαι) [pronounced AIR-khoh-my], the verb to come. The aorist tense is a gnomic aorist which is for a generally accepted fact regarded as the will of God. The aorist is used as though it were an actual occurrence. The Greek idiom calls for an English present in a correct translation. The active voice: Paul produces the action of the verb. The infinitive is intended result, not actual, in which the result indicated is fulfilling a deliberate aim or purpose, a part of the will of God. Hence, we have a blending of purpose and result; “unto you” – prós (πρός) [pronounced pross] plus the accusative plural of the personal pronoun su—“face to face with all of you.”

Romans 1:10 Always in my prayers when offering a petition, that if somehow now at last I will succeed by the will of God in coming face to face with all of you.

Paul was tried 3x in Jerusalem, by Felix, by Festus and then by Agrippa. He got three raw deals in three trials, and he appeals to Cæsar. Once you utter those words, only Cæsar has jurisdiction. He was therefore transported to Rome. Paul was in Rome when he wrote the prison epistles (A.D. 61–62). He is in supergrace A and B in Rome; and ultra super grace when he writes to Timothy. When imprisoned, he wrote Ephesians, one of the greatest epistles.

The eighth and final point in the introduction. Paul's traveling motives. We learn his motivation. All of these things are involved.

Some people ask for the will of God in order to get out of something. Can I divorce my wife (husband)? When Bob taught RM/RW. He communicates this doctrine well done. Some women, a flea-brained flibbity gibbet. I am not married to my right man, therefore I can divorce him and find my right man. The man who got out of this deal—it was not his fault—he is blessed today like nobody's business.

Paul's traveling motivation. That he longs to see the Romans; he is enthusiastic about meeting people that he does not know. He is enthusiastic about God. That is legitimate.

Romans 1:11 For I long to see you, that I may impart some spiritual gift to you, to your strengthening,...

Verse 11 – “For” is the explanatory conjunctive particle gar which provides an additional explanation for Paul's desire to come to Rome.

“I long” – present active indicative from the verb epipothēō (ἐπιποθέω) [pronounced ep-ee-poth-EH-oh] [epí (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] = beside; potheō = to desire], to desire beside or to have a yearning or extremely strong desire. A desire which includes stimulation of the right lobe and the response of the emotion. The present tense is a descriptive present, it indicates what is now going on at the time that Paul writes. The active voice: Paul produces the action of the verb through the ministry of God the Holy Spirit. The indicative mood is declarative for historical reality. With this is an aorist active infinitive of the verb eidō (εἶδω) [pronounced ī-doh], meaning to see. This is a constative aorist, it gathers into one entirety Paul's enthusiasm. The active voice: Paul produces the enthusiasm because he has great capacity for life. This is also the infinitive of purpose: Paul hasn't done this yet; he wants to see Rome. Then we have the accusative plural direct object from the personal pronoun su, referring to the Romans.

A place to go, people to meet, and something to do—that is the enthusiasm of life.

1977 Romans

Lesson #16

16 01/26/1977 Romans 1:11b–12 "Sharing"; exploitation of spiritual gifts; pastor–teacher encouraged to study by positive volition

Russia is able to launch an attack which would wipe out NATO. US strategic response functions need to be revised. The Soviets have a quantum jump in fire power. Soviet is updating; and NATO has outdated equipment.

Romans 1:11 For I long to see you, that I may impart some spiritual gift to you, to your strengthening,...

“that” – the conjunction hina (ἵνα) [pronounced HEE-na] indicates the purpose clause; the aorist active subjunctive of the verb metadidōmi (μεταδίδωμι) [pronounced met-ad-IHD-oh-mee] [meta = with; didōmi (δίδωμι) [pronounced dihd-OH-mee] = give] which means to share with. However, it doesn't mean to share his experiences, it means to communicate Bible doctrine. This is not “sharing” which emphasizes the dominance of emotion in the spiritual life, and we know that is not correct. The aorist tense is a constative aorist, it contemplates Paul's teaching of doctrine in its entirety but emphasizes it in the direction now of the Roman believers. The active voice: Paul produces the action of the verb. The subjunctive mood is both potential and indicates a purpose clause. There is a future reference here also and it is qualified by the element of contingency. He knows that it is God's will for him to come but the exact time is unknown.

There is also a verbal noun, charisma (χάρισμα) [pronounced KHAHR-ees-mah], the word for spiritual gifts. It means something which is freely and graciously given, and it is a reference to the gift of communication, the gift of teaching, which Paul possessed as an apostle. It was graciously bestowed by the Holy Spirit at the point of Paul's salvation on the Damascus road. (It is absolutely no good without training and preparation) We do not need more pastors today, we need simply prepared pastors who have had the training and the discipline academically and in every other way so that the gift can be properly utilized. No one ever exploited the teaching gift as did the apostle Paul. His exploitation included his constant intake of doctrine, his refusal to be detracted from doctrine and therefore his perpetuation of grace orientation in his life. Paul says, “That I may impart you some spiritual gift.” But that isn't quite what he said. He is not imparting a spiritual gift (only the Holy Spirit can do that), he is sharing his spiritual gift with them, which means a teaching ministry.

Paul was famous for many things, like his persecution of the church. He needed to be prepared. Christian colleges are generally hotheads of legalism today. Paul went away into the desert of Arabia, three years of intense study.

It is not necessary for a pastor teacher to become involved with people or with fellowship. A pastor teacher must cater to Bible doctrine, not to people. Basically, a pastor is a student all of his life. Bob takes an exam every day that he teaches.

All of the Apostles had this same thing, charisma (χάρισμα) [pronounced KHAHR-ees-mah]. Paul exploited his spiritual gift of teaching more than any other of the Apostles. Having a spiritual gift does to mean that you are some great person or that you will do great things for God. Hard word exploits the genius of man.

Current culture discourages the use of genius.

Most politicians are not very bright. If they were too bright, they could not live with themselves. The news media is trying to run the country; they want everyone to fit in their place. The News media plays the less than 1%. They have no morality; only reversionism.

Paul is not distributing spiritual gifts; he is sharing his spiritual gift with others (his gift of teaching).

Along with charisma (χάρισμα) [pronounced KHAHR-ees-mah] is also an accusative neuter singular from the adjective pneumatikos (πνευματικός) [pronounced nyoo-mat-EEK-oss] which means “pertaining to the spirit.” This is where we get the word “spiritual.” Both the adjective pneumatikos (πνευματικός) [pronounced nyoo-mat-EEK-oss] and the noun charisma (χάρισμα) [pronounced KHAHR-ees-mah] are called the adverbial accusative of manner. Sometimes, as here, the accusative does not directly complement the verb but it qualifies it in an indirect way. The verb is metadidōmi (μεταδίδωμι) [pronounced met-ad-IHD-oh-mee] which means to share with. Paul will share something important by means of his spiritual gift. The dative plural indirect object from su—“you,” which means the Romans are going to be the object of it. What Paul has to share relates to adjustment to the justice of God, the true concept of justification.

“to the end ye may be established” – the preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative of the definite article with an aorist passive articular infinitive. The verb in the infinitive is stêrizô (στηρίζω) [pronounced stay-RIHD-zoh]. The aorist passive infinitive means to strengthen or to stabilize. Stêrizô (στηρίζω) [pronounced stay-RIHD-zoh] was first used by Homer, so it is a very old verb going back to the ninth century BC. Homer used this verb in the aorist and in the pluperfect meaning to make fast. Finally, after Homer’s time it came to mean to support or to fix something so that it stands upright and is immovable. The passive voice: means to be established or stabilized. The aorist tense is culminative, it views the daily function of GAP in its entirety but it emphasizes the existing results of mature adjustment to the justice of God, cracking the maturity barrier. The passive voice: the believer receives maturity adjustment to the justice of God through his consistent positive volition toward the teaching of Bible doctrine. The infinitive is an intended result in which the result is indicated as fulfilling an objective in the soul of Paul. His objective is to communicate doctrine. The infinitive of intended result blends purpose and result.

Paul’s fundamental movement was towards wherever there was positive volition. However, he violated this principle by going to Jerusalem. Within 6 months after writing this, he will go to where people are negative towards the teaching of the Word of God.

The accusative plural from the pronoun su has the Romans in view. In writing it down it has all generations of believers in view, since it is a part of the Word of God. This is an accusative of general reference in which the accusative acts as the subject of the infinitive. Actually it is not a subject but it describes the persons connected with the infinitive, and therefore it is simplified by saying the accusative becomes the subject of the infinitive.

Romans 1:11 For I am longing to see you, that I may share with you something of importance from my spiritual gift, with the result that you might be stabilized.

Principle: God raises up pastors and teachers to study and to teach wherever there is positive volition in the land. In the United States, there are people who want Bible doctrine. Nationally, this is the only thing which is encouraging in our country. Bob is finding positive volition all over the United States. Many of you have arrived here, still hungry for dinner, as you have not had time to have yours yet. People have come to Berachah Church from California, Oregon, from Arizona, from the middle west. A lot of people have come from Kansas. A great many people have come to Berachah, setting their old lives behind.

The church at Rome was lacking consistent doctrinal teaching. They needed someone who was prepared to do this. This motive of Paul actually saved the Roman empire. They had 300 more years of doctrine, thanks to Bible doctrine.

Maybe 20 years after his death, and the greatest period of human history took place in the Roman Empire. Have doctrine will travel. His exception was reversionism when he was in Jerusalem.

Romans 1:12 ...and, that is, to be encouraged together among you through the faith among one another, both of you and of me.

Verse 12 – “That is.” Touto de estin is an idiom which begins this verse. The nominative neuter singular from the demonstrative pronoun houtos (οὗτος) [pronounced HOO-tos] [touto]. This is called an immediate demonstrative. There is another word, ekeinos (ἐκεῖνος) [pronounced ehk-Ī-noss], which is a distant demonstrative. We have the near demonstrative here. Whenever the near demonstrative occurs it always refers to something that is extremely important and separates it off into a category. Here is something near at hand, like Paul teaching doctrine to the Romans. With this is the adversative particle de, it emphasizes the contrast between Paul’s spiritual gift and the gift of the Roman believers unexploited because of lack of doctrine. Principle: No spiritual gift can be exploited without doctrine.

The Romans have spiritual gifts, and once these gifts are useable and begin to function Paul will be comforted. A pastor can only find comfort where there is exploitation of the spiritual gifts in the congregation. In other words, a pastor’s comfort comes from the positive and continual response to the teaching of the Word.

The words “That is” does not mean “that is.” It is literally, “But this is.” But that isn’t what it means, it is an idiom. The verb to be is the present active indicative of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME] (estin). The idiom is used to add an additional objective, not to back off. To translate it literally it means that Paul is backing off and diluting his previous statement—he has something to give them, they have nothing to give him. He is not backing off, he is adding to his previous statement. The dogmatism of the previous statement stands. This idiom should be translated, “But this must be added.”

The aorist passive infinitive from the compound verb sumparakalēō (συνπαρακαλέω) [pronounced soom-par-ak-al-EH-oh] [sum is the preposition sun (σύν) [pronounced soon] = together with; parakalēō (παρακαλέω) [pronounced pahr-ahk-ahl-EH-oh] = to call for] means to invite, to persuade, to comfort. In the passive voice it means to receive encouragement. Paul is going to be encouraged by having a positive congregation. The aorist is a constative aorist, it contemplates Paul's ministry of teaching doctrine in its entirety. Paul is mutually encouraged as the Romans begin to gain spiritual momentum from his teaching and advance to spiritual maturity. This advance is maximum adjustment to the justice of God. The passive voice: Paul who is constantly teaching receives encouragement to continue teaching by the advance of the Roman believers. The infinitive has not occurred yet, so it is an infinitive of intended result, it fulfills a deliberate objective of doctrinal teaching which results in maximum adjustment to the justice of God.

Bob has also been encouraged to study longer hours and to go into more detail.

With this is a prepositional phrase, en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental plural of su. We are in the introduction of this epistle. It is a very personal type of introduction from which comes personal principles. Here is a principle of relationship between a pastor and his congregation. The pastor must be faithful in studying and in teaching. The congregation must be faithful in listening. As the congregation begins to listen and to put it together it becomes an encouragement to the pastor to do an even more detailed job, and to get deeper and deeper into a passage. "But this must be added to the purpose, to receive encouragement together with you."

By the way, there is no teaching of the Word of God for any function outside of the local church. There is no authorization for anything outside the local church. When local churches become apostate other local churches are formed. God doesn't give any spiritual gift for anything outside of the local church. Everything that functions outside of the local church is dead.

Bob has thousands of hours of previously taught material which is no longer available. He would be embarrassed for any of us to hear what he did in Romans previously. Bob has been encouraged to dig deeper and deeper into these passages.

"by mutual faith both of you" – the preposition dia plus the genitive of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]; "of you" – possessive genitive plural from the pronoun su, referring to the Romans; the possessive genitive singular from the pronoun egó (ἐγώ) [pronounced ehg-OH], referring to Paul; en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative plural of the reciprocal pronoun allêlôn (ἀλλήλων) [pronounced al-LAY-lohn].

This is a conglomeration of pronouns and infinitives.

Everything that takes place outside of the local church is dead (at least with regards to the teaching of Bible doctrine and spiritual growth).

Translation: "But added to this, to receive encouragement together with you through [the] doctrine [pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] = doctrine here. The definite article specifies the means of advance] in each other, yours and mine."

Romans 1:12 But added to this, to receive encouragement together with you through [the] doctrine in each other, yours and mine.

Paul has doctrine, but he is going to pass it on to them. The doctrine in them is Paul's encouragement to teach more and more.

1977 Romans

Lesson #17

17 01/27/1977 Romans 1:13 Negro culture; transitional doctrines; doctrine of divine guidance

92% of the chrome is found in Rhodesia. Right now, there is a movement to put Rhodesia under the control of Russia.

Roots in on television now. This is the liberals trying to assuage their personal guilt complex. They despise discipline and training. This problem is not being created by the old time southerner. The Yankees has all kinds of liberal ideas, and now they want our natural gas.

Blacks have been exploited by Russia; but you should see how they are treated by the communists. They are used and destroyed. Russian submarines are in every ocean including in our own gulf.

Romans 1:13 Now I do not want you to be ignorant, brothers, that many times I purposed to come to you, and was hindered until the present, that I might have some fruit among you also, even as among the other Gentiles.

Verse 13 – “Now I would not have you ignorant.” This begins with the negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] expresses a strong negative desire on the part of the apostle; plus the present active indicative thélô (θέλω) [pronounced THEH-loh] which means to be ready, to be inclined; in fact thélô (θέλω) [pronounced THEH-loh] connotes both agreement and compulsion. Paul used thélô (θέλω) [pronounced THEH-loh] to emphasize an important doctrine. Hence, thélô (θέλω) [pronounced THEH-loh] is the Pauline formula used in personal statements in relationship to his congregation. Anyone to whom Paul spoke became his congregation immediately. So it refers to Paul's apostolic volition in teaching doctrine to the royal family of God, just as he is teaching us through this passage. It denotes Paul's authoritative function as a teacher of Bible doctrine.

The present tense of thélô (θέλω) [pronounced THEH-loh] is really a perfective present which denotes continuation of existing results. It refers to a fact which has come to be in the past but is emphasized as a present reality. The active voice: Paul as a doctrinal teacher produces the action. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality. The transitional particle de, without any contrast intended here, comes to mean “I do not wish, however.” Plus the accusative plural direct object from the personal pronoun su, and the present active infinitive of the verb agnoeô (ἀγνοέω) [pronounced ag-noh-EH-oh], used for all nuances of the Greek concept of knowledge connoting not to know. It denotes both being mistaken and being in error or erroneous ignorance. This is the thinking of liberals; they are wrong, they are mistaken; they are in error. The active voice: the Roman believer produces the action, or represents the state expressed by the verbal idea. The infinitive is an actual result which follows the nature of the case. While the Romans had demonstrated a great interest in doctrine and their faith has been famous, they had very definite gaps.

Ignorance inevitably results in being in error in thinking. Ignorance is no excuse, says agnoeô (ἀγνοέω) [pronounced ag-noh-EH-oh]. When a person is ignorant his thinking is erroneous, mistaken. The Bible makes it very clear that ignorance is lack of virtue where doctrine is concerned. The greatest issue isn't morality, the greatest issue is virtue versus non-virtue. The virtue is cognizance of doctrine and lack of virtue is ignorance of doctrine. As far as God is concerned there is no virtue in ignorance, and furthermore there is no excuse for ignorance.

The problem with the Roman is, they lack some fundamental doctrines. They don't quite get them. Because of this lack, they are in terrible spiritual shape. For one thing, the Romans are terrible gossips. Some people who are called historians are really gossips. They are very ignorant of the implications of these things. They had some basic doctrine and they had some higher echelon doctrine, but they were unable to tie them together with mid-level doctrine. Emotion is great in life, but this is not to make decisions for us. Our love for God is not emotional; it is doctrinal based upon what we know. And God's love has no emotion (only as an anthropathism is there any emotion in God's love). Romans is very important to us.

Transitional Doctrines Principles

1. Ignorance of transitional doctrines is the primary problem of the Roman church.
2. Transitional doctrine is the link between basic and advanced doctrine.
3. The Roman believers have instantly adjusted to the justice of God at salvation but they have failed to understand the grace mechanics behind salvation. (One of the great blackouts of believers today is to be saved and not understand the mechanics) This is something that comes later. No one fully understands the mechanics of the gospel and all that God did to save us. We learn this through Bible teaching.
4. Therefore the Roman believers are ignorant of everything from reversionism to justification, from the baptism of the Spirit to the dispensation of Israel.
5. Ignorance of transitional doctrine results in lack of spiritual common sense and failure to function under the principles of grace in the daily life of phase two.
6. Furthermore the Roman believers had misjudged Paul and had misconstrued his traveling motivation.
7. Furthermore the Roman believers are hypersensitive about Paul's lack of attention and the fact that Paul had not come personally to Rome.

Claudius stupidly expelled the Jews from Rome and few years later and there was no one there to explain to him their importance. There are 3 chapters in the book of Romans all about the Jews.

“that oftentimes I purposed to come unto you” – the conjunction hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee], which is used for verbs of statement of policy. Sometimes this is a causal conjunction. Here, however, it is used for a statement of policy or a transmission of motivation. It is time they understood Paul’s policy as an apostle. The adverb of the frequency of time pollakis (πολλάκις) [pronounced pohl-LAHK-iss] is used here to indicate it is Paul’s desire, and has been for a long time, to visit them. The aorist middle indicative of the verb protithemai (προτίθεμαι) [pronounced proht-ITH-ehm-ahée], which means to plan, to purpose, or to intend. The aorist tense is a constative aorist referring to a momentary action. There were moments when Paul could hardly keep from going to Rome, and then something would come up. The middle voice describes the subject as participating in the results of the action. This is a direct middle which refers the results of the action directly to the apostle Paul with reflexive force. It should be translated, “that frequently I intended.”

Then the aorist active infinitive of érchomai (ἔρχομαι) [pronounced AIR-khoh-my] to state his policy. The aorist tense is a dramatic aorist, it states a present reality with the certitude of a past event. It is an idiom in the Greek and is a device for emphasis. It states something on the point of being accomplished. He is about to come, and the only thing that hindered him was his reversionism but he wound up there after much suffering. The active voice: Paul intends to produce the action of the verb. The infinitive is intended result, when the result is indicated as fulfilling a deliberate objective. It blends purpose and result. And then the prepositional phrase, prós (πρός) [pronounced pross] plus the accusative of su—“to come face to face with you.” This phrase expresses Paul’s purpose to provide face to face teaching of Bible doctrine, and this objective was frustrated by his own emotional distraction by which he went in the direction of Jerusalem, entered into the stages of reversionism, suffered terrible divine discipline, eventually recovered, and came to Rome after all.

“but was let hitherto” – the adversative kai which sets up a contrast between his desire and what happened. It is followed by the aorist passive indicative of kôluô (κωλύω) [pronounced koh-LOO-oh], which means to hinder, prevent, forbid. This is a dramatic aorist tense with the passive voice—Paul receiving the action. The declarative mood is indicative for the historical reality of the situation—“but was forbidden.”

Then an improper preposition from the Attic Greek which is used as a conjunction—achri/achris (ἄχρι/ἄχρις) [pronounced AHKH-ree/AHKH-rece], and with it the adverb of time deûro (δεῦρο) [pronounced DYOO-roe], translated “until now.” The improper preposition takes the genitive case which accounts for the definite article in the genitive as a part of the idiom, and all of this together is translated, “but was forbidden until now.”

“that I might have some fruit among you also” – the conjunction hina (ἵνα) [pronounced HEE-na] introducing a final clause denoting purpose, objective, goal. With it is the aorist active subjunctive of echô (ἔχω) [pronounced EKKH-oh—“I might have.” The aorist is ingressive, it contemplates the action at the beginning. We might say, “that I might begin to have.” The active voice: Paul produces the action through the teaching of doctrine. The subjunctive mood is a part of the purpose clause, and it is also potential. It is the subjunctive of obligation. It implies a future reference and is qualified by the element of contingency which we recognize historically today as being reversionism which was inserted before Paul would get there. In the meantime the book of Romans takes up the slack fully where Paul’s absence had been noted.

The accusative masculine singular of the indefinite pronoun tis (τις) [pronounced tihç] represents a category, and an accusative masculine singular from karpos (καρπός) [pronounced kahr-POSS] means production to us, production which comes from teaching doctrine. Without the teaching of doctrine there is no production, no spiritual acceleration, spiritual momentum; “among you” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus su.

God’s Timing and the Romans

1. God’s timing is perfect. Until now the Roman believers were not even ready for Paul’s ministry, though they didn’t know it.
2. Rome is now open to Paul’s teaching. Up until now it had not been.
3. This Roman epistle was to be an introduction to Paul’s teaching in Rome, and was to be the transition doctrine and experiential application necessary for acceleration past the maturity barrier.
4. While Rome is now open Jerusalem is closed.
5. Shortly after writing this letter Paul must decide between Rome and Jerusalem, between doctrine and emotion.
6. It was Paul’s erroneous decision to go to Jerusalem which resulted in his reversionism.
7. When you have a choice to make between doctrine and how you feel, never go by how you feel.
8. Note the interplay between Paul’s free will, Paul’s poor choice and what is happening in Rome. The book of Romans is the result Paul choosing to go to Jerusalem.

“even as among other Gentiles” – the adverb of comparison kathôs (καθώς) [pronounced kahth-OCE] means “just as”; the adjunctive use of kai is translated “also”; the preposition en (ἐν) [pronounced en] with the locative plural of the definite article and the adjective loipoi (λοιποί) [pronounced loy-POY—“among other Gentiles also.” The locative plural for Gentiles is ethnos (ἔθνος, οὗς, τό) [pronounced EHTH-noss].

Romans 1:13 Moreover I do not wish you to be ignorant, brethren, as frequently I intended to come face to face with you, (but was forbidden until now), that I might have some production among you, as also among other Gentiles.

Principles of the Priest Nation

1. Only God knows the open and the closed doors. Therefore the greatest issue in our lives is divine guidance.^[14] What appears to be an open door may be a closed one. What appears to be a closed door may be an open one. The only way we can be rational about it is to have enough doctrine to be led by the Lord.
2. The basis for dissemination of doctrine must be a priest nation. Only God knows the priest nation. Rome is the up and coming capitol for the priest nation.
3. God must always operate through and always have a priest nation.
4. Israel was God's priest nation from the time of Moses until the crucifixion of Christ.
5. The fact of the priest nation is verified in Exodus 19:6. The exception is stated in Hosea 1:9.
6. Loss of priest nation status comes from reversion—Romans 1:18-32.
7. The United States as a priest nation seems to be following the pattern of maladjustment to the justice of God as expressed in Romans 1:18-32.
8. Production is necessary to maintain a priest nation—the teaching of Bible doctrine by pastors and the positive response to the teaching by the royal family of God broken down into congregations.
9. The key is, how big is the pivot?

Divine Guidance is the next doctrine. I only find one such doctrine in NB2, but the dates are close in time to this one. However, there are many more points in this one. This is covered briefly at the end of Lessons #301 and #302. Much of this doctrine was found in lessons #303 and #304. Bob covers this doctrine again in Lesson #346 and in Lesson #506. Some points were added from this lesson.

Doctrine of Divine Guidance

- A. Definition.
1. Divine guidance is the doctrine of determining the will of God for your life, related to both specific and general things, by the operation of your own thinking in the application of doctrine.
 2. Divine guidance is the function of the renovation of your thinking. Divine revelation is only found in the Scriptures. Divine discipline and human disaster can only be classified as a secondary principle. You can learn things the stupid way; you do something and you hurt from the divine discipline.
 3. Divine guidance is the communication of divine will through divine revelation.
 4. Today it is confined to the canon of Scripture and through the pain of discipline for the reversionist in the cosmic system.
 5. In the ancient world, divine guidance included direct communication from God through dreams, visions, dialogues, part of the Canon which then existed, discipline, and the teaching of angels. These are all gone now with the completion of the canon of Scripture.
 6. Divine discipline and human disaster as a classification of guidance from God is limited to the negative aspect of God's will. It can only correct.

7. Discipline and disaster is God saying, "No, you are not in My will." Therefore, divine discipline is limited to warning. Sometimes undeserved suffering is used in this way.

8. The only way to know positively what is the will of God for your life is to understand Bible doctrine and metabolize it.

9. You cannot know the will of God apart from knowing the Word of God. God does not communicate to us verbally, strange events or anything else. This is in no way connected to weird people.

B. There are three categories of will which exist in history.

1. The Sovereign Will of God.

a. The will of God must be consistent with His attributes and personality.

b. God cannot compromise His essence in the function of His sovereignty.

c. God is a person. Personality connotes self-consciousness and self-determination (i.e., the will of God).

d. God recognizes Himself as a person; as such He decides, thinks, always acts rationally, and forms policy.

e. The will of God is manifest in the decrees of God. The decrees teach us the will of God.

f. The Decrees of God.

(1) The decree of God is His eternal, holy, wise and sovereign purpose, comprehending at once all things that ever were or will be in their courses, conditions, successions, and relations, and determining their certain futurition.

(2) Everything in the divine decrees will occur. The decrees contain only reality; what will happen.

(3) The several contents of this one eternal purpose are, because of the limitation of our mentality and faculties, necessarily perceived by us in partial aspects and in both logical and revealed relations.

(4) The decrees of God are His eternal and immutable will regarding the future existence of events which happen in time, and the precise manner and order of their occurrence.

(5) Therefore, the decree expresses the eternal plan and will of God by which God has rendered certain all events of history in the past, present, and future.

(6) Hence, the will of God is the sovereign choice of the divine will and mentality inherent in the essence of God by which all things are brought into being, controlled, made subject to His pleasure, and producing His glorification.

(7) It is the pleasure of God to permit creature volition in both angelic and human beings. This explains why man and angels have free will (the other two categories of will in history).

g.

The Will of God.

- (1) There is one all-inclusive will and purpose of God concerning all that ever was or is or ever will be among creatures.
- (2) This will and purpose originates within God Himself without any outside influences.
- (3) The will and plan of God were objectively designed for His pleasure, glory, and satisfaction in eternity past.
- (4) All creatures have been placed in space and time, and all events relating to space and time were simultaneously and instantly decreed.
- (5) These simultaneous decrees result in all divine action.
- (6) Divine action falls into two categories.
 - (a) Within the Godhead, the interaction between the members of the Godhead is called immanent, intrinsic, and subjective.
 - (b) Actions related to creation are the actions of God which are called extrinsic (outside of God), transient (they function in human history chronologically), and objective (the function of divine justice in human history).
- (7) God did not decree Himself to be.
- (8) God's decrees are efficacious. They determine all that ever was, is, or will be. Efficacious refers to the directive will of God. Efficacious is used in a technical sense for that which is the direct work of God, in contrast to permissive will, which is the will of God accomplished through man's free will and through the action of God's creatures.
- (9) Distinction should be made between the decrees of God in eternity past and the actions of God in time. The action of God in time is the execution of the decrees of eternity past. The execution is not the decree, but logically follows the decree. One follows the other, but they are not the same.
- (10) Distinction should be made between what could have happened and what does happen. God knows both, but only puts what is going to happen in the decrees.
- (11) Distinction should be made between God's decrees and God's laws. God's decrees occurred in eternity past; God's laws function in time.
 - (a) The decrees are the action and plan of God. God's laws regulate human conduct and function, so that the decrees can be fulfilled by the action of God in time.
 - (b) The laws of God are completely revealed in the Scripture, while the decrees of God are only partially revealed.

- (c) The laws of God can be broken by human volition or frustrated by man's volition, but the decrees of God cannot be broken or frustrated by man's volition because the decrees already existed before volition was ever created by God.

(12) God's decrees do not originate from His foreknowledge. In the logical order of things, the function of the foreknowledge of God makes nothing certain. God's decrees originate from God's omniscience, not His foreknowledge. The order is: Omniscience > Decrees > Foreknowledge. The foreknowledge of God merely perceives the things that are certain. It is the decree of God that makes all things certain. The decrees are from omniscience; foreknowledge only confirms what has been decreed.

(13) Therefore, all things depend on God's will, and nothing is certain apart from God's will.

h. The Decrees of God and the Desires of God.

(1) Sin, suffering, reversionism, death, human good, and evil are not the desires of God, but they are in the decrees of God.

(2) God desires His perfect will, but both human and angelic volition, using divinely-created free will, violate the desires of God. This is how sin and evil come into the world.

(3) When human will equals God's desires, this equals divine guidance.

(4) God does not desire to throw creatures into the Lake of Fire, but that judgment is decreed for all who reject Christ as Savior.

(5) God does not desire to discipline believers, but that punishment is decreed for all believers in reversionism under the influence of evil or persistent carnality.

(6) Therefore, it is the justice of God which reconciles desire and decree. And it is the justice of God to which we adjust when we obey, do, or function under the will of God.

(7) All of your blessing and discipline was determined billions of years ago.

(8) The execution is not the decree; it logically follows the divine decrees.

(9) The laws of God can be broken by volition; the decrees of God cannot be broken by volition.

i. Characteristics of the Will of God.

(1) God's will or decree is all comprehensive.

(2) Not the slightest uncertainty could exist as to one of the smallest events without the confusion to all events.

(3) Therefore, all events of history are interwoven and interdependent, Ephesians 1:11, 2:10-11.

(4) The will of God is eternal; God is not gaining in knowledge. What He knows at any given time in history He has always known.

(5) The will of God is perfect. A perfect person can only have a perfect will.

(6) Since nothing has or can occur unknown to God in eternity past, His will is unchangeable and certain.

(7) The free will of God or divine sovereignty, reflected in the decrees of God, will be completed regardless of His creatures and with regard to His creatures. God's will goes on and does not depend on you.

(8) God is bound by His justice, truth, and infinite faithfulness to complete what He has begun.

(9) The principle of the will of God is therefore grace. Since God thought it, God will do it. His will for us is to be on the grace side of history.

(10) The divine outline of human history in the dispensations is the reflection of God's will and decrees.

(11) The divine objective is the preservation and deliverance of believers to the point of maturity.

(12) The work of God is often called providence, by which He molds all events into the fulfillment of His eternal purpose.

(13) Preservation continues the existence of things, but providence directs their progress. Advancing believers progress to the divine objective.

(14) Therefore, the will of God is directive. God has a plan for each of our lives communicated in His Word.

(15) The will of God is determinative. God has permitted non-meritorious volition to bring us to the place of blessing or cursing.

(16) The will of God is permissive. Negative volition to Bible doctrine is permitted, but divine justice provides a horrible life and death.

(17) The will of God is preventative, providing Bible doctrine, establishment laws, and discipline to keep human volition inside the will of God.

j. God never caters to people or to their negative volition.

k. If God made sin impossible, then you and I would be animals. It is a fact that we are rational creatures with volition.

l. We are rational creatures, even though we sometimes behave in irrational ways.

2. The Free Will of Angels. Negative angelic volition is the basis for the angelic conflict and explains the rulership of the world by Satan today. Angelic volition seeks to interfere with human history so that human history will not fulfill its objective, which is to glorify God.

3. Human Volition. All of us have a totally free will.

C. The Axiom for Divine Guidance, 1John 3:23.

1. "And this is His mandate, that we believe in the person of His Son, Jesus Christ, and love one another, just as He has given to us a mandate."

2. This verse is the desire of God. It reduces the will of God to its utmost simplicity; i.e., that all the human race believe in Jesus Christ; and that all believers function under impersonal love of the royal family honor code, gate 6 of the divine dynasphere, toward all other members of the human race.

3. The will of God for the believer is to be filled with the Spirit.

D. Phase Two Categories of the Will of God.

1. The viewpoint will of God is what God wants you to think.

2. The operational will of God is what God wants you to do.

3. The geographical will of God is where God wants you to be.

4. The permissive will of God says that God permits certain things to happen because God has given free will to man, so that man would be a rational creature who would resolve the angelic conflict.

5. You can know the viewpoint, operational, and geographical will of God for your life only by having maximum doctrine in your soul. You receive divine discipline for not knowing the right answer and being outside of God's will.

E. Classification of the Will of God.

1. The directive will of God is the same as the desire of God, Num 22:12. These are direct commands, "Don't do thus and such."

2. The permissive will of God is permitted but is not God's desire, Num 22:20.

3. The overruling will of God is that Jesus Christ controls history, Numbers 23:5,8,23,25-26.

4. Therefore, the will of God can be declared under four principles.

a. The will of God is directive. God has a plan for your life.

b. The will of God is determinative. God has permitted non-meritorious volition to bring us to the place of blessing or discipline.

c. The will of God is permissive. Negative volition to Bible doctrine is permitted, but divine justice provides discipline.

d. The will of God is preventative, providing doctrine, establishment laws, and discipline to keep human volition in the will of God.

F. Academic Concept of Divine Guidance, Revelation 3:1.

1. God wants doctrine in the soul of every believer. Psalm 32:8 Isaiah 58:11

2. All divine guidance depends on the perception of doctrine and then its application. This principle of Bible doctrine in the soul is found in Psalm 32:8; Isaiah 58:11 (And the LORD will guide you continually and satisfy your desire in scorched places and make your bones strong; and you shall be like a watered garden, like a spring of water, whose waters do not fail.). The pure thoughts of doctrine, not the deceptive thoughts of man, are the basis for divine guidance. Prov 3:1-6; Rom 12:2. Gates 1-4 of the divine dynasphere are the key to divine guidance.

3. The filling of the Holy Spirit is a part of divine guidance, Eph 5:14-18.
 4. Spiritual growth causes you to know more of the will of God, 2Peter 3:18; Hebrews 11:7.
- G. Mechanics of the Will of God, Acts 11.
1. Guidance through prayer, verse 5.
 2. Guidance through objective thinking of Bible doctrine, verse 6.
 3. Guidance through perception and recall of doctrine, verses 7-10.
 4. Guidance through providential circumstances, e.g. the people we meet, verse 11.
 5. Guidance through filling of the Holy Spirit and humility, verse 12.
 6. Guidance through fellowship and comparison of spiritual data, verses 13-14.
 7. Guidance through recalling of doctrine, verse 16.
 8. Guidance through disaster.
- H. Divine Guidance and Human Free Will.
1. The humanity of Christ had free will, Mt 20:22, 26:42; Hebrews 10:7-9. If mankind does not have free will, then neither did the humanity of Christ. And if He had no free will, there would be no salvation.
 2. Divine guidance is based on the fact that man does possess free will. This free will was created by God to do the will of God apart from coercion. This resolves the angelic conflict.
 3. Bible doctrine in the soul + free will in man = divine guidance, the execution of the will of God.
 4. Divine guidance reaches its peak in spiritual maturity, Heb 11:7.
- I. The Ultimate in the Will of God, 2Peter 3:18. "But grow by grace and by knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To Him be the glory both now and in the day of eternity."
- J. God's will must act in concert with His essence. It cannot contradict any of His attributes.

8/22/76; 11/7/76; 1/2/78; 1/23/80; 7/22/82; Revelation 508 9/29/83

About half this doctrine was covered in the Romans series.

1977 Romans

Lesson #18

18 01/28/1977 Romans 1:14–15 Degeneration of the Roman Republic; obligations of believers; doctrine of witnessing (review)

Ian Smith was blackmailed by the United States and Russia, part of this based upon Henry Kissinger. Carter gave him the medal of freedom; and Carter also pardoned the conscientious objectors up in Canada.

The federal government has made it impossible to produce much natural gas, even though it is needed all over.

Our present situation did not happen overnight. It really began with Woodrow Wilson.

Three periods of Rome

510–367 B.C.

376–264 B.C. the expansion of a united Rome, which took a little more than two centuries. Rome began to control much of Italy and the coasts at the Mediterranean.

264–146 B.C. Rome controls the Mediterranean coasts.

After a period of prosperity, then things really began to fall apart.

Roman Historical Progression

- A. In Rome, there was a new period of class conflicts which began in 146 B.C. The Senate failed to supply a proper government to rule a large region. They knew how to go out and conquer, but they had no idea how to rule. Corruption of the citizens. The Roman republic was not longer fit to rule over anything. Conflicts between the rich and the poor. Conflict between Rome and her allies. New external danger for Rome. They had to police the Mediterranean lands in order to preserve something great. The duty was neglected and the situation became disastrous.
- B. An industrial and moral decline due to the tremendous... War can cause divergence of poor and rich. The responsibility of successful class of people. The capitalists disappeared and replaced by the nouveau rich. Plunder for pay had corrupted the simple tastes of the Romans. Ruination of the small farmer. Trade had stagnated. Some sorts of bad business practices were occurring. They hit up the government for a tremendous wealth. Starving and unhappy masses. New aristocracy, the equitace and the knights. Fraudulent government contracts. Rome had a large empire, but no control at home.
- C. A new capitalistic system devised. Financial capital all over. After the wars, great public works were done like aqueducts and sewers.
- D. Trade monopolies developed. The Romans had an olive oil trust. It was important for Italian and Greek living. One organization cornered his market. Many criminals syndicated themselves into big business.
- E. Senate families could not engage in trade or to secure government contracts. This is similar to the way that Senators today are bribed. Weapons against Hannibal were controlled by a small group. They found themselves in contact with a crime syndicate. A war went on behind the scenes.
- F. A rise of luxury. Simplicity was destroyed. Roman houses became very rich, which household furnishes; great celebrations.
- G. Rome's narrow streets became narrower; and buildings became taller; and their cities became very dirty. The atrium became the front hall. They lived out doors when

- H. The gladiators, first with great public festivals; and then they happened all of the time. They would slaughter slaves, criminals, they would kill animals; and they would show whole wars. Greek culture was very problematic for them.
- I. People began to ask the city and the state to help them. When Rome became a welfare state, that turned into a civil war. They had to raise taxes to feed the poor. As they destroyed small businesses; and big businesses require small business.
- J. They realized that the old Roman Senate lost its power. The terrorists began to function.

The rise of terrorism in Africa supported by the United States and Russia. Over 4000 Cuban troops in parts of Africa. Russian wants Rhodesia first and South Africa after.

What changed Rome was Bible doctrine.

Verses 14-17, the alertness and the attitude of the apostle. He has a mental attitude of responsibility, and he has this because of Bible doctrine. Because of the doctrine he teaches the Roman people will receive that same mental attitude, and the great golden age of Rome is yet to come. It will follow the death of the apostle Paul and it will be a result of his great doctrinal impact, along with the other apostles.

Paul is alert with regards to the time of history that he is in. He can read and interpret current events.

Romans 1:14 I am a debtor both to Greeks and to barbarians, both to the wise and the foolish.

Verse 14 – the mental attitude of responsibility. “I am debtor” is a present active indicative of eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME], the verb to be, “I am.” This is a retroactive progressive present, it denotes what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. In other words, it is an extremely strong linear aktionsart. It is a linear aktionsart that indicates that Paul has a way of life based on what is in his soul. The active voice: Paul produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the standpoint of reality.

With this is a predicate nominative from the noun ophelētēs (ὀφειλέτης) [pronounced off-ī-LEHT-ace], which means an obligation based upon a sense of honor. From that sense of honor comes a sense of duty or responsibility toward others. Remember that the sense of honor is directed toward God, the sense of duty is directed toward people. This is one of the dynamics about doctrine that changes history.

“both to the Greeks, and to the barbarians” – these are both dative plurals indirect objects. The first is the word Hállēn (“Ελλην) [pronounced HEHL-lane]. It designates Greek pride, Greek cities, Greek states bound by common custom, culture, religion, race, and so on. The dative of indirect object indicates the ones in whose interest the act of duty is performed, and these are unbelievers. This then becomes also a dative of advantage. It is to the advantage of the unbeliever to have a man with a sense of responsibility toward these people.

A second category is mentioned, and this noun became the antithesis, the bárbaros (βάρβαρος) [pronounced BAR-bar-oss]. These are antithetical concepts but both refer to unbelievers.

Paul's obligation from his spiritual gift, to believers and unbelievers. Both words refer to unbelievers.

The Greeks became the name of the designated Gentiles who accepted Hellenistic culture. It originally meant Greeks, but eventually after Alexander the Great conquered the world it became related to the culture which was spread through the Greek conquests. So this word Héllēn (Ἕλληνας) [pronounced HEHL-lane] became not simply someone who was a Greek, it referred to those who had adopted a certain type of culture. They were considered to be the intellectuals of that day.

“Barbarian” is simply a coined word. To the Greek the language of the Barbarians sounded strange and vulgar, so they called these people by this name, i.e. they uttered unintelligible sound, they stuttered, they didn't have the advantages of the Hellenic languages. So we will translate these “the civilized and the uncivilized.” The Roman conquest had been very rapid and dramatic, and not all of those taken over were civilized yet. Paul recognized that he owed the gospel to Barbarian and Greek alike.

“both to the wise, and to the unwise” –the dative of indirect object masculine plural from sophos (σοφός) [pronounced sof-OSS], referring to the believer who has made the maximum adjustment to the justice of God through the daily function of GAP. It is a technical word for the born again believer who has advanced all of the way from the point of salvation to all the way through the maturity barrier. It is used to describe the mature believer. The dative of indirect object indicates the one in whose interest the communication is made. In this case it is also dative of advantage, it is to the advantage of every believer to crack the maturity barrier and it is to his advantage to keep on having doctrine.

Next he use the dative plural indirect object for the word anóētos (ἀνόητος) [pronounced an-OH-ay-toss] which refers to the ignorant believer, the reversionistic believer. This is a dative of disadvantage since it refers to maladjustment to the justice of God—maladjustment to the justice of God for the reversionist and lack of spiritual progress for the ignorant. The noun means foolish or unintelligent. It is used of a person who both intellectually and ethically does not understand doctrine and the whole concept of God's plan.

Romans 1:14 I am debtor [under obligation] both to the civilized and the uncivilized [unbeliever]; both to the wise [mature believer] and the ignorant [reversionistic believer].

Both categories of believers need teaching of Bible doctrine. The wise or mature believer needs doctrine to advance in maturity. The ignorant or reversionistic believer needs doctrine to recover from reversionism.

Paul's Obligation Based on His Spiritual Gifts

1. The spiritual gifts of communication, either evangelism or pastor-teacher, has an obligation to the human race.
2. The gift of evangelism is obligated to all categories of unbelievers in the human race.
3. The gift of pastor-teacher is obligated to both the positive and the negative believers in the royal family of God. It is often the teaching of the negative believer that brings about his discipline and his judgment. He knows exactly what is happening to him when it happens.
4. This obligation, then, includes both proper preparation and the spiritual momentum of mature adjustment to the justice of God.
5. This spiritual gift demands all three adjustments to the justice of God: a) salvation adjustment; b) rebound adjustment, when necessary; c) maturity adjustment.

Romans 1:15 Thus as to me there is readiness to preach the gospel also to you who are in Rome.

Verse 15 – the fulfilment of the obligation in Rome. “So, as much as in me is” – the adverb houtos (οὗτος) [pronounced HOO-tos] refers to what immediately precedes, and is translated “Thus.”

Then follows kata plus egó (ἐγώ) [pronounced ehg-OH]—“with reference to me.” Altogether it its idiom which says, “So, for my part.” This is as close as we can come with an English idiom. It is the translation of a Greek idiom into an English idiom. Literally, in the Greek idiom it says, “Thus, the thing with reference to me”—houtos to kat eme. Literally it doesn’t tell us anything because it is an idiom. Paul is speaking for himself, expressing his mental attitude, his sense of responsibility. Principle: If you put doctrine first and crack the maturity barrier you will develop a sense of honor and integrity. This will cause you to fulfil obligations properly toward fellow man. So, for my part... An idiom to translate another idiom. Put doctrine first and you will develop a sense of honor and obligations.

“I am ready to preach the gospel” – the accusative singular from the adjective próthumos (πρόθυμος) [pronounced PROTH-oo-moss], meaning to be eager, to be willing, to be ready. With the prior idiom it should be translated “my eagerness.”

Then comes an aorist middle infinitive, euaggelizō (εὐαγγελίζω) [pronounced yoo-ang-ghel-EED-zo], which means to proclaim good news. Good news means that the justice of God must be free to bless, and all blessing comes through the justice of God. Unless the justice of God can be satisfied there is no way to be blessed. Some has satisfied the justice of God, and that is Jesus Christ. That is where blessing begins and where everything in life becomes meaningful and has purpose. The verb does not connote just gospel preaching, as so often is said. It indicates the communication of all the good news related to relationship with God. Obviously the gospel or salvation is a part of it, but that isn't all of it. There are other adjustments to be made where you can have the most fantastic happiness and blessing in time, and something even greater in eternity. To proclaim the happy and the good, which is what this verb connotes, means the dissemination of doctrine—some deals with evangelism, some with spiritual growth—and to make a proclamation regarding all of the systems of adjustment to the justice of God. It is also good news that we can rebound and be forgiven and good news that we can enjoy spiritual maturity.

“Thus, my eagerness to proclaim the good news doctrine.” The infinitive is important. The aorist tense is a constative aorist in the infinitive, it takes the occurrence of doctrinal teaching from Paul and others and gathers them up into one entirety. And it tells us that history is changed by doctrinal teaching when such doctrine is accepted on a positive basis consistently by the royal family of God. The middle voice is the indirect middle, it emphasizes Paul as the agent producing the action rather than participating in the result. Paul himself is teaching the doctrine. The infinitive is intended result when the result is indicated as fulfilling a deliberate objective, therefore blending of purpose and result.

This is followed by the ascensive use of kai, “even,” plus the dative plural indirect object of the personal pronoun su, “you.” The dative of indirect object indicates that it is in the interest of the Roman believers to have Paul's ministry, both written as in the epistle, and at a future time a spoken ministry. It is a dative of advantage to the Roman believers. The dative plural of the definite article is used as a relative pronoun, emphasizing the identity of the Romans. It is not translated into English but it is understood, and the verse is concluded with a prepositional phrase, en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of Rhômē (Ῥώμη) [pronounced HROH-may].

Romans 1:15 Thus, my eagerness to proclaim the good doctrine, even to you who are in Rome.

Paul desires greatly to present good doctrine to these believers in Rome. Because of what comes next, we should examine the doctrine of witnessing. Pulled from NB1 and it appears that Bob will not cover all that follows in this lesson of Romans (13 minutes remaining in this lesson).

The Doctrine of Witnessing

1. Definition: Witnessing is the royal family fulfilling its ministry of reconciliation. One of the full-time Christian service functions that belongs to you is the ministry of reconciliation, 2Corinthians 5. Witnessing is the royal family communicating the gospel to the unbeliever on a personal basis. Witnessing, therefore, is personal evangelism. Witnessing functions apart from mass evangelism, apart from church evangelism or the preaching of the believer who has the gift of evangelism. This is a personal contact, personal conversation, do-it-yourself type of thing. The threefold character of witnessing is found in 1Thessalonians 1:4,5, (For we know, brothers loved by God, that he has chosen you, because our gospel came to you not only in word, but also in power and in the Holy Spirit and with full conviction. You know what kind of men we proved to be among you for your sake.) the witnessing of the life, the lips, the witnessing of God the Holy Spirit.

2. The Holy Spirit is the sovereign executive of witnessing. The unbeliever is minus a human spirit, he has no frame of reference for the gospel. The gospel is spiritual phenomena and therefore it is impossible for any unbeliever to understand any portion of the gospel by his own ability in the field of perspicacity. Therefore God the Holy Spirit must act as a human spirit in order for them to understand the gospel - John 16:8-11 (And when he comes, he will convict the world concerning sin and righteousness and judgment: concerning sin, because they do not believe in me; concerning righteousness, because I go to the Father, and you will see me no longer; concerning judgment, because the ruler of this world is judged.). In these verses sin does not mean personal sin, or the fact that you are bad or that you are a sinner. The only sin that is an issue in presentation of the gospel is the rejection of Jesus Christ as saviour. Therefore verse 9 says, "Concerning sin because they do not believe on me." Personal sin is not the issue. The second factor, "concerning righteousness because I go to the Father and you no longer see me." In other words, Jesus Christ as a member of the human race is accepted at the right hand of the Father, everyone who believes in Him is in union with Christ, also accepted at the right hand of the Father. This is what the Holy Spirit emphasizes. Finally, "concerning judgement because the ruler of this world has been judged." The ruler of this world is Satan and Satan was judged when Jesus Christ died on the cross, rose again, ascended. The judgement of Satan is mentioned in Colossians 2:24; Hebrews 2:14. Satan has been judged and therefore since he has and is going to be cast into the lake of fire those who reject Christ as saviour will share the lake of fire with him. Again, the reason for God the Holy Spirit having to make this information real to the unbeliever is because of the statement of 1 Corinthians 2:14, "The soulish man [unbeliever] does not accept the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him; and he is not able to obtain knowledge of the gospel because they are discerned from the source of the human spirit." There is no way he can understand the gospel because all gospel information is discerned by the human spirit. We are born with a soul and a body but without a human spirit. We acquire the human spirit at the point of regeneration. The human spirit is the means, the frame of reference, for spiritual phenomena. Before the spiritual phenomena [Bible doctrine in any form] can enter the frame of reference in the soul it must be assimilated in the human spirit. But the unbeliever doesn't have a human spirit, therefore the spiritual phenomena is foolishness to him, he can't comprehend it. So whenever the gospel is presented it is God the Holy Spirit who takes what is pertinent in the presentation and makes it reality in the soul of the unbeliever so that he sees an issue, so that he understands an issue, so that he becomes aware of what the issue really is.
3. Pertinent Bible doctrine [the gospel] is always the weapon of witnessing - not salesmanship tactics, not weeping and wailing and begging, not some gimmick system or jumping through psychological hoops. Under this concept we have seven principles related to the Bible as the weapon:

- a. The gospel which is in the Bible is the power of God to salvation. It is the gospel, the message, the content, that saves, not salesmanship tactics, Romans 1:16; 1Corinthians 1:18 (For the word of the cross is folly to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God.). A true presentation of the gospel is what God the Holy Spirit uses and it is the power of God unto salvation.
 - b. The Bible is the absolute norm or standard for truth, 2Peter 1:12-21.
 - c. The source of the gospel, therefore, is the Bible, Luke 16;28-31: 1Corinthians 15:3,4.
 - d. The Bible is the mind of Christ, 1Corinthians 2:16. So when you are witnessing you are presenting the very thinking of the Lord Jesus Christ.
 - e. The Bible is said to be divine power, Hebrews 4:12. We provide the information; it is not up to us to persuade.
 - f. The Bible never returns void, Isaiah 55:11.
 - g. The Bible endures forever, Luke 21:33; 1Peter 1:25. When you put all these things together you have a weapon. And you never sit around and argue, Is the Bible the Word of God? That is ludicrous, it is beside the point.
4. The believer priest is the agent in witnessing.
- a. Witnessing is the responsibility of every member of the royal family of God, Acts 1:8; Ephesians 6:15,20; 2Timothy 4:5.
 - b. There are two areas in which we as believers witness: the witness of the life, 2Corinthians 3:3; 6:3; the witness of the lips, 2Corinthians 5:14-21; 6:2.
 - c. Knowledge of pertinent doctrine is necessary for effective witnessing because the believer must witness in the wisdom of the Spirit. he must make the issue clear. He must exclude human persuasiveness and human salesmanship. The believer must understand principles of Christology and soteriology. He must understand, above all, redemption, reconciliation, and propitiation. He must certainly understand imputation and justification, as well as positional sanctification. And if he is going to be lucid and clear he must understand the true issues of the last judgement. So knowledge of pertinent doctrine is very important in witnessing.
 - i. No one is saved by walking an aisle, raising your hand or any kind of overt response to the gospel. No public profession is required for salvation.
 - d. The believer's ability to witness depends on five different concepts:
 - i. His emphasis on the gospel, especially reconciliation, Ephesians 2:14-17.
 - ii. His correct and accurate information, 1Corinthians 1:18; Ephesians 6:17; Hebrews 4:12.
 - iii. He must be filled with the Spirit when he witnesses. This gives him the flexibility to do the job correctly, Acts 1:8.
 - iv. He must have the right mental attitude - the best expression is found in Romans 1:14-16, the three "I aorist middle subjunctive."

- v. The believer must have the assurance of eternal security to be stabilized in his own witnessing, Romans 8:38,39; 1Peter 1:4,5. Why tell someone about something that you might not have tomorrow?

5. The witnessing of the royal priest is the extension of his ambassadorship, 2Corinthians 5:18-20.
6. The concept of making the issue clear:
 - a. You must give the unbeliever pertinent salvation information. When you walk away from an unbeliever after witnessing he must have a clear understanding of the issue of the gospel. Christ is the issue; attitude toward Christ is the issue. False issues must be avoided., they muddy up the water [drinking, smoking. etc. are false issues]. There are certain things that are obnoxious to all of us but we should not get our own personal likes and dislikes tangled up with the gospel. The issue is very clearly presented by Ephesians 2:8,9.
 - b. Never put the cart before the horse. Do not try to get the unbeliever to live the Christian way of life before he is born again.
 - c. Be sure to provide gospel information on which the unbeliever can make a decision for Christ. Remember the gospel boundaries are well defined in 1Corinthians 15:3,4. Make sure that you make an issue out of the Lord Jesus Christ and not out of people's sins and bad habits.
 - d. Do not add to the gospel of grace. Grace needs no addition. Nothing is accomplished toward salvation by persuading the unbeliever to give up his sins, improve his personality and behaviour pattern, feel sorry for his sins, join the church, be baptized, or give money.
 - e. Do not try to force a decision for Christ. This is the Ministry of God the Holy Spirit under the doctrines of common and efficacious grace, so stay out of the way of the Holy Spirit. Do your job and get out of the way.
 - f. Remember that the first divine institution is free will. This includes freedom and privacy for decision. You provide gospel information but you leave the results in the hands of the Lord. The gospel must persuade the unbeliever to believe in Christ, and nothing else. Therefore avoid gimmicks which confuse the issue - emotional begging, public invitations, the raising of hands, the walking of aisles, the jumping through psychological hoops. There is no place for these in witnessing.
 - g. Effective witnessing depends on the ministry of God the Holy Spirit: the ministry of the Holy Spirit directed toward the believer in spirituality, Acts 1:8; 2Corinthians 3:3; the ministry of the Holy Spirit directed toward the unbeliever in convincing, John 16:8-11; 1Corinthians 2:14.
 - h. Clarity of witnessing depends on the believer understanding the judgement of human good. Human good was rejected at the cross, only sin was judged. Human good will be judged in the believer at the judgement seat of Christ, and human good will be judged in the unbeliever at the great white throne or the last judgement.
7. Summary:

- a. Prerequisites for witnessing involve knowledge of pertinent doctrines related to the gospel. You must know these.
 - b. Effectiveness of witnessing depends upon the ministry of God the Holy Spirit.
 - c. Responsibility for witnessing belongs to every member of the royal family of God.
 - d. Dynamics of witnessing depend upon the believer's mental attitude related to his spiritual growth.
 - e. Clarity of witnessing depends upon the believer's accurate understanding of the two deaths of Christ on the cross.
 - f. Areas of witnessing include both the life and the lips.
 - g. The challenge to witnessing comes from the doctrine of unlimited atonement.
 - h. The reward for witnessing is included in the believer's paragraph SG3, surpassing grace.
8. The biblical pattern for witnessing is found in 1Thessalonians chapter two.
9. The postulates of pitfalls in witnessing:
- a. Avoid argumentation. You may win the debate but you won't win the soul. Your responsibility is to disseminate information, not to argue over the validity of the information. You present it, leave the rest to the Holy Spirit.
 - b. Do not be sidetracked by false issues. These include such subjects as:
 - c. the Bible the Word of God? What about the people who have never heard?
 - d. Deal with the individual alone where possible. Witnessing in front of others creates false issues by producing embarrassment, loss of prestige, heckling.
 - e. Avoid getting into a rut, using the same approach in every case. different approaches to the subject of the gospel are necessary for different people. Your flexibility comes with your spiritual maturity.
 - f. Avoid the false concept that you must speak to a certain number of people every day about Jesus Christ or you are not spiritual. Witnessing is not spirituality, it is the result of the balance of residency in the soul between the filling of the Spirit and maximum doctrine.
 - g. Motivation for witnessing must come from doctrine resident in the soul, not human pressure, not approbation lust.
 - h. Avoid bragging about your experiences in witnessing. The Lord knows what you have done and that is all that is necessary.
 - i. Do not judge other believers for their apparent failure to witness. This is a matter between them and the Lord. Such judging and maligning only brings divine discipline on yourself. You must face that issue for yourself and no one else.
10. The analogy to witnessing - Matthew 4:19, "Follow me and I will make you fishers of men." A fisherman must have a desire to fish, and that is true of witnessing. You must have a desire to impart the gospel, you must love Jesus Christ, there must be some true spiritual motivation.

- a. A fisherman goes equipped. He knows exactly what he is after and he knows what he is going to hook it with. This is important in being a fisher of men, you must be equipped with the gospel.
 - b. And they always go where the fish are located.
 - c. They keep out of sight. Never make an issue of yourself, you are not the issue, Christ is the issue.
 - d. Fishermen must be patient. When you get to the point where you are getting vibrations, cut it off!
11. The principle of prayer in witnessing is a bona fide principle - Romans 10:1.
 12. Effective witnessing belongs to those in supergrace status - Proverbs 11:30.
 13. There is a relationship between witnessing and doctrine resident in the soul. Human perspicacity based on high IQ is not necessary for evangelizing those who have a high IQ. You have information he needs no matter how smart he is. Cognizance of the unbeliever's religion or his philosophy is not necessary for witnessing. For example, you do not have to understand Judaism to witness to the Jews; you do not have to understand Mahomedanism to witness to the Muslim, Mormonism to witness to a Mormon, philosophy to witness to a philosopher. What you need is doctrine in your soul. The creation of a public relations image is not a substitute for the filling of the Spirit. The believer's consistency in the function of GAP determines both his motivation and his effectiveness.

Bob gets to point 8 in the Romans study.

1977 Romans

Lesson #19

19 01/30/1977 Romans 1:16–17a Shame; Jews first; doctrine of the adjustment to the justice of God

Captain Thieme was in Alaska. Operation Jack Frost. He is not going to give much information, knowing that there could be Soviet spies at Berachah. He runs into tapers all over.

The Righteous Shall Live by Faith

Romans 1:16 For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone believing—both to Jewish first, and to Greek.

Verse 16 – the principle of adjustment to the justice of God at salvation.^[15] “For I am not ashamed” – this begins with a strong particle used as an explanatory conjunction for the mental attitude of the apostle throughout his entire life, gar. The purpose of this particle is to show us that whenever a man is well motivated in life, has capacity for life to meet any situation in life, there has to be a great explanation. This explanation is only partially given, part of it is on the surface and part is under the surface. When a person is ashamed of the Lord Jesus Christ, is afraid of being ridiculed, of being considered a little strange, he obviously doesn't have enough Bible doctrine to know what it is all about. The verb with its negative: the present middle indicative of epaischunomai (ἐπαισχύνομαι) [pronounced ehp-ah-ee-SKHOO-nom-ah-ee] [ἐπί (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] = over and above; aischunomai (αἰσχύνομαι) [pronounced ai-SCHOO-noh-my] = to be ashamed], which means to be above being ashamed, literally. In other words, the whole mental attitude in life is totally free from ever being ashamed of anyone or anything with whom you are associated, or with what you are associated. Lack of ashamedness means lack of subjectivity. This life is too short to be ashamed for anything. God has made us free from shame so that we can act as His ambassadors. So this means being above being ashamed and it is a reference to maturity adjustment to the justice of God on the part of the writer, Paul. The present tense is a descriptive present for what is now going on. The indirect middle voice is one in which the agent, Paul, is producing the action rather than participating in the results. The results are only anticipated but not here. The indicative mood is declarative for unqualified assertion of a person who is a mature believer, a person who has been consistent in the intake of doctrine.

“of Christ” – these words are not found here in the original; “the gospel” – this is found, it is the accusative singular direct object from the noun euangelion (εὐαγγέλιον) [pronounced yoo-ang-GHEL-ee-on], which is misunderstood. The word means “good news.” The salvation message of the work of Christ on the cross is a part of the gospel but it is not all. Technically this is good news of victory, good news of good fortune, it refers to something of intrinsic value, and it always refers to the whole realm of doctrine. Only one part of that doctrine is applicable to the unbeliever, therefore we have come to associate this noun with only that which is given to the unbeliever. But it actually refers to the entire realm of doctrine which is good news for the believer in the Lord Jesus Christ. Literally, “For I am not ashamed of the good news.” This statement reflects the attitude of the believer who has just made the maturity adjustment to the justice of God and has therefore known something of what it means to be blessed by God as a mature believer. Principle: The mature believer is never ashamed of the doctrine in his right lobe whether it is soteriology or some other facet of the Word of God. Residence of doctrine in the soul through the function of GAP removes both shame and all other negative mental attitudes. Poise is maximum doctrine resident in the soul.

Now for the message which refers to doctrine which is necessary for adjustment to the justice of God. Specifically it is that doctrine here which is related to the salvation adjustment to the justice of God. The gospel is used in that sense because we are dealing here with unbelievers.

“for it is the power of God unto salvation” – referring to that portion of the good news or the gospel by which a person makes salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Again, the illative particle gar used to introduce a reason for not being ashamed of good news. Then the verb to be, the present active indicative of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. The present tense is a static present, it represents a condition which is perpetually existing or to be taken for granted as a fact. The active voice: it is gospel doctrine which produces the action. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic fact: “For if the gospel is [keeps on being].” This is a dogmatic and unqualified assertion of fact, that there is a certain portion of doctrine which when properly communicated results in eternal salvation for those who hear it.

Next is a predicate nominative from the noun dúnamis (δύναμις) [pronounced DOO-nahm-iss]—“power.” The original meaning of this word was ability or capacity. It is derived from the Greek stem duna which has the basic meaning of ability. All spiritual and intellectual life was traced back to dúnamis (δύναμις) [pronounced DOO-nahm-iss], to the IQ of the individual. The noun means power in the sense of competence or capacity.

With this noun is the possessive genitive of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—“God.” It is the power or the capacity or the ability, and this should be translated, “For if the gospel is the ability of God.” When you communicate good news you communicate God’s ability to save, God’s ability to bless, God’s ability to provide. And it all goes back to His character, His justice. All blessing, all cursing, all relationship with man comes through God’s justice. Justice is the dúnamis (δύναμις) [pronounced DOO-nahm-iss] or the ability of God.

A prepositional phrase follows through on the principle: the preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative singular of sôtêria (σωτηρία) [pronounced soh-tay-REE-ah] is translated “with reference to” or “for the purpose of salvation.”

“to everyone that believeth” – dative singular masculine indirect object from the adjective pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs], which means “anyone.” It can be translated “anyone” or “all,” but preferably “anyone.” The dative of indirect object indicates the human race in whose interest the work of Christ on the cross was performed. It is equivalent to a dative of advantage, it is to the advantage of the human race to have Jesus Christ being judged for our sins. Sin is never an issue in the gospel because sin was eliminated as an issue by the work of Christ on the cross. Sin is not an issue now; sin is not an issue at the last judgment. All sins have been judged on the cross, there is no exception to it. As a result of that anyone who believes in Christ can be saved.

The present active participle of the verb pisteúô (πιστεύω) [pronounced pis-TOO-oh] is the mechanics of salvation and instant adjustment to the justice of God. The present tense is a static present representing the only way to adjust to the justice of God in salvation. The static present always indicates something that dogmatically exists, without equivocation, without change from the beginning of time to the end of time. From Adam until the last believers on the Millennium everyone who is saved will be saved by believing in Jesus Christ. The only difference is that Christ is revealed in a different manner in each dispensation. The active voice: the person performing the instant adjustment to the justice of God by faith in Christ produces the action of the verb. The participle is circumstantial, so it should be translated “to all who believe” or “to anyone who believes.” The word “all” is comparable to “whosoever.”

“to the Jew first” – the word “Jew” loudaíos (Ἰουδαίος) [pronounced ee-ou-DYE-os], is a dative singular indirect object. It refers to the racial Jew and the national Jew, the custodian of doctrine when the priest nation of Israel was formed. The uniqueness of the Jewish race demands that they have the first opportunity to adjust to the justice of God at the point of salvation. This is after the pattern of Abraham in Genesis 15:6. So the dative of indirect object indicates that the Jews are the ones in whose interest Christ was judged, as well as the Gentiles.

Bob recently spoke at a synagogue, and one critic said, “We are a people of the present, not a people of the future.” When they reject their Savior, then they accept what is false.

The word “first” is wrong. The superlative prôtos (πρῶτος) [pronounced PROHT-oss] indicates first in time, first in number, first in sequence, first in rank or degree. This is in the accusative singular, so it means first of rank or degree, therefore foremost—“to the Jew foremost.” It means first in privilege. There are enclitic particles here for “both, and”—te and kai—“both to the Jew foremost, and also to the Greek [Gentile].”

Romans 1:16 For I am not ashamed of the gospel: for it is the capacity and ability of God for providing salvation to anyone who believes in Christ; both to the Jew foremost, and likewise to the Gentile.

The Jews are the foremost race with privilege, but this does not take from this offer being made to gentiles.

The justice of God is not fair if only the sins of the elect were paid for. We are punished on the basis of our good deeds, and they will not be enough.

Romans 1:17 For in it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith, as it has been written: “And the righteous will live by faith.”

Verse 17 – “For therein is the righteousness of God revealed.” Again, we have postpositive conjunction gar used in the inferential sense. It is correctly translated “For.” With this is a subject in the nominative case, dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay], one of the most important words in the book of Romans. It is a word which comes from two more ancient Greek words: díkē (δίκη) [pronounced DEE-kay] and the adjective dikaïos (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss]. The difference between the noun and the adjective from Homer’s time right up to the 5th century B.C., and coming into Koine Greek, and the word we have in the context, is in the suffix, sunê. That is a special Attic Greek suffix used for abstract concepts. Dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] refers to the thinking of a judge allotting to each what is due. That is what the word actually means. It is the judicial righteousness of a judge. So this is not the righteousness of God here, it is the justice of God. It is a reference to the justice of God which is free to vindicate mankind under three categories: salvation, rebound, maturity.^[16]

Solon passed a system of laws to guarantee freedom, privacy and free enterprise; protection from crime; and that was all. Then he left town for 10 years; he traveled throughout the world for 10 years. All of his laws were irrevocable. Great period of prosperity as a result. He left, saying, “In the meantime, dikaiosunê.”

We are playing the small percentage. Now we are going absolutely crazy. Justice demands that we have laws to protect our freedom and privacy. If we use crime to advance ourselves, then we should be punished.

See The Doctrine of the Adjustment to the Justice of God from Lesson #1. (The doctrine given here is considerably shorter than found in the link). Four points are covered; to be completed in the next lesson.

1977 Romans

Lesson #20

20 01/30/1977 Romans 1:17b; Eccl. 9:13–10:13 Evil U.S. government; doctrine of the adjustment to justice of God (5–10), includes maladjustment

See The Doctrine of the Adjustment to the Justice of God from Lesson #1. Point 5–10 are covered in this lesson.

As a part of that doctrine, Bob covers Ecclesiastes 9:13–10:13

Ecclesiastes 9:13 I have also seen this example of wisdom (Bible doctrine) under the sun, and it seemed great to me.

Ecclesiastes 9:14 There was a little city with few men in it, and a great king came against it and besieged it, building great siege-works against it. Historical disaster came up against this city. The only solution for something like this is Bible doctrine in the soul of one or more believers.

Ecclesiastes 9:15 But there was found in it a poor [or obscure; a man without political power] man of wisdom, and he by his wisdom delivered the city. Yet no one remembered that obscure man. No one knew about this man until historical crisis came, and then he came to the forefront. God delivered the city through the wisdom of this one man. Once the crisis was over, no one remembered this man any more. People were ungrateful, but God remembers that man. God never forgets, even though people do.

Ecclesiastes 9:16 But I say that doctrine is better than power, though the poor man's wisdom is despised and his communication of doctrine is not heard.

Ecclesiastes 9:17 The doctrines of the spiritually mature man heard in quiet are better than the shouting of a ruler among fools. As soon as the war was over, some idiot politician was recognized, but not the mature believer with Bible doctrine. If you want to see what we have today in the nation, it is a ruler shouting among fools.

Ecclesiastes 9:18 Bible doctrine is better than weapons of war, but one sinner destroys much good. vv. 17–18 describes the history of the United States.

Ecclesiastes 10:1 Dead flies [reversionistic politicians; mayors, governors, Senators and congressmen] make the perfumer's ointment give off a stench; so a little foolishness [or, evil] is more costly than wisdom and honor.

Ecclesiastes 10:2 A wise man's right lobe inclines him to the right, but a fool's right lobe to the left.

Ecclesiastes 10:3 Even when the fool walks on the road [this is normal life], he lacks sense, and he says to everyone that he is a fool.

Ecclesiastes 10:4 If the temper of the ruler rises against you, do not abandon your position [do not change your doctrinal opinion], for poise pacifies those who have erred. Poise is maintaining a doctrinal position despite the persecution of government.

Ecclesiastes 10:5 There is an evil that I have seen under the sun, like the mistake that was going out from the one who had power:...

Ecclesiastes 10:6 ...folly [= evil foolishness] is set in many high places, and the rich men sit in a humble places. when there is an evil government, they will always attack the rich. The rich are a blessing to the nation. Bob's grandfather who co-founded Lincoln Life Insurance, and kept it afloat during the depression. Who gets attacked by our government since Roosevelt? The rich. It is our evil government which destroyed the free enterprise of mining natural gas. There was a bumper sticker from a couple years ago: "Let them freeze to death in the dark." The dead flies blame the natural gas companies, saying that they are holding back for a better price. We have a lot of people voting who are complete ignoramuses.

The voting franchise should be those who run big businesses, those who have served in the military and those who own property.

Ecclesiastes 10:7 I have seen slaves on horses, and princes walking on the ground like slaves.

Ecclesiastes 10:8 He who digs a pit will fall into it, and a serpent will bite him who breaks through a wall.

The worst destruction to social life is gossiping people.

The more that they stick their noses into other people's business, the more they will face personal discipline, like these snakes who bite them.

Ecclesiastes 10:9 He who quarries stones is hurt by them, and he who splits logs is endangered by them.

V. 9 is a beautifully designed conspiracy. When you start to split logs, splinters jump out at you.

Ecclesiastes 10:10 If the iron is blunt, and one does not sharpen the edge, he must use more strength, but wisdom helps one to succeed.

When a nation is not prepared for a crisis, then you do not come out of the crisis very easily.

Bible doctrine keeps the ax sharp.

Ecclesiastes 10:11 If the serpent bites before it is charmed, there is no advantage to the charmer.

A snake charmer is not well off if bitten by a snake; and a person without doctrine has no advantage either.

Ecclesiastes 10:12 The words of a wise man's mouth win him favor, but the lips of a fool consume him.

He is swallowed up by his own lips.

Ecclesiastes 10:13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness, and the end of his talk is evil madness.

Romans 1:17 For in it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith, as it has been written: "And the righteous will live by faith."

"is revealed" – present passive indicative from the compound verb apokaluptô (ἀποκαλύπτω) [pronounced ap-ok-al-OOP-toe] [ἀπό (ἀπό) [pronounced aw-PO] = away from; kaluptô (καλύπτω) [pronounced kal-OOP-toe] = to hide or to veil], it means to be away from being hidden, therefore to reveal, to uncover, to bring to light. This is a perfective present tense which denotes the continuation of existing results. The fact that the justice of God is revealed in the past but now in the Roman era it is to become a present reality. This is an idiom and is comparable to something in the English: we say when we have learned something, "I have learned it." We put it in the past tense. But we use the words "I learn," present tense, for information which has come to us in the past but we now use it. The Greeks had a comparable idiom. They used a present tense when it was a perfective present. They learned it in the past, as it were, and now they are going to use it. The passive voice: the justice of God receives the action. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality and dogmatic assertion.

"from faith to faith" – the perpetuation of the justice of God: ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] pisteôs eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] pistin, two prepositional phrases. Each preposition has as its object pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]. The first phrase is ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]. Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] is used here in the active sense, it refers to faith in Christ as the initial adjustment to the justice of God.

The second prepositional phrase is eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]. Here pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] has a slightly different meaning. Rather than the active sense it is used here in the passive sense. It means that which causes faith or trust, hence faithfulness, reliability, proof, pledge; but in the passive sense it means what is believed, the body of faith which is doctrine. Therefore it refers to maturity adjustment to the justice of God—"from faith to doctrine." That is the story of our life from salvation to the time we depart from this life.

Principle

1. Initial adjustment to the justice of God at salvation demands perpetuation of that adjustment to the justice of God through the daily function of GAP. In other words, persistence in perception.
2. The reason for continued life on earth after salvation is to perpetuate adjustment to the justice of God through the inculcation of Bible doctrine.
3. Doctrine resident in the soul is the means of spiritual growth to spiritual maturity.
4. Spiritual momentum from doctrinal perception results in mature status.
5. Such adjustment frees the justice of God to provide maximum blessing for the believer.

1977 Romans

Lesson #21

21 02/04/1977 Romans 1:17a (Review) Evils in Roman Republic; "justification"; love 1 & 2 re God

There was a 100 year civil war prior to the period of blessing. SPQR came very close to being destroyed 200 years before Jesus came into the world. Jesus Christ controls history.

God stresses men who are useable as such.

- A. Admission to Roman citizenship was cut off about 200 years before Jesus. The rich land barons were discouraging colonization. The Romans were formed out of 5 or 6 peoples. Rome is called the Senate and People of Rome. Roman insolence against the soldiers. Roman people began to think of themselves as more than they ought to. Wherever there is arrogance and response to arrogance, there is a response of brutality. Roman officials would come in and strip the people and scourge them and take their wealth from them. The city council was stripped and scourged because a Roman wife had a complaint about the baths (they did not clear out fast enough).
- B. Evils in the provinces. 8 provinces in Rome: Sicily, Sardinia, two provinces in Spain, Africa, Illyria, Macedonia and Asia, Pine Gaul, southern Gaul and Greece (I am counting 11, so apparently some of these are combined). Growth of local government was taking a long time; and done in somewhat of a patchwork process. The Romans were not prepared to become as great as they had been in warfare. The military far outstripped the people. Julius Cæsar had some respect for the provinces. Bible doctrine is the only factor that truly changes a country and a government. They had a system called tax farming. The taxes were confiscation for Roman plunder. They began to build many public builders. The extortion that took place was unbelievable. There are Roman ruins all over and they were built for perhaps twice the price that it really cost to built (which would fill Roman coffers).
- C. The governor of a province was key. He had no colleagues; no appeal from his dictates. He had dictatorial powers. He had the Roman army there to back him up. Many millions of people were killed as a result of this.

- D. The trial of corrupt governors. He could only be brought to trial after his term was up and only in Rome. So the people had almost no recourse. If things looked really bad, the governor could bribe the senators who were trying him.
- E. The slavery in the Roman republic was horrendous; the slavery in the Roman Empire was much better and just. The greatest danger to the Roman empire were the people that they had already conquered because of the many abuses. Slavery was unparalleled. All of the captives of war were sold as slaves. 10,000 slaves sold on the island of Delos, which is only one of many slave markets. All colors and all races. Slaves from the cultured east; those who were wild barbarians; the smart ones would become teachers; the most difficult ones would be put into shackles and they would work for 18 or 20 hours a day. They would work until they died. Treated like cattle. Spartacus almost conquered Italy. He escaped from gladiator school and he almost overthrew the Roman republic.

Slaves in the United States were terribly abused by the Arabs and then by the Massachusetts shipping company. But slaves in the south, they were understood and well-treated. Some slaves would escape to the south where they were better treated.

Reform without doctrine just does not work. There were many reformers. Liberals took control and they tried to reform. Civil wars result from such reformers. The evil Rousseau and they cried out against evils and wrongs; but they lacked Bible doctrine.

There are always problems. Problems in France and problems in Russia. This brings about a civil war in both places. The United States has done more to spread communism throughout the world than communists do. We are facing the same thing here. 100 years of civil war would straighten out things for us here; or a world war. Christ came at the right time in the Roman Empire.

The voice of the people is the most meaningless thing in the world. Men of genius turn history around. The only thing which influences a culture more than a man of genius is Bible doctrine.

Saul of Tarsus; or the Apostle Paul. The greatest Jew who ever lived, outside of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Historically we are on the verge of a great crisis. Listen to people as they talk and what do you hear? Detente. You never hear about, "Kill the communists." You don't hear this in America, except in Berachah Church. We are ready to believe the lies of communism.

Capacity for life means that you are willing to die for something, a friend, a wife, a cause, a principle. A coccoo clock tried to legislate against death. It is better to be dead than red; and better to die, having killed a lot of Reds.

Dr. Davidjohn was called upon to speak in Moscow. He refused. All the liberals went; and they came back and said, it was the darkest, dankest place; and no one has a sense of humor there. It is the picture of doctrine that is so necessary for us to understand. We are down now to the only hope, which is in Bible doctrine.

Bob begins to review v. 17a. There is no simple translation for any word which ends in sunê in the Greek. The simplicity of the Sanscrit became the great Attic Greek. The NT is a common Greek. dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay]; this is the concept of good clear thinking; the thinking of a judge; true justice; the judicial righteousness of a judge. This is not a simple word for righteousness. This is the righteousness that belongs to one person who is a judge. The point is, could the judge thing. He thinking of a judge, using his authority in a court of law. God determined that there was only one way to bring the human race into a right relationship with Him. Romans is wrapped up in the concept of the righteousness of God. Bob's old study of Romans was pitiful. The key is that word.

Love is an attribute of God; and it does not require an object. Human love has a subject and an object. A man cannot love a woman if there is no woman around. Human love is derived from standards. Human love requires an appreciator. Your norms and standard must have a place to go for appreciation; and we have to go to our emotion for the application of our love.

God is love, but He does not require an object to be love. Nor does He have any emotion about it. Nearly every reference to God's love in the Scripture is the anthropopathism of love. When an object is involved and God is the subject, then it is the anthropopathism.

Love is a motivator. Love is used in Scripture to explain to us God in terms of human frame of reference.

God is not sentimental. We are sinful people who like other sinful people; and we do it from emotion and sentiment.

You do not understand Romans without the original languages; and you do not understand Romans apart from understanding dikaiosunê. Adjustment to the justice of God is the closest that Bob can come to explaining the book of Romans. The word justification is an anachronism today, and therefore, not properly understood.

nos qui vomituri sumus te salutamus = we who are about to vomit salute you (I think he said, nos vomitumus salutamus.

Josephus used this word; Philo used it; both for the justice of God.

1977 Romans

Lesson #22

22 02/06/1977 Romans 1:17c–18 Roman Republic and U.S. liberals; justice and anger of God

God does not require an object in order to be love. In John 3:16, His love is an anthropopathism. Every time that we find God's love directed toward us, it is the anthropopathism. Our love is much different from the attribute of love. God's actions are explained in terms that we understand; but that is simply to bring it down to our level.

It is the justice of God that is fundamental to the book of Romans. The justice of God is the source of all blessing to the believer; and the source of all cursing. The justice of God is the watchdog of the Lord's essence.

God could not be God if His character is compromised.

Our instantaneous adjustment to the justice of God is exercising faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. When we believe in Jesus Christ, we do that apart from any human merit. Salvation is entrance into the plan of God. The 36 things that we receive at salvation cannot be removed.

Adjusting to God's justice in time is the rebound technique. We do not do penance, we do not have to feel a certain way; we do not have to promise God anything. God is faithful and just to forgive us. If we should judge ourselves, we should not be judged.

The third point of adjustment is maturity adjustment to the justice of God.

The United States of America is a priest nation. When Paul wrote to the Romans, they were on the verge of becoming a priest nation. For the believer, there must be adjustment to the justice of God; and this is the pivot. When a national crisis approaches and the 5th cycle of discipline is on our doorstep, we as believers can either save the country with a large enough pivot. However, if the spinoff is too great, then God will discipline the nation, but He will preserve the pivot.

There are times in history, there can be a point at which there is no human solution. The concept of the welfare state; and liberals in Rome came into power when things fell apart. Everything that they tried did not work. The same things are happening to us today. George Marshall was sent to China, and in order to preserve China, he worked out a deal to allow the communists to take over. "No American help unless you let the Chinese communists have a say." And they gave in and communism took over.

The libs always think that they have the solution for everything. You never hear anything from them except how to give in to the communists. The national council of churches helps Satan more than any other organization on earth.

Paul was the greatest Roman and greatest Jew who ever lived. He belonged to the fourth race and belonged to the greatest nation in world history.

There were many attempts at peaceful reforms of the liberals in Rome. Tiberius Gracchus had all of these various liberal ideas. He developed civil rights and restoration of the poor in the city. He thought up the very first WPA. He had the support of Marcus... Kato represented the conservatives. He wanted everyone to remain yeoman farmers. Gracchus opposed this conservative.

A new deal system developed, sending people back to the farms out of the cities; and this started a class struggle all over again. "Everyone should have a say," they thought. He tried to run up taxes 90% for the wealthy. Doing extremely well with this until he was murdered in a riot in the Senate. His brother Gaius Gracchus, and he tried the same old thing. Let's give everyone a piece of land. He was eventually murdered. Paid assassins. They were made martyrs. A great civil war broke out and a military rule was established.

The liberal reform movement failed totally; it led to violence. Roots is inaccurate in every way.

You cannot modify the old sin nature; you can control it through laws which condemn criminals.

Along came the military dictatorships, the leadership is often a result of pettiness. This has been a problem in our country. We have had a number of presidents and bureaucrats who have been petty. Only big business is above the pettiness; and this has saved us. We could not have fought our wars without big business. Those living in the slums are 1000x better off than anyone else living in Russia.

Marius the military leader and Sulla an aristocrat, the under-officer. They fought several different groups. All of these invaders were stopped by Marius. He became so carried away with his power that he went after the aristocrats. Sulla started out in charge, but they he started going after others and publish a list of those who could be killed. This resulted in a civil war. 100 years civil war. Sulla retired. Crassus, Pompey and Cæsar all rose to power. Cæsar rose to power. God was raising up this great man of genius in preparation for what was to come. He started up every law of divine establishment. 49–44 B.C. he turned everything around. Solutions do not come from groups of rulers. Napoleon turned everything around; Cæsar turned everything around by his genius. Cæsar began the great concepts of his day; Napoleon started up the great concepts of modern history.

Tiberius followed Cæsar. Nero is the ruler at the time that Paul writes, and he is terrible, but Caesar's system was fantastic. Sometimes, Jesus uses a great unbeliever.

The one factor the Jesus applies in the book of Romans. The justice of God. Liberalism leads to great violence.

We are busybodies and we stick our noses into the affairs of Rhodesia and South Africa; and they are doing a much better job than we are.

The mod look is a sign of weakness and backing down. The only solution is in what we are studying.

Romans 1:17 For by the same gospel is the justice of God revealed...

“I’m a grace gal.” Nos vomitumos saletomas. Bob reviews some of the words from earlier in v. 17. Pistis = faith, doctrine. Ek pistis = from faith. It is the justice of God which is the key to everything. From faith to doctrine. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God to maturity adjustment to the Justice of God. The simple concept; we either adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God adjusts to us. We remain on earth in order to glorify God.

If we are occupied by the source, then we can lose the gifts and still be the same.

A tremendous numbers of new tapers in CA. Over 1000 people every night. Bob saw some people that he went to grammar school and to high school.

The documentation is found in Habakkuk:

Habakkuk 2:4 “Behold, his soul is puffed up; it is not upright within him, but the righteous shall live by his faith.

All believers who are not adjust to the justice of God are arrogant. Pride is the basic thinking of the believer who is maladjusted to the justice of God.

We now have documentation for adjustment to the justice of God, found in Habakkuk 2:4. From the Hebrew it is translated, “Behold, regarding the arrogant his soul is not right within him; but the mature [tsaddîyq (צַדִּיק) [pronounced tsahd-DEEK]]. This is the believer adjusted to the justice of God. The believer will live by his faithfulness to doctrine [be, the preposition; ’ěmûwnâh (אֱמוּנָה) [pronounced eh-moo-NAWH] = firmness, security, faithfulness, truth or doctrine].” This is the key to the pivot, to the survival of a nation. In this second half of the verse we have a basis for Romans chapter one. When a nation starts to go down only the believer’s attitude to doctrine can save that nation.

Dikaïosunê theou is the justice of God. This is but the mature believer will live by his faithfulness to doctrine.

Every believer has difficulties and problems. If he lives one day at a time and takes in doctrine for that day, he can deal with those problems.

Romans 1:17 For in it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith, as it has been written: “And the righteous will live by faith.”

Verse 17 – “as it is written” is a perfect passive indicative of the verb graphô (γράφω) [pronounced GRAWF-oh] which means to write. The perfect tense is the rhetorical application which is called the dramatic perfect, it emphasizes the results of the action of the verb. Hence, it exercises the existing state which is the canon of the New Testament. Paul says, “In writing this new epistle which will be the canon of Scripture I am going to document from the Old Testament Scriptures.”

Interestingly enough he is writing to a church which is predominately Gentile, for just before Nero came to the throne his step-father Claudius had banned all Jews from Rome, and only recently had Jews been coming back to Rome at all. It is primarily a Gentile church. But the principle is obvious: The Jews as a race and as mature believers have been the source of blessing historically to every generation of history, and so we have a quotation from the Old Testament. The dramatic perfect means that this passage in Habakkuk has been written in the past, it is a part of the Old Testament canon, and it is just as much for us Gentiles as believers as it was for Jewish believers in the days of Habakkuk. The passive voice: the Old Testament Scripture receives the action of the verb, being written with the result that the canon of Scripture continues to exist forever and continues to have application in every generation. This also says that the Old Testament is just as much the Word of God as the New Testament. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic and unqualified statement of Bible doctrine. So we translate: “As it stands written.”

“The just shall live by faith” is not quite correct. The adversative use of the conjunctive particle de and it sets up a contrast—“but.” This is equivalent to the adversative waw in Habakkuk 2:4. The reversionist may be failing but that does not give the believer any excuse to fail. You do not have to fail because other believers fail; you do not have to neglect doctrine because other believers do. My friend, right or wrong is often a great distraction.

The word for “just” is the nominative adjective dikaios (δικαίος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss]. It is often translated “righteous.” It does mean “upright” or “righteous” but here it is referring to adjustment to the justice of God.

We need to understand that the words commonly translated “righteous” often mean much more than that. We learn this from Josephus who used this adjective extensively, and he used it for vindication of his judgment. This is not unreasonable in view of the fact dikaios (δικαίος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss] not only connotes righteousness as a concept of virtue but also how man is to stand before the justice of God. So dikaios (δικαίος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss] means to fulfil one’s duty to God. This is compatible with the mature adjustment to the justice of God. Therefore it is concluded that dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] and dikaios (δικαίος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss] are often interrelated. They have the same meaning except that one is a noun, sunê being the abstract suffix, and the other is an adjective.

There is also a future middle indicative from the verb zaô (ζάω) [pronounced DZAH-oh], translated “to live.” It connotes the function of life. The future tense is a gnomic future, a statement of fact or performance rightly expected when the believer is consistent in the function of GAP. The middle voice of zaô (ζάω) [pronounced DZAH-oh] is the indirect middle, it emphasizes the agent. The believer who has made the maturity adjustment to the justice of God is the agent producing the action of the verb. It can also be construed as an intensive middle, it corresponds to the Hebrew piel stem used in Habakkuk 2. It also is called the dynamic middle which emphasizes the part taken by the subject in the action of the verb, which is the daily function of GAP. The indicative mood is declarative for the fact that your personal life and your national life are related in your attitude toward doctrine.

Apart from adjustment to the justice of God on a daily basis there is no blessing from God for you personally, or for those associated with you, and in this case we are dealing with the nation.

The words “by faith” is ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative of means of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]. The ablative is not used for means except under certain circumstances. The instrumental is the case in the Greek for means. However, if there is any implication as to the origin or the source involved then the ablative is used instead of the instrumental. So since the source of blessing, and the source of adjustment to the justice of God, and the source of glorifying God, and the source of pleasing God, are all bound up in this prepositional phrase we have ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative rather than en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental—“by means of doctrine.” “For the vindicated one lives by means of doctrine.” Bible doctrine resident in the soul is the means of attaining maturity or maximum adjustment to the justice of God. So in reaching spiritual maturity there is no substitute for Bible doctrine.

Romans 1:17 For by the same gospel the justice of [belonging to] God is revealed from faith [adjustment at salvation] to doctrine [maturity adjustment after salvation]: as it stands written, But the vindicated ones [believer making mature adjustment] shall lives by means of doctrine.

Why can't men see how stupid they look with long hair? Why can't people see that the military preserves their freedom? Why can't they watch Roots and recognize that it is all chicanery?

An unbeliever who says no to the cross turns against truth. He is no longer a nice person with common sense. He has fallen into heathenism because he is maladjusted to the justice of God. He has judgment from God in time and in eternity. He becomes a source of evil in his nation.

We should review the doctrines of the decrees and the essence of God.

The judgment of maladjustment at salvation, verses 18-23.

God's Wrath on Unrighteousness

Romans 1:18 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven upon all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, suppressing the truth by unrighteousness,...

Verse 18 – the judgment of heathenism. “For” is the postpositive conjunctive particle gar, used in an illative sense to introduce a reason for judgment of salvation maladjustment to the justice of God in time, not in eternity (the lake of fire is eternity). This is why the reversionistic believer is the worst person in the world today, not the unbeliever, because he gets all of his judgment from the justice of God in time. In eternity there is no judgment for the reversionistic believer. He has loss of reward as he enters it but he has no judgment. But the unbeliever has judgment now and judgment in eternity as well. For the unbeliever who does not adjust to the justice of God the alternative is temporal and eternal judgment.

“the wrath of God” – nominative singular subject from the noun orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY], an Attic Greek word. From the Attic Greek onward this always connoted moral anger which protects from evil. Demosthenes, for example, used what he called dikaia orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY]—“just anger.” This justice is an indignation, a judgment anger. The “wrath of God” is wrong, it is the “just anger of God” or the “justice anger of God.” God’s anger is a just anger, an expression of His perfect righteousness and His justice. It is the expression of God’s justice toward those who are maladjusted to His justice.

Cicero said that the fall of Corinth and ___ was based upon iradêou, which I think is the dikaia orgê. Divine anger is an anthropopathism, which illustrates divine judgment of a nation.

Then we have an ablative of source, theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—“God,” indicating that the source for judgment of the reversionistic unbelievers is the justice of God. The justice of God is about to lower the boom on heathenism. There is the absence of the definite article with orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY] which indicates the high quality of divine anger, the high quality being the justice of God. “For anger from God.”

“is revealed” – present passive indicative from the compound verb apokaluptô (ἀποκαλύπτω) [pronounced ap-ok-al-OOP-toe] [apó (ἀπό) [pronounced aw-PO] = away from; kaluptô (καλύπτω) [pronounced kal-OOP-toe] = to veil or to hide] which means to be away from being hidden or to be uncovered, to bring to light, to reveal—“is being revealed.” The static present tense represents a condition which perpetually exists. God’s anger is always revealed toward maladjustment. Here it is the unbeliever’s maladjustment. The passive voice: the wrath or anger from God receives the action of the verb in every case of salvation maladjustment. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the standpoint of a dogmatic unqualified statement. “For anger from God is being revealed.”

“from heaven” – the source of the supreme court. The preposition apó (ἀπό) [pronounced aw-PO] plus the ablative of ouranos (οὐράνιος) [pronounced oo-RAHN-ee-os], indicating that the supreme court sits in heaven. Jesus Christ is the presiding judge.

“against all ungodliness” – the preposition epí (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] plus the accusative feminine singular from the adjective pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs], and with it the noun asebeia (ἀσέβεια) [pronounced as-EHB-i-ah] [a = negative; sebomai, the verb on which this is formed means to worship or have awe or respect]. Godlessness is an act or thought, and that is what is meant here by asebeia (ἀσέβεια) [pronounced as-EHB-i-ah]. It is an act or thought of someone who is maladjusted to the justice of God. It is a technical term for the unbeliever in reversionism or salvation maladjustment to the justice of God. So it is a reference to heathenism, and we translate it “against all heathenism” or “non-Godliness.”

“and unrighteousness of men” – ἐπί (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] plus the accusative of adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah] [a = negative; dikia = reference to the justice of God]: “against all anti-justice of mankind.” The possessive genitive plural from the noun anthrōpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos]—“of mankind.” Anti-justice of mankind is salvation maladjustment to the justice of God.

All of this is related to the justice of God.

“who hold the truth” – genitive plural of description from the definite article, used as an intensive pronoun. The antecedent is anthrōpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos], the word “mankind.” We translate the definite article “those who.” The present active participle from the verb katechō (κατέχω) [pronounced kaht-EH-khoh] which means to hold back, to hold down, to imprison, to check, to restrain, to suppress. It is used here for the unbeliever rejecting Christ as saviour. This is salvation maladjustment to the justice of God. The present tense is a customary present, it denotes what habitually occurs when those who are negative at either God-consciousness or gospel hearing are involved. The active voice: the heathen (the unbeliever who has definitely said no) are those maladjusted to the justice of God at salvation, and they produce the action. The participle is circumstantial for salvation maladjustment to the justice of God, i.e. the status quo of heathenism.^[17]

Also, there is an accusative singular direct object from both the definite article and the noun alētheia (ἀλήθεια, ας, ἡ) [pronounced ahl-Ā-thi-ah] which can refer to either God-consciousness or gospel hearing. With the intensive pronoun from the definite article it describes a category of life. It describes what we call heathenism, it describes those who are maladjusted to the justice of God at salvation. We translate this, “of those who suppress the truth.” The truth here is the gospel/salvation part of doctrine.

“in unrighteousness” – ἐν (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental of adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah].

Romans 1:18 For anger from God is being revealed from heaven against all non-Godliness [heathenism] and anti-justice [salvation maladjustment to the justice of God] of those who suppress the truth [salvation doctrine] through anti-justice [salvation maladjustment to the justice of God].

1977 Romans

Lesson #23

23 02/06/1977 Romans 1:19 Intro. Julius Caesar; doctrine of heathenism (revised)

Rome was the whole world during the time that Paul wrote. The Mediterranean was a Roman sea. The borders went from the Atlantic, to the Rhine to the Danube. Republic of Rome has little to do with modern life; but the Roman empire has great contribution to history.

The 5 years of Cæsar, we had the greatest period of time for any... Marius, Sullah, and others were able to plunder great portions of the world. Cæsar became the great hope of the world. The need for better government was one reason why a monarchy was necessary. Cæsar as a political leader and he felt the need to extend to the provinces good government and Roman citizenship. Cæsar and Napoleon have done more for human history than any fundy.

In the midst of his great Gallic campaigns, Cæsar spent vast sums of money to help and move the cities of the provinces (and nothing was spend on Rome). All great conquerors brought back money for Rome; but Cæsar helped the provinces. He spent a great amount of time and money to help and improve the provinces.

Cæsar began to form armies from those provinces as well. When it became Cæsar vs. the Senate, the provinces supported Cæsar. A democracy or a republic just increase corruption. The more stupid is the opinion of the people. Cæsar rose up over. Supporting Cæsar and what he did is not the same as supporting a dictator or monarchy in all conditions.

The absolute monarchy form of government was the best solution for Rome at that time. History was so bad, that God raised up a great man. God has raised up at certain times, certain people. Despotism can get along on less intelligence than any other kind of government. The evils that would overthrow Cæsar were dealt with. The 5th cycle of discipline was about to occur, and when ruin seemed imminent. The change the first time was the rule by the Senate to the rule by one man. The second time, it was Bible doctrine. Cæsar made one of the greatest contributions of all mankind. Cæsar did it all. He crossed the Rubicon, which separated ___ from Rome. The Senate had pushed him around so much that he marched across the Rubicon against Rome. When he crossed the rubicon, he said, "The die is cast." In 60 days, almost without bloodshed, he was master over quite a large area. Pompey was in Spain. Caesar's army was half the size of Pompey's. Pompey's army was well-fed; Cæsar's army had lived on roots and whatever.

Cæsar met Cleopatra. The campaign wherever, he said, "I came, I saw I conquered." Eventually he took Rome. He reconciled. He punished no one for political offenses, if they laid down their arms. Only one soldier would not go against Pompey, so all of his property was sent to Pompey. He reminds his army that these people were former Romans; and there was to be no revenge taken against those on the other side of the civil war. He forgave and anyone who came under his government, he gave them the opportunity of service to Rome.

He had the state religion; he was accepted as emperor. He would have liked the title of king but he did not need this title to rule.

The demoralized society was given a fresh start. In 5 years, he eliminated the hated, the desire for revenge, and the helped many farms, etc. get their start. He recognized those outside of Rome. He reduced taxes. He codified the mass of Roman law. He had a massive library, the first. He took 3 months to correct the calendar. He moved the clock back 3 months, which is why we have close to correct dates today.

He put through a policy of equality among the provinces. Citizenship was given to all. There were very different people on the Senate, coming from different provinces.

He won the hearts of those who had been against him before. No man ever excelled Cæsar by meeting any exigencies. He had so much energy. 7 campaigns fought after he crossed the Rubicon. The Germans studied his campaigns between the world wars.

When Cæsar saw that Brutus was one of his assassins, he just threw his robe over his face. Brutus was his bastard son by a famous woman.

Portions of the Doctrine of Heathenism from NB2. There are a few extra points from that notebook included below.

The Doctrine of Heathenism

1. Definition and description
 - a. Heathenism is unbeliever reversionism. Negative volition at the point of God consciousness or at the point of gospel hearing.
 - b. Salvation mal-adjustment to the justice of God.
 - c. The doctrine of heathenism answers the question what about the heathen who have never heard?
 - d. The word heathen is a gothic word, haithi, which means open country. Those who did not live in the city.
 - e. The word haithi is equivalent of paganus, where we get the word pagan; and the Koine Greek word ethnê.
 - f. Heathenism is defined as anyone of a nation, race or people who do not acknowledge the God of the Bible.
 - g. Heathenism is synonymous with the Hebrew word goy. They did not acknowledge Jesus Christ as the true God.
 - h. Heathen often used to describe superstitious, lacking in culture, unlearned. It simply means salvation mal-adjustment to the justice of God.
2. The problem of heathenism.
 - a. This is a result of ignorance of history. That is the big problem. People would never ask this question if they knew much history.
 - b. Pliny writing letters to the emperor Trajan. The queen of Abyssinia was led to Christ by two captives from Tyre. Islam was conquering the world and they could not conquer Abyssinia.
 - c. Thadius describes believers in many places.
 - d. India, believers were there. Nestorians went to China in the 6th century and there was a great evangelism in China for the first 6 centuries.
 - e. Many doctrines explain the justice of God and the problem of heathenism.
3. There is Biblical documentation that the doctrine went throughout the entire world in that first century.

- a. Acts 17:6 "These men who have upset the entire world have come here also." The gospel was worldwide them.
 - b. Colossians 1:6 the gospel has come to you just as it has been to the entire world.
 - c. 1Timothy 3:16. It is "proclaimed among the nations...the object of faith in the world."
4. Extra-Biblical historical documentation of the world-wide dissemination of the Gospel.
- a. Justin Martyr, 103-165 A.D., "There is no people, Greek or barbarian or any other race by whatever appellation or manner they may be distinguished, however ignorant of the art of agriculture, whether they dwell in tents or wander about in covered wagons among whom prayers and thanksgiving are not offered in the name of the crucified Lord to the Father."
 - b. Tertullian, 160-240 A.D., "We are of but yesterday and yet we already fill your islands, cities, camps, palaces, Senate, and your forum. We have left you only your empty temples."
 - c. Origen, 185-251 A.D., "In all Greece and among all barbarous races within our world there are tens of thousands who have left their national laws and customary gods for the law of Moses and the words of Jesus Christ. Though to adhere to that law is to incur the hatred of idolaters. And to embrace that word is to incur the risk of death as well. And considering, how in a few years and with no great store of teachers and in spite of the attacks which cost us life and property, the preaching of the Word has found it's way into every part of the world, so that Greeks and barbarians, wise and unwise adhere to the doctrine of Jesus Christ."
 - d. Eusebius, 266-340 A.D., "There flourished at that time many successors to the apostles who reared the edifice on the foundations which were laid, continuing the work of preaching the Gospel and scattering abundantly over the entire earth the wholesome seed of the heavenly kingdom. For a very large number of disciples, carried away by a fervent love of the truth which the divine word had revealed to them, fulfilled the command to the Savior. Leaving their country, they fulfilled the office of evangelist to carry the gospel to those who had not heard the word of faith."
 - e. Documentation from the first 4 centuries of the gospel.
5. Missionary documentation.
- a. The letter of Pliny the Younger to the emperor Trajan, circa 100 A.D., describes tremendous evangelism everywhere.
 - b. Thaddius did a great missionary work in Persia, circa 190 A.D.
 - c. Pantaenus of Alexandria went to India, where he found already many believers and copies of the gospel of Matthew, circa 180 A.D.
 - d. The Nestorians went all the way to China, where we have discovered the Nestorian tablets which record the evangelism of China. Genghis Khan hired only Chinese Christians to record all of his activities.

- e. 311-388, Ulfilas was a missionary to the Goths north of the Danube River. He evangelized the entire Gothic kingdom in one generation and invented the Gothic alphabet. He also translated almost all of the Bible for them. He did not translate Samuel or Kings because he was worried this people would read them and it would appeal to their warlike background. The Bible was the first and for a long time the only book in the Teutonic language.
 - f. 316-396, Martin, Bishop of Tours was a missionary to Gaul (France) after the Franks invaded that region. He became the patron saint of France. The French are a combination of Celtic and Teutonic.
 - g. 396-493, Patrick of Scotland was a missionary to Ireland and worked independently of the Catholic church. Slave to Ireland, and he escaped and believed in Jesus. He returned to Ireland as a missionary. No relationship to the Roman Catholic church in any way. He evangelized the entire island in one generation.
 - h. 521-596, Columba from Ireland established a missionary school and went to Scotland to evangelize them. Ireland became a priest nation to God and they sent out missionaries everywhere. Columba was an Irish name originally (it is not any more). He evangelized the greatest Druid center in Scotland and established the greatest missionary school of all time off the coast of Scotland and for 200 year missionaries would go all over from Scotland.
 - i. Columbanus from Ireland where he was saved, went to Germany and evangelized in Burgundy and then Switzerland; finally went to and was rejected in Italy. German, Switzerland and Italy were the places where he evangelized.
 - j. 657-739, Willibrard of England evangelized in Holland, Hess, Saxony, Germany, and was martyred in Holland. This was when the shift for the priest nation went to England. He brought the Danes into the picture.
 - k. Boniface, an English believer, he went from Holland to other places like Saxony. This was back when our ancestors were worshiping a tree and Thor. He started to chop down a tree, and they were about to attack him, and lightning struck the tree, and the people listened to him.
 - l. 800-865, Ansgar of France saved in France but born a Dane. He evangelized in Denmark, then Sweden.
 - m. Ninth century, Cyril and Methodius, two Greek believers evangelized Bulgaria. They translated the Bible into the Slavic language.
 - n. Tenth century, Hakan evangelized Norway. Eric the Red evangelized Greenland. Leif the Lucky evangelized Greenland. He landed in Massachusetts; Columbus discovered the West Indies 4 centuries later.
 - o. Cyril and Mithodius philosopher and artist both were believers. Evangelized in Bulgaria, other places, and translated the Bible into Slavonic.
 - p. There has always been a client nation sending out missionaries.
6. Application of the justice of God. God cannot be unfair to any member of the human race or compromise His justice. God's perfect righteousness and justice prohibit God from being unfair to any member of the human race. There is no member of the human race who does not have a chance to be saved. Therefore positive volition at God consciousness is always met with evangelistic activity. That's why there should be a different area of emphasis in each generation. We sometimes make a mistake going into places where the door is firmly closed, like China.

7. Application of Divine Sovereignty. It is God's will that all members of the human race be saved, 2Peter 3:9, "The Lord is not slow about His promise, as some count slowness, but is patient toward you, not wishing for any to perish but for all to come to a change of mind." This is God's plan. Jn 3:18, 36 teach that only negative volition keeps a person from being saved. It is God's will for all members of the human race to be saved (1 Tim 2:4, "who desires all men to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth."), but God's sovereignty and the free will of man coexist in human history by divine decree in order to resolve the prehistoric angelic conflict. Heathen are heathen because they choose to be, not because God wants them to be.
8. Application of the Doctrine of Unlimited Atonement. 2Cor 5:14-15, 19; 1Tim 2:6, 4:10; Titus 2:11; Heb 2:9; 2Pet 2:1; 1Jn 2:2. Since Jesus Christ died for all members of the human race, it is His purpose to save all members of the human race. However, God is a gentleman and doesn't coerce human volition, and doesn't intrude on people's privacy. So God has provided salvation by faith in Christ. Each person must decide all by himself. God cannot force any unbeliever to make a decision about anything. We might crowd people too much, but this is not God's approach. Each person must adjust to the justice of God on his own.
9. God consciousness:
 - a. The principle of God consciousness:
 - i. God consciousness is defined as the status of any normal human being who becomes aware of the existence of God through the function of his own mentality. God has made His existence plain to every human being in their soul.
 - ii. Generally, two categories of mental function are involved in arriving at the point of God consciousness or being aware of the existence of God. The first category is rationalism. Rationalism is reason alone being the source of knowledge and reality, a reality which is independent of experience. The second category is empiricism. Empiricism is knowledge derived from a sense of experience; hence, reality dependence on experience and observation.
 - iii. When a member of the human race reaches God consciousness or awareness of the existence of God, this is classified biblically and theologically as the point of accountability.
 - iv. Those members of the human race, who for one reason or another do not arrive at God consciousness, are automatically saved because volition was not an issue in their case. This would include morons, brain damaged children, premature death in babies and young children. 2Sam 12:23, "But now that he has died, why should I fast?"

Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he will not return to me."

- v. Romans 1:20–21 teaches the issue of accountability and God consciousness.
 - vi. If any member of the human race, regardless of geographical or linguistic barrier, desires relationship with God after reaching God consciousness, then God will provide the information for that person.
 - vii. Jer 29:13 John 7:17 Acts 17:27
- b. The mechanics of God consciousness. There are five ways in which any normal human being can attain an awareness of God. These five ways are called in theology the theistic arguments for the existence of God. Theism is a science which depends on proven facts based on the assumption that human thought is real and that rational conclusions of the mind are trustworthy. The science of theism demands that the intellect of the finite man move out of the sphere of material things and beyond the range of human experience to contemplate the infinite creator. Therefore, theism is the only reasonable and rational background for morality, government, philosophy, and science. The five theistic arguments for the existence of God form the mechanics for mankind attaining God consciousness.
- i. The Religious Argument (also called the theological argument). The religious argument contends that God exists because mankind universally believes in His existence. Creatures do not crave what does not exist, and men seek after God. Even religious instincts indicate the reality of a Supreme Being. The concept of man seeking God is found in Jer 29:13, Jn 17:17, and Acts 17:27.
 - ii. The Moral or Anthropological Argument. This argument says that to a greater or lesser degree man's soul possesses both volition and conscience with an urge to choose right over wrong. The structure of human society is based on the recognition of virtue and truth. This phenomena has no explanation apart from the existence and influence of a Supreme Being with perfect and eternal holiness or integrity. A material, ungoverned universe can know nothing of moral values apart from the absolute righteousness of a Supreme Being. Acknowledging the existence of virtue and truth eventuates in becoming aware of the source of virtue and truth. Jesus said, "I am the truth...no man comes unto the Father but by Me."
 - iii. The Ontological Argument. Ontological reasoning says that since the human mind possesses the idea of a perfect and absolute being, such a being must exist. Apart from the religious and moral tendencies, the existence of God is a necessary idea to the human intellect, and beyond the relative which mankind measures there is the absolute which gives value and character to the relative. We grasp the difference between relative and absolute; and knowing the relative, our minds are always drawn to the absolute.

iv. The Teleological Argument. This argument is the fact that the universe, by its telescopic and microscopic wonders, always form arrangement, purpose, and adaptation, which connotes a designer. Structure in the universe demands a designer. The more we discover about the perfect structure of the universe in science, the more we recognize the need for a designer. Whether the structure of an atom or the structure of a galaxy. Whether life forms or not. Always a structure and a design, a purpose and ability to adapt. Rom 1:20. The order of the universe can no more be accidental than the shuffling of twenty-six letters of the alphabet into a beautiful poem. The chemical contents of the human body are never accidentally combined to form man. There must be a designer behind the design.

v. The Cosmological Argument. This reasoning states that the intuitive law of cause and effect demands the existence of God as the initial cause. Order in the universe demands both a creator and a preserver. The universe presents an overwhelming demand for belief in the existence of God. In no sense can the universe become its own creator.

(1) Jn 1:3, speaking of Jesus Christ as eternal God, says, "All things came into being through Him, and apart from Him nothing came into being that has come into being."

(2) Col 1:16-17 teaches that Jesus Christ is not only the creator of the universe, but that He also holds it together for the perpetuation of human history until the end of the Millennium, "For by Him were all things created both in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or empires or rulers or authorities. All things have been created through Him and for Him. He has existed prior to all things and by Him all things hold together."

(3) Heb 1:10, "In the beginning, O Lord [Jesus Christ], You laid the foundations of the earth and the heavens are the workmanship of Your hands."

(4) Heb 1:3, "He upholds all things by the word of His power."

10. The origin of heathenism: heathen are not heathen because they have never heard the gospel but because of their own negative volition. Or they have heard and rejected the gospel. This is our study in Romans 1:19–23. Heathen are not heathen because they have not heard; heathen are heathen because they have heard and rejected. The doctrine of heathenism answers a worn out question, "What about the people who have never heard?" There is no such person who has not had the same opportunity as everyone else to believe in Christ.

11. Heathenism is related to reversionism and liberalism. Salvation maladjustment to the justice of God results in a vacuum in the soul of the unbeliever and results in blackout of the soul, scar tissue of the soul, and reverse process reversionism. The result of reversionism is liberalism. The mechanics of liberalism and evil are found in Rom 1:24-25. Both theological and political liberalism exploit the ignorance of man by catering to his emotional revolt of the soul and lust. Or emotion, rejection of authority, and lust. They try to play God. They are trying to use legislation to change man. They are trying to establish a perfect world without God. Always follows the concept of operation fig leaves. Liberalism is another manifestation of heathenism with a veneer of human good civilization.

12. Heathenism and logic: Heathenism rejects the truth. No truth exists in the premise of heathenism. Therefore, no truth exists in its conclusion. If you start with evil you end with evil. Truth is designed to free man from both liberalism and heathenism. John 8:30-32. Therefore heathenism must find a substitute for the truth it has rejected. The substitute is cosmic involvement. This is how degeneracy and liberalism come into action, Rom 1:24-25. Man cannot survive in his soul without the entrance of truth. When man says "no" to the truth there is heathenism in the mind which results in heathenism in function. Starting without truth, heathenism seeks to establish a society without God. The false premise of this society leads to the false conclusion of this society and its inevitable judgment from God's justice. The liberal starts with evil and human good and transforms this into evil and human good.
13. Heathenism is noted in 2Peter 2.

1977 Romans

Lesson #24

24 02/07/1977 Romans 1:19–20 Augustus Caesar; issue of God–consciousness

The assassination of Cæsar was a grand mistake. But what he left behind was great and it left the weak ones to fulfill. As a worker and creator, Cæsar still has the memory of all nations. His assassins were petty people. 14 more years of civil war resulted. The assassins found themselves in severe peril.

Mark Anthony's speech at his death caused the people to rise up and seek out the conspirators. Mark Anthony and Octavius Cæsar took power next. Mark Anthony was a sickly, pimply faced 18 year old. These two were actually rivals. 3 men given unlimited powers for 5 years to reorganize the state. They went after their enemies. Cicero was prescribed and killed. 3000 people were eliminated. Brutus and Cassius rallied the troops in the east, troops from several places. They met near Philippi and fought a great battle in Macedonia.

The east went to Mark Anthony and the west to Octavius. Mark made his headquarters in Egypt; and Cleopatra turned his brains to putty. A man who is susceptible to flattery is weak and easy to be manipulated. Cleopatra was not a sexpot, but she used flattery as a weapon. She controlled everyone with flattery. This is also a point of Bible doctrine. A man susceptible to flattery means weakness. It is great, uncontrolled arrogance.

She told Mark Anthony that he needed to take his territory. They met in the seas, a very decisive battle, the Egyptian forces. Mark Anthony was impervious to Cleopatra's flattery. She committed suicide by poison, not by a cobra or viper.

31 B.C. was when the country began to be stabilized, about 80+ years before the book of Romans.

29 B.C. Octavius returned to Rome. The gates open for war; closed for peace. From Octavius Augustus Imperator. Roman government kept great peace and great prosperity followed Jesus and the Apostles.

If we survived another 300 years, then we might vie for the title of greatest country.

Monumentum, a book by Octavius. I excelled all others in dignity, but in power, I did not hold any more power than anyone else. 100 years of civil war elapsed, then 14 more years. The Senate deliberated for a long time.

Cæsar is Lord came into conflict with Jesus is Lord. The whole Roman empire was held together by the common allegiance that Cæsar is Lord. This caused the empire to split, Christianity on one side and Romans on the other.

Augustus ruled behind the scenes, he lived more simply than most rulers, and he could walk the streets in fact. He was very courteous. He had great consideration for other people. Absolute power which often warms people to frenzy; but he became fairly objective and impartial. He continued the work of his great uncle Julius. He ruled 40 more years and devoted himself to improving the empire. He increased the boundaries in the north. He organized laws, so that they would outshine mediocre rulers. He organized a fire department; and he has a system of bringing grain into the city. Constantly built up his military.

It was Augustus who said the true ability of a ruler was in the postal service. Many important public works, he supported art, literature and drama. He built many temples. "I found Rome in brick and I left it in marble."

A temple was set up to him after his death and he was worshiped.

Paul spent a lot of time in the provinces, in the 3rd class province Judæa; and then he moved toward Rome.

Someone tried to leave his mother out to drown; she did not drown. He finally strangled her. Not sure who this was?

Verses 19-20, the issue of God-consciousness.

Romans 1:19 ...because the known of God is manifest among them, for God has revealed it to them.

When people reject God at the point of God consciousness, how do they affect the rest of society? Unbeliever reversionism in time, and Lake of Fire at the end of time. He is maladjusted. Two categories of justice: time and eternity. With the believer, when he rejects Bible doctrine, he had discipline in time, but not eternity. Once the believer, no more tears, sorrow or pain.

Verse 19 – “Because that” is a causal compound conjunction, dioti (διότι) [pronounced dee-OAT-ee]. It is compounded from the preposition dia, “because,” and the conjunction hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee], “that.” It is translated simply “Because.” It means, Here is a reason, a reason for God’s wrath for those who are maladjusted to the justice of God at salvation. Wrath is an anthropopathism, it demonstrates the execution of divine justice toward those who are maladjusted to the justice of God. It indicates punitive action. The reason for God’s wrath is negative volition at the point of God-consciousness. This means negative volition at the point of gospel hearing. Negative volition at the point of gospel hearing means maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation. Maladjustment to the justice of God at gospel hearing means unbeliever reversionism in time and divine judgment in eternity in the lake of fire.

“that which may be known” – nominative singular neuter, predicate nominative, from verbal adjective gnōstos (γνωστός) [pronounced gnoce-TOSS] which means “known.” “Because what is known” is the corrected translation. There is a nominative neuter definite article to which is used as a relative pronoun. The verbal adjective gnōstos (γνωστός) [pronounced gnoce-TOSS] refers to knowledge about God at God-consciousness.

When Bob spends an entire evening covering a certain topic, that comes into focus with what is covered next.

“of God” – objective genitive of the definite article plus the objective genitive of the noun theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]; “is”— present active indicative of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. This is a static present, it takes for granted as a fact the doctrine of God-consciousness. So this verb assumes that when you read this and look at this passage that you already understand God-consciousness. The active voice: God-consciousness produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of reality, and it makes an unqualified assertion of fact that all normal minds reach God-consciousness. The only exceptions: to die before reaching God-consciousness, i.e. before accountability; or to be a moron. Better to be a moron and be saved than to be a genius and be unsaved.

“manifest” – predicate nominative neuter singular from phanerós (φανερός) [pronounced fahn-er-OSS]. It means conspicuous, clear, well-known, manifest. It refers to what is visible to the sensory perception. When linked with the verb to be it means to be perceived by the sense in such a way that perception is perspicuous, outstanding, everything is clearly understood. This verbal adjective says that if you have a normal mind you would have already reached God-consciousness long before now, and at some point in your life you did reach God-consciousness whether you can remember it or not, or whether you are aware of it or not. Phanerós (φανερός) [pronounced fahn-er-OSS] emphasizes that this was hidden before; God was hidden, and it takes on the nuance of revealed because what is known about God is revealed.

“in them” – preposition en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτοῦς) [pronounced ow-TOSS]. It means here “inside of them”—in the soul, in the brain. It emphasizes the identity of mankind upon reaching God-consciousness. An intensive pronoun sets up a category of those who now understand something that makes them accountable for what they understand. When you reach God-consciousness you are accountable for what you understand. When you hear the gospel you are accountable for what you understand. Negative volition at the point of God-consciousness is immediate maladjustment to the justice of God. Such maladjustment brings down the cursing of God.

“for God” – the postpositive conjunctive particle gar used as an explanatory conjunction. This is used to explain the phenomenon of God-consciousness. The nominative subject of a definite article plus the proper noun for God, theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—“the God.”

“hath shewed it” – aorist active indicative from the verb phaneroô (φανερῶ) [pronounced fan-er-OH-oh] which means to reveal one’s self—“for the God has revealed himself.” This is an aorist active indicative and the voice does not indicate the reflexive connotation, it is built into the verb. The aorist tense is a culminative aorist, it views God-consciousness in its entirety but regards it from the viewpoint of existing results, namely a relationship with the justice of God. The active voice: God Himself reveals Himself the functions of the systems of perception—faith, rationalism, or empiricism. The indicative mood is declarative for the dogmatic assertion of a point of doctrine.

“unto them” – dative plural indirect object from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτοῦς) [pronounced ow-TOSS], emphasizing the identity of the human race as the beneficiary of God-consciousness. The dative of indirect object emphasizes the one in whose interest God-consciousness occurs, hence the dative of advantage. It is to the advantage of every thinking person in the human race to reach the point of God-consciousness. This is translated “to them.”

Romans 1:19 Because what is known about God is revealed in them [God-consciousness]; for the God has revealed himself to them.

Volition and God Consciousness

1. No person with normal processes of mentality has an excuse before the justice of God.
2. God-consciousness applies to all normal people.
3. Volition at God-consciousness determines adjustment or maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation.
4. Exceptions should be noted: those children who die before reaching God-consciousness or accountability are automatically saved; those who are morons and therefore never reach God-consciousness. They do not have normal mental capabilities.
5. The justice of God automatically makes provision of salvation for those who cannot or do not reach the point of God-consciousness and/or accountability.

Romans 1:20 For from the creation of the world His invisible qualities, both His eternal power and divinity, are clearly seen, being understood by the things made, for them to be without excuse.

Verse 20 – “For the invisible things of him.” The postpositive conjunction gar, the explanatory use of it as a conjunction, plus the nominative neuter plural of the definite article ta, plus the nominative neuter subject aóratos (ἀόρατος) [pronounced ah-OR-at-oss], means “invisible things, invisible attributes.” With this is the possessive genitive singular from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτοῦ) [pronounced ow-TOSS], used as a personal pronoun. There is something that belongs to God: multitudinous invisible things. Here it refers to His attributes, and it should be so translated: “for his invisible attributes.” In other words, the essence of God is real and invisible.

“from the creation of the world” – the preposition of ultimate source, apó (ἀπό) [pronounced aw-PO], plus the ablative, and the ablative of ktisis (κτίσις) [pronounced KTEES-iss] plus the descriptive genitive from kósmos (κόσμος) [pronounced KOSS-moss] comes to mean “since the creation of the world.” Apó (ἀπό) [pronounced aw-PO] can denote a point from which something began and it can also be used as a preposition of time, which is the way it is used here. “For his invisible attributes [essence of God] since the creation of the world.” Or, in better English, “For since the creation of the world His invisible attributes.”

“are clearly seen” – present passive indicative from the compound verb kathoráō (καθοράω) [pronounced kath-or-AH-oh] [kata = down; eidō (εἶδω) [pronounced Ī-doh] = to see] which means to look down, to view, to perceive, to clearly perceive, to be perspicuous. Perspicacity means plain to the understanding. It is not obscure or ambiguous. The present tense of kathoráō (καθοράω) [pronounced kath-or-AH-oh] is a customary present, it denotes what habitually occurs at the point of God-consciousness. The passive voice: the divine attributes of God receive the action of the verb at God-consciousness—you become aware of His justice, of His righteousness, of His sovereignty. The indicative mood is declarative for the reality of God-consciousness in the life of every normal thinking person.

“being understood” – present passive participle of noéō (νοέω) [pronounced noh-EH-oh], meaning simple perception. The present tense, again, is a customary present denoting what habitually occurs at God-consciousness. The passive voice: perception of certain divine attributes receive the action of the verb at the point of God-consciousness. The participle denotes simultaneous action with the main verb, the main verb being “are perspicuous.”

“through the things that are made” – literally, through the things that he has created. The instrumental plural from poiēma (ποίημα) [pronounced POY-ay-mah] means “creation.”

“even his eternal power” – the omnipotence of God. We have a disjunctive particle hê (ἢ) [pronounced hey] used to express related and similar terms where one supplements or takes the place of the other. It is translated “namely.” A combination of particles follows:

tê and kai. This indicates things related, plus an adjective, aidios (ἄϊδιος) [pronounced ah-IHD-ee-oss], a Homeric word for always existing. Plus the possessive genitive of the intensive pronoun autos (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS], emphasizing the essence of God, plus the noun dúnamis (δύναμις) [pronounced DOO-nahm-iss] for His omnipotence.

“and Godhead” – incorrect. The word is theiôtēs (θειότης) [pronounced thi-OHT-ace], it means the quality of God or divine essence, or deity.

“so that they are without excuse” – the entire human race, without exception, are without excuse before the justice of God. The preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the present active infinitive of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. This is used to express purpose. There is also a definite article in the accusative neuter which is used to indicate the preposition taking the accusative and therefore the infinitive will have the meaning assigned to the accusative. When we have a prepositional phrase it always the case in which you find the object that determines the meaning of the preposition. So we have to translate “for the purpose of being.” The infinitive expresses the aim or the action denoted by the finite verb. The attributes of deity are clearly perceived so that all members of the human race have no excuse in their defense before the justice of God. “For the purpose of being” is an idiom meaning “so that they are.” Plus the accusative plural from the noun anapologêtos (ἀναπολόγητος) [pronounced an-ap-ol-OG-ay-tos], which means without excuse in a courtroom, without excuse or defense before a justice.

Romans 1:20 For since the creation of the world His invisible attributes [essence] are clearly perceived, being perspicuous through the things which He has created, namely both His omnipotence [eternal power] and His divine nature [essence of deity]: so that they [the human race] are without excuse [before the justice of God].

1977 Romans

Lesson #25

25 02/08/1977 Romans 1 Review of the doctrine of divine attributes; Augustus to Nero

The weakness of this set of notes is, there are no notes at all for lesson #25. None of the notes on the history, culture or leaders of Rome; and doctrines are not recorded here.

Augustus to Arealius, which is the greatest period in human history. Augustus for the first advent of Jesus Christ. The fullness of time. The continuation in the Church Age. It began in the days of Augustus and Tiberius. This was also the formation of the canon of Scripture. After the close of the Scriptures in A.D. 96, we have the beginning of the Antoinine Caesars. Great period of blessing and peace.

Augustus fixed the imperial constitution. He fixed the boundaries of the Roman empire. He checked all of the invasions. He restored order; he carried out a census of the empire; he did many public works. He found Rome in brick and he left it in Marble. The first advent of Christ.

He did not receive a crown, but he was the first citizen of Rome. On his deathbed, "If you think I played well my part on the stage of life, applaud." While they applauded, he died. He represents the epitome of establishment, which were so necessary historically.

A.D. 14 when Jesus was in Egypt, Tiberius succeeded Augustus. He lived to A.D. 37. He was a very stern, maross, suspicious kind of person. Devoid of anything pleasing in his personality. His bad personality, honesty, and wise function as king, the nobility of Rome conspired against him. He put his thumb down on the conspiracy, the blood of nobility flowed through the streets of Rome. The people despised him, and that speaks well of him. He did not cater to anyone. He destroyed the distribution of grain. "Work for your food or die." He would have been as popular in the United States as he was in Rome.

He took away their television sets; he cancelled the gladiator games, where thousands of people died. He took the position, "The people are stupid; to hell with them." You cannot afford to have blood in your veins; it must be iron. Once everyone found out who was running the show, they snapped into line.

He brought the Praetorium guard into Rome. Treason was extended to words as well as acts of violence. He had a CIA operation and Rome calmed down. Some spies went overboard and invented plots. The people saw him as a gloomy tyrant; but he was seen as kind and fair in the provinces. "A good shepherd sheers his sheep, but he does not flay them." he said.

He rebuilt 12 cities that were destroyed by an earthquake. He was ruler during the crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

He was so disgusted with the immorality of Rome that he went to the island of Capri and he ruled over Rome from there. He was succeeded by Caligula. This means little GI shoes. He went crazy when he had too much power. "Would that the Romans had all one neck." He wanted to kill them all with one stroke.

Extravagant crimes and follies. He restored the games and he would laugh like a maniac. A tremendous laugh. After 4 years, he was killed by the officers the Praetorium guard had enough of him.

He has a wise uncle, a scholar; and the uncle was hiding when Caligula. He was hiding in his library behind his books. The Praetorium Guard found Claudius and said, "You are the successor." He ruled between A.D. 41–54. He had some very capable administrators, but they were also dishonest (they were former slaves). He had legislation to protect slaves against cruel masters. Claudius something Nero. Famous for his wife, who had many affairs, and he is famous for the way he killed his wife. When his 3rd wife poisoned him, he signed a paper to make Lucius Hannifbarbus something Nero. He cared little for the affairs of government and he was very arrogant about his own musical abilities. He won many music awards. He considered himself an artist and a poetry writer (he won all of the first prizes for poetry writing). He had a half-brother who would have been a good ruler, but his mother helped Nero kill him.

Nero would go to a party, meet a beautiful woman, and if she was married, he would kill the husband and take the property, including the wife. Seneca warned him against such behavior, and so Nero killed Seneca. A recent gf said she like fires, so he set fire to Rome (which fire he blamed on Christians). He did not fiddle, but he had stuff going on with a bunch of women. He tied up believers and put tar on them, and used them as living torches for his parties.

The Praetorium guard was about to kill him, and he killed himself and said, "What a pity such a great artist must die." Paul's life was intertwined with Nero. Nero was the one in charge when Paul wrote Romans.

Bob reads the corrected translation, going back to v. 15.

A review of the divine essence

God's essence, essence being the qualities or attributes of a person; here we are looking at the essence of all members of the Trinity. From the standpoint of essence, the Trinity is one. Essence is person or being. At no time does the believer feel his limitations than when he faces up to learning the essence of God. Love is primarily emotional thing with the human race; but it is different for God. There is no frame of reference for our character which can help us to understand God's essence. There are some parallels between the soul of man and the essence of God, but that comparison is limited. The essence of God is unseen; and the soul of man is unseen. Even if we chopped open a person's head, we would not be able to figure out who this person is.

God cannot deal with us in emotion; but emotion is the biggest thing to man. Emotion is not logical nor can it contain any doctrine.

God loves Himself and each Member of the Godhead; but He does not need an object to be love. Human love requires an object. God has love whether there is an object or not; we do not have love without an object. Love helps us to under divine motivation.

God said, "I hate Esau and I love Jacob." Hate is a sin. God does not hate. That is an anthropopathism, as is love in that phrase.

Berachah is a friendly church because you can come in and keep your privacy.

God is One in essence, but three in Person.

The personality of man is being made in the image of God. Man is created in the image of God; he is not born in the image of God. There is Adam who was created in the image of God, having a soul and a spirit.

We are born ones without a human spirit. No such thing as the universal brotherhood of man. From man's soul comes his personality. We have self consciousness. We are aware of ourselves and aware of those around us.

Your body is not your personality. For a beautiful woman, her body always hides her personality.

God's attributes are eternal and they do not change. Every page of the Bible manifests the attributes of God in various combinations on every page of the Bible.

Absolute characteristics of God and relative characteristics of God. Men are a combination of material and immaterial. God is life and God lives.

God's life is eternal. No beginning and no end.

God is a Person, but this did not develop over time. God knows Himself as a Person and acts rationally. Ephesians 1:9, 11 He has absolute self-respect and absolute love for all Members of the Godhead. God has a perfect love for Himself. If He did not love Himself, then how could He love Him?

God is infinity. He has no boundaries, like space and time. We are related the limited by space and time. God is outside of time and space.

God cannot be complicated by ignorance, fantasies or absurdities. God knows everything that is knowable. His omniscience is a relative attribute of God. God never had to learn anything; where we must learn everything.

If God did not love Himself perfectly, we have no reason to doubt. Our perfect security is based upon God not having any doubts or hangups about Himself.

All of us have some confidence about something, and it is not arrogance. Bob has confidence in his typing. 60 wpm. For 3 years, he took typing. Loved it; had a ball with it; never thought that he would ever use it. Are you confident that you can dress and undress yourself? Now, how arrogant you are!!!

infinity + love = perfect love of self. Infinity characterizes all that God does. It is for His Own glory. He totally loves Himself. He would be stupid if He didn't. God's motivation is for His Own glory, but not for self-praise. He recognizes His glory and He claims it in recognition of that truth.

God is unity; and He is consistent. We are related to One Who has no cause. God cannot be better or worse than He always is. Every day that we have is better or worse. God has never had a bad day; He has never cried. He cannot have a bad day; nor can we give Him a bad day. He can give us a bad day. When man changes, God seems to change; but He does not.

God is always perfect; He is always at His best; and no characteristic of God can change.

Unity simply means that God is consistent. The Trinity is a perfect team. Each is consistent with Himself and in relationship to everyone else. Coaching is all about teaching consistency. There is a blonde haired guy who was consistent. Kind of fading now. That is the key to any sport. To improve your ability and then to maintain that.

Jesus Christ never violates any attribute.

Y^ehowah Elohim is our Elohim and He is One.

1977 Romans

Lesson #26

26 02/09/1977 Romans 1:21a Flavian Caesars; doctrine of divine attributes (cont.)

When Nero committed suicide, it threw Rome into confusion. The Roman legions in Spain proclaimed their emperor Galba, their leader; superceded by Oltho, and then someone else took over, marched on Rome and took over for a view days.

Flavus Espcianus, known as Vespacian, was supported by the troops in Syria and he eventually took over. He was the son of a Sabine laborer. He was stumpy in build, honest, industrious and broad minded. As a soldier who had traveled all over, the restored order. He was very economical in his thinking. He pulled away any laws that would hinder free enterprise. He had a fair system of taxation without taxing businesses. He had a great system of buildings and roads (most of the buildings are still around and all of the roads are still around). He hated hypocrisy of politicians and of legalistic Christians. He would put down any hypocritical politician and any legalistic Christian. In his final days, he was carried around on some sort of bed. There were people clapping everywhere; and Vespacion said, "I think I am becoming a god."

Nero singing, and all the generals stood and applauded, but not Vespacion. Nero asked him why, and he said, "That was the worst singing that I have ever heard." He was assigned to Judæa.

Titus was very kind (son of Verspacion?). If he did not help someone in any day, he would go out on the streets to try to find someone to help.

Two beautiful cities destroyed in the destruction of Mount Vesuvius. These cities have since been excavated.

A persecutor of the Christians, and executed by members of his own household?

A period of stability followed the Flavian Cæsars. Golden age of history began then; and the canon of Scripture was completed.

We have been studying the attributes of God.

The perfection of God. The intellect, character, affections of God are all perfect. Absolute truth, absolute love and absolute holiness. This is more than mere veracity to others; He is true to Himself. It is not that God is true to others, but prior to all existence, the Members of the Godhead were true to themselves. Man says I speak the truth or know the truth; but God says, "I am the truth." This is true from eternity past.

I did find some notes which match up below, but not a very good match up. This is a continuation from the study of the previous lesson:

The Attributes of God (Review; continued)

- C. Perfection: Truth, Love, Integrity. The intellect, character and affections of God are perfect. Divine perfection involves His truth, love, and integrity, which is perfect righteousness and justice.
1. Truth. This is not merely veracity toward other persons, but God is true to Himself, His own essence, His character. Man says, "I speak the truth," but God says, "I am the truth," Jn 14:6. God does not hold the truth as being acquired. He is the truth from eternity past. In God every truth in every form of knowledge dwells in absoluteness. This accounts for the dogmatism of the Word of God. This attribute guarantees the genuineness of divine revelation, Deut 32:4; 1 Jn 5:20; Jn 6:32, 15:1; Heb 8:2. Bible doctrine, or truth, is the expression of His integrity. God's truth is directed toward Himself and revealed to us. God is never unfaithful to Himself.
 2. Love. Love 1 (the attribute of love) and Love 2 (the anthropathism). Love is often used as a description of motivation (usually when God is the subject). God is motivated by His love. Love is His problem solving device. Like all of divine attributes, love belongs to God's being. God is and always was love regardless of having an object to love. This is perfect love whether there is an occasion to bestow it or not, 1 Jn 4:8. Subjectively God loves His own integrity; objectively He loves the other members of the Trinity. God can only love God or another being with perfect righteousness. God is love, whether He has an object or not.
 3. Integrity is God's righteousness and justice. God is absolute integrity from all eternity past, Ex 15:11, 19:10-16; Isa 6:3. Man's relationship to God comes on the basis of His justice. We must adjust to the justice of God. This integrity is required of men, 2Cor 7:1; 1Thes 3:13, 4:7. God's integrity is maintained by His will. It is part of His unchangeable self. It includes perfect righteousness and justice, which is His perfection. God must have the holiness of His character allow Him to have a relationship with man.
- D. Relative attributes

1. Eternity. Greek and Roman gods had gods who existed before their principle gods. God is not in time, but time is within God.
 - a. Eternity applied to God means He has always existed and always will exist. He has always existed totally apart from time.
 - b. God is not subject to time, because He is the cause of time, Deut 32:40; Psalm 90:2, 102:27; 1 Cor 2:7; Eph 1:4; 1 Tim 1:17.
 - c. Both time and space, though without substance, are both objects of His creation.
 - d. God is not in time but time is in God; He is the origin of time.
 - e. God transcends all creation including time, therefore, has always existed.
 - f. God is logical, therefore, He does not need to be chronological as we do, Rom 4:17.
 - g. Time, which is finite, has both succession and duration.
 - h. Eternity, which is infinite, has duration only. Time is a line of procedure, while eternity is a circle reaching into infinity. God is eternity; God is outside of time. God has given us one day at a time.
 - i. God has eternal life; and we have everlasting life. We would find this in John 3:16, 36.
2. Immensity, which is God related to space.
 - a. God is not subject to space. Like time, God created, invented, and caused space to exist. Rom 8:29.
 - b. God cannot be more or less than what He is.
 - c. In relation to space God is both imminent (in space) and transcendent (outside of space).
 - d. Omnipresence is the term descriptive of space in relationship to God. Immensity is the term descriptive of God's relationship to space.
 - e. Since God is the creator of space, if space were defined in boundaries, God would exceed those boundaries to infinity.
3. Should there not be another attribute of God which is related to matter? God also transcends matter. Or should these attributes be reorganized? See omniscience below.
4. Jesus subjected Himself to space, matter and time. God provides us with these 3 things and our lives relate directly to these 3 things. The officials at a ball game are both on the field and off the field; and they are keeping time and they are all over the field and off the field. If we combine them together, this gives us an idea as to God's essence, where we are in the game.
5. Omnipresence. God does not expand. God is free to be local, as the Shekinah Glory. He is free to become flesh and tabernacle among us.
 - a. God is personally present everywhere. The whole of God is in every place.
 - b. This is not pantheism, since it denies the person of God.

- c. God, in the total of His essence, is without diffusion, expansion, multiplication, or division, and penetrates and fills the universe, Psalm 139:7-8; Jer 23:23-24; Acts 17:27.
 - d. God is also free to be local, as in the mountain with Moses, or in the Holy of Holies above the mercy seat. He is free to become flesh and dwell among us, Jn 1:14.
6. Omniscience. Everything is comprehensible to God. There was never a time when these things were not in His mind. He foreknows, but His foreknowledge is not determinative. God knows everything that would have happened, had you chosen A, B or C. God knows the knowable and unknowable. Especially when things are bad, we speculate, what would have happened if... God knew every detail, every sin, every bad thing that we would do. There are sins that we will commit that we are not aware of, that God knows about and we are still saved. God knows that we have free will and He knows how it will function. God's knowledge cannot develop. It is not subject to reasoning.
- a. God is all wise. He knows perfectly and eternally all that is knowable, whether actual or possible. Psalm 33:13-15, 139:2, 147:4; Mt 6:8, 10:29-30; Heb 4:3; Acts 15:8; Mal 3:16; Isa 46:9-10, 44:28.
 - b. There are three factors of divine knowledge:
 - (1) It is eternal, Acts 15:18.
 - (2) It is incomprehensible, Rom 11:33.
 - (3) It is wise, Eph 3:10.
 - c. Every detail of creation and history is in God's mind at all times.
 - d. Therefore the future is as perspicuous to God as the past.
 - e. God foreknows the future. Since events take place according to His councils, He foreknows. But God's foreknowledge is not predetermination! He knows but doesn't interfere with your volition.
 - f. God foreknows the functions of every free will. He foreknows what will be the choice of other beings.
 - g. Likewise He may determine their choice by gracious influence through Bible doctrine, but He doesn't coerce.
 - h. God's knowledge is not subject to development, reasoning, regretting, foreboding, or depression. If we knew what was going to happen to our country, we might be quite depressed about it.
7. Omnipotence.
- a. God is all powerful, infinitely able to do all things which are the objects of His power within the range of His holy character or essence. However, He will not make right wrong, nor will He act foolishly, Isaiah 44:24; 2 Cor 4:6; Eph 1:19-21, 3:20; Heb 1:3. He will not abuse His power and compromise His justice. His only limitation is a self-limitation.

- b. If God is limited at any time it is because of a self-limitation consistent with His own essence. God can do all He wills to do, but He may not will to do all He can.

- 8. God is truth; Veracity and Faithfulness. God is truth, as an attribute.
 - a. God is infinite perfection in truth and faithfulness. God's truth is expressed to us in Bible doctrine.
 - b. God honors doctrine in the soul of the believer with spiritual growth and blessing.
 - c. God provides divine logistical support to the believer during his life regardless of how good or bad he is.
- 9. Mercy and Goodness.
 - a. Mercy is grace in action. Mercy is infinite love in action toward the objects of divine affection, the expression of divine personal love toward the believer.
 - b. God's judgments are perfect, demanding perfect righteousness. So God is not only absolute good in contrast to the policy of Satan which is evil, but He is also justice and righteousness.
- 10. Justice and Righteousness which is the breaking down of holiness (= integrity). God's justice remands perfect righteousness.
 - a. This is infinite integrity acting toward others. God's perfect righteousness is perfect, therefore demands perfect righteousness. His judgments are perfect, therefore demanding perfection. Perfect righteousness demands Bible doctrine in the soul to understand His essence.
 - b. Justice administers the penalty which righteousness demands.
 - c. In perfect righteousness the divine love for integrity is revealed. In perfect righteousness divine love exists, but in justice divine love is expressed.
 - d. In justice the divine hatred for sin is revealed. Justice demands justice.
 - e. In the function of the essence of God divine perfect righteousness and justice always precede divine love. God cannot love personally that which is not perfect.
 - f. God is not arbitrary in any way. Integrity demands integrity. perfect righteousness demands perfect righteousness. Justice demands justice. God's nature cannot change, we must change. He must demand integrity and punish both sin and evil as long as He is what He is.
 - g. His penalties are not vindictive, but vindicating to His essence and person. With unchangeable sin and evil there is unchangeable condemnation and judgment. But in grace God provided through salvation all that He demands. And through Bible doctrine and the rebound technique, sin is handled for the believer.

h. In relation to Himself, His personality and spirituality are supreme. But in relation to man, His integrity is supreme.

11. The affection of God. These are anthropopathisms. God repents, Gen 6:6; loves and hates, Rom 9:13; gets angry, Rom 1:18; has scorn, Psalm 2:4; has benevolence, Rom 8:32; has compassion, Lam 3:33. God is absolutely happy in Himself with absolute freedom from fear, anxiety, regret, foreboding, or annoyance. God does not change His mind; but we understand this act with people. So, since we understand repentance, this explains God changing His actions with regards to us and others. God is never better or worse. God's policies change and this is explained by God's repentance. The same thing is true of God's love and hate. Divine justice expressed toward Jacob and Esau are expressed with the words love and hate. There is also scorn and anger of God. The incarnation of God is the only way that God could save us. The freedom of God is an anthropopathism; His omnipotence is actual.

12. The authority of God. God delegates His authority to man, to governments, etc. A government has no right to stick its nose into the affairs of other nations. They have no right to regulate or to destroy industry. Africa was 1000% better off under colonization. The Dutch were the greatest colonists in the world. After them, the English, Belgium, and the French. The southern plantations were like heaven compared what Blacks had in Africa. Millions of Africans are saved as a result of law and order in Africa, which is established through colonization. What right does the United States to stick their nose into the business of other nations? Other nations have begged us to interfere with their situation (Hungary when threatened by the communists).

a. God's absolute authority is over possible things and actual things.

b. Over possible things God is sovereign in that He leaves them as only possible and not actual, or has destined them to be yet future.

c. In this realm He renders no account to others but acts in conformity with His own perfect character. God isn't responsible to anyone.

d. In relation to existing things God is the final and absolute authority, Psalm 145:14; Mt 20:15; 1 Tim 6:15.

e. The authority of God over creatures rests upon three facts:

(1) Because God is the creator. This authority extends to every creature and to all things. However, it is restricted by His own perfection. The right to save or punish belongs to God, but He restricts it by His own essence. The right to discipline or reward the believer belongs to God but is restricted by His own essence. God is compelled to discipline the reversionist under the influence of evil, just as He is compelled to reward and bless the believer with maximum Bible doctrine in the soul. This is consistent with His own essence and plan. The creator's absolute and sovereign ownership of all things is contrasted with secondary rights which men recognize within the sphere of their own relationship. That is, the cattle, gold, silver all belong to God, Psalm 50:10, even though men recognize among themselves the private ownership of property. This authority of God rests on His infinite perfection.

- (2) Because of redemption. God has purchased us; we are bought with a price.
- (3) Because of Bible doctrine. The authority of God is related to the amount of Bible doctrine in your soul. God's authority is paramount with the mature believer. The more metabolized doctrine you possess, the more authority God has over you.

We move on the gospel hearing in v. 21:

Romans 1:21 For having known God, they glorified Him not as God, or were thankful; but they became futile in their thinking and their foolish heart was darkened.

Verse 21 – the issue of gospel hearing. “Because that” is simply because. It is the causal conjunction dioti (διότι) [pronounced dee-OAT-ee] expressing the reason for God’s wrath to those who are maladjusted to the justice of God at salvation. Rejection of Christ at the point of hearing the gospel results in unbeliever reversionism, which we commonly call heathenism. By heathenism we are not merely describing pristine conditions which have existed historically almost since the beginning of time, but we refer to conditions that exist in the highest point of western civilization and that have existed throughout the highest civilizations of history. So whether we are talking about the most high levels of civilization or the most pristine conditions of the aborigines it makes no difference. Heathenism applies to all kinds of people in the human race.

Gospel hearing. When a person is positive, he believes in Christ Jesus and the justice of God is free to give the 36 items promised for salvation. God’s righteousness takes into account the choices made by man.

“when they knew God” – the aorist active participle of the verb ginôskô (γινώσκω) [pronounced gih-NOH-skoh]. This is a reference to the ministry of the Holy Spirit at the time of gospel hearing. The unbeliever does not receive the things of the Spirit of God; neither can he perceive them, as he must use the human spirit to learn that information and his human spirit is not functioning. The Holy Spirit helps him to understand. This information is known in the souls of all unbelievers at gospel hearing.

The aorist tense is a Greek idiom. Whenever the aorist tense occurs it is an idiomatic tense since it has absolutely no relationship to time or to progress in time. Whereas in the English language all tenses are related to time, we have no equivalent to the aorist tense.

The Greek word itself, aoristos (ἀόριστος) [pronounced AIR-ihst-oss] (no Strong’s #), is an adjective. It means unlimited or indefinite. Only in the indicative mood occasionally there is a relationship to the past tense. That is why we have an aoristic present and why we have a future tense with an aorist concept, because the only way the aorist is related to time is occasionally in the past. So the aorist views the action of the verb as a single whole.

The culminative aorist views the convincing ministry God the Holy Spirit in making gospel hearing a reality in its entirety, but it regards it from the viewpoint of existing results, i.e. epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] of the gospel. So the ministry of God the Holy Spirit in making the gospel clear, the convincing ministry of the Holy Spirit, the doctrine of common grace, it gathers it up into one entirety but the emphasis of the culminative aorist is on the results which are taken in view. The result is that the person clearly understands the gospel and definitely says no to what he understands. In other words, he says no to epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] of the gospel. This is how reversionism is formed among unbelievers. Just as reversionism is formed among believers by saying no to doctrine, in effect the same thing is true for the unbeliever. He says no to a specific portion of doctrine dealing with salvation, often called the gospel, though there are passages where the word “gospel” or good news refers to the entire realm of Bible doctrine. The active voice: the unbeliever produces the action of the verb through gospel hearing, and the Holy Spirit makes it clear. This is the inhale of the gospel. The unbeliever cannot understand the gospel and the Holy Spirit acts as a stand-in for the human spirit and makes the gospel a reality. Where there is negative volition at the point of epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel then the unbeliever goes into unbeliever reversionism, and for use of a better term, heathenism. The participle is a temporal participle used for a temporal clause, plus the antecedent action—the action of the participle precedes the action of the main verb.

We also have the accusative singular direct object plus the definite article plus the proper noun theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], and it should be translated “because when they knew God.” This is a reference to having epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] understanding so that a yes or a no is demanded, either faith or unbelief is the result. We see negative volition in this case. Because when they knew God...

1977 Romans

Lesson #27

27 02/10/1977 Romans 1:21b–22 Results of negative volition at epignosis Gospel hearing

Houston Tribute 10 February 1977 Robt Morris Responding to the Roots series. The present-day slavery comes to his mind. What the communists are doing in Cambodia, Vietnam, China, etc. is far more repressive, more inhumane than the treatment of the slaves of the south. How can our generation wax on about slavery 200 years ago, but seem to be unaware of it taking place today. When Mao died, accolades were put upon him. He killed 50 million people. Keelhaul was perpetrated after WWII was an attempt to keep to the agreement. This was far worse than what happened in Roots. Keelhaul was apparently a pretty bad thing that took place and there is little history about it?

He misses that the cruelties found in the south were exaggerated.

Romans 1:21 For having known God, they glorified Him not as God, or were thankful; but they became futile in their thinking and their foolish heart was darkened.

Some review of v. 21. Rejection of Christ at the point of gospel hearing results in unbeliever reversionism, which we call heathenism.

God's wrath is an anthropopathism to describe the function of God's justice.

The Greek aorist tense has no relationship to time. Our tenses are all related to time.

"they glorified him not as God" – this includes that main verb. There is an aorist active indicative of doxazō (δοξάζω) [pronounced dox-AD-zo] plus the negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook]. The aorist tense is a culminative aorist and it views the gospel hearing in its entirety, it regards it from the viewpoint of its existing results, negative volition toward epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel. The word doxazō (δοξάζω) [pronounced dox-AD-zo] means to honor: "they did not honor." The active voice: this is the unbeliever who has a clear understanding, epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] regarding the gospel and he has said no. He produces the action: negativity, unbelief. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of reality. The declarative indicative is also the sign of the main verb. Again, the action of the aorist participle precedes the action of the main verb, "because when they knew God they did not honor him." Therefore he is maladjusted to the justice of God.

While the KJV adds the pronoun "him" there is no personal pronoun, it is just a matter of using something to clarify the translation. Instead of "him" we insert the word "Christ"—"they did not honor Christ." The reason for inserting this is because next comes a relative adverb, hōs (ὡς) [pronounced hohç], used to introduce the characteristic quality of Jesus Christ in the context. The relative adverb is translated "as."

Then the accusative singular direct object of the verb, theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—"God." There is a definite article used with the noun emphasizing the identity of Jesus Christ. Usually the anarthrous construction emphasizes quality and the definite article used with the noun emphasizes identity. This time we do not have the definite article so we put it in sometimes to show the antithesis—"the God" is emphasizing quality. The phrase is the way that negative volition is described at the point of gospel hearing.

Our use of definite articles is the opposite of the Greek use of them.

"neither were thankful" – a second way of describing negative volition, starting with a disjunctive particle ê (ἢ) [pronounced ā] which connects negative functions and relates them. We can translate this "nor." Then the aorist active indicative of eucharistēō (εὐχαριστέω) [pronounced yew-khahr-ih-STEH-oh] which means to be obligated, to feel obligated, or to be thankful, or to give thanks. Translation: "nor did they feel obligated to thank him." This is a culminative aorist, it contemplates negative volition at gospel hearing in its entirety but views it from the existing results of total ingratitude. The active voice: the unbeliever produces ingratitude at the point of negative volition to the gospel. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of reality. The declarative, again, is also the main verb for the antecedent action of the aorist participle.

Literally we have, “Because when they knew the God they did not honor Christ as God, nor did they feel obligated to thank Him.” No obligation, no appreciation, no capacity for life. When the unbeliever rejects epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel he loses any possibility of a true capacity for life. He must always accept substitutes, a vacuum opens up in his soul and into it go the Satanic policies of evil. This results in blackout of the soul, hardness of the heart, and reverse process reversionism in unbelievers.

“but” is an adversative conjunction, ἀλλά [pronounced ahl-LAH], it sets up a contrast with what precedes. Here is the emphatic use of the adversative conjunction, which indicates that the preceding clause is a definite fact and this is a result of that settled fact of negative volition at gospel hearing. It is not the ordinary adversative and therefore “but” will not work as a translation. When you have, as here, the emphatic use of the adversative it should be translated “in fact.” “As a result of negative volition” can be added so that you understand the intensive use and the emphatic use of the adversative conjunction.

“they became vain in their imaginations” – the aorist passive indicative from the verb ματαιόω (ματαιώω) [pronounced mat-ah-YO-oh]. The cognate to this is : ματαιότης (ματαιότης) [pronounced mat-ah-YOHT-ace] which is the vacuum that opens up into the left lobe of the soul and sucks in evil thinking so that evil becomes the attitude and the concepts registered in the soul. This comes from negative volition: on the part of the unbeliever, toward epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel; on the part of the believer, toward Bible doctrine. The words “vain in their imaginations” is not correct, it is literally, “they received worthless [or, evil] thoughts.”

The aorist tense of the verb is a gnomic aorist for a fact or a doctrine so fixed in its certainty or axiomatic in its character that it is described in the aorist just as though it were an actual occurrence. This is a double Greek idiom and it is translated by the present tense. The passive voice: negative volition of the unbeliever at the point of gospel hearing opens the vacuum to the soul through which worthless or evil thought enter the soul. In other words, the negative unbeliever receives the action of the verb. The declarative indicative is for a dogmatic statement of doctrine regarding unbeliever reversionism. This dogmatic statement is necessary to understand what follows.

The phrase “in their imaginations” is literally, “in their evil deliberations” or “in their evil rationalizations.” We have a prepositional phrase here referring to the doctrine of evil.[18] It is ἐν (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative plural of διαλογισμός (διαλογισμός) [pronounced dee-al-og-is-MOSS] for rationalizations. Polibius and Demosthenes first used this word for deliberation in thought and for concepts of thinking. But by the second century BC it was used for judicial investigations and decisions. Eventually in the New Testament it came to be used primarily for evil thinking or evil thoughts. It is so used in Matthew 7:21; 15:19; Luke 2:35; 5:22; 9:47. One of the great linguists of the 19th century, Gotlieb Shrank of Zurich, Switzerland, said that dialogismos (διαλογισμός) [pronounced dee-al-og-is-MOSS] is used in the New Testament only for evil or anxious thoughts. So regardless of usage before the Koine Greek dialogismos (διαλογισμός) [pronounced dee-al-og-is-MOSS] is used for evil thoughts or for panic thoughts. With this we have a possessive genitive plural from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS], identifying the category of unbeliever reversionist. He is the one who has a vacuum which sucks into the mentality of his soul evil thinking, anxious thinking, evil deliberation. Bob gives credit to a scholar who came to this conclusion for these meanings. Missed his name.

“and their foolish heart” – foolishness doesn’t come first, it is a result of rationalizations of evil or the thinking of evil. The phrase includes the nominative singular subject of the adjective asunetos (ἄσύνετος) [pronounced as-OON-ay-toss] [a = negative’ sunetos (συνετός) [pronounced soon-eh-t-OSS] = understanding] which means not understanding. It means more than that, it means ignorance, often deliberate ignorance. With this is the possessive genitive plural from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS], and the noun that goes with the adjective, kardia, correctly translated “heart” but it must be understood that the heart is the right lobe of the frontal lobes. This is translated, “and their ignorant right lobe.”

“was darkened” – aorist passive indicative of the verb skotízō (σκοτίζω) [pronounced skot-IHD-zo]. It means to receive darkness. This is a gnomic aorist tense for the fact that doctrine is so fixed in its certainty, so axiomatic in its character, that it is ascribed in the aorist just as though it were an actual occurrence at the moment. The passive voice: maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation, and therefore the reversionistic believer so maladjusted receives the action of the verb—blackout of the soul. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic statement of doctrine regarding heathenism or reversionism. When an unbeliever has epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel in his soul and says no, then blackout of the soul after his soul is filled with evil is the result.

Romans 1:21 Because, when they knew the God, they did not honor Christ as God, nor did they feel obligated to thank Him; in fact, as a result of their negative volition they received worthless thoughts in their evil cerebrations, and their ignorant right lobe received darkness.

The exact parallel is found in Ephesians 4:17–18 This therefore I explained and make an emphatic demand by means of the Lord, that all of you no longer continue walking as also the gentiles (unbelievers) keep walking by means of the worthlessness (or vacuum) of their mind, having become darkened in their way of thinking, having become alienated from the life of God because of the ignorance which keeps on being in them, because of the hardness of their right lobe.

These 3 passages are amplified in 2Peter 2, which is salvation maturity adjustment to the justice of God.

Everyone reaches God consciousness. Vv. 19–20; negative volition from such frees the justice of God for punishment.

God consciousness means we come to the point of an awareness of God. We respond positively or negatively.

Romans 1:22 Professing to be wise, they became fools,

Verse 22 – we come to a sub-conclusion: the delusion of heathenism [unbeliever reversionism]. This is negative volition at God-consciousness plus negative volition at gospel hearing. A delusion occurs which has quite a negative impact on history.

Every time these people open their mouths, it reveals that the people in this country are under unbeliever reversionism.

“Professing” – present active participle from the verb pháskō (φάσκω) [pronounced FAHS-koe]. The word means to assert, to affirm, to allege, to claim. The present tense is a pictorial present, it depicts the delusion of reversionism in the process of occurrence, a delusion which occurs in every generation and in some generations in saturation because of negative volition at God-consciousness and gospel hearing. A vacuum is created into thousands and millions of souls and the result is blackout and hardness of heart, and eventually a saturation of heathenism which has destroyed certain areas in the past—Sodom and Gomorrah, Assyria, Chaldea, Persia, the Hellenistic monarchies, eventually Rome, the 3rd Reich of our day: Hitler’s Germany, Great Britain, which reached a peak and has been going down every since; and possibly the United States. The active voice: unbeliever reversionists produce the action of the verb. The participle is concessive, it is translated “Although they claimed or alleged.”

“themselves” is not found in the original manuscripts.

“to be wise” – present active infinitive from eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME], strong linear aktionsart, they are absolutely confident of their wisdom; “wise” is the predicate nominative plural from sophos (σοφός) [pronounced sof-OSS]. “Although they claimed to be wise” is the delusion of maladjustment.

The Delusion of Negative Volition

1. Delusion of maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation is the result of unbeliever reversionism.
2. The application of darkness to life is the erroneous assumption of wisdom—a delusion. People are led to believe they are wise, and this is a delusion.
3. This affirmation of non-existent wisdom is the status of heathenism in the last three stages of reversionism—blackout of the soul, scar-tissue of the soul, reverse process reversionism.
4. The reversionist sets up false norms for wisdom, then uses these false norms to allege and conclude possession of wisdom.
5. This explains the blindness of the sincere liberal, the do-gooder, the person who is a walking guilt complex trying to distort legislation, trying to use political power to solve man’s problems.

6. Such problems as man possesses can only be solved by Bible doctrine, adjustment to the justice of God in all three categories—salvation, rebound, maturity.
7. Negative volition at gospel hearing triggered this unbeliever reversionism.

The golden age of the Antoinine Cæsars. There was negative volition, but not as much; until Marcus Arellius. Then negative volition became more widespread.

“they became fools” – aorist passive indicative from the verb mōraínō (μωραίνω) [pronounced moe-RAH-ee-no]. We get the word moron from this. It means to become a fool, to become insipid, to become saltless, to become tasteless. It is used for people and food. Sanscrit word muros, which was a dull-witted fool.

The aorist tense is ingressive, it gathers the foolishness of heathenism into one entirety. It shows a state and a condition and denotes entrance into that state and condition with the ingressive aorist. Here the emphasis is placed on the entrance to the status of foolishness or the last three categories of unbelievers reversionism. The passive voice: heathen or reversionists received the action of the verb—saltlessness, insipidness, fools. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic statement of Bible doctrine related to history.

Roman 1:22 Although they claimed to be wise, they became fools.

1977 Romans

Lesson #28

28 02/11/1977 Romans 1:23 Pattern of heathenism resulting in idolatry

A recent article called who do you believe. Keagan retired and still making predictions and pronouncements. Weaponry compared between the United States and Russia. Sounds like we are doing pretty poorly. We are not ready for a conventional war or a nuclear war. Our defense spending is 6% of our GDP or budget?

2Peter 2:17–22 These [reversionists] are well without water and mists driven by a storm. For them the gloom of utter darkness has been reserved. For, bombastically speaking loud boasts of the (soul) vacuum, they entice by sensual passions of the flesh those who are barely escaping from those who live in error. They promise them [their victims] freedom, but they themselves exist as slaves of corruption. For whatever overcomes a person, to that he is enslaved. For if, after they have escaped the defilements of the cosmos by means of the ἐπίγνωσις of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ [the unbeliever who understands the gospel message], they are again entangled in them [false doctrine, which they previously rejected] and overcome, the last state has become worse for them than the first. For it would have been better for them never to have known the way of righteousness than having known it to turn back from the holy commandment [the commandment to believe in Jesus Christ] delivered to them. What the true proverb says has happened to them: “The dog returns to its own vomit, and the sow, after washing herself, returns to wallow in the mire.”

Bob is averaging 1 verse per hour in Romans 2. It is some of the most complicated etymology.

Believer reversionism requires the whole realm of doctrine to get a person out of it.

If the unbeliever says no to the gospel, to the vacuum opens up and sucks up every stupid idea that goes by. There are thousands of evil concepts and ideas which are cranked out like never before.

A reversionist believer and is the same as a reversionist unbeliever, except the first cannot be indwelt by a demon.

Liberalism is enslaved to corruption; so they cannot promise freedom. Communists are enslaved to corruption. They cannot promise freedom.

The unbeliever who hears the gospel is as close as he can ever be to the truth of life, without being on positive signals.

Rejecting truth allows the unbeliever to believe evil lies. The unbeliever, who rejects the gospel, may have had common sense to begin with; but when he rejects the gospel, he loses his common sense. He believes stuff that he would not have believed before.

The unbeliever with common sense throws up evil; he rejects it. But after rejecting the truth, goes back to stuff he rejected and he believes that stuff that he rejected before.

It is the nature of the sow to wallow in the mire.

Peter and Paul will make the same point, but with slightly different vocabulary.

Preparing to Approach Romans 1:23

1. To be the kind of fool described in vv. 21–22 there must be arrogance and pride of reversionism. Self-righteousness is a very evil thing; and believers and unbelievers can be filled with self-righteousness. Bible schools today are filled with hypocrisy and self-righteousness.
2. In verse 23 we note what the arrogance of reversionism can create. Self-righteousness and arrogance in reversionism is creative, but it is creative in the sphere of evil, creative to the point of coming into contact with demonism. Evil creates its own gods.
3. Arrogance sets itself above the essence of God and distorts the perfect attributes of God into ridiculous images of human and animal power.
4. Following the lack of common sense which accompanies such maladjustment to the justice of God, the arrogant man declares that the images which he has constructed are God.
5. False doctrine which man can manufacture from the evil in his soul has an application: Evil, in turn, becomes creative and manufactures idols by which people make contact with demons. The fact that man can manufacture a god is the epitome of arrogance, the quintessence of human folly, total blasphemy.

Romans 1:23 and they changed the glory of the immortal God into a likeness of an image of mortal man and birds and quadrupeds and creeping things.

Verse 23 –the pattern of heathenism for unbeliever reversionism. “And changed” – the connective use of the conjunction kai plus the aorist active indicative of allássō (ἀλλάσσω) [pronounced al-LASS-so] which means to exchange, to transform, to alter. The aorist tense is a culminative aorist, it views idolatry of heathenism or reversionism in its entirety but regards it from the viewpoint of existing results. First of all you have to “profess yourself to be wise,” have arrogance in the soul. This “exchange” is trading their common sense for the most awful type of evil. The culminative aorist takes all of their creative expression and gathers it up into one entirety—the making of an idol and calling it a god. They made the god; that’s arrogance. But it views it from the standpoint of its existing results, the type of reversionism in which they find themselves: total maladjustment to the justice of God leading to total blackout of the soul. The active voice: the unbeliever produces the action by saying no at God-consciousness and no at gospel hearing. The indicative mood is declarative for the historical pattern of reversionism and heathenism, or unbeliever reversionism.

“the glory of the incorruptible God” – the accusative singular direct object from doxa (δόξα) [pronounced DOHX-ah], “glory”, referring here to the sum total of the divine attributes of God; the possessive genitive from the adjective áphthartos (ἄφθαρτος) [pronounced AF-thar-toss], which means imperishable, incorruptible, immortal; plus the descriptive genitive of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], “God.” Arrogance of reversionism always seeks to corrupt the incorruptible, and the creative work of evil is to destroy the incorruptible in the minds of others. You cannot destroy the incorruptible God but you can create the wrong impression of Him. Arrogance always finds a human being setting himself up above the very power and greatness of infinite God. So the arrogance of reversionism seeks to corrupt the incorruptible by exchanging the perfect attributes of God for images of people or animals associated with what people admire in people, or what people admire in animals—generally some form of power or some ability to kill, and so on. Principle: Creature power, no matter how it tries, can never supersede creator power.

“into an image” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of homoiōma (ὁμοίωμα) [pronounced hom-OY-oh-mah], which means, likeness, which means a copy, a form, an appearance, an image. With the locative homoiōma (ὁμοίωμα) [pronounced hom-OY-oh-mah], which means, likeness.

This with en (ἐν) [pronounced en] means into or in, but with the verb allássō (ἀλλάσσω) [pronounced al-LASS-so], to exchange, it means for. So we translate “for an image.” This is idolatry of heathenism or reversionism.

“made like” – there is no verb here at all in the original. There is an appositional genitive singular from eikōn (εἰκών) [pronounced ī-KOHN]. It means not only an image but also a form or appearance. We translate it, “in the form of.”

“corruptible man” – descriptive genitive of the adjective phthartós (φθαρτός) [pronounced fthar-TOSS] which means corruptible, mortal, or perishable. Man is corruptible because of his old sin nature; man is mortal because of death; man is perishable because of the human body. Then the objective genitive singular of anthrōpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos], used for mankind in the generic sense. Images of men who exercise great power and authority in life are set up and worshipped. This was being done in the Roman empire.

“and to birds” – objective genitive plural of peteinon (πετεινόν) [pronounced peht-i-NON]. These birds are admired for their ability to soar—the hawk, the eagle, the birds that seem to have power. Many countries had some form of bird worship.

“and four-footed beasts” – objective genitive plural from tetráπους (τετράπους) [pronounced tet-RAP-ooce], which means a quadruped, an animal with four legs. The animal was worshipped for his power. For example, the bull was worshipped in Egypt and in Crete.

“and creeping things” – herpetón (ἑρπετόν) [pronounced her-pet-OHN], referring primarily to snakes, though crocodiles were also worshipped.

Romans 1:23 And they exchanged the glory [essence] of the incorruptible God for an image in the form of corruptible mankind, and birds, and quadrupeds, and reptiles.

This is the story of how far evil will go, and how evil becomes creative and makes its own gods. Isaiah made fun of idols which could not stand on their own, so chains would be added to hold the idol upright.

Verses 24-28, three deliveries of divine justice. There are three approaches of divine justice to people who become so involved.

1977 Romans

Lesson #29

29 02/13/1977 Romans 1:24–25a Divine delivery over to reversionism and degeneration

The background for the book of Romans is justice, justification. God is the evaluator of all His creatures and He is allowed to be this, as we are His creatures.

“A” is the point at which the message of the cross is given. “B” is the unbeliever hearing this message. The unbeliever is spiritually dead, so they must be given this information where it is made real. This is called common grace. If the person believes, they have made salvation adjustment to the justice of God.

That is the first adjustment to the justice of God; and there are two more for the believer. Rebound adjustment to the justice of God and maturity adjustment to the justice of God.

The book of Romans connects the new believer to the mature believer.

Bob gives the plotting of Planet of the Apes and the follow up movie.

Review of translation.

If the unbeliever does not adjust to the justice of God, the justice of God adjusts to him.

Vv. 24–25 is judgment in time.

The verb paradídōmai (παραδίδωμαι) [pronounced pah-rah-DIH-doh-my] means to deliver, and in this case it means to deliver over to justice and to deliver over to the justice of the supreme court of heaven.

Rome did not miss greatness as a nation; but the United States appears that we will miss greatness, as we are turning against Bible doctrine. The Roman Empire will become the greatest nation in all of human history.

A democracy is not true freedom and it will never be true freedom. Democracy is giving everyone a say, including the morons, and this is who will end up have the most say.

About 5 million Romans were destroyed in civil war, when the Roman republican became the Roman empire.

To be a great nation, there needs to be 300–500 years of history as a great nation.

In the context there are three deliveries to divine justice. The first is the delivery to reversionism, verses 24 & 25. The second is the delivery to perversion, verses 26 & 27. The third delivery is to the function of evil, verse 28. This will explain a lot of national disaster to us.

Romans 1:24 Therefore God gave them up in the desires of their hearts to impurity to dishonor their bodies between themselves,

Verse 24 – the first delivery: divine justice delivering a maladjusted people to reversionism. “Wherefore God also”— the inferential conjunction dió (διό) [pronounced DEE-oh] should be translated “Therefore,” in view of what has just been noted with regard to God-consciousness, gospel hearing, negative volition at these points, the accumulation of negative volition or maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation. As a result of that maladjustment God is fair and just, and if divine justice cannot bless it must curse; and that is what we are about to observe—the cursing which comes from the justice of God where the human race in any given nation or empire is maladjusted to the justice of God.

“God” – ho theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], “the God.” The definite article is not used to show the quality of God, though the quality of essence is there, it is to demonstrate the fact that this phrase, this person, is well known to those who are the hearers or the readers of this epistle. So the definite article with the proper noun indicates you know who is meant by “the God.” It refers specifically to the Lord Jesus Christ who is a presiding judge of the supreme court of heaven. There are three judges on the supreme court: God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit. But all judgment is committed to the Lord Jesus Christ. So the inferential conjunction dio (διό) [pronounced DEE-oh] gives a reason for judgment from the justice of God, in this case against the unbeliever in reversionism. Negative volition at either God-consciousness or gospel hearing is the cause of the problem and results in heathenism. The justice of God must adjust to maladjustment, and it does so always with cursing. The nominative singular of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] with the definite article emphasizes the justice of God from the essence of God.

“gave them up” – aorist active indicative of the verb paradídōmai (παραδίδωμαι) [pronounced pah-rah-DIH-doh-my] which means to hand over, to deliver, to entrust, to give over, to commend, or to commit. It also means to hand down, to pass on, to transmit, to reach, to allow, and to permit. Obviously all of these meanings go with various combinations of other Greek words. Here we have a combination of delivering over or handing over to judgment. The verb is used here for God’s judgment of unbeliever reversionism or the evil of heathenism. The aorist tense is a constative aorist, it contemplates the action of the verb in its entirety. It takes the judgment of heathenism in any nation, at any time, and gathers it up into one entirety. The active voice: the justice of God produces the action of the verb: the judgment of unbeliever reversionism. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality. We also have an accusative plural direct object of the verb paradídōmai (παραδίδωμαι) [pronounced pah-rah-DIH-doh-my], and an intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS]. And so we translate literally, “Therefore [because of reversionism] the God delivered them over [to judgment].” This is the concept of these words. The indicative mood is historical reality. This has happened historically in the past.

“to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts” – the Greek word order is quite different from what it is in the English. The prepositional phrase, en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative plural of epithumia (ἐπιθυμία) [pronounced ep-ee-thoo-MEE-ah], means lusts, is used for the lust pattern of the old sin nature—power lust, approbation lust, materialism lust, wander lust, any kind of lust—is literally “in the lusts.” Then the ablative of source from kardia, referring to the part of the mentality of the soul where thinking is done and anything else which is done by way of mental action. In the lusts of the right lobe, when there is no category of doctrine, eventually evil comes from the left lobe over to the right lobe. In the left lobe evil is called the blackout of the soul, and it moves over to the right lobe. As it comes into the right lobe it begins to take over various functions, and as evil takes over there is no vocabulary, no integrity, there are no principles. The standards are destroyed, there is no conscience. It is replaced by lusts from the old sin nature. So we have, “in lusts from their right lobes.”

The possessive genitive plural of the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS] is used as a possessive pronoun showing that this category of people possess a right lobe with a potential; the potential is destroyed by maladjustment. There is also the preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative of akatharsia (ἀκαθαρσία, ας, ῆ) [pronounced ak-ath-ar-SEE-ah] which means impurity, refuse, immorality, viciousness, all kinds of things. The noun is used for ceremonial as well as moral impurity, it means moral uncleanness, it implies also sexual profligacy and uncleanness of the soul. There is also a connotation of impurity in the sense of content of graves, the decomposition of the corpse in the grave. Paul, however, uses the word in the broader sense of its use in Judaism—absolute alienation from God on the part of the unbeliever reversionist and/or the heathen. We translate this “to an unclean status” or “to an immoral status” if we understand immoral, not in the sense of violating some standard of law but total alienation from God, maladjustment to the justice of God.

“to dishonor” – the articular present passive infinitive from the verb atimázō (ἀτιμάζω) [pronounced at-ihm-AHD-zoh]. This infinitive introduces a result clause (there are 6 types of result clauses). We have eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus to plus the infinitive, a rare sort of result clause. When God starts to judge the reversionism of the unbeliever He judges them by permitting them to enter into a system of dishonor. There are causes and results in history, there are causes and results in scientific phenomena, there are causes and results in the function of divine justice. Here the cause is divine justice and the result is to “dishonor”, to insult, to treat shamefully. In the passive voice it means to be degraded: “that their bodies might be degraded” is a better translation than to dishonor their own bodies. In the infinitive we have the historical present tense. This occurs historically whenever the conditions are right. The passive voice: the bodies of those involved in the national entity receive the action of the verb. The infinitive is the infinitive of actual result.

“their own bodies” – accusative plural of reference, sōma (σῶμα) [pronounced SOH-mah]. One of the great protections of divine establishment is the protection of your body. Your body is the house for your soul. Any time you body is protected your soul is also protected, and it is for this purpose that we have the true concept of freedom. The true concept of freedom protects your body and soul from the encroachment from others. It also protects things related to your body—your property, your privacy. “That their bodies might be degraded” has to do with the destruction of freedom in a very special sense. The justice of God begins to degrade the human body.

Once the human body is degraded there are certain manifestations of this. When the human body is not degraded people in a nation always have excellent grooming. They are clean, well dressed, compatible, of course, with their own financial status in life and availability of clothing, and so on. The degradation of the body is a sign of a loss of freedom.

When a military begins to go down, they begin to allow many variations of sloppy grooming.

“between themselves” indicates the course that is going to be explained in this passage. This is en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative plural from the intensive pronoun αὐτοῖς [pronounced ow-TOSS], used here in the reflexive sense—“among themselves.” This is the predicate use of the intensive pronoun, translated by the word “self.” The Greek prepositional phrase en (ἐν) [pronounced en] αυτοῖς has a reciprocal significance, and this reciprocity is going to refer to perverted sex in verse 26. This is the degradation among themselves. This is not fornication, not legitimate sex, but perverted sex which is going to be the sign of degradation, or the illustration of it.

Romans 1:24 Therefore the God [justice of God] delivered them over in the lusts of their right lobes to immoral status [= alienation from God through maladjustment], that their bodies might be degraded among themselves.

This verse emphasizes divine justice handing over the reversionist to judgement, and the unbeliever reversionist is judged by the justice of God in time as well as in eternity. The verse indicates that reversionism is self-destructive. One indication of a degenerate society is wherever homosexuality thrives there is a degenerate society awaiting a very, very terrible and disastrous historical judgment. Reversionism is self-destructive and the cancer of society which grows and grows is homosexuality. This destroyed the famous 5th century BC society of Greece. Homosexuality was not just allowed, it was honored. This is typical of the degeneracy which comes from divine justice. When there is rejection of divine truth there is the inevitable vacuum, the infiltration of evil into the soul, and the degradation which comes as a part of divine justice. Therefore, perverted sex such as homosexuality and lesbianism is a reversionistic attack on human freedom. The security of human freedom is the divine institutions.

Homosexuality is a sin. It is curable. All sins can be stopped. This is a cancer which will destroy the United States America.

Principle of doctrine: The old sin nature has no capacity for thought, no power of thought. And since the old sin nature does not think it borrows the right lobe for its thinking. That is why the heart is often connect with the old sin nature. It is why Jesus said: “From the heart proceeds ...” and then He gave a list of sins. The source of homosexuality, bestiality, lesbianism and incest is said to be the heart. But it is simply that the old sin nature must use the heart to do its thinking. Neither the emotion nor the OSN has any ability for thought.

Romans 1:25 who changed the truth of God into falsehood, and revered and served the created thing beyond the One having created it, who is blessed to the ages! Amen.

Verse 25 – “Who changed” is the nominative masculine plural of the qualitative relative pronoun hostis (ὅστις) [pronounced HOHS-tiss], indicating persons who belong to a certain category. We are talking about category degeneracy, about the perverted abnormalities of sex which are a cancer, indicating that reversionism has reached a saturation point and must be judged by the justice of God. The relative pronoun hostis (ὅστις) [pronounced HOHS-tiss] introduces a sentence of general reference.

The aorist active indicative of metallássō (μεταλλάσσω) [pronounced met-al-LASS-so] is the verb, it means to exchange something for something. It is used in verse 26 for exchanging normal sex, natural sex relationships between a man and a woman for those which are contrary to nature and abnormal. When people reject doctrine, the gospel—in this case, people refers to the unbeliever—and there is the entrance into reversionism, eventually the thinking which accompanies reversionism leads to perversion. There is perversion in thinking and there is perversion in action. Perversion is that which is the antithesis of establishment principles. What happens is that the doctrine of God is exchanged for the lie of Satan, i.e. evil. The word “exchanged” here is a constative aorist, it gathers into one entirety the reversionistic process which leads into sexual perversion. First the no to the gospel, then the thinking which becomes perversion in the soul. The active voice: the unbeliever in this case produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for the dogmatic statement of fact regarding trading doctrine for the lie and perverse sex and reversionism.

Whatever the unbeliever can do, so the believer can do. All that is required that they get into reversionism.

“the truth of God” is the good part of the exchange—the accusative singular direct object from the noun alêtheia (ἀλήθεια, ας, ῆ) [pronounced ahl-Ā-thi-ah] which means truth in the sense of doctrine. In this context it connotes that portion of doctrine which the unbeliever can understand when he gets epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel; plus the possessive genitive from theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—“the doctrine of the God.” Reversionism is always exposed to truth first. The unbeliever has heard the gospel, has understood the gospel through the ministry of the Holy Spirit.

“into a lie” – the preposition en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the definite article plus the locative singular of pseûdos (ψεῦδος) [pronounced PSYOO-doss] refers to Satanic doctrines which are false. Pseûdos (ψεῦδος) [pronounced PSYOO-doss] connotes error, false assertions, and therefore this refers to the whole propaganda of evil that changes a person from normal to abnormal. Evil becomes the thinking and perversion becomes the action from that thinking.

The result: “and worshipped” – aorist passive indicative of sebázomai (σεβάζομαι) [pronounced seb-AD-zom-ahee], a deponent verb—passive in form, active in meaning—and it means to show reverence, respect. It originally had the connotation of a scale of values, and what is high on your scale of values you respect or worship. The aorist tense is a constative aorist, it gathers up into one entirety the worship of Satan on the part of the reversionist. Whether he knows it or not he worships either Satan or something Satan provides, like perversion. The passive voice: in the deponent verb it is active in meaning and the reversionistic unbeliever produces the action. The indicative mood is declarative, the verbal idea is expressed in the viewpoint of actual historical reality.

“and served” – aorist active indicative from latreuô (λατρεύω) [pronounced lat-RYOO-oh] is an advance. Latreuô (λατρεύω) [pronounced lat-RYOO-oh] comes to be the ritual of worship. The idea is the highest attraction toward someone; and then that person serves the one they respect. This can be used of a woman responding to a man. It includes everything from human sacrifice to the phallic cult where Satan is concerned. The original connotation of the word was to serve happily in response to respect in the soul, but it finally comes to mean Satanism, demonism, the whole works. The aorist tense is a constative aorist, it gathers into one entirety every act related to demonism, human sacrifice, the Satanic mass, any other ritual related to the cultic worship of Satan. In other words, latreuō (λατρεύω) [pronounced lat-RYOO-oh] is used here for the worship of Satan. Idolatry was one of the places where they always started homosexuality, bestiality, incest, child sacrifice. They are trading that which is good and is normal; and you trade it in for that which is abnormal. Abnormality becomes your normal life.

“the creature” – dative of indirect object, dative of disadvantage of ktisis (κτίσις) [pronounced KTEES-iss] and it refers to the worship of Satan. You may not know that you are worshiping Satan, but you are. He is the creature referred to here, the original creature from God. It is to the disadvantage of anyone to worship the creature.

1977 Romans

Lesson #30

30 02/13/1977 Romans 1:25b–27 Blessing God; sexual perversion

Romans 1:25 who changed the truth of God into falsehood, and revered and served the created thing beyond the One having created it, who is blessed to the ages! Amen.

“more than the creator” – the Lord Jesus Christ. This is not quite correctly translated, the reason being that para plus the accusative plus the definite article with the aorist active participle is not quite what it appears to be. Para plus the accusative has one meaning whereas para plus other cases has a different meaning. Para is denoting a comparison. It is used here as a preposition of comparison and it should be translated “rather than.” There is a mutually exclusive concept which is not brought out by the translation “more than.” The articular aorist active participle refers to the Lord Jesus Christ. The articular participle when not accompanied by a noun often functions as a substantive, and therefore instead of giving it a participial verbal concept we will give it the noun concept and simply call it “rather than the creator.”

One person of the Trinity is specifically said to be the creator of the universe. The Lord Jesus Christ is said to be the creator of all things in John 1:3; Colossians 1:16; Hebrews 1:10. Rather than use His title as Lord and saviour, Jesus Christ is given another title here. The articular participle used as the substantive includes a title which the unbeliever can understand. God-consciousness gives the unbeliever that much understanding. So the articular participle used as a substantive includes that category of unbeliever reversionist who is negative at God-consciousness and negative at gospel hearing. Rejection or negative volition at either God-consciousness or gospel hearing opens the vacuum of the soul, called : mataiotês (ματαιότης) [pronounced mat-ah-YOHT-ace], resulting in the entrance of the lie which is a synonym here for evil. The lie, evil, and strong delusion (2Thess. 2) are synonymous terms. We have the participle of ktízō (κτίζω) [pronounced KTID-zoh]. There is a cognate noun ktisis (κτίσις) [pronounced KTEES-iss].

This is what ktízō (κτίζω) [pronounced KTID-zoh] does, it produces creatures. We have our source from the Lord Jesus Christ who created each category. Jesus Christ is God and infinitely greater than the greatest of creatures. Christ created Satan; Satan revolted against his creator. The negative volition of Lucifer created a vacuum in his own arrogant being—we might call it a soul by way of anthropopathism—and therefore the delusion of evil entered and possessed Satan. Demon possession never occurs before delusion possession, the function of evil in the soul of the reversionist. So the delusion comes first, and as the ruler of this world Satan's policy of evil is strong delusion.

“who” – the relative pronoun hos has as its antecedent the Lord Jesus Christ; “is – present active indicative of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. The present tense is a static present, it represents a condition assumed as permanently existing. The active voice: Jesus Christ produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic and unqualified statement of fact.

“blessed” – a predicate nominative from eulogêtos (εὐλογητός) [pronounced you-log-ay-TOSS], an adjective which means praise, or blessed. The adjective is equivalent, however, to the Hebrew baruk, a qal passive participle from the verb barak, meaning to bless. The adjective is called doxological. In other words, God is not blessed by anyone else; God is blessed by His own being. The adjective, being doxological, is never used for men in the New Testament. This sometimes means the object of praise but it means that in His own being there is nothing but blessing. God is perfect happiness within His own being. So the adjective eulogêtos (εὐλογητός) [pronounced you-log-ay-TOSS] means much more than mere praise from mankind. The adjective takes on the special sense of connoting the attributes of God, and indicating that every attribute of God being immutable and unchangeable only produces and contributes happiness to the whole essence of God. God is perfect happiness and perfect blessing, and as perfect blessing He is the source of blessing—provided, of course, there is adjustment to His justice. So “blessed” means that the integrity of divine attributes of Christ are inviolable forever and ever.

“forever” is a prepositional phrase, eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative plural of aiôn (αἰών) [pronounced I-OHM], “for the ages” or “forever.” It is a Greek idiom of duration of time.

“Amen” – amên (ἀμήν) [pronounced am-ANE]. The Hebrew equivalent, amen, means to believe, to be stabilized, to be sure. It is used to attest the praise of God in response to a doxology. It acknowledges the validity of doctrine as binding, therefore it connotes what is sure and valid. So the Greek amên (ἀμήν) [pronounced am-ANE] is used in liturgy of worship for acclamation in Christian worship. It is used to terminate both prayers and doxologies, meaning “I believe it,” or better, “I am sure of it.”

You do not shout out, Amen in the middle of a sermon. That is rude and crude and baptisty.

Romans 1:25 They [reversionists] who exchanged the doctrine of the God for a lie [gospel for false doctrine or evil], both worshipped and served the creature [Satan] rather than the Creator [the Jesus Christ], Who is blessed forever. Amen.

Justice of God Blessing and Salvation

1. Jesus Christ is not blessed forever by man. The final phrase means that the justice of God is inviolable.
2. The justice of God is neither corrupted nor compromised by blessing man who adjusts to His justice.
3. For the unbeliever who adjust to the justice of God at salvation by faith in Christ the justice of God is free to bless that person with eternal salvation.
4. Giving salvation to sinful man when he believes in Christ does not destroy or corrupt the justice of God.
5. The Creator, or Jesus Christ, retains His justice inviolable, immutable, unchangeable, even after saving the person who believes in Christ.
6. However, rejection of Christ as saviour in maladjustment to the justice of God, therefore the justice of God is not free to give salvation to the ones who do not adjust by believing in Christ. There is only the alternative.
7. Negative volition at either God-consciousness or gospel hearing is maladjustment to the justice of God.
8. Either you adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God will adjust to you.
9. Maladjustment means exchanging the truth or doctrine of God for the devil's lie, the false doctrine of evil.
10. While the unbeliever changes in reversionism the attributes of God remain immutable, incorruptible, inviolable.
11. Therefore God is blessed forever in the sense that His attributes remain uncompromised in either blessing or cursing you through His divine justice.
12. The justice of God can bless the person who believes in Christ with eternal salvation. That same justice of God can only judge and curse the person who is negative at God-consciousness or gospel hearing, or both.

The first delivery, then, is mental and it results in the second delivery to judgment.

Verses 26 & 27, the second delivery to sexual perversion. Note: a) Legitimate sex (marriage); b) Illegitimate but normal sex (fornication). In both of these types of sex anything goes to which both agree. There is no such thing as an abnormality between two normal people, male and female, in sex; c) Abnormal sex (everything from incest, homosexuality/lesbianism, bestiality, etc.) These need to be kept in mind. Points b & c are sins and subject to rebound; point a is not a sin.

The abnormal sexual types think that there is no change for them. That is a lot of birdseed. Any sin can be overcome and lived without.

“You can recover from that just like some women next to you can get over being gossipy and flaky. Well, gossip anyway.”

Romans 1:26 Because of this, God gave up them to passions of dishonor. For even their females changed the natural use into that contrary to nature.

Verse 26 – the principle involved. “For this cause” – the preposition dia plus the accusative neuter singular from the demonstrative pronoun houtos (οὗτος) [pronounced HOO-tos]. Literally, “Because of this.” The demonstrative pronoun emphasizes the negative volition or maladjustment of the reversionist who in the previous paragraph has exchanged a certain portion of doctrine (the gospel) for evil. Rejection of Jesus Christ as saviour, negative volition at the point of gospel hearing, maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation, means you exchange the truth for the lie, the doctrine of the gospel for Satan’s policy of evil.

“God” – incorrect. The nominative singular subject ho theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], “the God.” This is a proper noun referring to God and the purpose of the definite article is to indicate someone with whom you are familiar. This is what the definite article means when used with the proper noun theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]. It identifies the identity of God as someone well known to you. Here is the justice of God emphasized.

“gave them up” – aorist active indicative of the verb paradídōmai (παραδίδωμαι) [pronounced pah-rah-DIH-doh-my], which means to deliver over, or to hand over for judgment. The aorist tense is a constative aorist, it gathers into one entirety the judgment function of the justice of God toward the unbeliever reversionist. The active voice: the justice of God produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the standpoint of reality. Then the accusative plural direct object from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτοῖς) [pronounced ow-TOSS] which emphasizes the identity of a category—unbeliever reversionism or maladjustment to the justice of God at the point of salvation. The category therefore is heathenism. Heathenism can occur at two points: negative volition at God-consciousness, negative volition at gospel hearing.

“unto vile affections” – eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative plural of pathos (πάθος) [pronounced PATH-oss] which means passions: “to passions.” These passions are defined by a descriptive genitive singular from the adjective atimia (ἀτιμία) [pronounced at-ee-MEE-ah], which means “dishonorable, disgraceful,” even “perverted.” Literally, “to passions of dishonor.” This refers to sexual perversion.

The last half of this verse deals with lesbianism (ladies first). “For” – postpositive conjunctive particle gar used as an explanatory conjunction. The conjunction explains the passions of dishonor in terms of the females. Note: Sex was intended by God as an expression of love in category #2, between a man and a woman, never between a woman and a woman. Therefore God designed sex as an honorable passion between one man and one woman, a relationship in which both the body and the mind are coordinated honorably toward another. While sexual relationship between right man and right woman is honorable, sex between two women is totally dishonorable, depraved, degenerate, abnormal. But curable. It is a sign of reversionism. Not only is it a sin but it manifests reversionism. It is an application of the Satanic doctrine of evil to life.

“even” – a connective enclitic particle te, used to connect lesbianism with homosexuality in males. The translation should be, “For not only.”

“their women” – the word “their” is the nominative feminine plural of the definite article hai. It is used as a possessive pronoun and therefore correctly translated. Then, we do not have the word for “women,” gunê (γυνή) [pronounced goo-NAY], which means “ladies,” we have the nominative feminine plural subject thēlus (θῆλυς) [pronounced THAY-loos], which means female. Thēlus (θῆλυς) [pronounced THAY-loos] is used for degenerate women in contrast to gunê (γυνή) [pronounced goo-NAY], ladies.

“did change” – aorist active indicative of the verb metallássō (μεταλλάσσω) [pronounced met-al-LASS-so] which means to exchange something natural for something abnormal—to exchange the natural use of sex with a man for abnormal sexual perversion, sex with a woman. The constative aorist gathers into one entirety the expression of evil in lesbianism. The active voice: reversionistic females (unbelievers in this context) under the influence of evil produce the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative, it views reversion from the standpoint of the degeneracy and abnormality of lesbianism. “For not only their females exchanged.”

“the natural use” – accusative singular direct object from the adjective phusis (φύσις) [pronounced FOO-sihs], which means natural or normal. With that is the accusative singular direct object from the noun chrēsis (χρῆσις) [pronounced KHRAY-sis], meaning use or employment, manner of using.

“into that which is against nature” – two prepositional phrases. The first: eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative feminine singular of the definite article used as a demonstrative pronoun, translated “into that” or “for that.” The second: para plus the accusative of phusis (φύσις) [pronounced FOO-sihs], “natural order” or “natural function.”

Romans 1:26 Because of this [exchange of doctrine for evil] the God delivered them over to passions of dishonor [sexual perversions of degeneracy]: for not only their females exchanged the normal function [of sex] for that which is contrary to normal function.

Romans 1:27 And likewise also the males, having left the natural use of the female, were inflamed in their desire toward one another, males with males, working out shame and receiving in themselves the recompense which was fitting of their error.

Verse 27 – “And likewise also the men.” The adverb of comparison homoiōs (ὁμοίως) [pronounced hom-OY-occe], “In the same way,” plus the second enclitic particle used to connect, te. Te is repeated, and the repetition means “but also.” There is also the ascensive use of the conjunction kai, and so instead of “And likewise also” it should be translated “But also in the same manner even.” The term “lesbian” is derived from the island of Lesbos in the Aegean Sea. The home of the lyric poet Sappho. We use in contrast to that now, “homosexuality” for male sexual perversion. “

Since the Bible has separate terms for these sins, is it possible that they are seen as somewhat different sins? These would be, originally, societal terms.

Also in the same manner even the men” – the nominative masculine plural subject from arrhên/arsên (ἄρρην/αρσην) [pronounced AR-hrane, AR-sane] which means males and has a very strong emphasis on perversion. With this is the generic use of the definite article used to represent a class of males. The males here are homosexuals.

“leaving the natural use of the woman” – the aorist active participle of aphîemi (ἀφίημι) [pronounced af-EE-ay-mee] means to let go, to send away, to give up or to abandon. This is a temporal participle so we translate it in a temporal clause, “after they abandoned.” The ingressive aorist tense contemplates the action of the verb at its beginning. It uses this verb to signify the state or condition of homosexuality and denoting an entrance into that state. There is no such thing as being born with some handicap that makes a person a homosexual. The entry into that state is by the exercise of one’s own volition related to the old sin nature and evil in the soul. This is emphasized because it is curable, like any sin. (This is contrary to what psychology teaches) The active voice: homosexual males produce the action of the verb. The participle is temporal.

Note that the homosexual rejection of normal sex with a woman is an act of deliberate volition as a part of reversionism under the influence of evil. Evil distorts the thinking of the soul, otherwise no man could sexually arouse another man and no woman could ever sexually arouse another woman. The accusative singular direct object from the adjective phusis (φύσις) [pronounced FOO-sihs] indicating the normal order—“natural”; and chrēsis (χρήσις) [pronounced KHRAY-sis], “use” or “function [of sex]”; plus the genitive of relationship of thēlus (θῆλυς) [pronounced THAY-loos]--“of the female.”

“burn” – aorist passive indicative of ekkaíō (ἐκκαίω) [pronounced ek-KAH-yo]. It means to become inflamed with sexual desire. The aorist tense is a culminative aorist, it views homosexuality in its entirety but regards it from the viewpoint of its existing results, In other words, you enter into it at some point because of evil. Then evil controls the soul, and from that comes anti-woman and pro-male, and at this point is the culminative aorist, man arouses man. The passive voice means that the homosexual receives the action of the verb in the state of reversionism. The indicative mood is declarative, viewing the verbal action from the standpoint of reality.

“in their lust” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of órexis (ὄρεξις) [pronounced OHR-ex-iss] which means sexual desire or sex lust; “one toward another” – the preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative of allēlōn (ἀλλήλων) [pronounced al-LAY-lohn], referring to another of the same category.

“men with men working that which is unseemly” – the masculine plural subject arrhên/arsên (ἄρρην/αρσην) [pronounced AR-hrane, AR-sane], and en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of arrhên/arsên (ἄρρην/αρσην) [pronounced AR-hrane, AR-sane], “males with males”; plus the present active participle of the verb κατεργάζομαι (katergázomai) [pronounced kat-er-GAHD-zom-ahée], which means to work out what is on the inside: sexual lust, which is both abnormal and perverted. It means to accomplish something, therefore. The present tense is a progressive present denoting an action which began in the past and is going on at the present time. This can also be a perfective present denoting the continuation of existing results of homosexuality. The active voice: the homosexual produces the action of the verb by relating abnormal lust to sexual relationship. The participle is circumstantial for perverted fornication and homosexuality. We translate it “accomplishing.” With it is an accusative singular direct object from aschēmosunē (ἀσχημοσύνη) [pronounced as-kay-mos-OO-nay], a perverted act or a shameless deed.

“and receiving in themselves” – apolambanō (ἀπολαμβάνω) [pronounced ap-ol-am-BAHN-oh] means to receive back what is due or to duly receive. This is a perfective present tense denoting a continuation of the pay-off of homosexuality. The active voice: homosexuals receive back judgment from the justice of God. The participle is circumstantial for an abnormal, perverted homosexuality receiving just payment from the justice of God. Then en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative plural of the reflexive pronoun heautou (ἑαυτοῦ) [pronounced heh-ow-TOO]. The reflexive pronoun refers the action of the verb back on the subject—“receiving back in themselves.”

“that recompense of their error” – the accusative singular of the definite article used as a demonstrative pronoun, plus the accusative singular direct object of antimisthía (ἀντιμισθία) [pronounced an-tee-mis-THEE-ah] [anti (ἀντί) [pronounced an-TEE] = against; misthos (μισθός) [pronounced mihs-THOSS] = reward], so against reward means penalty, retribution, or judgment.

“of their error” – genitive singular of possession from plánē (πλάνη) [pronounced PLAHN-ay], “of their perversion.”

“which was meet” – accusative feminine singular of the relative pronoun hos plus the imperfect active indicative of deí/deon (δεῖ/δεόν) [pronounced digh/deh-OHN], meaning here to be inevitable. This is the customary imperfect denoting what regularly occurs in past time when homosexuality is practiced.

Romans 1:27 But also in the same manner even the males [homosexuals], after they abandoned the normal sexual function of the female, became inflamed with sexual desire in their lust toward each other [of the same category]; accomplishing the perverted act, and receiving back payment in themselves that judgment of their perversion which was inevitable.

Principle

1. It is inevitable that the justice of God will judge all maladjustment, both homosexual and lesbian.

2. Those who do not adjust to the justice of God the justice of God will adjust to them in cursing and judgment.
3. Homosexuality is a sin, not a sickness; but in addition to that it is evil and reversionism.
4. Therefore the Bible is very definite in its prohibition against homosexuality. Leviticus 18:22.
5. The Romans had copied perversions of the Greeks.
6. The recovery of Roman art indicate homosexual activities became prominent among Romans.

Principle

1. The homosexual, then, is not only sinful but he is reversionistic, and he has a deviant attitude, which may be a neurosis or a psychosis.
2. Homosexuality receives payment from the justice of God through irrationality, neurosis, fear, abnormal or distorted affection or love, anti-establishment function, psychosis.
3. Psychologist Alfred Adler admits that "homosexuals have a deep-seated revolt against adjustment to the normal sex role", plus "a tendency to depreciate females, plus a display of increased over-sensitivity, ambition, defiance, distrust of others, and a desire to dominate."
4. The Freudian school of psychology talks about latent homosexuality in terms of those who consciously believe that they are heterosexual but who are unconsciously attracted to members of their own sex. This is one of the most confusing things in the world. There is no such thing as latent homosexuality.
5. The Freudian school, then, ignores both the function of volition and the classification of homosexuality as a sin.
6. It does, however, recognize the existence of the old sin nature with its lust pattern when it uses such words as concupiscence.
7. The Krafft-Ebing school of psychology concludes that homosexuality is constitutionally-rooted, i.e. that homosexuals are born and not conditioned, and that they have hormone or some kind of genetic imbalance causing sexual deviation.
8. While the Krafft-Ebing school ignores homosexuality as a personal sin, and a perverted one at that, it does emphasize the source of such sin and comes very close to describing the old sin nature.
9. Modern schools of psychology, most psychiatrists, social workers and sociologists, seem to agree that homosexuality is neither constitutional nor genetic. They contend that homosexuality is the result of environmental influences of a psychological nature. This ignores the concept of volition and the old sin nature as well as ignoring the whole doctrinal system of evil.

Homosexual Conclusions

1. Homosexuality results from the old sin nature activity in the field of abnormal or perverted concupiscence. It is a sin related to reversionism and evil.

2. Homosexuals do not have different kinds of hormones, enzymes, or a different kind of structure from the standpoint of anatomy.
3. Studies of human hermaphrodites [half-male and half-female] demonstrate that no matter how physically mixed up these individuals may be they are heterosexual in relationship to the sex role with which they are reared. If homosexuality were innate this would not be true.
4. Homosexuality, then, is not congenital and is not inherent.
5. Fixed homosexuals may become neurotic or psychotic, not because society harasses them but because they are maladjusted to the justice of God.
6. Therefore they receive in themselves payment, including neurosis and psychosis.
7. Therefore, not the attitude of society but the justice of God produces neurosis in fixed deviants.
8. Society may excoriate the behaviour of homosexuals but reversionism or maladjustment to the justice of God produces punitive action for abnormal sinfulness and evil.
9. There is form of homosexuality which comes from the edifice complex, i.e. boys become so guilty about lusting over their mothers that they become afraid of being castrated by their jealous fathers, so that thereafter they cannot face any other woman sexually, and consequently they turn to and become fixated on men. But not without the cooperation of their old sin nature nor without the cooperation of the function of evil.
10. Sexual abnormalities include:
 - a. Transvestism: cross-dressing. A male sexually stimulated by wearing the clothes of a female, and visa versa.
 - b. Sadism: Sexually aroused through brutality.
 - c. Masochism: Arousal through the infliction of pain.
 - d. Necrophilia: Sexual relationship with a corpse.
 - e. Necrosadism: Sexual arousal through mutilation of a corpse.
 - f. Sexual murder: Sexual arousal by killing another person of the opposite sex. This is not the same as rape.
 - g. Narcism: Sexual arousal from contemplating, admiring, or caressing one's own body.
 - h. Pedophilia: Called pederasty in which an adult, usually a male, is sexually attracted to younger boys.
 - i. Bestiality: Sex with animals.
 - j. All of these abnormalities have their ultimate origins in the sin nature.
11. Many have been historically associated with homosexuality: Alexander the Great, Socrates, Achilles, Frederick the Great.

Homosexuality it is an acquired sin; and it is therefore curable through Bible doctrine resident in the soul. It takes volition to engage in homosexual behaviors; and it takes volition to end it.

31 02/14/1977 Romans 1:28 Satan, the creature; "people smart"; delivery to the function of evil

Whenever homosexuality and lesbianism is permitted by society it acts as a cancer and becomes one of the first manifestations of national degeneracy and catastrophe, and the inevitable 5th cycle of discipline. There is an excellent reason for not tolerating these perversions: it is destructive to a nation. There is nothing more ghastly or horrible than homosexual activities (or any of the other perverted acts).

If you do not respect for the object of your love, then you do not really love him. No woman truly loves man until she is ready to worship and serve, then you definitely do not love. She is in awe of him; and she respects him.

The world today is worshipping and serving the creature. The United States of America makes heroes of the wrong people, which is indicative of the worship of Satan. The evils of the United States, like social security and knocking down our military. We have done our best to help the greatest slave master in the world. What should we do? March on some pizza parlor? Never have so many traitors run free and called heroes. They worship and serve the creature rather than the Creator.

Some of the notes below are coming from Lesson #541. and #542.

Satan

1. The creature Lucifer the son of the morning is the highest of all angelic creatures, the most beautiful creature that ever came from the hand of God, the smartest creature.
2. He is the ruler of all fallen angels—Matthew 8:28; 9:34; 12:26; Luke 11:18,19. Isaiah 14:12-17; Ezekiel 28:11-19 describes in detail the beauty of this creature. He is invisible. He is the most attractive of creatures and the smartest creature. Never has been a more attractive, a more persuasive, a more entertaining creature than himself.
3. He is a prehistoric creatures. Isaiah 14 Ezekiel 28.
4. Satan is so great in his intelligence that his objections to his judgment are being considered and man is brought in as the chief witness.
5. He is the super genius of all time. Never has such a creature existed in all of time.
6. He said, "I will be the most high God." Pride.
7. He had three falls: Isaiah 14 gives the first fall. Ezekiel 28 gives a description of three falls. Revelation 12 & 20 round it all out.
8. There are also two advents of the super creature related to human history: Satan coming to the garden, where he succeeded. Then his return at the end of the Millennium. He will lead a revolt against perfect environment. No problems to complain about; no warfare. Satan is persuasive and he is able to distract. His advents come after perfect environment on the earth.

9. So the creature is the central antagonist of the angelic conflict. He is the leader of the opposition. Hebrews 1 & 2; Genesis 6; 1Peter 3:18-22.
10. He is the greatest administrator in all history. He has an organization and administrative genius—Ephesians 6. He is a murderer from the beginning—John 8:44; he is antagonist to doctrine throughout all history—Matthew 13:9, 39.
11. He is the enemy of the royal family of God—Revelation 2:9, 13, 24.
12. The creature is also the ruler of this world—Luke 4:5-7; John 12:31; 14:30; 16:11; 2Corinthians 4:4; Ephesians 2:2.
13. But being the ruler of this world does not mean that he controls history. He can only control those in history who are in a status of reversionism, and it is the reversionism in the nation which makes it possible for the policies of the super creature, the policies of evil, to be rampant.
14. Jesus Christ controls history and therefore the creature has to have a strategy in order to get into history at all, and he has a strategy regarding the nations of the world. His strategy is one of conceit, deceit, and conspiracy—Revelation 12:9; 20:3, 8. So the creature is the chief opponent to the laws of divine establishment. He is antagonistic toward human freedom and he is anti-doctrine to the core.
15. He has a strategy regarding the unbelievers of this world, it runs the gamut of blindness of the soul, scar tissue of the soul, reverse process reversionism. And all of this is possible because of negative volition at God-consciousness and negative volition at gospel hearing on the part of the unbeliever. The unbeliever who is maladjusted to the justice of God through the status of reversionism is completely under the control of Satan. In addition to that, every born again believer who is negative toward doctrine is in a state of reversionism and under the same control of Satan, the ruler of this world. The only difference is that the believer in reversionism cannot be demon possessed, he is only under demon influence. So the creature has strategy as far as the unbeliever is concerned—Luke 8:12; 2Corinthians 4:3,4; the strong delusion passage in 2Thessalonians 2:7-10.
16. Satan also has strategy regarding the royal family of God. His basic strategy: the doctrine of reversionism and the doctrine of evil. But he also has other factors in his antagonism. There are believers who are positive to doctrine and advancing in the spiritual life. What can they expect from the creature? Most of the world today is worshipping and serving the creature rather than worshipping and serving the Lord Jesus Christ. If the believer does not serve the creature then he can expect accusation, slander, maligning, judging. The more innocent the believer is the more it will be piled upon him—Zechariah 3:1,2; Revelation 12:9,10. He can also expect a lot of his distractions with regard to doctrine to come from Satan since he sponsors anyone going negative toward doctrine. He sponsors reversionism in the believer—1Corinthians 10:19-21; 2Corinthians 11:3, 13-15. He can expect distraction and frustration regarding the will of God: the mental will of God—Ephesians 4:14; the geographical will of God—1Thessalonians 2:18; the operational will of God—James 4:7,8.

There are people in Berachah who want to separate you from your money and they will talk to you about investing your money, because they are looking to separate you from your money.

You need to be wise as serpents and harmless as doves. Somewhere along the line, you have to get smart.

It is one thing to be people-smart; but never get your eyes on people. Once you get your eyes on people, then you get a case of self-pity. You see people getting away with stuff and you have not gotten away with anything for weeks.

Sometimes you accumulate a little and you want to hold onto it; and you get into some scheme to fix up the devil's world (this is why some successful people are socialists).

Idols are the way that you come into contact with demons.

2Timothy 2:25–26 In grace orientation, exercising disciplinary action toward those who are in opposition to doctrinal teaching [a responsibility of the pastor-teacher] so that perhaps the God may give them a change of mind for the purpose of achieving ἐπίγνωσις knowledge of the doctrine. And that they should come to their senses [reversionism recovery] and be delivered from the devil's trap, having been held captive by him with reference to his plan.

Romans 1:28 And as they did not see fit to have God in their knowledge, God gave them up to a depraved mind, to do things not being proper;

Verse 28 – the third delivery to the function of evil. “And even as” – the connective kai and the causal conjunction kathô̄s (καθώς) [pronounced kath-OCE] means “And since.”

“they did not like” – the negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] plus the aorist active indicative from the verb dokimázō (δοκιμάζω) [pronounced dohk-ihm-AHD-zoh] which means to put something to the test, to examine, to test for the purpose of approving. With the negative it means to reject after testing. “And since they rejected after testing/examining.” This is a reference to the unbeliever reversionist who had epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel. He looked it over, considered it, and said no. This is a constative aorist tense, it gathers into one entirety negative volition at God-consciousness and gospel hearing. The active voice: the self-righteous unbeliever in reversionism maladjusts to the justice of God and rejects after testing. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of reality.

“to retain God” – ton theon echein. The accusative singular of the definite article ton is used as a proper noun to indicate a person whose identity is well known to the readers. The accusative singular of qeon is used here as the object of the infinitive. Plus the present active infinitive of echô (ἔχω) [pronounced EKKH-oh] which means to possess—“having the God.” The present tense is a historic present viewing the past event with the vividness of a present occurrence. The unbeliever after hearing the gospel of Christ produces the action. The infinitive is an actual result at gospel hearing. He actually had God right there by having epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel in his soul. All he had to do was exhale faith in Christ and he was saved, but instead he went negative.

“in their knowledge” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis]. This refers to the unbeliever’s full understanding of the gospel, examining it carefully, and saying no. Literally, “And since in full knowledge they rejected after examination having the God.” Or, better English: “And since in full knowledge they rejected having the God after careful examination.”

“God gave them over” – the nominative singular subject ho theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]. The definite article is used for someone well known to you—the Lord Jesus Christ. Then the verb to hand over to judgment, paradídōmai (παραδίδωμαι) [pronounced pah-rah-DIH-doh-my]. The aorist tense is a constative aorist, it gathers the judgment function of the justice of God toward the unbeliever into one entirety. Handing over to judgment occurs in both time and eternity: in time, the 5th cycle of discipline; in eternity, the lake of fire. The active voice: the justice of God produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative representing the action of the verb as historical reality. Then an accusative plural direct object from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS], emphasizing the identity of the category of reversionism or maladjustment to the justice of God.

“to a reprobate mind” – the preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative singular of adokimos (ἀδόκιμος) [pronounced ad-OHK-ee-moss], an adjective used as a pun or a paronomasia. The noun with the adjective is nous (νοῦς) [pronounced noose] —“to a worthless mind.” The judgment is the worthless mind or the mind filled with the Satanic doctrine of evil.

“to do those things which are not convenient” – present active infinitive of poieō (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh], and is translated “doing.” The present tense is a customary present, it denotes what habitually occurs when the unbeliever rejects Jesus Christ as the point of gospel hearing. The active voice: the unbeliever produces the action of the verb. The infinitive is actual result. Then literally, “those evil things which are improper” – the articular neuter plural present active participle of the verb kathêkō (καθήκω) [pronounced kath-AY-ko] with the negative mê (μή) [pronounced may]. The accusative neuter plural of the definite article is used as a demonstrative pronoun. The demonstrative pronoun calls attention to the function of evil—“those evil things.” The accusative plural direct object from the present participle kathêkō (καθήκω) [pronounced kath-AY-ko], it means to be fitting, to be proper, but with the negative it means what is improper. The present tense is the present of duration, it denotes what was begun in the past and continues into the present time, i.e. the pattern of degeneracy. The active voice: the worthless mind filled with evil keeps on doing evil things.

Romans 1:28 And since in full knowledge [epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] at gospel hearing], they rejected having the God after careful examination, the God delivered them over to a worthless mind, doing those evil things which are improper.

32 02/15/1977 Romans 1:29a Categories of demonism; doctrine of the worthless mind

Legislation is used to destroy freedom, in the guise of solving societal problems. An open letter to Jimmy Carter from an automotive industry magazine. We now have lawmakers designing cars and engineers writing laws. You think that people are smart enough to elect the president of the United States, but not smart enough to buckle up their seatbelts. Then someone got the idea that cars should clear up the atmosphere. If something breaks in the emission system (undefined) must be ready to repair these cars for free. If these laws are not changed, we will have a real crisis on our hands. When progress stops, the American stops. Over $85 billion in the economy would be shut down. A demonstration that there is still common sense in the United States.

The translation from v. 15 on is given....

Demonism which is found in v. 23. The basis for demon function and demon possession are these idols.

Satan and Demonism

1. Demons are fallen angels.
2. Satan is called the ruler of all demons. Matthew 8:28; 9:34; 12:26; Luke 11:18,19.
3. Demons are called the administrators or the ambassadors of Satan. Luke 4:35 9:1, 42 John 10:21.
4. There is a specific demon organization. Satan is brilliant. He is a genius administratively and he has an excellent organization mentioned in Ephesians. 6:10–12, which says, In the future, keep on becoming strong in the Lord even by means of His endowed power [Bible doctrine]. Wear for yourselves the full armor of God that you might be able to hold your grounds against the tactics of the devil because our combat is not against blood and flesh (human beings) but against rulers [these are demon rulers] against the authorities [demon-commissioned officers] against the world rulers of this darkness [ambassador demons to the world courts], against the spirit forces in the heavenlies [the rank and file of demons].
5. Some of the Hebrew words are fascinating because they show a relationship between Greek culture and demonism.
 - a. Saiyr means hairy, shaggy, ragged. It is the he-goat and the demon both. He is a reminder of the Satyr, which is half-goat and half man. Leviticus 17:17 1Chronicles 11:15 Satyrs are demons according to Isaiah 13:21 34:14
 - b. Another noun used in the plural for idols and demons. Shev used for idols and demons in the plural form. The Bible regards idols as being representatives of demons. Idolatrous worship often included child sacrifice.
6. Demon possession is a fallen angel who has entered into the body of a believer. This can be accomplished in a number of ways, which can include the demon table, religious reversionism, drug use, dabbling in the occult, Isaiah 8:19 why consult the dead on behalf of the living? Isaiah 2:6 Luke 8:2 demons can occupy in groups. Demon-influence is related to unbeliever reversionism. Demon-influence for the believer; and this is Satan's best way to attack a believer. It is Satan's doctrine of evil taking residence in the soul of the believer. Various stages of reversionism. Once the soul gets to a point of emotional revolt, the person is open for demon influence. Blackout of the soul puts the believer or unbeliever open to the influence of demonism, and it produces that vacuum which sucks in all this evil thinking. Worshiping and serving the creature rather than the Creator, the Lord Jesus Christ.

7. Reverse process reversionism has everything backwards and mixed up.
8. Two systems of demon possession.
 - a. Unlawful use of dormant facilities. Satanic mass often accomplishes this; and a person because a disembodies spirit. Mental telepathy or spiritism or extra-naturalism. Idolatry, seances, and any place where demon activity is involved. Some mind-readers are actually very clever and they can tell what others are thinking.
 - b. Passive submission to demons. Might be through drugs, some systems of dancing even. Unbelievers in the tongues movement. Also through the phallic cult. Related to idolatry and to human sacrifice. Leviticus. 17:7 this was prohibited. Deuteronomy 32:17 sacrificing to demons and not gods. Psalm 96:5 Psalm 106:37–39 demon-possessed mediums were to be put to death in Israel Jesus controls history so this puts a great deal of control over history which restricts demons. Numbers 33:4
 - c. Isaiah Demons cannot control history.
 - d. Demonism is always subject to the justice of God. Canaanites removed from the land for practicing demonism. Israel was warned not to give in to the abominable sacrifices of the Canaanites. When Saul went to a demon-possessed or influenced person for information, God removed him from history.
 - e. Satan wanted to send demons after Peter.
9. Satan give some powers over death.
 - a. Satan can even be used as a warning to believers.
 - b. Satan has some powers which includes death. He can blind through religion, he can shorten life, he can remove people from authority, he can kill, he can persecute children. From the beginning of time children are harmed by demonism.
 - c. Satan has the power of death; he killed Job's children. He motivated Cain to kill Abel. He is allowed to kill believers under the sin unto death.
10. Satan and diseases.
 - a. Some mental diseases are related to Satan's power; epilepsy; and ten types of abnormal behavior as found in Scripture.
 - b. Satan can withdraw his demons and heal. He has his own healers and evangelists. This is found in Acts 19. 2Thessalonians 2:9
 - c. Satan is related to the present tongues movement.

- d. Demon possession explains a lot of things in the world.

Back to v. 23 (this was a doctrine that Bob should have covered back when we looked at v. 23 originally. We find the worthless mind in v. 28.

Doctrine of the Worthless Mind

From Romans 2/15/77

1. Definition.
 - 1) The mind of the unbeliever who has rejected Jesus Christ as Savior, after having epignosis Gospel information has a worthless mind.
 - 2) This is tantamount to salvation maladjustment to the justice of God. Such maladjustment demands judgment from the justice of God, involving blackout of the soul, the function of evil, and scar tissue of the soul.
 - 3) A worthless mind is a mind thinking evil, a mind where there is evil or demon influence.
2. The worthless mind has rejected the Gospel, 2Peter 2:20. "For, if having escaped the defilement of the cosmos by means of epignosis of the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, they are again entangled by them [false doctrines] and are overcome, the latter end [unbeliever reversionism] has become worse than the first [the unbeliever before reversionism]."
3. The worthless mind is the status of reversionism known as blackout of the soul, Rom 1:21; cf Eph 4:17-18. "As a result of their negative volition, they received worthless ideas in their evil cerebrations, and their ignorant right lobe receives darkness."
4. The worthless mind is judged by the control of evil, Rom 1:28. "And since in full knowledge they rejected having the God, after careful examination of Him, God delivered them over to a worthless mind, doing those evil things which are improper."
5. The worthless mind is illustrated by the dog returning to his vomit, 2Peter 2:21-22. It is better for an unbeliever reversionist not to have understood the Gospel than to turn away from epignosis Gospel information. The dog vomiting is analogous to the unbeliever rejecting evil from his common sense standards. Yet after rejecting the Gospel, the dog now returns to the vomit and accepts what he formerly rejected. ἐπίγνωσις doctrine is the gospel, and the unbeliever hears it, understands it, and rejects it.
6. The believer who rejects doctrine has a worthless mind.
 - 1) Rev 3:14-20, he is lukewarm.
 - 2) Heb 5:11-14, he is unteachable.
 - 3) Gal 5:4, he is a casualty.
 - 4) Phil 3:18, he is the enemy of the cross.
 - 5) Rev 2:4, he has left his first love.
 - 6) 1 Tim 1:19, he is shipwrecked.
 - 7) Jer 9:25-26, he is uncircumcised of heart.

8) Heb 12:15, he is falling from grace.

7. This worthless mind belongs to believers and unbelievers alike; and is very prevalent in the United States.

Verses 29-32, the evil manifestations of heathenism, or what reversionism does to a nation. This is the final lap of this chapter.

Romans 1:29 ...being filled with all unrighteousness, wickedness, covetousness, malice; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, maliciousness; gossips,...

Verse 29 – “Being filled” is the perfect passive participle of plêroō (πληρώω) [pronounced play-ROH-oh] which means to load, to fill, to fully possess, to be filled with something, or to fully influence. The perfect tense is an intensive perfect emphasizing existing results. The perfect is the tense of completed action, and when special attention is directed to the results of the action stress on the existing fact is intensified. This is a strong way of saying a thing is, and it keeps on having repercussions. There is no exact equivalent, by the way, to this idiom in the English. Consequently there is no way to give it an exact translation. The closest to the English is actually the English present, and so we say “Being fully possessed” or “Being fully influenced.” The passive voice: the reversionist receives the action of the verb. The participle is circumstantial. This occurs historically and when it does there is historical catastrophe. It is occurring right now historically.

“with all unrighteousness” – the instrumental singular of means from the adjective pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs] and the instrumental of means from the noun adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah]. Adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah] means an unrighteous act, but it also means anti-justice. It is a technical use that we have here, it is actually referring not to unrighteous acts but to maladjustment to the justice of God. In this context the unbeliever in verse 18 is maladjusted to the justice of God at the point of salvation. So we use the translation, “anti-justice”—“with all anti-justice.” That is, salvation maladjustment to the justice of God. Note the influence that comes when a person says no to divine truth. Divine truth in context is the gospel. Many times divine truth is some form of Bible doctrine—“Being influenced by all anti-justice” is another way of describing evil infiltrating the soul.

Next there are some categories, but the word “fornication” is not found in the original. The next three words describe the categories of adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah]: wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness. All three words are meaningless to people at the present time. Wickedness is some sort of thing that is bad. The other two are understood by people who understand the KJV. So it is best to give them a little more modern translation and at the same time to note the categories being described. This is not one continuous list, it is broken down. First of all we get categories and then items after the categories.

Category #1 is evil. The word “wickedness” is the instrumental singular of association from ponêria (πονηρία) [pronounced pohn-ay-REE-ah]. This can mean wickedness if it is understood that wickedness is “evilness.” Ponêria (πονηρία) [pronounced pohn-ay-REE- ah] is an abstract noun from ponêros (πονηρός) [pronounced pon-ay-ROS]. In the Attic Greek ponêria (πονηρία) [pronounced pohn-ay-REE-ah] meant defectiveness. To the Greeks to be defective was to be evil. If you were missing an arm you were evil. If you weren't bright you were evil. If you were defective in thought you were evil. The Greeks did not have any concept of morality that is related to the Word of God, and especially the Old Testament Mosaic law. Therefore, if you were defective in any way you were evil. That is the Attic Greek, and obviously not the Koine Greek. Ponêria (πονηρία) [pronounced pohn-ay-REE-ah] in the Koine Greek means the intentional practice of evil, and that comes from blackout of the soul. So we change "wickedness" to "a state of evil," and the instrumental of association means "by a state of evil." The instrumental of association is not always personal, it is often related to a principle, either good or bad. Here the unbeliever maladjusted to the justice of God at salvation becomes associated with evil as a part of his unbeliever reversionism. His association with evil is blackout of the soul and scar tissue of the soul.

Category #2 is inordinate desire—"covetousness," the instrumental singular of association from pleonexía (πλεονεξία) [pronounced pleh-ohn-ex-EE-ah]. It means greediness, a desire to have more beyond what is advisable. It means insatiability, avariciousness. And this second category finds the justice of God abandoning the reversionistic unbeliever to his own devices. This is simply a case of the justice of God taking off any restraints when the person wants more and more and more. This noun denotes the inner impulse which leads to the evil deed. It is the transition between the evil of reversionism and the evil function of the reversionist. First of all he thinks it, and then he does it. Pleonexía (πλεονεξία) [pronounced pleh-ohn-ex-EE-ah] is between the thought and the doing. Greed is the motivator in the frantic search for happiness; pleonexía (πλεονεξία) [pronounced pleh-ohn-ex-EE-ah] is often correctly translated "greed," the desire beyond reason, lust beyond legitimate boundaries. It was used for any form of inordinate desire. Inordinate desire for wealth or sex or material goods.

Category #3 is the function of evil—"maliciousness" is the instrumental of association from kakía (κακία) [pronounced kahk-EE-ah] (related to kakós (κακός) [pronounced kak-OSS]). It means depravity, malignity, the function of evil. Kakía (κακία) [pronounced kahk-EE-ah] is the quality of kakós (κακός) [pronounced kak-OSS] which means "evil." Kakía (κακία) [pronounced kahk-EE-ah] is the outworking or practice of evil. We translate it, "by the function of evil," i.e. depravity or degeneracy.

The next two and a half verses simply list the function of evil, so it is the 3rd category which is pulled out and extended.

1977 Romans

Lesson #33

33 02/16/1977 Romans 1:29b Three categories of anti-justice; doctrines of jealousy and murder

The 3 categories are reviewed—see them above. It looks like one long list in the English, but it is not. 3 categories: thought, transition to action, action. The next 2.5 verses list the function of evil. There is a thought and there is a motive.

Those are the three categories, not a part of the list, and they are related. There is thought, action, and a motivation between the thought and the action.

Romans 1:29 ...being filled with all unrighteousness, wickedness, covetousness, malice; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, maliciousness; gossips,...

Next is the word “full.” This is the function of reversionism under evil but is not one of the three categories. The next two and a half verses list the function of evil. This is where the list actually begins the function of evil. But it should be noted that first there is a thought in the soul—blackout of the soul and scar tissue of the soul. Then there is a motive. Starting with the word “full” we have a list which goes with the action or the function of evil. But there is no way this can be found from the King James version, it is a syntactical principle found with regard to the Greek and there is no way it can be separated in the English.

To reiterate, there are three categories here in the Greek: the first is a thought—evil; the second category is a motive—inordinate desire; the third category is the function, the operation, the action. The rest of the list is simply the function of reversionism under the influence of evil. We now change from three instrumental cases in the Greek to an accusative, which means we are now on a list. From there, we have a genitive. So, to the Greek speaker, all of this stands out. In the English, it does not.

“full” is the accusative plural from the adjective mestós (μεστός) [pronounced mes-TOSS]. It is used with the genitive to list the functions of evil. Mestós (μεστός) [pronounced mes-TOSS] is an accusative indicating that now category #3 is being listed, but the actual list is in the genitive. This is an accusative of general reference and it goes with the present active infinitive poieō (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh]. The accusative of general reference is the subject of the infinitive. It is not the object of anything which has gone before. We have “full of.” We usually think of the accusative as being the object of a verb, but here, that is not the case.

God rejects both sin and human good, both being a part of evil. Satan wants to produce the Millennium from his genius. Good is as much belonging to the enemy as sin is.

The best thing to happen to Africa is under various empires. Now, they are the pawns of power politics. Primarily communist and socialist powers.

People who want to clean up the air who think that they are doing good. Human good is evil.

The first word we have is “envy”—a descriptive genitive singular of phthonos (φθόνος) [pronounced FTHOHN-oss], the beginning of the list of functions of evil. Many of these are sins, but they are emphasized here not in their category of hamartiology but in their function of evil. This is a word used as a password, and non Greeks could not say it. “Fuh, fuh, fuh...” and their throat is cut. Phthonos (φθόνος) [pronounced FTHOHN-oss]—“jealousy,” which represents the mental attitude sin in the function of evil resulting eventually in depravity.^[19]

The Doctrine of Jealousy

1. Definition.
 - a. Jealousy is a mental attitude sin which demands exclusive devotion and is intolerant of rivalry.
 - b. Jealousy is chagrin or discontent at the blessings, successes, achievement or status symbols of other people. It is the opposite of rejoice with those who rejoice.
 - c. Jealousy is the resentment of the attractiveness or the approbation that someone else has received.
 - d. In the old English jealousy also had the connotation of ardent devotion. God would say, "I am jealous of my people." So it has to be remembered that the old English has to antithetical meanings for jealousy, one is a mental attitude sin and the other is a synonym for love.
 - e. This study will be confined to the mental sin of jealousy or envy.
2. The source of jealousy. There are two basic sources for all mental sins of jealousy.
 - a. The old sin nature's area of weakness. This produces the source of all categories of sin, including mental, verbal, and overt.
 - b. It also emanates from reversionism or being under the influence of evil, as in this passage, 1Tim. 6:3,4.
 - c. Many dramas have been written about the tragic flaw of jealousy, of the woman who destroys everything around her because of jealousy.
 - d. Pettiness is closely related to jealousy.
3. Therefore jealousy is a sin inevitably related to reversionism. Jealousy crops up in unbeliever reversionism, mentioned in Romans 1:28,29. Jealousy also crops up in any type of believer reversionism - James 3:14-16. All conspiracies begin with the arrogant and the inadequate; and jealousy is also involved when they go after someone else.
4. Jealousy rejects Bible doctrine, therefore jealousy characterizes reversionism - Acts 13:45; 17:5.
5. Jealousy motivates religion - Mark 15:10.
6. Jealousy of authority - e.g. the authority of Joseph motivated his brothers to sell him into slavery - Acts 7:9.
7. Jealousy can split all kinds of organizations and jealousy actually split the nation Israel. We have the northern and the southern kingdom because of jealousy - Isaiah 11:13.
8. So great was the sin of jealousy in Israel that a special offering was designed for it under the Levitical code - Leviticus 5:11-31 (Numbers?).

9. Jealousy was the basis for the destruction of category #2 love. Any true love can be in danger when jealousy attacks - Song of Solomon 8:6. Jealousy is as cruel as the grave.
10. Jealousy is a self-destructive sin - Jealousy kills Job 5:2; Proverbs 14:30.
11. Jealousy, therefore, is the strongest of the mental attitude sins - Proverbs 27:3,4. Pride is the worst sin; jealousy is the strongest. The man in a bar who says, "I just don't understand women." He has been buried in sand and did not realize it. The man was so taken by the beauty of this woman, but did not recognize her jealousy or pettiness.
12. Jealousy is related to the trigger of pride. Philippians 1:15 they think that they are doing something better than we are. Arrogance and jealousy develop hangups in the soul. Always petty, always jealous; and they are looking for your weakness. They watch you carefully so they can compare their strength with your weakness. They might have to gossip and slander to do this. If they cannot find any real weaknesses, then they will just make them up.

A man who came to Berachah Church for 5 years and finally found something wrong with Bob's use of German. He did chin ups against Bob; Bob outdid him and he left the church. He also met Bob on the track. It does not make any difference to Bob if he is better in this or that way. Such a person has a lot of hangups. We are not in competition. We live our own lives as unto the Lord.

"murder" – the descriptive genitive singular from phónos (φόνος) [pronounced FOHN-oss] which means homicide. Murder represents overt sin in relationship to evil. Murder is the unlawful killing of another human being, having motivation. Malice of forethought is expressed or implied.^[20] The doctrine below is going to certainly be longer than the doctrine given in this Roman series. However, this is the closest match. 1Jn 3:12

Doctrine of Murder

- A. Definition and Description.
 1. Murder is the unlawful killing of another human being with malice of forethought, expressed or implied by the motivation of arrogance inside the cosmic system. The motivation comes from mental attitude sins, such as self-righteous arrogance, conspiracy arrogance, criminal arrogance, crusader arrogance, political arrogance, the arrogance of ignorance, the arrogance of unhappiness, or iconoclastic arrogance.
 2. Hence, murder is both a sin and a crime related to cosmic involvement, and is often manifested in religion. All religions of the ancient world used human sacrifice.
 3. Murder is the major attack on freedom and self-determination as a human issue in the angelic conflict. Murder is the invention of Satan and he is the motivator of murder. Murder is Satan's genius to invent a system to attack freedom and self-determination, Mt 26:52.
 4. David's killing of Bathsheba's husband, Uriah the Hittite.

5. All killing is not murder.
 - a. Capital punishment is taught in Rom 13:4 and Gen 9:5-6.
 - (1) Animals that kill people as well as humans that kill people are to be executed. We are responsible for any decision we make to murder someone else. "Whoever sheds man's blood, by man [justice] his blood shall be shed [capital punishment]."
 - (2) Man has the right to slaughter animals for food, Gen 9:3-4. But this does not give man the right to slaughter people. Man learned to kill man by watching man kill animals.
 - (3) Capital punishment must be the result of due process of law, Num 35:30. There must be two witnesses. Homicide is first degree murder and must be punished by death, Num 35:16-18; Lev 24:17.
 - b. Another area of legitimate killing is in battle. The soldier represents his country while functioning impersonally and professionally. It makes no difference who the object is (Christian or otherwise), you do your job and kill impersonally, not emotionally. A soldier functions impersonally and professionally to preserve the freedom of his nation, Josh 6:21, 8:24.
 6. Israel, as the first client nation, was commanded to be prepared for war. Much of the establishment truth found in the Bible is first mentioned in relation to Israel. The bonafide modus operandi of warfare is declared in Eccl 3:8, "There is a time for war." If you don't make time for war by being prepared, then there will never be peace.
 7. Our Lord's rebuke to Peter in the garden was a warning against capital punishment because of criminal action (Peter's), not a warning about military killing. Mt 26:52, "Then Jesus said to him, `Return your sword to its scabbard, for all who draw the sword [in crime], shall die by the sword [in capital punishment].'"
 8. Killing in battle is not murder. Psalm 144:1, "Blessed be the Lord who trains my hands for war and my fingers for battle." 2 Sam 22:35, "He [God] trains my hands for battle."
 9. Jesus Christ Himself holds the record for killing in battle in Isa 37:36, when He killed 185,000 Assyrian soldiers. But our Lord will break His own record at the Second Advent when He returns to terminate the Armageddon campaign, Rev 14:20, 19:11, 15; Isa 63:1-6; Ezek 39:11-13; Joel 2:20.
 10. God is the source of some wars. 1 Chron 5:22, "Because the war was from the Lord."
- B. The Origin of Murder.
1. John 8:43-44, "Why do you not understand what I am teaching you? It is because you cannot hear My word. [They were in the cosmic system and refused to listen to what He said because it condemned them.] You are from your father the devil, and the policies of your father the devil you wish to accomplish. He was a murderer from the beginning; furthermore, he [Satan] does not stand in the truth, because there is no doctrine in him. Whenever he communicates the lie, he speaks from his own person, for he is a liar and the father of it [the lie]." Those who reject truth are easily motivated to murder.

2. 1John 3:12, "Not as Cain who was motivated from that evil one and consequently he murdered his brother with a sacrificial knife. And why did he murder him? Because his deeds [moral self-righteousness seeking to impress God] were evil, but the deeds of his brother were honorable." Genesis 4:5-8 gives the historical account of the first murder.
- C. Murder, violence, and terror is always occur when man becomes involved in the cosmic system.
1. "The way of Cain" is the pattern for murder, violence and terrorism. Jude 11, "But these reversionists malign what they do not understand. Furthermore, what things they do understand by natural instinct [emotion] as unreasonable creatures, by these false doctrines, they receive corruption. Woe to them for they have gone the way of Cain. They have rushed for illegal profit into Balaam's error. They have been destroyed in Korah's revolution."
 2. The rise of crime and violence indicates national degeneration and the approach of historical catastrophe in the form of the fifth cycle of discipline, Jer 4:31.
 3. Murder is always preceded by the mental attitude sin of arrogance. Romans 1:29, "Having been filled with all unrighteousness [lack of integrity] evil, greed, malice, full of jealousy, murder, strife, conspiracy, deceit, slanderers..."
 4. This pattern of degeneration is developed into the destruction of the client nation. Hos 4:1-6, "My nation is destroyed from lack of knowledge of doctrine. Because you have rejected the principle of knowing doctrine, therefore I reject you from being a priest nation to Me."
- D. Murder is the only overt sin listed in the classification of the seven worst sins, Prov 6:16-19.
- E. Murder is therefore prohibited, Ex 20:13. "You will not murder" is the qal imperfect of RAZACH, not QATAL. Deut 5:17; Mt 5:21.
- F. Believers in the cosmic system are capable of murder.
1. David murdered in 2Samuel 12:9. Murder is a sin parlayed into evil through the interlock of the cosmic systems.
 2. 1Peter 4:15, "By no means let any of you suffer as a murderer, or a thief, or a doer of evil, or one who sticks his nose in the affairs of others."
 3. 1 Jn 3:15, "Everyone who hates his brother is a murderer. And you know that not every murderer has eternal life in him." Believers are murderers, but not all murderers are believers.
- G. Where guilt is established, the penalty for murder is death, Gen 9:6; Rom 13:3-4; Num 35:30-31; Mt 26:52.

7/7/81; Rev 11:7 3/15/83

Houston, Texas 77056 (713) 621-3740

1977 RomansLesson #34

34 02/17/1977 Romans 1:29c Arrogant and inadequate (Psalm 12:1–4); doctrine of the sins of the tongue

Romans 1:29 ...being filled with all unrighteousness, wickedness, covetousness, malice; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, maliciousness; gossips,...

Romans 1:29 Being fully influenced by all anti-justice, by a state of evil, by inordinate desire, by the function of evil, full of jealousy, (full of) murder,...

Debating is a gentleman's activity; but there is nothing gentlemanly about debate in this passage.

“debate” – the descriptive genitive singular from the éris (ἔρις) [pronounced EHR-is], and it means strife, discord, contentiousness, dissension. These are troublemakers. They seem to be very sweet and nice; and they drop a little word here, and a little word there. When Bob became a lieutenant he learned to find the troublemakers. There is always someone who is the source; if there is trouble, there is someone causing it. This was most of the practical principles that Bob learned. The answer is, get rid of the troublemaker. These people are maladjusted to the justice of God. These are often jealous people, petty people, and they suffer from pride. When translating, because of the genitive we are allowed to repeat the word “full”—“full of jealousy, full of murder, full of dissension, strife, discord.”

“deceit” – the descriptive genitive singular from dolos (δόλος) [pronounced DOHL-oss] meaning deceit, cunning, or treachery. This is that which accompanies a trouble-maker. A trouble-maker is always cunning, deceitful and treacherous. This word means a treacherous person. A cunning person is generally a stupid person who has the instincts of deceit. Cunning, deceitful and treacherous. He is constantly causing strife; he is the source of discord. A deceitful person is a smart person who deliberately has the ability for deceit.

“malignity” – the descriptive genitive singular from kakoêtheia (κακοήθεια) [pronounced kak-o-AY-thi-ah]. It means malice, malignity, and when you put them together it comes to mean evil craftiness. Evil for the motivation of craftiness is the most dangerous of all.

“whisperers” – a change to the accusative plural, and it indicates a new category or grouping which has to do with the fact that in everything up to this point you have a trouble-maker, described in terms of a trouble-maker—his characteristics, his essence, the things that cause him to be that. Now this is what a trouble-maker does, so we change to the accusative plural indicating the new category or the new grouping. It is the Greek noun psithuristês (ψιθυριστής) [pronounced psith-oo-ris-TACE]. This is the accusative of general reference with the present active infinitive of poieô (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh] which is found in verse 28. While this is not really the subject of the infinitive it indicates the one who is producing the action of the infinitive and therefore is tantamount of the subject of the infinitive. So we translate, “they have become slanderers,” for that is the meaning of the word—slanderers or gossips. Actually, this word “slanderer” belongs with verse 30.

Romans 1:29 Being fully influenced by all categories of anti-justice, by a state of evil, by inordinate desire, by function of evil; full of jealousy, full of murder, full of dissention [strife or discord], full of treachery, full of evil craftiness; they have become gossips [slanderers],...

Cf. sins of the tongue, Psalm 12:1-4.^[21]

Psalm superscription To the choirmaster: according to The Sheminith. A Psalm of David.

The authority of worship here. When dealing with many musicians, there should be one with authority who is in charge. For music to come, there must be the authority and the self-discipline of those involved.

The sheminith is an 8-string; or a very low something; and a third meaning.

Psalm 12:1 Save, O LORD, for the godly one is gone; for the faithful have vanished from among the children of man.

The historical disaster is about to take place. The Hiphil imperative of yâsha' (יָשַׁע) [pronounced yaw-SHAHÇ]. Until you have maximum doctrine in the soul, you are not in a position to demand anything like this. There is a lack of mature types.

Doctrinal types of vanished from among the sons of man. An historic disaster and only the pivot is delivered. The key is the pivot, and the writer is mature enough to interpret history. It is time to start praying for deliverance.

Psalm 12:2 Everyone utters lies to his neighbor; with flattering lips and a double heart they speak.

One of the signs of national disaster.

Evil as a thought; and same things as we had in the categories from Romans 1:29, all found in the one noun. Intensive stem brings together thought, motivation and action. The Piel imperfect of dâbar (דָּבַר) [pronounced daw^b-VAHR].

ʾîysh (אִישׁ) [pronounced eesh] is used here as an indefinite pronoun. Whenever there is a tremendous amount of arrogance, there is a rejection of authority in every category. Labor is completely out of line today, because they have rejected authority.

The arrogant speak evil. He speaks with his neighbor, which is rêa' (רֵעַ) [pronounced RAY-ahg], who is his friend, and he is inadequate. Evil as the motivation and the thought behind the motivation and evil as the function. Inadequacy is a form of pride.

The arrogant one speaks evil with the friend, the inadequate one. The person they are after someone in authority. The two of them look to go after the authority. The arrogant might take in the inadequate into his friend circle. The arrogant might be self righteous and hyper-sensitive. The inadequate one regards the authority as in competition with him. He is attracted to the arrogant person in order to oppose the authority of a third person. A mutual admiration society, with the intention of overthrowing the authority. They speak to one another is, they are both weak. This is how conspiracies begin. A mutual admiration society is formed, with one arrogant person and several inadequate ones.

Generally, opposites do not attract under normal conditions; but they do form under abnormal conditions. Under abnormal conditions.

Inadequate people are very susceptible to flattery; and so are arrogant types. Very different personalities. They are both prideful and both are vulnerable to flattery.

Flattering lips is the feminine singular of sâphâh (שִׁפְהָה) [pronounced saw-FAWH], and this means a lip. The flatter themselves while the slander or condemn someone else.

chel^oqâh (חֶלְקָה) [pronounced chela-KAW] is in the plural, which are flatteries. The arrogant and the inadequate ones agree about destroying the authority of the 3rd person. They flatter one another as to their perception.

God can only bless man on the basis of justice. Because of the cross, the justice of God is free to give anyone in the human race salvation.

Negative volition at the moment of gospel hearing results in the vacuuming sucking in false doctrine and human viewpoint thinking.

Whatever self-righteousness does is worthless. Paul's critics and persecutors traveled behind Paul to contradict him.

Psalm 12:2 They (mutual admiration societies) speak evil to one another (the arrogant one with the inadequate one), vindicating themselves with a lip of flattery; they speak with a double-heart (or a double standard) [lit., they speak with a heart to a heart].

The doctrine below barely parallels some of the points that Bob gave in this lesson. This doctrine is covered in Lesson #423, and it appears to be a close match. Some of the points below are found word-for-word in that lesson.

The Doctrine of the Sins of the Tongue

1. Definition.
 - a. Sin is defined as transgression of the law of God.
 - b. A known sin is a transgression or violation of divine law. You know that you are doing something wrong.

- c. An unknown sin is likewise a transgression of divine law. The person wanted to commit a sin and you did; but you did not know it was a sin.
 - d. In both cases the violation is involved. Whether you know it or not you've done it and your volition is involved. Ignorance is not an excuse.
 - e. The difference between an known and unknown sin is cognizance of divine law [Bible doctrine], especially in the field of hamartiology. You are accountable for your actions.
 - f. You are still guilty, whether the sin is known or unknown.
 - g. Known and unknown sins were paid for on the cross.
 - h. Whether the divine law is known or not human volition is involved in transgression of the law.
 - i. All sin, therefore, combines the function of the old sin nature's area of weakness with human volition.
2. Classification of sin. Categorizing sin:
- a. Three categories of sin exist in the human race:
 - i. The imputation of Adam's sin to each member of the human race directly.
 - ii. The perpetuation of the old sin nature through physical birth, causing the individual to be physically alive at birth and simultaneously spiritually dead.
 - iii. Personal sin which occurs after birth and before physical death. Violations and transgressions which violate divine standards.
 - b. There are three categories of personal sin:
 - i. Mental sins such as envy, pride, arrogance, jealousy, bitterness, vindictiveness, guilt complex, hatred, etc.
 - ii. Verbal sins such as gossip, slander, maligning, judging, lying, perjury.
 - iii. Overt sins such as adultery, murder, stealing, drunkenness, and so on.
3. Human volition and sin:
- a. All personal sins originate from the old sin nature involving the human volition.
 - b. This means that verbal sins originate from the old sin nature and are activated by human volition.
 - c. Human volition is involved in all sins. Even if the person did not realize that he was sinning.
 - d. Verbal sins can be motivated by mental sins.
 - e. The instrument of verbal sins is that portion of the human anatomy called the tongue - James 3:6. The tongue is a fire, the cosmos of deceitfulness and it contaminates the entire body.
4. Evil is related to sins of the tongue. Self righteous people reject the standards of doctrine. They have a double-heart, which is found in Psalm 12. The arrogant and the inadequate. The Judaizers believed that it was their duty to destroy Paul; and the pharisees believed that it was their duty to destroy Jesus Christ. God does not heed our help or our counsel to judge other believers. This is different than someone in authority evaluating those lower ranked. Hiring and firing and adjustments. But believers in a church are not to judge other believers. They look to replace Jesus Christ as the supreme court judge. It is neither the duty or the prerogative for the believer to judge others. They are to judge their own lives. God does not need our help or our counsel when it comes to dealing with other believers. Romans 11:33–34 it is blasphemous for the weak believer to judge others. It violates Scripture to imply that you can better judge people than God.

5. Out of the list of the seven worst sins three of the worst sins are sins of the tongue - Proverbs 6:16-19. Pride (arrogant eyes), a lying tongue, hands that shed innocent blood; a right lobe which devises evil plans (conspiracy and revolution); feet that run rapidly to evil; slander; spreading strife among the brothers.
6. Verbal sins and reversionism. Verbal sins are always motivated by mental sins. Sins of the mental attitude which motivate verbal sins are generally pride, jealousy, bitterness, vindictiveness, implacability, hatred, pettiness - Psalm 5:8,9; James 4:11.
7. The sins of the tongue produce triple compound discipline. First of all there is discipline for the mental attitude sins, there is discipline for the verbal sins which result, and whatever sins are mentioned with regard to the victim whatever the judgement is for that sin it is transferred to the one who judges.
8. God protects the supergrace believer from verbal sins - Job 5:19-21.
9. The congregation and the tongue.
 - a. Control of the tongue plus avoidance of verbal sins is a sign of spiritual maturity - James 3:2.
 - b. Verbal sins can destroy an entire congregation - James 3:5,6.
 - c. Since the sins of the tongue can destroy an entire congregation of believers it is the solemn duty of the pastor-teacher to warn against them - 2Timothy 2:14-17.
 - d. Trouble makers in the congregation are characterised by sins of the tongue - Psalm 52:1-4.
 - e. Separation from those guilty of the sins of the tongue is commanded - Romans 16:17,18.
10. Blessing from the avoidance of the sins of the tongue is mentioned in Psalm 34:12,13. The "lips from speaking deceit" refers to gossiping, maligning or judging.

At the end of Lesson #423, Bob clearly moves into the other Doctrine of the sins of the tongue from NB2. Since that is not found here or in the next lesson to feature this doctrine, I will have to place those points actually with Lesson #423.

Local churches are going to fail; so God raises up other local churches. Where the local church fails is the lack of teaching of Bible doctrine; and where it succeeds, it is because they teach Bible doctrine.

When Romanism became a denomination, they were outside the plan of God.

It is the epitome of arrogance to judge other believers. Exceptions to this is parents judging children and husband can judge his wife and those in authority can judge those under their authority.

We have no right to try to live a person's life as a believer. Life is too short to get involved. You could spend half of your life suing people involved.

Psalm 12:3 May the LORD cut off all flattering lips, the tongue that makes great boasts,...

Psalm 12:4 ...those who say, "With our tongue we will prevail, our lips are with us; who is master over us?"

1977 Romans

Lesson #35

35 02/18/1977 Romans 1:30–32 Implacability and perfidiousness of the maladjusted

LA Times, a paper the Bob has read since his youth. Kissinger strong-armed Smith into doing things, under false pretenses.

Romans 1:30 ...slanderers, hateful to God, insolent, arrogant, boastful; inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents;...

Verse 30 – the implacability of the maladjusted. Whenever you find reversionism, whether it is a believer or an unbeliever, you find an implacable person. Implacability is described first by the term “Backbiters”—the accusative plural of reference from the compound adjective katálalos (κατάλαλος) [pronounced kat-AL-al-oss] [kata = down or against; laléō (λαλέω) [pronounced lah-LEH-oh] = the speak] which means to speak against, and it comes to mean maligners, detractors, hostile speakers, spreaders of gossip and false reports. Obviously, then, it comes to mean slanderers.

You will run into weird pastors. Liberal weirdos. Do not slander or malign them; do not give them any of Bob's tapes. God can handle these people all by Himself. Open your mouth once...

“haters of God” is a compound adjective, theostygês (θεοστυγής) [pronounced theh-os-too-GACE] [theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] = God; stugeō (στυγέω) [pronounced stoog-EH-oh] = to hate], God-haters. In other words, once you start attacking authority, any authority constituted by God (in the spiritual realm, the pastor-teacher; outside the spiritual realm, establishment), you have become in effect a God-hater. Attacking the police is the same concept exactly, as is anything designed for your protection, your freedom, like military. Crime is an attack upon freedom and privacy. People demand their rights today yet, the biggest problem to our rights is crime. Divine authority rejected is hatred. You ladies do not love a man unless you have respect for his authority.

You cannot love God unless you are in awe of Him; unless you respect Him. Respect, fear or awe is necessary for true love.

“despiteful” – the accusative plural of hubristês (ὕβριστής) [pronounced hoo-bris-TACE]. It means a violent insolent person. In other words, rejection of authority leads to rejection of human authority, and insolence is the concept here under the connotation of rejection of human authority. Insolence connotes not only lack of respect for authority but the basis of it as well, which is haughtiness, arrogance, a contentious, overbearing, disrespectful attitude.

“proud” – huperêphanos (ὑπερήφανος) [pronounced hoop-er-AY-fan-oss], which means arrogant ones. All of these, it should be noted, reject authority. Basically, implacability means to reject all forms of authority. They are arrogant and they only accept their own authority, which is meaningless. They always express their arrogance.

“boasters” – alazôn (ἀλαζών) [pronounced al-ad-ZONE], which means boastful presumption, the one who makes more of himself than reality justifies. He ascribes to himself more and better things than he actually has. He is one who promises what he cannot perform. What he says arouses expectations which he never meets.

“inventors of evil things” – if you don’t have it, then you have to invent it. There are two words here, ephuretês (ἐφευρετής) [pronounced ef-yoo-REHT-ace] kakós (κακός) [pronounced kak-OSS]. Kakós (κακός) [pronounced kak-OSS] is a descriptive genitive plural meaning evil things; the accusative plural ephuretês (ἐφευρετής) [pronounced ef-yoo-REHT-ace] means contrivers or fabricators, so “fabricators of evil things.” The presence of evil in the soul of a reversionist means the implacability line, and such a soul with implacability always has to fabricate evil and perpetuate it into human life.

“disobedient to parents” – dative plural of reference goneus (γονεύς) [pronounced gon-YOOCE], “parents” and with it the accusative plural of apeithês (ἄπειθής) [pronounced ap-i-THACE], “disobedient ones”—“with reference to parents, disobedient ones.” This is the first authority to which we are all subjected to. Parents represent divine institution #3 which is the basic organization in life to learn discipline, respect for authority, as well as orientation to life in general. To reject the authority of parents results in disorientation to life in general. Those who rejected the authority of their parents always are handicapped in life.

The Jews had the best system in the world. If Jewish parents had an implacable children who completely rejected their authority, the child could be taken to court and executed.

Romans 1:30 ...slanderers, God-haters, insolent [haughty, overbearing, disrespectful], arrogant ones, boastful presumption, fabricators of evil things with reference to parents disobedient ones,...

Romans 1:31 ...foolish, untrustworthy, heartless, unmerciful;...

Verse 31 – the perfidiousness of heathenism. Perfidy means an act of violating faith, faithlessness, lack of integrity; and heathenism lacks integrity. “Without understanding” – accusative plural of the compound adjective asunetos (ἄσύνετος) [pronounced as-OON- ay-toss] [a = negative; suniêmi (συνίημι) [pronounced soon-EE-ay-mee] = to know the underlying laws or meaning of an object], means to be stupid, non-sensitive, senseless or foolish. It means not to understand what is behind a command, not to understand the underlying laws of life, not to understand the meaning of any object in relationship to establishment or in relationship to its spiritual connotation. This explains the folly of rulers and those in authority where reversionism prevails in a national entity. “Ignorant one” refers to blackout of the soul. Perfidy in history is only exceeded by evil in history. The human race pays a high price for maladjustment to the justice of God.

“covenant breakers” – accusative plural from the adjective asunthetos (ἀσύνθετος) [pronounced as-OON-thet-oss], which means contract breakers, faithless, or perfidious. We have the alpha negative and the verb suntithemai (συντίθεμαι) [pronounced soon-TILTH-em-ahee], which means, to agree, to come to a mutual understanding, to come to an agreement, to make a covenant. Again, this is the lack of honor and integrity which is characteristic of the reversionist. It also mean undutiful, lack of sense of duty, or lack of a sense of responsibility which is necessary even for human maturity.

“without natural affection” – accusative plural from the compound adjective ástorgos (ἄστοργος) [pronounced AS-tor-goss] [a = negative; storgô (στοργω) [pronounced STOHR-go] = natural affection, like the love of parents for children] which comes to mean unloving or lack of capacity for love, devoid of the instincts of love.

Love Versus Justice

1. Man is at his noblest when he treats people with justice rather than love because the highest form of love that mankind can have includes a total sense of justice. In leadership it is better to treat people with justice than loving and sweet. Professional leaders must adhere to being just.
2. Human love is emotional; justice is rational.
3. Capacity for love is based upon honor and integrity. Man’s honor and integrity is related to his justice, not to his love. Love requires justice and ...
4. The command to obey the command “Love the brethren” does not require human sentimentality, but it does require justice. If you are just then you are fair.

“unmerciful” – aneleêmōn (ἀνελεήμων) [pronounced an-eleh-AY-mone] [a = negative; eleêmōn (ελεήμων) [pronounced el-eh-AY-mone] = to be merciful, sympathetic or compassionate]; put the alpha in there and it means implacable, non-merciful, not compassionate or sympathetic. It also means inexorable, i.e. one who is never pacified or appeased or reconciled to any form of authority.

The final word “unmerciful” is not in the original.

Romans 1:31 ...ignorant ones, contract-breakers, unloving, implacable,...

Romans 1:32 ...who having known the righteous judgment of God, that those doing such things are worthy of death, not only are practicing them, but are also approving of those practicing them.

Verse 32 – the maladjustment principle of heathenism. “Who” is a nominative masculine plural from the qualitative relative pronoun hostis (ὅστις) [pronounced HOHS-tiss]. It is a categorical reference to reversionists who have been described in the previous verses. It should be, “Such are those who.” We now see the first of several inconsistencies.

“knowing” – there is one thing the reversionist knows. This is the aorist active participle from epiginôskô (ἐπιγινώσκω) [pronounced ehp-ihg-in-OÇ-koh] which means a complete and full knowledge, it means definite, exact perception, to understand something completely. The aorist tense is a culminative aorist, it views perception of the unbeliever in his reversionism in its entirety but it emphasizes the existing results of that total cognizance in reversionism or heathenism. In other words, it gathers up the total perception but it emphasizes the results. Here is a full cognizance, then, of the justice of God and negative volition or total rejection of the work of Christ. They had epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel, that’s why epiginôskô (ἐπιγινώσκω) [pronounced ehp-ihg-in-OÇ-koh] is used. That means they understood the alternative of maladjustment to the justice of God. They understood that their sins or the sins of the entire world were poured out upon Jesus Christ on the cross and the justice of God judged those sins, so that divine justice is free to give salvation to anyone who is positive, i.e. anyone who believes in Jesus Christ. The active voice: the unbeliever reversionist, or heathen, produces the action of the verb resulting in maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation. This is a concessive participle and we often have the word “though” to translate it—not necessary but sometimes it helps. “Such are those who though they have total cognizance.”

God is eternal and infinite; He is love; and He does not need to have an object. His love does not require an object, and God does not have emotion. He loves the other Members of the Trinity; and He loves His Own holiness.

The justice of God protects all the attributes of God; and in order for us to be adjusted to the justice of God, we must grow.

As dumb as you are, you can have thousands of thoughts in your brain related to God’s Person.

“the judgment of God” – dikaiôma (δικαίωμα) [pronounced dik-AH-yo-mah] means the justice producing the judgment. First is the accusative neuter singular of the definite article, then the accusative neuter singular from dikaiôma (δικαίωμα) [pronounced dik-AH-yo-mah], and with it tou theou, the possessive genitive. The accusative of dikaiôma (δικαίωμα) [pronounced dik-AH-yo-mah] means an act of justice. It was even used in the Greek for a legal document, a legal act corresponding to the ordinance or requirement, and therefore the actualisation of justice. So while it is the justice of God it is the actualisation of justice and therefore the best way to translate this is, “the legal requirement of the justice of God.”

The legal requirement of the justice of God is to believe in Jesus Christ in order to make instant adjustment to the justice of God at salvation.

“that they which commit such things” – the conjunction introduces an objective clause after verbs of cognizance. The conjunction here is hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee]. With it is the accusative neuter plural and the direct object of the participle toioutos (τοιοῦτος) [pronounced toy-OO-toss], referring to the activities of heathenism listed in verses 29-31, plus a nominative masculine plural from the definite article used as a relative pronoun with the participle, forming a relative clause. Then the present active participle of prassô (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so]. The word prassô (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so] actually means to get beyond, to press on through, to execute. It is generally used for man’s negative actions, and that is the way it is used in Romans. So we translate this clause, “that those who practice such things.” It means to practice evil things, the practice of reversionism. This is a retroactive progressive present, it denotes what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. The active voice: the unbeliever maladjusted to the justice of God forming into a reversionistic person practices these things. This is a circumstantial participle.

The New Testament Greek is common; it has to be something that everyone can understand.

“are” – present active indicative of eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME]. The present tense is a static present representing a condition which perpetually exists, i.e. salvation maladjustment. The active voice: the unbeliever reversionist produces the action of the verb as an expression of heathenism and the influence of evil in his life. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality.

“worthy of” – predicate nominative masculine plural from the adjective axios (ἄξιος) [pronounced AX-ee-oss], meaning deserving of as well as worthy of; “death” – a descriptive genitive singular from thanatos (θάνατος) [pronounced THAH-nah-toss]. The person involved has cognizance of his own status quo, spiritual death, but this refers to physical death or the sin unto death which is maximum justice from the justice of God in time directed toward any category of reversionism, believer or unbeliever. Here the unbeliever’s sin unto death is in view. Translation: “are deserving of death.”

“not only do the same” – the strong negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook], plus an adjective in the neuter from monon (μόνον) [pronounced MOHN-on] used as an adverb limiting the action or state to that designated by the verb. Plus the present active indicative of poieô (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh]. This is a customary present, it denotes what habitually occurs as a result of maladjustment to the justice of God. The active voice: those who have total cognizance of the gospel and reject the same produce the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of historical and doctrinal reality—“not only are doing.”

“the same” – accusative plural direct object from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτὸς) [pronounced ow-TOSS]. It emphasizes the identity of the unbeliever reversionist who in rejecting Christ as saviour has entered into heathenism or unbeliever reversionism. It means “the same things” here.

“but have pleasure in them that do them” – begins with an adversative conjunction of contrast, allá (ἀλλά) [pronounced ahl-LAH]. With the adjunctive use of kai—“but also.” Then the present active indicative from the compound verb suneudokéō (συνευδοκέω) [pronounced soon-you-dohk-EH-oh] [sun = together with; eudokeō (εὐδοκέω) [pronounced yoo-dok-EH-oh] = to think well, to approve] which connotes hearty approval, and hence to approve with another is to be in accord with a principle, to agree with. We translate it, “but also give their approval.” The present tense is a perfective present, it denotes the continuation of existing results. It refers to hearty approval given to those practicing the same things, hearty approval demonstrated in past history but emphasized as a present reality for this type of historical phenomena. The active voice: reversionistic unbelievers maladjusted to the justice of God add their opinion as an encouragement to others to do likewise. Principle: How closely are you influenced by public opinion? God’s opinion is Bible doctrine.

“do them” – articular present active participle of prassō (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so] again. It means “to those who practice” the evil of heathenism, and we have the present tense as a retroactive progressive present. The active voice: people are approving what other reversionists are doing.

Romans 1:32 Such are those who though they have total perception of the legal requirements of the justice of God, (that those who practice such things are deserving of death) not only are doing the same things, but also give their approval to those who practice the same evil of heathenism.

There is no Excuse for Maladjustment to the justice of God

1. While religion is without doctrine, the unbeliever is without excuse.
2. There is no excuse for the heathen, the reversionistic unbeliever.
3. He has rejected that of which he has total cognizance—the justice of God at gospel hearing.
4. The reversionistic unbeliever is totally cognizant of the justice of God and the propitiatory work of Christ on the cross.
5. The justice of God has judged our sins on the cross—2Cor. 5:21; 1Pet. 2:24.
6. Instant adjustment to the justice of God at salvation is as simple as Ephesians 2:8,9; Acts 16:31.
7. Rejection of Christ as saviour is instant maladjustment to the justice of God.

You adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God will adjust to you. When a person says no, then all kinds of evil begin to be sucked in. This is why so many people approve of robbing the rich in order to assuage the poor.

You not only practice evil, you approve of evil. This must result in historical disaster. Then you get into the 3rd, 4th and 5th cycles of discipline.

Summary of the Justice of God in Romans 1

1. One of the blessings of instant adjustment to the justice of God at salvation is to have a permanent relationship with God.
2. On the other hand, to abandon the justice of God is the most awful thing which can happen in the human race to any human being.
3. The justice of God may bless or may curse the believer but the justice of God never abandons any believer.
4. Whereas with the unbeliever heathenism is a state where the justice of God has abandoned the unbeliever, leaving him without any ray of hope except repentance toward Christ.
5. Therefore, there is a sign at the entrance into heathenism for unbeliever reversionism: Abandon all hope, he who enters therein.
6. This sign is based on the principle of abandon the justice of God all who enter here, the one thing that no person in the human race can ever abandon—the only source of blessing, the only source of help, man's only ray of hope—the justice of God.

[1] See the Doctrine of Adjustment to the Justice of God

[2] See the Doctrine of Apostleship

[3] See the Doctrine of the Gospel.

[4] See the Doctrine of the Deity of the Lord Jesus Christ.

[5] See the Doctrine of the Virgin Birth.

[6] See the Doctrine of Divine Essence.

[7] See the Doctrine of Apostleship.

[8] See the Doctrine of Spiritual Gifts.

[9] See the Doctrine of GAP.

[10] See the Doctrine of Election.

[11] See the Doctrine of Sanctification.

[12] See the Doctrine of Prayer.

[13] See the Doctrine of Paul's Reversionism.

[14] See the Doctrine of Divine Guidance.

[15] See the Doctrine of Witnessing.

[16] See the Doctrine of the Adjustment to the Justice of God.

[17] See the Doctrine of Heathenism.

[18] See the Doctrine of Evil.

[19] See the Doctrine of Jealousy.

[20] See the Doctrine of Murder.

[21] See the Doctrine of the Sins of the Tongue.

1977 Romans

Lesson #36

36 02/20/1977 Romans 2:1a Love 1 & 2; justification by faith; anthropopathisms; self righteousness

Chapter 2

God's blessing comes from His justice; it does not come from His love. In the human race, love requires an object and emotion. But God's love does not have emotion nor does it require an object. When it says, God is love, then we are speaking of love¹. Love² is an anthropopathism is found in John 3:16 and Roman 5:8. Many human characteristics are ascribed to God, but they help to explain to us on our level God's motives and actions. Most fundies assume that God is a sentimental Person and that he will come to you in a pinch and help you out. But He does not do this for the reversionist is who under discipline.

The source of our blessing comes from God's holiness. A person with an inordinate love for himself, we think this is egocentricity or arrogance. God's holiness is made up of His justice and holiness. The purpose of justice is to guard all the attributes of God. It is His justice which gives God the green light to bless us. It is the justice of God to which we must adjust; it is the justice of God that we must deal with. In a 6 to 8 hour day, Bob can cover about a single verse done in Romans.

If we are cursed by God, this also comes from His justice.

Three Areas When Man must Man must Adjust to God's Justice

1. Because man is a sinner, he can adjust to God's justice by believing in Jesus Christ. That is salvation adjustment to the justice of God. When a person goes negative and says no, the second chapter of Romans is devoted to that category. Unbeliever reversionist. The worst type is the self righteous type. Self righteous is the most evil force in the world today. The convincing or convicting ministry of the Holy Spirit; He makes the gospel real and understandable to the unbeliever. He can be positive or negative. If positive, he believes, and he is saved. If he is negative, the unbeliever goes into reversionist. The self-righteousness of the believer from his time as an unbeliever, should be shed.
2. The believer temporally adjusts to the justice of God through rebound. The believer cites his sin, and it is forgiven by God, restoring the person back to fellowship. There is nothing that we can do for forgiveness; there is no merit in this process. It is God's justice which is free to forgive us, as the sin has already been judged by God.
3. Supergrace A & B; and ultra super grace are the maturity steps which are achieved by doctrine accumulated in the believer's soul. Maturity adjustment to the justice of God.

It is not what we do but what we think which is our relationship to God. Praying and hustling is not the key to the spiritual life. If we are positive toward doctrine we move into the blessing sphere; if we are negative toward doctrine, we move into the discipline sphere.

The second chapter of Romans is a dissertation on maladjustment to the justice of God, especially to those who are self-righteous. The worst type of unbeliever reversionist is the self-righteous type. The subject of the chapter is the judgment function of the justice of God.

Outline for Chapter 2: the Judgment Function of the Justice of God

1. The judgment function of the justice of God toward self-righteousness, verses 1-8.
2. judgment function of the justice of God toward evil, verse 9-16.
3. judgment function of the justice of God toward the Jews as a special case, verses 17-29.

There are four principles of divine judgment in this chapter. Some are negative because they are not used by God and some are positive principles because they are used by God.

It is our intent to understand God; and this comes through doctrine.

First, in Romans 2:2 there is the principle of doctrine: "according to doctrine." It is doctrine that is the basis for either blessing or cursing toward any person in the human race. The first blessing that comes to the human race is salvation, which is positive volition toward gospel type doctrine. Negative volition is the basis of cursing. Once a person is a believer his attitude toward doctrine then determines his maturity or reversionism. His positive or negative attitude toward doctrine is the basis, therefore, for blessing or cursing as long as he lives in this life.

Second, in Romans 2:6 there is the principle of production. God never judges us according to our works. In other words, doctrine and production are considered to be antithetical. We must adjust to the justice of God by our attitude toward doctrine, positive or negative. But we do not adjust to the justice of God through our works. Anything we can do is not a part of the grace plan of God. According to works is the standard for judging the self-righteous person, the person who always is clinging to some system of works or good deeds whereby he is going to impress God and receive blessing from God. Illustration of tithing. People give 10% of their income in order to get blessing from God. They hear a testimony of a guy who is down to his last dime, so he gives a penny; and he keeps tithing. And so God blesses him. These people are going to be cursed by God, rather than blessed. Tithing is an income tax for Israel. Tithing is never used for spiritual giving.

There is spiritual giving in the Old and New Testaments. To take a doctrine pertaining to establishment, this is relying upon works and deeds in order to be blessed by God.

Third, in Romans 2:11 there is the principle of personality. The justice of God is never impressed with a pleasing personality. Personality is meaningless when it comes to relationship. Human personality is not the means of adjustment to the justice of God. Romans 2 will straighten us out when it comes to personality.

Fourth, in Romans 2:16 there is the principle of adjustment for the unbeliever. This is our initial adjustment to the justice of God, and it is found in the phrase "according to my gospel." This adjustment is made through faith in Jesus Christ.

Two other principles should be anticipated in this chapter. First of all, this chapter deals with the judgment function of the justice of God against the unbeliever who is self-righteous. All self-righteous types are evil. A second principle: divine justice must express itself in judgment against the unbeliever who is maladjusted to the justice of God. He is maladjusted generally through self-righteousness. This self-righteousness can also be religiosity. First half of the chapter is self-righteousness; and the second half is about the religiosity of the Jew.

Apart from Israel and certain client nations the ancients did not possess a clear-cut concept of morality. Remember that the only concept of true morality until the Church Age began (it began at the end of ancient history) was when God revealed morality before the Old Testament canon, and the other source is the Old Testament scriptures. So God's direct revelation to people like Noah and Abraham is the clear-cut concept of morality. The other clear-cut concept comes from the Old Testament scriptures, especially the Mosaic law which is very beneficial in this particular area. So remember that the Greeks, the Romans, the Assyrians before them, the Chaldeans, the Persians, did not have clear-cut concepts of morality except as they came into contact with Israel, or with divine revelation. Therefore justice was considered to be the highest form of morality by the Romans, Greeks, Chaldeans, the Medes and the Persians. The law of the Medes and the Persians was considered the highest concept of that culture. Justice means giving everyone a fair shake before the law, so there was a basic concept of morality related to justice but not through personal function in relationship to people. Relationship to persons and relationship to God is only defined by the Old Testament scriptures.

We are using the vocabulary of the Greeks; and they did not have a clearcut understanding of morality. Their morality is tied strictly to the law and justice. We, as believers, over-emphasize relationships. Example of Adam and the woman adjusting to one another and this being good enough for adjustment to God (it was not).

The Greek word dikaiousunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] is one of the most important words in Romans. The suffix sunê is an abstract concept and indicates a morality related to justice. Dikaïos (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss] means justice and righteousness, sunê means the abstract thinking of justice and righteousness. It is the thinking of a judge. The judge must relate the law to the circumstances in his courtroom. Dikaiousunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] is what God as judge thinks. This is one of the most important words in the New Testament. The great men like Solon or Hammurabi, they can relate justice to the law and to the cases before them.

The supreme court of heaven is made up of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit; and what they think is important. We must relate to what they think; doctrine is the means by which we relate to what they think. Dikaiousunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] therefore becomes the principle of objective thinking and judicial righteousness, or our relationship with God. When used with the possessive genitive, as it is many times in Romans (dikaiousunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] Theou) it means the justice of God, it means the thinking of the judge. The relationship with God in time for the believer is based on the concept of dikaiousunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay].

God's Love Contrasted with Human Love

1. Like all divine attributes, love belongs to the being of God.
2. God is love regardless of having any object of love.
3. It is God's nature to bestow Himself whether there is an occasion or not; whether there is an object or not.
4. God is perfect and without emotion. Emotion has not thought content; emotion is not even relational. Jer 31:3 Romans 8:39
5. 1John 4:8 states God's attribute of love.
6. In 1John 4:9–10, we have the anthropopathism of love to express divine motivation. The great challenge to distinguish between the two in Luke 11:42 Woe to you pharisees that you pay tithes of mint and rue and every type of garden herb, and yet you disregard the justice and the love of God. But these are things you should have done while neglecting the others.
7. The love of God is a divine attribute which does not need an object, in contrast to human love which requires an object.
8. Human love is a transitive thing, where there is a subject and an object. The subject loves the object (a person or a thing).
9. Human love is based upon norms and standards of the conscience for its object; human love is supported by emotion; when we love, it is based upon our own norms and standards and our own emotional function.
10. God has maximum capacity for love without having an object; and without having emotion. Best you can do is understand His holiness, righteousness and justice
11. Less is known about God's attribute of love than any other characteristic, because most references to love are anthropopathisms.

The Doctrine of Anthropopathisms comes out of the 1991 Ephesians study, so it is probably overkill:

Doctrine of the Anthropopathism of Love

1. An anthropopathism ascribes to God a human characteristic which God does not actually possess, but is used to reveal and explain God's policy toward mankind and divine motivation in terms of human frame of reference by the use of language of accommodation.
2. Rom 9:13, "Just as it stands written, `I have loved Jacob but I hate Esau.'"
3. God neither loves nor hates in human terms. But in order to explain salvation adjustment to the justice of God and salvation maladjustment, antithetical anthropopathisms are use.
4. Motivation Anthropopathisms in Romans 5:8 John 3:16 2Corinthians 9:7
5. Love explains God's motivation but it is not the reason or direct source for blessing from God.
6. When a person says I love my country, we understand this from the laws of divine establishment.

7. When a person says I love you and will be there anytime you call, we understand that. We understand that about human love.
8. The anthropopathism expresses divine motivation.

The Justice of God

1. The direct source of blessing to mankind is the justice of God. God's justice is the key to everything. Our relationship depends upon God's justice. His justice is absolutely perfect, because it began by condemning us from birth.
2. The justice of God acts as a watch dog on the essence box.
3. Divine justice protects other divine attributes from compromise.
4. Therefore while all divine attributes are involved in man's blessing from God, only justice is the direct source of blessing (also the direct source of condemnation).
5. Dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] Theou (the possessive genitive) is the key to the epistle to the Romans.
6. The love of God is the expression of divine motivation but the justice of God is the direct source of either blessing or cursing.
7. While we are accustomed to associating love with sentiment, do not associate the love of God with sentiment or emotion.
8. Do not count on God being emotional about you, count on something that has more security. God cannot afford to be emotional about you because God would not be God if He were emotional. Therefore it becomes necessary to understand that neither love nor sovereignty nor righteousness, nor other attributes, have any direct bearing on your blessing, except justice.
9. Dikaiosunê is properly translated justice rather than righteousness. If the justice of God approves, there is blessing; the justice of God disapproves, then there is cursing (discipline).
10. You adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God adjusts to you.

Since the Protestant revolution and Martin Luther nailed his 95 theses to the door, by lack of scholarship among fundamentalists on justification any more.

The justice of God is free to bless us without compromise of His character and without neutralizing any of His attributes.

We can bless others because we are sinful men blessing other sinful men. This does not compromise our character. One sinful person can bless another sinful person. The justice of God is key to the book of Romans.

People have concluded that they must be good and perfect to receive God's blessing. I must produce certain types of works; and this produces striving. Romans is where grace and justice meet.

The first category of adjustment to the justice of God is what is found in this chapter. Dikaiosunê is what a judge thinks. We do not think how God thinks. Only Bible doctrine residing in the soul can rectify this situation. We are justified by faith; not by self-righteousness. We want to think the way that God thinks of righteousness, self-righteousness, the Jew, and about the Christian life.

Our relationship with God begins at the initial adjustment to the justice of God. After salvation, there is the challenge of reaching spiritual maturity. We had examined maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation in Romans 1.

The unbeliever of chapter 1 has no relationship with God. The greatest self-righteousness is not enough to gain entry to God's salvation. There is no such thing as sinlessness in this life. A self-righteous man might be better than other people, but he still has no right to judge others.

God's Righteous Judgment

Romans 2:1 Therefore you are inexcusable, O man, each one who is judging. For in that which you judge the other, you are condemning yourself, for you, the one judging, do the same things.

Verse 1 – the presumption of the self-righteous unbeliever, or the person who is maladjusted to the justice of God at salvation, who decides to build up a system of righteousness to reach God. “Therefore” is an inferential conjunction, dió (διό) [pronounced DEE-oh], denoting that the inference is self-evident. Translation: “Therefore” or “For this reason.” This is a conjunction and it refers to the justice of God which judges heathenism or unbeliever reversionism. However, the moral and self-righteous man often compares himself to the man in chapter one—the immoral, heathenistic type—and says to himself, “I don’t do those things.” Because he doesn’t do those things he rationalizes that he is righteous. He is self-righteous. He compares himself to the immoral person instead of to the perfect divine standard. Self-righteousness is blind. You cannot build your righteousness on someone else’s unrighteousness.

“thou art” is the present active indicative of the verb eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. The present tense is a static present for a condition perpetually existing in history. There are always people who are judging other people. The active voice: the self-righteous unbeliever produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic statement of fact.

How would you like to be saved on the basis of public opinion? How would it be to get 1000 signatures to call for your salvation? There is no salvation based upon public opinion. Public opinion is the agreement of idiocy.

All gossips, all maligners, all those who judge, are described by this next word: “inexcusable” – the predicate nominative singular from the compound noun anapologêtos (ἀναπολόγητος) [pronounced an-ap-ol-OG-ay-tos] [a = negative; apologéomai (ἀπολογέομαι) [pronounced ap-ohl-ohg-EH-ohm-ahée] = to defend one’s self against charges in court] which says in effect, you have no defense, therefore without excuse—“Therefore you keep on being without excuse.”

“O man” is an interjection ο (ὦ) [pronounced oh], plus the vocative of anthrōpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos], refers to all people who gossip, malign and judge. Whenever you have an interjection with the vocative you express an emotion. It is addressed to the self-righteous person—any self-righteous person who assumes in arrogance to have arrived at the point of human righteousness where he has the right or prerogative to make pronouncements about others. Pride is the basic sin of the self-righteous person.

1977 Romans

Lesson #37

37 02/20/1977 Romans 2:1b Rationalization of the self-righteous; doctrine of pride; subjectivity

God's Righteous Judgment

Romans 2:1 Therefore you are inexcusable, O man, each one who is judging. For in that which you judge the other, you are condemning yourself, for you, the one judging, do the same things.

“whosoever” – the nominative singular from páς (πάς) [pronounced pahs] which is actually an adjective meaning “all.” However it can be used as a substantive and when it is it means “everyone” rather than “whosoever”; “thou art” is not found in the original, it is simply inserted by the translator to smooth out the English. It should be “everyone of you when you judge.”

“that judgest” is an articular present active participle from the verb krinō (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no], which means to judge. The definite article in the nominative singular is used for a personal pronoun referring to the self-righteous person who assumes the prerogative of judging others. The present tense is a customary present, it denotes what habitually occurs when arrogance combines with self-righteousness to judge others. The active voice: the self-righteous person produces the action of the verb. The participle is temporal and therefore we have a temporal clause: “everyone of you when you judge.” The antithesis of love is judging and maligning. The word to judge here means to malign, to slander, to use verbal sins in the direction of someone else.

“for” – the explanatory conjunction; “wherein” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of the relative pronoun hos (ὅς) [pronounced hohç], the object of the preposition, should be translated “in which sphere.”

“thou judgest another” – present active indicative of krinō (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no], used to cover all of the mental attitude sins which lead to gossip, maligning, judging others. Hence, krinō (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no] while it is in the original Greek primarily a legal word, used for both official and personal judgment, when used with God as the subject it is official judgment. When used with self-righteous persons as in this context it is personal judgment, tantamount to maligning, to slandering, to gossiping. So with this is an accusative singular definite article to denote a category, namely the judging of the immoral man. Then the accusative singular from the adjective héteros (ἕτερος) [pronounced HEH-ter-os], meaning other of two or setting up a contrast between two human categories. The two human categories are the self-righteous and the more obviously sinful. The present tense of krinō (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no] is a descriptive present, it describes what is now going on in the conflict between the self-righteous person—believer or unbeliever—and the person he chooses to judge. The active voice: the self-righteous category produces the action of the verb. The declarative indicative is for the historical reality in every generation.

Self Righteous Legalist

1. The self-righteous legalist, Jew or Gentile, is always judging those whose sins are more obvious.
2. However the moral or self-righteous type was born with the same imputation of Adam's sin, and possesses the same old sin nature, therefore the same spiritual death.
3. The moral man is not the obvious sinner like his counterpart, the immoral man, because he hides his sins behind a façade of legalism and covers them with self-righteousness.
4. However, the moral self-righteous man is just as guilty before God as the immoral man.
5. But the self-righteous moral man has great arrogance, great pride of achievement, which expresses itself in judging, maligning, slandering, gossiping about others.
6. The self-righteous man finds his security in constantly judging and slandering others. His rationalization in the soul, his hang-ups, leads him to start maligning and judging, and in this way he seems to build up a false sense of security with regard to his own life and, above all, his relationship to the Lord. You find others who you believe are below your level of righteousness; and you point out him. He has to judge, slander and malign this other person. This is his eternal security.
7. Judging others is not only a sin but it is a rationalization in which you build your righteousness on someone else's unrighteousness. Your morality is compared to sin, and the result is a house of cards.
8. The self-righteous man does not want to deal with the justice of God. He makes favourable comparisons with the immoral man, he rationalizes himself into a state of having security for his arrogance by saying he is better than he.
9. From making the favourable comparisons of rationalization in his morality against someone else's immorality he comes to the blasphemy of judgment.

Some of the worst sins in the world are sins of the tongue.

“thou condemnest thyself” – present active indicative from the compound verb katakrinō (κατακρίνω) [pronounced kaht-ak-REE-noh] [kata = down or against; krinō (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no] = to judge]. It means to judge down, to judge against, to judge in such a way that you condemn. Both condemnation and execution are gathered up in this compound verb. The present tense is a perfective present, it denotes the continuation of existing results. Here is a fact which comes to be in the past but is emphasized as a present reality. The active voice: the self-righteous legalist produces the action of the verb by judging. The declarative indicative mood is for an unqualified statement of fact. Sooner or later your life is going to be cluttered up with gossip, slander, people who judge and malign. With this is an accusative singular direct object from the reflexive pronoun seautou (σεαυτοῦ, ἡς) [pronounced seh-ow-TOO] in the emphatic position. When an action expressed by the verb is referred back to its own subject the construction is called reflexive. So we translate this part of the passage “you condemn yourself.”

What apparently happened was this gal rejected this guy; and he is gossiping about her.

The Self Righteous Judge

1. The self-righteous judge is as sinful as the object of his condemnation.
2. The moral man is just as sinful as the immoral man.
3. It becomes, then, a matter of category. One house has sand for dirt, another has coal dust for dirt; both are dirty.
4. Only the justice of God can correctly evaluate the life of any creature. Only the justice of God has the right to judge His creatures.
5. Jesus Christ is the supreme court judge in heaven. He is perfect; only a perfect judge can produce perfect judgment. That eliminates the human race.
6. The self-righteous man assumes that he is perfect, but his judgment of others merely proves and demonstrates his imperfection, sinfulness, and hypocrisy.

“for thou that judgest” – postpositive conjunctive particle gar, used to give a reason why the self-righteous person condemns himself when he judges others. Again, the articular present active participle of krinô (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no]. The present tense is retroactive progressive present, it denotes what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. In other words, we are told that we will always have these people with us. The active voice: the self-righteous category produces the action of the verb—self-righteous hypocrisy. The participle is circumstantial. It should be translated, “for you who keeps judging.”

“doest the same things” – present active indicative from the verb prassô (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so] which means to practice. The present tense is retroactive progressive present denoting what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. They have done this in the past and are still doing it. They are practising something. The active voice: the self-righteous type produces the action. The declarative indicative represents the verbal action from the standpoint of reality. Plus the accusative neuter plural from the direct object of the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτοῦς) [pronounced ow-TOSS]. The definite article is used to denote a previous reference—to the sins mentioned in Romans 1:29-31.

Romans 2:1 Therefore, you are without excuse, O man, everyone of you when you judge: for in which sphere you keep judging the other category, you condemn yourself; for you who keep judging practice the same things.

Principle

1. The same concept is amplified in John 8:3-11. It is interesting that self-righteous people often pick on helpless people.
2. The principle emerges: Imperfect people are not qualified to judge other imperfect people.
3. There are two exceptions to this: a pastor teacher communicating doctrine is the judge of the individual life of the royal priest in the sense that he communicates doctrine. When anyone gets out of line with regard to intruding into the privacy and the rights of other members of the congregation the pastor-teacher certainly has the right of judgment; anything in the laws of establishment where authority exists. Parents have a right to judge their children. Senior officers have a right to judge those under their command. Officers in a company or business organization have the right to judge those who work for them. The judge on the bench has the right to function in the sphere of criminal law and justice.
4. Because sinful people are not qualified to judge sinful people judging is a verbal sin.
5. Judging also reflects reversionism, especially self-righteous and legalistic type reversionism.
6. Whether moral or immoral, believer or unbeliever, every member of the human race possesses and old sin nature.
7. The self-righteous person is often confused by different manifestations of personal sins, giving greater condemnation to some over others. The self-righteous person generally does not know much about sin categorically. All he knows is that there are certain temptations to which he would never acquiesce, and there are certain things where he fails, but he always compares in his rationalization his strengths with someone else's weaknesses.
8. Where one's area of weakness is compatible with morality or human standards of righteousness there is a temptation to judge those who have different standards.
9. Therefore much of compatibility in life is a pseudo compatibility because it is compatibility of old sin natures.
10. All personal sin originates from the same source, the old sin nature. Environment and early influence develops a set of standards in the human conscience which are used to judge others who do not comply with those standards.

Self-righteousness Principles (review)

1. Self-righteousness is a rationalization constructed from comparing one's strength with the weaknesses of someone else. Or. It is developed in the environment of self-righteousness where false standards have been imposed.
2. Self-righteousness is constructed on the sins of others who have a different area of weakness.

3. The foundation for self-righteousness, then, is constructed from the sands of ignorance, rationalization, hypocrisy and fantasy.
4. No one can build his righteousness on another person's unrighteousness.
5. But self-righteousness is always constructed on someone else's righteousness.
6. Judging others is the mechanics of building one's righteousness at the expense of other categories of sin.
7. Divine justice is based on perfect standards of eternal, immutable, infinite divine righteousness.
8. God's judgment of our sins is a bonafide function which precludes of one person judging the sins of another.
9. Therefore the self-righteous presumption to judge others is blasphemy as well as evil. This is the evil presumption of self righteous legalism.

The Doctrine of pride, which comes out of NB1; it appears to be reasonably close.

The Doctrine of Pride

1. Pride is the basic mental attitude sin - because it always has a counterpart. Pride is the worst of the mental attitude sins - because it always has a counterpart. Long before Satan's pride showed his approbation lust showed. As he went around heaven everyone was impressed with his beauty. Satan was listening to this impressiveness long before his pride ever showed up. Pride was the original sin of Satan, pride is a part of a counterpart. Pride is lofty self-respect, high esteem for one's self, making an issue out of yourself. Vanity is empty pride in respect to one's person. vanity merely means pride without even having an excuse for being proud. When pride is show in the field of contempt it is called superciliousness.
2. Pride was both the original sin of Satan and the motivator for his fall - Isaiah 14:12-14. Ezekiel 28:14-17 tells us how he came to say this. Pride is an angelic sin and the greatest of all creatures, Satan himself, fell in this way.
3. Pride is also a human sin. Categorically pride is the basic mental attitude sin, yet it never stands alone, it is never an island, it becomes a part of a counterpart. It is always joined or connected with some other sin. The pride in sin manifests itself when there is no pressure, but as soon as there is pressure up comes the counterpart, whatever it may be - jealousy, cowardice, maligning, judging, vindictiveness, implacability, etc. All arrogant people are totally different under pressure. Pride is also said to be a human sin - 1Timothy 3:6; 6:3,4.
4. Pride is related to personal reversionism. Pride is not only a sin but it is also a spiritual condition - Psalm 10:2-4. Believers rejecting Bible doctrine are also in a state of arrogance. It is arrogance to think that you can get along without something that God has provided - your daily spiritual food. Describing the unbeliever type reversionism in Romans 1:30, he is said to be a slanderer. This is a verbal sin which is a counterpart to pride.
5. Pride is related to national reversionism. There are five cycles of discipline in national reversionism. The second discipline is divine judgement against the economy. At this stage of discipline pride is mentioned as the biggest characteristic.

In the second cycle of discipline when you have depression or recession and the economy falling apart the chief sin related to it is always the sin of pride - Leviticus 26:19. Often the reason why you have depression or a recession is because government officials interfere with the economy. They juggle the economy and interfere with business. There is a divine law that says that in the economy free enterprise must prevail, and wherever you have a recession under free enterprise it is to eliminate the unfit and to improve the quality of services rendered. 2Chronicles 32:26 - there is an answer to this. It comes from the field of humility in government. Cf Isaiah 9:9. National pride is also associated with the administration of the fifth cycle of discipline; the fall of Moab - Isaiah 28:1-3. Hosea 7:10-14. Ezekiel

6. Pride in relationship to God - 1Samuel 2:3. The Hebrew says, "Arrogance shall come out of your mouth, therefore do not boast [or multiply] conversations." In other words, if you have pride and you put pressure on it out comes conversation - verbal sins. Pride also rejects the principle that Jesus Christ controls history - Daniel 4:37, Nebuchadnezzar recognized that when he was in pride he had rejected this principle, and because of it he was humbled. The principle of pride related to Jesus Christ is given in the dissertation on blind arrogance - Matthew 19:27-20:34.
7. Pride and Psychology.
 - a. Flaws can be real as failures of character, or pseudo, in which a person's flair is mistaken for either arrogance or a flaw.
 - b. Hangups are an obstacle in the normal function of life related to arrogance. A hangup results in becoming snagged in some form of subjectivity or abnormal thinking. All hangups are related to or are manifestations of pride. Arrogance under pressure by thought or circumstance cause the hangups or real flaws to appear in the life.
 - c. Real flaws or hangups are the result of arrogance. Arrogance is a character weakness as well as a sin.
 - d. Two kinds of hangups exist as a manifestation of pride: Blind hangups; Known or perceptive arrogance.
 - e. The symptoms of these hangups are called syndromes. Syndromes are symptoms typical of a condition. Syndromes are manifestations of pressure on some particular arrogance.
 - f. Hangups are a hindrance to learning Bible doctrine. Arrogance rejects the authority of the pastor. Men with hangups feel belittled by authoritative doctrinal teaching. Pride refuses to remain under the ministry of one's right pastor. Arrogant people react to the message. Because they may have grown up in legalistic homes, they suffer from legalistic syndromes. They resent grace teaching.
 - g. The guilt syndrome is another symptom of the disease of pride. You react with guilt when something taught by doctrine applies especially to you. Your guilt complex surfaces because of your arrogance. All guilt is based on pride. No one has a guilt reaction without having arrogance somewhere in the soul.

- h. The emotional syndrome is manifest by holy-rollers. They are arrogant and hallucinate.
 - i. The inadequacy syndrome, the socialist syndrome, the liberal syndrome, the anti-semitic syndrome, and the anti-establishment syndrome are other symptoms of arrogance or pride.
8. Positive volition toward doctrine insulates the soul from pride. In his famous speech Elihu is Job 33:16,17 - the function of GAP and Bible doctrine in the right lobe is the way in which God stops His discipline and protects from the pride complex. Proverbs 8:13; 11:2 - the answer is wisdom, it removes pride.
 9. Those who are promoted past their subjectivity factor. This is why a woman cannot occupy certain positions in life. God designed a woman to be a responder. She is prone to yield to subjectivity. George Marshall was extremely subjective; and the result of his leadership was tyranny. Objectivity eliminate arrogance.

1977 Romans

Lesson #38

38 02/21/1977 Romans 2:2 Self-righteousness; holiness of God; judging is the divine prerogative

When Free Men Shall Stand from Jesse Helms, the first Republican Senator in North Carolina in 100 years. He is probably the most conservative man in the Senate. A sobering look at the super spending and super taxing in Washington.

The framers of the Constitution were to protect every citizen...a profound respect for the law, which they did not see as vehicle for social regeneration, for this is a work of God's grace; but as a restrain on the nature of man. The new religion is collectivism...antagonistic toward the family. They make a god of government. They continually speak of man in economic terms is a distortion...the true conservatism recognizes the economics, but also recognizes the spiritual condition.

Romans 2:2 But we know that the judgment of God upon those practicing such things is according to truth.

Verse 2 – the judgment standard of the justice of God. “But” is the conjunctive particle de functioning in a postpositive system, and it is an adversative conjunction used to emphasize the contrast between the presumptuous of the self-righteous in verse 1 and the perfect judgment of the justice of God in this verse. It sets up a system of connecting two contrasting clauses. The clause of the first verse describes clearly presumptive self-righteousness of man who has the audacity and the self-righteousness to put himself in place of God and start judging others. Whereas in this second clause we see the one who is qualified, the one who is perfect in His judgment.

“we are sure” – present active indicative of the verb oida (οἶδα) [pronounced OY-da]. It should be, “But we have come to know.” The present tense is a perfective present, it denotes the continuation of existing results. It emphasizes the fact which has come to be in the past but is emphasized as a present reality—what we have come to know. The active voice: the mature believer produces the action of the verb. The mature believers are represented by the apostle Paul—editorial “we.” Paul is speaking of himself, he is a mature believer. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality.

“that the judgment of God” – the conjunction hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee] after verbs of perception denotes the content of perception. The nominative singular neuter from the definite article used with an abstract noun, the use of the article with the noun when it is desired to apply a sense of an abstract in something special or some unusual way. Abstract nouns are ordinarily general in their character and application, therefore they are indefinite. So to make an abstract noun definite you put a definite article in front of it. Then we have the nominative singular subject, also with the definite article, the noun krima (κρίμα) [pronounced KREE-mah] which means a decision, a decree, a judging, a judgment action, the function of a judge, or judicial verdict. Usually the decision is unfavourable and therefore krima (κρίμα) [pronounced KREE-mah] often means condemnation. But here the translation, in view of the fact that it has a definite article with it, taking it out of the abstract noun category and making it a little more definite, will be “that the judicial verdict.” Then an ablative of source of both the definite article and the proper noun theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]. This time the definite article has a different purpose. With theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] it simply indicates someone well-known to the reader—“the God.” The source of krima (κρίμα) [pronounced KREE-mah] or the judicial verdict is the justice of God. God is perfect, it is impossible for His judgments or judicial verdicts to ever be wrong or unfair. By the same token it is impossible for a self-righteous person to ever be fair or right in his judgment, and therefore a self-righteous gossip is erroneous as well as blasphemous.

“is” – present active indicative of eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME]. The present tense is a static present, it represents a condition which is assumed as perpetually existing. It is always true that the judgment of God is right. The active voice: the function of the justice of God produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative, a dogmatic, unqualified statement of fact. It is a fact: the justice of God is perfect.

“according to truth” – according to doctrine; “against them” – epí (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] is the preposition, plus the masculine accusative plural from the definite article, used as a demonstrative pronoun to emphasize the category of self-righteous types who judge others. This is correctly translated “against them.”

epi + the genitive emphasizes contact; touching; epi + locative is about location.

“which commit such things” – an articular present active participle from the verb prassô (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so] which means to do, to accomplish, to practice. Here it is translated “who practice.” The definite article is used as a relative pronoun. The present tense is retroactive progressive present, denoting what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. Self-righteous people start in at a very early age practicing things. The active voice: self-righteous types produce the action of the verb. The participle with the definite article becomes a relative clause.

Bob spent a great deal of time after school with various teachers; and none of them thought that he would become academically inclined. His real problem was all these people tattling on him.

“such things” – accusative neuter plural direct object from the correlative adjective toioutos (τοιούτος) [pronounced toy-OO-toss], and it means “similar things.” In other words, self-righteous people practices sin, you just don’t see them do it!

Romans 2:2 For we have come to know that the judicial verdict from the God is according to the truth against them who practice similar things.

Self-Righteousness Principles

1. The self-righteous type has the tendency to commend his own brand of sin while condemning the sins and weaknesses of others.
2. Self-righteousness and legalism rationalize sins by comparing hidden sins with the obvious gross sins of others. (Social ostracism is the basis for keeping a lot of people from advancing. The basis for all of our advance is doctrine. These are not criminals; but these a gross sinners. Up to a point, the gross sinners are having more fun.)
3. While the self-righteous type sees himself favourably compared with others the justice of God condemns him with the entire human race.
4. At the expense of the immoral man especially the self-righteous type builds a system of human righteousness with which he seeks to gain the approbation of God. Many people depend upon their own self-righteousness to get into heaven.
5. The self-righteous is maladjusted to the justice of God.
6. God’s standard of Bible doctrine condemns the self-righteous types, along with the immoral type and all other sinners. Sin is sin, and God condemns sin.
7. Therefore, no one is excluded from the condemnation of the justice of God.
8. Bible doctrine teaches total depravity and the universality of sin.
9. Man is born spiritually dead and functions in the realm of spiritual death by sinning.
10. All sin is condemned by God. The justice of God never compromises with sin.

The Knowledge of God (“According to the Truth”)

1. Doctrine or truth is the thinking of God.
2. His knowledge is eternal, infinite, absolute, and unimprovable.
3. Doctrine is a part of God’s knowledge. Man learns the truth and mans speaks the truth, but God is the truth.
4. God does not hold doctrine as something acquired or perceived, He is the truth, He is doctrine from all eternity past.
5. In God all truth in every form of knowledge dwells in absoluteness.

6. Since God is perfect His judgments are perfect. God's judgments are perfect, demanding perfection.
7. Righteousness is the divine love for holiness. Justice is divine hatred for sin.
8. Righteousness and justice combine to form God's perfect holiness.
9. Infinite holiness acting toward other beings results in the function of the justice of God.
10. Holiness demands holiness and righteousness demands righteousness, God cannot change.
11. So long as He is what He is, God must demand holiness and punish sin.
12. Because of the justice of God His judgments are vindicating but not vindictive (which is in contrast with the self righteous person). With unchangeable sin there is unchangeable judgment and condemnation.

God loves His Own justice and righteousness.

This is why the justice of God is so important.

Romans 2:2 For we have come to know that the judicial verdict from the God is according to the truth against them who practice similar things.

Why should God judge the sins that other do, but not judge you for your sins?

The Holiness of God — Summary

1. God has absolute holiness from all eternity—righteousness plus justice.
2. The moral excellence of God is not attained but infinite, absolute and eternal. God is perfect in His essence from eternity past.
3. God is mere absence of sin and evil. God is sum total of perfection in all of His attributes.
4. His holiness is not maintained by His will or His sovereignty, but it is His unchangeable, immutable self.
5. God is immutable because of His perfect character. He can never at any time be better or worse than He was the day before.
6. The being of God is unalterable, absolute and totally consistent.
7. When infinite holiness acts toward man the justice of God is involved.
8. His judgments are perfect and demand perfection. His righteousness is perfect and therefore not only rejects sin but condemns and rejects sin.
9. God's love for holiness is revealed by His righteousness. God's hatred of sin is revealed by His justice.
10. Holiness demands holiness; righteousness demands righteousness.
11. God's nature cannot change, He must demand holiness and He must punish sin.
12. Because the justice of God judged our sins at the cross divine justice has found a way to vindicate rather than condemn—not to condemn us but to bless us as believers.

13. Unchangeable sin means unchangeable condemnation from the justice of God.
14. Therefore, the only solution is the instant adjustment to the justice of God.

There is no such thing as a little sin to God.

The only solution is the instant adjustment to the justice of God.

Conclusion

1. Judgment is the prerogative of God.
2. Divine judgment is from the source of the justice of God.
3. God has both the character and the information on which to function as a judge.
4. The same source of judgment (the justice of God) is the source of blessing to the believer also because of the fact that the sins of the world were judged on the cross.
5. Christ was bearing our sins when the justice of God judged them—2Cor. 5:21; 1Peter 2:24.
6. Therefore the justice of God is free to give us salvation when we believe in Christ. Salvation instead of condemnation is the result of adjustment to the justice of God (not appealing to God's emotion, as He has no emotion).

God loves His righteousness so much that He can only bless true righteousness.

God has judged the entire angelic creation; and He has judged all mankind.

How does God get around this? He loves the world so much that He gives His only begotten Son. That is an anthropathism. He does not love unregenerate mankind. God is not sentimental about a thing. Justice can only condemn sin. His justice hates sin and He must judge it.

Our entire relationship with God is based upon justice. This is much more solid than a declaration of love.

Grace does not mean that God is just tossing good things around helter skelter without an regard for His Own essence.

We have eternal security because we are adjusted to the justice of God. God was never emotional about us; we might be emotional about Him, but that is a distortion.

We were born spiritually dead; and we were condemned then. Then we committed a sin in order to prove that we have a sin nature.

An article about Milton Freedman. He gave a press conference in LA; and he argued against minimum wage law, and many other topics. University of Chicago professor. The problems in the east have been accelerated by Washington D.C. People should wake up and say, "This is a stupid system;" but instead they want to give the government more power. When the government limits the price that someone can charge for tomatoes automatically produces a shortage of tomatoes.

Friedman says capitalism exists everywhere, but where it is competitive, that is where freedom is. The minimum wage harms the exact people it claims to help. Is it better to be unemployed at $2.60/hour or employed at $2 an hour? Nixon tried to get rid of the tea tasting group, and big tea rose up in protest.

The gentiles did not have the Mosaic Law; but they had a set of standards, and they developed self-righteousness as a result.

The rationalization of self-righteousness.

Romans 2:3 Now do you suppose this, O man, the one judging those practicing such things and doing them yourself, that you will escape the judgment of God?

Verse 3 – “And thinkest thou this” begins with the postpositive conjunctive particle de used as a transitional conjunction, plus the present middle indicative of the verb logizomai (λογίζομαι) [pronounced log-IHD-zohm-ai] which means to think, to consider, to ponder, to calculate, to evaluate, to estimate—all of those can relate to a thinking person, but this same verb is also used for non-thinking people trying to think, and so we call this “to presume, to infer, to conclude.” “And do you infer.” The descriptive present tense is for what is now going on in the minds of self-righteous types who have to judge others to stay alive. Remember that self-righteousness cannot stay alive without sinning, without judging, maligning, gossiping and slandering others. The middle voice of the deponent verb means that the subject produces the action of the verb, and the self-righteous type produces the action here. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of reality. These people really exist and you might be sitting next to one.

With this is an accusative neuter singular direct object from the immediate demonstrative pronoun houtos (οὗτος) [pronounced HOO-tos], used for what is relatively near in their thinking. “Do you infer this” is the corrected translation.

“O man” – the same interjection used for that slanderous, self-righteous person of verse one. It is exactly the same form in the Greek. The interjectory particle ô (ὦ) [pronounced oh] is used with the vocative to express emotion—spiritual emotion, indignation against the evil of self-righteousness. The vocative of the noun anthrôpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos] refers to the self-righteous man of verse one who presumes to assume the prerogative of God in judging others. The man here is the self righteous man.

God loves His integrity more than anything else. For God so loved the world... is an anthropopathism. How do you have a relationship with God if you lack His righteousness?

God condemns all sin. Is God going to love you and you have sinned? And do you think that you will produce enough good deeds to reach God?

The Houston area has a huge amount of prissy Christians; self righteous Christians. There is no place in God's plan for prissy Christians.

We can line up with the attribute of love if we possess the justice of Jesus Christ. We must adjust to His justice. Once we line up with love¹, when we stand in God's armor.

The anthropopathism explains the motivation of God. Esau I hated and Jacob I love. This human love is ascribed to God to explain His motivation and His policy to us.

The worse thing is to have God's imputed righteousness, and walk around with your self-righteousness.

“that judgest them” – articular present active participle from the verb krinō (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no]. The present tense is retroactive progressive present, it denotes what was begun in the past and continues into the present time. The self-righteous types, in order to maintain their self-righteousness, must find those they consider inferior to them and judge them. The active voice: the self-righteous individual produces the action of the verb—judging. The participle is temporal. There is also an accusative plural definite article, direct object of the participle, and it is used as a demonstrative pronoun for the victims of the self-righteous, slanderous judge—“who judge those.”

“which do such things” – present active participle from the verb prassō (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so]. The present tense is a historical present, it views the past sins of heathenism with the vividness of a present occurrence. The active voice: the heathenism in Romans one produces the action of the verb. The participle with the definite article is used as a relative clause. The participle has a direct object, the accusative plural from the correlative adjective toioutos (τοιούτος) [pronounced toy-OO-toss], used as a substantive and meaning “similar things like that.” The practice of these sins refers to the self righteous man here who is judging others, but he is also practicing sin.

“and doest the same” – present active participle after the connective kai from the verb poieō (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh] which is contrasted to prassō (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so], and it means to do, to make, to manufacture, to produce, to perform; here it means to be guilty or to commit. The present tense is a customary present, it denotes what habitually occurs in the human race, namely the self-righteous person judging, maligning and slandering others is guilty of the same sins. The active voice: the self-righteous type commits the sin and is just as guilty before the justice of God. The participle is circumstantial. The object is the accusative neuter plural from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS]—“the same things.”

Romans 2:3a And do you presume this, O Man, who judges those who practice similar things, and are guilty of the same things,...

The Self Righteous Man of Romans 1–2

1. Rationalism leads to hypocrisy. The self righteous person must rationalize in order to remain self righteous. They make bad husbands, bad wives, bad bosses and bad employees.
2. The self-righteous person excuses or minimizes his own sins and failures by judging the more obvious sins of heathenism or the immoral man. This is why people love to run into a fornicator. They love the adultery of someone else, as long as these are overt and easily identifiable sins.
3. The overt sins of the immoral man are quite obvious while the mental attitude sins and the verbal sins of the self-righteous are hidden behind a façade of legalism and religionism and reversionism.
4. Note the contrast between the two verbs, prassô (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so] and poieô (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh]. Prassô (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so] is for overt and obvious sins in contrast to poieô (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh] for hidden sins—mental attitude sins, sneaky sins, sins of the tongue, judging, slandering, gossiping. An interesting twist: Self-righteous people, in building up their self-righteousness, always do it with mental sins and verbal sins. But sooner or later those sins make them vulnerable to the whole realm of sin.
5. Under the justice of God one type of sin is just as much condemned as another.
6. The sins of the self-righteous person are not as obvious but just as sinful.
7. Therefore the moral and self-righteous person is no more justified than the immoral and unrighteous person. In other words, man's respectability does not minimize man's sins. Being respectable does not fix you before God, nor does this make you more moral (in God's eyes) than others around you.
8. The verb prassô (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so] is used for the immoral man whose sins are obvious (e.g Matthew 5:27 for committing adultery), whereas the verb poieô (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh] is used for self-righteous types whose sins are more hidden (Matthew 5:28 for the man who thinks adultery) and judges the adulterer on the other hand.
9. The self-righteous man judges the immoral man and in this way rationalizes away his own sins.
10. The verb prassô (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so] was first used in Romans 1:32 for the obvious sins of the reversionistic unbeliever, heathen, or immoral man. Now poieô (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh] is used for the self-righteous type who adds sin to sin by judging, gossiping, maligning, slandering, and when he gets a chance he sneaks out and sins overtly also. The self-righteous man is prone, then, to mental sinning which compounds and intensifies both sin and guilt before the justice of God.

The smartest thing to do is just keep your mouth shut.

Romans 2:3a And do you presume this, O Man, who judges those who practice similar things, and are guilty of the same things,...

“that thou shalt escape” – the conjunction hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee] introducing an objective clause after verbs of thinking, presuming, or erroneous presumption. This is the rationalization of the self righteous person, whether Jew or gentile.

This is his rationalization. Plus the future middle indicative of the verb ekpheúgō (ἐκφεύγω) [pronounced ehk-FYOO-go] [ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] = out; pheugō (φεύγω) [pronounced FYOO-go] = escape out], it means to avoid or to escape. The future tense is a predicative future for an event expected to be avoided in future time. This is also punctiliar action in future time. The self-righteous person assumes that because he is self-righteous he is free to assume the prerogative of God and judge others. The more he judges others the more he is certain he will not be judged himself by God. The middle voice: the subject or the agent who is the self-righteous type acts with a view toward participating in the results of the action. This is a potential indicative.

“the judgement of God?” – the nominative singular subject from krima (κρίμα) [pronounced KREE-mah] with the definite article. The noun means decision, decree, judgment, judgment action, the function of a judge, or judicial verdict. Plus the ablative of source of the definite article and the proper noun theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—“the judicial verdict from the God.”

Romans 2:3 And do you presume this, O Man, who judges those who practice similar things, and are guilty of the same things, that you will escape the judicial verdict from the God?

Summary of Romans 2:3

1. The holiness of God, divine righteousness and justice, is not a respecter of persons. There is no category of people on earth who will escape God's justice.
2. The imputation of Adam's sin plus physical birth with the old sin nature placed man at birth under the judicial condemnation of God called spiritual death. We start out spiritually, before we have committed our first sin.
3. Sin is the manifestation of the old sin nature and the status of spiritual death.
4. All have sinned, all are guilty before the justice of God. There is no way that a spiritually dead person can build up some system of righteousness which will gain God's favor. Only Adam and the woman died spiritually at the first sin. We do not die today when we first sin. We are born dead.
5. While manifestations of the old sin nature are different the source is always the same. The fact that we sin personally merely proves that we are spiritually dead and that we have an old sin nature which is the source of spiritual death, and that we've been spiritually dead since birth.
6. Both the moral and the immoral, the religious and the non-religious, are spiritually dead. Self-righteousness has no advantage over non-righteousness before the supreme court of heaven.
7. You cannot build your righteousness on someone else's unrighteousness. You can only build your righteousness on instant adjustment to the justice of God at salvation.

8. The judgment of self-righteous types is not valid and is thrown out of court by the justice of God, with attached penalties.
9. This verse anticipates v. 11, where God is no respecter of persons.

1977 Romans

Lesson #40

40 02/23/1977 Romans 2 Statistics on freedom loss in the world; review of lessons 36–39

A brief article in the Christian magazine.

New low for freedom 19.6% of the world population is free today. 86.4% in 7 countries suffered substantial loss of freedom in 1776. This 1 billion + people who are slaves in 68 nations. 1.5 billion partially free. When they have free nations, there is a chart. Freedom is seen in the United States and Canada. Everything else is under some form of communist slavery. We are, at this moment, a priest nation.

An American in Gulag. That is where the Soviets have their special prisons and their prisoners work the mines. A 22 year old, son of an American engineer who was working in Russia and he was arrested by the police and kept a prison for the next 24 years. Alexander Dolgun's story.

Larry MacDonald in 1976 read into the Congressional record some interesting observations. This was about our weak military and the state department and the view of Kissinger's approach to go along with their idea of detente or face nuclear holocaust. They have many deficiencies. The idea that we simply make the best deal that we can, since the American people will not support what needs to be done. Several assumptions, like the American people have lost their will and that the Soviets are superior to us militarily. Meternick's world no longer exists (he developed a balance of power with many nations involved).

There is an overstatement as a trend toward the multipolar world. Our military has been subject to military budget cutters. The Chinese communist system is no more compatible with the United States as is Soviet communism.

Bob has been watching these people. Romans is one of the most difficult books in the Bible because it deals with God and God's attributes.

Bob's solution to the whooping crane situation. If it were up to him, they would be gone. Bob is discouraged to see people to fall down flat on their faces. He is moving one verse per day. Catering to this is something that Bob will do and he will go back to notes that we have already taken.

Sunday morning he introduced chapter 2, and people just studied their hands and the hymnals.

Love 1 Versus Love 2

1. Love belongs to the being of God.
2. God does not require an object in order to be love. God loves His righteousness. God has had His righteousness much longer than He has had us. Anthropopathisms were invented in time to help us understand God's attributes. For God so loved the world... is the first thing that we learned; but it is an anthropopathism.
3. God does not require an occasion to bestow Himself.
4. God's love is perfect and devoid of emotion.
5. 1John 4:8 is the actual attribute of love. God is love. This is not the same as God so loved the world... That is a subject and an object.
6. In 1John 4:9–10, we have the anthropopathism of love expressing divine motivation. In this the love of God was made manifest among us, that God sent his only Son into the world, so that we might live through him. In this is love, not that we have loved God but that he loved us and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins. Luke 11:42 “But woe to you Pharisees! For you tithe mint and rue and every herb, and neglect justice and the love of God. These you ought to have done, without neglecting the others. Justice is named first. God loves His righteousness; and that is as far as He can go. We are born spiritually dead; and we eventually sin to prove that we have a sin nature and that we are spiritually dead. God cannot have a relationship with God through His love. Jacob I loved and Esau I hated. We enter into a relationship with God through His justice, not through His love. He gives us His righteousness; and now He is able to love us.
7. God's love as a divine attribute does not require an object; whereas, human love requires an object.
8. In human love, the verb is transitive. This love requires a subject and an object.
9. Human love depends upon the norms and standards of the conscience in order to have the love. When emotion takes over the soul, they become irrational. We are approaching that. First we have Valentine's Day and then we have Spring. There is no human love apart from emotion.
10. God has perfect, unchangeable love. That is why He does not love us with His attribute of love.
11. Less is known about the attribute of love than almost any other subject in Scripture.
12. The reason for this is, almost every reference to God's love in the Scriptures is an Anthropopathism.

Grace is a term to cover our stupidity until we learn to understand God's attributes.

Justification is a misnomer and it does not explain anything (like the blood of Christ).

Bob give us the syntax first, and then the interpretation naturally follows.

Anthropopathisms

1. An anthropopathism is a characteristic or action of God which He does not actually possess. We can understand love and hate; but how can we understand God loving one twin and hating the other before they are born? How can God do this? We do not understand the workings of divine justice when we are first saved. We learn later about God's justice and this helps to explain why God loved Jacob and hated Esau.
2. The classical anthropopathism is from Romans which is quoting Malachi.
3. God neither loves nor hates in human terms, but explains it using two antithetical anthropopathisms.
4. Motivation anthropopathisms are found all over.
5. While love explains God's motivation, love is not God's actual attribute regarding us prior to salvation.
6. When you say you love your country, we can understand what that means.

The doctrine of the justice of God is covered here.

Love the brethren is a mental attitude. Do not count upon God being sentimental about you. God cannot be God if He is emotional about us. God's attributes cannot be compromised. We either adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God adjusts to us.

The divine genius is God finding a way to bless sinful man apart from any damage to His character.

The self righteous gentile is righteous without the Law; and the self righteous Jew is righteous with the Law. This is a delusion.

Bob reviews the Self Righteous Legalist.

For you who keeps on judging, you practice the same things.

Judgment, by One Man Over Other Men

1. There is the woman caught in adultery by the pharisees in John 8. This woman has been caught in adultery. Jesus says, "He who is without sin, let him be the first one to cast a stone."
2. Imperfect people are not qualified to judge other imperfect people. Sinful people are not qualified to judge sinful people.
3. There are two exceptions to this:
 - a. a pastor teacher communicating doctrine is the judge of the individual life of the royal priest in the sense that he communicates doctrine. When anyone gets out of line with regard to intruding into the privacy and the rights of other members of the congregation the pastor-teacher certainly has the right of judgment;
 - b. anything in the laws of establishment where authority exists. Parents have a right to judge their children. Husband over wife. Senior officers have a right to judge those under their command. Officers in a company or business organization have the right to judge those who work for them. The judge on the bench has the right to function in the sphere of criminal law and justice.

4. Because sinful people are not qualified to judge sinful people judging is a verbal sin.
5. Judging also reflects reversionism, especially self-righteous and legalistic type reversionism.
6. Whether moral or immoral, believer or unbeliever, every member of the human race possesses and old sin nature.
7. The self-righteous person is often confused by different manifestations of personal sins, giving greater condemnation to some over others. The self-righteous person generally does not know much about sin categorically. All he knows is that there are certain temptations to which he would never acquiesce, and there are certain things where he fails, but he always compares in his rationalization his strengths with someone else's weaknesses.
8. Where one's area of weakness is compatible with morality or human standards of righteousness there is a temptation to judge those who have different standards.
9. There are those who harshly judge others because they have a different set of weaknesses.
10. Therefore much of compatibility in life is a pseudo compatibility because it is compatibility of old sin natures.
11. All personal sin originates from the same source, the old sin nature. Environment and early influence develops a set of standards in the human conscience which are used to judge others who do not comply with those standards.
12. Environment and early influences develops a set of standards, which may or may not be correct (that is, line up with divine establishment).
13. This can be especially true of those who grow up in a Christian home or come from the environment of a legalistic church.
14. Self-righteousness is a rationalization, comparing one's own strengths with another person's weaknesses.

Bob continues these points, but they are found here: Self-righteousness Principles \(review\)
This takes us to v. 2. Starting with the norm or standard of God.

Romans 2:2a For we have come to know that the judicial verdict from the God is according to the truth (= doctrine)...

God's Essence When Dealing with Man

1. Doctrine is the thinking of God. There was never a time when God did not know everything. The sooner we understand God, the better off we will be.
2. God's knowledge is perfect, complete and unimprovable. God's knowledge is perfect; and He has never learned anything.
3. Doctrine is part of God's knowledge. Man learns the truth, man speaks the truth; God is the truth.

4. God does not see truth as something to learn or perceive.
5. All truth dwells in God in absolute state.
6. God's judgments are therefore perfect. God loves His righteousness. He will not tolerate anyone else unless they line up with His righteousness. When we have God's righteousness, then we are in God's direct line of blessing or cursing. God will not change His justice for anyone. There are no privileged persons with God.
7. Righteousness is the divine love for holiness and justice is divine hatred for sin.
8. Righteousness and justice combine to form God's integrity.
9. Infinite holiness towards other beings results the justice of God.
10. Righteousness demands righteousness; justice demands justice. God cannot change.
11. God punishes sin.
12. God's judgments are not vindictive but vindicating.
13. With unchangeable sin, there is unchangeable judgment and condemnation.
14. This is why the justice of God is so important, the key to understanding God.
15. God in grace provides all that He demands. God did not fail us. Psalm 85:10
16. Grace is a blending of justice and doctrine and divine love.
17. Grace meets the terms of divine justice on the cross.

Romans 2:2 For we have come to know that the judicial verdict from the God is according to the truth (= doctrine) against them who practice similar things.

Then we went to The Holiness of God — Summary

Romans 2:3 And do you presume this, O Man, who judges those who practice similar things, and are guilty of the same things, that you will escape the judicial verdict from the God?

Bob reviews: The Self Righteous Man of Romans 1–2

Bob reviews: Summary of Romans 2:3

1977 Romans

Lesson #41

41 02/24/1977 Romans 2:4 The 36 things; 3 anthropopathisms re salvation

Love, the attribute of God is not the same as love, the anthropopathism.

Romans 2:4 Or do you despise the riches of His kindness and forbearance and patience, not knowing that the kindness of God leads you to repentance?

Verse 4 – the negative volition of self-righteousness portrayed, or the principle of maladjustment to the justice of God. “Or despisest thou” begins with a disjunctive particle, ê (ñ) [pronounced ā]), which separates objects which are mutually exclusive. Here we have a separation between the judgment of God in the previous verse and blessing from the justice of God mentioned in this verse. In this verse we have blessing from the justice of God. In verse 3 we have condemnation from the justice of God.

With this disjunctive particle is the present active indicative from the compound verb kataphronéō (καταφρονέω) [pronounced kat-af-ron-EH-oh] [kata = down; phroneō (φρονέω) [pronounced fron-EH-oh] = to think] which means to think down, to despise, to scorn, to treat with contempt, to care nothing for, to disregard, to think lightly, to have wrong ideas about someone or something. Several meanings are pertinent here. The verb actually connotes disparagement, and to disparage means to lower in rank or estimation by word or action. It means to speak slightly of; it means diminution of esteem, depreciation, detraction. “Or do you disparage?” – meaning to treat with contempt, to care nothing for. The present tense is retroactive progressive present, it denotes what has begun in the past at the point of God-consciousness and continues into the present, the point of gospel hearing. The active voice: the self-righteous person produces the action of the verb, namely disparagement, diminution, detraction, etc. The indicative mood is the interrogative indicative in which the viewpoint of reality is implied in a fact enquired about. The indicative is used in asking a question.

“the riches” is an objective genitive singular from ploutos (πλοῦτος) [pronounced PLOO-toss]. The root of this word in the Sanskrit, pl, means to flow, to fill, or to be full. From this comes ploutos (πλοῦτος) [pronounced PLOO-toss], used here and elsewhere for all the blessings (in at least five different categories) which come to us from the justice of God. The adjective plousios (πλούσιος) [pronounced PLOO-see-oss] means wealthy and rich. The verbs are plouteō (πλουτέω) [pronounced ploo-TEH-o], which means to become rich, and ploutízō (πλουτίζω) [pronounced ploo-TIHD-zo] which means to make rich.

This word goes back to Homer; and it means to be wealthy, to be an aristocrat. A little commerce in the Greek culture changed this to simply refer to those who were wealthy, but not necessarily an aristocrat (this could refer to a smart businessman). It almost came to mean in the Attic Greek a capacity for life. It eventually refers to a happy life living in a certain order. Receiving blessings from the gods. Paul uses this word to refer to blessings from the justice of God.

This refers here to all who call upon Him, with is salvation adjustment to the justice of God. We begin to receive riches at the point that we call upon Him. The justice of God is kept intact because we meet God’s requirements.

This is salvation maladjustment of the unbeliever reversionist described in principle. He disparages or treats with contempt the wonderful blessings which come to him at the point of salvation. The pertinent blessings include 36 different items.

When we adjust to God’s justice; we share in God’s plan. This means that God’s righteousness has approved our place in God’s plan. We are foreknown, we are chosen, we are elected and we are called. We are nailed down completely and totally with five nails, based upon His foreknowledge. In eternity past, God knew all about our depravity.

Do you think you surprised God? No doubt you have fooled one person in the past; but you cannot fool God.

People rock along and think that they have not sinned for a very long time, but often, you have just changed your brand of sinning. God retains His integrity through His justice.

God's knowledge is never increased; His justice is never improved. God is able to have all of us in His plan.

If you knew what a stinker Bob was; or he knew what a stinker we are, we'd never get back together again. God is able to put us in His plan despite our many imperfections.

We will probably commit sins in our future lives, and we may shock ourselves, but we will not shock God. We will never make God unhappy. He has never been unhappy.

The key to our relationship with God is His justice. I suddenly realized that Bob was giving the 36 things provided at salvation. I could not find that list, but I found the 40 things.

Forty Things God Provides Every Believer at the Moment of Salvation

Compiled by Lewis Sperry Chafer Revised by R. B. Thieme, Jr.

1. The believer resides in the eternal plan of God. (He shares the destiny of Christ) We are:
 - a. Foreknown: (Acts 2:23; Rom 8:29; 1Pe 1:2)
 - b. Elected: (Rom 8:33; Col 3:12; 1Th 1:4; Tit 1:1)
 - c. Predestined: (Rom 8:29-30; Eph 1:5; Eph 1:11; 1Pe 1:2)
 - d. Chosen: (Matt 22:14; 1Pe 2:4)
 - e. Called: (1Th 5:24)
2. The believer is reconciled (Removal of the barrier between man and God) We have to be reconciled to God; He does not have to reconcile Himself to us. We are an offense to God from birth forward.
 - a. By God: (2Co 5:18-19; Col 1:20)
 - b. To God: (Rom 5:10; 2Co 5:20; Eph 2:14-17)
3. The third thing that we receive is redemption. We are born inside of the slave market of sin. We have to be free in order to purchase freedom. Jesus is outside of the slave market of sin, so He is able to purchase our freedom. The believer is redeemed (Purchased from the slave market of sin): (Rom 3:24; Col 1:14; 1Pe 1:18)
4. The believer's condemnation, (Eternal judgment in the Lake of fire) is removed: (John 3:18; John 5:24; Rom 8:1)
5. All sins are judged by the substitutionary Spiritual death of Christ on the cross: (Rom 4:25; Eph 1:7; 1Pe 2:24) Laying your life down for another is human love; and this is followed by the anthropopathism of God's love.
6. Every believer receives propitiation for sins (God satisfied with the work of His Son): (Rom 3:25-26; 1Jn 2:2; 1Jn 4:10)

7. The believer is dead to the old life, (The old sin nature) but alive to God (Retroactive positional Truth)
 - a. He is Crucified with Christ: (Rom 6:6; Gal 2:20)
 - b. Dead with Christ: (Rom 6:8; Col 3:3; 1Pe 2:24)
 - c. Buried with Christ: (Rom 6:4; Col 2:12)
 - d. Raised with Christ: (Rom 6:4; Col 3:1)
8. The believer is free from the Mosaic Law. He is
 - a. Dead: (Rom 7:4)
 - b. Delivered: (Rom 6:14; Rom 7:6; 2Co 3:6-11; Gal 3:25)
9. The believer is regenerated: (John 13:10; 1Co 6:11; Tit 3:5) The justice of God demand this regeneration as a part of the relationship.
 - a. He is born again: (John 3:7; 1Pe 1:23)
 - b. A child of God: (Gal 3:26)
 - c. A son of God: (John 1:12; 2Co 6:18; 1Jn 3:2)
 - d. A new creation: (2Co 5:17; Gal 6:15; Eph 2:10)
10. The believer is adopted by God (Placed as adult sons because of positional Truth): (Rom 8:15; Rom 8:23; (Future) Eph 1:5)
11. The believer is made acceptable to God: (Eph 1:6; 1Pe 2:5)
 - a. He is made righteous: (Imputation) (Rom 3:22; 1Co 1:30; 2Co 5:21; Php 3:9)
 - b. Sanctified positionally: (1Co 1:30; 1Co 6:11)
 - c. Perfected forever: (Heb 10:14)
 - d. Qualified for inheritance: (Col 1:12)
12. The believer is justified (Declared righteous): (Rom 3:24; Rom 5:1; Rom 5:9; Rom 8:30; 1Co 6:11; Tit 3:7)
13. The believer receives the unique availability of Divine power: (2Pe 1:3)
14. The believer is guaranteed a heavenly citizenship based on reconciliation: (Luk 10:20; Eph 2:13; Eph 2:19; Php 3:20)
15. The believer is delivered from the kingdom of Satan: (Col 1:13; Col 2:15)
16. The believer is transferred into God's kingdom: (Col 1:13)
17. The believer is now on a secure foundation: (1Co 3:11; 1Co 10:4; Eph 2:20)
18. Every believer is a gift from God the Father to Christ: (John 10:29; John 17:2; John 17:6; John 17:9; John 17:11-12; John 17:24)
19. The believer is delivered from the power of the sin nature: (Rom 2:29; Php 3:3; Col 2:11)
20. Every believer is appointed a priest unto God. We are:
 - a. A holy priesthood: (1Pe 2:5)
 - b. A royal priesthood: (1Pe 2:9; Rev 1:6)
21. The believer receives eternal security: (Rom 8:32; Rom 8:38-39; Gal 3:26; 2Ti 2:13)
22. The believer is given access to God: (Rom 5:2; Eph 2:18; Heb 4:14; Heb 4:16; Heb 10:19-20)
23. Every believer is within the "much more" grace care of God: (Rom 5:9-10)

- a. We are: Objects of His love: Eph 2:4; Eph 5:2;
 - b. Objects of His grace (1) For salvation: Eph 2:8-9; (2) For keeping: (Rom 5:2; 1Pe 1:5) (3) For service: (John 17:18; Eph 4:7) (4) For instruction: (Tit 2:12)
 - c. Objects of His power: (Eph 1:19; Php 2:13)
 - d. Objects of His faithfulness: (Php 1:6; Heb 13:5)
 - e. Objects of His peace: (John 14:27)
 - f. Objects of His consolation: (2Th 2:16)
 - g. Objects of His intercession: (Rom 8:34; Heb 7:25; Heb 9:24)
24. The believer is beneficiary of an inheritance as heirs of God and joint-heirs with Christ: (Rom 8:17; Eph 1:14; Eph 1:18; Col 3:24; Heb 9:15; (1Pe 1:4)
 25. Every believer has a new position in Christ: (Eph 2:6)
 - a. We are partners with Christ in life: (Col 3:4)
 - b. Partners with Christ in service: (1Co 1:9) (1) Workers together with God: (1Co 3:9; 2Co 6:1) (2) Ministers of the New Covenant: (2Co 3:6) (3) Ambassadors: (2Co 5:20) (4) Living epistles: (2Co 3:3) (5) Ministers of God: (2Co 6:4)
 26. Believers are recipients of eternal life: (John 3:15; John 10:28; John 20:31; 1Jn 5:11-12)
 27. The believer is created a new Spiritual species: (2Co 5:17)
 28. The believer is a light in the Lord (Part of the angelic conflict): (Eph 5:8; 1Th 5:4)
 29. The believer is united with the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. We are:
 - a. In God: (1Th 1:1; cf., "God in you," Eph 4:6)
 - b. In Christ: (John 14:20; cf., "Christ in you," Col 1:27) (1) A member in His Body: (1Co 12:13) (2) A branch in the Vine: (John 15:5) (3) A stone in the Building: (Eph 2:21-22; 1Pe 2:5) (4) A sheep in the Flock: (John 10:27-29) (5) A portion of His Bride: (Eph 5:25-27; Rev 19:6-8) (6) A priest of the kingdom of priests: (1Pe 2:9) (7) A saint of the "new species:" (2Co 5:17) In the Holy Spirit: (Rom 8:9) "the Spirit in you."
 30. Every believer is the recipient of the ministries of the Holy Spirit. He is
 - a. Born of the Spirit: (John 3:36)
 - b. Baptized with the Spirit: (Acts 1:5; 1Co 12:13)
 - c. Indwelt by the Spirit: (John 7:39; Rom 5:5; Rom 8:9; 1Co 3:16; (1Co 6:19; Gal 4:6; 1Jn 3:24)
 - d. Sealed by the Spirit: (2Co 1:22; Eph 4:30)
 - e. Given Spiritual gifts: (1Co 12:11; 1Co 12:27-31; 1Co 13:1-2)
 31. The believer is glorified: (Rom 8:30)
 32. The believer is complete in Christ: (Col 2:10)
 33. The believer is possessor of every Spiritual blessing granted in eternity past: (Ephesians 1:3)
 34. The believer receives a human spirit (The basis for Operation Z, along with the Holy Spirit): (Rom 8:16; 1Co 2:12; 2Co 7:13; 1Th 5:23)
 35. The believer has scar tissue removed from the soul: (Isa 43:25; Isa 44:22)

36. The believer is the recipient of efficacious grace: (Eph 1:13)
37. The believer is guaranteed a resurrection body forever: (John 11:25)
38. The believer is the beneficiary of unlimited atonement: (2Co 5:14-15; (2Co 5:19; 1Ti 2:6; 1Ti 4:10; Tit 2:11; Heb 2:9; 2Pe 2:1; 1Jn 2:2)
39. The believer has equal privilege and equal opportunity under election and predestination.
40. The ten problem-solving devices are available to every believer. They are
 - a. Rebound: (1Jn 1:9)
 - b. Filling of the Holy Spirit: (Eph 5:18)
 - c. Faith-rest drill: (Heb 4:1; Heb 4:10-11)
 - d. Grace orientation: (Jas 4:6)
 - e. Doctrinal orientation: (Rom 12:2)
 - f. Personal sense of destiny: (Php 1:21)
 - g. Personal love for God: (Deut 6:5; 1Pe 1:8)
 - h. Impersonal love for all mankind: (Jas 2:8)
 - i. Sharing the happiness of God, +H: (John 15:11)
 - j. Occupation with Christ: (Eph 3:19)

This was taken from Faith Life Sermons on July 20, 2022. I could not find the “36 things list”, but I was able to find the forty things. The doctrine above is more detailed than what Bob gave, but it is close.

Now we will deal with 3 anthropopathisms.

“of his goodness” – the descriptive genitive singular from the noun chrēstótēs (χρηστότης) [pronounced kh-ray-STOT-ace] which connotes God’s gracious attitude and acts toward sinners. God’s gracious attitude is based on His justice. The same gracious attitude that God has toward one member of the human race He has toward all members of the human race. We have a good idea of that from the doctrine of unlimited atonement applied. Chrēstótēs (χρηστότης) [pronounced kh-ray-STOT-ace] expresses comprehensive fullness of eternal salvation, so it is a common equivalent to charis (χάρις) [pronounced KHAHR-ic]; in other words, for grace. “Or do you disparage the riches of his kindness?” Kindness is a human characteristic ascribed to God so that we can understand the divine attitude at salvation. The word “kindness” can also mean generosity. It is manifest in the doctrine of propitiation whereby the justice of God is free to save anyone who believes in Jesus Christ. There is also a possessive genitive singular from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS], employed as a possessive pronoun, so we translate “of his gracious generosity” or “of his kindness.”

You do not spoil your children with things as long as you do not withhold discipline from them. The key is justice, and justice produces kindness.

“and forbearance” – a descriptive genitive singular from anochê (ἀνοχή) [pronounced an-okh-AY]. While the anthropopathism “kindness” is easy to understand in human frame of reference related to the essence of God, anochê (ἀνοχή) [pronounced an-okh-AY], meaning holding back, delay or forbearance is not as easy until we use something that represents an anthropopathism; and the word is “clemency.” Clemency means a disposition, to be merciful, an act of compassion or mercy. Clemency is related to divine justice and propitiation. It is seen in the restraint of divine judgment allowing everyone an opportunity of salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Clemency is directed toward the human race in the continuation of history. The fact that many people reject Christ as saviour does not diminish or destroy the opportunity of others. That is clemency, since Christ died for all. God does not destroy the entire human race because some members of the human race reject Christ, and therefore are maladjusted. The existence of the unbeliever reversionist or heathenism in history does not infer total destruction of the human race. That’s clemency. History moves on in spite of negative volition at God-conscious and at gospel hearing, and in spite of heathenistic degeneracy and maximum evil. That is clemency.

“and longsuffering” – a descriptive genitive singular from makrothumia (μακροθυμία) [pronounced mak-roth-oo-MEE-ah] which means patience toward others. The key to makrothumia (μακροθυμία) [pronounced mak-roth-oo-MEE-ah] is found in the works of Strabo. He wrote a book called “Geographica” where the word is used for a desperate patience in the extreme emergency of a siege. No stone was left unturned to avoid the inevitable end of the siege—violence, slavery and destruction. The tremendous way in which they staved off destruction and held off the enemy is called makrothumia (μακροθυμία) [pronounced mak-roth-oo-MEE-ah]. It means to use every possible bit of ingenuity, every scheme, plan, trap, tactic that will defeat the enemy. This helps us to understand the anthropopathism. It ascribes to God a desperate patience to stave off judging us. He uses every plan, apart from compromising His integrity, to stave off judgment. God cannot do this to compromise his justice.

Aritasius Medicus was a physician in the Roman empire in the 2nd century, close to the time of Paul writing. This is the endurance of the doctor trying something to preserve the life and produce a cure (to stave off death). That is the patience of the physician. God’s patience is not swayed by human emotion. Call it desperate patience, where the physician tries anything and everything to save the patient.

“not knowing that” – present active participle of agnoeô (ἀγνοέω) [pronounced ag-noh-EH-oh] [a = negative; noéô (νοέω) [pronounced noh-EH-oh] = not to know, to be ignorant], translated “being ignorant” or “not knowing.” The present tense is a customary present, it denotes what habitually occurs in unbeliever reversionism. The active voice: the self-righteous reversionist produces the action of the verb.

Plus the conjunction hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee], used after verbs of perception or non-perception, to show the non-perception in this case.

“the goodness of God” – nominative neuter singular from the definite article to denote a previous reference. It merely indicates that we have had chrēstótēs (χρηστότης) [pronounced kh-ray-STOT-ace] in this verse before. Then we have the nominative neuter singular of chrēstótēs (χρηστότης) [pronounced khray-STOT-ace]. Here the adjective is used as a substantive and it refers again to the kindness of God, the gracious act of God in not destroying the sinner without using every possibility to bless the sinner through justice. Plus the possessive genitive of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] because this kindness as an anthropopathism is ascribed to God. The definite article is used with the proper name of God to make it clear that God is well known to us as those studying the passage.

“leadeth thee” – present active indicative from the verb ágō (ἄγω) [pronounced AHG-oh], which means to lead, to bring, to take along. Here it means “brings you.” This is a tendencial present tense used as an action which is not taking place but represents the idea of that which is intended. God intends to save everyone, but it doesn’t always work that way because people have free will and they can say no to the justice of God, they can reject possessing God’s righteousness which God loves with a perfect love. So that which tends toward reality is the connotation of the tendencial present. Here the grace or kindness of God having the tendency or the intent to bring the unbeliever to instant salvation adjustment to the justice of God is the picture. This is what God intends, but this is not what is happening in context. The active voice: the kindness of God produces the action of the verb in principle but not in reality. The indicative mood is the potential indicative, depending on the volition of the individual at the point of gospel hearing or any time, as long as he is still alive. There is also the accusative singular direct object from the personal pronoun su. With this is a prepositional phrase.

“to repentance” – eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative singular from metánoia (μετάνοια) [pronounced met-AHN-oy-ah]. It means a complete change of mind, also conversion. It emphasizes salvation from the standpoint of volition.

Romans 2:4 Or do you disparage the riches of his gracious generosity and clemency and patience; not knowing that the kindness of the God brings you to conversion.

1977 Romans

Lesson #42

42 02/25/1977 Romans 2 Doctrine of repentance (revised, 6 pts.)

There is something wrong with American thinking; it is not American and it is not thinking. The scum of the earth has accumulated due to welfare. Bob thinks that we are going to war in a few months. Every young man ought to desire to serve his country in the military, in peace time, and, if necessary, willing to die in wartime.

The only way to stop the Soviet Union is to be prepared in every way. The Macnamara group did not build up our conventional military defenses. Everything is designed to get the infantry to the right spot at the right time.

We are a free people tonite because of our military. Only 19% of people today are free. The Soviet Union has develop everything necessary. They needed to know how trucks are made, and we provided them with that (GM? Ford?).

Because of detente and because of liberalism and because we misunderstand the love of God, we are in a jam today. Our survival depends on several factors, like the size of the pivot when the balloon goes up.

People took the word love from John 3:16 and they live in a fantasy world. But that is an anthropopathism. Human love is ascribed to God. God does not have love as a part of His essence. Human love is sentimental; but God's love is not. God has been love from the beginning; and He has always been perfect. God is not sentimental. When the balloon goes up, don't cry to God or say, "How can you do this to me?" Love1 is primarily an internal factor. God's integrity is made up of His justice and His righteousness.

Sin is an offense to the righteousness of God. And we have all sinned; and we were born with the imputation of God's righteousness. There is no way that the love of God can have any contact with man. We must be able to distinguish between love1 and love2. It is because of misunderstanding this, we have the Jesus freaks and weirdos. We have soft and idiotic people.

God loves His righteousness so much, so He can only look at our sins and say, "Condemned."

People do not know what integrity is because they do not understand holiness. The justice of God is free to give salvation to any person who makes instant adjustment to the justice of God. Once we make instant adjustment to the justice of God, we continue. Primary zone of blessing, we please God; secondary zone of blessing is glorification of God.

God's objective is to bless us. Since God loves His righteousness, He cannot have a relationship with sinful man.

Every time a person is negative toward God's Word, there is a reaction. He thinks his own righteousness will get him into heaven. The unbeliever will be judged on the basis of his works and be condemned. Always, the human race deals with the justice of God.

Self-righteousness is an affront to common sense.

Summary Points

1. Arrogance of self-righteousness blinds the unbeliever to the grace of God.
2. Self-righteousness is the superimposition of human standards over divine standards and human plans over the divine decrees.
3. Both God's essence and His plan.
4. Self-righteousness is a self-centered negative attitude excluding everyone who does not agree with your standards. Many justify themselves by public opinion.
5. Self-righteous rejection of Christ when hearing the gospel, results in punitive action from the justice of God.
6. Maladjustment adjustment to the justice of God produces heathenism.

7. This produces the next verse, the judgment of self-righteousness. God never bends in any way. God can never compromise His essence.

The Doctrine of Repentance

A. Definition.

1. The Greek transitive verb metanoéō (μετανοέω) [pronounced meh-tah-noh-EH-oh] means to change one's thinking, or to change the mind. This is a 180 degree change of thinking.
2. The cognate noun metánoia (μετάνοια) [pronounced met-AHN-oy-ah], Romans 2:4, means a change of mind, a conversion, a turning away. Doctrinal viewpoint changes every bit of human viewpoint you've learned. Common in Koine Greek; but not found much in Classical Greek.
3. All of us repented at the moment of salvation.
4. Repentance connotes a decision based on mentality, not emotion. It is rational.
5. The Hebrew verb nâcham (נָחַם) [pronounced naw-KHAHM] means to change the mind.
6. When witnessing, you only give information, you do not try to get the unbeliever to "repent." That is the function of God the Holy Spirit using the Gospel information you have provided. God the Holy Spirit will encourage them to change their mind about Christ, you just get the correct information out to them.
7. Repentance is a theological concept we study to explain the mechanics which occur at salvation.

B. The Definitive use of Repentance.

1. Ex 13:17. The Jews were not mentally prepared to fight for their freedom. God knew they would change their minds, say that slavery is better, and attempt to go back to Egypt, if they saw war coming. So here repentance means to come up to a new set of facts, be influenced by these facts rationally, and then to retreat. The shortest shot for Israel to take would be to cross the negev and then head north. But they would have come across the Greeks. Philistia had universal military training. Most of what they learned took place in 10–15 years of service and then working their way out of it gradually. If these people saw warfare, they would have changed their minds and return to slavery. Had they gone this northerly route, they would have repented about being free and wanted to return to slavery.
2. Jer 8:3-6 (Death shall be preferred to life by all the remnant that remains of this evil family in all the places where I have driven them, declares the LORD of hosts. "You shall say to them, Thus says the LORD: When men fall, do they not rise again? If one turns away, does he not return? Why then has this people turned away in perpetual backsliding? They hold fast to deceit; they refuse to return. I have paid attention and listened, but they have not spoken rightly; no man relents of his evil, saying, 'What have I done?' Everyone turns to his own course, like a horse charging into battle.), speaking of Judah. When you fail, you don't quit or give up. You get up and move on. When a person doesn't repent with regard to salvation (unbeliever), or Bible doctrine (believer), then your lifestyle is out of control due to evil in your life.

C. Salvation Repentance or Believing in Christ.

1. Salvation repentance is that change of mind which follows perception of epignosis Gospel.
2. The inhale is the principle of common grace, in which the Holy Spirit takes the message of the witness and makes it a reality in the mentality of the unbeliever.
3. The unbeliever cannot understand spiritual phenomena, 1 Cor 2:14.
4. Therefore the Holy Spirit acts as the human spirit in the epignosis perception of the Gospel, Jn 16:8-11; 2 Tim 2:25.
5. After epignosis perception, positive volition expresses itself in a change of mental attitude: faith in Christ. Faith in Christ and repentance are two sides of the same coin. A change in mental attitude about the person and work of Christ equals repentance.
6. Repentance results in the exhale of faith in Jesus Christ, salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Mt 1:14-15 teaches that first you change your mind about Christ and then you believe; Mt 12:41; Lk 13:2-3, 5, 15:7, 10; Acts 17:30, 20:21 (ascensive use of KAI means even), 26:20; Rom 2:4; Heb 12:17 (For you know that afterward, when he desired to inherit the blessing, he was rejected, for he found no chance to repent, though he sought it with tears.). God was not impressed by tears because Esau would not go through God's justice.
7. Emotion never saves anyone. Feeling sorry for your sins does not save you, only faith in Christ saves you. Esau built up a system of self-righteousness and emotion which he thought would save him. Since Esau would not be saved God's way he was given no opportunity for blessing.
8. 2Peter 3:9, God is "not willing for any to perish but for all to come to repentance.

D. Acceleration of spiritual momentum demands repentance toward human good, Hebrews 6:1.

1. Human good is dead to the plan and policy of God, Gen 2:17. Dead works are those produced in the cosmic system.
2. Human good is linked with arrogance and produces boasting, Ephesians 2:9; Rom 4:2.
3. Human good is never acceptable to God, Isaiah 64:6.
4. Human good will not save man, Ephesians 2:8-9.
5. Unbeliever human good will be judged, Revelation 20:12-15.
6. The believer's human good will be judged at the Judgment Seat of Christ, 1Corinthians 3:11-16; Rom 5:10; 2Corinthians 5:10.
7. A change of attitude about sin is taught in Revelation 2:5, 16, 22.

- E. A change of attitude toward doctrine is the basis of reversion recovery, Rom 2:5; Rev 3:19.
- F. The Anthropopathism of Repentance.
1. An anthropopathism ascribes to God a human characteristic He does not possess, but explains divine policy in terms of human frame of reference. God never changes His mind, but is said to in such passages as Genesis 6:6; Exodus 32:11-14; 1Sam 15:35; Psalm 90:11-13; Jer 26:3, 13.
 2. God is immutable and doesn't change. Therefore these passages describe God's judgment in human frame of reference. Bob stopped here.
- G. Metamélomai.(μεταμέλομαι) [pronounced meh-tah-MEH-loh-my] versus metanoóō (μετανοέω) [pronounced meh-tah-noh-EH-oh].
1. Metamélomai.(μεταμέλομαι) [pronounced meh-tah-MEH-loh-my] should be translated regret, never repent, because it has an emotional connotation. It means to feel sorry for something you've done.
 2. It is used for regretting a previous action, Mt 21:29.
 3. It is used for the attitude of Judas Iscariot, Mt 27:3. He regretted what he had done to our Lord, but he never repented, he never believed in our Lord for salvation.
 4. It is used for God having no regrets about saving people and giving spiritual gifts in the Church Age, Rom 11:29.
 5. The Father has no regrets regarding the appointment of Jesus Christ as our High Priest, Heb 7:21

2/25/77; Rev 2:5 2/19/82

c 1989, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

Many of you came to Berachah as peaceniks and hippies. But most of you have had your thinking turned completely around. That means, you have done some repenting. Doctrine tells you that it is right to go to war and you will be the best killer in your outfit. You will be able to fulfill your job in the correct way. This is a change of mind based on mentality and not on emotion.

You decide to marry someone and then you change your mind; and that is repentance. Emotion has nothing to do with this. Repentance is based upon a decision based upon rational thinking.

Our think as Americans has been toward security rather than toward freedom. That is the problem of where we are today. Russia hold over us an air force superior to ours and they have 200 divisions. They have come to an agreement with the Chicombs because the Chicombs have no respect for the United States today. They would love to see the United States and Russia in an all out war. This way, they can steal all of the resources of Africa. They recognize how important Africa is.

If you are knocked down, but still alive, then you repent. You get up and you go at it again, as God still has a plan for you.

1977 Romans

Lesson #43

43 02/27/1977 Romans 2:5a Love 1 & 2; doctrine of scar tissue of the soul (revised)

The least understood attribute of God is His love. The reason for this is, we find the anthropomorphism of love found throughout the Bible. We rarely find the attribute of love. Even those without a capacity for love have a good idea about what love is. People seem to all have some frame of reference for love.

This understanding of God's love is distorted by the person who considers God a genie, thinking that, if he asks for something enough, God will respond out of love.

God's love is internal; He loves Himself and His attributes. On a human level, that would be seen as absolute egotism and subjectivity. But this is not true of God and His love.

Righteousness is the watchdog for justice; and justice is the watchdog for all of God's essence.

Divine love is something which we never see. The only way that we can have any contact with God is, God judged all of our sins in His Son.

All blessing and cursing has one source, and that is God's justice. The justice of God provides for us salvation, but He does not force it upon us. God, at salvation, gives us 36 things; and they are irrevocable assets.

In Romans 1, we have the gentile who has developed his own system of justice; and we have the Jew who has the Law given to him for an understanding of righteousness.

There is the initial adjustment to the justice of God, which is salvation. There is the temporal adjustment to the justice of God, which is rebound.

The gospel includes many different doctrines: soteriology, Christology and hamartiology.

Romans 2:5 But because of your hardness and unrepentant heart, you are treasuring up to yourself wrath in the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgement of God,...

Have you noticed that there are people in your periphery who are always judging and maligning. This gives them some sort of security for their own system of self-righteousness. They judge, taking God's prerogative.

Verse 5 – "But after they hardness and impenitent heart." There are at least two major categories of doctrine here to consider.

The unbeliever lacks a human spirit; so they cannot understand spiritual phenomena. The Holy Spirit acts as the human spirit and allows them to understand the gospel message, for some period of time. If he is positive, he will exhale faith in Christ. If he is negative, the vacuum will open up in his soul. This is a suction pump which pulls in evil.

This begins with a postpositive conjunctive particle de, used to set up a contrast between the grace of God in the previous verse and the reversionistic status of the unbeliever in this verse. In the first 16 verses of this chapter it is a Gentile in this status and in the rest of the passage it is a Jew. The Jew and the Gentile must be covered separately because the Gentile does this minus the law; the Jew does this with the law. But here we have a person who has rejected epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel and is now asking God to accept his own righteousness.

“after thy hardness” – kata plus the accusative of sklêrotês (σκληρότης) [pronounced sklay-ROHT-ace] which actually means stubbornness or hardness and it connotes scar tissue. When you are stubborn for a long time you develop a callous, but this is not a callous on the epidermis, it is in a more critical place in the right lobe of the soul,^[1] and.^[2]

The Doctrine below is close to the doctrine given here by Bob, but not exactly the same. Most of the points are there, but in a different order.

Doctrine of Scar Tissue of the Soul

A. Definition and Description.

1. Scar tissue of the soul, also known as hardness of the heart, is the result of prolonged residence and function inside the cosmic system. It is one of the steps in prolonged negative volition. He is given truth and he can accept or reject it; but when you say no to the truth, the scar tissue is increasing. This is happening in the United States. There are unbelievers who keep rejecting the gospel; and there are believers who keep on reject the truth of Bible doctrine. The more that you say no, the greater scar tissue builds up on the soul.
2. There is generally a logical retrogression in which blackout of the soul precedes scar tissue of the soul, or is coterminous with it.
3. What blackout of the soul is to the left lobe of the soul, scar tissue of the soul is to the right lobe. Blackout of the soul is the believer saying no to doctrine, which opens a vacuum in the left lobe that draws in false concepts. There is a pseudo function of GAP in the cosmic system. Scar tissue of the soul is this false information being processed in the believer's frame of reference, his norms and standards, vocabulary center, memory center, and is the basis for application to life
4. Negative volition, expressed by gate two of cosmic one or gate one of cosmic two, creates the vacuum in the left lobe called mataiotês (ματαιότης) [pronounced mat-ah-YOHT-ace]. This is when the negative volition is an automatic rejection to the truth of God. Blackout of the soul + scar tissue = hardness of the heart.

5. The solution for the believer is rebound and to take in Bible doctrine.
 6. Blackout of the soul then spreads like a disease and results in the right lobe malady of scar tissue of the soul. Scar tissue of the soul has a detrimental effect on every part of the soul. The cosmic system always stimulates the emotion. This is how people become deluded. This is how people can be good conservatives when they come to Washington and they become as bad as any liberal.
 - a. Scar tissue of the soul results in loss of perceptive ability in the frame of reference. The believer with scar tissue of the soul can listen to doctrine every day and still react and remain in ignorance.
 - b. In his memory center he forgets what doctrine he learned and cannot apply doctrine. His momentum is stopped.
 - c. In his vocabulary storage all technical language related to perception and application is gradually destroyed.
 - d. In his categorical storage scar tissue of the soul destroys categorical doctrinal understanding, such as the rationales used in the second stage of the faith-rest drill.
 - e. Scar tissue of the soul destroys the norms and standards related to the three categories of truth, thus wiping out the conscience. Loss of norms and standards motivates the believer to function under the plan of Satan.
 - f. In the launching pad scar tissue of the soul destroys all application of doctrine and the modus operandi of impersonal love. Scar tissue of the soul is a guarantee of the destruction of true love. Personal love cannot survive without the integrity of impersonal love.
 7. Scar tissue of the soul is that spiritual malady of involvement in the cosmic system resulting in total loss of momentum, and eventuating in the most awful discipline from God.
 8. The Greek word for hardness of the heart is found in Mark 3:5 and Ephesians 4:18. The noun is pôrôsis (πώρωσις) [pronounced POH-roh-sis] and the verb is pôroô (πωρόω) [pronounced pon-ROH-oh], which means "to petrify" or "to harden."
 9. In the Romans series, there is a different series of steps given.
- B. Relation between blackout of the soul and scar tissue of the soul is found in Ephesians 4:17-18. Therefore, I communicate this and because of the Lord I insist that you no longer walk as Gentiles walk, in the vacuum of their mind [the suction pump which sucks in false information], having become darkened in their way of thinking [blackout of the soul], having been alienated from the life of God, because of the ignorance that is in them, because of the scar tissue of their right lobe. This has everything in it, including reverse process reversionism.
- C. 2Thessalonians 2:10 With all deception of maladjustment (salvation maladjustment) for those who perish, because they did not receive the love of doctrine so as to be saved. They love their own righteousness more than God's righteousness. 2Thessalonians 2:11 And for this reason, God sends to them a deluding influence, with the result that they might believe the lie. Believing the lie is accepting evil as truth. 2Thessalonians 2:12 In order that they might all be judged [historical disaster, personal disaster, great condemnation from the justice of God] who did not believe the doctrine but took pleasure in maladjustment. We are the dog returning to its vomit; we are like a nation living off vomit; that is our thinking today. We are a whole nation of dogs returning to vomit. Our forebearers came to the United States with the idea of freedom. They were breaking away from the tyranny of Europe. We are going right back to what they broke from. Until the war between the states, our federal government had very little power. But that attitude no longer exists. You cannot live too long on vomit.

1. Three ways to adjust to the justice of God: salvation adjustment to the justice of God; rebound adjustment; and doctrinal adjustment to the justice of God.
 2. The unbeliever can only adjust through salvation.
 3. The justice of God can only curse in rejection of God.
- D. The Divine Mandate Regarding Scar Tissue, 1John 2:15 Stop loving the cosmic system, or anything in the cosmic system. If anyone keeps loving the cosmic system, the love from the Father is not in him. We only obey this command by residence and function inside the divine dynasphere.
- E. Scar tissue of the soul is the enemy of evangelism, 2Peter 2:22.
1. The unbeliever functions inside the cosmic system and hears the Gospel. But eventually he rejects the Gospel like the dog returning to his vomit. This phenomena is the function of scar tissue of the soul.
 2. By the convicting ministry of the Holy Spirit, the unbeliever is pulled out of the cosmic system for the moment. They hear the Gospel outside of the cosmic system. If they say "no," they go back into the cosmic system and the latter stage is worse than the first.
 3. Scar tissue of the soul is what motivated Judas, Mt 27:3-10. After so many chances at salvation, he finally went to the ultimate in arrogance: suicide. The scar tissue of the soul built up in his soul until he expressed it in maximum arrogance.
 4. Blackout of the soul and scar tissue of the soul combine to reject all forms of truth. "Vomit" here includes: socialism, communism, the welfare state, redistribution of wealth, social equality, and being saved by anything except faith in Christ.
 5. John 12:40, "He has blinded their eyes [blackout of the soul], He has hardened their right lobe [scar tissue of the soul], lest they should see with their eyes, and perceive by means of their right lobe, and receive conversion, and I restore them [Israel as a client nation]."
 6. 2Thessalonians 2:10-12, ...and with all deception of maladjustment [rejection of Jesus Christ] for those who perish, because they did not receive the love of the truth, so as to be saved. And for this reason, God sends them a deluding influence [blackout of the soul, scar tissue of the soul], so that they might believe a lie, in order that they might all be condemned who do not believe the truth, but take pleasure in unrighteousness.

7. The message of doctrine and the confirmation of the miracles were obvious, except for those who simply chose to reject Jesus.

F. Scar tissue of the soul does not hinder salvation.

1. This is illustrated by Nebuchadnezzar. He was an unbeliever in the cosmic system and a genius. He became psychotic in the cosmic system. Revolution was the shock which removed him from the cosmic system. It took him seven years to recover the ability to think, Dan 5:20.
2. Scar tissue of the soul and arrogance caused him to be deposed of his throne. He became a believer and was restored to his throne.
3. Rom 2:5, "But because of your scar tissue of the soul and unrepentant right lobe, you store up and accumulate wrath for yourself against the day of wrath, even the manifestation of the just judgment of God."
4. Nebuchadnezzar was positive at God consciousness which was the key to overcoming scar tissue of the soul for salvation.

G. A synonym for scar tissue of the soul in the Old Testament is "hardness of neck." It emphasizes lack of enforced and genuine humility. It emphasizes rejection of authority, it emphasizes on the outside, the negative volition on the inside. 2Corinthians 17:14; Neh 9:16; Jer 17:26, 19:15.

H. Scar tissue of the soul means discipline, loss of blessing and for some believers, the sin unto death.

1. The Exodus generation.
 - a. Ps 95:8, "Do not harden your right lobes as at Meribah." Miracles are unimpressive to the person with scar tissue of the soul.
 - b. Ex 17:3, the people complained against Moses because of lack of water. They ignored all the logistical grace provided for them. Those with scar tissue of the soul always distort any manifestation of or blessing from God into some form of the Lie.
 - c. Scar tissue of the soul doesn't respond to grace, only to discipline.
 - d. Num 13-14, their scar tissue of the soul caused them to weep all night. They only stopped when they heard their discipline: that they would not go into the Land.
 - e. Num 16 is another revolution by this generation.
 - f. 1 Cor 10:5, most of that generation died the sin unto death.
2. Failure of the last king of Israel, Zedekiah, 2 Chr 36:12-13, "And he did evil in the sight of the Lord; he did not humble himself before the authority of Jeremiah the prophet, who spoke for the Lord. He also revolted against king Nebuchadnezzar, who made him promise in the name of God to be loyal. But he stiffened his neck and hardened his heart against the Lord God of Israel." The result was the administration of the fifth cycle of discipline to the Jews in 586 BC. Zedekiah was blinded, put in chains and marched to Babylon. Ezek 12:13 was thus fulfilled.
3. Pharaoh Thutmose III, Rom 9; Ex 9.; Bob says Amenhotep II in the Romans series.

- a. Rom 9:17, "I have caused you to continue in history in order that I might demonstrate My power by means of you, and in order that My person might be proclaimed throughout the entire earth." Pharaoh had exactly the same chance to be saved as Moses. Hapshepsit adopted Moses. The one to become Thutmose III, who would be the Pharaoh of the Exodus. Moses had many fields of genius. Only comparable man among unbelievers is Gaius Julius Cæsar. Hapshepsit had 2 sons: one adopted, and Moses was the uncle of the Pharaoh of the Exodus.
- b. Pharaoh represented all the power of human rulership, but God demonstrated this did not even compare to His own power. This evangelized the entire world. Josh 2:10-11 tells us that Rahab the prostitute was converted through the hardness of Pharaoh's heart. Pharaoh set the world record for scar tissue of the soul. Human resistance to the divine will always reveals the power of God, Rom 1:20.
- c. In the first five plagues Pharaoh hardened his own heart, Ex 7:13. After these, God permitted him to live for the next five plagues. Pharaoh had many opportunities to change his mind, Ex 7:22, 8:15, 32, 9:34-35.
- d. He said "no" to God five times, a world's record for scar tissue of the soul. He should have died earlier, after the first five plagues on Egypt, but God extended his life for five more plagues.
- e. When Scripture says that "God hardened his heart," it means that God let him live to express his scar tissue of the soul far beyond anyone else had ever done in the past. Ex 9:12-16 says that the last five plagues would include intense anguish to the soul. God gave Pharaoh more opportunities to say no to God. He said no to begin with; and God gave him more opportunities to say yes. Every time his volition was negative, he developed more scar tissue. He developed more scar tissue on his soul than any other person in history.
- f. A person can hear and see the truth through miracles, but because of scar tissue of the soul, it makes no impression. The believer in the cosmic system is not impressed with miracles. He is only impressed with the Lie.
- g. God didn't coerce Pharaoh's volition, he was a free agent. His life was extended by divine decree. God uses the wrath of man to praise Him. Pharaoh even acknowledged that he had sinned. He faced the reality because of the pressure, but this did not save him.
- h. The allegation of supralapsarianism must be rejected. God did not create evil in Pharaoh, but he made his own evil through his volition. God used Pharaoh's evil to evangelize the world.
- i. The divine plan in hardening Pharaoh's heart was threefold.
(1) Liberation of the Jews from slavery, in order to form a client nation to God.

- (2) Evangelization of Egypt, Ex 7:3-5.
- (3) Evangelization of the world, Ex 9:16.
- (4) Even a prostitute all the way over in Jericho believed in the God of Israel as a result of Pharaoh's negative volition.

j. Paul compares the Jews of the First Advent and Church Age with Pharaoh, to demonstrate that their negative volition and hardness of heart at the time of our Lord broke Pharaoh's record, Rom 9-11.

- (1) Religious reversionism is locked-in religious degeneracy. This occurs through rejection of Christ as savior resulting in implosion, explosion and reversion.
- (2) Blackout of the soul plus scar tissue of the soul is reverse process reversionism, which equals religious degeneracy. Religious degeneracy is always persecuted by political (historical) degeneracy.
- (3) Whenever the Jews break Pharaoh's record for scar tissue of the soul (through rejection of Christ as savior), a holocaust results.
- (4) Rom 11:7-12. The Jews were seeking the fulfillment of the unconditional covenant, political deliverance from Rome, but were not seeking salvation. They wanted the crown without the cross, the kingdom of God without faith in Christ. Compassion is the only Christian attitude toward Jewish scar tissue of the soul. The unbelieving Jews have their final holocaust at the Second Advent, the baptism of fire. The Jewish unbeliever has ritual without reality, therefore he cannot see the importance of the cross before the crown.

k. The world's record for scar tissue of the soul is held by the Jews who reject Jesus Christ as savior, Isa 29:9-14, "Be shocked. Be amazed. Blind yourselves [blackout of the soul] and be blind. They are drunk but not with wine [holocaust judgments against Israel]. They stagger but not from strong drink. For the Lord has poured over you a life of deep sleep [scar tissue of the soul]. Regarding the prophets, He has shut your eyes. Regarding the seers, He has covered your head [scar tissue of the soul]. Therefore the entire vision [first advent] shall be to you like words of a closed book [sealed scroll], which when they give it to someone who can read, saying, 'Please read this,' he will say, 'I cannot, for it is closed.' [I see the words but I don't understand.] Then the book will be given to the one who is illiterate, saying, 'Please read this.' But he will reply, 'I cannot read it.' [The prophet is literate and perhaps a believer. The seer is illiterate and perhaps an unbeliever.] Then the Lord said, 'Because this people draw near with their mouth and honor Me with their lips [ritual, the SHEMA], but they remove their hearts far from Me, furthermore their [reverence for Me consists of traditions learned by memorizing them] their worship of Me is made up of rules taught only by men. Therefore behold, I will once again deal graciously with this people, wondrously marvelous [second advent]; But in the meantime the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the intelligence of their intellectuals shall vanish."

- (1) "Shutting the eyes" is a synonym for negative volition to doctrine and a willingness to listen to false doctrine.
 - (2) "Covering the head" is a reference to scar tissue of the soul.
 - (3) The Jews drew near to God with their mouths by saying the SHEMA, but the words are meaningless to them. Ritual has no meaning apart from understanding of doctrine.
 - (4) "Removing their heart far from Me" is scar tissue of the soul.
 - (5) Scar tissue of the soul worships God by traditions and rules learned from men and passed on to each generation.
 - (6) Scar tissue of the soul never has a historical future.
 - (7) Blackout of the soul is the beginning of religious degeneracy. Scar tissue of the soul is the perpetuation of religious degeneracy.
4. The scar tissue of Judas Iscariot (not found in the doctrine which I lifted, but taught by Bob in Romans). He said no to the justice of God. He set up his system of self-righteousness. He judged the woman who spent her life savings for the perfumed oil for the Lord's feet. He did not repent, but he felt badly for what he had done. He became very emotional. He never adjusted to the justice of God. The scar tissue was so heavy, he rejected the Lord for 3 years, so he accumulated great scar tissue on the soul. Either believe in Christ or commit suicide. Matthew 27:3–10. All scar tissue of the unbeliever is instantly removed at salvation. Isaiah 43:25 44:22 John 12:40 He has blinded their eyes and hardened their heart lest they see with their eyes and receive...
5. The meribah revolution; those who rejected God of the Exodus generation, and built up scar tissue on their souls. This is a case of believers. These are Jews who have been liberated from Egypt. They had said no many times to doctrine. They had hardened their hearts. They came out to a test where there was no water. Do not harden your hearts as the people of the meribah did. No water was a test for them. If God could take them out of Egypt, He could provide them with water in the desert-wilderness. Doctrine should have been their very life. God had given them an authority, Moses. They had the right authority that they needed in Moses, but they rejected him. But they thirsted there and they grumbled against Moses, to say, "Why did you bring us up from Egypt to kill us with thirst?" Hardness of the heart loses common sense. The provision of water should have brought them out of their negative volition, but it did not. Public opinion won out later at Kadesh Barnea where they refused to go into the land of promise. 1Corinthians 10:5 is another statement on this, that: Nevertheless with them God was not well-pleased, for their corpses were strewn out in the desert.

6. Nebuchadnezzar Daniel 5:20 but when his heart was lifted up with pride, and his mind became hardened so that he behaved arrogantly, he was removed from his throne. Nebuchadnezzar was an unbeliever in reversionism and for some years he was deposed. The shock of divine judgment caused him to reverse his previous negative response to Daniel. The revolution overthrew him and this shocked him, and he turned to the Lord.
7. Zedekiah as the last king of Judah. 2Chronicle 36:12–13 he did evil before the Lord. Jeremiah was his right prophet. He rejected King Nebuchadnezzar. He stiffened his neck and hardened his heart. Bad foreign policy and they were not prepared for a war against Chaldea. All of his sons were brought before him and executed before his eyes, and then they put out his eyes and he was blind for the rest of his life after this. Ezekiel spoke of this. He will not see it (Babylon).

Spiritual Dynamics 748, 12/14/95; Eph 957; 1 Jn 2:15; 10/11/79 Rom
c 1989, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

The greatest evils in the world are supported by public opinion. Whether we are talking about the destruction of big business or our stupid foreign policy. We are trying to destroy Rhodesia and South Africa. We practice the worst foreign policy in world history, detente. Better to die fighting for freedom than to ever be enslaved. Whether Russians or Chinese, their system of government is horrid; and we should not be propping them up. Public opinion is the sum total of idiocy; the sum total of maladjustment to the justice of God. Most of our government officials are in power due to public opinion.

God's attitude is, He is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to a change of mind.

This should be translated so far, "But according to your hardness, stubbornness, hardness of heart, scar tissue of the soul." (Romans 2:5a)

1977 Romans

Lesson #44

44 02/27/1977 Romans 2:5b Doctrine of the heart (revised: physiological and soul; points. 1–4)

"and impenitent heart" – the connective kai continues the prepositional phrase. It is not a conjunction connecting clauses here, it merely it's merely a connection for continuation of a prepositional phrase. In other words, "impenitent heart" also goes with kata. The accusative singular from the adjective ametanóētos (ἀμετανόητος) [pronounced am-et-an-OH-ay-toss] [metánoia (μετάνοια) [pronounced met-AHN-oy-ah] = repentance or change of mind; a = negative], unrepentance or non-repentance. With it is the accusative singular from the noun kardia, translated "heart." So, "according to your hardness and unrepentant heart." The words for "hardness and unrepentant heart" means that scar tissue of the soul plus non-repentance is maximum maladjustment to the justice of God. The unrepentant status of scar tissue accumulates self-righteousness as a part of the function of evil. The accumulation of self-righteousness is a deposit for future judgment and punitive action from the justice of God.^[3]

The word "heart" in the Bible always refers to the anatomy of the soul, not the body.

The doctrine below comes from 1984 and newer; so there will be more material there than Bob gives in the study of Romans. This is a 25 page doctrine, suggesting about a 5-day study. So it is way overkill for this session. However, it matches almost word for word for the first 4 points.

Doctrine of the Heart

A. Definition and Description.

1. The physiological heart is rarely used rarely in the Bible.
 - a. The physiological heart is an intricately woven muscle which by rhythmic contraction circulates the blood.
 - b. It is estimated that the heart pumps five quarts of blood every minute, seventy five gallons an hour, and seventy barrels a day, and about eighteen million barrels in seventy years.
 - c. The heart's anatomy and relation to the circulatory system includes a double pump: two atriums and two ventricles. The ventricles have a four ounce volume and the atria a five ounce volume.
 - d. The thick muscular walls of the ventricles are primarily responsible to pump the blood. Used blood is low in oxygen and high in CO₂. To be cleansed, the used blood enters the right atrium through the superior and inferior vena cava. Used blood is like false ideas we pick up in life.
 - e. The right ventricle pumps blood through the pulmonary artery to the lungs where it discharges CO₂ and picks up oxygen from the alveoli. Then the blood travels through the pulmonary veins to the left atrium which in turns pumps the oxygen-refreshed blood out through the aorta to the entire body.
 - (1) So with metabolized doctrine: it is pumped through various valves and circulates through the brain, giving you a dynamic mental attitude.
 - (2) Likewise, the CO₂ of the soul, i.e., all the false and erroneous ideas we've learned, must be replaced by the oxygen of Bible doctrine. All that is accomplished in the heart or right lobe.
 - f. The function of the blood is to bath tissues with fluid, preserving their slight alkaline condition, supplying tissues with food and oxygen, to provide building material for their growth and repair, distribute heat generated by cells and equalizes body temperature, carry hormones which coordinate and stimulate the activities of various organs, and convey antibodies and white blood cells which fight infection. Blood cannot support life unless it keeps circulating. Bible doctrine circulating in the soul as a result of the function of GAP provides these same functions.

- g. If blood flow is cut off to the brain, the person loses consciousness in three to five seconds; after fifteen to twenty seconds the body twitches convulsively; if more than nine minutes, the mental powers of the brain are irrevocably destroyed. The muscles of the heart can only survive loss of blood flow for thirty minutes. These facts emphasize the vital importance of the heart to our life. The energy used by the heart is fantastic.
- h. Many tissues of the body use as little as one-fourth of the oxygen brought to them by the blood. The heart uses eighty percent of the oxygen brought to it by the blood. Therefore, the amount of blood supplied to the heart is extremely important, especially when its activity raises its demand for oxygen. That is analogous to positive volition.
- i. Blood is piped into the heart muscle through two large coronary arteries which curl around the surface of the heart. The heart transforms chemical energy into the mechanical energy of contraction very similar to the conversion of energy in the automobile engine.
 - (1) In both cases, the human heart and the combustion engine, the fuel is suddenly exploded in exactly the same way, by electrical spark.
 - (2) In both the human heart and the combustion engine, fuel is complex, and the explosions involve a series of chemical reactions.
 - (3) In fact, in the human heart and the combustion engine, the explosion occurs in the cylinders. The cylinders of the human heart are muscle cells which not only contain fuel, but are able to replenish it themselves. The replenishment comes from products supplied by the blood.
 - (4) Likewise, our spiritual heart transfers academic thought into spiritual energy.
- j. The mechanical efficiency of the cells, i.e., the fraction of the total energy that can be converted into mechanical energy, has not been equaled by anything made by man up to the pre-atomic age. Seventy-two times a minute your heart's pacemaker, the S-A node, generates electricity.
- k. All of these statements provide fantastic analogies to the heart or right lobe of the soul as the circulator of Bible doctrine into the thinking part of the soul. When Bible doctrine reaches the heart, Bible doctrine is converted into spiritual energy, i.e., the ten problem solving devices, divine viewpoint, and the momentum of the spiritual life. No one can grow spiritually except through perception of Bible doctrine.

I. Ps 139:13-14, "You have formed my inner parts; I will give thanks to you, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made. Wonderful are your works, and my soul knows it very well."

(1) This passage recognizes what God has done in grace in providing the human body. The human body is a grace asset; we don't earn or deserve it. No matter what kind of person we are, we all can metabolize food and breathe air. Health is not determined by merit.

(2) The psalmist recognizes the wonder of the human body, which he understands from the right lobe of his soul.

2. The Biblical nouns for heart always refer to the right lobe of the soul.

a. The Hebrew lêb (לֵב) [pronounced lay^bv] and the Greek kardia (καρδία) [pronounced kahr-DEE-uh] are both translated "heart." Both are used outside the Bible for the literal heart, but never anatomically in the Bible.

b. The usage of the words for heart is based on analogy. Just as the physical heart is the pump that circulates blood throughout the body and thereby supports physical life, so the right lobe of the soul circulates doctrine supporting the spiritual life of the believer. The doctrine is actually understood in the left lobe, but it is in the right lobe where it is actually circulated and utilized.

c. The word "heart" connotes many things in English.

(1) The core of something.

(2) In cards, it is a suit; also the game "hearts."

(3) It is used for emotion, "He is all heart."

d. The Bible never uses the heart for emotion. Faith comes from the heart because faith is thinking, not emotion.

e. The mentality of the soul is divided into two lobes: the left lobe, called the noûs (νοῦς) [pronounced noose], meaning mind, thought; and the right lobe, called kardia (καρδία) [pronounced kahr-DEE-uh], meaning heart.

f. The right lobe is the dominant lobe designed by God to dominate the entire soul. Whenever you are logical, analytical, or categorical in your thinking, you are using your heart, 1 Sam 16:7.

3. The Analogy to the Heart's Function in the Soul.

a. Since the heart is designed to dominate the soul, all other parts must be subordinated to it, especially the emotions.

b. Category two love makes an excellent analogy to the relationship between the heart and emotions. The heart is like the right man, and the emotions are like the right woman. Jer 11:20, "Jehovah . who tests the emotions in relation to the heart." God tests to see if the emotions are subordinate or dominating the soul.

c. The justice of God always bases any function of justice on His knowledge of the situation.

- (1) Jer 17:10, "I, Jehovah, search the heart [for doctrine] and test the emotions [to see if they are subordinate to doctrine]."
- (2) Jer 20:12, "Yet O Lord of armies, You who have tested the righteous, who sees the emotions and the heart." Psalm 26:1-2, "Judge me, O Lord, for I have walked in my integrity, because I have trusted in the Lord and I do not slide into reversionism. Examine me, O Lord, and test my emotions and my heart."
- (3) One of the major considerations in the function of the justice of God is the relationship between the heart and the emotions.

4. In Scripture, the heart is used for the right lobe of the soul.
 - a. The heart is used in the Bible for the place of thinking, the location of your vocabulary and categories of thought. Therefore, the heart is the thinking function of the soul. The Lord's evaluation of you is what you think. 1Sam 16:7, "The Lord said to Samuel, 'Do not look on his outward appearance or how tall he is, because I have rejected him. God sees not as man sees, for man looks on the outward appearance, but the Lord looks on the heart.'" Cf. Prov 23:7, "As a man thinks in his right lobe [heart], so he is."
 - b. The Lord looks in your heart and sees how much doctrine is circulating through the eight sections of your right lobe.
 - c. Prov 17:22, "A joyful heart is good medicine, but a broken spirit dries up the bones." Having a joyful heart means you share God's happiness (+H) in your right lobe, which is problem device #8.
 - d. Prov 15:13-15, "A happy heart makes the face cheerful, but when the heart is sad, the spirit is broken. The heart of the intelligent seeks knowledge, but the mouth of a fool feeds on folly. All the days of the oppressed are wretched, but the cheerful heart has a continual feast."
 - (1) God's +H in the right lobe makes for a cheerful face, a marvelous life, and animation. But the spirit is broken when the heart is sad, down, or complaining.
 - (2) Eventually your motivation for learning more doctrine comes from the doctrine you already have in your right lobe.
 - (3) The continual feast is one of Bible doctrine in the heart.
 - e. Prov 18:12, "Before his downfall, a person's heart is arrogant; but humility comes before honor [virtue]." In other words, if arrogance controls the right lobe of your soul, you're a total loser. Humility is teachability and authority orientation. There can never be honor until you learn and metabolize doctrine.
 - f. Prov 18:15, "The heart of the discerning [wise] acquires knowledge; because the ears of the wise seek it out." Here is motivation to learn Bible doctrine. When you listen and concentrate, then you will acquire the discernment of the right lobe that provides your momentum.

- g. Prov 22:15, "Foolishness is bound up in the heart of a child, but the rod of discipline will drive it far from him."
- h. Prov 27:19, "As water reflects a face, so a person's heart reflects that person." What you really are is not what you appear on the surface; it is what you are in your heart or right lobe. The Bible is like a mirror, for you can look into the Word of God and know what you are really like.
- i. Job 38:36, "Who endowed the heart with wisdom, or who gave understanding to the mind?" Both lobes are cited here. The mind is the left lobe; the heart is the right lobe of the soul.
- j. 2 Cor 6:11-12, "O you Corinthians, our mouth has been opened face to face with you [in teaching], because our hearts [right lobes] have been enlarged [by maximum doctrine in the right lobe of the soul]. Therefore, you have not been hindered by us [in your spiritual life]; you have been hindered by your own emotions."
 - (1) The Corinthians had receptive comprehension but no retention.
 - (2) Notice that emotions and heart are in contrast in this passage. Therefore, emotions are not a part of the function of the right lobe of the soul.
- k. Eph 1:18, "[I also pray] that the eyes of your hearts [right lobes] be enlightened, that you may know what is the hope of His calling, what are the riches of the glory of His inheritance for the saints."
- l. In Rev 2:23, John adds that if emotional control continues you die. Just as when blood does not circulate through the heart there is death, so this is true in the spiritual realm. "Furthermore, I will execute her followers with death, and so all the churches will know that I am He who investigates the emotions and the hearts, and I will administer punishment to each one of you [cosmic believers] according to your activities."
- m. Heb 4:12, "The word of God...is a judge of both thoughts and ideas of the heart." Heb 3:12, "Beware, brethren, lest there should be in any one of you an evil heart of unbelief, in falling away from the living God." An evil heart of unbelief is failure to metabolize doctrine.
- n. 1Peter 3:15, "But sanctify the Lord Christ in your hearts, always {being} ready to make a defense to everyone who asks you to give an account for the hope that is in you, yet with gentleness and reverence."
- o. Jam 3:14, "But if you have bitter jealousy and strife in your heart, do not be arrogant and do not lie against the truth." Arrogance and lying against the truth blocks the metabolization of doctrine. Gnosis doctrine minus epignosis is a lie against the truth. Compare Eph 4:18, "They have darkened their way of thinking [they always distort what is taught], they have been alienated from the life of God [they only have gnosis and lack metabolized doctrine], because of the ignorance which is in them, because of scar tissue of their heart."

B. The Heart is a Part of the Essence of the Soul.

1. The soul is composed of at least four invisible but real parts: self-consciousness, Acts 20:10; mentality, Prov 19:2, volition, Acts 3:23; and emotion, Lk 12:19. Old sin nature Ecclesiastes 18:4
2. The mentality of the soul is divided into two parts: the left and right lobes. The right lobe is where you do your thinking, analyzing, applying of knowledge, and is the seat of common sense (the right lobe is equivalent to our use of the word heart). The left lobe is your place of assimilating information and the area where your talent functions.
3. Brain scientists indicate that two persons inhabit our heads, each residing in the two separate hemispheres of our brain.
4. According to scientists, one is verbal, analytical, and dominant, while the other is mute and mysterious.
5. Scientists classify the non-speaking side as the right hemisphere (we call it the left lobe).
6. In the Bible we classify the mute side as the left lobe and the verbal hemisphere as the right lobe.
7. The two half brains are linked together by millions of nerves forming a thick cable called the corpus callosum.
8. In cases of severe epilepsy, this cable sometimes has to be cut. This results in some strange occurrences. The left side of the brain no longer knows what the right side is doing, yet the speaking half of the patient is controlled by left lobe. The person still insists on finding excuses for whatever the left side has done. His thinking part is severed from his non-thinking part and still operates under the illusion that he is one person, and that his lobes are combined. The two halves of the brain are integrated into a single mentality with the speaking half called the "heart" by the Bible.
9. From Dr. Roger Sperry is a leading man in Cal Tech of brain research. Scientists say that the left hemisphere has a language ability and is analytical; and the right hemisphere is artistic and talented. Talented people tend to live using mostly the non-thinking part of their brain. They use the thinking part of their brain to memorize lines.
10. About 200 million fibers in the link between the half brains. A child is about two years old before the link between his two hemispheres is completed. And it doesn't become completely functional until he is about ten years old. After age ten, one side of the brain is used for synthesis, spacial perception and music, while the other side performs sequential, verbal, analytical, and computer-like activities. This is brain science in 1977. This is why most talented people are not smart about life.
11. Scientists contend that excellence in one hemisphere tends to interfere with top level performance in the other. The conclusion is that most talented people aren't smart or analytical.

12. What does the Bible say? The heart is part of the essence of the soul; it is the thinking, reasoning part. It is designed to dominate the soul. Therefore, it must be the target for doctrinal teaching, 1 Kg 3:9,12; Psalm 119:11, 19:14. To reach the target, Bible doctrine must pass through two staging areas: the left lobe and the human spirit. (See the Doctrine of Operation Z.)

C. The Essence of the Biblical Heart. The heart is invisible and it pumps thoughts rather than blood. It has valves and conductors and links. The heart is the source of concentration.

1. Frame of Reference.

a. The frame of reference is the conceptual structure to which doctrines, principles, and categories of Scripture are related. It is the entrance or antechamber of the heart as the first place where doctrine goes. This is because knowledge is built upon knowledge; truth is built on truth. In the frame of reference, information can come in and be processed out to the other parts of the soul by means of intake and output valves.

(1) The frame of reference retains metabolized doctrine under the principle that doctrine is built upon doctrine. You must learn from the simple to the complex.

(2) The simple things will be the foundation in the frame of reference for building systematic theology. In essence, spiritual growth is systematic theology in your soul.

(3) The frame of reference retains previously learned metabolized doctrines and becomes the entrance for new ones.

b. The frame of reference is the location or area of retention of epignosis or metabolized doctrine.

(1) The frame of reference is the location of all concepts related to the mystery doctrine of the Church Age, which explains the protocol plan of God, i.e., God's will, plan, and purpose for your life.

(2) The frame of reference is the location of the ten problem solving devices for the Church Age.

(3) The frame of reference is the seat of the inventory of metabolized doctrine, from which application of doctrine or wisdom is performed.

(4) Metabolized doctrine in the frame of reference is the basis for the construction of the edification complex. (See the Doctrine of the Edification Complex of the Soul.)

(5) Metabolized doctrine in the frame of reference is the basis for the execution of the protocol plan of God; therefore, it is the basis for the glorification of God and for the manufacturing of invisible heroes.

(6) Metabolized doctrine in the frame of reference increases your spiritual I.Q. and provides the basis for learning more advanced doctrines. The amount of doctrine you have in your frame of reference is what really determines your spiritual I.Q.

- (7) Metabolized Bible doctrine in your frame of reference provides your first divine viewpoint, and it begins to shape your mental attitude for the conflict between divine and human viewpoint, which is a constant struggle until you reach spiritual adulthood.
 - (8) Metabolized Bible doctrine in your frame of reference provides the right motivation for the protocol plan of God. It creates motivation for learning more doctrine and so results in increased momentum. Metabolized doctrine is the momentum factor that keeps you moving in the spiritual life and eventually leads to execution of the protocol plan.
- c. Prov 4:4, "Then He taught me and said to me, 'Let your heart [right lobe] hold fast My doctrines, keep My mandates, and live.'" Your heart is the source of concentration. Your ability and motivation for concentration starts with your frame of reference.
 - d. 1 Cor 2:9, "Things which the eye has not seen and the ear has not heard, and have not entered into the heart of mankind all that God has prepared for those who love Him."
 - (1) There is no way you can understand all that God has prepared for you apart from your frame of reference being saturated with the mystery doctrine of the Church Age. You can only understand all that God has done for you until Bible doctrine enters the right lobe of the soul.
 - (2) To come to love God indicates spiritual progress. Personal love for God the Father is one of the problem solving devices and is the motivation for the Christian way of life. Occupation with the person of Christ is the priority solution to problem solving devices in life.
 - e. We do not have a human frame of reference for perception of doctrine, but a spiritual frame of reference for spiritual phenomena to go to a spiritual apparatus.
 - f. The frame of reference constructs an instant reaction force or a red-alert system from metabolized doctrine, so that you can tell what is true and what is false in the communication of the Word. Certain doctrines form your instant reaction force to solve the problem solving devices of life and cosmic involvement.
 - (1) Actually, this how the construction of the problem solving devices for the Christian way of life is started. Metabolized doctrine in the frame of reference is the basis for the manufacture and the function of all the ten problem solving devices.
 - (2) Many baby believers have been delivered from many false doctrinal areas because, from their frame of reference, they had certain instincts and knew something was wrong with false ideas, emotional activity, ritual, and the like. So the frame of reference is where you get your first protection in life.

- (3) The frame of reference's alert system is so necessary in the Christian life because you must learn to avoid error, con artists in the spiritual realm, false teachers, and phony Christian service which is used to con believers.
 - g. Metabolized Bible doctrine in your frame of reference produces recall in various stages and circumstances of life. Lam 3:20-25, "Surely my soul remembers and is humbled within me. This doctrine I recall to mind; therefore I have hope [Hope 2 and 3 as a problem solving device]. The Lord's grace support [logistical grace] never ceases; His grace expressions never fail. They are new every morning; great is Your faithfulness. `The Lord is my portion,' says my soul; `therefore I have confidence in Him.'"
 - h. The frame of reference provides the basis for effective communication of ideas in conversation, in professional functions, in witnessing, in social interaction, and in the exchange of ideas.
 - i. The frame of reference provides capacity for life, happiness, blessing, success, prosperity, and promotion.
 - j. Ps 119:6, "I delight in doctrine; I shall not forget Your Word." That means that right next to the frame of reference is your memory center.
2. Memory Center. We store away information and we forget it. And there are various methods of retrieval. [A mention of Bobby's daughter???] We remember many things by association. Lamentations 3:20
- a. While the frame of reference is the location for the classification of doctrine, the memory center is the sphere for recall of Bible doctrine from all areas of the stream of consciousness. Recall is necessary for the application of doctrine to experience, for worship, for training the Christian reflexes, and the function of the problem solving devices.
 - b. The memory center circulates Bible doctrine into the various parts of the right lobe producing recall. It recalls information like a computer. You associate things in your frame of reference and then remember them from the function of the memory center. After a lot of repetition, the memory center stores doctrine.
 - c. Recall is synonymous with the application of Bible doctrine to experience and therefore a part of wisdom (sophia (σοφία) [pronounced sohf-EE-ah]).
 - d. Recall is the basis for the function of all ten of the problem solving devices: rebound, the filling of the Spirit, the faith-rest drill, grace orientation, doctrinal orientation, personal love for God the Father, impersonal love for all mankind, +H or sharing the happiness of God, a personal sense of destiny, and occupation with Christ.

(1) Recall becomes a basis for structuring problem solving devices.

(a) It may take only one verse, such as 1John 1:9, to structure rebound. Rebound should be kept simple; we sin so much that we need a very simple solution. Rebound as the solution relates to the judgment of our sins on the cross.

(b) More complex recall occurs after we learn the protocol plan of God, the portfolio of invisible assets, the unique life, suffering for blessing, and the lifestyle of wisdom.

(2) Recall is the basis for the function of all three stages of the faith-rest drill.

(3) Recall is the application of the doctrinal rationales to the circumstances of life; e.g., the essence of God rationale, the plan of God rationale, the politeuma rationale, the grace of God rationale, the logistical grace rationale.

e. Recall has nothing to do with whether or not you have a good memory as a human being. It has everything to do with the inculcation of doctrine. You must hear a doctrine hundreds of times. The more you hear a doctrine, the sooner you will apply it.

f. You haven't learned a doctrine until you can't forget it! You cannot use what you cannot recall. You can't look up the pertinent doctrine in your notebook when you're being tested. It must already be in you. You can only apply what you have learned.

g. Therefore, recall is the application of epignosis doctrine in the right lobe to the circumstances of life. When epignosis doctrine is applied, it is called wisdom (sophia (σοφία) [pronounced sohf-EE-ah]).

h. Lam 3:20-24, "Surely my soul remembers and is humbled within me. This doctrine I recall to my mind, therefore I have confidence [Hope 2,3]. The Lord's grace support never ceases; His grace expressions never fail. They are new every morning; great is Your faithfulness. 'The Lord is my portion,' says my soul [frame of reference and memory center]; 'therefore I have confidence in Him.'"

(1) What memory brings about humility as the basis of function in the spiritual life? Verse 21 answers-memory of doctrine.

(2) Jeremiah had both doctrinal orientation and grace orientation.

i. Psalm 119:6, "I delight in doctrine; I shall not forget Your word." Psalm 119 was the thinking of those young people on that long march from Jerusalem to Babylon as they were terribly treated and abused. They had learned the doctrine and recalled it under the most awful circumstances.

j. Psalm 119:109, "My life is in constant danger, but I do not forget Your doctrines." The frame of reference plus the memory center equals the recall of doctrine.

- k. 2Corinthians 10:4-6. The context of this passage is the angelic conflict, and the issue is your weaponry. You must have the right weapons. You come to Bible class to arm yourself spiritually. God provides the weaponry which is all in one arsenal: the divine dynasphere. The phrase in verse six "holding in readiness" refers to epignosis doctrine in the frame of reference and in the memory center.

3. Vocabulary Storage.

- a. This is the place where thinking develops and where technical words are stored which develop new ideas. You cannot think beyond your vocabulary. You cannot express anything apart from a vocabulary. The dictionary is the best book next to the Bible.
- b. Vocabulary is developed in the left lobe and only transferred to the right lobe when accepted. Often our capacity for life is related to our vocabulary. Concepts are first learned in the left lobe where they are meaningless until we accept them; then they are transferred to the right lobe.
- c. After salvation, the believer must learn an entirely new vocabulary, including technical words for theology, which is tantamount to learning a new language for thinking, for application, and for expression.
- d. Just as at physical birth a baby must learn a language and the meaning of words, so after regeneration the believer must learn an entire new language.
- e. Cognizance of technical language is necessary to understand and apply Bible doctrine. The plan of God, of necessity, is couched in technical, theological terms.
- f. Jer 15:16, "Your words were discovered and I ate [metabolized] them, and Your words became for me joy [happiness]."
- g. Deut 8:3, "And He humbled you [the Exodus generation] and He let you be hungry and He fed you with manna which you did not know, nor did your ancestors know that He might cause you to understand that mankind does not live by bread alone, but man lives by every word that proceeds from the month of God." Quoted in Mt 4:4 by our Lord.

4. Categorical Doctrinal Storage.

- a. Categorical storage coordinated with the frame of reference classifies Bible doctrine. This is the storage area of any technical concepts or categorical information in any area of life. It is related to recall from both the memory center and vocabulary. You remember principles and technical words, and you finally put them all together.
- b. By comparing Scripture with Scripture, certain subjects are brought together in the divisions of doctrine for the purpose of classification. In the various parts of Scripture, many ideas are covered from different viewpoints but are still part of the same subject.

- c. Therefore, categorical storage fulfills the principle of cognitive independence.
- d. Categories are fundamental concepts of doctrine to which all knowledge of doctrine can be reduced.
- e. Categories are the divisions of doctrine formed for the purpose of classification of subjects and subject matter in the Word of God.
- f. Categorical storage is the basis for conceptualism in post- salvation epistemological rehabilitation; i.e., the perception, metabolization, and application of Bible doctrine; i.e., operation Z.
- g. Both vocabulary and categorical storage are essential to spiritual growth and the execution of God's plan.
 - (1) Prov 2:2, "Make your ear to concentrate on wisdom; apply your right lobe to understanding."
 - (a) Only you can make your ear concentrate; no one can do it for you.
 - (b) You are to concentrate on wisdom, which is Châk^emâh (כֹּחַמָּה) [pronounced khawk^e-MAW] in the Hebrew. Châk^emâh (כֹּחַמָּה) [pronounced khawk^e-MAW] is a combination of the Greek EPIGNOSIS plus (sophia (σοφία) [pronounced sohf-EE-ah]). Wisdom is the basis of spiritual growth. Wisdom is the combination of EPIGNOSIS coming into your right lobe as well as being applied from your right lobe.
 - (c) By applying your right lobe to understanding, you develop categorical storage.
 - (d) The heart pumps epignosis doctrine through the frame of reference, memory center, vocabulary and categorical storage areas. Without concentration and positive volition to what is taught, you will not develop vocabulary or categorical storage of doctrinal information.
 - (2) Prov 2:10, "Wisdom will enter your heart, and the knowledge of doctrine will be pleasant to your soul." Prov 3:3.
 - (a) There is no wisdom until it enters the right lobe.
 - (b) "Pleasant" indicates the presence of problem solving devices in your soul as you become spiritually self-sustaining.
 - (3) Prov 15:14-15, "The mind of the intelligent seeks knowledge;...a good heart has a continual feast."
 - (4) Prov 18:15, "The heart of the wise acquires knowledge of doctrine; the ear of the wise seeks knowledge of doctrine."
 - (a) The "ear of the wise" is positive volition. With positive volition everything falls into place. Positive volition continually seeks doctrine.

(b) The "heart of the wise" is spiritual growth. It acquires knowledge through operation Z.

- h. Categorical storage is the putting together of words into sentences, sentences into paragraphs, paragraphs into chapters, chapters into books, etc. It is cognizance of the various doctrinal categories used to communicate information to the believer.
 - i. Knowledge is built on knowledge. Simple categories of doctrine lead to the more complex categories of knowledge in the classification of Biblical categories.
 - j. The study of doctrines categorically becomes the basis for greater and greater application. It is very easy to mix the promises with faith in the simple form of the faith-rest drill. But to take a complicated problem solving device in your life and apply various concepts and rationales of Bible doctrine to it requires a greater use of your right lobe.
 - k. Eventually, the greatest problem solving devices in spiritual adulthood are resolved by categorical application. In the faith-rest drill, instead of claiming a promise, you begin to claim doctrinal rationales. It is from categories that you get stronger application of doctrine to your experience.
 - l. Both vocabulary and categorical storage are essential for epistemological rehabilitation. Cognition of a technical vocabulary of Biblical theology is necessary for the fulfillment of the protocol plan of God. It can only be explained in terms of mechanics. Therefore, certain technical mechanical terms are necessary.
 - m. Every term, including rebound, faith-rest drill, hope 2, hope 3, spiritual self-esteem, virtue-love as a problem solving device, the protocol plan of God, the operational-type divine dynasphere, the portfolio of invisible assets, escrow blessings, logistical grace blessings, election, predestination, computer assets, etc., all have extensive doctrinal explanations. They must be stored in both the vocabulary and categorical compartments of the soul's right lobe.
5. Conscience.
- a. The Greek word SUNEIDESIS means "to know with." The equivalent Latin CONSCIENTIA means joint knowledge, i.e., to know with a standard.
 - b. Your conscience is divided into two parts:
 - (1) The place for the norms and standards that are developed from Bible doctrine.
 - (2) The carnal norms and standards developed from your old sin nature.
 - c. The decisions you make are generally based on your conscience.
 - (1) If your decisions are based on your doctrinal norms and standards, then your decisions are good decisions from a position of strength. The conscience extrapolates from doctrine the norms and standards for life. You have to know something to have a conscience. When you know something you develop standards. Whatever you learn in the right lobe becomes a part of your norms and standards.

- (2) If your decisions are based on your carnal norms and standards, then your decisions are bad decisions from a position of weakness.
- d. You must have vocabulary and thought to establish norms and standards. The conscience must be built on a vocabulary that begins with one word: no, or don't. All consciences are built with negative words which forbid doing something. So the conscience of man is first established by negatives, although eventually there are explanations in both positive and negative terms.
 - e. Therefore, the conscience becomes the residency of the priorities of your soul, Dan 1:8.
 - f. Rom 2:14-15, "The law printed [written] in your hearts [right lobes], their conscience confirming the testimony and their thoughts alternately accusing or else defending themselves." Once you have norms and standards, you orient to whether you are doing something right or wrong.
 - g. The conscience is the right lobe's storage compartment for your norms and standards and priorities in life, Rom 9:1, 13:5; 1 Cor 8:7; 2 Cor 4:2, 5:11; Tit 1:15; Heb 9:14.
 - h. All normal persons have norms and standards which are located in the right lobe or heart of the mentality of the soul. From these norms and standards come individual priorities in life. Your priorities form your scale of values.
 - i. False standards in the conscience can cause spiritual weaknesses. 1 Cor 8:7, "Not all men have this knowledge [about food offered to idols], but some being accustomed to idol worship until now [when saved] eat the food as if it were sacrificed to idols, and their conscience, being weak, is defiled."
 - (1) Some of the best food in Corinth had been offered to idols and then sold as the choicest meat in the temple market. Food is food and meat is meat. So it was alright to eat that food, once you sanctified it.
 - (2) But for those with an idolatrous background and a weak conscience, eating food offered to idols was very offensive. The one with the weak conscience has legalistic norms and standards in his conscience from his religious background.
 - (3) So there is a conflict between those with a strong conscience and those with a weak conscience. A strong conscience has Biblical standards from EPIGNOSIS and (sophia (σοφία))

[pronounced sohf-EE-ah]. A weak conscience lives by standards acquired from its background, which may or may not be good, or which may be distorted in the spiritual life. Eating is a physical issue, and has nothing to do with the spiritual life.

- (4) The weak conscience assumes he's strong, because legalism always assumes it is strong. Yet legalism is really weak.
 - (5) So the conscience is a very sensitive thing. It can be erroneous in its concepts apart from doctrine. If doctrine does not feed the conscience, instinct will. And instinct develops legalism in a hurry.
- j. The norms and standards located in the conscience are directed toward both God and man, but primarily toward mankind until you become aware of the existence of God and what He has done for you.
- (1) Acts 24:16, "In view of this, even I myself keep practicing to maintain even a blameless conscience, both before God and before men."
 - (2) True strength is to develop your standards toward both God and man from the Biblical standards of doctrine.
- k. The conscience of the believer is formed from cognition of Bible doctrine. 2 Cor 4:2, "But we have renounced the things hidden because of shame [false doctrine and apostasy], not walking in craftiness, not adulterating the Word of God, but by the unveiling of doctrine [post-salvation epistemological rehabilitation], commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God." Paul is here saying that there is a legitimate modus operandi that goes with the spiritual life. You will build up norms and standards related to it from Bible doctrine, and at the same time set aside false norms and standards related to legalism.
- l. The believer's conscience demands that he submit to establishment authority. Rom 13:5, "Therefore, it is necessary to be in subordination, not only because of wrath [law enforcement], but also for conscience sake."
- (1) In other words, the Christian doesn't refrain from criminal activity because he's afraid of going to jail, but because, with a strong conscience, his norms and standards refuse to let him even consider any criminal activity.
 - (2) The conscience in the soul is far stronger than any fear of punishment from law enforcement.
- m. Conscience as a motivator is mentioned in 2 Tim 1:3, "I thank God whom I serve with a clear conscience, the way my ancestors did, as I constantly remember you in my prayers, day and night."
- (1) So your conscience has something to do with your effectiveness in prayer. Paul's conscience demanded that he pray for certain people, and he did so. Paul didn't pray for people because he liked them, but for conscience sake, which is the strongest possible motivation.

- (2) Since the conscience is located in the right lobe of the soul, the norms and standards of the conscience are built on EPIGNOSIS doctrine, not on GNOSIS doctrine.
- n. The conscience is related to unjust and unfair treatment, 1Peter 2:18-19, "Servants, be submissive to your masters with all respect, not only to the good and gentle masters, but also to the perverse and unreasonable ones; for this is grace, if for the sake of conscience toward God, anyone bears up under sorrows when suffering unjustly."
- (1) Though originally addressed to slaves, this verse came to refer to anyone who is under the authority of someone else. Some people in authority are perverse, but you are just as responsible to submit to their authority. You serve them and do your best job as unto the Lord.
 - (2) Such a believer has a strong conscience. The weak believer complains and rejects authority, and so becomes a loser.
 - (3) So it is very important to have a conscience based on EPIGNOSIS doctrine so that you can handle unjust treatment in the same manner that you handle fair treatment.
 - (4) Military training can be counted on to provide unjust and unfair treatment from authority. To learn to submit to unfair authority is necessary for proper function under the abnormal circumstances of combat.
- o. The conscience is important in suffering for blessing according to 1Peter 3:14-16, "But even if you should suffer for righteousness' sake, you are blessed [suffering for blessing in three categories]. Furthermore, do not fear their intimidation tactics and do not be troubled, but set apart the Lord Christ in your right lobes, and always be ready to make a defense to anyone who asks you to give an account for the confidence that is in you with grace orientation and respect [occupation with Christ]. Be having a good of intrinsic value conscience, so that in the things in which you are slandered, those who malign your intrinsic good in Christ may be put to shame."
- (1) The three categories of suffering for blessing are providential preventative suffering, momentum testing, and evidence testing.
 - (2) Note the source of occupation with Christ is epignosis doctrine in the right lobe. You handle slander through epignosis in the right lobe.
 - (3) If you have a strong conscience, you will leave it in the Lord's hands. Then it will go to the supreme court of heaven. They will be put to shame without you ever trying to defend yourself or answer back.

p. Apostasy in believers is related to a conscience that has been destroyed. 1 Tim 4:1-2, "But the Spirit explicitly states that in latter periods of time [between First and Second Advents], some believers will become apostate from doctrine, paying attention to deceitful spirits and concentrating on doctrines from demons [cosmic involvement] by means of hypocrisy of liars [false teachers], seared in their own conscience as with a branding iron."

(1) False teaching sears the conscience like a branding iron. It destroys the conscience. This searing refers to scar tissue of the soul and cosmic involvement.

(2) A great deal of your strength comes from having the proper norms and standards in the conscience of your right lobe.

(3) Therefore, it is important to understand how apostasy can destroy the conscience.

q. The conscience is purified from dead works through the substitutionary spiritual death of Christ on the cross according to Heb 9:14, "How much more will the blood of Christ who, through the eternal Spirit [omnipotence of the Holy Spirit], offered Himself without blemish to God, purify your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?"

(1) There is no work we can perform for salvation; salvation is by grace. Therefore, our conscience must be purified from dead works. Dead works are human works, like faith plus anything for salvation. All dead works will be burned at the Judgment Seat of Christ.

(2) In other words, anything performed outside of the divine dynasphere is dead works. Christian service that involves dead works is not Christian service at all.

(3) The great power experiment of the Church Age and the execution of the protocol plan of God demands the use of the omnipotence of the Holy Spirit inside the divine dynasphere.

(4) Divine omnipotence and human power are mutually exclusive. Serving God and fulfilling His plan cannot be accomplished by human power. Human power destroys the conscience and results in dead works.

(5) Legalism cannot execute the plan, purpose, or will of God in the Church Age.

(6) Serving God means the utilization of divine power and the cognition of Bible doctrine, which establishes the norms and standards for the right lobe.

6. The Momentum Department or the Department of Spiritual Growth.

a. This is the sphere of spiritual growth which is momentum inside the divine dynasphere under the enabling power of the Holy Spirit and momentum from metabolized doctrine. As a result of having doctrine in the frame of reference, moving it into memory center, vocabulary and categorical storage, developing norms and standards; we then have a growth factor from metabolized doctrine which moves us to spiritual maturity.

- b. There are two categories of spiritual growth.
 - (1) Normal spiritual growth comes from post-salvation epistemological rehabilitation. This is tantamount to operation Z or the three R's.
 - (a) Receptive comprehension, the first three stages of Operation Z.
 - (b) Retention, the metabolization of Bible doctrine, converting gnosis into epignosis doctrine.
 - (c) Recall, the application of that doctrine.
 - (2) Accelerated spiritual growth comes from the application of metabolized doctrine and the function of the problem solving devices of spiritual adulthood under suffering, pressure, and adversity for blessing. There are three categories of suffering for blessing in spiritual adulthood.
 - (a) Spiritual self-esteem plus providential preventative suffering equals spiritual autonomy.
 - (b) Spiritual autonomy plus momentum testing (gate #7 of the divine dynasphere) equals spiritual maturity.
 - (c) Spiritual maturity plus evidence testing equals maximum glorification of God.
 - c. It is true that you can learn from punitive suffering, from divine discipline, from the law of volitional responsibility, and from self-induced misery. But that is a slow process and does not necessarily advance you to spiritual self-esteem, the first stage of spiritual adulthood.
7. The Wisdom Department or the Launching Pad.
- a. Wisdom is the application of metabolized doctrine and problem solving devices to the various experiences of life.
 - b. Wisdom must accompany the learning of Bible doctrine. Otherwise, arrogance sets in. Without wisdom, there is arrogance.
 - c. The Greek word for wisdom, (sophia (σοφία) [pronounced sohf-EE-ah], (and the Hebrew equivalent, châk^emâh (חָכְמָה) [pronounced khawk^e-MAW]) means the ability to relate metabolized doctrine in the right lobe to life. Therefore, it is the ability to deal sagaciously with life from the accumulated facts of the mystery doctrine of the Church Age.
 - d. Wisdom is the application of metabolized doctrine and the utilization of problem solving devices for both normal and accelerated growth.
 - e. The launching pad is an entrance hall connected with your memory center. This is the application area. The launching pad takes recall of doctrine and applies it to experience under the function of your very own royal priesthood.

- f. The launching pad is used for the application of metabolized doctrine in both normal and accelerated growth, as well as in problem solving. One of the greatest areas of accelerated growth is the utilization and application of metabolized doctrine in both suffering for blessing.
- g. You cannot apply what you do not know. You can only apply doctrine for yourself; the pastor cannot apply Bible doctrine for you.
- h. The launching pad is where thought is converted into action. Your standards are applied to life. All other parts of the right lobe come together to make an application. As you apply more doctrine you develop wisdom.
- i. In the launching pad all the doctrine in the right lobe comes together for its application. This is where virtue love, hope 2 and 3, and the other problem solving devices have a phenomenal impact.
- j. This means always the application of doctrine to your experiences in the privacy of your priesthood, not trying to apply your norms and standards to others (unless you are a parent).
- k. Scripture.
 - (1) 1 Cor 1:30, "But you are from Him in Christ Jesus who became to us wisdom from God, both righteousness and sanctification and redemption."
 - (2) 1 Cor 2:7-8, "For we communicate God's wisdom in a mystery which has been hidden, which God predestined before the ages for the purpose of your glory, [divine wisdom] which none of the rulers of this age have understood; for if they had understood it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory."
 - (3) Jam 3:17, "But the wisdom from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, reasonable, full of mercy and divine good production, impartial, without hypocrisy."
 - (4) Phil 4:8, "Finally, brethren, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is integrity, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable, if there is any virtue, if there is anything worthy of praise, concentrate on these things."
- 8. The Subconscious Mind.
 - a. The subconscious is attached to the right lobe because the right lobe feeds it. The subconscious is the place for storage of impressions, thoughts, and emotions which do not exist in the conscious mind or in the emotions. Hence, totally apart from the vocabulary and categorical storage, conscience, frame of reference, or any form of metabolized doctrine, certain impressions are made which enter into the subconscious mind.
 - b. The subconscious includes aspects of the mental life which are not immediately a part of the individual's conscious mind, since certain emotional factors will not ordinarily permit its contents to come to the surface. However, with relatively little aid, the obstructing repressions can be lifted and the contents emerge into awareness. People who use their emotions too much usually block these things.

- c. While the subconscious is totally divorced from metabolized doctrine in the right lobe, it is also distinguished from the unconscious; it is between the conscious and the unconscious.
- d. The subconscious is a mental apparatus. It overlaps from the conscious mind, but is not immediately available to the conscious mind. The subconscious affects thoughts, feelings, behavior without entering into one's awareness. Hence, the subconscious is where there are impressions and mental activity just below the threshold of consciousness. These can be released. Often the teaching of Bible doctrine will release these things and clean out the subconscious of things that are false.
- e. The subconscious is merely the slough-off for things in the conscious mind that are rejected, no longer believed, or priorities and standards which you have now changed. When you change a standard and don't believe it anymore, and it conflicts with your conscience, that causes a leak into the subconscious. So the subconscious collects all the poison of your right lobe.
- f. The subconscious includes aspects of mental life which are not immediately part of the believer's conscious mind, since certain emotional factors will not ordinarily permit its contents to come to surface into the conscious mind; thus they remain repressed.
- g. However, metabolized doctrine in the right lobe of the soul plus the development of wisdom in the application of doctrine can remove obstructing repressions, and the contents of the subconscious can emerge into awareness where they can be dealt with and handled in the proper manner. This is one of doctrine's problem solving functions dealing with the subconscious. In the subconscious there is no problem solving device.
- h. Psychiatry regards the subconscious as the superficial aspect of the unconscious (which is probably incorrect), and certainly the subconscious functions apart from self as known, or self as the knower, or one's sense of self in personal identity and as a personality.
- i. Disorders of the conscious mind relate to the subconscious.
 - (1) The clouding of the conscious mind occurs when the individual is only partially aware of what is really going on. He is therefore divorced, in part or in toto, from reality. Certain mental diseases produce confusion, disorientation, and hazy awareness. These same things can also be produced in the believer through negative volition toward the mystery doctrine of the Church Age and subsequent cosmic involvement.

- (2) Normal clouding of the consciousness occurs when the individual is between sleep and waking, called the hypnagogic state.
- (3) A total loss of consciousness can occur through trauma, shock, or shutting off the blood supply to some part of the brain, as in a stroke. So the subconsciousness must be considered in light of the disorders of the consciousness.
- (4) Apparently in its function, the subconscious becomes a storage area for shock from sin, failure, adversity, frustration, or disappointment. When the conscious mind cannot or does not handle certain things, they apparently slip into the subconscious mind.
- (5) These shocks can be recalled in dreams. Dream activity is a part of subconscious function. Psychoanalysts give dreams a very high degree of importance, contending that they interpret to the conscious mind the strivings and desires of the unconscious.
- (6) Dr. Wallace Emerson, a Christian psychologist, noted six classifications of dreams that might do this.
 - (a) The dream of premonition is forebodings of some event to come, usually of an unhappy nature. Two Biblical dreams come under this category: the dream of the chief baker (Prince of the Cupbearers) in Gen 40:16-19, and the dream of Nebuchadnezzar in Dan 4:4-18. Nebuchadnezzar had a premonition of a palace revolution, and that for awhile he would be eating grass in the field.
 - (b) Prophetic dreams. This category also includes two Biblical dreams: Pharaoh's dream of Gen 41:1-8, and Nebuchadnezzar's dream of empires in Dan 2:1-10. Daniel's interpretation is given in Dan 2:27-45.
 - (c) Prodromatic dreams are related to disease or different body conditions. This is a dream which persists about some part of the body not yet resulting in pain, but due to some inflammatory or disease condition, it might have prognostic significance. This is a strange phenomenon related to the subconscious.
 - (d) Kinesthetic dreams are dreams of flying, soaring, or falling through space; perhaps a reflection of subconscious disappointment with one's circumstances.
 - (e) In paralytic dreams, the individual feels as though he cannot move his hands or feet; he cannot speak or cry for help. This is usually associated with some form of horror or unpleasant situation, a reflection of subconscious shock.

(f) In collective dreams, two or more people have the same dream.

(7) However, it is not the objective of this study to provide a dissertation on dreams, but simply to note the fact that dreams, which are products of thinking, lacking the awareness and direction supplied by the conscious mind, involve various processes and represent such products of repression as unacknowledged motives and desires.

(8) Frequently, dreams are symbolic expressions of inner tension.

(9) Every time you knock doctrine down from number one priority in your life, you will have problem solving devices in your life that cannot be dealt with directly until awareness exists. To bring these problem solving devices out of the subconscious requires going back to doctrine.

j. With the completion of the canon of Scripture, God no longer revealed Himself or His policy through dreams, visions, or direct conversation. So the use of that part of the right lobe of the soul for that purpose is definitely shut down.

D. Negative Functions of the Heart or Right Lobe.

1. The heart can reject Bible teaching, Prov 5:12-14. The heart negative to Bible doctrine refuses to concentrate. When you don't like what you hear, then you're unteachable and a candidate for reversionism. "How I have hated instruction of doctrine, and my heart has spurned reproof, and I have not listened to the voice of my teacher nor inclined my ear to the instructor. I almost came to ruin in the middle of the assembly of the congregation." You're negative toward doctrine; so you become unteachable.
2. The heart is the source of discord and troublemaking, which leads to strife and conspiracy, Prov 6:14, 18. The one who by distortion or perversity in his heart devises evil continually, he is the one who is the spreader of strife. A heart that devises wicked conspiracy, feet run rapidly to evil.
3. The woman uses heart thinking to entice the male for personal gain without love.
 - a. The heart of the prostitute is subtle. Prov 7:10 And behold a woman comes to meet him dressed magnificently like a prostitute and very cunning of heart.
 - b. Eccl 7:26 I have discovered more bitter than death the woman whose heart is snares and nets, and in her hands she has chains. However, the person who is pleasing God [doctrine in the right lobe] will escape from her. But the sinning one [arrogant male] will be captured by her. Bob wishes that he has found these passages on Valentine's Day.
 - c. A woman can often do a lot of thinking, but it's not objective, doctrinal, professional or academic thinking; it is thinking used to bring attention to herself in whatever way she wants attention. This is thinking in terms of "snares and nets", and in her hands she has chains. She will be very flattering and conniving, and once she catches you by your arrogance, your arrogance will chain you to her.

- d. One thing that will destroy wisdom, I.Q., and ability to look at life from the divine viewpoint is the dumb arrogant male succumbing to the flattery of a woman, using him for her own advancement or pleasure.
4. The heart suffers disappointment from broken promises, Prov 13:12. The heart is the source of frustrations. Frustration is a thought. "Hope deferred makes the heart sick, but desire fulfilled is a tree of life."
5. The heart is the environment for mental attitude sins.
 - a. 2Samuel 6:16 Now when it came to pass that the ark of the Lord came into the city of David, then Michal, the daughter of Saul, looked out the window and she saw David dancing before the Lord; consequently she despised him in her heart. You hate and love in your right lobe. Both love and hate are a system and function of thinking. Bob went to dancing school in Beverly Hills around age 10. This woman may have loved David, but she hated him here. A woman cannot stand for a man she loves to be having a great time and she is not. David was not drunk, but he was exuberant.
 - b. Prov 14:10 The heart knows its own bitterness. Bitterness is one of the greatest of all sins of arrogance. It infiltrates the right lobe and neutralizes whatever doctrine is there. And a stranger does not share its joy. It is rude to show these things when you are having a party.
 - c. Arrogance is found in Prov 21:4, "Haughty eyes and an arrogant heart, the lamp of the wicked is sin." In other words, once you have arrogance in your right lobe, whatever its manifestation, this becomes your lamp for life and it sets aside all doctrine.
 - d. In Obadiah 3, arrogance deceives you and causes you to make a fool of yourself. "The arrogance of your heart has deceived you."
 - e. Worry is found in Eccl 2:23.
 - f. Deceitfulness is found in Jer 17:9. "The heart is more deceitful than anything else and becomes a source of desperate wickedness."
6. The frantic search for happiness is related to the heart in Eccl 1:13.
7. Revolution and insubordination are described as being a part of the thinking of the heart. 2Samuel 15:6, "So Absalom stole away the hearts of the men of Israel." Jer 5:23, "But this people have a stubborn and a rebellious heart. They have turned aside and departed from Me." Ezek 6:9.
8. Hypocrisy is related to thinking in the heart, for you can think one thing and express another thing overtly. Psalm 55:21 His speech was smoother than butter, but his heart was at war with me. His words were softer than oil, yet they were drawn swords, ready to stab me. Bob has known many people like this, who are sweet and kind, and inside, hate you and want you destroyed.
9. Superficial gaiety doesn't indicate the true state of the individual's heart or right lobe. Prov 14:13 Even in times of laughter, the heart may be in pain, and the end of the party may be grief. So many of these illustrations involve a party.

10. Reversionism is described in terms of the heart, Jeremiah 17:5 So says the Lord, 'Cursed is the man who depends on mankind and makes flesh his strength. His heart has turned away from the Lord [negative volition to Bible doctrine].' Jeremiah 17:9 The heart is more deceitful than anything else and becomes a source of desperate wickedness.
11. So the heart is related to any kind of failure in life. In other words, the real you is what you think. Your life is not what others see overtly, though it may reflect good or bad thoughts, right or wrong priorities.

E. The heart is related to perception and thinking.

1. The heart is related to perception of Bible doctrine. Deut 29:4, "Yet to this day the Lord has not given you a heart to know." The heart is the organ of knowledge in the soul.
2. The heart is related to thinking in terms of reversionism in Psalm 10:6, 11, 13. Psalm 10:6, 11, 13 reveals the human viewpoint thinking of the reversionist related to the heart. "He says in his heart, 'I shall not be moved to all generations, I shall not be in adversity.' He says in his heart, 'God has forgotten me, He has hidden His face from me. He will never see it. Why has the wicked [believer] spurned God?' He has said in his heart, 'You will not hold me responsible.'"
3. The thinking of the atheist is related to the heart. Psalm 14:1, "The fool has thought in his heart, 'There is no God.'"
4. The heart is related to rationalizing mental attitudes. The rationalizing maladjustment to the justice of God is found in Isa 47:10, "And you felt secure in your evil, and you said to yourself, 'No one sees me.' Your evil wisdom and your human viewpoint knowledge has deluded you, for you have thought in your heart, 'I am, and there is no one as good as I am.'"
5. False teachers communicate false doctrine from the deceit of their heart, Jer 14:14.
6. The heart is the place where people think they are superior to others. Luke 9:46-47, "Now a controversy entered among them as to which of the disciples was the greatest. But Jesus, knowing the thinking in their hearts..."
7. The heart is used for meditation on Bible doctrine. Lk 2:19 But Mary treasured up all these things and pondered them in her heart.

F. The thinking of the heart is related to both positive and negative attitudes.

1. Love and the capacity for love is in the right lobe, Deut 6:5, 11:13; Josh 22:5.
2. On the other hand, sorrow also emanates from the right lobe, Lev 26:16; Neh 2:2.
3. Happiness is related to doctrine in the right lobe, Psalm 19:8, 28:7.
4. Pressure is also related to the right lobe, Psalm 34:18.
5. The dynamics of wisdom are related to the right lobe, Job 9:4.
6. Cowardice is related to the right lobe, Josh 14:8; 1 Sam 17:32.

7. Discouragement is related to the right lobe, Num 32:7,9. 8. So we see the importance of Bible doctrine. For Bible doctrine will eliminate sorrow, pressure, cowardice, and discouragement. On the other hand, it will handle happiness and the dynamics of wisdom in a magnificent way.

G. The heart is the location of true happiness.

1. "Gladness of heart," Jud 18:20; 1 Sam 1:13, 2:1, 10:9, 16:7, 17:32; 1 Kg 8:66; 2 Chron 7:10; Est 5:9.
2. "A merry heart," 1 Sam 25:36; 2 Sam 13:28, 6:16; Prov 15:13,15, 17:22; 1 Chron 15:29; 2 Chron 6:7. (Many more for both; see concordance.)
3. The heart is related to capacity for life. All capacity for life is related to Bible doctrine residing in the heart's frame of reference, memory center, vocabulary and categorical storage, norms and standards and launching pad. The heart is related to both positive and negative aspects of capacity for life.

H. The heart is an area of disaster.

1. The breakdown of proper thinking is the greatest disaster in life.
2. Reversionism in the heart results in national disaster according to Deuteronomy 28:47-48 Because you [a priest nation or a client nation] did not serve the Lord your God with joy and a glad heart for the abundance of all things [which comes from maximum doctrine in the soul]; therefore, you will serve your enemies whom the Lord will send against you, in hunger, in thirst, in nakedness, He will put an iron yoke on your neck until He has destroyed you. The cycles of discipline are related to reversionism in the right lobe. Since the Jews refused to serve God, they will serve their enemies.
3. Revenge as the motivation of the heart is disastrous to the individual who has it, Prov 24:1-2; Ezek 25:15-17. Revenge and retaliation is a malfunction of the heart.
4. The heart is related to psychosis or mental illness in Isaiah 13:7-8. Cowardice results from maladjustment to the justice of God. Isaiah 13:7-8 All hands will fall limp. Every man's heart will melt [no thought]. They will be terrified. Fear is when you stop thinking under pressure. It is not your nervous system being active. Courage is being able to think under pressure. Under awareness of the pressure and danger, you are aware of it and your body reacts. That is not fear; that is total awareness. Fear is when you stop thinking under pressure.
5. Mental attitude sins relate the heart to the function of the old sin nature, as in Psalm 66:18, 101:5; Prov 6:18; Mt 12:35; Lk 6:45, and many other passages.
 - a. Mental attitude sins, while originating from your own volition, by their very nature operate from the heart or thinking of the soul. Thinking type sins are a combination of the old sin nature and the heart, the link being the permissiveness of volition.

b. Mental attitude sins originate from lack of doctrine and result in malfunction of the spiritual life. Psalm 66:18, "If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me." Volition + mental attitude sins relate the sin nature to the heart. Psalm 101:5 Whoever secretly slanders his neighbor, I will destroy him. No one who has a manifestation of pride and an arrogant heart will I endure. Volition brings iniquity from the old sin nature into the heart and arrogance is formed.

c. In Matt 12:34-35 Jesus called these people with wrong thinking "a brood of vipers, a nest of snakes. How can you, being evil, speak what is good. For the mouth speaks out what fills the heart. The good man out of his good treasure [= words] brings forth what is good. On the other hand, the evil man out of his evil treasure brings forth what is evil. The heart is key to everything.

d. The Pharisees were critical of those who did not wash before meals. They emphasized the overt and superficial to the exclusion of the important things of life, Mt 15:17-20. Don't mix cleanliness with spirituality. Doctrine in the right lobe is your security and your comfort and your confidence.

6. Emotional revolt of the soul and mental attitude sins are related to the heart in Lk 6:45, 24:25.

7. Since maladjustment to the justice of God comes from negative volition to Bible doctrine, it is described as hardness of heart, Lam 3:65.

I. The heart is related to momentum in the spiritual life.

1. The heart is related to grace function in Prov 24:17.

2. The heart is related to grace orientation in Ex 23:9.

3. The heart is related to +H in 1 Sam 2:1.

4. The heart is the basis for stability in crisis, Psalm 112:7-8.

5. The heart is the source of motivation in the temporal life, Ex 35:25-26,35, 36:8; and in the spiritual life, 2 Cor 9:7.

J. The heart is used as an anthropopathism.

1. An anthropopathism ascribes to God characteristics He does not have. 1 Sam 2:35, "But I will raise up for Myself a faithful priest who will do according to what is in My heart." Of course, God does not have a right lobe, so that is an anthropopathism.

2. Ps 78:72, "So He [Jesus Christ] shepherded them according to the integrity of His heart and guided them with skillful hands." This verse contains both an anthropopathism, "integrity of His heart," and an anthropomorphism, "skillful hands."

3. Jer 23:20, "The anger of the Lord will not turn back until He has performed and carried out the purpose of His heart." Cf. Jer 30:24.

4. So the heart is used as an anthropopathism for God's thinking and God's planning.

- K. The heart is related to adjustment to the justice of God at salvation. Rom 10:9-10. Believing is in the heart. Only the means (believing) saves a person, not the result (confessing Jesus Christ as Lord).
- L. The heart is the location of true happiness. 2Chron. 7:10 Esther 5:9
- M. The heart is related to the justice of God. Romans 10:9–10 If you acknowledge that Jesus is Lord [the result of salvation], you have believed in the heart. With the heart, man believes, resulting in righteousness.
- N. The heart is related to motivation in life.
- O. The heart is also used as an anthropathism. 1Samuel 2:25 Jeremiah 23:20

PPG 48 8/9/84; Eph 1:18; Eph 342, 736, 863ff, 1246; Isr 152 12/26/91

R. B. Thieme, Jr. Bible Ministries 5139 West Alabama, Houston, Texas 77056 (713) 621-3740

c 1993, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

Romans 2:5 But because of your hardness and unrepentant heart, you are treasuring up to yourself wrath in the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgement of God,...

Sounds like Bob is going back to complete this doctrine.

1977 Romans

Lesson #45

45 02/28/1977 Romans 2:5b Doctrine of the heart (pts. 5–12); draft dodgers

Barron's magazine and the problems with their railroads, shortages, and gathering men together to confess their wrongdoing, so that there is someone to blame. It is all the more reason to take seriously Peking's winks and nods to the United States.

Fred Young in Houston, about the blanket pardon of the draft dodgers. He talks about FDR's sellout at Potsdam. "I've heard all of the rhetoric of why we shouldn't go there; we still did. The pardon is a slap in the face for sunny boy." "It was all for nothing, boys, you did not ever need to do this. Any future need, and no one needs to go." He considers the pardon of the draft dodgers a personal insult. Plain old common sense Americanism.

Africans think that they can abuse our missionaries. You do not hear any more, "You touch one American and we will wipe you off the map."

Rather than place the previous doctrine (Doctrine of the Heart) in two places, I will simply pick up with point 5 and leave it where it is. Basic review. Doctrine is continued above; but fewer sections match up.

This doctrine of the heart was completed in this lesson. I missed a few of the points.

1977 Romans

Lesson #46

Romans 2:5 But because of your hardness and unrepentant heart, you are treasuring up to yourself wrath in the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgement of God,...

“treasurest up” – present active indicative from the verb thêsaurizô (θησαυρίζω) [pronounced thay-sow-RIHD-zo] which means to collect and store wealth, to save up, to reserve, to accumulate into hords. Here it means to store up and accumulate. The present tense is a retroactive progressive present denoting something begun in the past and continuing into the present time. This began at the time that they became maladjusted to the justice of God at the point of salvation, and the hardness of heart and resultant scar tissue accumulated in unbeliever reversionism. The active voice: the self-righteous Gentile unbeliever produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative, it views the action of the verb from the standpoint of reality.

“for yourself” – a reflexive pronoun in the dative masculine singular, it is the indirect object from seautou (σεαυτοῦ, ἡς) [pronounced seh-ow-TOO]; “wrath” – the accusative singular direct object from orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY], wrath or anger. This is an anthropopathism for divine judgment against reversionism. The absence of the definite article calls attention to the high quality of this judgment. The one who is judging is perfect; the condemnation is perfect.

“against the day of wrath” – the preposition en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of hêmera (ἡμέρα) [pronounced hay-MEH-raw], “on the day,” plus the descriptive genitive of orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY]: “on the day of wrath.” The day of wrath is the last judgment, the great white throne which is the final judgment from the justice of God to those maladjusted at the point of salvation.

“and revelation” – the ascensive kai with the appositional genitive of a noun which also means disclosure, apokalupsis (ἀποκάλυψις) [pronounced ap-ok-AL-oop-sis], referring to the disclosure, the shock, the trauma that comes to the unbeliever when he stands before the Lord Jesus Christ at the great white throne and endures the shock of seeing his own self-righteousness totally set aside. He discovers that the divine attitude toward his accumulation of righteousness to his own attitude are as far apart as any two attitudes could be. So even the disclosure of ...

“the righteous judgment of God” – descriptive genitive of dikaiokrisia [krisis (κρίσις) [pronounced KREE-sihs] = judgment’ dikaios (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss] = righteous or just], translated “just judgment.” The absence of the definite article emphasizes the qualitative aspect of this noun. There is also an ablative of source from Theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], meaning “from God.” The definite article with the noun indicates that God is well known to the readers.

1. It is impossible for the judicial verdict from the justice of God to be unfair. The judicial verdict here is eternity in the lake of fire without recourse—alive, conscious, in pain forever and ever. This judicial verdict is not unfair.
2. Unfairness is incompatible with perfect divine essence.
3. Since the self-righteous type prefers to stand on the accumulation of his human good deeds, these deeds will be used to indict him at the last judgment.
4. No sins can be mentioned at the last judgment since Christ has already been judged for those sins at the time of the cross.
5. Only human good will be the basis for divine judgment of the unbeliever—Revelation 20:12-15.[4]
6. Human good was not judged at the cross.
7. The self-righteous unbeliever stores up human good, hoarding it for his defense at the last judgment. But no matter how much human good he has by way of accumulation or hoarding it is never enough.

Romans 2:5 Because of your hardness and unrepentant heart, you store up and accumulate for yourself wrath against the day of wrath, even disclosure of just judgment from the God.

The unrepentant heart means that the unbeliever continues to hoard human good as a part of their self-righteousness.

The most difficult people in the world to get along with and to work with are self righteous people. They are rarely aware of it. They have no clue as to what pains they are to be around. When you have that good of an opinion of yourself, it is rarely kept a secret.

Doctrine of the Last Judgment

- A. Definition.
 1. The Last Judgment is the alternative to salvation. In effect, it is facing God's judgment in eternity because you would not face God's judgment in time.
 2. The Last Judgment is the expression of the integrity of God toward those who reject Christ as Savior.
 3. It is the culminating judgment of human history in which every unbeliever of the human race is judged and sentenced to the lake of fire. They will stand before Jesus Christ who is the supreme court judge of heaven, Jn 5:22.
 4. This is also called the second death or the Great White Throne Judgment, Revelation 20:12.
 5. The people who are there are maladjusted to the justice of God.
- B. There are two basic categories in the human race based on God's justice.
 1. The believer has accepted and adjusted to divine justice in time, John 3:18, 36; Acts 4:12. There is only one way to be saved, and that is through Christ. This divides the human race into two distinct groups.

2. The unbeliever must face divine judgment in eternity, since he was negative to divine justice in time. The unbeliever's indictment is based upon his rejection of Jesus Christ. The trial will examine his human good.
 3. Attitude toward Christ determines classification in the human race. Idiots, morons, babies, and those who never reach the age of accountability are automatically saved by the justice of God.
- C. In the Last Judgment, only the unbeliever is under the indictment of rejection of Christ as Savior, Jn 3:18, 16:9; Revelation 20:15. The Book of Life is the roster of believers only. The unbeliever is not found in the Book of Life because he has not been given eternal life for faith in Christ. He has committed the "willful sin" or "unpardonable sin" of unbelief in the person and work of the Lord Jesus Christ, Hebrews 10:26.
- D. No believer is involved in the Last Judgment, Rom 8:1. There is, therefore, no judgment to those who are in Christ Jesus.
- E. The unbeliever has two appointments with God.
1. Hebrews 9:27-28, physical death.
 2. The second death or the Last Judgment. This is spiritual death or separation from God forever. Heb 9:27 For just as it is destined for man to die once, but after that the act of judgment.
- F. The second appointment of judgment is preceded by the second resurrection, John 5:24-29; Dan 12:2.
1. All unbelievers are resurrected at the end of the Millennium in order that they may be judged by Christ and cast into the lake of fire. They are resurrected from the fire of Hades to go into the eternal lake of fire. So the Last Judgment follows the second resurrection.
 2. Daniel 12:3 And many of those who sleep in the dust of the ground will awake to eternal life [first resurrection for believers only], but others to disgrace and eternal rejection.
- G. The Basis of Indictment of the Unbeliever.
1. No sin is mentioned as the basis of judgment, but rather the unbeliever's human good and his righteousness based on his good works, which God rejects as not good enough to match the perfect righteousness of God required for eternal life with God.
 2. At the Last Judgment, two books are opened.
 - a. The Book of Life lists the names of believers only. Therefore, this book is closed because all the names of unbelievers have been blotted out, and so it is not an issue at the Last Judgment.
 - b. The Book of Works lists the name of every person who has rejected Christ as Savior. All his works are listed there. They are all added up, and they total relative righteousness. God is perfect righteousness and cannot have fellowship with anything less. This is the basis of judgment.
 3. So the unbeliever is judged on the basis of his works, not his sins, Romans 2:5-6; Revelation 20:12-13.

4. Jesus Christ was judged for the sins of believers and unbelievers; this is the doctrine of unlimited atonement, taught in 2 Cor 5:14,15,19; 1 Tim 2:6, 4:10; Tit 2:11; Heb 2:9; 2Peter 2:1; 1 Jn 2:2
 5. The unbeliever is judged because he has rejected Jesus Christ as Savior. John 3:18 He who believes in Him is not judged, but he who does not believe is judged already because he has not believed in the name of the uniquely born Son of God.
 6. John 16:9 says that the convicting ministry of the Holy Spirit does not address your personal sins, but only the one sin which could not be judged on the cross. "Concerning sin, because they do not believe in Me."
 7. The sea giving up the dead are those who died in the great flood; they will be resurrected for judgment.
- H. The Eternal Status of the Unbeliever.
1. The unbeliever faces "the second death," Rev 20:14, also called "dying in your sins," Jn 8:21,24.
 2. The unbeliever will live forever in the lake of fire, Rev 20:14-15; Matt 25:41.
 3. The unbeliever does not have his name in the Book of Life, Rev 20:15; only in the Book of Works, Rev 20:12-13.
 - a. Man's works are not adequate to live with God forever. Only the righteousness of God is adequate. The righteousness of God is imputed to all believers at the moment of faith in Jesus Christ.
 - b. Rom 2:22, "Even the righteousness of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all those who believe."
 - c. The cross separates the entire human race into believers and unbelievers.
 4. To live with God forever, you must be as good as God is (have perfect righteousness), and live as long as God does (have eternal life). The unbeliever has neither. Therefore, he lives forever with human life in his soul in the lake of fire in a resurrection body designed especially to suffer maximum pain.
 5. God gives the unbeliever an indestructible body and soul to suffer with forever, Rev 14:11.
- Revelation 674; 8/18/76; 3/1/77; 10/20/77; 11/28/77; Ephesians 778 3/3/88

Within this doctrine, point 1, Bob reviews love1 and love2. Justice is the only thing that man sees in his relationship with God.

The Lake of Fire warms up our thinking on this subject.

Romans 2:6 ...who "will give to each according to his works,"...

Verse 6 – "Who" is the relative pronoun referring to the presiding judge of the supreme court of heaven, the Lord Jesus Christ, who will judge the unbeliever at the last judgment,

John 5:22 cf. Revelation 20:12. This verse is a quotation from Psalm 62:12; Proverbs 24:12.

“will render” – future active indicative from the verb apodidōmi (ἀποδίδωμι) [pronounced ap-od-EED-o-mee]. It means to pay back, to return, to recompense, hence to repay in the form of reward or punishment in this passage. The verb connotes divine judgment on the unbeliever at the great white throne. The future tense is a predictive future denoting something which will occur at a future time. The active voice: Jesus Christ is the subject producing the action of the verb—judging the unbeliever. The indicative mood is declarative for historical reality of the last judgment.

“to every man” – dative singular indirect object as well as dative of advantage from the adjective hekastos (ἕκαστος) [pronounced HEHK-as-toss], used here as a substantive and it means “to each one.” It is used to indicate a specific category: unbeliever type. This is dative of disadvantage, it is a great disadvantage to be an unbeliever. The adjective used as the substantive refers in this context to a specific type of unbeliever—self-righteous types who accumulate from motivation of arrogance a tremendous number of good deeds and are very confident of their self-righteousness.

“according to his deeds” – the preposition kata plus the accusative plural of ergon (ἔργον) [pronounced EHR-gon] meaning works or deeds, plus the possessive genitive singular from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS] referring to each individual. All of his deeds are remembered by God. All of them are recorded in the book of good deeds, all of them are mentioned at the last judgment, examined thoroughly, and they will still add up to minus righteousness. Therefore righteousness tells justice what to do—condemn to the lake of fire forever all of the accumulated human good.

Romans 2:6 [Jesus Christ] who will render judgment to each one according to his works.

Note that sins are not mentioned in any of the passages, including this one, regarding the last judgment. All sins (for believers and unbelievers) were judged at the cross—doctrine of unlimited atonement. Jesus did not die for only the elect; He died for all.

One of the worst aspects of Calvinism is the idea the Jesus died only for the elect. This is described by TULIP. Limited atonement is anti-Biblical; it is anti-grace. Most theologians come down either as Calvinists or Arminians; but we are not. We are Biblical. Unfortunately, Calvin was much smarter than most of his disciples. He wrote a lot of excellent exegesis. This system should not be called Calvinism; it should be called TULIP-ism.

The sin nature with its area of weakness and its area of strength. Both part produce evil. The area of weakness produces sin; and the area of strength produces human good. Just as all sin has been judged, all human good will be judged.

The doctrine of human good did not match up very well to the doctrine given here. I tried to fill in some of the additional/different material. The order will not be the same. This doctrine was covered again in Lessons #191 and #192.

Human Good

1. Human good is a reference to anything produced by man apart from grace provision.
2. The tree of the knowledge of good and evil; Adam and the woman did not need to know about good and evil in order to understand God. As a believer, we do not need to perform human good and evil.
3. Human good is dead to the plan of God. It is works - Hebrews 6:1. In order to advance spiritually, you must change your mind about human good and evil
4. The production of human good allows for boasting on the part of the doer. Human good + arrogance = boasting. Ephesians 2:8–9 Romans 4:2
5. Human good will not save mankind - Titus 3:5; Ephesians 2:8,9.
6. Human good is not acceptable to God ever - Isaiah 64:6; Romans 8:8.
7. There is Satanic human good and morality based human good. There is the good of the observation of the laws of divine establishment. This is necessary for the advancement of the human race. Romans 13:1–7 this is morality as related to establishment, and this is necessary for a nation to advance. Bearing the sword in vain, means that capital punishment is used on those who have violated the laws of the land.
8. The believer and unbeliever both have their human good judged.
9. Human good is condemned by God - 1Corinthians 3:11-16; Ecclesiastes 12:14.
10. Human good is the basis of judgement:
 - a. In the unbeliever at the last judgement (Great White Throne) - Revelation 20:11-15.
 - b. In the believer at the Judgement Seat of Christ - 1 Corinthians 3:11-16; 2 Corinthians 5:10; Romans 14:10.
11. Human good is a product of the old sin nature (carnal) - Isaiah 64:6a.
12. Human good was rejected at the cross (human works are never accepted for redemption) and accumulated human good - will be burned at the Judgement Seat of Christ - 1 Corinthians 3:11-16.
 - a. Divine good: Gold, silver and precious stones. In fellowship rewarded.
 - b. Human good: Wood, hay, and stubble - carnality: burned.
13. Psalm 18:2 - David says human good is not included in the plan of God. God is so great that He does not rely on our human good or anything we can do.
14. Grace depends on who and what God is and there is no room for human good in His plan.
15. Human good is not categorized as sin, although it is just as unacceptable to God. Human good is different from sin in that human good does not involve a moral issue. Giving money, for example, to a local church would not be classed as sin, but if the person were unsaved it would be human good. If it were a believer out of fellowship it would be human good.

16. Human good is actually religion - a person either working his way into heaven (an impossibility) or a believer thinking human good is acceptable.
17. Human good is not confessed as sin. It is taken care of by staying in fellowship. When in fellowship divine good is produced.
18. Human good is actually a Satanic concept: One of the greatest exhibits of the cunning nature of Satan is the promotion of his doctrine through the social gospel, concepts of world peace, internationalism, economic ventures, "do-gooder", doing good in the name of good, and religious endeavours - 2 Thessalonians 2:9; 1 Timothy 4:1ff. Satan would love to abolish war - and get the credit for it.
19. A distinction must be made between human good and morality. Morality does not save, however morality is a by-product of Christianity. Morality is for the orderly function of the human race under the four divine institutions (volition, marriage, family, nationalism).
20. Thus morality is designed by God for the continuance of the human race in the Angelic Conflict - and protects human freedom as a basis for response to evangelism. Whereas morality is not condemned in this capacity - human good is always condemned.
21. Morality minus spirituality causes legalism, religionism, self-righteousness and hypocrisy in the believer.
22. The answer to human good is divine good. Divine good is produced in the believer in three ways: (Through Bible doctrine)
 - a. The filling of the Spirit - Galatians 5:22-23.
 - b. From the exhale of Bible doctrine from the human spirit - Ephesians 4:23ff; Luke 2:40-52.
 - c. From the erection of the edification complex of the soul - John 1:14.
23. One of the great themes of the Bible is good versus good. Human good versus divine good. Satan produces human good, God produces divine good.

1977 Romans

Lesson #47

47 03/02/1977 Romans 2:7a; Acts 17:22–31 Mechanics of, cf. principle of, salvation; abstract Gospel of Paul to Athens

Bob reviews human love versus divine love. God's love is internal rather than external. He loves His righteousness, which is perfect righteousness. He cannot tolerate anything less than perfect righteousness. We must deal with God's righteousness. His righteousness cannot tolerate human sinfulness or our personal righteousness.

God's righteousness acts as the watchdog for the rest of His integrity.

God's sovereignty, omnipotence and love cannot save us. The only thing that we have a relationship with is divine justice.

Good and evil describes the plan of Satan. Adam and the woman had no need to understand good and evil while under perfect environment. They were incapable of doing either. Therefore, they did not need to eat from the tree of good and evil.

The alternative to judgment, is the adjustment to the justice of God.

Bob wants us to hear the KJV, simply so that we can disdain it. The authorized version—we did not authorize, King James did.

Bob uses the KJV because we use it; and this is so people can follow him. It is the most problematic translation that Bob knows, so that he can have more fun correcting it.

Romans 2:7 ...to those who indeed with endurance in good work are seeking glory and honor and immortality, eternal life;...

Verse 7 – the alternative to judgment. “To them” – tois (τοῖς) [pronounced toiç] men. Tois (τοῖς) [pronounced toiç] is a dative plural indirect object from the definite article used as a demonstrative pronoun to emphasize those who adjust to the justice of God at salvation through faith in Jesus Christ, but to emphasize them through principle, not mechanics. The dative of indirect object indicates the one in whose interest salvation is provided, i.e. the entire world. So this is tantamount, then, to a dative of advantage since it is to the advantage of every person in the human race to have their sins judged by the justice of God at the cross, and also to be positive at the point of God-consciousness and again at gospel hearing. From the standpoint of principle, then (not mechanics), we have adjustment to the justice of God in this passage. Such persons have previously been positive at the point of God-consciousness and therefore this opportunity has been afforded. The second word, mén (μέν) [pronounced men], is the affirmative particle which introduces a concessive clause to be followed by another concessive clause. This is the correlative use of this particle (mén (μέν) [pronounced men]) in contrast to its use in an anacoluthon where a contrast can be supplied from the context, and therefore it can be omitted as obvious. We translate tois (τοῖς) [pronounced toiç] men, “To those on the one hand.” “Those” simply refers to those who made the positive adjustment to the justice of God instantly at salvation.

The convicting ministry of the Holy Spirit is making the gospel understandable to the unbeliever; which is also known as common grace.

From this point on there is a change in the word order in the Greek. The words have been juggled in the KJV. The change in the word order is due to the fact that the dative plural definite article goes with the participle, and therefore we have an articular participle, the word “seek.” It is the articular present active participle from the verb zêteô (ζητέω) [pronounced zay-THE-oh]. Zêteô (ζητέω) [pronounced zay-TEH-oh] means to seek, to look for, to search for, as in Acts 17:27, and therefore the word is used for positive volition at God-consciousness. Actually, when you discover there is a God through the function of the soul (primarily the right lobe of the soul) then, if you are positive at God-consciousness, there is a seeking for God, a thinking about God, a looking into the sky and wondering about God, etc. It is positive volition at God-consciousness.

The verb zêteô (ζητέω) [pronounced zay-TEH-oh] connotes what one desires somehow to bring into relationship with himself—you think about God, you want to know about God, you want to have a relationship with God. The word also means to obtain without knowing where something could be found. God-consciousness, then, is the subject of Paul's message to the Athenians on Mars Hill (Areopagas). Paul's message was given to those who had reached God-consciousness, but they needed gospel hearing.

There were people who gathered there at Mars Hill, and we know from v. 34 that many responded positively.

Acts 17:22–27 So Paul, standing in the midst of the Areopagus, said: “Men of Athens, I perceive that in every way you are very religious. For as I passed along and observed the objects of your worship, I found also an altar with this inscription: ‘To the unknown god.’ What therefore you worship as unknown, this I proclaim to you. The God who made the world and everything in it, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in temples made by man, nor is He served by human hands, as though He needed anything, since He Himself gives to all mankind life and breath and everything. And He made from one man every nation of mankind to live on all the face of the earth, having determined allotted periods and the boundaries of their dwelling place, that they should seek God, and perhaps feel their way toward Him and find Him. Yet He is actually not far from each one of us,... (text from the ESV; capitalized)

Bob goes back to v. 22. Areopagas is the hill of Mars, the god of war. Paul had to stand up on a higher piece of ground, since there was a large crowd there.

Aristotle was being executed for being anti-religious; he appeared to be antagonistic toward the gods of the Greeks. So this was a great remark by Paul, “I perceive that you are very religious in all respects.”

Athens was filled with many temples and idols. Many of these were great works of art. Greatest artwork in the world. Paul came across an altar. Someone putting up the idols and altars, “In case I missed you, I put up the unknown god altar for you.”

Paul did not complete the inscription, as they all knew it. “You’re right; there is an unknown god, and now I am going to enlighten you about Him.”

The Creator of all the earth does not dwell in temples. This was a revolutionary and courageous statement. He gives to all, life and breath. This is a reference to the breath of God or to the spark of life.

Adam was created; and the woman was taken from the man, so that she is the glory of man.

Boundaries means that the world needs to be broken up into national entities.

Acts 17:27 – “That they should seek the God.” The purpose of establishment (verse 26) is to give people the opportunity of seeking God. Here we have the present active infinitive of zêteô (ζητέω) [pronounced zay-TEH-oh]. The present tense is an iterative present describing what recurs at successive intervals, namely positive volition at the point of God-consciousness. The active voice: the unbeliever of the human race at God-consciousness produces the action of the verb. Positive volition is expressed in terms of seeking. The infinitive is the infinitive of conceived result, assumed as a consequence of positive volition at God-consciousness.

“if perhaps they might grope for him, and find him” – seek and find is the issue. Seek = +V at God-consciousness; find = +V at gospel hearing. The word for “find” is the aorist active optative of heuriskô (εὕρισκω) [pronounced hyoo-RIHS-koh] which means to discover or to recognize. The aorist tense is a constative aorist, it gathers into one entirety the function of common grace, the ministry of God the Holy Spirit in perception of the gospel. The active voice: positive volition at God-consciousness produces the action of the verb—gospel hearing. The optative mood is a mood of strong contingency, strong possibility. It contains no definite anticipation of realization but merely presents the action as conceivable, which it is, therefore some are positive and some are not. It should read, therefore, “That they should seek the God, if perhaps they might grope for him, and find him, though he is not far from each one of us.”

Acts 17:28–31 ...for “‘In him we live and move and have our being’; as even some of your own poets have said, “‘For we are indeed his offspring.’ Being then God’s offspring, we ought not to think that the divine being is like gold or silver or stone, an image formed by the art and imagination of man. The times of ignorance God overlooked, but now he commands all people everywhere to repent, because he has fixed a day on which he will judge the world in righteousness by a man whom he has appointed; and of this he has given assurance to all by raising him from the dead.” (ESV; capitalized)

There are two Greek poets and they both said the same thing. One likely copied it from the other. The crowd must be impressed by this.

“If we are the offspring of God, we should not think of His essence as being gold or silver or stone.”

Bob discusses abstract art. He went to the Seattle something, and saw a painting that was all black with a pink spot being placed there a little off-center. Sold for $20,000 and is worth $100,000 today. People are crazy.

Ancient art shows a great deal of thought. The sculptures are not always to scale, but they show great perspective. Reuben’s flesh tones show great thought. Bob doubts that anyone came close to his development of flesh tones.

Acts 17:30 – “Therefore having overlooked the times of ignorance [between God-consciousness and gospel hearing]”—there is a period after a person becomes God-conscious where they are ignorant of God—“the God is now communicating to men that all everywhere should change their mind.” Paul didn’t say “believe,” he said change their mind or repent, and the reason he said repent is because he was dealing with intellectual people at the point of God-consciousness and he knew that they had to change their minds about the concepts of God. Their concepts of God were taken from their art forms, their statuary; so they had to change. Later on they did believe.

“all everywhere should repent” – present active infinitive of metanoéō (μετανοέω) [pronounced meh-tah-noh-EH-oh] [meta = to change; noéō (νοέω) [pronounced noh-EH-oh] = to think]. The present tense is an aoristic present for punctiliar action in present time. He is challenging them now while he is standing on Mars Hill and looking at this great crowd. It takes just a second to be saved. The active voice: the human being at God-consciousness and gospel hearing produces the action of the verb. The infinitive is intended result, when the result is indicated as fulfilling a deliberate aim or purpose. It is a blending of purpose and result. Paul uses the aoristic present, as he is looking at this to take place presently; and it is instantaneous.

Acts 17:31 – “Because he has set a day in which he will judge the inhabitants of the world in dikaiousunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] through a noble man [Jesus Christ] whom he [God the Father] has appointed; having offered faith to all when he raised him from the dead.” Paul mentioned something that was totally foreign to their thinking. Everything he has said up to dikaiousunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] they understand, and they can understand faith; but what they could never understand was a literal, physical, bodily resurrection. In Greek thought there was no such thing. The true issue is the justice of God; and the Greeks understood this issue. This word was used back in the 5th century B.C.

If Paul used this approach today, it is possible that no one would be saved. But his approach was ideal for the Greeks in Athens. Someone today could say, “God has a valentine for you, and that is eternal life.”

If Bob was speaking to Descartes, he would show him that rationalism is a dead end. At times, the gospel is presented in a very simplistic way; and sometimes, in a complex way, depending upon the audience.

In any case, you give them information, not emotion; and you allow the Holy Spirit to do the work. If Rice stadium was filled up today and Paul gave this message to them, they would not understand a word that he is saying. Bob is not knocking a simple approach to the gospel. If a simple-minded person has the gift of evangelism, then he simply needs to stay within his own abilities. Some evangelists, if they get into theology, they make a mess of things.

Bob has learned a lot of things, and he wants to go back to various books, like the gospels and Acts and cinch them up.

48 03/03/1977 Romans 2:7b Seeking God after positive volition at God consciousness; "glory" cf. "glorify"

A review of love1 and love2. The basis of our relationship to God is His justice. We are not connected to God by His love. For our love, we need a reason and an object. God is love without having those things.

People who have honor and justice and integrity, they can be depended upon. A lovey dovey type cannot be depended upon, because one day there are here and the next day they are somewhere else.

If our salvation depended upon God's love, we would be in and out of salvation over and over.

Justice is free to condemn or bless.

Romans 2:7 ...to those who indeed with endurance in good work are seeking glory and honor and immortality, eternal life;...

Romans 2:7 – “To those on the one hand who search for.” This is a customary present tense of zêteô (ζητέω) [pronounced zay-TEH-oh], it denotes what habitually occurs with those who are positive at the point of God-consciousness. If you are positive at the point of God-consciousness you are going to be searching until you find. The active voice: homo sapien who is positive at God-consciousness produces the action of the verb. This is a telic participle denoting the purpose of those who are positive at God-consciousness.

“eternal life” – accusative singular direct object zôên aiônion, and it is literally “life age-abiding,” but it is a Greek idiom for eternal life.

At this point we have to insert an entire phrase because after tois (τοῖς) [pronounced toiç] men, which is the beginning of this sentence, there is the phrase kaç' hupomên ergou agathou. This is mistranslated “by patient continuance in well doing” in the AV. It actually begins with the prepositional phrase kata plus the accusative of hupomonê (ὑπομονή) [pronounced hoop-ohm-ohn-AY] which means patience, endurance, fortitude, perseverance, patient expectation. But it also means expectation, and that is the way it is translated here. Kata plus the accusative can also be translated “on the basis of.” So literally, “on the basis of expectation.” Next is a descriptive genitive singular from the adjective agathos (ἀγαθός) [pronounced ag-ath-OSS] which means good of intrinsic value. Then the noun which goes with the descriptive genitive is ergon (ἔργον) [pronounced EHR-gon] in the singular.

Gold is valuable wherever it is found. When Jews were taken by the Germans, first thing, their teeth were examined and if they had any gold, they were pulled out. When our soldiers were fighting the Japs (on Okinawa?), they would smash the mouth of a dead Jap and put his teeth into a tote bag. The gold has value, no matter where it is found.

The person on positive volition accepts the good work of Jesus Christ and the person with negative volition accepts his own good works of personal righteousness as being good enough to impress God.

Romans 2:7 To those on the one hand who [when you take an articular participle and translate it into a relative clause the definite article acts also as a relative pronoun] on the basis of expectation [on the way from God-consciousness to gospel hearing they are expecting something] of a good work are seeking eternal life.

Why have “on the one hand”? Because coming up is another group who are negative. What is “a good work”? It is descriptive genitive singular in contrast to the good works that are going to be judged at the last judgment. At the last judgment the unbeliever is going to be judged for his works. But here is a work [singular] in contrast to works [plural]. The good work: the sins of the world were poured out upon Jesus Christ on the cross and judged. That is “a good work,” that is intrinsic value. What Christ did on the cross is of intrinsic value because the justice of God judged our sins when Christ was bearing them.

God Consciousness and Gospel Hearing

1. In this phase of the angelic conflict human volition is tested at two points: God-consciousness and gospel hearing.
2. At God-consciousness man becomes aware of the existence and the power of God through the function of his own mentality and human perspicacity.
3. At gospel hearing man understands epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel through the convicting work of the Holy Spirit.
4. According to Romans 1:20,21 man has the ability to reach God-consciousness through his own mentality.
5. There are two exceptions: morons and those who die before reaching accountability. The exceptions are always automatically saved. 2Samuel 12:23.
6. When a member of the human race arrives at God-consciousness he is accountable to the justice of God.
7. The age of accountability varies with culture, language, historical circumstance, environment, and civilization or lack of it.
8. If any member of the human race, regardless of geographical isolation or linguistic barrier, desires relationship with God after reaching God-consciousness then God will provide necessary gospel information by which that person can make instant adjustment to the justice of God through faith in Jesus Christ—Jeremiah 23:13; John 7:17; Acts 17:27.
9. So the expectation of a good work is the anticipation of gospel information or communication of the work of Christ on the cross by which a further decision is made—faith in Christ.

The rest of this verse deals with the results of positive volition. There are three: 1) Relationship with God—“glory,” the accusative singular of doxa (δόξα) [pronounced DOHX-ah].

Adverbial Accusative of Measure

1. “Glory”: This is an adverbial accusative of measure.
2. The adverbial accusative qualifies the verb in a direct way.
3. In the Greek the adverbial accusative of measure qualifies the verb indirectly. The direct object qualifies the verb directly.
4. Sometimes the accusative is used to indicate a point of time similar to the locative, but with a sense of duration or extension. We need a point of time because we are talking about gospel hearing, and before that God-consciousness.
5. When the accusative is used to indicate a point of time it is a part of the continuous period implied in the context. Hence, the accusative of the extent of time is also involved with the adverbial accusative of measure.
6. “Glory” [doxa (δόξα) [pronounced DOHX-ah]], which is now established as an adverbial accusative of measure plus the accusative of the extent of time, refers to the essence of God, the sum total of divine attributes.
7. Positive volition at gospel hearing results in an eternal relationship with the essence of God.
8. Therefore, adjustment to the justice of God at salvation results in eternal relationship with God, the essence or glory of God.
9. One of the attributes of God’s essence is justice, to which the believer must adjust after salvation through the rebound technique and the daily function of GAP.
10. Maturity adjustment to the justice of God means glorifying God or sharing blessing from the glory of God, but we receive at the moment of salvation glory, i.e. a relationship with God. But glorifying God is the difference between salvation adjustment to the justice of God and maturity adjustment to the justice of God.

Romans 2:7 To those on the one hand who [when you take an articular participle and translate it into a relative clause the definite article acts also as a relative pronoun] on the basis of expectation [on the way from God-consciousness to gospel hearing they are expecting something] of a good work are seeking eternal life, there is glory...

2) Something of value—“honor” or “value,” timê (τιμή, ἥς, ἡ) [pronounced tih-MAY or tee-MAY]. It is in the accusative of measure or extent of time. In the 9th century BC timê (τιμή, ἥς, ἡ) [pronounced tih-MAY or tee-MAY] meant wealth; Homer refers to it as material wealth (he had wealth, things). But over the period of 400 years, down to Classical Greek, timê (τιμή, ἥς, ἡ) [pronounced tih-MAY or tee-MAY] detached itself from possession and became an abstract noun with the concept of honor. There is something much more valuable than possessions and that is to have honor, integrity. The word connotes both honor and price and therefore comes to mean something of value. Salvation is not only glory but it is something of value, something which is precious beyond description.

The previous night, Bob was talking about Socrates and not Aristotle. The wife of Socrates is known as being the greatest nag in history (Zantippe).

3) Guarantee of ultimate sanctification—adverbial accusative of measure or the accusative of the extent of time from aphtharsía (ἀφθαρσία) [pronounced af-thar-SEE-ah] which means “incorruptibility” or “immortality,” a technical word for the future resurrection body of the believer, minus the old sin nature, minus human good; the same concept as 1Corinthians 15:53-56.

Romans 2:7 To those on the one hand who on the basis of expectation of a good work are seeking eternal life, there is glory, honor [something of value], immortality [resurrection body].

What the Verse Is Teaching

1. This verse describes salvation adjustment to the justice of God in terms of attractiveness to the self-righteous type, the things that appeal to the self-righteous—glory and honor.
2. Instant adjustment through faith in Christ is the only alternative to the last judgment.
3. The last judgment, however, is only for those who are maladjusted to the justice of God at salvation.
4. Therefore salvation is the only way to avoid the last judgment.

This is a person who expects to have glory, honor, eternal life and immortality based upon his own righteousness. Paul is dealing with self righteous people and he is anxious for them to change their minds about their own self-righteousness. But God’s perfect righteousness excludes any righteousness which we want to offer up to God.

God shares with us His righteousness, which is perfect righteousness. Every blessing that God has to give us is based upon His righteousness and we cannot gain that from our own righteousness. When we have something which is perfect, why do we want something else?

Once we have been saved, our own righteousness is still equally repulsive to God. How on earth, when you have the best, would you settle for something which is far, far worse (your own righteousness)?

1977 Romans

Lesson #49

49 03/04/1977 Romans 2:8–9a Certainty of judgment of self-righteous unbeliever; anger; integrity

Lawrence of Arabia for Saturday Night at the Movies.

Romans 2:8 ...but to those of self-interest and disobeying the truth, but being persuaded about unrighteousness, wrath and anger;...

Verse 8 – the certainty of judgment of self-righteous unbelievers. “But unto them” – τοῖς [pronounced toiç] de. This includes the dative plural indirect object from the definite article used as a demonstrative pronoun to emphasize those unbelievers who are maladjusted to the justice of God through negative volition at the point of gospel hearing. This is also, then, a dative of disadvantage. It is to the disadvantage of any member of the human race to be negative toward the gospel. There is also the correlative particle de used to complete the second concessive clause and to show a contrast between them. The particle de is used also as an adversative conjunction setting up a contrast between those who are positive at gospel hearing and God-consciousness and those who are not. “But to those on the other hand” is the way this is translated. Men...de... is on the one hand; on the other hand.

“that are contentious” – the preposition ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the adjective in the ablative singular, eritheía (ἐριθεία) [pronounced er-ith-Ī-ah]. Eritheía (ἐριθεία) [pronounced er-ith-Ī-ah] is derived from the verb erithuô meaning to work as a day labourer. It also connotes a self-seeking pursuit of political office by unfair means. And there is another meaning: to have the mental attitude of a prostitute trying to entice a customer. It all adds up to the attitude of self-seeking, an arrogant attitude preying on the weaknesses of someone else. It is used for those who are active in their own interest through arrogance, seeking their own gain and advantage. Finally, this word came to mean an aristocratic scorn for those who make an honest living, and therefore an arrogant, distorted mental attitude. We could translate this, “from arrogant scorn.” It could also be translated, “from selfish ambition.”

The preposition ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative denotes origin, cause, or reason. The adjective is actually an adjective for inordinate ambition. Translation: “For those on the other hand who for inordinate ambition.” Self-righteous reversionism is motivated and stimulated by inordinate ambition.

“and” is not quite correct here. This is the adjunctive use of kai and should be translated “also”; “do not obey” – the present active indicative of apeithéō (ἀπειθέω) [pronounced ap-i-THEH-oh] means to disbelieve or disobey. This is a perfective present tense, it denotes the continuation of existing results but emphasizes the present status quo of those existing results. It refers to a fact which has come to be in the past but is emphasized as a present reality. The fact which has come to be in the past is negative volition at God-consciousness, but later on negative volition at gospel hearing. Those involved in this verse—“on the other hand”—are those who have epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel and have said no. The active voice: the unbeliever reversionist produces the action of the verb at the point of gospel hearing. This is a declarative indicative mood which views the verbal action from the viewpoint of its reality.

“the truth” – the dative singular indirect object from alêtheia (ἀλήθεια, ας, ἡ) [pronounced ahl-Ā-thi-ah], which means truth in many forms; here it is referring to the truth which is in epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel. This is also a dative of reference—“they also disobeyed with reference to the truth,” or “they refused to believe/obey the truth.”

“but” – the adversative conjunction de, emphasizing the contrast between negative volition toward the gospel and positive volition toward evil. Once you go negative toward epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel that opens up : mataiotês (ματαιότης) [pronounced mat-ah-YOHT-ace], and now it is as positive toward evil as it was negative toward the gospel.

“obeyed” – dative plural present middle participle of peithô (πείθω) [pronounced PIE-thoh]. The retroactive progressive present denotes what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. In other words, they disobey the gospel but they continue to obey something, and when you are negative toward the absolute truth you are positive toward the Satanic policy, false doctrine, simply called evil. The middle voice is an indirect middle emphasizing the agent, the reversionistic unbeliever, producing the action of the verb rather than participating in the action.

“but obey unrighteousness” – dative of disadvantage from adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah], a legal term which is the antithesis of dikaïosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay]. For example in Romans 3:5 adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah] is an antonym to dikaïosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay]; in Romans 9:14 adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah] is legal injustice or partiality in judgment. As seen from this passage adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah] is the antithesis of alêtheia (ἀλήθεια, ας, ή) [pronounced ahl-Ā-thi-ah]. So we know that there are two ways in which adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah] is used in Romans. It is used as an antonym to the truth of the gospel, it is what people believe and accept as a result of rejecting the gospel. This is why people change in their thinking after they have a thorough cognizance of epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel. They have accepted a new system of doctrine as their frame of reference, and the system of doctrine is evil—Satanic policy. So adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah] merely summarizes a new system instead of an integrity system. Adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah] is maladjustment to the justice of God; dikaïosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] is adjustment to the justice of God.

“indignation and wrath” – the predicate nominative orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY], a post-Homeric noun. It is used in the Attic Greek to connote thrusting and upsurging in nature, for the impulsive state of human disposition. It was used of the sea which is quiet one moment and very stormy the next moment. In the Attic Greek is used by Esculus and Sophocles orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY] was used as a tragic flaw. And this tragic flaw was not blind anger but described as “demonic excess of will in the nature of the tragic person.” It finally came to mean a reaction in the soul, anger as a striking manifestation of a powerful inner reaction. So the noun orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY] is in contrast to thumos (θυμός) [pronounced thoo-MOSS] because orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY] is essentially an intentional type thing, intentionally oriented to its content. In other words, it is a reaction that leads to revenge, to any kind of impulsive retaliation, the punishment of someone else, acting as judge, jury and executioner; acting from passion; being irritated by them.

But the next word used here, “indignation”—thumos (θυμός) [pronounced thoo-MOSS] , has a slightly different connotation. So orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY] means not only to become very angry in a reaction but to act as a judge and jury, not from the facts but from the passion of one’s anger. It denotes irritation toward someone and from that irritation negative judgment. In other words, you are judging someone on the basis of being irritated with them rather than the facts of the case.

When ascribed to God as an anthropathism it refers to divine judgment on the unbeliever, especially the reversionistic kind. So this comes to mean the concept of God’s anger protecting from evil. God is righteously indignant, He judges from His justice, and He executes. The second word, thumos (θυμός) [pronounced thoo-MOSS], derives from the verb thuô (θύω) [pronounced THOO-oh] which is translated “indignation.” thuô (θύω) [pronounced THOO-oh] means to boil up, to cause to go up in smoke. Hence, thumos (θυμός) [pronounced thoo-MOSS] is an anthropathism referring to the eternal judgment of the unbeliever. So one of these words has to do with God’s judgment in time and one with eternity.

Romans 2:8 But to those on the other hand who from inordinate ambition, also disobey the gospel [truth], but continue obeying injustice [wickedness or evil resulting from salvation maladjustment to the justice of God], anger [judgment in time] and wrath [judgment in eternity].

Disobedience to the Gospel

1. Here, then, is negative volition at the point of gospel hearing with motivation included. The motivation is self-seeking, eritheía (ἐριθεία) [pronounced er-ith-Ī-ah], the self-seeking promotion of the self-righteous unbeliever.
2. The self-righteous type has inordinate ambition which demands the use of his own arrogance related to his self-righteousness or legalistic modus vivendi.
3. Therefore, he continues in obedience to maladjustment to the justice of God which becomes a system of injustice in his life, a system of injustice, wickedness, evil, etc.
4. Disobedience to the gospel, negative volition at salvation, means obedience to evil and the perpetuation of that maladjustment.
5. Such continuance of perpetuation of unbeliever reversionism causes the justice of God to adjust to the status quo of the maladjusted, and that means orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY].
6. The justice of God is expressed, then, in two anthropathisms: orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY] = judgment from the justice of God in time on both a personal and national basis; thumos (θυμός) [pronounced thoo-MOSS] = judgment from the justice of God for eternity, the lake of fire. Either the unbeliever will adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God will adjust to him.

Romans 2:1–8 corrected translation read. This is the first paragraph of chapter 2. “Cheer up, things are going to get worse.”

In the next paragraph, verses 9-16, we see the judgment function toward this evil. We are talking about a self-righteous evil, the worst kind of evil, a person who is evil but thinks he is good.

In verses 9 & 10 we see the alternatives from the justice of God.

Alternatives to the Justice of God

1. This context is describing unbeliever reversionism or maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation.
2. The previous paragraph, verses 7 & 8, described the eternal alternatives.
3. Adjustment to the justice of God at salvation by faith in Christ produces blessing. Salvation blessing comes in at least 36 categories—blessing from divine justice. Justice is why these blessings are so solid and why we will always have them.
4. Maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation by rejecting Christ produces the cursing of divine judgment—the great white throne.
5. From the eternal alternative of the previous paragraph we move now to temporal alternatives.
6. First, the temporal pay-off to the unbeliever or maladjustment in time. Then, the temporal pay-off to the believer or the adjusted person in time.
7. Both Jew and Gentile are included in each category. Therefore neither race nor culture is the issue in the justice of God.
8. The issue, therefore, is the justice of God.

The Japanese base their marriages on integrity; so that preserving a marriage is a matter of personal honor and integrity. They would fully understand the justice of God.

Love is an automatic thing when integrity is involved. The opposite is not true.

David did not worry about the loss of his blessings because he was related to God's integrity. We need this perfect security in days to come. "In days to come, disaster after disaster is going to hit this country. How far it goes that's up to the justice of God. Jesus Christ controls history."

The justice of God can only curse or bless. Think of all those who love for love's sake. There is no stability in love.

If Bob heard God out of heaven say, "I love you," he would get worried. I would start searching the Scriptures.

When God forgives us in rebound, it says, God is just, not God is love.

Romans 2:9 ...tribulation and distress upon every soul of man working evil, both of Jewish first, and also of Greek;...

Verse 9 – a temporal cursing. “Tribulation and anguish” – we have a predicate nominative from thlipsis (θλίψις) [pronounced THLIP-siss], it means pressure, distress brought about by outward circumstances, affliction, oppression, hence suffering. It is used here for personal suffering in contrast to historical disaster. Since the verb is not stated but implied by the predicate nominative we translate “There is pressure [personal suffering].” We can add there is because the Greek begins the sentence with a predicate nominative, which demands the existence of the verb to be, which is not found here. Since it is not found here, we may add it.

The second predicate nominative, “and anguish,” stenochōria (στενοχωρία) [pronounced sten-okh-oh-REE-ah], means distress, trouble. It is used here for historical or national disaster. It is derived from the Attic Greek adjective stenós (στενός) [pronounced stehn-OSS] which means “narrow, too tight, too tight a squeeze.” So there is pressure (personal suffering) and distress (historical disaster).

The justice of God uses both historical environment and personal periphery for the administration of punitive action to the unbeliever reversionist. He has rejected epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel so he has both personal and national disaster in his own periphery.

1977 Romans

Lesson #50

50 03/06/1977 Romans 2:9 Energy crisis; love 1 & 2; Missions; culture

The United States has come to a saturation of human arrogance. Never has there been so many people arrogant about nothing. Crusades of evil, the welfare state, the failure to understand the principle of human freedom, which is far more important than security. The American people will be taught a terrible lesson based upon their own arrogance. This manifest in our social problems and in our foreign policy, where we try to tell other governments what kind of government they must have.

The Soviet Union has long regretted not taking Alaska when we were a younger and weaker country. Their army only needed food and wheat; and we gave them food and wheat. We have done one of the most evil things on behalf of an evil country. We are going to find that we have a food shortage in our own country.

Edith Efron who writes for the TV Guide and she portrays the national arrogance. The media today is a great source of propaganda. Network coverage of the energy crisis is sadly out of date. They were unable to figure out the reasons or behind the times when it comes to the lower production of energy.

Freezing to death in the dark; and she gives several reasons for this. Government paralyzed coal production. It now takes 12 years to build a nuclear plant. This catastrophe has been building for years. This was news to our media; and they should have known this long ago. They could have at least covered the views of those who do understand the problems.

The media is ignoring good, well-researched conservative information.

Opponents say nuclear energy will blow up the world and give us cancer. Government, US, state and local, strangled energy production. Since when has common sense arisen so majestically, and, of all places, the TV Guide.

We piously tell other countries that a majority race must rule.

All of our freedom has come through military victory.

When we think of rightly dividing the Word of Truth, we think of dispensations; but another division needed is between love¹ and love². God's attribute of love as over-against His anthropopathism. Anthropopathism takes some human characteristic, including sinful acts, and ascribing them to God so that we might better understand God's policies for the human race.

The justice of God pronounces a penalty upon sins, and on the cross, every sin that has been committed was poured out on the cross. Our self-righteousness and our human good are both a part of the evil cosmic system.

The police officer is one of the most important things in our country today; and there may come a day where we do not have the police to depend upon.

The arrogance of the liberal is seen in many court cases. Businesses have been put out of business with the claim that they are destroying the environment.

Arrogance in government means that all of these modifications are placed upon our automobile engines.

A review of the translation.

V. 9 a discussion of what sort of justice can these people expect?

The justice of God can only curse or bless. Blessing is given totally apart from human good, human works and self-righteousness.

Romans 2:9 ...tribulation and distress upon every soul of man working evil, both of Jewish first, and also of Greek;...

Bob reviews some words from v. 9a. There are certain principles involved with the destruction of a client nation or the preservation of same. A client nation must be sending out missionaries.

When we send out missionaries, they should be training locals in order to evangelize the people and to teach the people. The whole realm of doctrine means, to live and let live.

So many missionaries have their fingers in too many pies where they go. It is not our job to make any people look or act like Americans.

Our government is trying to break up the oil companies today. They have bullies the car companies today. We could have automobiles today which could work beautifully. When all the regulations things are added, it destroys the engine. We are clearly an arrogant nation. Everyone has their own brand of holiness; and everyone is trying to get others to follow their taboos.

The pettiness against George Washington was striking. Petty people are always trying to make others to live “better.” We are petty and self righteous.

“upon every soul” – the preposition ἐπί (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] plus the accusative of psuchê (ψυχή) [pronounced psoo-KHAY]. There is a problem here because the preposition ἐπί (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] does not always mean the same thing. Επί (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] plus the genitive always emphasizes contact; ἐπί (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] plus the locative emphasizes position; but ἐπί (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] plus the accusative emphasizes motion or direction. In this case ἐπί (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] plus πᾶς (πᾶς) [pronounced pahs] plus psuchê (ψυχή) [pronounced psoo-KHAY] is “for every soul.”

“of man” is the possessive genitive from anthrōpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos]—“of mankind.” This refers to the human soul and it indicates self-consciousness, emotion, volition, and all of the essence of the soul. When there are the wrong things in the soul it means disaster and pressure from the justice of God. The wrong type of thinking in the soul comes from arrogance. The human soul is the issue, then, in adjustment or maladjustment to the justice of God and all reversionism is found in the soul. Lack of the gospel for the unbeliever and lack of doctrine for the believer is the source of the problem. So always attitude toward doctrine determines adjustment and maladjustment to the justice of God.

“that doeth evil” – the articular present middle participle of the verb κατεργάζομαι (katergázomai) [pronounced kat-er-GAHD-zom-ahee] which means to achieve, to accomplish, to bring about, to create, to produce. The verb connotes something on the inside working to the outside. Evil always exists in the soul. The present tense is retroactive progressive present, it denotes what was begun in the past and continues into the present time. Here is unbeliever reversionism producing evil, but remember believer reversionism produces the same thing. This is the middle voice of a deponent verb in which the form is middle but the meaning is active. Here the unbeliever reversionist produces the action of the verb. The participle is circumstantial for the unbeliever reversionist producing the evil. With this is the accusative singular direct object from the adjective kakós (κακός) [pronounced kak-OSS], the word for “evil.” It has the definite article with it because it is assumed that all believers understand evil as a policy, and the use of the definite article is to deal with something abstract and to make it contrary in the sense that you already understand evil; therefore no additional explanation is evil. The Greek just put a definite article in to demonstrate that principle. The definite article is used with abstract nouns to indicate that this is an abstract concept you have or must master before you can understand the general concepts. In other words, the definite article in the Greek is totally different from its use in English.

Evil is in the soul. And this is how so many believers voted for Carter. Once the Indians cluttered up some land, they would move on. No system of trash.

The beauty of our country is freedom and the marvelous ideas for improving the engine.

“of the Jew first” – racial or cultural things are never issues; evil is the real issue. This is the genitive of reference loudaios (Ἰουδαίος) [pronounced ee-ou-DYE-os]. It means, especially, above all. The Jews are mentioned because this is the fourth and most important of the post-diluvian races. While the Jews are first and foremost in privilege they are not exempt from the principle of adjustment or maladjustment to the justice of God. No race is excluded, therefore race is not an issue. All races are included, even the privileged race of the Jews. The adverb prōton (πρῶτον) [pronounced PRO-ton] is the adverb of degree and it means “especially” or “above all.” The Jews as custodians of the written revelation, plus being a priest nation, had the additional responsibility in this matter—“especially with reference to the Jew.”

“and also of the Gentile [Greek]” – Héllēn (Ἕλλην) [pronounced HEHL-lane], the name of the Greeks. This is a reference to the Greek rather than to the Gentile generally because there is a cultural issue here. Héllēn (Ἕλλην) [pronounced HEHL-lane] means a cultured person, a person who has great systems of culture and language, and the expression of that in thought. So the word is used in the broader sense of all who were under Greek influence and who accepted the Greek culture. So rather than Jew and Gentile we have racial and cultural issues. Cultured people are not excluded from the issue of the justice of God. A great culture does not exempt a nation from national discipline.

No matter how great your culture is, you still must be adjusted to the justice of God.

Romans 2:9 There is pressure [personal suffering] and distress [historical disaster] for every soul of man who produces the evil, especially with reference to the Jew, but also to the Greek.

Interpreting Romans 2:9

1. The interpretation of this passage applies to the unbeliever reversionist directly.
2. Unbeliever reversionism or salvation maladjustment to the justice of God produces punitive action from God, both in time and in eternity.
3. This verse deals with cursing from the justice of God against a nation depending upon superiority of race, against a nation depending upon superiority of culture.
4. Evil is the policy of Satan to which the unbeliever becomes vulnerable after rejecting epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel.
5. Both the immoral and self-righteous unbeliever practices evil.
6. Neither morality nor immorality is excluded from the function of evil.

Recovery from sin is instantaneous; recovery from evil takes time and doctrine.

The self righteous type is noted for his human good. The vacuum sucks in evil into your soul. The application of this evil will be human good.

Application of Romans 2:9

1. While the interpretation of this passage is to the unbeliever in reversionism the application of the principle constitutes a warning to all believers.
2. Merely change the object of negative volition and the issue is for the believer. (For the unbeliever it is the cross and the gospel; for the believer it is doctrine)
3. Two issues for the believer in time. Am I filled with the Spirit and am I taking in Bible doctrine or not? Both are an adjustment to the justice of God.
4. These are related to gap and the function of gap.
5. Negative volition to Bible teaching leads a person into evil.
6. Negative volition sucks evil into the soul.
7. The believer can be under demon influence.
8. The believer cannot be demon-possessed, but he can be demon influenced.

Adjustment or Maladjustment

1. What is the issue? It is not the confusion of the cosmic system. A raise in wages starts up an inflationary trend and companies go all over the place outside of the country for cheap labor.
2. The issue is adjustment to the justice of God.
3. Either you adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God will adjust to you.
4. For the believer, the issue is Bible doctrine.

A quarter of all of the food comes from California, the greatest agricultural state of the United States. This state is in the throes of a great drought. When people are maladjusted to the justice of God, the justice of God acts. We have given away our food to terrible nations (Russia, African nations). No one has been victimized in the United States as much as the farmer. As we destroy the farmer, we destroy ourselves.

1977 Romans

Lesson #51

51 03/06/1977 Romans 2:10–11 Paragraph S–G2 blessing; OUK; impartiality of God

Romans 2:10 ...but glory and honor and peace to everyone doing good, both to Jewish first, and to Greek.

Verse 10 – “But glory,” doxa (δόξα) [pronounced DOHX-ah] de. The postpositive conjunctive particle de emphasizes a contrast between unbeliever maladjustment to the justice of God and believer adjustment to the justice of God. For the maladjusted there is temporal cursing but for the adjusted there is temporal blessing described by three nouns. The first, doxa (δόξα) [pronounced DOHX-ah], is a predicated nominative which means that we go back to the verb inserted at the beginning, “there is.” But this time instead of temporal and eternal pressure, suffering, disaster, we find a contrast. “Glory” is used here to describe the secondary zone of blessing for the believer. When a believer first cracks the maturity barrier he enters the secondary zone which has two categories: super-grace A and super-grace B. So starting at the maturity barrier we have the principle of maximum adjustment to the justice of God.

“honor” – the second predicate nominative singular, timê (τιμῆ, ῆς, ῆ) [pronounced tih-MAY or tee-MAY]. It means honor but it is used here to describe the primary zone of blessing, ultra-super-grace status where God is glorified and pleased, and the believer is honored as the friend of God.

“and peace” – the predicate nominative singular of eirênê (εἰρήνη, ης, ῆ) [pronounced eye-RAY-nay], which means peace but it generally has any connotation of peace that we think of in the present world. But in the Greek language it has the connotation of prosperity. So we translate it, “even prosperity.” In other words, there is prosperity for the primary and secondary stages. In all of these there is special temporal blessing.

“to every man” – this is not correct. This is the dative singular indirect object from the adjective pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs], and it should be translated “to each one” or “to everyone,” bringing out the singular. The dative of indirect object indicates the believer making the maturity adjustment to the justice of God through maximum doctrine resident in the soul. It is also a dative of advantage to each one involved. It is in contrast to the accusative of pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs] in the previous phrase where pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs] is used as an adjective, the object of the preposition epí (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE], and it becomes, therefore, the basis by which people are judged. But this time pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs] is used for adjustment to the justice of God, whereas in the previous verse it was maladjustment. “To each one” refers to the believer in the Lord Jesus Christ who has cracked the maturity barrier or made maximum adjustment to the justice of God through the daily function of GAP.

“that worketh good” – the articular present middle participle from the verb ergázomai (ἐργάζομαι) [pronounced er-GAHD-zohm-ahēe] which means to produce, to work, to be active, to accomplish; a dative singular of advantage in the definite article, used here as a relative pronoun, and we translate, then, “who accomplish.” The present tense is a retroactive progressive present denoting something that occurs in the past and continues into the present time. In other words, believers have cracked the maturity barrier and are now in a state of maturity. The middle voice: this is a deponent verb which has a middle form but is active in meaning, and here the active meaning simply says that the positive believer toward doctrine adjusts to the justice of God and therefore receives great blessing from God. The participle is circumstantial in keeping with this concept. There is also an accusative singular of the definite article with the accusative singular direct object from the adjective agathos (ἀγαθός) [pronounced ag-ath-OSS], meaning good of intrinsic value. The adjective is used here as a substantive for what is intrinsically valuable or the possession of a higher order. So “the good” refers to the attainment of spiritual maturity through the daily function of GAP, maximum adjustment to the justice of God.

“to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile” – in contrast to the genitive of reference in the previous verse where we had Jew and Greek, referring to the maladjusted unbeliever, here we have the dative singular used for Jew and Greek. Believers who have attained maturity adjustment to the justice of God through the daily function of GAP have maximum doctrine in the soul, and the first one is “the Jew.” So we have the dative singular indirect object and dative of advantage from loudaíos (Ἰουδαίος) [pronounced ee-ou-DYE-os]. Again, notice that the Jew is the privileged race, and in a previous dispensation a priest nation and custodian of the written Word from God.

Plus the adverb proton (πρῶτον) [pronounced PRO-ton] which this time means “especially,” taking cognizance of their privilege. This is the dative of advantage because it is to the advantage of any Jewish believer to crack the maturity barrier and receive this special blessing.

We also have a dative singular indirect object and dative of advantage from Héllēn (Ἕλληνας) [pronounced HEHL-lane], referring again to those who came under Greek influence, hence in a broad sense a cultural concept. There is no partiality in the justice of God, both Jew and Gentile believers have the same privileges and blessings in maturity adjustment to the justice of God. This is the dispensation when there is no priest nation of Israel, when a Jew joins with a Gentile when they believe in Jesus Christ and become a member of the royal family of God forever. This is the dispensation when the distinction which existed in the Age of Israel no longer exists, and where Jew and Gentile have equal privilege when they crack the maturity barrier.

Romans 2:10 But glory and honor, even prosperity, to each one who attains the good [maturity adjustment to the justice of God], especially to the Jew, but also to the Gentile.

We have the cup of David running over. The believer is pursued by grace. Several ways of describing this prosperity.

Our attitude toward God determines whether or not we adjust to the justice of God Spiritual blessings, we fulfill we love Him because He first loved us. We also share the blessings of God; His Own +H. We are able to interpret history. The idea that the believer should be suffering for most of his life is a morbid understanding of Christianity. We may have wealth which suddenly comes to us; and some of the wealth may come to us through hard work.

In peacetime, everything is done to cut back on the military and to cut back on benefits for veterans. Adding insult to injury is the pardon of those who fled our country. Bob wants a bounty put on the head of those who fled.

There is nothing wrong with the profit made by business. They are courageous people. They kicked around in peacetime for what they do.

It is also interesting how these extra-Biblical organizations think you should use your money, taking some of it in themselves. Believers can be blessed in many ways, advance, prosperity of different types, cultural prosperity (maximum enjoyment of the arts); maximum privacy prosperity.

Our nation will be bless by having a maximum number of believers cracking the maturity barrier. His blessings overflow to others, through any sort of relationship that they might have.

The mature believer can be a spiritual Atlas who carries his nation in time of national disaster. Mature believers are on the right side of history. They ride above the historical disaster, riding it like the crest of a wave. 5th category of blessing is dying grace.

Categories of Blessings for the Supergrace Believer

1. Spiritual blessings. These include sharing the perfect happiness of God and occupation with Christ as maximum category one love (toward God), which is greatly intensified in supergrace and ultra-supergrace. Many blessings accompany the believer's maximum love for the Lord Jesus Christ. The supergrace believer has great capacity for life, love, happiness, and blessing, and total appreciation for grace. He also receives the tremendous ability to face undeserved suffering in life with no complaining. For the supergrace believer, the intensification of spiritual blessings comes when he wears the shroud of maximum, unremitting, undeserved suffering to glorify God in the angelic conflict, and this suffering will not terminate until he departs this life. In the midst of it all, he still has perfect happiness, the "peace which surpasses all comprehension," PHI 4:7. The supergrace believer also has the ability to correctly interpret contemporary history, to evaluate current events in the light of the Word of God. He is free from slavery to the circumstances of life, and he adaptable to changing circumstances. The mature believer shines in time of historical disaster. He has grace orientation, freedom orientation, authority orientation, common sense, and a total sense of security, whether in prosperity or disaster.
2. Temporal blessings. These include material wealth, either received or acquired, as well as physical health. The supergrace believer can have professional prosperity, including a great influence on others, leadership dynamics, success, promotion, and recognition in one's sphere of life. Abraham had the privilege of receiving one of the greatest titles in the Bible, "friend of God." Moses was a successful ruler. Paul was the greatest communicator of all time. Jeremiah was the greatest prophet of all time. In supergrace, the believer will have the ability to assume responsibility and authority without emotional inspiration or false motivation. The supergrace believer can also have great social prosperity and great friends, as well as sexual prosperity with one's right man or right woman. In mental prosperity, the ability to think and concentrate increases. This gives the believer a greater capacity for life and a great deal of interest toward what is happening in everyday life. Every day will be meaningful. God will also grant cultural prosperity, which is maximum enjoyment of drama, art, literature, music, history, etc. Establishment prosperity includes enjoyment of freedom, privacy, and protection of life and property from criminals and reprisal.

3. Blessings by association. Those around a mature believer are blessed by their association or relationship with that person. There are two categories of blessings here. They are blessed either directly by God or indirectly from the supergrace believer as a result of the overflow of his supergrace blessings. These peripheral areas of blessing by association include loved ones, business life, social life, and the local church. There are also geographical blessings to the supergrace believer's city, state, and nation.
4. Historical blessings. The mature believer carries his generation, 2Ti 1:5. He stabilizes his generation and even future historical generations. The ebb and flow of history does not disturb the tranquility or impact of the mature believer. He is the MAT 5:13-14 believer, "the salt of the earth" and "the light of the world." The supergrace believer is on the winning side of history, whereas the reversionist is caught up in the disasters of history and swept along with them, EPH 4:14, "As a result, we are no longer to be children, tossed here and there by waves, and carried about by every wind of doctrine, by the trickery of men, by craftiness in deceitful scheming." The supergrace believer rides the crest of the wave of blessing. He rises above historical disaster.
5. Undeserved suffering. Only in time do we have the opportunity to glorify God under pressure, disaster, and undeserved suffering to prove to Satan and the fallen angels that Bible doctrine can handle any situation. God gives us the ability to handle suffering and turn suffering into blessing, ROM 8:28, Deu 23:5. A mature believer knows when he is under divine discipline or undeserved suffering. The former is unbearable; the latter is bearable. The supergrace believer's ability to handle undeserved suffering glorifies God and becomes evidence against Satan in his appeal trial. Undeserved suffering is also used by God to keep our eyes on Him and our focus on eternity, Revelation 2:10, 2Corinthians 12:9-10. Undeserved suffering also teaches us the value of Bible doctrine, Psalm 119:67-71. We read in Psalm 119:67, "Before I was afflicted I went astray, but now I keep Thy word." Here, the psalmist is living in disastrous conditions and still says, "I keep Your word." God in wisdom deals with us as perfectly as only He can. He allows suffering, heartache, and disaster in our lives to draw us closer to Him.
6. Dying blessings (dying grace). Every believer has a choice in time between staying positive to Bible doctrine and receiving dying grace, or turning negative to doctrine and dying the sin unto death. For the supergrace believer, the curse of death with its pain and fear is removed, Hebrews 2:15. It is the greatest experience in life. The perfect happiness of the supergrace believer in time is exceeded only by his happiness in dying grace, 2Timothy 4:6-8. The mature believer has the best of life, greater blessing in dying, and better than the best for all eternity. As Psalm 116:15 declares, "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His godly ones." He will not need his house, his vehicle, his firearms, or his friends. The Viking funerals and the sending off of the dead Viking put into a ship and launched burning into the sea

(or burning on a funeral pyre). For one, in this cold climate, this is the first time this warrior is warm. This belongs to the mature believer only. Might be a sudden death or a lingering one. Paul was decapitated. Instantaneous.

7. Surpassing grace blessings at the Judgment Seat of Christ. Surpassing grace is the optimum in spiritual achievement. It is the point of maximum blessing and reward, and the ultimate in glorifying Jesus Christ. "Surpassing" connotes something beyond supergrace and beyond time. Surpassing grace is the status of special blessings and rewards in eternity for the believer who has broken the maturity barrier in time.

Taken from:

<https://gbible.org/tree-of-life-post/many-categories-blessings-believer-reaches-supergrace/>
(From Robert R. McLaughlin Bible Ministries) This tracks pretty close to what Bob is teaching.

We have studied self-righteousness and all of its arrogance. Arrogant and self righteous people will never admit that they are wrong about anything. They always find excuses; they never say, "I made an error in judgment." They are always cya-ing throughout their lives. A fascinating sideline. We all know people exactly like this.

Principle

1. Here is the antithesis of unbeliever maladjustment to the justice of God. The believer is adjusted to the justice of God but the unbeliever maladjusted having rejected that portion of doctrine called the gospel. The fully adjusted believer has accepted the whole realm of doctrine into his soul through grace perception.
2. There is a contrast in time between the maladjusted unbeliever and the fully adjusted believer. It is the difference between cursing and blessing whether it is time of historical prosperity or historical disaster.
3. So a principle of doctrine holds: either you adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God will adjust to you.

Romans 2:11 For there is no partiality with God.

Verse 11 – the impartiality of divine justice. "For" is the illative use of the postpositive conjunction gar. It expresses a ground or a reason for something. How is it that God can bless the believer, and how is it that God can curse the unbeliever in time as well as eternity?

"there is no" – present active indicative from eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME] plus the negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook], literally "for there is not." The negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] is the strongest of the Greek negatives, it denies the reality of an alleged fact. The present tense is a static present, it represents a condition as perpetually existing. The active voice: the justice of God produces the action of the verb. The indicative is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of unqualified, dogmatic concepts of fact. This can be translated, "for there is never."

“respect of persons” – predicate nominative from the compound prosōpolēpsía (προσωποληψία) [pronounced pros-o-pol-ape-SEE-ah] [prósōpon (πρόσωπον, ου, τό) [pronounced PROS-oh-pon] = face; lêasia = from lambánō (λαμβάνω) [pronounced lahm-BAHN-oh] meaning to receive]. It means to receive a face, and that means partiality or respect for persons. But with the negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] it means there is never partiality. Partiality connotes bias, the inclination to favour one party more than another, one face more than another. Divine justice is totally free from partiality.

You look at a face, and your reaction was going to be X; but after seeing the face, your reaction is Y. This is not being objective regarding this person.

“with God” – the preposition para plus the locative denoting a person and indicating that something precedes from this person, so we have the locative of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], plus the definite article. Para plus the locative denotes presence. In other words, we are in God’s presence and we are judged.

Romans 2:11 For there is never partiality before the God.

Partiality is bias or favor of one face over another face. Self righteous people just hate this because they think that they deserve some compensation for how hard they try and how much they do.

The Jews thought that God would never judge them. People in the United States think that God will not judge our country. Infinite holiness can only be impartial.

Impartiality with God

1. Because of past relationship with God the Jew often assumes a partiality with God toward the Jew.
2. Because of past relationship with God the citizens of the US often erroneously assume that God would never judge their country.
3. Infinite holiness acting toward other beings could only be impartial.
4. God is infinite and eternal perfect. Therefore His justice is perfect.
5. Partiality implies imperfection in the function of justice. Divine justice administers whatever penalty divine righteousness demands. Furthermore, divine justice provides whatever blessing divine righteousness approves.
6. God’s perfect righteousness reveals the divine love for His holiness.
7. While love is the motivation for blessing, divine love as an attribute of God must be expressed through righteousness resulting in divine justice being the source of blessing and cursing.
8. Love as an anthropathism expresses God’s motivation in a way that we can understand. Language of accommodation.
9. But we must distinguish between love as a divine attribute and love as an anthropathism.
10. Love belongs to the Being of God.

11. God is love apart from any object and totally apart from any emotion.
12. The love of God never interferes with the function of his justice and righteousness. A person who places integrity above love, that is the closest man can come to being impartial.

God gives us His righteousness at the point of salvation. Let's say, God taps you on the shoulder and asks, "Do you want My perfect righteousness or My love?" You want God's righteousness. That is solid and without partiality.

Some people should never have authority, because their personal likes and dislikes influence their authority. They have no integrity; they are partial.

This is very important in the military. No matter how much you like or dislike a person, integrity must come first. So no man should have his own relatives under his command; a father with his son under his command. When a person is doing their job right, then your personal feelings are not important. This is why an SOB can be in charge and things can run smoothly and efficiency. Authority work with integrity; not with love.

1977 Romans

Lesson #52

52 03/07/1977 Romans 2:11 Principles; love of God; integrity; doctrine of love and partiality

This is not a church where you hustle investments. Just because someone has the same vocabulary as you, does not mean that you can trust them with your money. Do not trust anyone who hustles you for your investment inside this church.

People in Berachah are apparently involved with a chain letter. It is dishonest, stealing, but that is not the worst of it...it is stupid. Bob hears of a chain letter and if he finds it, he will rip you to shreds. You are too dumb to live.

If you want to walk along the sidewalk and get cheated, that is your prerogative; but not in Berachah Church. Sweet people speaking sweet things are not to be trusted. How can people be that dumb if they have had doctrine for 3 weeks? Certainly you have learned enough doctrine to say, "Take your chain letter and..." or "Take your investment and..."

Romans 2:11 For there is no partiality with God.

Preacher on the outskirts and many seminary students checked him out. He would read this passage and say, "God is not a respectable Person."

The Impartiality of God, Part II

1. God the Father loves God the Son with a perfect amount of love. Never a time when they did not exist nor a time when this love exists. They have had love as an attribute and it is internal. Each one loves His Own integrity, which is holiness, composed of righteousness and justice. This is internal and subjective. God's integrity is more important than His integrity.

2. Each Member of the Godhead loves the other, and that love is external and objective. No such thing as the attribute of divine love of God expressed toward us. God's righteousness cannot stand sin or sinners. He cannot stand human good. Self-righteousness is incompatible with God's righteousness. Anthropopathisms are for those who are new and ignorant and babies.
3. Our relationship with God is based upon justification, which is based upon God's perfect justice.
4. The integrity of God is made up of his righteousness and justice. It supercedes His love when judging Christ on the cross.
5. Infinite holiness acting toward other beings can only be impartial. When integrity is right, there is impartiality.
6. We have to go back to Who and What God is. His justice is perfect.
7. Partiality implies imperfection in the function of justice. But God is impartial. Divine justice administers whatever divine righteousness demands.
8. God's perfect righteousness reveals His divine love for holiness.
9. God's love can only be expressed through His justice. Perfection cannot love imperfection. God loves His Own righteousness. He love His holiness. Divine love as an attribute must be expressed through righteousness. Every blessing that we will every have will come from the justice of God.
10. Love as an Anthropopathism explains divine motivation so that man can understand God's grace policy.
11. We must distinguish between love as a divine attribute and love as an Anthropopathism.
12. Like attributes of God, love belongs to the being of God. God's love is eternal. His love does not grow or diminish. Love is never static in a human being.
13. God is love regardless of having any object of love. God does not fall in love, His love does not grow or diminish.
14. Therefore, the love of God never interferes with the righteousness and justice of God.
15. The justice of God is not hampered by love, partiality or predilection.

Bob was watching some different tv and turned to the religious stations. This guy had no idea about God. He held a Bible in his hand and Bob thought that was blasphemous. He was talking about have a relationship with God based upon God's love.

There is no place for being nice in business. They advance by being good, not by being lovely dovey with everyone. You cannot be a leader or handle authority without integrity.

Some of you want to be great loves, but you are nothing and puny. Arrogance will destroy anything in your life in a hurry. You cannot be arrogant and be good at anything.

A woman must respect a man in order to love Him.

MacArthur cannot be understood by liberals.

When man sinned and failed, divine integrity was greater than God's love.

Romans 2:11 For there is no partiality with God.

Divine Love and Partiality

1. The love of God as a divine attribute is perfect for all eternity.
2. This means that God does not fall in love; God is not attracted to you or to me. God is not attracted to attractive personalities. God does not maintain His love. It is not the personality, it is the message.
3. The attribute of love in contrast to the anthropopathism of love makes it impossible for any member of the Godhead to compromise His integrity.
4. The divine attribute of love is always linked to divine holiness and never functions apart from divine holiness.
5. Divine integrity = God righteousness + God's justice.
6. Divine love cannot be divorced from divine love.
7. Because of this all divine government is related to His justice.
8. The justice of God provided everything that is necessary for the creation of Adam and Eve. The tree of knowledge of good and evil describes the policy of Satan. Bob is looking for something better than the period of innocence, which is a misnomer (a theological abortion). Bob is looking for a better word to describe it. Man's rulership of the earth?
9. All blessing and all cursing comes from the justice of God. If we are adjusted, then we are blessed; if we are maladjusted, we are cursed. 2Chronicles 19:7 Now then, let the fear of the LORD be upon you. Be careful what you do, for there is no injustice with the LORD our God, or partiality or taking bribes. You cannot bribe God with self-righteousness. Romans 2:11 For there is not partiality for the God.
10. God the Father used His justice to judge God the Son on the cross. If He did not deal with His Son in partiality, He will not deal with us in partiality. Job 4:17–21 'Can mortal man be in the right before God? Can a man be pure before his Maker? Even in his servants he puts no trust, and his angels he charges with error; how much more those who dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, who are crushed like the moth. Between morning and evening they are beaten to pieces; they perish forever without anyone regarding it. Is not their tent-cord plucked up within them, do they not die, and that without wisdom?'
11. Imputation of anything is the result of the justice of God, not of the love.

The never was a liberal who likes MacArthur because he has poise, and the liberal thinks that is arrogance. Truman and Eisenhower both mistreated their generals.

We will find your nerve and work on it.

Teddy Roosevelt was the last decent president. The issue in politics should be the policies of the president, not whether or not he is born again. Women should not vote; they are always suckers for sweet personalities. Grace and doctrine should precede your face (no reference to love). Anyone can say, "I love you, including the one who says, 'Hey, man I love you,'" (goofy voice). The key to love is the integrity of the person who says, "I love you."

1977 Romans

Lesson #53

53 03/08/1977 Romans 2:12 Greek middle voice; integrity and impartiality of God re self-righteous Jews

Application

1. No matter how great human self-righteousness is, no matter how much accumulation of human good there is, no matter how sweet or how pleasing the individual personality, the justice of God is never influenced by these or any other factor. The justice of God, then, is impartial, without bias, without prejudice, without predilection.
2. The righteous standard for the function of the justice of God is the courtroom scene of the crucifixion of our Lord Jesus Christ. From the divine viewpoint this righteous standard demonstrates the fact that even though the love which existed between the Father and the Son was eternal, this did not hinder the justice of the Father from judging the Son, putting justice before love, so that salvation might be available to all. Therefore impartiality is demonstrated by the cross from the divine side.
 - a. God allows us to understand Him through the anthropopathism of love, because we understand human love.
 - b. When we read, "Jacob I loved and Esau I hated," we have an understanding of this. But both are anthropopathisms.
 - c. Salvation is not attained by by tears.
3. The love between the Father and the Son is indescribable, beyond human understanding and perception. So great, so eternal; but something is stronger, which is the integrity of God.
4. The cross is the place of either adjustment or maladjustment to the justice of God—John 3:16, 18, 36. If you adjust to the justice of God, you have an eternal relationship with Him.
 - a. We are not loveable to God. God sees nothing in us to love.
 - b. Love is one of the most vacillating things in this world.
5. Self-righteousness is a part of spiritual death and it makes no impression on the supreme court of heaven. God is not slightly impressed with those filled with self-righteousness.
6. Anything man can do from his own ability will neither save nor provide any blessing from the justice of God—Ephesians 2:9; Titus 3:5.
7. Only what God does impresses God. God is never impressed with what anyone else can do. This fact alone eliminates partiality from the justice of God.

8. What man can do never impresses God. God is impressed with God's attributes, not with man's.
9. Therefore God is impressed with God's righteousness, justice, and with what His integrity can produce—grace.
10. Grace excludes pleasing personalities, human good, self-righteousness, wimpy love-everybodies.
11. This anticipates verse 12. The principle: You cannot build your righteousness on the principle of snobbery. Snobbery is arrogance plus self-righteousness.
12. Having the Mosaic law made snobs out of the Jews. Illustration: the rich young ruler, Matthew 19:15ff. Snobs emphasize their own righteousness and good deeds.
13. Distorting the law into a system of legalism and self-righteousness led the Jews to substitute snobbery for integrity. The Ark of the Covenant is the integrity of God.
14. You cannot build your righteousness on someone else's unrighteousness; neither can you build your righteousness on snobbery. A snob is a person who loves himself so much that he assumes everyone else shares his view.

Holiness is a meaningless word today; we should translate it as integrity.

God's Judgment and the Law

Romans 2:12 For as many as have sinned without the Law also will perish without the Law; and as many as have sinned in the Law will be judged by the Law,...

Verse 12 – the illustration. The self-righteous type represents the Jew under the law. He is just as guilty before the justice of God with the law as the Gentile is without the law.

The Jews who are maladjusted to God; and they lose out before God. Some of them wondered, what is our advantage in being Jews? With or without privilege.

“For as many as” – the postpositive conjunctive particle gar, used as an explanatory conjunction to illustrate the principle of the previous verse. With it is the nominative masculine plural from the correlative adjective hosos (ὅσος) [pronounced HOS-os], used to indicate the Gentile type reversionistic unbeliever described in Romans 1:18-32, and again by the noun Héllēn (Ἕλλην) [pronounced HEHL-lane] in 2:9,10. Two kinds of gentiles described: the immoral ones and the moral ones.

“have sinned” – aorist active indicative from hamartanō (ἁμαρτάνω) [pronounced hahm-ahr-TAHN-oh] which means to miss the mark or to sin. The constative aorist contemplates the action of the verb in its entirety, it takes the sinning of the Gentile type and gathers it into a single whole. The active voice: the Gentile reversionistic unbeliever produces the action of the verb, as noted in the principle and the function of Romans 1:18-32. The indicative mood is declarative for unqualified assertion and simple statement of fact.

“without the law” – this is the shock to the Jew. It is the adverb anómōs (ἀνόμως) [pronounced an-OM-ocē]. It connotes living in ignorance of the Mosaic law. It can also be translated “having no law.”

“shall also perish” – the adjunctive use of kai plus the future middle indicative of apollumi (ἀπόλλυμι) [pronounced ap-OL-loo-mee], which means to ruin, to be ruined, to destroy, to be destroyed. The future tense is a gnomic future for a statement of fact which may be rightfully expected under conditions of unbeliever reversionism. The middle voice is the indirect middle emphasizing the agent as producing the action of the verb. The agent is the unbeliever reversionist, Gentile type, not having the law. The indicative is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of absolute reality, the reality of the integrity of God—the justice of God judging unbeliever type reversionists, both Jew and Gentile, and assigning them to the lake of fire.

The Significance of the Middle Voice for Apollumi

The significance of the middle voice is very important in apollumi (ἀπόλλυμι) [pronounced ap-OL-loo-mee].

1. The subject, the reversionistic unbeliever, participates in the results of the action.
2. The subject or agent acts with a view toward participating in the outcome.
3. The middle voice relates the action more intimately to the subject than the active voice does.
4. The middle voice is never used without some reference to the subject in the context.
5. The indirect middle signifies that the action is extremely closely related to the verb.

“and” – the continuative use of the conjunction kai to complete the conclusion; “as many as” – the nominative plural from the correlative adjective hosos (ὅσος) [pronounced HOS-os], used to indicate the self-righteous type of unbeliever reversionist, illustrated by the Jew under the Mosaic law. The Jew that is represented here is one who was very strong in the law, was taught the law from childhood in great detail, went through all of the ritual of the law. The principle is building righteousness on someone else’s righteousness and maintaining righteousness from arrogance rather than from establishment integrity. So distortion of the law to a system of legalism causes self-righteous snobbery to be a substitute for character, and self-righteous types are just as much sinners as any other category. This would have been a shock to the self righteous Jew.

“have sinned” – aorist active indicative of hamartanō (ἁμαρτάνω) [pronounced hahm-ahr-TAHN-oh]. The aorist is constative, gathering into one entirety the act of sin or transgression under the Mosaic law. The active voice: it categorically refers to the sins of self-righteous types but it specifically refers to Jewish unbelievers failing to keep the law but using the law as a way of salvation. The indicative mood is declarative representing the reality of sin, even with perfect standards. Despite the distortions, the Mosaic Law is perfect.

“in the law” – en (ἐν) [pronounced eh] plus the locative of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss], “under the law”; “shall be judged” – future passive indicative of krinō (κρίνω)

[pronounced KREE-no]. The justice of God judges self-righteousness. This is a gnomic future tense for a statement of fact which may be expected under conditions of unbeliever reversionism in Israel with the Mosaic law. The passive voice: the unbeliever reversionist in Israel receives the action of the verb, both judgment in time and eternity. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality.

“by the law” – dia plus the genitive of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] should be translated “through law.” We have an anarthrous construction here. The absence of the definite article calls attention to the perfect quality of the law. Just because the law has been distorted into a system of self-righteousness it does not detract from its perfection. The law is perfect. Self righteous types cannot admit to a mistake; but we all sin and we all make mistakes and errors in judgment. We may think that we are people smart, but we are not.

Romans 1:12 For as many as have sinned without the law also shall perish: and as many as under the law have sinned, through the law will be judged.

The Jew and the gentile are caught either way, one with the law and one without.

The Mosaic Law, the Jew and the Gentile

1. Regardless of environment the entire human race is both sinful and spiritually dead. Some have the environment of heathenism and some have the environment of the perfect Mosaic law, but all are spiritually dead. The Jew with the Mosaic Law who rejects Jesus Christ has no advantage.
2. Nevertheless with or without the Mosaic law all people have an old sin nature and still sin, and this principle is true after salvation as before—1John 1:8.
3. With the law, then, there is a tendency toward self-righteousness and a maximum accumulation of human good.
4. Not only does the Mosaic law set up a standard to determine sinfulness and define hamartiology but the Mosaic law also reflects the absolute standard of God’s eternal, infinite, perfect righteousness. In other words, the Mosaic law reveals the integrity of God.
5. The sins of the Jewish unbeliever were judged by the justice of God on the cross. Therefore the sins of the Jewish unbeliever will not be mentioned at the last judgment.
6. The law inspires the Jewish unbeliever to accumulate human good and build his case for self-righteousness.
7. But the human good of self-righteousness was rejected at the cross and reserved for judgment at the great white throne.
8. On the other hand, the righteousness of God is immutable, perfect and infinite, and can never change to accommodate any self-righteous types.
9. To adjust to the justice of God at salvation man therefore must discard illusions about self. He must discard self-righteousness in favour of receiving divine righteousness.

10. This can only be accomplished by personal faith in Jesus Christ, which is known as instant adjustment to the justice of God.
11. The accumulation of self-righteousness and human good will only condemn the unbeliever, it will not save him.
12. The more intensified the effort to be saved by keeping the law, the more human good and self-righteousness is accumulated. Therefore the more guilt and the greater condemnation from the justice of God—Romans 4:4.
13. Therefore, the self-righteous unbeliever is just as much under condemnation as the immoral or heathenistic unbeliever without the law.
14. The justice of God is impartial. It condemns the self-righteous type just as quickly as the immoral type without the law.
15. Jew and Gentile unbeliever are equally maladjusted to the justice of God and equally guilty before the judgment throne of God.
16. Morality or human righteousness is never the basis of salvation. To imply this is to malign the character of God. Due to the impartiality of the justice of God the unbeliever, regardless of environment or circumstances, is condemned and judged in time as well as in eternity.

1977 Romans

Lesson #54

54 03/09/1977 Romans 2:13 Intro. NATO weaknesses; Jew + the Law; arrogant America

This is a very short lesson; not sure why. This is a Wednesday night and Bob sounds like he could teach for a few hours.

A reading of the corrected translation so far.

God is not partial to the Jews when it comes to His justice. We have no relationship with the love of God apart from His justice.

Turning around and telling the person behind you that you love them, that is idiocy and blasphemy. You do that in church and Bob will throw you out.

We bring nothing to the equation. Only faith. The justice of God judged our sins on the cross.

Bob thinks that justification is the most misunderstood word in the Bible. Romans 9–11 is even more difficult. You never get away from justice in the book of Romans; and never far away from the Jew.

Bob stands in awe of Paul's genius throughout the book of Romans.

Verses 13-15, the parenthetical amplification. This is a parenthesis, and on the other side of verse 15 in verse 16 we have the rest of verse 12. Even in the KJV, they caught this.

The Law, the Jew and the Gentile (Part II)

1. The principle stated in verses 11 & 12 is quite a shock to self-righteous types, Jew or Gentile, but especially a great shock to the Jew under the law who always considered it was an advantage to have the law. (He is right until he distorts the law) Every concept of life is found in the Law.
 - a. The Jews + the Law is superior to every other group of people.
 - b. The problem is the Jews distort the Law, and this neutralizes that combination.
 - c. It is all how you use the Law.
2. To discover that he is as guilty as the immoral Gentile unbeliever before the justice of God is unpalatable, totally foreign to his thinking. He thinks of the Goy as something inferior, uncouth and uncultured. It is a shock to him to realize that the justice of God regards him with his self-righteousness in the same way.
3. To the Jew under the law the standards of the law are distorted into a check list by which he can keep track of his self-righteousness and count up his human good.
4. Such self-righteousness feeds pride, inflates the ego and gives momentum to arrogance. Inevitably it leads to evil.
5. It is very difficult for the person who has been building up his self-righteousness on the immorality and unrighteousness of the Gentile, and distorting the law by making favourable comparisons to himself, to be told that while by comparison he is better than the immoral man of Romans chapter one and even though he is impressed with his own righteousness, God is not impressed at all.
6. Strict observation of the law neither saves nor justifies before the integrity of God—James 2:10; Roman 3:20, 28; Galatians 3:10-12.

We have become a petty and arrogant people in the United States. We no longer have the ability to laugh at ourselves; and we lack that. We are a self righteous people. How dare we try to blackmail the Rhodesian people? We have no right to tell them or the South Africans how to run their business. We are a socialist welfare state; we are a tyranny of the mob. We have become an evil, religious, self righteous people. We need a big case of humility. Humility is the only way to go.

You become less critical and less gossipy when you develop some humility; and you develop the principles of live and let live.

Many of you are very attractive people and you capitalize on that. Some of you don't think you have committed an mistake since you were saved.

The pattern is very simple. In the parenthesis, verses 13-15, there are two assumptions. These are two delusions which belong to the self righteous Jew. The Jew can teach us and be a blessing to us. V. 14 is the first refutation, which answers the second assumption from v. 13.

In verse 13 which actually belong to the self-righteous Jew. In verse 14 is the first reputation which answers the second assumption of verse 13. Then in verse 15 we have the second reputation answering the first assumption.

Somehow, this is a 33 minute class and Bob did cut it short, but saying there was only 6 minutes remaining. Perhaps this lesson was edited?

1977 Romans

Lesson #55

55 03/10/1977 Romans 2:13–14 Condemnation of self-righteous doers of the Law; doctrine of the Mosaic Law

Bob is asked from time to time about military obligation.

A reading of the passage.

Two assumptions in v. 13. V. 14 refutes the second assumption; v. 15 refutes the first assumption.

What is assumed in v. 13 is incorrect; out of harmony with the Word of God.

Romans 2:13 ...for not the hearers of the Law are righteous with God; but the doers of the Law will be justified.

Verse 13 – “For not the hearers of the law” begins with the postpositive conjunctive particle gar, used often to express the cause or reason, but here it becomes the explanatory conjunction and translated “For you see.” Plus the strong negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] which refutes the delusion of the self-righteous man, and the nominative plural subject from akroatês (ἀκροατής) [pronounced ak-ro-at-ACE], which means those who sit in the congregation and listen to teaching, a student in that sense. It refers here to the Jew being taught the Mosaic law. The inculcation of the Mosaic law and the observation of it does not impress the integrity of God. God is not impressed just because people listen to the teaching, it is the acceptance of that teaching the inculcation of that teaching, the transfer from one lobe to the right lobe, that really counts. In itself it is not meritorious merely to be a student of the law, nor is it meritorious in the second assumption to be a doer of the law.

“are just” – changing the translation into better English: “For you see the hearers [students of the law] are not just.” The verb eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME] is understood, if not found in the context. “Just” is in the predicate nominative, it is an adjective, dikaios (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss]. It means adjusted to the justice of God or related to the integrity of God. Dikaios (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss] connotes connection with tradition or custom. While it is translated “righteous” it is a Greek word for virtue. In this context it means adjusted to the justice of God, the greatest virtue of all.

Liberalism emphasize love; conservatives emphasize justice.

“before God” is the preposition para plus the dative of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]. Theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] is always used of a person. The preposition para plus the dative indicates the judgment of someone, i.e. God, so we translate “before the God.” There is a definite article to indicate someone with whom the readers are familiar.

“but” – ordinarily this is the adversative conjunction allá (ἀλλά) [pronounced ahl-LAH], but it has a different meaning here. It is used ordinarily to set up a contrast or to link contrasting statements, but not here. This is the intensive or emphatic or confirmatory use of allá (ἀλλά) [pronounced ahl-LAH], therefore it will be translated a little differently. The reason that this use is possible here is because of the negative on the previous clause. The way it should be translated: “in fact, not.”

“the doers of the law” – the nominative plural subject of poiētês (ποιητής) [pronounced poi-ay-TACE] and is correctly translated “doers.” Plus a descriptive genitive singular of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss]—“doers of the law.” The words, “in fact the doers of the law” is the beginning of the second assumption. It is a reference to the hard-core self-righteous types who are not students but are real hustlers, workers. They try to be justified before God by a long system of good deeds which they have developed from the law. This is what is called the functional religious snob. Like the rich young ruler they are proud of their self-righteousness and human good. So great is the arrogance of such a person that he assumes that the justice of God will give him salvation on the basis of doing the law.

“shall be justified” – we have the negative brought over by the confirmatory/emphatic use of allá (ἀλλά) [pronounced ahl-LAH], plus the future passive indicative of dikaioō (δικαιώω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh]: “in fact the doers of the law shall not be justified.” This is a predictive future. The passive voice: the doers of the law will not receive justification, they have no relationship with the integrity of God. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic statement of fact.

Romans 2:13 (For you see the hearers of the law are not just before the God, in fact the doers of the law shall not be justified.

So we have the student and the doers. Both are using the law and distorting the law, and both groups are rejected.

Students and Doers of the Law

1. The hard-core self-righteous types content that being taught the Mosaic law, being a student of the law, does not provide overt manifestation for evaluation of one's righteousness.
2. When produces human good by doing the law he always compares his self-righteous deeds with the sins and failures of others—those who do not have the

3. He establishes a system of comparative righteousness and takes this comparative righteousness and says God must accept it. That is an assumption, and the integrity of God rejects every form of self-righteousness.
4. Complete delusion by doing the law and the resultant self-righteousness, this self-righteousness is used a standard to compare one's self favourably, not only with immoral man, like a Gentile without the law, but with God's righteousness.
5. Rationalized self-justification is erroneously assumed to be adjustment to the justice of God, or acceptable to the integrity of God.
6. In this verse there are two basis for self-justification or self-righteousness—being a student of the law and being a doer of the law. Both groups are doing the same thing, assuming that their approach to the Law is good enough for salvation.
7. In reputation the next two verses, 14 & 15, demonstrate that Gentiles who are neither students of the law nor doers of the law can produce an equivalent righteousness to the Jews since the Jews have developed their self-righteousness by comparing themselves with the Gentiles.
8. If apart from the law the Gentile can produce an equivalent self-righteousness then obviously the self-righteousness of the Jew under the law is neutralized as far as adjustment to the justice of God.
9. So the Gentile production of human good neutralizes the Jewish production of human good because the Gentile produces it apart from the law. So this removes the law as an instrument of justification. To use the law as an instrument of salvation or an instrument of justification converts the law into an instrument of condemnation.^[5]

The Mosaic Law doctrine was not covered in its entirety; but a couple of pages of it were covered and the text was almost the same throughout.

This doctrine was covered again in Lesson #176 and in Lesson #245 (notes placed here).

Doctrine of the Mosaic Law

- A. The Mosaic Law is divided into three parts. In the English translation they are called the Decalogue, the Ordinances, and the Judgments. This division happens by study and exegesis.
 1. Codex one is the Ten Commandments, the Commandments, the Freedom Code, or the Decalogue. This is the Ten Commandments and other commandments.
 - a. This is the freedom code. These commandments form the basis for the heritage of Israel's freedom. The Ten Commandments define freedom in terms of human activity. They are addressed to believers and unbelievers with the exception of worship of God. These laws are related to freedom and to crime. Sinning does not make us a criminal.
 - b. Human freedom is described in terms of the laws of divine establishment. There can be no freedom without morality which can be fulfilled by both believers and unbelievers.

- c. All of the rights of individuals is described in terms of authorities and the transgressions found in here. You will not steal recognizes the right to private property; you will not murder recognizes the right to one's own life.
- d. The Ten Commandments define human freedom in terms of morality, privacy, property, life, and authority in general. The Ten Commandments also define human freedom under two categories: relationship with God and relationship and interaction with people.
- e. While some sins are mentioned in the Ten Commandments, its purpose is not to define sin. The sins mentioned are intrusions upon privacy, property, and freedom.
- f. Therefore, human freedom has something which is the guardian of freedom - authority. Human freedom must have authority, and this authority is defined in two areas: volition as the basic authority in life, and establishment authority summarized by the Ten Commandments, Exodus 20:1-17.
- g. All of the rights of a group of people must be defined in terms of personal authority. Everyone is responsible in the framework of freedom to follow establishment rules. When these rules are violated, we call it crime. Punishment is described in the Law. Criminals have the right to use their own free will to recognize these rights and principles. Other factors include good manners, thoughtfulness of others, and regard for women.
- h. On the other side of volition, establishment authorities are set up to guarantee freedom. For example, the authority of the husband over the wife, parents over children, and government.
- i. "Thou shall not" defines in a negative way what morality is. Morality is the system whereby freedom permeates the human race. Morality is a requirement for the entire human race, not just believers. Something much higher than morality is required for believers: virtue. The highest form of virtue is spiritual maturity.
- j. Codex one also points out to the unbeliever that he is married to the old sin nature and has a bad marriage.
- k. Mt 22:36-40 sums up the entire Law.
- l. Divine institutions covered: volition, marriage, family and government.
- m. The tenth commandment is the prohibition of unbridled lust.
- n. Punishment needs to be impartial, so it is defined in the laws.
- o. Morality is the system whereby freedom permeates the human race. It is not a requirement of believers; it is a requirement for the entire human race. The believer lives on a higher plane than simple morality. We are required to be thoughtful of other people; to think of other people rather than ourselves under certain conditions. We are not antinomian or legalistic. Many times, either extreme is not correct; like Calvinism and Arminianism; communism and fascism.

p. Codex #1 points out to the unbeliever that he is married to the old sin nature.

2. Codex two is the Ordinances, Exodus 25:1 - 31:18, or the spiritual code; the theology code. This is about soteriology and Christology.
 - a. If you have freedom from the ten commandments, you are free to hear the gospel and to accept it or reject it. This emphasizes the fact that believers are designed to function under both the laws of divine establishment as well as Bible doctrine in the soul. As the marriage counselor, codex two points out the solution to the first marriage to the old sin nature as salvation.
 - b. The ordinances are the spiritual heritage of Israel. They are the theological code designed to present Jesus Christ as the only Savior. The spiritual heritage of Israel includes a complete but shadow soteriology and christology, the essence of God, and the explanation of justification in terms of divine integrity, and all the adjustments to the justice of God. These doctrines were communicated both through ritual and through oral teachings. Oral communication came through Moses, and Aaron followed with the ritual teachings. Ritual without reality is meaningless.
 - c. The ritual communication included the structure of the Tabernacle and its furniture (Ex 25-27), the delineation of the Holy Days (Lev 23:10ff), the modus operandi of the Levitical priesthood (Ex 28-29), and the significance of the Levitical offerings (Lev 1-3). All of these things spoke of the person and work of our Lord Jesus Christ.
 - d. The Ordinances are a means of communicating the gospel. They are also a means of appreciating the so(c)great salvation the Lord has given to all of us.
3. Codex three is the Judgments, the establishment code or the national heritage of Israel. Quarantine, trial, evidence, criminal law, relationship in social life, relationship in national life, dietary laws. This is the like the Constitution to the United States or the Magna Carta to British Law. This also includes a spiritual component, not found in the other laws. This law was not given to the gentiles; only to the Jews. You cannot compare the Mosaic Law to the Hammurabi code. It is like comparing the most beautiful dress with soiled diapers.
 - a. This includes all of the political and functional heritage of the nation Israel.
 - b. Every principle and function related to the life of a client nation was reduced to writing, oral communication, and government modus operandi. This includes an elaboration of freedom and authority, privacy, rights, property, privileges, marriage and divorce, military policy, taxation, diet, health, sanitation, quarantine, criminal law, trial, punishment, laws of evidence, and capital punishment, Ex 21:1-23:9.
 - (1) The responsibility of government is to ensure freedom. The Mosaic Law has everything necessary for ensuring the freedom of its citizens. The amplification of the freedom principles related to government and private citizens.

- (2) The principle of privacy in freedom.
- (3) The concept of juris prudence which distinguishes between criminal and civil law, and developed the laws of evidence which exclude hearsay and assign just punishment for criminal acts and tort for civil law. No one could be convicted unless there were two or three witnesses who independently before the court presented the same facts. Criminals were punished immediately. There is no such thing as rehabilitation of a criminal. Punishment must be so severe, it restrains the criminal. Part of the establishment code is capital punishment, which was first enucleated in the Scripture in Gen 9:5-6 and incorporated into the Mosaic Law in Ex 21:12; Num 35:30; and transferred to the Church Age in Rom 13:3-4.
- (4) A just system of taxation. Tithing was the system of taxation and was levied on both believers and unbelievers. There was a separate system of offerings for believers only, Deut 18:1(c)5; Neh 13:10. The offerings of believers were not assigned any percentage. There were three income tax systems in Israel.
 - (a) There was a ten percent income tax for the maintenance of the Levites, Num 18:21, 24; Lev 27:30-33.
 - (b) There was a ten percent income tax for feasts and sacrifices, Deut 12:18; 14:22-24.
 - (c) There was a ten percent income tax gathered every third year for the poor of the Land, Deut 14:28-29.
 - (d) Mal 3:8-11 describes income tax evasion. "Will a man defraud God? Yet you are defrauding Me. But you say, 'How have we defrauded You?' In tithes [taxation] and offerings [spiritual giving by believers only]. [Unbelievers did not want to pay income tax or the tax related to support of the Levitical offerings.] You are cursed with a curse; for you, the entire nation, are defrauding Me. 'Bring your entire tithe [income tax] to the treasury, so that there may be food in My house [client nation], and test Me now in this,' declares the Lord of the armies, 'if I will not open for you the windows of heaven, and pour you out so much blessing that you will not have room enough for it. Then I will rebuke the devourer [anything that would destroy the economy, like insects/pests or invading armies] for you, so that it may not destroy the production of the ground.'" Great blessing occurs to a client nation when its citizens faithfully pay legitimate income taxes.

(e) Spiritual giving does not have a percentage sign. Never give so that it deprives your family. While spiritual giving is mentioned, it is not an issue in the establishment code of the Mosaic Law. In the spiritual code, the offerings of a believer is a private matter between a believer and God. No percentage is involved.

c. Codex three included the function of free enterprise and profit motivation but rejected all forms of socialism and the welfare state, but mandates charity. When you destroy wealth in a nation, you destroy jobs in a nation. Charity is always a valid part of the spiritual life, both in the Old Testament and the New. Three things were rejected as evil: civil disobedience, violence, and revolution.

d. The laws of divine establishment are for believer and unbeliever alike. Morality mandated by the Mosaic Law was for both believers and unbelievers; it was not the means of spirituality.

e. Morality is not spirituality. Spirituality is infinitely greater than morality. Morality is produced by human self(c)determination and is good but spirituality is produced by God the Holy Spirit and is infinitely greater than human good.

B. The Recipients of the Mosaic Law.

1. The Mosaic Law was given to the nation of Israel as the first client nation to God in B.C. 1440, Exodus 19:3; Leviticus 26:46; Romans 3:19, 9:4.

2. The Mosaic Law was never given to Gentiles, Deut 4:8; Rom 2:12-14, because Israel was the client nation. Codex three is the exception, since it belongs to the entire world, and principles of Codex three are reiterated in such passages as Rom 13:1-10.

3. The Mosaic Law was never given to the Church, Acts 15:5, 24; Rom 6:14; Gal 2:19. This is the fallacy of covenant theology. We have a higher code in the royal family honor code. The Church has no animal sacrifices, Saturday worship, specialized priesthood, etc.

4. All of these passages make the point that morality must be distinguished from spirituality. Morality is for the entire human race. The more morality you have in a country the better off you are, because the purpose of true morality is to provide true freedom. Morality is not to be rejected by the believer. We have something greater than morality - the unique spiritual life of the Church Age.

5. Nations have adopted some portions of the Mosaic Law, like those which have adopted concepts like free enterprise to their nation, and have prospered as a result. People of one race want to associate other races with everything bad, but that is just not the case. No such thing as ethnic arrogance.

6. Trash does accumulate in a nation, and God allows economic disaster and the purpose of this is to cleanse the nation of its weak or evil members.
7. When you have an economic crash, the federal government sometimes prints money, and this is fine, as long as there is confidence in the money that is out there. But if the money is considered worthless, the economic system crashes.
8. Because we have rejected the true function of the law, we are sitting on a volcano in the United States.

C. Limitations of the Mosaic Law (called "weakness and uselessness of the Law" in Hebrews 7:18).

1. The Mosaic Law cannot justify anyone before God as a system of works, Acts 13:39; Phil 3:9. The Law was given as a system for understanding sin, not as a system of salvation. The Law points to the fact that we need salvation but it cannot save. The Mosaic Law reveals Jesus Christ as the only savior. It presents a complete christology and soteriology. The Jews executed the ritual without ever relating it to the reality of Christ as savior.
 - a. Rom 3:20-22, "Because by the works of the Law no flesh shall be justified in His sight, for by the Law is the knowledge of sin. But now apart from the Law, the righteousness of God is manifested...even the righteousness of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all those who believe; for there is no distinction.
 - b. Rom 3:28, "Therefore, we contend that a person is justified by faith apart from the works of the Law."
 - c. Gal 2:16, "Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the Law, but by faith in Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Christ that we might be justified by faith and not by the works of the Law. For by the works of the Law no man will be justified."
 - d. Everyone in both the Old Testament and the New Testament are saved by faith in Christ. Abraham believed in the Lord and it was credited to his account as righteousness.
2. The Mosaic Law cannot provide eternal salvation, Gal 3:21-26.
3. The Mosaic Law cannot provide the filling of the Holy Spirit, necessary for the execution of the spiritual life, Gal 3:2ff.
4. The Mosaic Law cannot solve the problems of the old sin nature and spiritual death at birth, Rom 8:2-3. It cannot provide a righteousness acceptable to God. It must remain in its proper setting as the basis for the function of a nation. In other words, the Mosaic Law defines the problem and points to the solution, but doesn't provide the solution.
5. The equality factor of the Church Age did not exist under the Mosaic Law. To be a priest you had to be born into the tribe of Levi under the Law. Under the protocol plan we are not only priests but royal priests.
6. The Law never provided for the indwelling of the Trinity in the body of all believers.
7. The Law never provided for the baptism of the Holy Spirit.

8. The Law never provided for the one hundred percent availability of divine power.

9. The Law never provided for a dispensation of only historical trends and no prophecy, so that every believer can have great historical impact.

10. These limitations are related to the spiritual life.

D. The humanity of Jesus Christ is related to the Mosaic Law, since our Lord was born a Jew by race from the royal line of David.

1. The humanity of Jesus in hypostatic union kept the Law perfectly during the First Advent and incarnation as noted in the biblical doctrine of impeccability.

2. Christ condemned the legalistic distortions of the Law and the Pharisees who sponsored such practices, Matt 23.

3. Christ perfectly fulfilled the Law, Matt 5:17.

4. Christ is the termination of the Law for the purpose of righteousness to all who believe, Rom 10:4. There finally came into history one human being who obeyed the Law perfectly. The righteousness we have is higher than the righteousness of the Mosaic Law. The Church Age believer has a higher echelon of morality than ever existed in the Mosaic Law.

E. The Present Purpose of the Mosaic Law in the Church Age.

1. The Mosaic Law belongs to the word of God and still has value for the Church Age believer. It defines human freedom in a client nation to God in the Church Age in terms of establishment freedom and spiritual freedom.

2. The Mosaic Law defines the modus operandi for divine establishment in terms of morality and human virtue. The morality of the Mosaic Law does have virtue as long as you do not get into arrogance.

3. The Mosaic Law reveals the solution to the fallen; but it in itself is not the solution.

4. It verifies certain principles of Codex three related to:

a. The principle of freedom through military victory.

b. The control of crime through capital punishment and proper jurisprudence.

c. The importance of the sacredness of privacy, property, and life.

d. The common sense functions of life such as quarantine, proper diet, maintenance of good hygiene, etc.

5. Codex two of the Law emphasizes the importance of our historical christology and soteriology; for the historical christology of the New Testament fulfills the shadow christology of the Mosaic Law, emphasizing the work of Christ in salvation, emphasizing the spiritual death and sinfulness of mankind, and emphasizing faith in Jesus Christ for eternal salvation.

6. The perpetual application of the Mosaic Law is found in 1 Tim 1:8–11, "We know that the Law is good, if one uses it lawfully. Know this fact that the Law was not made for the righteous man, but for those who are lawless and rebellious, for the ungodly and sinners, for the unholy and profane, for those who murder their fathers and mothers, for murderers in general, for fornicators and homosexuals, for kidnappers and liars, perjurers, and whatever else is contrary to sound doctrine according to the glorious gospel of the blessed God with which gospel I have been entrusted." The perpetual application of the Mosaic Law is to bring people to the place where they recognize the need for a savior.

- a. Using the Mosaic Law lawfully means no distortions, no distractions, and above all no Christian activism.
 - b. All of these categories refer to both believers and unbelievers.
7. The Mosaic Law contains truth that applies to every generation of history, that is, the principles of freedom, authority, property, and jurisprudence. All systems of freedom are based on absolute truth, Jn 8:32.
8. The freedom of the royal family completely excludes the Mosaic Law. Gal 5:1, "It is for freedom that Christ has set us free. Keep standing fast in it [our freedom] and do not become entangled again in the yoke of slavery [the legalistic believer living under the Mosaic Law]."
9. Temporal freedom is the heritage of physical birth. Spiritual freedom is the heritage of the new birth, 2 Cor 3:17, "Now the Lord [God the Holy Spirit] is the Spirit. And where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom."
10. The Mosaic Law is completely excluded from the believer's spiritual freedom, but still has value in defining human freedom in the human race.
- a. The characteristics of temporal freedom include
 - (1) Recognition of the sacredness of privacy, property, and life.
 - (2) Emphasis on and recognition of the sacredness of self-determination.
 - (3) A personal sense of responsibility for one's own decisions.
 - (4) Subordination to the authority of establishment.
 - b. The characteristics of spiritual freedom include:
 - (1) It is not based on the Mosaic Law, Gal 5:1.
 - (2) It is based on the absolutes of Bible doctrine, Jn 8:32.
 - (3) It is based on the filling of Spirit, 2 Cor 3:17.
 - c. Temporal freedom is the heritage of physical birth. Spiritual freedom is the heritage of regeneration, the second birth. Spiritual freedom is only located inside the spiritual life and can function with or without the support of temporal freedom. For example, some the greatest believers in the Roman Empire were slaves. And Paul said, "Remain in slavery." You can grow spiritually in slavery just as easily as you can in temporal freedom.
 - d. Temporal freedom is based on human merit. Spiritual freedom is based on divine merit. 2 Cor 3:13-18, "And they are not as Moses, who put a veil over his face so that the sons of Israel might not see it [his face] while the glory was fading away. But their minds were hardened; for until this very day at the reading of the Old Testament, the same veil remains unlifted, because it is removed in Christ. But to this day whenever Moses is read, a veil lies over their heart, 'But when anyone turns to the Lord, the veil is removed.' Now the Lord is the Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom. But we all, with an unveiled face looking into a mirror [Word of God] to produce a reflection [spiritual self-esteem, autonomy, and maturity], the glory of the Lord, are being transformed into that same image [of Jesus Christ in the spiritual life of the hypostatic union] from glory [the glory of the humanity of Christ] to glory [the glory of the believer who executes the protocol plan], as it were, from the Spirit of the Lord."

- (1) When Moses went up on the mountain and got parts of the Mosaic Law, there was a glory related to it, and it was shone in the animation of his face. But when he came down, the glory faded. So that the Jews could not see the fading glory of the Mosaic Law, Moses put a veil over his face as commanded. The Jews were not to see that the glory of the Law would fade.
 - (2) How does the glory fade in the Mosaic Law? Verse 14 says through scar tissue of the soul. Throughout the Church Age, scar tissue of the soul will keep the veil unlifted unless the Jew has faith in Christ.
 - (3) If you look into the Word of God with scar tissue of the soul, you get nothing. The mirror is the Word of God. When you see and execute, the glory is there.
11. The Mosaic Law was abrogated as a total code. Therefore, only what is reiterated in the New Testament is pertinent to "the law of the Spirit in Christ Jesus." Rom 8:2-8, "For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has set us free from the law of sin and death. For what the Mosaic Law was powerless to do, in that it was weakened by the sin nature, God did by sending His own Son in the likeness of the flesh of sin, and for a sin offering judged sin in the flesh, in order that the legal requirements of the Law might be fulfilled in us, who do not walk according to the flesh [old sin nature], but according to the Spirit. For those [believers] who are according to the flesh keep thinking about the things of the flesh, but those [believers] who live according to the Spirit [filling of the Spirit] keep thinking about the things of the Spirit. Consequently, the thought pattern of the flesh is death, but the thought pattern of the Spirit is life and prosperity, because the thought pattern of the flesh is hostile toward God; for it is not subordinate to the law of God, because it is not able to do so; furthermore those who are controlled by the flesh [sin nature] cannot please God."While the Jews of the Old Testament lived by the Mosaic Law, Church Age believers live by the protocol plan of God. The dispensation of the Hypostatic Union stands as a permanent line of demarcation between Israel and the Church. Therefore, during the dispensation of the Hypostatic Union, Jesus Christ fulfilled the Mosaic Law on the one hand, and established the precedence for the Church Age on the other hand.
12. The Mosaic Law does not define the Christian way of life.

- a. Mt 5:17, "Do not think that I came to abolish the Law or the prophets. I did not come to abolish, but to fulfill."
 - b. Rom 10:4, "For Christ is the end of the Law for the purpose of righteousness to every one who believes."
13. The Mosaic Law is a particular expression of God's eternal and holy character, Ex 19. The Mosaic Law is designed for several explicit purposes.
- a. While the Law regulated the life of the Jews in the dispensation of Israel, its primary purpose was to anticipate the first advent of Christ.
 - b. After the Law was fulfilled by Christ, this code no longer governs any people or any nation. However, the abrogation of the Law does not leave either unbelievers or believers in a state of lawlessness, Rom 6:15ff.
14. Dr. Charles E. Feinberg's seventeen points on why the believer is not under the Law.
- a. A believer under the Law makes Christ a minister of sin, Gal 2:17.
 - b. The believer has died to the Law, Gal 2:19.
 - c. A believer has received all the benefits of the Spirit through faith, Gal 3:1-5.
 - d. The Law brings nothing but condemnation, Gal 3:10-14.
 - e. God's promised blessings to Abraham, of which Abrahamic route all believers partake (Rom 11), antedate the giving of the Law. Therefore, the Law cannot be a prior claim, Gal 3:15-17.
 - f. The Law has no power to give life or to sustain life, Gal 3:21.
 - g. The Law is intended only for the immature, while positionally, believers are full-grown sons, Gal 3:23-4:7.
 - h. The Law is a bondage to the believer, Gal 4:9.
 - i. Law and grace are mutually exclusive principles; therefore, choose one or the other, Gal 4:21(c)31.
 - j. The believer has an abiding freedom in Christ, Gal 5:1.
 - k. The believer must keep all the Law, if he would attempt to keep even part of it, Gal 5:2-4.
 - l. The persuasion to put the believer under the Law is not from God, Gal 5:8.
 - m. Legalism of the believer does away with the offense of the cross, Gal 5:11.
 - n. All the Law is fulfilled by the Holy Spirit, Gal 5:16-24.
 - o. The life of the believer must be sustained on the same principle as his new birth or regeneration, Gal 5:25.
 - p. The believer's proneness to sin calls for his dealing with grace, not dealing according to the Law, Gal 6:1-5.
 - q. All who advocate the Law for the believer cannot keep it themselves, and their intention is ultimate glory in the flesh, Gal 6:13.

15. The termination of the Mosaic Law does not leave the believer or unbeliever in a lawless status quo, Rom 6:15ff. God's perfect character remains immutable through all dispensations in history. God expressed His perfect virtue to mankind long before the Mosaic Law existed, and He continues to provide ethical norms, morality, virtue and spiritual instruction after the Law has ceased to govern.
16. Before, during, and after the time the Mosaic Law was in effect in Israel, divine law functioned among the Gentiles, to whom the Mosaic Law never applied, Gen 26:5; Ex 19:5; Rom 2:14(c)16; 1 Cor 7:19, 9:20f.
17. In the Church Age, the operational divine law is not the Mosaic Law, but the law of Christ, 1 Cor 9:20-21; Gal 6:2.
 - a. The humanity of Christ in Hypostatic Union fulfilled the Mosaic Law in the power of the Spirit.
 - b. The Church Age believer fulfills the law of Christ by following His precedent, which means the execution of the protocol plan of God under the filling of the Holy Spirit and perception of Bible doctrine.
18. Because the first advent of Christ included both the fulfillment and the culmination of the Mosaic Law (Mt 5:17-19; Rom 10:4; Gal 3:22-25, 5:3-4), many practices mandated for the nation Israel are not included in God's plan for the church.
19. While the Mosaic Law as a total code became obsolete, not only was the spiritual code fulfilled and replaced, but the temporal portions of the Law ceased to be literally in effect.
 - a. The temporal aspects of the Law, like codex one and three, define freedom within the national entity. Codex three institutes the laws of divine establishment for Israel specifically.
 - b. During the dispensation of the Hypostatic Union, our Lord inaugurated new policies for both the Church and the Millennium. In doing so, our Lord restated many individual commands found in the Mosaic Law. But if a command was not restated for the Church or the Millennium, then it is not pertinent.
 - c. This continuity existed because the source of all divine law has always been the same immutable essence of God, Heb 13:8. Although continuity with the Law exists in both the Church Age and Millennium, the new policy for both dispensations is not the Mosaic Law itself.
 - (1) The Church Age derives its doctrine from the New Testament epistles under the classification of mystery doctrine, Rom 16:25f; Eph 3:2-6; Col 1:25-27.
 - (2) The Mosaic Law was revealed to Old Testament writers; therefore, it cannot be part of the mystery doctrine.
20. Three great discourses in the New Testament Gospels prophesy divine policies mandated for the Church Age, the Second Advent, and the millennial reign of Christ.

- a. The Upper Room Discourse anticipates prophetically divine policies for the Church Age, Jn 12-17.
 - b. The Olivet Discourse, Mt 24(c)25, describes policies for how Jews will survive the last half of the Tribulation in order to remain until the Second Advent.
 - c. The Sermon on the Mount is for the millennial reign of Christ. The Sermon on the Mount can only be enforced when Jesus Christ rules on the earth personally.
21. The New Testament epistles provide the divine mandates for the protocol plan of God. If Old Testament precepts apply, they do so, not because they belong to the Mosaic Law, but because they are repeated to the church as a part of the royal family of God modus operandi.
- a. Some of the precepts of codex three are given to the Church in its relationship to the laws of divine establishment, Rom 13:1-10.
 - b. Some of the principles of divine establishment found in codex one and three are restated as the law of Christ or law of God.
 - c. The excluded principles are still divine truth, but they do not bear the force of law for any nation except the five Jewish client nations of the past.
 - d. In the future, there is the possibility that much of the Law will apply to client nation Israel during the Millennium, but not during the Church Age.
 - e. Wise political leaders in the Church Age, who desire prosperity for their nation, will extrapolate and use principles found in the Mosaic Law, and integrate them into their culture and heritage.
 - f. During the Church Age the principle of separation of church and state leaves many establishment issues simply to the judgment of civil government.
 - g. For example, capital punishment is restated for the Church Age in Rom 13:4, but not some of the specific applications in the Mosaic Law, such as adultery, homosexuality, and juvenile delinquency.
22. However, the Mosaic Law continues to fulfill certain pertinent functions.
- a. It defines freedom in any client nation to God, both establishment freedom and spiritual freedom.
 - b. It defines the modus operandi of the laws of divine establishment in terms of both morality and virtue.
 - c. It verifies certain principles, such as freedom through military victory.
 - d. It defines common law in terms of both trial and punishment.
 - e. It demonstrates that man is a sinner under real spiritual death and points the way of salvation through personal faith in Christ.
 - f. It illustrates the saving work of Christ on the cross through ritual illustrations.

23. The Mosaic Law was written for our instruction, in order that we might learn establishment principles, Rom 15:4.

- a. The Mosaic Law was written for our example. 1Cor 10:11-12 Now these things happened to them as an example, furthermore, they were written for our instruction, upon whom the accomplishments of the ages [the execution of the plan of God under the power of the Holy Spirit] have come. Therefore, let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall.
- b. The Mosaic Law was written to convince the unbeliever that by divine standards he is a sinner and needs a Savior, Rom 3:20, 28; Gal 2:16, and can never be justified by works.
- c. The Mosaic Law and its principles form the pattern and policy for good government. It demonstrates the proper place of authority and its proper use. It teaches the importance of fair taxation, universal military training, proper juris prudence, and the importance of freedom, privacy, property, and life. There is a proper percentage and this needs to be straight across the board. All citizens are taxed and no one is excluded.
- d. The present purpose of Codex one is to define human freedom, of codex two to teach that we are not under the Law but under grace, and of codex three to provide the perfect standard for the function of a client nation.

F. Grace application to life is related to Jesus Christ who fulfilled the Law. Jn 1:17, "The Law was given through Moses, but grace and truth came through Jesus Christ." The Law and grace through Jesus Christ are both considered together because the Law can also be a means of evangelism in codex two.

G. Principles of Freedom.

1. Freedom without authority is anarchy.
2. Authority without freedom is tyranny.
3. Christian activism results in either anarchy or tyranny.
4. Christian activism which produces anarchy destroys establishment freedom.
5. Christian activism which produces tyranny destroys Christian freedom; for example, the Spanish Inquisition. No believer can enter Christian activism and possibly live the spiritual life of the Church Age.
6. Concepts.
 - a. The Christian activist is a sleepwalker through life.
 - b. Christian activism is a theory that the essence of reality is the activity of an emotionally dominated soul for a perceived just cause, which is human works substituted for the divine imperative of being filled with the Spirit. Therefore, Christian activism is grieving the Holy Spirit, quenching the Holy Spirit, and lying to the Holy Spirit.
 - c. Christian activism is a dominating function of the word wrongdoing.

- (1) As a system of wrongdoing, Christian activism becomes a system of evil, in which the dark side of morality assumes that the end justifies the means.
- (2) The will of God expressed in the word of God must always operate under principles related to our Mentor, God the Holy Spirit. You cannot be filled with the Spirit and at the same time be involved in Christian activism.
- (3) The principle of specific modus operandi: a wrong thing done in a wrong way is wrong; a wrong thing done in a right way is wrong; a right thing done in a wrong way is wrong.
- (4) The unique spiritual life of the Church Age is always a right thing done in a right way. The result is a winner believer and invisible hero.
- (5) A wrongdoing includes dead works and evil, ignorance or rejection of doctrine including rejection of 1 Jn 1:9, rebound and keep moving. When we reject 1 Jn 1:9, we are in wrongdoing. Sooner or later we will die the sin face(c)to(c)face with death.

H. The Principle of Precedence Related to the Mosaic Law.

1. The modus operandi of the protocol plan of God takes its precedence from the dispensation of the Hypostatic Union rather than from the Mosaic Law in the dispensation of Israel.
2. This means that precedence for the protocol plan of God is not taken from any of the commandments of the Mosaic Law, whether tithing, Sabbath observance, or keeping the ten commandments for salvation.
 - a. Faith in Jesus Christ is not only eternal life but it is the end of self-righteousness, works righteousness, and the distortion of the Mosaic Law.
 - b. Neither self-righteousness nor works righteousness can ever improve the imputation of divine righteousness which was given to us at the moment we believed in Jesus Christ. Imputed divine righteousness is not only the basis of justification, but at the same time, it provides for logistical grace support and blessing. Imputed divine righteousness also provides the basis for God's personal love for every believer after salvation.
3. The protocol plan of God is classified as mystery doctrine, defined as never being revealed to Old Testament writers. Not one word regarding the uniqueness of the Church Age is found in the Old Testament, Romans 16:25–26; Eph 3:1-6; Col 1:25-26.
4. The Law has been completely fulfilled by our Lord and has been abrogated. Therefore the modus operandi of the protocol plan of God for the Church Age can never take its precedence from something that has been totally abrogated.

5. No precedence for the Church Age is taken from Israel. This means that the Mosaic Law has nothing to do with the Christian way of life.
 - a. God provided establishment principles for Gentiles long before He provided the Mosaic Law.
 - b. God provided establishment principles for the Church after He abrogated the Mosaic Law.
 6. The protocol plan of God for the Church Age supercedes the ritual plan of God for Israel. Precedence for the protocol plan is derived from the dispensation of the Hypostatic Union only.
 7. Most reformed denominations include the Mosaic Law as a major part of the Christian way of life. They construct human good and dead works only. Romans and Galatians repudiate the Law as part of the Christian way of life.
 - a. Legalism, such as tithing, sabbath observance, the substitution of morality for spirituality, originate from the erroneous premise that the Mosaic Law is a part of the Christian way of life.
 - b. However, neither salvation or spirituality are related to keeping the Law.
 - c. The substitutionary spiritual death of Christ on the cross fulfilled in detail codex two of the Mosaic Law.
 8. The resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead is the basis for a new spiritual species, a royal family of God, and the protocol plan of God. The protocol plan of God and the Mosaic Law are mutually exclusive.
 9. All precedence for the protocol plan of God is based on the power or the omnipotence that raised Christ from the dead. This excludes entirely the Mosaic Law. The Law cannot provide spirituality, and neither can it provide resurrection.
 10. The Mosaic Law provides neither precedence nor authorization for the protocol plan of God for the Church Age. All doctrine related to the modus operandi of the Church Age is classified as mystery doctrine which was hidden from the Old Testament writers, Rom 16:25-26; Eph 3:2-6; Col 1:25-27.
- I. Legalism and the Mosaic Law.
1. Heb 7:19, "For the Law accomplished nothing, but on the other hand the bringing in of a better hope did, through which [hope] we draw near to God."
 - a. The aorist active indicative of the verb TELEIOO, "to accomplish," plus the negative adverb OUDEN, "nothing," indicates that in the past the Law accomplished nothing because of Israel's negative volition.
 - b. The Jews took the Law and tried to use it as a system of salvation. Therefore, nothing was accomplished. The exceptions are those like Abraham who were saved by faith and faith alone. This is illustrated by the rich young ruler who could not be saved by his works.
 - c. "The bringing in (EPEISAGOGE)," began on the first Christmas day with the virgin birth. Faith in Christ was a better hope than keeping the Mosaic Law for salvation.

- d. "Drawing near" is a synonym for having faith in Jesus Christ.
- 2. The legalism of salvation by keeping the Law represents all systems of salvation by works. There are three categories of salvation by works.
 - a. Salvation by works alone. Trying to be saved by some system of works.
 - (1) Tit 3:5, "He saved us, not on the basis of works which we have done in righteousness, but on the basis of His mercy, by the washing of regeneration and the renewing of the Holy Spirit."
 - (2) Eph 2:8-9, "For by grace you have been saved through faith. And this [salvation] is not of yourselves, it is the gift of God, lest any man should boast." b. Salvation by faith plus works includes such things as faith plus commitment, or lordship, or repentance, or baptism, or emotion, or psychological activity. A spiritually dead person cannot make a commitment to God, cannot recognize lordship. The feelings, emotions and psychological activity of a spiritually dead person has no meaning to God.
 - b. Salvation by works without faith.
 - (1) Inviting Christ into your heart. Jer 17:9, "The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked; who can know it." We don't invite Christ anywhere as spiritually dead creatures. The faith of a spiritually dead person is the only thing the Holy Spirit can take and make effective for salvation. God invites us to believe in Christ; we don't invite Christ anywhere.
 - (2) Inviting Christ into your life. You are spiritually dead; that is inviting Christ into a tomb. Jn 16:8, "He will convict the world concerning sin because they do not believe in Me." The convicting ministry of the Holy Spirit has nothing to do with inviting Christ anywhere, or with how you feel about anything.
- 3. Gal 1:1(c)6, "Paul, an apostle (not sent from men, not through the agency of man, but through Jesus Christ, and God the Father, who raised Him from the dead), and all the brethren who are with me, to the churches of Galatia: Grace to you and prosperity from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ, who gave Himself a substitute for our sins, in order that He might deliver us from this present evil age, on the basis of the will of God, even the Father, to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen. I am amazed that you have so quickly deserted Him who called you by means of the grace of Christ to another Gospel [the Mosaic Law]."
 - a. Galatians is the book that deals with legalism at salvation and legalism in the Christian way of life.
 - b. The Galatians had become legalistic, self(c)righteous, very pious, and very inflexible in their moral degeneracy.
- J. The spiritual freedom of the Church exceeds any freedom defined by the Mosaic Law.

1. The best the Mosaic Law could do was to define human freedom in terms of morality.
2. Never before in history has so much freedom, privilege, opportunity and equality been given to believers as in the dispensation of the royal family of God.
3. Never have such objectives been given to each believer as in the Church Age; objectives that exceed any objective ever stated in the Mosaic Law.
4. Jn 1:17, "The Law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came through Jesus Christ."
5. The Mosaic Law has been abrogated as a total code.
6. Only what has been restated in the New Testament is pertinent to the Christian way of life, as the law of Christ, as the law of the Spirit in Christ Jesus.
7. Though abrogated as a code and not part of the protocol plan, the Mosaic Law has a definite purpose for the unbeliever.
8. Though abrogated as a code and not part of the protocol plan, the Mosaic Law is still part of the canon of Scripture.
9. Abrogation of the Mosaic Law does not mean cancellation from Scripture. For the Law is a teacher of sin and a reflector of God's perfect standards. It is a tutor to lead us to Christ.

K. The Pre(c)salvation Function of the Mosaic Law.

1. Rom 3:19-20, "Now we know that whatever the Law says, it speaks to those who are under the Law, that every mouth may be closed, and all the world may be accountable to God; because by the works of the Law no flesh shall be justified in His sight; for by the Law is the knowledge of sin."
2. 1 Tim 1:9-10, "Realizing this fact that the Law was not made for a righteous man, but for those who are lawless and rebellious, for the ungodly and sinners, for the unholy and profane, for those who murder their fathers and mothers, for murderers in general, for fornicators and homosexuals, for kidnappers and liars and perjurers, and whatever else is contrary to sound doctrine."
3. The Mosaic Law defines sin primarily for the unbeliever, but also for the believer as well. Gal 3:24-26, "Therefore what is the purpose of the Law? It has become our tutor to lead us to Christ, that we might be justified by faith. But now that faith has come, we are no longer under the tutor. For you are all the sons of God by faith in Christ Jesus."
4. The purpose of the Law to the unbeliever is:
 - a. To reveal sin, but not to remove it.
 - b. To reveal sin, but not to prevent it.
 - c. To prove all human beings as sinners, but it was not a standard by which one might prove himself holy.
5. The Law was added because of transgressions, Gal 3:19.

6. Though the Law was ordained to life, it is a sentence to death, Rom 7:10. Therefore, the Law is a minister of condemnation, and not of spirituality, 2 Cor 3:9.
 7. The Law is a minister of spiritual death, 2 Cor 3:7.
 8. The Law was not made for a righteous man, 1 Tim 1:9.
 9. The believer is not under the Law; it is not a part of the Christian way of life, Jn 1:16-17; Rom 7:4-6; Eph 2:15; Gal 3:19-25; 2 Cor 3:7-13; Col 2:14; Rom 6:14; Gal 5:18.
 10. No flesh can be justified by the works which the Law demands, Acts 13:39; Rom 3:20-23; Gal 2:16, 3:10.
- L. The Mosaic Law defines the enmity between God and man.
1. The enmity between God and man is based on that part of the Mosaic Law which defines and describes man's sinfulness.
 2. This is illustrated in 1 Tim 1:8-11. "But we know that the Law is good if one uses it lawfully. Knowing this fact, that the Law was not made for a righteous person, but for those who are lawless and rebellious [rejecters of authority], for ungodly persons and sinners [unbelievers], for the unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for murderers [in general] and fornicators, for homosexuals and kidnappers, for liars and perjurers, and whatever else is contrary to sound doctrine, according to the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, with which I have been entrusted."
 3. The Mosaic Law is still the best description of every form of authority.
- M. Salvation is not by keeping the Law, Gal 2:16. The Mosaic Law reveals the way of salvation, Jesus Christ. The Mosaic Law is the way of human freedom and integrity by adjustment to the justice of God, and the way of prosperity under establishment, Rom 3:20, 28. The Law reveals the problem of spiritual death and the solution.
- N. Keeping the Law is not spirituality, 1 Cor 13; Rom 8:2-4; Gal 5:18, 22-23. There is a contrast between God the Holy Spirit and the Mosaic Law. The filling of the Spirit supercedes the Mosaic Law. The Royal Family is never under the Law.
- O. Nomenclature for the Mosaic Law.
1. It is called "the book of the covenant," Exodus 24:7-8 34:27-28; Deuteronomy 4:13-16, 23, 31, 8:18, 9:9, 11, 15.
 2. The addendum to the Mosaic Law is found in Deut 29-32 and uses a number of words.
 3. It is called "the book of the Law," Josh 1:8.
 4. Prophecies of breaking "the covenant" are found in Deut 31:16, 20; Jer 22:9.
 5. "The book of the Covenant" is the subject of Jer 11, which is not to be confused with the New Covenant, Jer 31:31-33.
- P. The Past Purpose of the Mosaic Law in the Jewish Age.
1. It was the authorizing agent for the Levitical priesthood, Hebrews 7:11-12.
 2. It authorized the Tabernacle as a sacred building and a means of communicating the problem of sin and the solution in Christ, Hebrews 9:1-6.

3. It authorized the Levitical sacrifices as training aids to teach salvation, Hebrews 9:12-13.
4. It authorized the animal sacrifices as a dedication of the shadows, Hebrews 9:18-22 cf Hebrews 10:1.
5. It established a pattern of blessing and prosperity under the laws of divine establishment within the framework of any nation which adopts these laws, Deuteronomy 6:5.

Q. The Mosaic Law and the Dispensation of the Hypostatic Union.

1. The doctrine of the impeccability of Jesus Christ includes the fact that our Lord was born under the Law, and the fact that He kept the Law perfectly and was the end of the Law. He had perfect integrity and perfect righteousness without sin. Therefore, He fulfilled the Law in every point.
2. Jesus Christ condemned the legalistic distortions of the Law and the Pharisees who sponsored them, Mt 23.
3. Jesus Christ fulfilled the Law, Mt 5:17. He fulfilled the spiritual part of the Law by being sinless. He also observed every ceremony. Codex one was fulfilled by His impeccability, codex two by the cross, and codex three by His patriotism, Mt 22:21.
4. Jesus Christ is the end of the Law for all who believe, Rom 10:4, because of His sacrifice on the cross.
5. The problem of the interpretation of the Gospels.
 - a. In the Gospels, Jesus Christ presents Himself to Israel as their Messiah, the son of David, the legitimate king of Israel. Rom 1:2(c)4, "Which He promised beforehand through His prophets in the holy Scriptures, concerning His Son, who was born of the seed of David according to the flesh, who was declared to be the Son of God in an act of power by the resurrection from the dead, according to the Spirit of holiness, Jesus Christ our Lord."
 - b. The first advent of Christ was designed to fulfill the unconditional covenants to Israel. They were not fulfilled because Christ was rejected as Messiah.
 - c. The policy of our Lord's kingdom was stated as an amplification of the Mosaic Law. He said his policies would be better than the Mosaic Law, the Sermon on the Mount.
 - d. But when the Messiah is rejected, the Sermon on the Mount is postponed until the Millennium. Something far greater than the Mosaic Law will be operational in the Millennium.
 - e. Certain things stated in the Mosaic Law are restated in the epistles, and are therefore a part of the protocol plan. Unless a principle of the Sermon on the Mount is specifically restated in the epistles, it is not a part of the Christian way of life.

R. B. Thieme, Jr. Bible Ministries 5139 West Alabama, Houston, Texas 77056 (713) 621-3740

© 2000, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

Romans 2:14 For when Gentiles, not having the Law, do by nature the things of the Law, these not having the Law are a law to themselves,...

Verse 14 – the first reputation is directed toward the second assumption. The second assumption of verse 13 deals with the doers of the law; this is to refute their assumption. The doers of the law are never justified, cannot be adjusted to the justice of God. The next reputation, verse 15, deals with the students of the law.

“For when the Gentiles” – the postpositive conjunctive particle gar plus the temporal particle hótan (ὅταν) [pronounced HOH-tan] used with the present subjunctive when the action of the subordinate clause is contemporaneous with the main clause, and that is its use here. So the translation should never be “when” but “every time that”—“For every time that.”

“the Gentiles” – ethnos (ἔθνος, οὐς, τό) [pronounced EHTH-noss], the subject in the nominative singular referring to the Gentiles. This is an anarthrous construction emphasizing the quality of these Gentiles. Why do they have quality? Because they didn’t have the law but they were just as good as the Jews with the law.

“which have not” – the articular present active participle of echō (ἔχω) [pronounced EHKH-oh] plus the negative mê (μή) [pronounced may]. The definite article is used as a relative pronoun to amplify the status of these Gentiles and therefore we use the relative pronoun for the translation—“who.” Then we have the present tense of the participle, a historical present event. The active voice: Gentiles without the law produce the action, an equivalent righteousness. The participle is circumstantial.

“the law” – the accusative singular direct object from nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss]; “do” – the present active subjunctive of poieō (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh]. The present tense is retroactive progressive denoting something which has happened in the past and continues into the present time. The active voice: Gentiles without the law produce the action. They have never heard or seen the Mosaic law but they have an equivalent righteousness. The subjunctive mood is a potential subjunctive qualified by the element of contingency.

“by nature” – the instrumental singular of manner from phusis (φύσις) [pronounced FOO-sihs]. This is an incorrect translation. The instrumental is often used in translation like an adverb, and phusis (φύσις) [pronounced FOO-sihs] means natural endowment or condition, natural characteristic, and it also means instinct and here it should be translated not “by instinct” but “instinctively.”

“the things” – the accusative neuter plural of the definite article used as a demonstrative pronoun referring to the functions of the law, and should be translated “those things.”

“contained in the law” – incorrect. This is the ablative of source singular from nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] and should be translated “from the law.” They didn’t do anything contained in the law because they didn’t have the law, but they did something equivalent to it so we have the ablative of source of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] plus the definite article. The ablative of source implies the original situation which contributed to the source. In other words, to translate this “contained in the law” would imply that they have the law. But they didn’t have the law so you can’t say “contained in the law.”

“these not having the law” – the nominative masculine plural subject from the immediate demonstrative pronoun houtos (οὗτος) [pronounced HOO-tos], again emphasizing the greatness of many Gentiles. Plus the present active participle echô (ἔχω) [pronounced EHKH-oh] plus the negative mê (μή) [pronounced may]. This is a historical present. The active voice: the moral Gentile minus the law produces the action, he instinctively does those things that are right. The participle is circumstantial. The accusative singular direct object of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] minus the definite article emphasizes that the law is perfect. Just because people distort it, it doesn’t detract from its perfection. “Those ones not having the law” is the phrase, literally. The emphasis is on the fact that the Gentiles minus the Mosaic law can accomplish the same righteousness as the Jews with the law. So the law, then, is not an issue. It is only an issue to arrogant self-righteousness.

“are” – present active indicative of eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME]. Them present tense is a perfective present, it is used to denote the continuation of existing results. It is a reference to the fact that that which has come to be in the past has to be emphasized as a present reality. This has been true in the past, therefore it must be a reality right now, says Paul. There have always been Gentiles who did not have the law and yet who had an equivalent righteousness. The active voice: the Gentiles minus the law produce the action.

“a law” – predicate nominative from nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss], this is an anarthrous construction. In other words, without the law they were a law “unto themselves” – dative plural indirect object of the reflexive pronoun heautou (ἑαυτοῦ) [pronounced heh-ow-TOO]. The dative of indirect object from the reflexive pronoun indicates that the action expressed by the verb is referred back to its own subject, but it is referred back as a blessing, they are a law to themselves.

Romans 2:14 For every time that Gentiles, who do not have the law, do instinctively those things from the law, these, not having the law, are a law unto themselves.

Summary of Romans 2:14

1. This refutes the false notion that doing the law justifies or adjusts to the justice of God. You cannot be adjusted to the justice of God by keeping the Law.
2. Totally apart from the law the Gentiles produce an equivalent self-righteousness.

3. The number of Gentiles in each generation achieve the same standards of morality and righteousness as do the Jews with the law.
4. The difference: Gentiles apart from the law achieve what the Jews achieve with the law.
5. Both Jew and Gentile are equally guilty before the supreme court judge. God is impartial.
6. There is neither partiality nor discrimination in any of the judgments from the integrity of God.
7. The works of the Gentiles produced apart from the law and the works of the Jews produced by the law cannot attain salvation adjustment to the justice of God.
8. The production of the law is not necessary for justification, nor an equivalent righteousness in a Gentile group. No one can achieve justification by doing or keeping the law.

1977 Romans

Lesson #56

56 03/11/1977 Romans 2:15a Self-righteous religious terrorism; doctrine of the conscience

Generally when people think of someone who is self righteous, they think of someone who is somewhat prissy. Beautiful illustration in the function of Islam. Recently, one of these military organizations broke out in Washington D.C. There is a strong relationship between religion and terrorism. The so-called innocence of Rousseau...some of these religious types believe that they are right, and therefore, unscrupulous when it comes tactics. If you have to use terrorism to gain your ends, you are working for the wrong organization.

The news media said that there were 100 hostages, but there were no more than 30 and maybe as few as 11. The media apparently has the gift of evangelism.

We do not evangelize by force. Tyranny and religion always go together.

The 1977 Hanafi Siege occurred on March 9-11, 1977 when three buildings in Washington, D.C. were seized by 12 Hanafi Movement gunmen. The gunmen were led by Hamaas Abdul Khaalis, who wanted to bring attention to the murder of his family in 1973. They took 149 hostages:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/1977_Washington,_D.C._attack_and_hostage_taking African nations show a total lack of ability to govern themselves. The British Empire brought peace and stability into the bush, bringing them law and order.

Bob talks about Dirty Harry, which movies he appears to like a lot.

A reading of Romans 2:1–11. You can open a newspaper and find an application for every verse that we have studied. Bob covers the next verses up to v. 16, but vv. 13–15 is a parenthesis. Somehow I jumped ahead to lesson #56.

Romans 2:15 ...who show the work of the Law, written in their hearts, their conscience bearing witness, and the thoughts between one another accusing or also defending them...

Verse 15 – the second reputation is designed to answer the first assumption of verse 13. “Which” is the nominative masculine plural qualitative relative pronoun hostis (ὅστις) [pronounced HOHS-tiss]. A qualitative relative pronoun indicates persons belonging to a certain category. It should be translated something like “The very ones who.” Then the word “shew” is the present middle indicative from the verb endeiknumi (ἐνδείκνυμι) [pronounced en-DIKE-noo-mee]. It means to demonstrate something to someone, to manifest, to display, to give an outward proof of something. We translate it “demonstrate.” The present tense is an iterative present, it describes what recurs at successive intervals of history. The middle voice is the indirect middle, it emphasizes the agent as producing the action rather than participating in its results. The indicative mood is declarative for historical reality.

“the work of the law” – accusative singular direct object of ergon (ἔργον) [pronounced EHR-gon], meaning deed or accomplishment. It refers to the deeds of the Gentiles, minus the law but exhibiting a consistent moral character just as if he has a law. Plus the descriptive genitive referring to the Mosaic law, nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss].

“written in their hearts” – these Gentiles do not have the Mosaic law but they instinctively have it in their soul. This is the accusative singular direct object from a verbal adjective, graptós (γραπτός) [pronounced grap-TOSS]. With it is a prepositional phrase, en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of kardia, plus a possessive genitive plural from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS]. It should be translated “written in their right lobes.” They demonstrate that they have establishment principles written on their hearts.

Now follows two genitive absolutes. A genitive absolute is composed of a noun and a participle, both in the genitive case but not dramatically connected with the rest of the sentence. In other words, a genitive absolute is a noun or a pronoun to which the participle refers and the genitive becomes the subject of the participle, and as a subject it completely divorces itself from the concept of the sentence dramatically but adds to it grammatically. Now we have a participle and the subject is in the genitive, and it does basically the same thing.

The first genitive absolute says “their conscience also bearing witness.” There is no Greek word for “also.” The word “conscience” is the subject, and it really can’t be a subject because it is in the genitive case; it is the genitive singular of suneidêsis (συνείδησις) [pronounced soon-Ī-day-sis], which means to know with or the conscience. There is also a possessive genitive plural from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS], referring to a category—category Gentile without the law, the Gentile without the law compared to the Jew with the law. The genitive of suneidêsis (συνείδησις) [pronounced soon-Ī-day-sis] is used as the subject of the participle. It is in the genitive case and as soon as you take a genitive case and make it a subject you divorce it from the rest of the passage, and you add something dramatic. Then the participle, “bearing witness” – present active participle, also in the genitive case, and the verb is summarturēō (συνμαρτυρέω) [pronounced soom-mar-too-REH-oh]. It means to testify, to bear witness with, to testify in support of something or someone, it also means to confirm—“their conscience confirming the testimony.” The participle is in a present tense, retroactive progressive present, denoting something begun in the past and continuing into the present time. The active voice: the conscience of the Gentile produces the action of the participle in the genitive acting as a subject of the participle. The participle is used as a part of the genitive absolute, and the first genitive absolute, then, adds something so dramatic that it knocks the Jew right off of his self-righteous perch.^[6]

The Jew has a conscience, with all of his norms and standards in that right lobe. He develops these very strong norms and standards. He assumes that, because he has them, because he possesses them, that he will be welcomed into heaven. Two types of people; the Jews produce the deeds with the Law; and some gentiles can produce similar acts without the Law. Having similar norms and standards with or without the Law, knocks that out as a means of salvation.

Our point of contact is the integrity of God; we are not saved by the love of God. Love and hate in Romans 9:13 are anthropathisms.

The full doctrine below will be much less than Bob covers in this class (less than 15 minutes remaining). The doctrine below is from NB2 and NB1 is more similar (and much shorter). Neither doctrine really matches up very well.

Doctrine of the Conscience

A. Definition and Description.

1. The Greek word for conscience is suneidêsis (συνείδησις) [pronounced soon-Ī-day-sis], which means to know with a norm or standard. To have a norm or standard and be conscious of that norm or standard in thinking, motivation, decision making and action.
2. The English word conscience comes from the Latin word CONSCIENTIA, meaning joint knowledge; hence, to know with preconceived standards. There is no reference to the conscience, as such, in the Old Testament.
3. Definitions from other theologians.
 - a. Suneidêsis (συνείδησις) [pronounced soon-Ī-day-sis] is defined by Kittel's Theological Dictionary as, "percipient and active self-awareness, which is threatened at its heart by the disjunction of acknowledgment and perception, willing and knowing, judgment and action."
 - b. Conscience is that mental faculty by which one distinguishes between right and wrong, and urges the individual to do what he recognizes to be right and to restrain him from doing that which he recognizes to be wrong.

4. The conscience is a sense or consciousness in the right lobe related to either moral or spiritual goodness of one's thoughts, motives, decisions, and actions. Therefore, conscience is a faculty, a power, or a principle conceived in the right lobe to determine the quality of one's thoughts, intentions, decisions, and actions.
5. In the conscience of the believer, the norms, standards, and priorities must originate from Bible doctrine. The conscience stores norms, standards, priorities, and values in life.
 - a. The conscience is the place for the norms and standards that are developed from Bible doctrine. The only thing that makes a Christian conscience work is Bible doctrine.
 - b. The conscience extrapolates from doctrine the norms and standards for life. You have to know something to have a conscience. When you know something you develop standards. Whatever you learn in the right lobe becomes a part of your norms and standards.
 - c. You must have vocabulary and thought to establish norms and standards. The conscience must be built on a vocabulary that begins with one word: no, or don't. All consciences are built with negative words which forbid doing something. So the conscience of man is first established by negatives, although eventually there are explanations in both positive and negative terms.
 - d. The preconceived norms, standards, and priorities of the believer must originate from Bible doctrine. This is the only possible way for the believer to have a conscience that honors God.
6. Scripture: Rom 9:1, 13:5; 1 Cor 8:7; 2 Cor 4:2, 5:11; Tit 1:15; Heb 9:14.
7. While the Old Testament does not have a word for conscience, it does tell how conscience worked in the Old Testament. Rom 2:14-15, "The law printed [written] in your hearts [right lobes], their conscience confirming the testimony and their thoughts alternately accusing or else defending themselves."
 - a. All normal persons develop some form of norms, standards, priorities, and concepts of life in the right lobe of the soul.
 - b. Believers develop divine norms, standards, and priorities in the right lobe through perception, metabolization, and application of Bible doctrine.
 - c. Example: Dan 1:8.
8. Conscience is a part of the soul.
 - a. It is the most basic attribute of the soul related to self-consciousness, and is located in the right lobe of the soul.
 - b. It is your norms and standards related to everything.
 - (1) It is the standards which you have learned.
 - (2) These standards set up your own personal honor code. They must recognize authority to have freedom, privacy and property.

- c. Everyone has a system of norms, their conscience; e.g., giving your word, not welshing on an obligation, the fact that all women are ladies.
- d. Honor is more important than anything else. A society without standards is no society at all. The Roman Empire destroyed itself because it rejected its own standards and the better standards of Christianity.
- e. You were born into an aristocracy of honor as a believer. You have to develop new standards now. Your first standard should be recognition of authority, so that all of us may have freedom.
- f. Your standards don't make you spiritual or advance you to maturity; God's standards do.
- g. People have the right to learn their own standards and make their own decisions. No one has the right to superimpose their standards on anyone else. Privacy means you are allowed to hold any opinion until you grow up spiritually. You have the privacy to take in doctrine without anyone setting standards for you.
- h. As you learn doctrine your norms and standards will change. At every stage of spiritual growth you have a consolidated conscience so that you regulate your own life on the basis of your own standards.

B. False standards of legalism produce a weak conscience. 1 Cor 8:7, "Not all men have this knowledge [about food offered to idols], but some being accustomed to idol worship until now [when saved] eat the food as if it were sacrificed to idols, and their conscience, being weak, is defiled."

1. Some of the best food in Corinth had been offered to idols and then sold as the choicest meat in the temple market. Food is food and meat is meat. So it was alright to eat that food, once you sanctified it.
2. But for those with an idolatrous background and a weak conscience, eating food offered to idols was very offensive. The one with the weak conscience has legalistic norms and standards in his conscience from his religious background.
3. So there is a conflict between those with a strong conscience and those with a weak conscience. A strong conscience has Biblical standards from metabolized doctrine. A weak conscience lives by standards acquired from its background, which may or may not be good, or which may be distorted in the spiritual life. Eating is a physical issue, and has nothing to do with the spiritual life.
4. The weak conscience assumes he's strong, because legalism always assumes it is strong. Yet legalism is really weak. The invasion of guilt into the conscience is one of the biggest problems in legalism, and becomes motivation for legalistic believers.
5. So the conscience is a very sensitive thing. It can be erroneous in its concepts apart from doctrine. If doctrine does not feed the conscience, instinct will. And instinct develops legalism in a hurry.

6. Guilt is a sign of a weak conscience.

C. The Balanced Conscience of the Apostle Paul.

1. Paul had a balanced conscience regarding establishment and the principles of Bible doctrine, or theology. The norms and standards located in the conscience are directed toward both God and man, but primarily toward mankind until you become aware of the existence of God and what He has done for you.
 - a. Acts 23:1, "Then Paul, looking intently at the Sanhedrin, said, `Brethren, I have conducted myself as a citizen with a good conscience before God up to this day.'"`
 - b. Acts 24:16, "In view of this, even I myself keep on practicing to maintain even a blameless conscience, both before God and before men."
2. You must have a balanced conscience in order to have a blameless conscience. Paul had two sets of norms and standards from Bible doctrine. He had one set related to God and one set related to man. True strength is to develop your standards toward both God and man from the Biblical standards of doctrine.
3. Paul's conscience before God originated from the mystery doctrine of the Church Age. His conscience before people originated from Codex Three of the Mosaic Law plus everything he had learned related to Bible doctrine of the Church Age.

D. Carnality and the Conscience.

1. Believers in two categories of extended carnality have destroyed their conscience: extended carnality, resulting in life in Satan's cosmic system; extended carnality, resulting in the believer's involvement in the three stages of Christian degeneracy.
 - a. 1 Tim 1:19-20, "keeping doctrine [faith] and a good of intrinsic value conscience, which some have rejected and suffered shipwreck regarding their doctrine [faith]. Among these are Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I have delivered over to Satan, so that they may be taught not to blaspheme."
 - b. Tit 1:15, "To the pure, all things are pure; but to those who are defiled and unbelieving [those who reject doctrine], nothing is pure, but both their mind and their conscience are defiled."
 - c. 1 Tim 4:1-2, "But the Spirit explicitly states that in latter periods of time [the dispensations of the Hypostatic Union, the Church Age, and the Tribulation], some believers will become apostate from doctrine, paying attention to deceitful spirits and concentrating on doctrines from demons [cosmic involvement] by means of hypocrisy of liars [false teachers], seared in their own conscience as with a branding iron."

2. False teaching sears the conscience like a branding iron. It destroys the conscience. This searing refers to scar tissue of the soul and cosmic involvement.
3. A great deal of your strength comes from having the proper norms and standards in the conscience of your right lobe. Therefore, it is important to understand how apostasy can destroy the conscience.

E. The Conscience and Dead Works.

1. The Bible has something to say about the conscience and dead works. The conscience is purified from dead works to serve God as a result of believing in Jesus Christ according to Heb 9:14, "How much more will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit [omnipotence of the Holy Spirit] offered Himself without blemish to God, purify your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?"
2. There is no work we can perform for salvation; salvation is by grace. Therefore, our conscience must be purified from dead works. Dead works are human works, like faith plus anything for salvation. At the moment of salvation, the new believer has the potential for the purification of his conscience; the conscience can be purified from dead works by avoiding dead works through the filling of the Holy Spirit. All dead works will be burned at the Judgment Seat of Christ.
3. In other words, anything performed outside of the divine dynasphere is dead works. Dead works are from a bad conscience seared with legalism. Christian service that involves dead works is not Christian service at all. The great power experiment of the Church Age and the execution of the protocol plan of God demands the use of the omnipotence of the Holy Spirit inside the divine dynasphere.
4. Divine omnipotence and human power are mutually exclusive. Serving God and fulfilling His plan cannot be accomplished by human power. Human power destroys the conscience and results in dead works. Legalism cannot execute the plan, purpose, or will of God in the Church Age.
5. Serving God means the utilization of divine power and the cognition of Bible doctrine, which establishes the norms and standards for the right lobe.
6. Under the Levitical offering, the animal sacrifices were involuntary offerings. But the impeccable humanity of Jesus Christ was a voluntary sacrifice for the sins of the world.

F. The Conscience and the Problem Solving Devices.

1. The conscience is a vehicle for the problem solving devices of the protocol plan of God.
2. If the norms and standards respond to guilt, then you have a weak conscience. For example, if you rebound and still feel guilty, you have a weak conscience.
3. When the norms and standards of the conscience are formed from Christian moral degeneracy, then the conscience is weak and can only identify with dead works.

4. However, the application of Bible doctrine to life is made through the mechanics of the problem solving devices; they also enter the conscience.

a. The norms and standards of the conscience make the proper application of rebound. The believer simply names his sins to God, and because he has a strong conscience, he knows they are forgiven immediately. Therefore, there is no battle with guilt, no penitence, no self-flagellation, no trying to make it up to God. Rebound applied to the conscience removes guilt.

b. When the norms and standards of the conscience are formed from Bible doctrine, the believer has a problem solving device related to grace orientation, 2 Cor 1:12. "Now this is our boast [esprit de corp], the testimony of our conscience, that we have conducted ourselves in the world and especially in relationship to God, both in holiness [filling of the Holy Spirit] and godly sincerity [motivation from Bible doctrine], not in fleshly wisdom, but in the grace of God."

(1) There a conflict in the conscience of the believer in adolescence between the motivation of Bible doctrine and the problem of fleshly wisdom. Believers hallucinate spiritually. They assume they have reached spiritual adulthood when they are really in adolescence. These believers can never handle the lust problems of the sin nature.

(2) The conscience is related to the grace of God in Paul's conduct toward the Corinthian believers.

(3) Grace orientation as a problem solving device expresses itself through the norms and standards of the conscience constructed from Bible doctrine. There is no grace orientation apart from the norms and standards of Bible doctrine established in the soul.

(4) Grace orientation in the soul includes conscience. Conscience is the basis for grace function in the Christian life.

(5) Grace orientation related to the conscience is also taught in 1Peter 2:18-19, "Servants, be submissive to your masters with all respect, not only for the good and gentle masters, but also for the unreasonable ones; for this is grace, if for the sake of conscience toward God, anyone bears up under sorrows when suffering unjustly."

(a) Though originally addressed to slaves, this verse came to refer to anyone who is under the authority of someone else. Some people in authority are perverse, but you are just as responsible to submit to their authority. You serve them and do your best job as unto the Lord.

(b) A conscience loaded with doctrine bears up magnificently under unfair treatment. Such a believer has a strong conscience. Instead of guilt entering the conscience to destroy it, you have grace orientation and keep on making the right application. The weak believer complains and rejects authority, and so becomes a loser.

- (c) So it is very important to have a conscience based on EPIGNOSIS doctrine so that you can handle unjust treatment in the same manner that you handle fair treatment.
 - (d) Military training can be counted on to provide unjust and unfair treatment from authority. To learn to submit to unfair authority is necessary for proper function under the abnormal circumstances of combat.
- c. When the norms and standards of the conscience are formed from Bible doctrine, the believer has a problem solving device related to doctrinal orientation, 2 Cor 4:2, "But we have renounced the things hidden because of shame [false norms and standards], not walking in craftiness or watering down the Word of God, but by the unveiling of doctrine [cognition and inculcation of Bible doctrine], commending ourselves to every person's conscience in the sight of God."
- (1) The "things hidden because of shame" are the previous false norms and standards in the conscience related to guilt or some other form of arrogance. This is how people justify wrong doing.
 - (2) The weak conscience is crafty. The weak conscience waters down the Word of God.
 - (3) The more doctrine you learn, the more doctrinal standards you have in your conscience.
 - (a) You cannot have a good conscience, if you do not know Bible doctrine. Bible doctrine is the center of all spiritual skills.
 - (b) Paul is here saying that there is a legitimate modus operandi that goes with the spiritual life. You will build up norms and standards related to it from Bible doctrine, and at the same time set aside false norms and standards related to legalism.
 - (c) By learning and using doctrine without trying to run other people's lives, you commend yourself to other people's consciences in the sight of God.
 - (d) The conscience of the believer must be formed from the norms, standards, and priorities obtained through cognition of Bible doctrine. No one has a strong conscience until they reach spiritual self-esteem.

(4) 1 Tim 3:9, "Holding the mystery of the doctrine with a clear conscience." You acquire a clear conscience by having doctrinal norms and standards.

(5) The conscience of the believer must be formed from norms and standards obtained through cognition and inculcation of Bible doctrine.

d. When the norms and standards of the conscience are formed from Bible doctrine, the believer has problem solving devices related to virtue-love, 1 Tim 1:5, "But the objective of our instruction is virtue-love from a pure right lobe and a good conscience and a sincere faith."

e. When the norms and standards of the conscience are formed from Bible doctrine, the believer has a problem solving devices relate to perfect happiness. This happiness and tranquility is applied through the conscience.

f. When the norms and standards of the conscience are formed from Bible doctrine, the believer has a problem solving devices relate to a personal sense of destiny.

g. When the norms and standards of the conscience are formed from Bible doctrine, the believer has a problem solving devices relate to occupation with Christ. 1Peter 3:15-16, "but sanctify the Lord Jesus Christ in your right lobes [occupation with Christ], and always be ready to make a defense to anyone who asks you to give an account for the confidence that is in you with grace orientation and respect [occupation with Christ]. Be having a good conscience, so that in the things in which you are slandered, those who malign your intrinsic good in Christ may be put to shame."

(1) Note the source of occupation with Christ is epignosis doctrine in the right lobe. You handle slander through epignosis in the right lobe.

(2) If you have a strong conscience, you will leave it in the Lord's hands. Then it will go to the supreme court of heaven. They will be put to shame without you ever trying to defend yourself or answer back.

(3) Occupation with Christ extends into the conscience and becomes the ultimate in problem solving devices. Any of the various problem solving devices can enter the conscience and solve the problem. You will never be occupied with Christ until you have a strong, doctrinally oriented conscience.

h. The problem solving devices only work through a strong conscience. Through a weak conscience, the believer distorts the problem solving devices.

G. The believer's conscience demands that he submit to establishment authority. Rom 13:5, "Therefore, it is necessary to be in subordination, not only because of wrath [law enforcement], but also for conscience sake."

1. In other words, the Christian doesn't refrain from criminal activity because he's afraid of going to jail, but because, with a strong conscience, his norms and standards refuse to let him even consider any criminal activity.
2. The conscience in the soul is far stronger than any fear of punishment from law enforcement.

H. Conscience as a motivator. 2 Tim 1:3, "I thank God whom I serve with a clear conscience, the way my ancestors did, as I constantly remember you in my prayers, day and night."

1. So your conscience has something to do with your effectiveness in prayer. Paul's conscience demanded that he pray for certain people, and he did so. Paul didn't pray for people because he liked them, but for conscience sake, which is the strongest possible motivation.
2. Since the conscience is located in the right lobe of the soul, the norms and standards of the conscience are built on EPIGNOSIS doctrine, not on GNOSIS doctrine.

I. Conscience and the function of GAP. 1Timothy 1:5,19; 3:9.

1. You've learned from your entire background and, therefore you have certain norms and standards. These are non-essential applications.
2. From a standard you make application. You have a right to those standards and applications as long as it does not contradict essential doctrine.
3. An essential doctrine will come along and knock out one of your past norms and standards.
4. You have to allow for the privacy of individual standards which are non-essential. And you don't correct people. You simply tolerate others. You don't try to get others to agree to your non-essential standards. If you don't get doctrine in your human spirit, you'll not get it in your soul.
5. Once you believe a doctrine, it goes:
 - a. To the human spirit as building material for your edification complex of the soul,
 - b. To your frame of reference, where it becomes a reality,
 - c. To the memory center, categorical center, launching pad.
 - d. To your conscience to set up new norms and standards.
6. There is a relationship between your conscience and your perception of doctrine, between your intake of doctrine and your spiritual growth.
 - a. The mature believer has an edification complex of the soul growing out of the human spirit and a doctrinal conscience growing out of his soul.
 - b. Maximum doctrine feeds into the human spirit and builds your edification complex of the soul. It also feeds into the soul from which you build your conscience.

c.

Every application you make in life you have to make from your own conscience. The source of all application of doctrine is your conscience. You don't operate on someone else's norms and standards.

Jam 48-50, 3/4/90; Eph 863ff; 5/3/78

1977 Romans

Lesson #57

57 03/13/1977 Romans 2:15b–16 Rafferty on Education; Gospel reveals the integrity of God

Beverly High School was the greatest school in the United States for 6 years on both sides of Bob being there. Bob quotes Rafferty from the second chapter of one of his books, who was there a couple years before Bob. The children of Carthage. They went to embrace the embrace of Molech. One by one, they were prodded to the end of the runway. The next day the Romans sacked the city. The parents were destroyed; and Carthage was destroyed as no other city was destroyed. Never did a city so richly deserve its fate.

From Suffer Little Children, by Max Rafferty. The analogy is modern liberalism feeding their children to the liberal god of liberal education.

Never has such a large nation had so many people living in a fantasy world. The idea that we can make treaties with the communists and they will never bother us. OSHA, the rise of the labor unions (which play footsie with the mafia).

Reality is the integrity of God. Love between the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Internally, the Godhead has love for their own integrity, which is made up of their righteous and justice. We have no relationship to this love.

There is another love, which we call love₂, which is an anthropopathism. So that we can better understand God, these anthropopathisms are used. Human love often explains human motivation and we understand God through that.

God's righteousness is the watchdog for His justice. God's righteousness looks upon man's sins and it is rejected. This is described by all of have sinned and come short of the glory of God. There is also good and evil.

The love and hate expressed by God for Jacob and Esau, simply refers to their response to the gospel.

Romans 2:15 ...who show the work of the Law, written in their hearts, their conscience bearing witness, and the thoughts between one another accusing or also defending them...

The second genitive absolute begins with the word “and.” This is the emphatic use of the conjunction kai—“in fact”; “their thoughts” – genitive plural from masculine: logismos (λογισμός) [pronounced lohg-is-MOSS] with the definite article. The word “their” in the KJV is incorrect, being in italics. The definite article in the genitive case is actually used as a possessive pronoun. The word “their,” therefore, is a part of the text. Again, the genitive is going to be used as the subject of the participle. It is correctly translated “thoughts”—“in fact, their thoughts.” This is separate from everything else in the sentence, and it is designed to reach out and grab you.

“the mean while accusing or else excusing one another” – the adverb metaxu (μεταξύ) [pronounced meht-ax-OO] is used as an improper preposition here, used with the genitive allêlôn (ἀλλήλων) [pronounced al-LAY-Iohn] which means “other [of the same kind].” While this means literally “between one another” or “among themselves” it is an idiom in the Greek. It is translated simply “alternately.” Then the present active participle of in the genitive case of katêgoreô (κατηγορέω) [pronounced kat-ay-gor-EH-oh], which means to accuse. This is a retroactive progressive present which indicates something begun in the past and continuing into the present time. This is the way self-righteousness builds itself up in thinking—by first of all accusing others. The active voice: Gentiles without the Mosaic law do this. They have a system of norms that are so great and so superior to those who are students of the law that in their arrogance they can get together and be cynical of others. We have a disjunctive particle to indicate the alternative, ê (ἢ) [pronounced ā], and it separates opposites which are mutually exclusive. There is a lot of difference between maligning someone else and then excusing or defending yourself. So we have a second present active participle in the genitive case, apologéomai (ἀπολογέομαι) [pronounced ap-ohl-ohg-EH-ohm-ah-ee], which means to defend yourself. When you start to accuse someone else, to malign and slander others, then alternately with that you are always defending your own self-righteousness.

Romans 2:15 The very ones who demonstrate the accomplishment of the law written in their right lobes, their conscience confirming the testimony, in fact their thoughts alternately accusing or else defending themselves;)

The two words, “accusing” and “defending” indicates, first of all, that the self-righteous Gentile without the Mosaic law slander and malign and condemn others. They also get together with like kind and defend themselves—their standards and their norms—before the integrity of God by saying that their –R, their self-righteous standards, mean that they should be accepted in heaven.

The defend themselves, often when they are with others of the same kind; and they accuse others who do not meet their standards. There has never been a liberal who is not self righteous and filled with arrogance. They have arrogant standards and they constantly condemn and suppress those that they look down upon.

Gentiles have these equivalent standards to the Jew, but they do not have the Law. The Jew has either superior norms and standards which they believe is their salvation; or they do the Law, which they count that as their salvation.

A little girl, with a little education, shut down a large enterprise because she was arrogant. By arrogance, these people run around playing God, accusing others and defending themselves.

In our country, we have had great men who have developed great countries; and all of our prosperity has come from free enterprise and capitalism. Our government steals; they are criminal.

Today, the United States government is the greatest sponsor of criminals. Labor organizations are involved with criminals; the communists are criminals; and we support revolutionaries in South Africa and Rhodesia.

We have closed the parentheses. V. 16 picks up where v. 12 left off.

Romans 2:16 ...on that day when God will judge the secrets of men according to my gospel, by Christ Jesus.

Verse 16 – “In the day” is en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of hêmera (ἡμέρα) [pronounced hay-MEH-raw], “day.” Sometimes the word “day” refers to 24 hours, sometimes to a thousand years (the day of the Lord), sometimes to an instant of time (the day of Christ, the Rapture). Here the word “day” refers to a judgment. The period of time over which it takes to accomplish it is unknown, but this is a point of time, the great white throne judgment, the last judgment. This last judgment is going to find millions and millions of people who are maladjusted to the justice of God, who have rejected the integrity of God by rejecting the gospel. The gospel reveals the integrity of God to the sinful and spiritually dead human race. The gospel, then, becomes the issue with regard to a decision—the use of human freedom.

“when God shall judge” – present active indicative of krinô (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no]. The present tense is a futuristic present, it denotes an event which has not yet occurred but because it is so certain to come it is put in the present tense instead of the future. It means that this judgment will come at a time when the integrity of God will judge everyone who has rejected Christ.

“the secrets of men” – Note that sins are not mentioned. Sins are already judged at the cross. Human good is judged here. The accusative neuter plural direct object from kruptos (κρυπτός) [pronounced kroop-TOSS], and adjective used as a substantive. It means “hidden things.” You see the results of hidden things but you do not see the hidden things—the norms and standards. In other words, not only does Revelation 20:12-15 say that good deeds will be the basis of indictment at the last judgment for the unbeliever, but this passage says so will their norms and standards be indicted, their “secrets.” We all have norms and standards and they may not be revealed, but the result of them is revealed.

There are all kinds of evil norms and standards held by liberals. These are all kinds of warped thoughts, like the idea that taking guns out of the hands of law-abiding people will reduce killing.

The possessive genitive of anthrōpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos] for “men”—“in the day God will judge the secrets of those men.” This is a reference not only to the book of works in Revelation 20:12,13, but to the norms and standards of human good, the norms and standards of self-righteousness.

“by Jesus Christ” – dia plus the genitive and it should be “through Jesus Christ.” He is the judge; “according to my gospel” – kata plus the accusative of euangelion (εὐαγγέλιον) [pronounced yoo-ang-GHEL-ee-on] [eû (εὐ) [pronounced yoo] = good; aggelos (ἄγγελος) [pronounced AHN-geh-loss] = communication or news] means good communication of good news, and it is now a technical word—“according to the norm or standard of my gospel.”

We start with the bad news, which is, God does not love us. God’s integrity must take precedence over His love. God the Father set aside His eternal love for His Son and poured out our sins upon Him, thus satisfying God’s perfect justice.

Romans 2:16 In the day God will judge the secrets of those men through Jesus Christ according to the standard of my gospel.

The Gospel Reveals the Integrity of God

1. The fact that God judges the secrets of men means human integrity is lacking.
2. Divine integrity is called holiness in the Bible. Saint and holy are from the same root.
3. God’s integrity is His righteousness and His justice.
4. All of man’s relationships with God are based on His righteousness and His justice.
5. This is based upon justification.
6. The attribute of divine love is never directed toward man.
7. It is the anthropathism of divine love which is said to be directed toward man.
8. This describes God’s policy to the ignorant or immature.
9. Man has no relationship with the divine attribute of love until after God is saved.
10. God loves His perfect righteousness which is imputed to us at the moment of faith in Christ.
11. Since we have divine righteousness in justification by faith, we also have divine love directed toward His righteousness.
12. Attitude toward the gospel determines God’s attitude toward man.

Some of you live in a fantasy world and you will be the first person to scream, why does a loving God allow this to happen to me?

Someone’s word is no better than his integrity.

58 03/13/1977 Romans 2:17 Communion service; misconception of legalism "If" clauses; finesse and flexibility

This begins with the Eucharist.

People write Bob saying that we have no authorization for Fx groups. There is also no authorization for church buildings or church membership. These are simply functions which are convenient. 16 minutes for the Eucharist.

Until you know the first 8 chapters of Romans, you will just be marking time in the Christian life.

Verses 17-29, the judgment function of the integrity of God toward the Jew, which is the 3rd (and last) paragraph of this chapter. Verses 17-20 are simply the protasis of a conditional sentence. Then the next two verses are the apodosis.

The next 6 verses are a single sentence. It will take a few weeks to get through this.

Romans 2:17 But if you are called a Jew and rely on the Law and boast in God,...

Verse 17 – the misconception of legalism. (There are four misconceptions in the protasis of verses 17-20.) It begins with three Greek words, Ei de su, translated by two words in the English of the KJV, and a poor translation. "Behold, thou" is meaningless, obscure.

The Conditional Particle

1. The first word is the conditional particle ei (εἰ) [pronounced /], "if," which used with any tense of the indicative mood introduces the protasis of a conditional clause.
2. In a conditional sentence there are two clauses: protasis and apodosis.
3. The clause containing the supposition is called the protasis.
4. The protasis of a first class condition is a supposition from the viewpoint of reality—if and it is true, or if and we assume it is true. The second class condition is supposition from the viewpoint unreality. The third class condition is supposition from the standpoint of possibility. The fourth class condition is supposition from the standpoint of probability. The protasis is verses 17-20 (the conditional sentence).
5. The clause containing the statement based on the protasis or the conclusion to the protasis is called apodosis. The apodosis is verses 21-23.

Next is de, the second word in the Greek sentence which is why it is called postpositive, enclitic. If it were the first word, which it never is, it would be called prepositive. This is the postpositive conjunctive particle used as an adversative conjunction to set up a contrast between the self-righteous Gentile—verses 1-16—and the self-righteous Jew—verses 17-29. Paul has already demonstrated that the self-righteous Gentile has an equivalent righteousness with the self-righteous Jew. So de is the dividing line between the two. In the English we do not have post and prepositive or enclitic particles, so we always start out “But if” rather than the Greek form which is “If but.”

The third word is su, second person singular personal pronoun. It is a reference to the self-righteous Jew. Now because we are going to have a very strong contrast, instead of “but if” we can keep the word order by saying “If on the other hand you” or “But if on the other hand.”

“thou art called” – the word “thou” is taken from su and we translated it “you.” Then the present passive indicative from eponomázō (ἐπινομάζω) [pronounced ep-on-om-AHD-zo], taken from two words: epí (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] = to or upon; onomázō (ὀνομάζω) [pronounced on-om-AD-zoh] = to name. Hence, to attach a name, to name after, to nickname, to give a second name, to surname. This is the only occurrence of this verb in the New Testament. By compounding onoma (ὄνομα, ατος, τό) [pronounced OHN-oh-ma] zw Paul takes racial and national pride away from the Jews. If he had wanted the Jews to retain their racial and national pride he would have onomázō (ὀνομάζω) [pronounced on-om-AD-zoh], and that would have been correctly translated “Thou art called.” But there is no such onomázō (ὀνομάζω) [pronounced on-om-AD-zoh] here, it is eponomázō (ἐπινομάζω) [pronounced ep-on-om-AHD-zo] and it is an entirely different word. It means to be classified. It is impersonal. So Paul takes all of the pride out of the Jew because they are leaning on it in their self-righteousness. There is nothing wrong with the Jewish race but if it is a source of self-righteousness then the race is distorted into something it is not. Corrected translation: “If on the other hand you are classified as a Jew.” The present tense is a retroactive progressive present, it denotes what was begun in the past and continues into the present time. The Jews who are self-righteous will always have a problem in this area. The passive voice: the Jew receives the action of the verb, his arrogance is removed by the simple adding of a preposition compounding the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for historical reality.

“a Jew” – proper noun Ioudaíos (Ἰουδαίος) [pronounced ee-ou-DYE-os], a non-declinable word. It is the direct object but it always occurs in the nominative case because in spite of the fact that Paul is taking the wind out of their sails they are the greatest people who ever lived. It indicates that Paul is going to be totally objective even though he himself is the greatest Jew who ever lived, apart possibly from Moses. Furthermore this is an anarthrous construction, there is no definite article in front of it. The absence of the definite article emphasizes the qualitative aspect of the proper noun rather than its mere identity.

The Aggies were playing against UCLA, and Bob knew believers on both teams. UCLA was rated right on the top (1st, 2nd or 3rd). The Aggies never hit harder in their lives. Every time they had a chance, they would rock and sock someone. Then they would pick them up and say, “Nice going,” shake his hand. The Aggies clobbered them. This is what Paul did. Bob talks about finesse, which is playing your cards well, no matter what your cards are. But what finesse is, Paul knocks them down by saying, “You are classified Jews.” When he takes out the definite article, he demonstrates spiritual finesse. Spiritual finesse is flexibility.

Paul has all these self righteous Jews, and they are paying attention. He has knocked them down, but he picks them up again.

“and retest in the law” – the connective kai, plus the present middle indicative of epanapauomai (ἐπαναπαύομαι) [pronounced ehp-ahn-ah-POW-ohm-ahee] which means to rest upon. In other words, Paul knocks them down to pick them up and show them that they were resting on the wrong thing.

Bob names off those who are both students and doers; like Douglas MacArthur, Julius Cæsar, and Lawrence of Arabia.

They were resting on the law for adjustment to the justice of God. The present tense is a static present for a perpetual condition among Jewish legalists. The middle voice is a dynamic middle which emphasizes the part taken by the subject in the action of the verb, i.e. reliance on the Mosaic law for salvation. The indicative mood is declarative for the historical reality of Jewish legalism depending on the law for the approbation of God. Then the locative of sphere in the singular of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss]—“law,” minus the definite article to show that Paul has the greatest respect for the law. The Jews were disrespectful of the law by trying to use it as an instrument of salvation. There is nothing wrong with the law, it is perfect; there is something wrong with those who distort it into a system of salvation and spirituality by works. We have a combination of two conjunctions here—kai, kai for “not only but also.” So, “and not only rely upon the law” for salvation adjustment to the justice of God. We put in the definite article in the English because that is comparable to the lack of the article in the Greek. “If on the one hand you are classified as a Jew [and you are], and not only rely on the law [for salvation]. Then kai the second time means “but.”

“makest thy boast of God” – present middle indicative from kaucháomai (καυχάομαι) [pronounced kow-KHAH-om-ahee] for “boast.” This is a retroactive progressive present tense denoting what has happened in the past and continues into the present wherever there are Jewish legalists. Legalism among the Jews is always related to the law. The middle voice: this is a deponent verb, middle in form but active in meaning. The Jewish legalists produce the action of the verb, they boast about relationship with God related to the law. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of reality. Not only do they use the law as an instrument of salvation, but they boast about the fact that they have a relationship with God on the basis of the law.

Plus the preposition en, plus the instrumental of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]. Again, the absence of the definite article before theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] emphasizing the perfection and superiority of God rather than His identity.

Romans 2:17 If on the one hand you are classified as a Jew [and you are], and not only rely on the law [for salvation], but also you boast about relationship with God [and you do].

1. There are three assumptions or delusions of the self-righteous Jew portrayed in three verbs in the present tense:
 - a. The present passive indicative of eponomázō (ἐπινομάζω) [pronounced ep-on-om-AHD-zo] indicates racial pride of the self-righteous Jew;
 - b. epanapauomai (ἐπαναπαύομαι) [pronounced ehp-ahn-ah-POW-ohm-ahee] in the present middle indicative indicates the standard of works on which the self-righteous Jew relies for salvation;
 - c. The present active indicative of kaucháomai (καυχάομαι) [pronounced kow-KHAH-om-ahee] indicating the arrogance of the self-righteous Jew in assuming a relationship with God on the basis of his own works rather than divine integrity.
2. The three verbs combine racial, functional, and mental arrogance. They combine to produce self-righteousness and religiousness. Both religiousness and self-righteousness, either separately or combined, are resisted by the integrity of God.
3. However the religious, self-righteous Jews boast a relationship with God which they do not actually possess.
4. The three verbs combine to form an illusion of superiority which does not exist. (The Jews do have superiority but it takes doctrine to know it)
5. As this protasis of a first class condition continues into the next three verses other delusions are specified. In verse 18, distortion of the law; in verse 19, misplaced confidence in self; in verse 20, an arrogant emphasis on superficiality.

The doctrine below is reviewed in the next lesson, and, therefore, appended.

Summary from Romans 2:17

1. God loves His own righteousness and He can't stand self-righteousness. God's love for His righteousness makes it impossible for His righteousness to be compromised.
2. God's righteousness demands equivalent righteousness. Man cannot produce God's righteousness, only sinfulness. When he tries to reproduce an equivalent righteousness it comes out sinfulness plus evil.
3. God's justice judges and condemns sinfulness.
4. Before God can give His perfect righteousness to a sinner the sins of the sinner must be dealt with by the justice of God. God put aside His love for His Son and judged our sins in His Son. Integrity takes precedence over love. It could not happen in any other way. Don't every put your arrogance ahead of God. You cannot set aside justice and think that God's love is going to fix everything. In the day of his father, integrity was everything.
5. The sins of the world are poured out on Christ and judged by the justice of God. The Bible does not tell us that we must love Jesus Christ in order to be saved. Our capacities are built up later in the Christian life.

6. Therefore instant adjustment to the justice of God at salvation and resultant imputation of God's righteousness can only be attained by believing in Jesus Christ, because believing is totally non-meritorious.
7. Self-righteous types judge others by the use of slander, gossip, maligning, evil criticism. Self-righteousness is a lack of integrity. There is no integrity in self-righteousness. This is why the pharisees had no integrity. Instead of integrity, they have arrogance.
8. The self-righteous type regards himself as the favourite of a partial God because of his conformity to the legal forms of the Mosaic law (or, of religion).
9. But inwardly the self-righteous type is sinful, evil, vicious, despising the real manifestations of God in Bible doctrine (which means despising grace).
10. All relationship between God and man is based on the justice of God where the polar antagonism in the administration of divine justice produces either blessing or cursing.
11. The day of the rejection of the gospel is the day of inward reversionism and the beginning of temporal divine judgment on evil in the self-righteous unbeliever.
12. These judgments from the justice of God are a prelude to the awful eternal judgment of the self-righteous believer at the great white throne. That judgment results in the eternal lake of fire.

1977 Romans

Lesson #59

59 03/18/1977 Romans 2:18 Integrity; distortion of the law; self-righteous delusion of superiority

Blackmail in our government. The federal government will withhold funds from Texas unless our speed limit is lowered to 55 mph. A judge in SF shut down some construction requiring all working to be a quarter minority.

The federal government was designed to be the servant of the people; not the tyrant of the people. They use federal funds to blackmail various states; and this is our money. All kinds of people are learning and practicing blackmail from the United States.

Every liberal thinks that he has the absolute panacea for the United States. The federal government blackmails the states, using self-righteousness. The states blackmail other groups out of self-righteousness.

Every bureaucrat seems to think that they are god. The press ignores news, does not print the truth, but they print their own distortions. These things all happen because of self-righteousness. The average man on the street thinks of himself as Don Juan and Lothario all rolled up into one. Similar arrogance among women. There is an arrogance in the land and we are on the verge of judgment because of your arrogance.

Most people do not think, what does God think of our arrogance? We deal with God's justice and we must know the principles related to his righteousness and His grace.

Translation read.

Bob reviews the summary of Romans 2:17 (above) (and he spends a considerable amount of time on it).

Additional comments from that review:

“Sometime this year, all hell is going to break loose.”

We learn to lean in one direction or another due to our upbringing. But the key is God’s integrity, not His love.

Integrity must meet integrity for blessing.

“There’s honor among thieves.” The hell there is. Thieves do not have integrity.

Romans 2:18 ...and you know His will and approve the things being superior, being instructed out of the Law,...

Verse 18 – the distortion of the law. Arrogance assumes to the point of presumption. It is presumption on the part of arrogance to assume that they know the will of God, that they have the will of God. In fact, they claim that they have a monopoly on the will of God. But they don’t know it at all. You cannot know the will of God apart from the will of God. “And knowest his will” – the continuative use of the conjunction kai, plus the present active indicative of ginôskô (γινώσκω) [pronounced gih-NOH-skoh], meaning to understand, to know. This is a tendential present tense, used for an action which is attempted though it does not actually occur. They don’t really know the will of God, they think they know it. The active voice: the legalistic Jew produces the action of the verb—any self-righteous person by application. The indicative mood is the interrogative indicative, the viewpoint of reality is implied in the illusion enquired into when the indicative is used in the asking of a simple question. Also, the accusative neuter singular direct object from the definite article, used here as a possessive pronoun, plus the accusative neuter singular direct object from the noun thelêma (θέλημα) [pronounced THEHL-ay-mah] which goes with the possessive pronoun. This is translated, “And he knows his will.” This is presumption, he doesn’t really know it. The Jewish unbeliever in his legalistic reversionism is under the illusion that by learning and keeping the Mosaic law he has come to understand the will of God. Self-righteousness assumes to be doing the will of God. Legalism assumes that human righteousness is equivalent to divine righteousness.

“and approvest the things that are more excellent” – this is not quite correct. The problem is the present active indicative of the verb dokimázō (δοκιμάζω) [pronounced dohk-ihm-AHD-zoh]. The present tense is a progressive present, it depicts the action of the verb in progress or in a state of persistence. The active voice: the legalistic self-righteous Jews produce the action of the verb. The indicative mood represents the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality, therefore it is declarative. This should be translated, “and accept as approved.” Then the accusative neuter plural of the definite article used as a demonstrative pronoun for the category of self-righteous deeds and thoughts—“those things.” Plus the present active participle from diaphérō (διαφέρω) [pronounced dee-ahf-EHR-oh]. The word means to differ, to be different, to be worth more than or to be superior to. This is an adjectival participle to qualify the definite article used as a demonstrative pronoun. Therefore it should be translated not as a participle but simply as an adjective—“and approve those superior things.”

God’s righteousness versus Self-righteousness

1. This is the delusion of self-righteousness in Israel, that whatever the legalist approves is superior to all else.
2. The legalistic Jew or Judaizer has approved as superior standards that which is in opposition to the holiness or integrity of God.
3. They have approved a righteousness from keeping the law as equivalent or superior to God’s righteousness. Therefore they have rejected Christ as the source of God’s righteousness, the source of imputed righteousness.
4. Here is the direct conflict with legalism and self-righteousness.
5. God loves and approves His own righteousness.
6. God’s righteousness is eternal, infinite, perfect, incorruptible, and one half of His integrity (the other half being His justice).
7. God’s justice condemns what falls short of God’s righteousness.
8. So God judges from perfect righteousness, always.
9. On the one hand the self-righteous type loves his own righteousness which provides the deluded and false confidence to judge others.
10. On the other hand God rejects the self-righteousness of the legalist, and in this passage the Jewish legalist. The statement of His rejection is found in Isaiah 64:6.
11. God rejects both the righteousness of the self-righteous and the maligning judgments of the self-righteous.
12. The self-righteous is guilty of both blasphemy and presumption.
13. God can only judge the self-righteous, He cannot bless the self-righteous from His justice. That is why the believer who is self-righteous is always under discipline.
14. The ascriptive present participle diaphérō (διαφέρω) [pronounced dee-ahf-EHR-oh] is translated “superior” – “superior things.” This is sarcasm about the self-confidence of the self-righteous.

No withering leaves on Bob’s lawn. Balderdash and Melarky eat them.

“being instructed out of the law” – this includes a present passive participle from katêcheô (κατηχέω) [pronounced kat-ay-KHEH-oh], which means to sound in the ears, to make the ears ring, to instruct orally, to teach and to instruct. This is a retroactive progressive present denoting what is begun in the past and continuing into the present time. Translation: “since he is instructed.” The passive voice: the self-righteous Jew receives the action of the verb, the instruction of the law. The participle is a causal participle denoting the ground of action for the main verb. Plus the preposition ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] with the ablative of both the definite article and the noun nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss]—“law.”

Romans 2:18 And knows his will, and approves those superior things, since he is instructed from the law.

Remember that this is not a fact of truth but a sanctified sarcasm reflecting the delusion of the self-righteous Jew under the Mosaic law. He doesn't really know the will of God and he doesn't really approve superior things, this is a piece of sarcasm taken from the delusion of self-righteousness.

Final Points

1. Self-righteous types have distorted the law and its content from condemnation of their status to commendation of their self-righteousness.
2. They have learned the law as a catechism and they seek to keep the law for production of their own righteousness.
3. Then they take this righteousness to God and they demand that it be accepted for salvation.
4. The justice of God does not bend to human whims. Human love bends and adjusts to the other person; but this is not what God's righteousness does.
5. The justice of God does not accommodate itself to human righteousness or human fantasies of self-centeredness.

1977 Romans

Lesson #60

60 03/20/1977 Romans 2:19 Doctrine of the Priest (Client) Nation (pts. 1–5)

Bob quickly reviews the essence of the human soul. Love is one of God's many divine attributes. His love does not require an object; it is not sustained by emotion. Bob reviews the anthropopathism of love.

Corrected translation given.

We come to a misplaced confidence in oneself.

Romans 2:19 ...and you are persuaded that you yourself are a guide of the blind, a light to those in darkness,...

Verse 19 – “And art confident,” an enclitic particle de, used to indicate the close relationship between the two clauses. So we have a transition indicating that we are moving on to similar and very close concepts. It should be translated “Moreover.” Plus the perfect active indicative of peithô (πείθω) [pronounced PIE-thoh] which is translated in terms of confidence. This is a perfect which has a present meaning. The perfective present denotes the continuation of existing results. The active voice: the self-righteous legalistic Jew produces the action of the verb.

At the time in which Paul wrote they were trying to keep the law for salvation, but their self-righteousness only produced condemnation rather than justification. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of historical reality of reversionism among Jewish unbelievers. They were maladjusted to the justice of God, they had no relationship with divine integrity, but they had a false confidence.

At this time, Israel is a client nation to God; but that is going to end not too far in the future. The United States is a client nation to God. We may not last much longer.

Legislation cannot solve the problems of life. Laws ought to protect our freedom and privacy; but legislation is being used to destroy free enterprise and to destroy our businesses. Liberals are extremely confident that they are doing the right thing. And they extend this to other nations. But, when Hungry called for our help to preserve their freedom, we did not answer their call.

We are blackmailing Rhodesia and South Africa as an extension of our own liberal self-righteousness; but this plays right into the hands of the communists, who want to have control of all the chrome in the world.

We are an arrogant people; we are a self-righteous people; but we have no basis for arrogance today. We persist in arrogance today.

“that thou thyself art” – an accusative of general reference, which means we have a reflexive pronoun for a subject, seautou (σεαυτοῦ, ἡς) [pronounced seh-ow-TOO], used as the subject of the infinitive. Plus the present active infinitive of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. Literal translation: “Moreover, you are confident that you yourself are.” The progressive present tense of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME] denotes the action of the verb in progress, or in a state of persistence. The infinitive is part of the accusative of general reference.

You believe that you are “a guide of the blind” – the accusative singular of the noun hodēgós (ὁδηγός) [pronounced hod-ayg-OSS]. It acts as a predicate nominative but in the accusative case to match the accusative case of the subject, the accusative of general reference. It is correctly translated “a guide.” Plus the descriptive genitive plural from the adjective tuphlos (τυφλός) [pronounced toof-LOSS], “blind” or “blind ones.” The adjective acts as a noun, it’s in the plural, and this is what happens when people become arrogant—they become blind.

“a light of them which are in darkness” – literally, “a light with reference to those in darkness,” en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of skotos (σκότος) [pronounced SKOH-toss].

Romans 2:19 Moreover, you are confident that you yourselves are a guide of blind ones, a light with reference to those in darkness.

This distortion takes the maladjusted Jew and his self righteous arrogance; and he is destroying his own nation.

Bob presents this as the priest nation; but, soon thereafter will go to the nomenclature of the client nation.

There is a tendency to glorify the Roman republic; but they made almost zero contribution to western civilization. It was the empire which was great. Gaius Julius Cæsar, in 5 short years, began to change over the Roman republic into the Roman empire. When the Jews fell, not long after, God's client nation was Rome.

Scotland, during the middle ages, was a client nation in the 4th, 5th and 6th centuries. Patrick was a Scotsman. He had no connection to the Roman church; and he was one of the greatest evangelists in the world. He evangelized Ireland and this was one of the few times that Ireland was united. Because of Patrick, Ireland became a great client nation. They sent out Columbo; and Scotland was evangelized by Ireland.

Israel had a specialized priesthood; and was therefore called a priest nation. A client nation under Rome was dependent upon Rome, under their protection. A client nation is under the protection of God because of the believers in Rome.

Bob goes over the adjustments to the justice of God. This is reviews in lesson #65.

Doctrine of the Client Nation

A. Definition.

1. A client nation is a national entity under the patronage of God, assigned the responsibility for the formation, preservation, communication, and fulfillment of the canon of Scripture.
 - a. Before Israel became a nation, custodianship of the word of God involved divine revelation apart from Scripture. But since Israel has become a nation, it is involved in the authorship, custodianship and dissemination of the written Word.
 - b. Additional custodianship was assigned to Israel in the formation of the New Testament, since all except two writers were Jews. Luke and ??; on his review, Bob mentions only Luke.
 - c. During the time of the formation of the New Testament, the client nation changed from Judea to the Roman Empire, in 70 A.D.
2. In Exodus 19:4-6, we have a reference to the client nation concept, "You yourselves have seen what I did to the Egyptians, and how I carried you on eagles' wings, and brought you to Myself. Now therefore, if hearing, you will obey My voice and keep My covenant, then you shall be My own possession among all peoples, for all the earth is Mine; then you shall be a kingdom of priests and a holy nation to Me. These are the words that you shall speak to the sons of Israel."

- a. Deut 7:6, "For you are a holy people to the Lord your God; the Lord your God has chosen you to be a people for His own possession out of all the peoples who are on the face of the earth."
 - b. Deut 26:18-19, "And the Lord has today declared you to be His people, a people for His own [a treasured] possession, as He promised you; therefore, you are to keep all His commandments; and that He will set you high above all nations which He made, for praise, fame, and honor; and that you shall be a holy people to the Lord your God, as He has spoken."
 - c. There is evangelization, Bible teaching and missionary activity which occurs within the priest nation. There is also custodianship of the Word of God.
3. There are two categories of client nations to God in human history: the five Jewish client nations of the Old Testament with a specialized priesthood and the Gentile client nations during the dispensation of the Church with a universal priesthood. No Gentile nation of the Old Testament was a client nation to God. The Gentile client nation category follows exactly the same pattern as Israel with some dramatic differences related to the uniqueness of the Church Age, both in grace provision and in spiritual life.
4. A client nation is a synonym for a priest nation. The name "priest nation" is used for Israel because it had a specialized priesthood. The term "client nation" is used for any Gentile nation that performs the same functions during the Church Age. In Roman history, a client was someone dependent on another family. Instead of calling a Gentile nation a priest nation as such, the believers in the Church Age are a holy priesthood and a royal family of God, 1Peter 2:4-5, "And coming to Him as to a living stone, rejected by men, but elect and precious in the sight of God, you also, as living stones, are being built up into a spiritual house [compare Heb 3:6] as a result of a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through the agency of Jesus Christ."
- a. Israel was always called a holy nation. The Church is called a holy priesthood. Why? Because in the Church Age, every believer is a priest.
 - b. Jesus Christ tested and proved the prototype spiritual life. We offer up spiritual sacrifice by the fulfillment of the three stages of the adult spiritual life. God does not want sacrifices and offerings; He wants the sacrifice of the spiritual life. The spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God are the four spiritual mechanics of the spiritual life.
 - c. 1Peter 2:9, "But you are an elect race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people for God's own possession, that you may proclaim the excellencies of Him who has called you out from darkness into His marvelous light." The idea of an elect race comes from the Greek phrase in 2 Cor 5:17 KAINÉ KTISIS, which means, "a new spiritual species." "Therefore, if anyone is in union with Christ, he is a new spiritual species; old things have lost their power, behold, new things have come to pass." The new things that have come to pass are the four spiritual mechanics, the four spiritual objectives. In the privacy of your priesthood, you have the option or the option to fail as far as the spiritual life is concerned.

- d. The royal priesthood is related to positional sanctification; for our Lord is a king-priest from the line of David. Believers in Christ are royal family of God, and this is the key to Gentile client nations in the Church Age.
 5. A client nation to God is a nation under divine protection, because it has a large pivot of mature believers. These mature believers have blessing by association to those around them and historical blessing to their nation. A client nation is destroyed by the reversionistic believers who "spin-off" from the pivot of mature believers by their rejection of Bible doctrine. As the pivot shrinks, the nation loses its client nation status with God and undergoes the five cycles of discipline. Only a remnant of positive believers had impact through the spiritual life of Israel in the Old Testament.
 6. The divine meanings of history has always been client nations.
- B. The most important client nation and the key to all client nations is found in the history of Israel as a priest nation.
1. God directs and controls historical activity on the basis of client nations. A client nation is responsible to do five things.
 - a. It must evangelize its own population at home.
 - b. It must communicate Bible doctrine to the believers in the nation.
 - c. It is responsible for the custodianship of Bible doctrine.
 - d. It provides a haven for the Jews.
 - e. It is responsible to send out missionaries to evangelize other nations.
 2. There were five Jewish client nations in the Old Testament.
 - a. The theocratic kingdom, B.C. 1441-1020, from the Exodus until the prophet Samuel. The theocratic kingdom ended when the Jews said, "We want to be like other nations."
 - b. The United Kingdom from Saul to Rehoboam, B.C. 1020-926.
 - c. The Northern Kingdom from Jeroboam to Hoshea, B.C. 926-721. In 721 B.C. the fifth cycle of discipline was administered by the Assyrians under Sargon II.
 - d. The Southern Kingdom from Rehoboam to Zedekiah, B.C. 926-586. The fifth cycle of discipline was administered by the Chaldeans under Nebuchadnezzar.
 - e. After the Northern and Southern Kingdoms were destroyed, while no Jewish client nation was operational as such, Jews outside of the client nation filled in the gap to Gentile nations as they had been responsible before to do so. No Gentile client nation exists in the Old Testament, only Jewish client nations. Then Judah became a client nation again from B.C. 516 until 70 A.D. Chaldea and the Persian Empire were not client nations between B.C. 586-516.

(1) In 458 B.C., after the fifth Jewish client nation was operational, we have the return of Ezra. The entire Old Testament canon was discovered and Ezra led a great revival back to Bible doctrine

(2) In 445 B.C., Nehemiah returned with a group of people to rebuild the walls and to organize the military to defend this client nation.

C. Negative Volition to Bible doctrine destroys a client nation.

1. There were periods of apostasy in Israel in the Old Testament. Apostasy in a client nation is always a cancer. If it grows long enough, that client nation dies under the fifth cycle of discipline. In every case of Jewish apostasy in a Jewish client nation status both the clergy and the politicians of Israel are indicted along with the negative volition of the people.

a. Jer 6:13-14, "For from the least of them even to the greatest of them, everyone is greedy for profit, furthermore from the prophet even to the priest everyone manufactures lies. In fact they allege to solve problems of My people, saying, 'Peace, peace,' when there is no peace."

b. Ezek 13:10-16, "It is definitely because they have misled My people by saying, 'Peace!' when there is no peace. Now when anyone builds a wall [the political lies of politicians], behold, they cover it with whitewash [the false solution to the problems of the client nation]; so tell those who plaster it over with whitewash, that it will fall. A flooding rain will come, and you, O hailstones, will fall; and a violent wind [fifth cycle of discipline] will break out. Behold, when the wall has fallen, will you not be asked, 'Where is the plaster with which you have plastered it?' Therefore, thus says the Lord God, 'I will cause a violent wind to break out in My wrath. There will also be in My anger a flooding rain and hailstones to consume it in wrath. So I shall tear down the wall [the political lies] which you plastered over with whitewash and bring it down to the ground, so that its foundation is laid bare; furthermore when it falls, you will be destroyed with it. Then you will know that I am the Lord. Therefore I will spend My wrath against the wall and against those who have plastered it with whitewash; then I will say to you, 'The wall is gone along with its plasterers, along with the prophets of Israel who prophesy to Jerusalem, and saw visions of peace for her where there is no peace,' declares the Lord God."

c. Principles.

(1) Good decisions of national leadership result in greater options for greater decisions. Bad decisions destroy freedom options and enslave the nation, so that the client nation status is destroyed from within in the first three cycles of discipline. A nation that is not prepared for war is not prepared for peace.

(2) Mankind always has been and always will be the product of their own volition, not their environment. We blame environment, which is part of the arrogance skills.

(3) The doctrine of man's sin nature and total depravity plus the function of Satan's cosmic system requires that people in a client nation periodically will have to make great sacrifices for freedom.

(4) Political solutions are useless without spiritual solutions. What makes political solutions great is the invisible heroship of a pivot of mature believers. Political solutions are temporal; spiritual solutions are eternal. Political solutions relate to the power of man; spiritual solutions relate to the power of God. Political solutions are often erroneous and destructive to a nation, while spiritual solutions offer hope to a nation and eternal life to individuals in that nation. Political solutions are mortal and subject to corruption; spiritual solutions are eternal and compatible with the immortality of the soul. Political solutions grope in darkness of spiritual death, but spiritual solutions live in the light of eternity and the fantastic divine revelation in time. Political solutions are related to the first birth of mankind and his spiritual death; spiritual solutions are related to regeneration through faith in Christ-the second birth of mankind and his eternal relationship with God. Spiritual solutions never include violence or coercion, but a change in the soul through Bible doctrine.

2. People become self-righteous, arrogant legalistic, and reversionistic, Hosea 4:1-7; 8:7, and are destroyed for lack of Bible doctrine. Rejection of Bible doctrine leads to destruction of the client nation. Everything depends on your attitude toward Bible doctrine. Hosea 4:6 My people (or, nation) are destroyed for lack of knowledge (doctrine); because you have rejected knowledge, I reject you from being a priest [nation] to me. And since you have forgotten (neglect) the law of your God, I also will forget (neglect) your children.

3. The failure of the Jewish nation resulted in the times of the gentiles. The fifth cycle of discipline was administered to various Jewish nations, which discontinued their function as a priest nation. The Northern Kingdom fell to Assyria in 721 B.C. The Southern Kingdom fell to the Chaldean Empire in 586 B.C. Judea was conquered by Rome in 70 A.D. Israel will not be a priest nation again until the Second Advent.

4. When Israel was being disciplined as a client nation from 586-516 B.C., there was no Gentile client nation. The remnant according to the election of grace went to Gentile client nations as representatives of a non-operational client nation. The same thing happens during the Tribulation-there is no client nation. Individual Jews are used by God to evangelize the Gentiles from 586-516 B.C. and during the Tribulation. The Persian and Chaldean empires were not client nations to God.

5. When the Roman Empire fell in 476 A.D., God had already used the Goths as His client nation during the fourth century. Scotland and Ireland were client nations during the fifth and sixth centuries. The Franks were a client nation during the eighth and ninth centuries; the Vikings were during the tenth century. Germany under Luther, and Switzerland under Zwingli and Calvin were client nations during the sixteenth century. Germany during the time of Luther. Sweden under Gustavus Adolphus, and France under the Huguenots during the seventeenth century were client nations. Brandenburg-Prussia became the home of the Huguenots under the Hohenzollerns were a client nation during the eighteenth century through Frederick the Great and following. England was the same during the reign of Victoria in the nineteenth century. And the United States of America has been a client nation from 1776 until the present. These are just a few examples. (See the Doctrine of the Pivot for the geopolitical advance of the pivot in the Church Age.)
 6. England was responsible for evangelism all over the world. But, when they began to lose nations in their empire, that was a sign that they were going down as a client nation. Mary Slasher walked thousands of miles in Africa and she was never accosted by any native. It is estimated that she won over a million black people to the Lord; but she was untouched in Africa. Wherever the empire existed there was law and order and great evangelism.
 7. Jesus Christ, who controls history, knows where positive volition will be in each generation. And He makes sure that the current client nation goes to that area of the world with missionary activity. This insures that Gentile nations will continue as client nations until the Rapture.
 8. Ignorance of Bible doctrine destroyed the Jewish client nations, and the same ignorance of doctrine destroys the Gentile client nations, Eph 4:18-19. Scar tissue of soul has had the same effect, 2 Cor 13:5.
- D. [This is presented as point 5 in the Romans study; and the review of this study.] The restoration of Israel as a priest nation will occur at the second Advent and continue throughout the millennium, Isaiah 49:5-8 (And now the LORD says, he who formed me from the womb to be his servant, to bring Jacob back to him; and that Israel might be gathered to him— for I [Jesus Christ] am glorified in the eyes of the LORD, and my God has become my strength— he says: “It is too light a thing that you should be my servant to raise up the tribes of Jacob and to bring back the preserved of Israel; I will make you as a light for the nations, that my salvation may reach to the end of the earth.” Thus says the LORD, the Redeemer of Israel and his Holy One, to one deeply despised, abhorred by the nation, the servant of rulers: “Kings shall see and arise; princes, and they shall prostrate themselves; because of the LORD, who is faithful, the Holy One of Israel, who has chosen you.” Thus says the LORD: “In a time of favor I have answered you; in a day of salvation I have helped you; I will keep you and give you as a covenant to the people, to establish the land, to apportion the desolate heritages,..). Israel today and in the tribulation is not a client nation. There is a testimony from 144,000 Jews during the tribulation exactly like the seventy years of the Babylonian captivity, but there is no client nation during these two periods. A perfect environment.

E. The Pivot and the Client Nation.

1. The pivot is the remnant of mature believers who have reached maximum adjustment to the justice of God by their positive attitude toward Bible doctrine. If there is a large pivot, the nation is delivered from historical disaster. If there is a small pivot, then only the pivot is delivered, while the nation is destroyed. Supergrace A and supergrace B, along with those in ultra super grace make up the pivot. This is the only way to have 9 lives and always land on your feet; be in the pivot. These believers are known as the salt or the preservative of the nation.
2. The size of the pivot in historical disaster determines the outcome of that disaster.
3. The larger the pivot, the greater chance the nation will be preserved. The spinoff is the reversionistic believers. The larger the spinoff, the greater the disaster and destruction of the nation.
4. When judgment falls on a nation, the pivot is still secure because of their adjustment to the justice of God. If a mature believer dies during historical disaster, it was just his time to go home, not a matter of discipline.
5. The outcome of historical disaster depends upon the size of the pivot and the size of the spinoff.
6. The principle of deliverance depending upon the size of the pivot is derived from the fact that mature believers are a blessing by association and have historical impact.
7. While the pivot is secure, the spinoff is destroyed in the disaster.
8. Therefore historical disaster separates those adjusted to the justice of God from those who are maladjusted. Since the spinoff is always composed of those who are maladjusted, they are disciplined and destroyed by the historical disaster. God often uses this time to remove the kooky believers. They go out blaspheming God by saying, how can a loving God do this to me?
9. No client nation during the Tribulation, as all believers will be removed from every nation.

F. The principle of the client nation solves certain problem passages in Scripture.

1. 2Samuel 8:18, "And David's sons were priests." David was from the tribe of Judah, therefore not qualified to be a priest. But because Israel was a priest nation the verse is telling us that all David's sons were believers, and therefore, priests, as in the sense of Exodus 19:6. Believers are priests in a priest nation.
2. In Exodus 19:5-6, the phrase "My special possession" is a synonym for client nation. Now therefore, if you will indeed obey my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my treasured possession among all peoples, for all the earth is mine; and you shall be to me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation.' These are the words that you shall speak to the people of Israel."

G. The Millennial Reference to Israel as a Priest Nation.

1. Isa 61:5-8a, "You will be called priests of Jehovah." Strangers shall stand and tend your flocks; foreigners shall be your plowmen and vinedressers; but you shall be called the priests of the LORD; they shall speak of you as the ministers of our God; you shall eat the wealth of the nations, and in their glory [in their riches] you shall boast. Instead of your shame there shall be a double portion; instead of dishonor they shall rejoice in their lot; therefore in their land they shall possess a double portion; they shall have everlasting joy. For I the LORD love justice; I hate robbery and wrong; I will faithfully give them their recompense, and I will make an everlasting covenant with them.
2. Israel will be restored as the client nation to God at the Second Advent. Then it will function as His representative nation on the earth for the entire Millennium.
3. There is never a permanent Jewish client nation to God until Jesus Christ provides such a thing at the second Advent. Client nations are definitely an issue in the spiritual life.

H. The Present Role of the USA as a Client Nation in the Church Age.

1. In every generation of U.S. history, there has been the ingredients of the client nation: evangelism, Bible teaching, missionaries, and pro-semitism. In addition to this, the United States has been an establishment nation. Bob was looking through some ads and writing in older magazines, I think from the early 1900s, as he mentions Teddy Roosevelt. Yale, Harvard, and Dartmouth were all founded to prepare and send out missionaries into the land. Also Princeton.
2. The USA as a client nation is reflected in our Constitution's purpose, which limits the federal government's authority. This was the objective of our founding fathers.
3. Since FDR, our taxes are used to blackmail us. The federal government has begun to control the people using our taxes.
4. Great evangelism during the War Between the States on both sides, but especially in the south.
5. We still have all the ingredients, but things are getting worse. We have a pivot of mature believers, but the spinoff is large and getting larger. Evangelism is a lot of lip service. Bible doctrine is rarely taught properly or accurately. Reversionism has destroyed most missionaries and missionary groups.
6. After the Rapture, there will be no client nation; therefore, there will be no nation for refuge for the Jews. The only thing we are doing right at the present is providing a haven for the Jews. There will be 144,000 evangelistic Jews.

7. All hell will break loose during the Tribulation, because there is no pivot, no client nations; no place where people can go and get Bible doctrine on a consistent basis. This is why Moses and Elijah are brought back for a special ministry, because there is no client nation on the earth.

8. Great period of contrasts in the Millennium.

9. When the Church is taken out of the world at the Rapture, so is the ministry of the Holy Spirit in providing blessing by association and historical impact by restraining evil, 2 Thes 2.

I. The "Times of the Gentiles" and Client Nations, Luke 21:20-24. "But when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know that its desolation has come near. Then let those [the pivot; the mature believers in Judæa] who are in Judea flee to the mountains, and let those who are inside the city depart, and let not those who are out in the country enter it, for these are days of vengeance [the 5th cycle of discipline from the justice of God], to fulfill all that is written. Alas for women who are pregnant and for those who are nursing infants in those days! For there will be great distress upon the earth and wrath against this people. They will fall by the edge of the sword [1,100,000 Jews will die] and be led captive among all nations, and Jerusalem will be trampled underfoot by the Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled."

1. Jesus Christ is warning the Jews of the removal of Judea as a client nation. Mature believers are to know from the intake of Bible doctrine that Judea will be destroyed. By practical application of this passage the pivot was delivered. Someone always gets hurt in historical disaster: 1,100,000 were killed (killed by the Romans or died of starvation or of disease), 97,000 taken captive and sold into slavery.

2. Vespacion encamps with his armies around Jerusalem; and this is later taken over by Titus his son, as Vespacion rules in Rome.

3. Those believers in Jerusalem need to get out; and those in the country are not to go into Jerusalem. It will be destroyed.

4. Fulfilling all those things which are written refers back to Leviticus 26 and Deuteronomy 28 (passages on the fifth cycle of discipline).

5. The "times of the Gentiles" refers to the fact that from 70 A.D. until the Rapture, Tribulation and Second Advent, only Gentile nations will be client nations to God. In the Tribulation only individual Jews will be evangelists, there will be no Jewish client nation.

6. When the fifth cycle of discipline came in 70 A.D., it ended the function of any Jewish nation as a priest nation until the Second Advent of Christ. There will be no Gentile client nation during the Tribulation since all believers are taken to heaven before this period of great historical disaster.

7. Gentile client nations should have a maximum number of mature believers for a pivot, maximum evangelism within their own nation, maximum missionary activity to other nations, and they are to provide a haven for the Jews.

8. The client nation is characterized by being pro-semitic. No Gentile nation can be a client nation to God without providing a haven for the Jews during the "times of the Gentiles." Anti-semitism automatically eliminates any nation from being a client nation to God.
9. During the tribulation, there will be a Jewish nation, but it will not be a client nation. There will be a great evangelistic thrust by 144,000 Jews and the return of Moses and Elijah. But Israel is not restored as a client nation until the Second Advent.
10. When the Rapture occurs, there is no pivot, no believers, and no client nation. There will be no priest nation of any kind. That is why angels, Moses, and Elijah, in addition to the 144,000 Jews are used during the tribulation for the evangelization of the world. The reason that this period of time will be so horrible is, there are no believers remaining on the earth and no client nation to God remains.
11. In the meantime, we have the "times of the Gentiles," which began in 70 A.D. and continues until the Second Advent. Israel will not be a client nation during the Church Age.

J. The "Fullness of the Gentiles", Rom 11:25.

1. Rom 11:25, "For, brethren, I do not wish you to be ignorant of this mystery [Church Age doctrine], lest you become presumptuous [wise in your own estimation], that a partial hardening has occurred to Israel until the full measure of Gentile nations has come in."
2. The word translated "Gentile nations" is the Greek word ETHNOS. This word means Gentiles and Gentile nations. The full measure of the Gentile nations is all the Gentile client nations from the fall of Israel in 70 A.D. until the end of the Church Age.
3. The full measure of Gentile nations refers to the times of the Gentiles with one slight difference. The times of the Gentiles goes from 70 A.D. until the second Advent. The full measure of the Gentiles has to do with the fact that there will always be Gentile client nations until the resurrection of the Church. The difference is the tribulation, during which there is no Gentile client nation and Israel is not yet restored as a client nation.
4. Israel ceased to be a priest nation in A.D. 70.
5. Gentiles nations, at the point, have become client nations to God.
6. Israel will not be a priest nation to God during the Church Age.
7. No client nations during the Tribulation.
8. These client nations of the gentiles will have a maximum number of believers for a pivot, maximum evangelism, and they will be a haven for the Jews.
9. Antisemitism eliminates any nation from being a client nation to God.
10. During the Tribulation, there will be the Jewish nation of Israel, but it is not a client nation. There will be an evangelistic thrust, with 144,000 Jews teaching throughout the world.
11. Israel is not restored as a priest nation until after the 2nd advent. Only individuals stand in the gap during the Tribulation. Nations do not.

K. The rapture occurs and all client nations of the earth are no longer client nations because the believers have been removed. There will be no client nations during the Tribulation. The royal family will be with the King during the Tribulation, being prepared as a bride is prepared. All believers removed means no pivot remaining. There will be evangelization. No client nation is built up in seven years. Angels are also used to evangelize in the Tribulation.

L. The Fading Glory of the Mosaic Law, Ex 34.

1. Moses made a prophet gesture in relationship to Israel as God's covenant people. This gesture may be classified as the doctrine of the fading glory in contrast to the spiritual life of the Church Age which may be classified as the doctrine of the unfading glory.
2. Ex 34:29-35, "Now it came to pass when Moses was coming down from Mount Sinai with the two tablets of testimony in his hands that Moses did not know that the skin of his face was shining because he had been talking with Him. So when Aaron and all the sons of Israel saw Moses, behold, the skin of his face was radiant, and they were afraid to come near him. So Moses called to them. Then Aaron and all the rulers of the congregation returned to him; then Moses spoke to them. And afterward all the sons of Israel came near, and he commanded them everything that the Lord had spoken to him on Mount Sinai. When Moses had finished speaking to them, he put a veil over his face. Now whenever Moses went in face-to-face with the Lord to speak with Him, he took off the veil until he came out, and whenever he came out and spoke to the sons of Israel what had been commanded, the sons of Israel would see the face of Moses, that the skin of Moses' face was shining. So Moses would replace the veil over his face until he went in to speak with Him."
 - a. Moses put on the veil after speaking God's word to the people so that Israel could not see the fading glory of the Mosaic Law. Moses understood that Israel must hear the message and not associate the message with the fact that the Mosaic Law is a system of fading glory. Israel was not to understand at that time that all five of the Jewish client nations to God would sooner or later fail because of rejection of Bible doctrine. As soon as Moses entered the tabernacle he removed the veil and kept it off until he was finished listening to the Lord and speaking to the people of Israel.
 - b. The prophetic gesture of Moses provides the historical background and interpretation for the unfading glory of the unique spiritual life of the Church Age. The unique spiritual life of the Church Age believer is an unfading glory. There is no fading glory in the spiritual life of the Church Age. If the spiritual life is rejected, there is a veil over the soul called scar tissue of the soul. People do not do what the word of God says because there is a veil over their soul.
3. 2 Cor 3:13-18, "And not as Moses, who kept on putting a veil over his face to prevent the sons of Israel from gazing at his face while the radiance was fading away, but their thinking was hardened; for until this very day at the reading of the old covenant the same veil remains unlifted, because it is only removed by Christ. For until this very day whenever Moses is read, a veil covers their heart; but whenever it [the Jewish heart] has turned face-to-face with the Lord, the veil is removed. Now the Spirit is the Lord [deity of the Holy Spirit]; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom [spiritual freedom]. But we all, with an unveiled face looking into a mirror to produce a reflection-the glory of the Lord, are being transformed into the same image from glory [the prototype spiritual life] to glory [the operational spiritual life], as it were from the Spirit of the Lord."

- a. When Moses pulled down the veil over his face, the Jews pulled a veil down over their hearts. The phrase "their thinking was hardened" means they rejected his teaching and had scar tissue of the soul. They were free to succeed or fail. They chose to fail. Is there a veil over your heart when you hear doctrine taught? To the extent that you neglect doctrine you are presumptuous. If you think that the learning of the world is more important than doctrine, you are presumptuous. The same thing that happened to the Jews in their client nation is happening to believers in client nation USA-their thinking is hardened.
- b. There could be no Gentile client nations until the baptism of the Holy Spirit, so that any born again Jew could be part of a client nation that is not Israel. The full measure of the Gentiles does not exclude the Jew at all.
- c. They had fading glory. You have unfading glory. You have greater responsibility than anyone in the five Jewish client nations to God. You have a spiritual life that has an unfading glory. If God severely disciplined the Jews who had a spiritual life with fading glory, what will he do to us if we reject a spiritual life with unfading glory?
- d. We are face-to-face with the Lord when we hear the teaching of the word of God contained in the New Testament canon. The unveiled face belongs to the positive believer who is consistent in the function of the four spiritual mechanics.
- e. Metabolized doctrine in your soul creates a mirror into which you can look and see what you are really like, Jam 1:23-25. This allows you to evaluate yourself without any help from anyone else. There is another reflection which is seen in the mirror of Bible doctrine-the reflection of the humanity of Christ in hypostatic union, the glory of the Lord. You have the opportunity of having the unveiled soul with all of its glory, becoming of member of the pivot of mature believers in the client nation, and so preserving the client nation.

M. Concluding Principles.

1. Mankind does not possess the power to perpetuate or guarantee peace on the earth. There will always be wars and rumors of wars until Jesus Christ returns, Mt 24:6-7. Therefore, beware of politicians who reject and diminish the military, Ezek 13:10-16. Beware of the liberal clergy, who manufacture lies about world peace, Jer 6:13-14.

2. The supreme court of heaven can punish Israel without any help. Anti-semitism is a guarantee for destroying a national entity. God does not need any help in His discipline of Israel. Anti-semitism is Satanic, Rev 12. Anti-semitism results in liability to personal and national discipline from the supreme court of heaven, Gen 12:3.
3. All failure of client nations to God includes both the spiritual and establishment principles, Hos 4:1-6. The failure of believers to execute God's plan and purpose results in a shrinking pivot of mature believers and the rejection of establishment principles.
4. The Fantasy Notion. Politicians seeking power with utopian plans destroy a national entity. The utopian concept came into history in 1516, when Sir Thomas Moore wrote a book called Utopia, a state of political and social perfection. Utopianism involves the dreams and schemes of an imaginary, divorced from reality status of political and social perfection. Hence, utopianism is the Satanic concept of the millennium brought on by the work of mankind rather than by the work of God. This is the warning of Ezek 13:10-16. Utopianism not only rejects the biblical eschatology of the millennium but ignores the total depravity of mankind and the need for regeneration and establishment principles delineated in the Scripture.
5. God has ordained nationalism in the human race to protect it from self-destruction, Acts 17:24-27.
6. Utopian socialism is an economic system based on the premise that if capital voluntarily surrendered its ownership of means of production to the state and the workers, unemployment and poverty would be abolished. This is tantamount to redistribution of wealth and is totally disastrous. The Bible does not teach any such things. The word of God teaches that you must always have capitalism and free enterprize. Capitalism is the only economic system that creates prosperity.
7. Jesus Christ controls history.
 - a. He controls history through the function of His divine essence.
 - b. He controls history as a judge of the supreme court of heaven.
 - c. He controls history through the pivot of mature believers in the client nation.
 - d. He controls history through the utilization of the wrath of man to praise Him, Psalm 76:10.
 - e. He controls history through the preservation of Israel against all anti-semitism functions both Satanic and sin nature conspiracy.
 - f. He controls history through the preservation of planet earth during the course of human history. He not only created the universe, Heb 1:10, but He holds the universe together by the word of His power, Heb 1:3. By the control of history, Jesus Christ provides freedom for the function of human volition.
 - g. He controls history through the second Advent, which terminates the last and greatest world war of history.

N. The Principles of Hope for a Client Nation.

1. You cannot buy hope. Hope is not for sale.
2. You cannot legislate hope; for hope is the monopoly of God and demands relationship with God.
3. Therefore, government cannot give you hope; for hope is a confident relationship with God.
4. Hence, hope is for Gentile client nations to God of the Church Age and that hope always depends on believers executing the unique spiritual life which has impact on the nation through blessing by association.
5. As goes the spiritual life of the believer so goes the blessing of God for the client nation.
6. In recognition of the doctrine, "as goes the believer, so goes the client nation," hope becomes a technical monopoly of the royal priesthood.
7. Only those believers who execute the unique spiritual life of the dispensation of the Church constitute both blessing and deliverance to the client nation to God in any given generation.
8. Therefore, hope in the client nation is related to the pivot of mature believers who execute the spiritual life of the Church to become a vehicle of blessing by association.
9. Heb 13:20-21; 2 Cor 13:14; Eph 3:20-21.

Spiritual Dynamics 907 8/25/96; Special: Higher Purpose of Freedom 2-10, 7/16/95; Romans 3/20/77; David 6/30/77

In the set of points above, Bob went to point D and pretty much completed it. The doctrine above does not match exactly what is found in Romans, but the points are reasonably similar.

Some of the points above were appended; some of the information given by Bob in lesson #61 is also found under the Doctrine of Heathenism.

With misconceptions we return to the notes below:

1977 Romans

Lesson #61

61 03/20/1977 Romans 2:19 (Summary) Doctrine of the Priest (Client) Nation (pts. 6–11)

It is sometimes nice to get the big picture in a detail oriented book like Romans. One problem is vv. 17–23 is a single sentence. Vv. 17–19 (misconception of the law, ...law, misplaced confidence in self). Then five questions in vv. 21–23.

The misconceptions of the Jews include legalism, distortion of the Mosaic Law, misplaced confidence in oneself.

The review and continuation of the priest nation will be covered above.

Concluding Points:

1. The reversionistic Jews has misplaced confidence in himself. He is arrogant, maladjusted to the justice of God.
2. The reversionistic Jew, blinded by evil, assumed correctly that he belonged to a client nation to God. This assumption is correct. In A.D. 58, this assumption was correct. But, being blinded by self-righteousness, they assumed that they were a priest nation but they presumed erroneously that Jewish responsibility was to make gentile nations self righteous. They were taking their self-righteousness from the norms of the Mosaic Law and from the Talmud and the opinions of maxims of previous rabbis.
3. Because such a person misinterprets doctrine, they also misinterpret history.
4. The role of the priest nation against other nations is that of evangelism. The indigenous policy of spiritual maturity missionaries and a haven for the Jews.
5. The mature believers adjustment to the justice of God fulfills the principle of the priest nation.
6. The maladjustments of the reversionist distorts the truth. This is how believers become the enemies of the cross.
7. Self righteous reversionism distorts and distracts from the God-given mission of the client nation.
8. Self-righteousness has no light for darkness, for the self righteous reversionist adds darkness to darkness.
9. Self-righteousness is not a guide for the blind; self-righteousness is the blind leading the blind. Both fall into the ditch.
10. Reversionism in the believer or the unbeliever is the same. You cannot tell the difference between the two. They look and acts like unbelievers all the way.
11. Therefore when believers enter reversionism into large numbers, this is technically what apostasy is. A large collection of reversionistic believers. As a result, arrogance self-righteousness prevails as a part of that evil and the nation is ruined as a client nation.

Romans 2:19 ...and you are persuaded that you yourself are a guide of the blind, a light to those in darkness,...

Romans 2:19 Moreover, you yourself are confident that you are a guide to the blind ones, a light with reference to those in darkness.

This is the presumption of the reversionistic believer in a client nation.

This is a distortion of the true doctrine of Israel as a priest nation. This distortion takes the maladjusted Jew and gives him a role totally incompatible with his reversionism and legalism. The evil Jew in his arrogant self-righteous reversionism is not a part of that priest nation. In fact, he is destroying his own nation. This arrogance and self-righteousness of the scribes and the Pharisees, the legalists, finally destroyed it twelve years after Paul wrote this verse to the Romans.

The notes below are preexisting, but are not really complete notes for this lesson.

Priest Nation

A priest nation is a national entity under the principle of divine institution #4 responsible for the custodianship of Bible doctrine. Before Israel such custodianship involved divine revelation apart from scripture. Since Israel has become a nation it is involved in authorship, custodianship, and dissemination of the written Word. Additional custodianship was assigned to Israel in the formation of the New Testament, since all except two of the writers of the New Testament were Jews. During the time of the formation of the New Testament the priest nation changed from Judah to the Roman empire. A client nation is a synonym for a priest nation, but there is one slight difference. In the beginning the priest nation of Israel had a specialized priesthood functioning in the nation—the Levitical priesthood. But many of the nations thereafter did not have a specialized priesthood and consequently the client nation is used as a synonym. However, God had always had and always will have in history a priest or a client nation. So client nation is a synonym for priest nation emphasizing logistical grace through Gentile nations. A client nation to God is a nation under divine protection because it has a large pivot of mature believers.^[7]

1977 Romans

Lesson #62

62 03/21/1977 Romans 2:20–21a Rafferty on children's literature; debater's technique; self-righteous teachers' delusion

When Bob lived in Beverly Hills and he enjoyed walking to the library to read and study. Books seemed to be very important to life. Also the Marion Hunter library which was a private library. Books were always a part of Bob's life. Bob noticed Max Rafferty also traveling to the library and Bob considers him the greatest educationalist today. Suffer the Little Children. The great wheel of history has turned ponderously a full circle since... He talks about the many great children's books, including Huck Finn, Robin Hood, etc. It remained for our own generation to turn our backs on these great heroes. Even the nursery rhymes have been denounced as reactionary and sordid. These have been replaced with Dick and Jane or Tom and Susan's trip to the library. Modern education has deliberately debunked the hero for the jerk. Today, after 2000 years, we worship Molech. Molech is fashioned in the image of ourselves. Vapid dithering of a life not interesting to anyone. The golden words are gone and in their place are brain-numbing stories of the post office. We have no more need of Websters and Nathan Hales. We are teaching trivia. They dream, they live, they glow; this is teaching. Shall we continue to shovel our children into the maw of Molech.

The misconceptions in vv. 17–19. Misconception of legalism, distortion of the Law, misplaced confidence in self. The fourth misconception, the arrogant emphasis on superficialities.

Romans 2:20 ...an instructor of the foolish, a teacher of infants, having in the Law the embodiment of knowledge and of the truth—...

Verse 20 – the arrogant emphasis on superficiality, or a teacher’s delusion. “An instructor of the foolish” – an accusative singular from paideutês (παιδευτής) [pronounced pahee-dyoo-TAYCE]. This is a part of the accusative of general reference and therefore paideutês (παιδευτής) [pronounced pahee-dyoo-TAYCE] is the subject of an infinitive. Paideutês (παιδευτής) [pronounced pahee-dyoo-TAYCE] means training, instruction through discipline, hence a disciplinarian or a drill master. So we can call this an instructor, with overtones of discipline. Plus the present active infinitive of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME], used as a part of the accusative of general reference.

Then the objective genitive of áphrôn (ἄφρων) [pronounced AF-rohn]—“foolish.” Translation: “An instructor of the foolish [or, ignorant] you are.”

Gentiles without the Mosaic law were regarded by the self-righteous Jew as ignorant and foolish. The self-righteous unbelieving Jew was arrogant. He had a knowledge of the law which he distorted. And not only did he distort it in relationship to his own life but he turned right around and tried to teach these distortions to the Gentiles. The Jew looked down on the gentiles that they were teaching. They were filled with self-righteousness.

“a teacher of babes” – the accusative of general reference, didaskalos (διδάσκαλος) [pronounced did-AS-kal-oss] is the word for “teacher.” Self-righteousness can only make converts for self-righteousness. A self-righteous person always superimposes on everyone around him his self-righteousness. When Bob was in seminary, 95% of the people there were self righteous, arrogant, and they could not understand the Scriptures because they were subjective in their approach to the Scriptures. They would ignore and not teach or distort things in the Bible that they do not like. None of us are perfect, and we must be flexible when it comes to learning the Word of God. Even when a pastor discovers that he is wrong about something, he will not go back and teach the correct approach. He must be totally relaxed and free from self-righteousness. Fundamentalist circles are filled with self righteous people. Some have crusades. When Bob started out, there was a lot of lambasting against the Catholics and what is wrong with the Mormons or the Christian Science types. But the best approach is to teach the truth, and the congregation will be able to figure it out from there.

Plus the objective genitive plural from nêpios (νήπιος) [pronounced NAY-pee-os], meaning a minor, immature one.

“which hast” – present active participle from echô (ἔχω) [pronounced EHKH-oh], translated simply “having.” This is a descriptive present for the status of the Judaizers who followed Paul. The active voice: arrogant self-righteous Jews produce the action of the verb. The participle is circumstantial.

“the form of knowledge” – accusative singular direct object from mórphōsis (μόρφωσις) [pronounced MOR-fo-sis] which means an outward form or appearance, an embodiment, formulation, or any connotation of forming or shaping. Obviously it deals with the superficial and that is what it connotes here. This is a verbal noun which denotes the activity of shaping, or the result of this activity. In other words, what is fashioned, what is formed. It always has an external connotation and therefore is translated “perceptible form” [outline without substance], or “superficial.”

“of knowledge” – descriptive genitive singular from gnōsis (γνώσις) [pronounced GNOH-sis], meaning knowledge. The self-righteous legalist is using the Mosaic law, or distorting the Mosaic law, to promote and sponsor his legalism. Therefore he has gnōsis (γνώσις) [pronounced GNOH-sis] of the law but he does not have epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] of the law. If he was a believer he would be utilizing the law correctly and establishing a relationship with the integrity of God. But instead, as an unbeliever learning the law by rote he is using it as a system of self-righteous works, the very antithesis of grace and the very antithesis for the existence of the law. In other words, he understands the law only in a human frame of reference, he does not understand the doctrinal implications of the law in its relationship to the Lord Jesus Christ and adjustment to the justice of God at salvation.

“and of the truth in the law” – a connective kai, plus the descriptive genitive singular from alētheia (ἀλήθεια, ας, ῆ) [pronounced ahl-Ā-thi-ah] which means truth or doctrine. There is also the definite article in the genitive singular case indicating something which is well known to the reader, namely doctrine, and the prepositional phrase en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] – “and the doctrine in the law.”

Romans 2:20 An instructor of the ignorant, a teacher of immature ones, having a superficial form of knowledge and the doctrine in the law. [This is what the arrogant Jewish teacher believes.]

Summary

1. This is the arrogant self-righteous teacher’s delusion, the arrogant emphasis on superficialities.
2. The primary purpose of the Mosaic law is condemnation, but the legalistic Jewish teacher in his arrogance turns it around into commendation.
3. The Mosaic law reveals how to adjust to the justice of God, but the legalistic self-righteous Jew rejects epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel, distorting its contents into a system of arrogance and self-righteousness—therefore distorting something wonderful into a system of evil. It is possible to have something which is good and accurate and distort it.
4. The Judaizers and the Pharisees, the unbeliever scribes of Israel, used didactic impressions rather than doctrinal interpretation which would relate to the grace of God and the integrity of God.
5. Didactic impression in the sense, then, of fitting into a teaching system of legalism, grace principles but converting them into anti-grace principles.
6. From Jewish legalism, superficial form of knowledge of the law, came the rabbinical traditions—the Talmud, etc.—where superficialities have varied the true doctrinal content of the law.
7. Here, then, is the arrogance, the corruption, the distortion, the evil of the Judaizers.

The Judaizers went into many places like Galatia and taught false doctrine and distortions.

Verses 21-23, the five questions of the apodosis.

Principles to Connect the Protasis and the Apodosis

1. The conditional sentence begun in verse 17 with an extensive protasis (vv. 17–20) now concludes with the apodosis.
2. The protasis (vv. 21–23) of the first class condition (in the Greek) presents supposition from the viewpoint of reality.
3. The reality is the arrogance, self-righteousness and legalism which Judaism has extracted from the Mosaic law.
4. Certain questions based on the protasis are now presented in the apodosis where we have interrogation based on the reality supposition of the protasis.
5. The self-righteous Jew is religious. He is guilty of teaching the law as a system of salvation by works.
6. But the self-righteous Jew is inconsistent with his own system. He himself cannot keep the law.
7. Like all arrogant and self-righteous people the Jew emphasizes what he can do while minimizing what he fails to do.

This apodosis is the most difficult in the Word of God because it has 5 questions and it is an anacoluthon, which interrupts the conditional sentence. We should be drawing conclusions, but we have questions instead.

Romans 2:21 ...then you teaching another, do you do not teach yourself? You preaching not to steal, do you steal?

Verse 21—“Thou therefore which teachest another.” The nominative masculine singular prepositive definite article, ho. All of this begins an anacoluthon. It is very rare to begin a sentence with a prepositive definite article. Paul suddenly breaks of the long sentence he began in verse 17 and starts over with these five questions, so we have the anacoluthon in a conditional sentence, a dramatic and unusual formation. The inferential particle οὐν [pronounced oon] introduces an inference from the protasis. Always, when you have a protasis in a conditional clause in the Greek the apodosis draws inference from the protasis. But you can't draw inference from the protasis if you have an anacoluthon, the anacoluthon makes a syntactical break. So to show that there is still an inference being drawn by these questions, rather than by indicative sentences, there is the insertion of an inferential particle. We get our inference anyway. Paul was great at debating. He learned to debate at the Rabbinical schools.

“My, my, what have we here? Notice that hand connected to your wrist. Squeeze some of those cookies, knowing that what you take your hand out of the cookie jar, you are going to get clobbered.

Paul walks in, uh huh, what are you doing? Teaching the law. You teach this, so do you teach that?

The word “teachest” is the present active participle of didaskô (διδάσκω) [pronounced did-AS-koh], it means to teach or instruct. This is a historical present, it views a past event with the vividness of a present occurrence. It is also a progressive present denoting a state of persistence. They persisted in teaching the law in a form of distortion. The active voice: the self-righteous and legalistic Jew produced the action of the verb. This is a temporal participle, translated “when you teach.” Then the accusative singular direct object from héteros (ἕτερος) [pronounced HEH-ter-os], meaning another of a different category, referring generally to Gentiles. “You, therefore, when you teach another, do you teach yourself?” This is a format question.

You teach the Mosaic Law as if it is a way to commend your self-righteousness; but the Mosaic Law is designed to condemn you.

How can you teach what you don't know? This is how Paul approaches them. We have here the accusative singular direct object from the reflexive pronoun seautou (σεαυτοῦ, ἑς) [pronounced seh-ow-TOO], “yourself.”

This is the present active indicative of didaskô (διδάσκω) [pronounced did-AS-koh]. The present tense is a customary present for what may be reasonably expected to occur. The active voice: the self-righteous person or legalistic Jew is not interpreting the law correctly himself. The indicative mood is the interrogative indicative used for reality in a question. Plus the negative, and it should be translated, “do you not teach yourself?”

If you do not understand what you are teaching, how can you teach it accurately to someone else?

Principles

1. This is the format question for the next three.
2. The self-righteous Jew emphasizing stealing, fornication and idolatry almost to the exclusion of the other commandments dealing with hamartiology.
3. Therefore a format question creates a mold for the three things emphasized by Judaism.
4. The emphasis in this context will be on the inconsistency of self-righteousness. The Judaizer is teaching the Law as a system of salvation; but he himself is not keeping the Law.

Bob reads an article from the Army Times and it is about how the Soviet Union was ahead of us in missile defense and civil defense. Soviets placed their weapons deep underground, so that they would be protected if we countered attacked them. Their country is placed underground in preparation for an attack. There are underground installations in the thousands. Every soviet worker has underground bunkers a few feet from his work. Keegan says we are 20 years behind the Russians. They now has the most effective air force; and they have shown that they can jam our satellites so that we cannot keep up with them.

At every turn we have done what is stupid. Our survival depends upon our attitude toward Bible doctrine. It is our adjustment to the justice of God which will make the difference. The justice of God rejects the sin nature which produces good and evil.

Holiness is an obsolete word; and replaced with the word integrity. Love without integrity in human beings is worthless; therefore, God's integrity must be key. The arrogance of people today is full blown. People walk into Bob's office to tell him how they don't agree with him or not; or they come into his office and ask to be taught the whole realm of doctrine in a few hours.

What the man on the street thinks is of no consequence. Public opinion is imbecility. What does the born again believer think.

When Bob thinks of the rah-rah organizations he used to hook up with, he is embarrassed. The taught staff for Campus Crusade; he has taught Christian Varsity Fellowship.

Refraining from stealing, idolatry and fornicating were the three things that those in Judaism believed. They are teaching salvation by not doing these things; but, point in fact, they actually do steal; they do commit idolatry; and they fornicate.

Who among us has never been self righteous? None of us can be excluded from this.

Romans 2:21 ...then you teaching another, do you do not teach yourself? You preaching not to steal, do you steal?

Now the second question: "thou that preaches a man should not steal" – you can't teach the Mosaic law without cracking down on stealing. First we have the articular present active infinitive from the verb kêrussô (κηρύσσω) [pronounced kay-ROOS-so]. It doesn't mean to preach in the sense of just shouting or a public proclamation, it means a proclamation that communicates a message. The word "preach" simply means that you are speaking to more than one person, and therefore you have to raise your voice in order to be heard by more than one person. In other words, you are not having a conversation, a dialogue, you are speaking to a group of people. Kêrussô (κηρύσσω) [pronounced kay-ROOS-so] means one person speaking and everyone else listening.

In ancient Greece this was used of a person called a kêrux (κῆρυξ) [pronounced KAY-roox] who was the herald of the king.

There is a definite article here which is used as a personal pronoun following an anacoluthon. It has to be used with the present active infinitive to indicate that it hooks up to the anacoluthon, the very dramatic change in syntax—not a change in thought but a grammatical structural change to show the drama of the occasion. The present tense is a retroactive progressive present, denoting what began in the past with Judaism and continues as legalism into the present. The active voice: the Judaizers as the legalists produce the action of the verb. There is nothing wrong with teaching against stealing but they have taken a self-righteous attitude about not stealing and distorted it into a way of salvation.

The welfare state steals from those who work and gives to those who do not.

The infinitive with the negative mê (μή) [pronounced may] is the imperative infinitive, and therefore it is translated “you who proclaim in a loud voice, Thou shalt not steal.” The self-righteous Judaizer quotes the eighth commandment which deals with something which is a violation of human freedom as well as a sin, but he is teaching it wrong. He not only quotes it but he adds his own interpretation. He says that if you steal you are going to hell. You don’t go to hell because you steal and you don’t go to heaven because you don’t steal.

We do not go to hell for stealing; and heaven because you do not steal. The issue is John 3:36. Cf. Matthew 15. The religious types stole from their parents.

Matthew 15:1 Then Pharisees and scribes came to Jesus from Jerusalem and said,...

Matthew 15:2 ...“Why do your disciples break the tradition of the elders? For they do not wash their hands when they eat.”

Verse 2, “the tradition” is the oral law handed down in ex-cathedra fashion and later codified in the Mishna. While the Old Testament did not command the washing of hand before meals it was a good idea because it was sanitary. But the rabbis took something which was good and sanitary—washing hands before meals—and made it a sign of spirituality. Therefore they distorted it. Good sanitation does not mean salvation.

Matthew 15:3 He answered them, “And why do you break the commandment of God for the sake of your tradition?”

Verse 3 – “ ... Why do you also transgress the commandment of God for the sake of your tradition?” Religion substitutes religion/tradition for doctrine. It distorts doctrine into a false system of legalism, self-righteousness and hypocrisy.

Matthew 15:4 For God commanded, ‘Honor your father and your mother,’ and, ‘Whoever reviles father or mother must surely die.’

Verse 4 – “For God commanded [Ex. 20:12; Deuteronomy 5:16], saying, Honor your father and mother: furthermore, he who speaks evil of his father or mother, let him be put to death.” (Rejection of one of the most basic authorities in life) Honor your Father and Mother is a part of the Ten Commandments.

Matthew 15:5 But you say, ‘If anyone tells his father or his mother, “What you would have gained from me is given to God,”...

Verse 5 – “But you say, Whoever shall say to his father or to his mother, Corban, [a gift or sacrifice brought to the altar and dedicated to God].” The Levitical sacrifices were called in Lev.1-6, Corban. In the days of the Pharisees when Jesus was speaking to them, they changed it up a little. The religious self-righteous Jew distorted the word by lifting it from its biblical context and expanding it to include, gifts, offerings, money into the temple. He would bring it to the priest—money instead of an animal sacrifice—and he would say, “Corban,” i.e. a gift dedicated to God. But some of the Jews had a different system, and by our Lord’s day this had been accepted and was operational for 100 years. What could be done was to dedicate (in order to avoid taxes and other things) your entire estate. You could go to the priest with a piece of paper which said, “I dedicate my estate to God.” Corban! You could keep on using your money as before but if your parents came to you and said they were broke, starving, and could you help us, he could say no because my estate is Corban. This happened quite frequently, and so there was a hypocrisy. While the fifth commandment required children to help their destitute parents, reversionistic children refused. The Corban justified the non-support of destitute parents. This is stealing. The 5th commandment indicates that the child should help his parents, they put their money under corban, and could be justified in not giving them money. The Corban gimmick illustrates how religious self-righteousness places tradition above doctrine.

Matthew 15:6 ...he need not honor his father.’ So for the sake of your tradition you have made void the word of God.

Verse 6 – Jesus comments that this is not honoring his father or his mother, and so you [the Pharisees] invalidate the law for the sake of your tradition.

Matthew 15:7 You hypocrites! Well did Isaiah prophesy of you, when he said:...

Verse 7 – Then Jesus adds: “You hypocrites” ... etc., verses 8, 9. So this explains the impact of the second question in Romans 2.

Matthew 15:8 “This people honors me with their lips, but their heart is far from me;...

Matthew 15:9 ...in vain do they worship me, teaching as doctrines the commandments of men.”

Romans 2:21—the Corban gimmick was stealing. It was used to avoid financial obligations of all kinds.

Romans 2:21 You therefore, when you teach another, do you teach yourself? you who proclaim in a loud voice, Thou should not steal, do you steal?

64 03/23/1977 Romans 2:22–24; John 8:3–11 Idol temple banks; guilt of self-righteous Judaizers; negative reaction of Gentiles

Romans 2:22 You saying not to commit adultery, do you commit adultery? You abhorring idols, do you rob temples?

Verse 22 – the third question. “Thou that sayest” is the articular present active participle from the verb légō (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh], a very common verb for communication of thought meaning to say, to speak, etc. This is a nominative masculine singular prepositive definite article which goes with the participle, and it is still a part and a continuation of the anacoluthon. The present tense is retroactive progressive present denoting something which has happened in the past and continues into the present time. They keep on communicating this in order to build up their own self-righteousness. The active voice: the self-righteous legalistic Jew produces the action of the verb, i.e. he constantly builds up his own self-righteousness through teaching, yet he is guilty of the same things. The participle is circumstantial. They have to be blind in order to do this, and this is exactly what they do.

“a man should not commit adultery” – the negative mê (μή) [pronounced may] plus the present active infinitive of moicheuō (μοιχεύω) [pronounced moy-KHYOO-oh], which means to fornicate. The present tense is an aoristic present for punctiliar action in present time. The active voice: students of Judaism are prohibited from producing the action of the verb, and they so teach it but they do it, and therefore they fail to see the real purpose of the law. The purpose of the law is not to commend someone’s self-righteousness because they teach some portion of it, but to condemn everyone’s unrighteousness and/or sinfulness. The purpose of the law is to demonstrate that all of us are sinners, not to prove that anyone is self-righteous or has any right to any category of righteousness, except that which is given by God from His integrity—His absolute in righteousness. This is an imperative infinitive with the negative, and it should be translated “thou shalt not fornicate,” a reference to the seventh commandment found in the Decalogue—Ex. 20:14.

“dost thou commit adultery” – present active indicative of the same verb, moicheuō (μοιχεύω) [pronounced moy-KHYOO-oh], this time again the aoristic present tense for punctiliar action in present time. The active voice: the self-righteous instructor in Judaism is now charged with the fact that the Mosaic law, the part in question, is not to build up self-righteousness but to condemn everyone in the human race. The indicative mood is the interrogative indicative used to ask a question related to reality.

The answer to this question is that, yes, everyone is guilty before the law. The very ones who are very pious about their lack of fornication nevertheless have fornicated, says the Word of God. Jesus Himself is quoted dealing with this subject. The Judaizers were all guilty of mental adultery. Cf. Matthew 5:27–28 (“You have heard that it was said, ‘You shall not commit adultery.’ But I say to you that everyone who looks at a woman with lustful intent has already committed adultery with her in his heart.”).

To illustrate their condemnation: John 8:3-11.

John 8:3 The scribes and the Pharisees brought a woman who had been caught in adultery, and placing her in the midst...

John 8:4 ...they said to him, "Teacher, this woman has been caught in the very act of adultery.

They used this part of the Law to commend themselves; where it condemns them.

All self righteous people are very vindictive; and they will go out of their way to harm you.

John 8:5 Now in the Law, Moses commanded us to stone such women. So what do You say?"

Jesus is the God of Israel.

John 8:6 This they said to test Him, that they might have some charge to bring against Him. Jesus bent down and wrote with His finger on the ground.

Bob suggests that Jesus wrote the Ten Commandments on the ground. The same finger which engraved the Ten Commandments originally in Exodus 31:18 and he does so again.

Sin is always sin; and there is no denial that this woman is sinful.

John 8:7 And as they continued to ask Him, He stood up and said to them, "Let him who is without sin among you be the first to throw a stone at her."

The only person who could stone this woman is Jesus. He is the only sinless person there. Everyone else there was guilty of violating the law there as well.

Note: "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her." This drew attention to the fact that all are guilty under the law.

John 8:8 And once more he bent down and wrote on the ground.

When a document was agreed to, the parties to the contract ate salt. So, Bob has decided that Jesus wrote down, grace and salt.

John 8:9 But when they heard it, they went away one by one, beginning with the older ones, and Jesus was left alone with the woman standing before Him.

Now they are listening to Jesus. As unbelievers, they did not understand the purpose of the Law. The Law was the instrument of defining their sins.

The men left one after another, beginning with the elders.

John 8:10 Jesus stood up and said to her, “Woman, where are they? Has no one condemned you?”

John 8:11 She said, “No one, Lord.” And Jesus said, “Neither do I condemn you; go, and from now on sin no more.”]]

Also: “Neither do I condemn you.” She was a believer; she called Him Lord [Kurios (κύριος) [pronounced KOO-ree-oss]]. While they were walking the aisles, she was believing in Jesus.

When she believed in the Lord all of her sins as an unbeliever were blotted out—Isaiah 43:25; 44:22 (I, even I, am the One Who blots out your sins and I will not remember them). The woman had just believed in Christ, her sins were blotted out. Then Jesus adds one more thing. Literally from the Greek: “Depart and no longer sin.” This is the problem part of the passage, it does not imply, as appears on the surface, sinless perfection.

Principle

1. “Depart and no longer sin” does not imply sinless perfection or even that she would never again sin. It does imply that she is motivated by grace rather than by lust.
2. Here is where we get a great issue. Grace is the greatest restrainer of sin. Furthermore, from now on when she does sin, as inevitably she will, she has available the rebound technique.
3. This also means that the restraint of condemnation on this occasion does not imply the restraint of divine justice toward sin. Divine justice judged this sin on the cross, several years later, as with all sin.
4. This is also a warning from Jesus not to repeat this sin of adultery which under the Jewish law is a criminal action. It is a warning that next time she will die for it. In other words, He is telling her not to become involved in criminal action. The repetition of criminal action would result in punitive action from the state, which would be legitimate in this case, and state action is capital punishment.

The fourth question: “thou that abhorrest idols” – articular present middle participle from bdelussō (βδελύσσω) [pronounced bdel-OOS-so] which means to excite disgust, to be disgusted by a loathsome odour. It finally came to mean to detest or to abhor anything, not just a loathsome odour. The present tense is a progressive present for a state of persistence. Onomatopoeic word to indicate closing off one’s nose to the odor. The indirect middle emphasizes the agent as producing the action. The agent is, again, the self-righteous Jew. The participle is circumstantial. With it is the accusative plural direct object from eídōlon (εἰδῶλον) [pronounced ī-doe-lon], from which we get our English word “idol.” Translation: “you who persistently despise idols.”

“dost thou commit sacrilege?” – present active indicative from hierosuléō (ἱεροσυλέω) [pronounced hee-er-os-ool-EH-oh] which means to rob an idol temple. The present tense is an aoristic present for punctiliar action. The active voice: self-righteous Jews use as an excuse to steal from heathen banks the fact that they were guarded by an idol. Heathen temples were also banks. These Jews were not above walking into an idol temple in order to steal. They were distorting the second commandment and using it as an excuse for stealing. Cf. Acts 19:37.

Romans 2:22 You who say, Thou shalt not fornicate, do you fornicate? You who despise idols, do you rob idol temples?

They were not above walking into an idol temple in order to steal from that Temple. This was the excuse. Acts 19:37 documents the distortion of the 2nd commandment. They used their supposed adherence to the 2nd commandment to justify breaking the 8th commandment.

Here is the inconsistency of self-righteousness. In keeping the second commandment they were violating the eighth commandment, “Thou shalt not steal.” Each of these questions is designed in such a way as to bring out something very special. Note that they wouldn’t think of stealing but they used religion to steal—the Corban gimmick. Then they went to the problem of fornication. It was used for the simple reason that they did not overtly commit fornication, but they all did it mentally. This emphasized that their mind is where they are distorting these things. It then goes right back to stealing again by picking up idolatry, which they avoided in their self-righteousness, except that they would steal from an idol temple. This is rationalization all the way.

Principle: Self-righteous people fantasize or rationalize, depending on how smart they are. They always come up with an image of their own perfection, their own sinlessness, their own greatness. They assume that they are great in the eyes of God. The rationalization of legalism is incompatible with divine integrity, especially divine justice; inconsistent with the fulfilment of righteousness. Note: The worst believers in the world are always self-righteous, and self-righteous believers leads to apostasy and apostasy leads to the destruction of the nation.

This anticipates the 5th question dealing with the fact that legalism is dishonoring to God and totally incompatible with God’s grace.

Romans 2:23 You who boast in Law, do you dishonor God through the transgression of the Law?

Verse 23, question #5. Obviously they had been boasting in the law. “Thou that makest thy boast of the law”— following the anacoluthon the second person singular pronoun is inserted here as “you.” This pronoun is derived from the person and the number of the verb plus the nominative singular of the relative pronoun hos (ὃς) [pronounced hohç], translated “who”—“You who.” Then the present active indicative of kauchaomai (καυχᾶμαι) [pronounced kow-KHAH-om-ahee] which means to boast. It is a deponent verb. The present tense is a customary present for what habitually occurs with arrogant, self-righteous, legalistic people—believer or unbeliever. Here we are dealing specifically with the Judaizers who have misinterpreted the law and, as a matter of fact, he is using the law to promote himself. What is the purpose of the law? First of all to demote the entire human race, not to promote. But they are using it to promote themselves when it's purpose is to demote everyone. We are all demoted; we have all sinned and come short of the glory of God. The indicative mood represents the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality, hence it is a declarative indicative. They are boasting in the law. With this is the prepositional phrase en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss]—"in the law." "You who keep boasting in the law." By interpretation this is the legalistic Jew who uses the law as the means of salvation, as per the book of Galatians. They contend that they are adjusted to the justice of God because they have kept the law perfectly. They produce at the same time a human good which they assume that will compare favourably with divine righteousness. Their presumption is blasphemous, an attack upon the integrity of God.

"through breaking the law dishonorest thou God? – the preposition dia plus the genitive of parabasis (παράβασις) [pronounced par-AB-as-is] which means "transgression" or "violation." Then the objective genitive of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss]—"through violation of the law do you dishonor the God." We have the present active indicative of atimázō (ἀτιμάζω) [pronounced at-ihm-AHD-zoh], meaning to dishonor. The present tense is a customary present for what habitually occurs when the Jews try to be saved by keeping the law. The active voice: the legalistic, self-righteous Jewish unbeliever produces the action of the verb. This is an interrogative indicative for the question. Also, the accusative singular direct object of the proper noun theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] for "God", with the definite article because this is someone familiar to them.

Romans 2:23 You who keep boasting in the law, through violation of the law do you dishonor the God?

Principles from Romans 2:23

1. The legalistic Jewish unbeliever has not only dishonored the integrity of God by his maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation but at the same time he has added insult to his maladjustment by blaspheming, by violating or transgressing the very law he uses as an instrument of salvation.
2. Legalistic reversionism rejects salvation by faith in Christ and substitutes salvation by keeping the law—salvation by works.
3. But the self-righteous Jewish unbeliever fails through his human good as well as through his sins to measure up to the very standard he has selected for his salvation. He selects a standard he can't keep, a standard designed to kill him, to condemn him. He is trying to have life through an instrument of death.
4. The pro-nomian perverter of the Mosaic law becomes the antinomian blasphemer of the law. In other words, hypocritical, self-righteous legalism contradicts good doctrine.
5. Pride in the letter of the law is not conformity to the spirit of the law.
6. Legalism, then, is a contradiction between principle and function.

Romans 2:24 As it has been written: “For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you.”

Verse 24— the reversionistic failure of a priest nation. “For the name of God” – the postpositive conjunctive particle gar, used to express a self-evident conclusion, should be translated in an inferential manner, “Consequently.” Plus the nominative singular subject from onoma (ὄνομα, ατος, τό) [pronounced OHN-oh-ma], which means name, title, category, person, reputation, fame. Here it means “reputation.” Then a possessive genitive singular from theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—“Consequently the reputation of God.” There is also a genitive singular definite article modifying the word “God” and used to indicate someone well known to the readers. This is a reference to the holiness of God, His integrity.

“is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you” –this actually begins with the words “through you,” di’ humas (ὕμας) [pronounced hoo-MOSS] blasfemeitai en (ἐν) [pronounced en] tois (τοῖς) [pronounced toiς] *e*qnesin. So it starts out literally, “because of you”—because of the priest nation of Judea. In this clause the prepositional phrase is first for emphasize, dia plus the accusative plural from the personal pronoun su, “all of you.” The pronoun refers to the Jews, self-righteous, arrogant, legalistic, maladjusted to the justice of God at salvation.

“Consequently the reputation of the God because of you is blasphemed,” present passive indicative of blasphêmeō (βλασφημέω) [pronounced blahs-fay-MEH-oh], which means to slander when used of people, to blaspheme when used of God. That is the way it is translated, it can also mean “maligned.” This is a progressive present tense, it denotes the action of the verb in a state of persistence—linear aktionsart. The passive voice: the integrity or reputation of God receives the action of the verb—slander, maligning, blasphemy from Gentiles. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of historical reality. Gentiles were blaspheming the name of God because of the obvious self-righteous hypocrisy and legalism of the Jews at that time.

Then the preposition phrase, en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative plural of ethnos (ἔθνος, ους, τό) [pronounced EHTH-noss], used for the Gentiles; it also means “nations” – “among the Gentiles.” As individuals, as nations, the Jew as a member of a priest nation was responsible for presenting the gospel to the Gentiles. He was responsible for communicating doctrine and the preservation of the Word. Instead of fulfilling these things as a part of the priest nation he was simply using the Word of God, twisting it and distorting it into a system of salvation by works.

There is an additional phrase which belongs to this verse and indicates that this verse is quoting Isaiah 52:5—“as it stands written.”

Romans 2:24 Consequently the reputation of the God is slandered among the Gentiles because of you, just as it stands written:...

Principle

1. As a priest nation Judea in the time of Paul was responsible for the custodianship of the written Word of God, both its composition and its preservation, as well as its communication.
2. In addition the priest nation of Judea was responsible for evangelization, the inculcation of Bible doctrine, and providing a haven for the Jew during periods of anti-Semitism.
3. Self-righteous reversionism and legalism of the Judaizers resulted in the distortion of doctrine, therefore the distortion of the integrity of God. Note: If you distort the Word of God you automatically distort the integrity of God.
4. This distortion was detected by the common sense and discernment of the Gentiles who could penetrate the self-righteous facade of Judaism and consequently blame God for it.
5. The blasphemy of the Gentiles resulted from self-righteous legalism from among religious Jews.
6. Instead of attributing such hypocrisy to the failure of the Jews who were maladjusted to the justice of God at salvation the Gentiles maligned and slandered God by ascribing to Him the legalistic evil of the Jews. God did not sponsor this legalism; but He was blamed for it because the Jews practices this legalism.
7. The failure of the Jews resulted in the administration of the 5th cycle of discipline to Judea, twelve years after Paul wrote this epistle. The function of the priest nation of Judea passed to her conquerors, the Romans. Imperial Rome became God's client nation.

“as it stands written” is really a part of the next verse. It includes the adverb kathôs (καθώς) [pronounced kahth-OCE], indicating a quotation. Then the perfect passive indicative from the verb graphô (γράφω) [pronounced GRAWF-oh]. The perfect tense is a dramatic perfect, the rhetorical use of the intensive perfect indicating something completed, and the results continue. The passive voice: the passage quoted from the Old Testament scripture receives the action of the verb, it is permanently a part of the Word of God and therefore an expression of the integrity of God. The indicative mood is declarative for the reality of the canon of the Old Testament scripture.

Romans 2:24 Consequently the reputation of the God is slandered among the Gentiles because of you, just as it stands written:...

In verses 25-27 we have the fallacy of ritual without reality. The function of Judea as the priest nation plus the previous function of the united Israel [Ephraim and Judah] raises a series of questions regarding circumcision and true Israel. Therefore two major questions are raised for the rest of this chapter. First question: What is the significance of ritual circumcision? This is answered in vv. 25–27. Ritual without reality is non-relationship with God; it is not related to God. There must be doctrine which is integral to the practice. Second question: What is a true Jew and what is a false Jew? This is a question answered in verses 28 and 29. The answer compares the outward circumcision of the flesh and the inward circumcision of the heart.

There are two kinds of Jews to consider. The Jew with the genes of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob; and the Jew who depends upon the Law for his righteousness. To be a true Jew, the person must have the genes of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob; and have accurate doctrine in their souls.

1977 Romans

Lesson #65

65 03/24/1977 Romans 2:25a Doctrine of the Priest Nation (review); Jewish race

Review of love1 and love2; and the adjustments to the justice of God.

An Apprenticeship Deed from 1942

1. The apprentice of his own free will...puts and binds himself to the master to learn the art, trade or business...to serve for a term of five years. This agreement states:
 - a. During the said term, the apprentice shall faithfully serve the master, his secrets kept and lawful demands obeyed.
 - b. The apprentice shall do no damage to the master's goods.
 - c. The apprentice shall not waste the goods of the master or lend them out unlawfully, nor do any act by which the master may sustain any loss.
 - d. The apprentice, without the consent of the master, may not buy nor sell on his behalf; nor absent himself from his master's service without leave.
 - e. The apprentice shall behave as a faithful apprentice in all things.
2. Requirements of the master:
 - a. The master will receive the apprentice during the said term and he will teach and instruct (or cause to be taught) the apprentice in all the branches of his trade, art or business.
 - b. There was a specific amount to be paid to the apprentice, which increased each year.

The apprentice learned something here; and he did not get married nor did he run around; because this was an intensive training period. Integrity was obvious then; but not so today.

We are studying the concept of the priest nation.

From New Zealand: tapes are called for on the Assyrian Crisis, because Russian ships are all over that place. They are looking to establish a base right there on one of the islands. After 4 years of a labor government, the defense forces are in a sorry state. The Russian threat is off into the future; but the Indonesian threat is closer. They are expanding. Most of the major denominations there have become charismatic or conciliatory towards it.

Bob reviews the Doctrine of the Priest Nation. Any additional notes from this study are placed there.

Romans 2:25 For circumcision profits if you do the Law; but if you are a transgressor of Law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision.

Verse 25 – the concept of a race is introduced. The beginning of the Jewish race deals with the subject of circumcision. “For circumcision verily profiteth” –

Abraham was circumcised, and he became the first member of the 4th race on the earth, the Jewish race.

The first word in the Greek text is the word peritomê (περιτομή) [pronounced per-it-om-AY], the word for circumcision, nominative singular subject. The absence of the definite article emphasizes the qualitative aspect of the noun. It is very important to realize that in the beginning circumcision was very meaningful. The first man circumcised was Abraham who had maximum doctrine resident in his soul. It was not so much the outward circumcision that was significant, it was the doctrine related to it. When you knock out the doctrine and still have the ritual then you lose the meaning. It is the doctrine that counts, not the ritual by itself. Abraham had a son, Ishmael, who was also circumcised, but Ishmael was minus doctrine and circumcision had no meaning except that it had obedience. God commanded that Ishmael be circumcised also. Obedience was involved here but there is no ritual meaning, except blessing by association. He was a trouble-maker all of his life but he had moments of great blessing, all of which were associated with his father. This is an example where members of a family are blessed because one member of that family breaks the maturity barrier.

Also with this word is the postpositive particle mén (μέν) [pronounced men]. It is an affirmative particle used correlatively here with the particle de, meaning on the one hand and on the other.

Plus the postpositive conjunctive particle gar, an inferential particle for a self-evident conclusion. The verb is the present active indicative of ôphelêô (ὠφελέω) [pronounced oh-feh-LEH-oh] which means to help, to aid, to benefit, or to be beneficial. “So on the one hand circumcision is beneficial.” The present tense is a customary present, it denotes what habitually occurs when there is maximum doctrine resident in the soul or where maturity adjustment to the justice of God exists. Obviously circumcision was beneficial to any Jew who had the same amount of doctrine in his soul that Abraham had when he was circumcised. The problem with the Jew is that God’s command was to be circumcised on the eighth day, when a child obviously has no doctrine, so his circumcision was a reminder to him where he was going with regard to the integrity of God. The integrity of God was the principle and that he must adjust to the integrity of God—salvation adjustment and maturity adjustment. Even though the Jew has the genes of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob in his body, he must have the doctrine of Abraham in his soul. The customary present denotes what habitually occurs when there is maximum doctrine in the soul. The active voice: circumcision produces the action of the verb, it’s a ritual. The ritual after Abraham was to challenge to maturity, challenge to adjustment to the integrity of God. The declarative indicative mood represents the verbal action from the standpoint of its reality. The reality of circumcision is found in the fact of maturity adjustment to the justice of God.^[8]

Abraham lived 100 years as a gentile; and at circumcision, this marked the change of race, where he became a Jew.

1977 Romans

Lesson #66

66 03/25/1977 Romans 2:25a (Review); Protasis of apodosis; purpose of the law; doctrine of circumcision (pt.1–3)

When Abraham was 99 and nearly 100 and God told him to remove some of the flesh from his foreskin. He had crossed no-man's land to supergrace B and he was in ultra supergrace. For 13 years Abraham had not had sex, so there was no way for God's promise for a son to be born to him. Everything depended upon God's integrity. None of what happened depended upon Abraham. It is impossible for God not to keep His Word. The one part of Abraham which was dead was his phallus. He was sexually dead. After being circumcised, he was sexually regenerated. On this day, he became a new race, the Jewish race. Maximum doctrine resident in the soul made it possible for circumcision to be meaningful. Ritual without reality is meaningless. The meaningful thing was there was maximum doctrine in the soul; maximum adjustment to the justice of God.

On the same day, Ishmael was also circumcised. All his life he was a wild ass of a man. But he was blessed indirectly. He is the father of most of the Arab groups. Many people were blessed by association to Abraham. He later had a concubine Keturah and five sons by her. Everyone related to Abraham enjoyed blessing by association.

Romans 2:25 For circumcision profits if you do the Law; but if you are a transgressor of Law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision. (BLB)

The apodosis draws its conclusion from the protasis. It is unusual for the apodosis to come first. We just had it. So on the one hand, circumcision is beneficial...

Circumcision and law are both without definite articles.

What caused Paul to put the apodosis first? The Holy Spirit. Bob sees this in real life. A woman will sometimes draw a conclusion without having a basis for the assumption. It is a very strange way of thinking, but it is not strange at all. The explanation is one of chronology. Peritomê and nomos; and they came in this order historically. Therefore, the apodosis comes first. Very rare. The historical order is considered here. First came circumcision then came the Law. The nation began with Moses. We identify the beginning of each facet of Jewish history with circumcision for the first and the law for the second.

The proper translation is, If you accomplish/practice the law...

Romans 2:25a So, on the one hand, circumcision is beneficial, if you accomplish the Law...

Circumcision is not beneficial to the self righteous Jew or to the ritual Jew.

The Purpose of the Law

1. What does it mean to accomplish the law?
2. The purpose of the Law as we have studied is not to develop self-righteousness. The Law condemns mankind; not give him false confidence of being moral. The purpose of the Law is to condemn. When you realize that the justice of God condemns you, that you are totally helpless, then you are a candidate for the grace of God. So this brings a person close to Christ.
3. Consequently, the purpose of the law is salvation adjusted to the justice of God.
4. Understanding the content of the Law if the means of evangelization.
5. Many Jews in the past were saved by understanding the true meaning of the Law. It proved to them that man was a sinner; another section showed them how Jesus Christ is their Savior; and the third part provided an environment where they could make a decision for their God.
 - a. The Ten Commandments.
 - b. The ritual portion of the Law.
 - c. Establishment principles of the Law.
6. Condemnation must precede salvation.

When you are arrogant and self righteous, the tendency is to skim off the top and pick the commandments that you think you are keeping. I am very good, God; and I expect you to save me due to my personal righteousness. But we are all spiritually dead. A dead man has no works or honor; his soul has left his body. There is no way that we can have any conversation with God about anything. There is nothing that we can do to impress God well enough to be saved. We are alive to the world and we are alive to the devil and demons; but we are dead to God. You give your testimony how God was lucky to save you. If you think you are the worst person in town before being saved. Bob quizzed such people and he finds that they are nowhere close to the worst person in town. But they are so self righteous; they are so arrogant.

Romans tells us about all the adjustments made to the justice of God.

Romans 2:25a So, on the one hand, circumcision is beneficial, if you accomplish the purpose of the Law...

The purpose of the Law is salvation adjustment to the justice of God. People that Paul is speaking of are trying to be saved by their own works and not based upon what God has done for us.

“but if thou be a breaker of the law” – begins with the conditional conjunction eán (ἐάν) [pronounced eh-AHN], which with the subjunctive introduces the protasis of a first class condition. With this is the affirmative particle de, meaning “on the other hand.” This is the second conditional sentence in this verse, the first one, it will be recalled, reversed the protasis and the apodosis. We have de used correlatively with the affirmative particle men, and it is all translated “but if on the other hand.” Then the present active subjunctive of the verb eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. The present tense is a retroactive progressive present denoting what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. The action, as will be seen, is the self-righteous unbeliever, especially the Jewish type, who is producing the action. The subjunctive mood is the potential subjunctive, part of the protasis of the third class condition. This subjunctive also implies a future reference being qualified by the element of contingency—"if on the other hand you are." Then we have the problem, "a breaker of the law" – the predicate nominative of parabátēs (παράβατης) [pronounced par-ab-AT-ace] which means a transgressor or a violater. The objective genitive from the noun nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] refers to the Mosaic law being abused, distorted and misused by arrogant, self-righteous Jews trying to use it as a vehicle of salvation rather than a vehicle of condemnation.

Principles of Romans 2:25

1. While this is the protasis of a third class condition it tends toward reality for the real status of these Jewish unbelievers, as actually stated here.
2. There are two third class conditional clauses used because the possibilities are explored as principles rather than stating the actual historical reality. Another principle: When you have the word "if" introducing a third class condition, followed by another "if" introducing another third class condition, the second class condition gives the reality. Since this is, then, the actual situation—violation or transgression of the law—this status quo of the unbeliever is maladjustment to the justice of God.
3. Circumcision is related to the believer who is adjusted to the justice of God. It is a ritual without reality for unbelievers.
4. Esau and Jacob were twins. One was a Semitic Gentile; the other was a Jew. Esau was negative toward the gospel, maladjusted to the justice of God. Jacob was positive toward the gospel and therefore he believed in the Lord, and so adjusted to the justice of God. So one was adjusted and one was maladjusted, and that divided them for time as well as for eternity. Jacob is the perpetuation of the Jewish race; Esau is the perpetuation of the Semitic race of the Edomites. The difference, then, was adjustment to the justice of God at the point of salvation.
5. The only true Jews are those who match their adjustment to the justice of God with their circumcision.

Romans 2:25 For circumcision profits if you do the Law; but if you are a transgressor of Law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision.

A college professor said that Paul was the last great thinker.

The Doctrine of Circumcision below did not come from the list of doctrines given by Bob, but from the Answerbag, which had one particular guy who would answer a question by giving the complete doctrine from his copious notes. These are not the same notes, but they are very close (much closer than those found in NB1).

Doctrine of Circumcision

- A. Definition. Some do not know what it is and we are not going to cater to the naive.

1. Circumcision consists in cutting away the foreskin of the male phallus.
2. A sharp knife is used; a flint stone was used for the operation, Ex 4:25; Josh 5:2.
3. The ritual was related to Abraham's ultra supergrace sexual prosperity and represented his adjustment to the justice of God. He received this upon reaching maturity.
4. He was 99 years old and sexually dead. Heb 11:11-12; Rom 4:17-19. It signified his advance to spiritual maturity.
5. Circumcision not only revived his sexual ability, but was the moment when God established the new race of the Jew. Circumcision was to be the ritual to commemorate the establishment of the new racial species. When the dead skin was removed, Abraham became a new race.
6. Before circumcision, Abraham was racially Semitic, and nationally an Akkadian. Abraham's nephew founded the Chaldeans (Abraham was not a Chaldean).
7. Circumcision therefore represents the ultimate expression of spiritual self-esteem from metabolized doctrine in the advance to spiritual maturity. Hence, it memorialized greater blessings in escrow conveyed at spiritual maturity and the subsequent glorification of God in their distribution.
8. Therefore, every time a circumcised Jew would urinate, it was a reminder of the importance of salvation by grace, of spirituality by grace, and of the dynamics of Bible doctrine in every dispensation and generation of history.
9. Circumcision memorializes the new race on earth, the perfect plan, and the glory of God. It was the ritual sign that Abraham had passed momentum testing and had now become a winner. As a result he was given a physical election.
10. There is no spiritual merit in circumcision. It was the expression of Abraham's metabolized doctrine at the point of maturity. But it is related to the genetic creation of the new racial species. As a ritual, circumcision has no meaning to the Jew who rejects Christ as Savior, for ritual without reality is meaningless. The Jewish race was initially perpetuated down to the fourth generation through regeneration.

B. The Origin and Significance of Circumcision. Gen 17:1-14.

1. In Gen 17, Abraham has recovered from the evil of Gen 16, and has reached the highest point of maturity under the faith-rest plan of God.
2. In Gen 17:5-6, he has been promised sexual prosperity as a part of his escrow blessings. This promise came from God, and that means the promise emanated from God's integrity.
3. But the problem is that he has qualified for blessing, but is sexually dead, Rom 4:17-21; Heb 11:11-12.
4. Moreover, he has adjusted to the justice of God in time completely, therefore, divine justice is free to call on any other characteristic of God's essence and provide what is needed to revive his sexual capabilities. A miracle is no problem when justice is free to operate.

5. Justice fulfills justice and at the point of his circumcision Abraham became a new race with the power of procreation for the perpetuation of that new race. He has a new set of genes for Isaac.
6. Ishmael's circumcision had no significance in relation to the covenant, Genesis 17:25. This was a case of ritual without reality. This fulfills blessing by association.
7. The reality of the ritual of circumcision is a picture of Abraham's dynamic faith function, the doctrinal rationale of the mature believer, Rom 4:16-21. He demonstrated the dynamics of maturity under the faith-rest plan of God and spiritual self-esteem.
8. Our blessings come from His justice and not His love. Bob is 59 and he can hardly wait to be 60. This business of, "Ahhh, I'm 30!" Nothing that we can do from our own humanness does not cut anything with God. Personality change is not the issue.
9. This adjustment to the justice of God fulfilled the principle that justice demands justice. Therefore, justice fulfills justice as impotence becomes sexual power and a member of the Semitic race becomes a Jew.
10. Abraham is the father of the Jewish race, while Moses is the father of the Jewish nation. Circumcision does not pertain to the Jews' national origin but to their racial origin. Circumcision became the ritual sign not of a spiritual thing, but of a physical thing: the new racial species. The Mosaic Law became the sign of the first client nation in history.
11. Circumcision represents salvation.
12. Therefore, there is a relationship between the ritual of circumcision and the Mosaic Law. Circumcision is racial origin and the Mosaic Law is national origin. Circumcision is the ultimate expression of positive volition to Bible doctrine producing spiritual momentum leading to maturity and blessing from the justice of God. Grace blessing is always related to Bible doctrine in the soul.
13. So to mature Abraham, the Word of God provided a far greater reality than the discouraging status quo of being sexually dead.
14. The conclusion from the origin of circumcision is found in Gen 17:9-11 (And God said to Abraham, "As for you, you shall keep my covenant, you and your offspring after you throughout their generations. This is my covenant, which you shall keep, between me and you and your offspring after you: Every male among you shall be circumcised. You shall be circumcised in the flesh of your foreskins, and it shall be a sign of the covenant between me and you.). Circumcision is the memorial sign between God and Jews. Only with Bible doctrine in the soul is circumcision meaningful.

C. Historical Circumcision.

1. Circumcision was practiced among many ancient peoples, such as the Egyptians, Africans, natives of the South Seas, North Americans, and Arabians. It was used to fulfill one or more of the following purposes:
 - a. As a sanitary function for the Egyptians.

- b. As a tribal mark for the Africans.
 - c. As a rite to celebrate the "coming of age."
 - d. As a substitute for human sacrifice by removing a portion of the anatomy as a vicarious sacrifice.
 - e. As a sacramental offering to idols to gain the help of the gods in the perpetuation of a tribe, family, or race.
2. These were used to obscure the true meaning of circumcision.
- D. Circumcision and the Law, Rom 2:25. "So on the one hand, circumcision is beneficial if you accomplish the purpose of the Law, but if, on the other hand, you are a rejecter [transgressor] of the Law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision."
- 1. Circumcision is related to the Mosaic Law in two ways:
 - a. In an establishment sense, it is a dedication of the male's phallus to his right woman. It emphasizes the fact that national stability is founded on the principle of the right man/right woman relationship.
 - b. As a spiritual principle, circumcision portrays the function of adjustment to the justice of God, so that the justice of God is free to bless.
 - 2. The ritual of circumcision connotes man's relationship with God as well as with his right woman. The ritual indicated that Abraham had maximum Bible doctrine in the soul, and was therefore qualified for blessing. Circumcision is the sign of Bible doctrine in the soul. The Law provided happiness for people who live by establishment principles, but the meaning of circumcision is significant only to the believer.
 - 3. The Jew who failed to fulfill the client nation principle, beginning with faith in Christ, spirituality, missionary activity; this Jew's circumcision was really uncircumcision. The Jewish unbeliever was a new racial species without regeneration. Therefore, he distorted circumcision into a system of arrogance, from which came racial prejudice.
 - 4. Rom 2:28-29, "For he is not a Jew who is one outwardly [circumcision], neither is circumcision that which is outward in the flesh [the ritual]; but he is a Jew who is one inwardly [ritual with reality] and circumcision is that which is of the heart by means of the Spirit [Holy Spirit] not the Law, and his praise is not from men but from God [reality of escrow blessings]."
- E. Messages Regarding Lack of True Circumcision and Uncircumcision.
- 1. The meaning of circumcision is maximum Bible doctrine in the soul. The fifth cycle of discipline means no Bible doctrine in the soul, therefore lack of circumcision of the soul. This becomes ritual without reality. This is the tragedy of being the physical seed of Abraham without being the spiritual seed of Abraham.
 - 2. Jer 6:10, "To whom shall I communicate doctrine? To whom shall I give a warning that they will listen? Behold, their ears are uncircumcised. They will not listen. Behold, the word of the Lord has become a reproach to them. They have no delight in it." Bob has warned people about communism for years. Westmoreland has done the same. Their conspiracies are well-known and they are working in the United States.

3. Jeremiah warned the people of the coming of the fifth cycle of discipline from the Chaldeans. But the people's ears were "uncircumcised"; that is, they would not listen to Bible teaching. Doctrine in the soul makes you alert to coming national disaster. The people had no delight in Bible doctrine. They had the ritual but no Bible doctrine to provide the reality. Reality is more important than ritual.
4. Jer 9:25, "Behold, the days are coming," decrees the Lord, "that I will punish all who are circumcised and yet uncircumcised." The believers were circumcised but also Uncircumcised.
5. The Jews failed to recognize the two seeds of Abraham.
 - a. With his physical seed and the new racial species came the fantastic opportunity of client nation Israel under four Jewish nations. But being a new racial species, with circumcision as the sign, is absolutely meaningless without regeneration.
 - b. They were not following the pattern of the spiritual seed of Abraham: "Abraham believed in the Lord, and it was credited to his account for righteousness."
 - c. Abraham is the pattern for Old Testament salvation, Gen 15:6; Rom 4:3; Gal 3:6.
 - d. Throughout their history, the Jews failed, because while they were given physical superiority in the Old Testament through the new racial species, they had no advantages from it because they rejected Jesus Christ as the God of Israel: ADONAI ELOHENU, ADONAI ECHAD.
6. Deut 10:16, "Moses said, `Therefore circumcise your right lobe and resist no more.'" You circumcise your right lobe by the daily perception and metabolization of Bible doctrine.
7. Moses was the greatest public speaker who ever lived (just as Paul was the greatest Bible teacher who ever lived). Moses was an eloquent, public speaking genius. In spite of all his areas of genius, beauty, strength, and all his doctrine, the Jews in his generation were bored by doctrine! So Moses cries out, "Resist no more!" Negative volition toward doctrine is ritual without reality.
8. Paul as Saul of Tarsus was watching Stephen being stoned to death. As the rocks began to crush him, Stephen shouted in Acts 7:51, "You men! You are stiff-necked and uncircumcised of heart and ears! And you are always resisting the Holy Spirit. You are doing just as your fathers [ancestors] did."
 - a. So in every generation there was someone who caught on to the idea that being a new racial species was meaningless. It only fed arrogance unless there was the countermeasure in the soul, that of Bible doctrine to produce enforced and genuine humility leading to virtue-love.

- b. So what does it mean to "resist the Holy Spirit?" Under the law of volitional responsibility, whatever you sow to the flesh you're going to reap from the flesh (Gal 6:7). Whenever you make bad decisions from a position of weakness; when your priorities are wrong; when your lusts supersede your love for the Lord, you will suffer.
 - c. So the Jews resisted the ministry of the Holy Spirit; first, at the point of common and efficacious grace, and secondly, at the point of the communication of doctrine; both the demonstration of God's fantastic grace. All you can do is listen and believe; God the Holy Spirit must do all the rest.
 - d. Stephen looked back on the entire history of Israel's failure when he said "just as your fathers did." For 2000 years, the Jews had the greatest opportunities in the Old Testament and they blew it!
9. Jeremiah 4:4 Circumcise yourselves to the Lord, and remove the foreskins of your heart [right lobe], you men of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem, lest My wrath go forth like a fire and burn with none to quench it, because of the evil of your deeds. When there is uncircumcision of heart, the end result is deeds which are evil.
- a. In other words, Jeremiah said, "Don't go negative toward doctrine, because if you do, you will have a soul full of foreskins!" Although the earth will never be destroyed by nuclear weapons, parts of it can be through the fault of negative believers.
10. Deut 30:6, "Moses said, `Moreover, the Lord your God will circumcise your heart and the heart of your seed, to love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, in order that you may live [survive as a client nation to God].'"
- a. Moses guaranteed, as a part of the Word of God, that there would be doctrine for every Jewish generation.
 - b. "Your seed" referred to the new racial species; yet always there was the need to become regenerate. To survive as a client nation requires a pivot, which in the Old Testament required both the ritual and the reality of circumcision through the advance to spiritual maturity.
11. To avoid racial prejudice and the arrogance it feeds, the Jew of the Old Testament had to be circumcised in his heart, which included salvation through faith in Christ and spiritual growth through metabolized doctrine, resulting in both the giant step to spiritual self-esteem and the victory step to spiritual maturity under the ritual plan of God.
12. This is why it says in Rom 9:6, "All Israel is not Israel." "All Israel" is the Jew who is a part of the new racial species. But all Israel is "not Israel," because you're not true Israel until your heart is circumcised, i.e., regenerated.
13. There's no advantage to being the new racial species apart from regeneration. Therefore, in Old Testament times, a regenerate Gentile was far better off than a Jewish unbeliever as new racial species. Therefore, the importance of the circumcision of the heart.

F.

Circumcision and the Near Death of Moses, Ex 4:24-26. (At a lodging place on the way the LORD met him and sought to put him to death. Then Zipporah took a flint and cut off her son's foreskin and touched Moses' feet with it and said, "Surely you are a bridegroom of blood to me!" So he let him alone. It was then that she said, "A bridegroom of blood," because of the circumcision.) Moses was on his way to Egypt and Jehovah (Jesus Christ appearing as a man) attacked Moses to attempt to kill him. Moses told his wife to circumcise his youngest son and God didn't want him to be sloppy with regard to the ritual. His wife circumcised his son before the Theophany could kill Moses, and this saved his life.

1. Moses is about to enter Egypt without the circumcision of his youngest son. This meant a failure to fulfill Gen 17:11. You can't serve the Lord without obedience, this had put him under the sin unto death.
2. In the case of Moses it was a failure to perpetuate the true concept of circumcision; to perpetuate the relationship between the new race of the Jews and the new nation about to be born. A new nation couldn't be born where there is rejection of the rite of circumcision. This was important because there had to be circumcision to observe the Passover which was coming.
3. Moses had failed to adjust to the justice of God, which would free the Jews from slavery and form a nation from a race.
4. Failure to adjust to the justice of God in the matter of circumcision caused the supreme court judge, Jesus Christ, to bring justice to Moses in the form of the sin unto death.
5. Moses was delivered from death by his wife's circumcision of his youngest son.
6. However, to save the life of her husband, she circumcised the youngest son and threw the bloody foreskin at the feet of the dying Moses with comment that he was a bloody groom, that is, she had redeemed the life of her husband as a new groom through blood.
7. She had to purchase the life of her husband by the shedding of the blood of her son in the rite of circumcision. Therefore, as far as she was concerned, he was a new groom. She rejected him as being her husband any longer. She despised circumcision.
8. Just as Sarah received a new groom by the circumcision of Abraham, so Moses' wife received Moses. [And promptly rejected him.]
9. Moses' wife understood the meaning of circumcision, but rejected the doctrine. She resisted the doctrine and this resulted in Moses being put under the sin unto death. Moses was responsible, because he did what his wife wanted instead of what God wanted. Moses lost his wife (she left him), but she wasn't his right woman. His wife is an illustration of Acts 7:51 "uncircumcised in heart and ears" means reversionism. Moses was saved by her instant action, but lost her and later God provided his right woman.

10. Moses' wife apparently leaves him here with his sons, deserting him. The mission would have been aborted had not Moses adjusted to the justice of God.

11. Acts 7:51 is a reference to Zipporah and others for resisting God in that generation.

G. The National Concept of Circumcision.

1. Circumcision was a memorial token to the adjustment to the justice of God in the nation of Israel, just as in the race of the Jews.

2. This is why no Jew could partake of the Passover without first being circumcised. Ex 12:48.

3. The nation of Israel was placed under the fifth cycle of discipline for lack of circumcision of soul, but not the ritual, the reality. Jer 6:10, 9:25-26.

4. Circumcision was used to designate both racial and national Jews. Gal 2:8; Colossians 4:11; Ephesians 2:11; Tit 1:10.

H. The Doctrinal Principles of Circumcision.

1. Circumcision is the ritual for the adjustment to the justice of God through maximum Bible doctrine resident in the soul.

2. Abraham's circumcision was the maturity adjustment to the justice of God, freeing God's justice to bless him.

3. There are three adjustments to the justice of God involved in the reality of circumcision; this is true of both Jews and Gentiles (which is why Paul told the Galatians to remain uncircumcised).

a. Salvation through faith in Christ.

b. Rebound to stay in fellowship.

c. Maturity adjustment to the Justice of God through the victory step.

4. The ritual of circumcision then portrays the reality of the Jew's relationship with God. Therefore, circumcision might be compared to a dollar sign ("$$") - which is not real money, but stands for real money.

5. Moses' deliverance from death by the circumcision of his youngest son was a rebound adjustment to the justice of God.

6. No Jew was permitted to partake of the Passover without being circumcised, Exodus 12:48. This portrays the salvation adjustment to the justice of God. So circumcision is used for all three adjustments to the justice of God.

7. The Passover was a memorial of salvation and the beginning of the new nation for the believer's only.

8. Therefore, the requirement of the ritual of salvation adjustment to the justice of God is circumcision (which is required for the Passover). Race begins with circumcision. Nation begins with the Passover. Both are rituals and are combined when you get to the nation.

9. Jews are under three different plans of God in human history:

a. In the age of the Patriarchs, from Abraham to Moses, they were under the faith-rest plan of God.

b. In the dispensation of Israel, Moses to Christ, they were under the ritual plan of God.

c. In the Church Age, Pentecost to Rapture, we are under the protocol plan of God. In all these three eras, circumcision means nothing without salvation, without fulfilling the pertinent plan of God.

10. Therefore, the lack of circumcision was failure to adjust to the justice of God.

11. This is why we have "the uncircumcised Philistine." 1 Samuel 14:6, 17:26, 36, 31:4. They illustrate failure of the Jews to adjustment to the justice of God at salvation.

12. Jews are referred to as being uncircumcised of ears or of heart.

13. As goes the pivot, so goes the nation. A large pivot means the nation is preserved; a small pivot is preserved but the nation is destroyed. Never in our history have we had such a large spinoff.

I. Circumcision during the Church Age.

1. Circumcision without hands in Colossians 4:2 union of Christ gives us a position of renunciation of sin by the Holy Spirit.

2. Circumcision as a ritual is no longer an issue in the Church Age, because client nation Israel no longer exists.

3. Because the protocol plan of God has replaced the ritual plan of God, to which circumcision belongs, circumcision is not even a spiritual issue of any kind. It is simply a physiological option.

4. Because circumcision is now practiced throughout the world, basically as a sanitary function, or as a tribal mark, or as a substitute for human sacrifice by removing a portion of the human anatomy as a vicarious sacrifice, or as a religious requirement of Jews, Arabs, and others - this is all circumcision means today.

5. The only issue today in this dispensation: Will the believer fulfill the protocol plan of God? 1 Cor 7:19, "Circumcision is nothing and uncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the mandates of God [is everything]."

6. Circumcision is not only non-beneficial spiritually, but is a source of legalism and a means of distracting the believer from the execution of the protocol plan of God; this is the subject of the entire book of Galatians. The Judaizers followed after Paul and persuaded his converts that you can't be saved by faith in Christ alone, but you must add circumcision. This is analogous to those who today believe in baptismal regeneration - there is no such thing. Gal 5:2-4, "Behold, I Paul say to you, that if you receive circumcision, Christ will be of no benefit to you [you have lost out in the protocol plan of God]. And I testify again to every man who receives circumcision that he is under obligation to keep the entire Law [in the wrong dispensation]. You have been severed from Christ [not in the protocol plan of God], you, who would be justified by the Law, you have drifted off course from grace."

7. So during the Church Age, circumcision has been distorted into a system of legalism and apostasy.

- a. Some Jews taught salvation by circumcision, as in Acts 15:1, "And some men came down from Judea and began teaching the believers, 'Unless you are circumcised according to the custom of Moses, you cannot be saved.'"
 - b. Gal 6:12-15, "Those who desire to make a good showing in the flesh [exhibitionists with circumcised phalluses] try to compel you to be circumcised, simply that they may avoid persecution because of the cross of Christ. For those who have been circumcised do not even keep the Law themselves. But they desire to have you circumcised that they may boast in your flesh. But may it never be that I should boast except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom the world has been crucified to me, and I to the world. For neither is circumcision anything, nor uncircumcision, but a new species."
 - c. When believers get so involved in ritual for salvation or for spirituality, both being false, they are inevitably inconsistent ("do not even keep the Law themselves"), and their lives are a mess!
8. The protocol plan of God replaced all ritual of the dispensation of Israel, including circumcision. Gal 5:6-9, "For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision means anything, but doctrine working through virtue-love. You were running well; who cut in on you so that you did not obey the doctrine? This persuasion [false persuasion regarding circumcision], did it come from Him [God the Father] who elected you? A little leaven [circumcision distorted into a system of legalism] leavens the whole lump." Paul was nasty here, calling them "just one big circumcised Gaul! You didn't just circumcise your phallus; you're circumcised all over, dummy!"
 9. The baptism of the Spirit at salvation and the resultant positional sanctification is the only circumcision of the Church Age. Col 2:11-14, "And in Him [positional sanctification] you were circumcised with a circumcision made without hands, by the renunciation of the essence of the body [old sin nature] by the circumcision of Christ [retroactive positional truth], having been buried with Him by means of the baptism [of the Spirit], by which also you were raised up with Christ [current positional truth] through faith in the operational power of God who raised Him from the dead. And when you were dead in your transgressions and the uncircumcision of your flesh, He made you alive together with Him [positional sanctification], having forgiven you all of your transgressions, having cancelled out the I.O.U. [note of indebtedness] consisting of decrees against us which was hostile to us. He has removed it permanently; He nailed it to His cross." In other words, circumcision was the sign of the new racial species. But now, being entered into union with Christ, is the sign of the new spiritual species, "circumcision made without hands."
 10. Therefore, circumcision has to be redefined for the Church Age, as it is in Phil 3:3, "For we are the true circumcision, who worship in the Spirit of God and glory in Jesus Christ, and put no confidence in the flesh."

11.

Circumcision as a ritual in the ritual plan of God for the dispensation of Israel no longer exists. But for the sake of the Jews who understood, circumcision is now redefined in terms of the protocol plan of God: "who worship in the Spirit of God and glory in Jesus Christ, and put no confidence in the flesh." This is a beautiful way of describing spiritual self-esteem.

Read more: I am having a very serious "thought" question...Why do you suppose God made man with "foreskin" and when HE chose Israelites, HE made it LAW they had to be circumcised? All Knowing? only serious thoughts or answers please. | Answerbag http://www.answerbag.com/q_view/822105#ixzz18fDWWFwm

1977 Romans

Lesson #67

67 03/27/1977 Romans 2:25a via Doctrine of circumcision (points. 4–13)

Romans 2:25a So, on the one hand, circumcision is beneficial, if you accomplish the purpose of the Law... (R. B. Thieme, Jr.'s Corrected Translation so far)

The apodosis is presented here before the protasis.

Review of the justice of God. The initial adjustment to the justice of God is salvation; after that, naming one's sins come next to restore temporal fellowship. Supergrace A across no-man's land to supergrace B; then to ultra supergrace. All ritual like circumcision must be related to the Bible doctrine which is in our soul. When Abraham was far enough along in life, circumcision would be to a point where he would have had some understanding of it. Abraham received all of the blessings he could receive, apart from having a son.

Since circumcision preceded the Mosaic Law, we begin with the apodosis, which deals with circumcision. Romans 5:8 will also have the anthropathism of love.

We must be able to think doctrine; doctrine must be in our frame of reference and in our memory center. Our norms and standards must be based upon Bible doctrine.

Whatever the majority thinks is almost always wrong.

The points of Circumcision are placed above with the doctrine. ↗ [They are not always found in the same order.]

We have had presidents like Nixon and Carter who have claimed to be born again believers. Some tapers have been tapped for their money; and people in Berachah have faced this as well.

We are in the status of evil deeds in this county; and the next state will be the wrath of the justice of God.

Romans 2:25a So, on the one hand, circumcision is beneficial, if you accomplish the purpose of the Law [= salvation adjustment to the justice of God]... (R. B. Thieme, Jr.'s Corrected Translation so far)

1977 Romans

Lesson #68

68 03/27/1977 Romans 2:25b–27 True circumcision of the soul cf. ritual without reality

Romans 2:25 For circumcision profits if you do the Law; but if you are a transgressor of Law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision. (BLB)

The second clause begins with ean dé men (I don't have men in my Greek text), which means, but if on the other hand... + parabátēs (παραβάτης) [pronounced par-ab-AT-ace], which means, violator; + the law

It appears that we are reviewing some notes already given from #66: Principles of Romans 2:25

“thy circumcision is made uncircumcision” – the nominative singular subject from the noun peritomê (περιτομή) [pronounced per-it-om-AY], and with it the genitive singular personal pronoun su, “your circumcision.” All Jews were circumcised on the eighth day, but this was only the ritual; it anticipated reality. The anticipation was not always fulfilled in every case. Some Jews believed in the Lord and some did not. In 586 BC we have the Jews suffering through the historical disaster of the 5th cycle of discipline because they were uncircumcised of heart—Jeremiah 6:10; 9:25, 26. Distortion of the law into a system of legalism and self-righteousness destroys the significance of the ritual, it portrays the maladjustment of those involved.

Then the perfect active indicative of the verb gínomai (γίνομαι) [pronounced GIN-oh-my] which means to become—“has become.” The intensive perfect tense emphasizes a completed action and the existing result. When special attention is directed to the results of the action stress upon the existing fact is intensified, and this is the Greek emphatic method for presenting a fact in a very strong way and saying that a thing not only is but will continue to be so. The active voice: circumcision as a ritual produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for the reality.

Then comes the predicate nominative “uncircumcised,” the nominative of akrobustía (ἀκροβυστία) [pronounced ak-rob-oos-TEE-ah]. So the final phrase is, “if on the one hand you are a transgressor of the law your circumcision has become uncircumcision.”

Romans 2:25 So on the one hand circumcision is beneficial if you accomplish the purpose of the law [salvation adjustment to the justice of God through faith in Christ]: but if on the other hand you are a transgressor of the law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision.

What Does Romans 2:25 Mean?

1. Ritual without reality is meaningless.
2. The whole purpose of the Jewish race is related to the adjustment to the justice of God.
3. The new race ritual was circumcision, a sign of Abraham's maximum adjustment to the justice of God.
4. This blessing which came from his maturity adjustment to the justice of God, or maximum doctrine resident in the soul, was a part of the promise that Abraham would have a son from his own loins, and from this son would come a new race which would be the means of bringing the Messiah into the world.
5. Where maladjustment to the justice of God is concerned the spiritual connotation of ritual circumcision is erased and the status of the Jew involved is "uncircumcised of heart" and/or maladjusted to the justice of God.
6. Therefore there is no reality in ritual, the reality always lies in the doctrine that makes the ritual meaningful. The doctrine must be in the soul for the ritual to become meaningful.
7. Neither the ritual of circumcision nor the function of keeping the law can provide salvation.

Man in spiritual death feels the justice of God in two ways; and when adjusted to the justice of God. Man has taken the Law and circumcision and has distorted them both into a system of works.

Arrogance loses anything which is grace; and distorts God's plan into a system of self-righteousness.

Romans 2:26 Therefore if the uncircumcision keeps the requirements of the Law, will not his uncircumcision be reckoned for circumcision?

Verse 26 – "Therefore if the uncircumcision." We have our third conditional clause—eán (ἐάν) [pronounced eh-AHN] oun (οὐν) [pronounced oon] is the way the verse begins: eán (ἐάν) [pronounced eh-AHN] is a conditional conjunction introducing a 3rd class condition, eán (ἐάν) [pronounced eh-AHN] plus the subjunctive; oun (οὐν) [pronounced oon] is an inferential particle, used to denote that whatever is introduced has its inference from the previous sentence—"If therefore."

"the uncircumcision" – the nominative singular subject from akrobustía (ἀκροβυστία) [pronounced ak-rob-ooos-TEE-ah], referring here to the Gentiles, the person who has not had the ritual of circumcision, the person who has not had the benefit of the Mosaic law to evangelize him and to teach him these wonderful things—"If therefore the uncircumcised."

In vv. 14–15, the moral gentile was compared favorably to the Jews.

"keep the righteousness of the law" – present active subjunctive from the verb phulassô (φυλάσσω) [pronounced foo-LAHS-soh], which means to defend, to guard, to protect, and used with nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] it means to observe or even to keep the law. The present tense is a retroactive progressive present denoting what was begun in the past and continuing into the present time. Always in every generation there are certain people who have never heard of circumcision, who have never heard of or seen the Mosaic law, and yet these people have already produced the righteousness of the law; and they are constantly used by Paul to make this particular point. The active voice: the Gentile minus the ritual of circumcision, minus the spiritual heritage of the Mosaic law, produces the action.

The subjunctive mood goes with the 3rd class condition, it implies future reference as a rule, but here the principle of contingency. Plus the accusative plural direct object from dikaiōma (δικαίωμα) [pronounced dik-AH-yo-mah], which means the requirements or regulations pertaining to the law. Originally it meant a legal claim but here it means a righteous requirement. With the ablative of source of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] it means “righteous requirement from the law.” So the protasis: “If therefore the uncircumcised Gentile observes the righteous requirements from the law.”

Next we have a question used as an apodasis. It begins with the strong negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] in a question, implying that the answer to the question is yes. Plus the nominative singular subject akrobustía (ἀκροβυστία) [pronounced ak-rob-oos-TEE-ah] for the uncircumcised Gentile, this time with a possessive genitive singular from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτοῦ) [pronounced ow-TOSS] used for a possessive pronoun—“will not his uncircumcision.”

The verb is the future active indicative of logizomai (λογίζομαι) [pronounced log-IHD-zohm-ai], which means to reckon, to calculate, to credit, to be considered, to be regarded, to be thought. Here it is translated to “be regarded” or to “be evaluated.” The future tense is a deliberative future for a question of uncertainty expressed in the future active. Here it is a rhetorical question taking the place of a direct assertion, it is used actually as a nuance of debater’s technique. The passive voice: the subject, the uncircumcised Gentile, receives the action of the verb. The indicative mood is interrogative for a rhetorical question.

Then the preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative of peritomê (περιτομή) [pronounced per-it-om-AY]—“as circumcision.” It is translated, “will not his uncircumcision be evaluated as circumcision?” And then, because of ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook], the answer is, “Yes, it will.”

Romans 2:26 If therefore the uncircumcised Gentile observes the righteous requirements from the law, will not his uncircumcision be evaluated as circumcision? Yes, it will.

Principle: While ritual cannot be counted for reality, reality can be counted for ritual. (Ritual is for ‘weak sisters’ to bring them up to the strong ones. The strong ones never need ritual to lean on because they have the reality in doctrine)

Romans 2:27 And the uncircumcision by nature, fulfilling the Law, will judge you who with the letter and circumcision are a transgressor of Law.

Verse 27 – “And shall not uncircumcision which is by nature.” The intensive use of kai, as here, is never translated “and.” The connective use of kai means “and,” the adjunctive use of kai means “also,” the ascensive use of kai means “even,” the intensive use of kai means “in fact.” The subject akrobustía (ἀκροβυστία) [pronounced ak-rob-oos-TEE-ah] in the nominative singular refers, again, to uncircumcision. There is a definite article to denote its previous reference in the context. Then the preposition ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] with the ablative of phusis (φύσις) [pronounced FOO-sihs] which means nature or natural endowment. The ablative of means is used here, it is not the regular case for means but when the source is implied then the ablative is used for means. “In fact, the uncircumcised Gentile by nature.” But that is literal and does not bring out the idiom which is brought out by a better translation: “In fact, the physically uncircumcised Gentile.” This is a reference to the Gentile who was outside of the priest nation Israel, without the ritual of circumcision, without the doctrine of the Mosaic law.

“if it fulfil the law” – the present active participle from teleô (τελέω) [pronounced tel-EH-oh]. “It” is going to be “he.” The masculine is always used to refer to both masculine and feminine gender in a principle, and so we say, “If he accomplishes the purpose.” The present tense is a futuristic present, it denotes an event which has not yet occurred but is regarded as so certain in thought that the tense regards it as already coming to pass. The active voice: a Gentile minus circumcision fulfils the action of the verb by accomplishing the purpose of the law in adjusting to the justice of God. This is a conditional participle and it is used as the protasis of a conditional sentence. Also, the accusative singular from nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] is used as the object of the participle. “In fact, if he accomplishes the purpose of the law.”

“judge thee” – future active indicative of the verb krinô (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no], meaning to judge. The future tense is a gnomic future for a statement of fact or performance which may be rightfully expected under normal conditions. The active voice: Gentiles who have believed in Christ, who after salvation have used the rebound technique, who have GAPed it all the way to maturity, produce the action of the verb. They do so without benefit of the ritual and the perfect spiritual heritage of the law. The indicative mood is an interrogative indicative indicating a rhetorical question, which becomes a nuance for a dogmatic statement of fact disguised as a rhetorical question. Plus the accusative singular direct object of su. The accusative as a direct object means “you”—the Jew who has rejected Christ, you as a Jew who is depending upon the ritual of circumcision and keeping the law for salvation. God has rejected both as far as adjustment to his justice.

“who by letter and circumcision” – the accusative singular definite article used as a relative pronoun whose antecedent is the Jew, maladjusted to the justice of God. We have a preposition dia plus the genitive singular of gramma, used for a letter in the alphabet. The Mosaic law is a lot of letters in the Hebrew alphabet put together to have meaning, but the person who rejects Christ as saviour—the Jew who has the law—the law to him is nothing more than a lot of letters in the alphabet put together in words he doesn’t understand. In other words, you can never understand God until you make that first adjustment, until you have the righteousness of God. Plus the genitive singular of peritomê (περιτομή) [pronounced per-it-om-AY] which completes the prepositional phrase.

“dost transgress the law?” – includes the adverbial accusative of measure or the accusative of the extent of time from parabátēs (παραβάτης) [pronounced par-ab-AT-ace] which means to violate or transgress.

Romans 2:27 In fact, if he accomplishes the purpose of the law, will not the physically uncircumcised Gentile judge you Jews, who through the letter [written page] and circumcision are a transgressor of the law?

Principle

1. Instead of the legalistic Jew who spends all of his time judging the Gentile, the grace-oriented Gentile will judge the legalistic Jew. The integrity of God reverses the procedure. The Jews keeping the law are looking down their nose at the Gentiles, but in reality the Gentiles will judge those Jews. (So with us in the matter of gossiping). When you mention the sin of someone else, the penalty for that sin is laid upon you.
2. Because of self-righteousness the legalistic Jew who has no right to judge, judges the Gentile for not being circumcised and not keeping the law. The Judaizers were able to persuade the gentiles in Galatia to be circumcised and to obey the Law.
3. But the Gentile who is not circumcised, who does not keep the law, but who has adjusted to the justice of God--at salvation, through rebound, by maturity—will in turn do the judging.
4. Therefore it is the mature Gentile believer who has the right to judge the arrogant, self-righteous, maladjusted Jew.
5. The mature Gentile believer has made all three adjustments to the justice of God, therefore he will have the right of judging.

We will answer the question, who is a true Jew?

1977 Romans

Lesson #69

69 04/01/1977 Romans 2:28 Intro. Doctrine of the integrity of God (+R, justice, love 1 & 2)

Bob can think of no greater subject to discuss on this day than the integrity of God. Bob discusses his incredible flight to Chicago. There was a very large group in Peoria.

The study of the integrity of God below goes back to this lesson, but includes information for 3 or 4 more times when it was presented all the way to 1998. There are quite a few points in this Romans study which are not found below. Particularly love 1 versus love 2.

Doctrine of the Integrity of God

- A. The Divine Personality.

1. Anything that contradicts the righteousness of God is not the divine personality. Anything that conflicts with the righteousness of God is sin.
2. God is one in essence but three separate and distinct persons: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.
3. God is a person. Personality comes from a person. His personality connotes both self-consciousness and self-determination. We cannot superimpose our personality on God, because uses language of accommodation to explain Himself to mankind.
4. God recognizes Himself as a person, and as such acts rationally in compatibility with His divine integrity-righteousness, justice, and love.
5. God's point of reference with mankind prior to the original sin of man in the garden of Eden was the love of God. God's point of reference with mankind after the fall of mankind is the righteousness and justice of God. The point of contact in harmonious rapport with God is to satisfy the righteousness of God, so that the justice of God does not have to spend our whole life on earth judging us by divine discipline.
6. All divine grace is based on the righteousness of God. God does not relate to us on the basis of His personality, but on the basis of His righteousness, justice, and love-His integrity.
7. God is to an absolute degree all that constitutes personality. He is Himself and He knows Himself to be beyond comparison with any other being, because the other beings are creatures.
8. God is infinite.
 - a. Infinite is defined as the doctrine of the omnipresence of God.
 - (1) Omnipresence includes both immanence and transcendence. The Trinity indwells the entire universe; this is called immanence. Transcendence means that God is above and independent of the universe and time. God is both immanent and transcendent, Psalm 139:7-8, 17-18; Jer 23:23- 4; Act 17:17. Omnipresence is found in Deut 4:39; Isa 66:1.
 - (2) Omnipresence means that God's life is from within Himself, having neither beginning or end. God created space with its billions of light years. Therefore, divine omnipresence is both in space and in time and totally outside of space and time. If space and time were defined in terms of boundaries, God would exceed them to the point of infinity. God is free to be on Mount Sinai with Moses and at the same time to be present at all times in all places, creating and sustaining both time and space and at the same time being outside of space.
 - (a) Omnipresence means the total of each divine person is everywhere present in the totality of their divine essence.
 - (b) Immanence means that all three members of the Trinity indwell and fill all of space with all of its galaxies.

(c) Transcendence means God occupies all of infinity. God is above and beyond all space and fills everything beyond space.

(d) Locality means that God can occupy one place as the human nature of Christ did during the incarnation while still being immanent and transcendent.

(3) God is total in His essence without diffusion, expansion, multiplication or division, penetrating and filling the entire universe with His person and beyond it. God is free at the same time to become local, Isa 7:14, 9:6; Lk 1:35; Jn 1:14; 1 Tim 6:16.

(4) The uniqueness of the Church Age is that the total of each divine person indwells each believer in Jesus Christ.

(5) God lives. God does not possess life; God is life. There never has been a time when God has not existed. God is eternal, infinite, unchangeable, unending life both inside and outside of space and time. God's life includes holiness. God's love is a part of His integrity.

b. God unites in Himself those perfections which belong to His person and to His being. God is infinite personality, without boundary or limitation, uniting those perfections which belong to Him. For example, God cannot sin. God cannot be complicated with ignorance or absurdities.

(1) Because God is infinite, eternal, immutable, perfect justice and righteousness, perfect love and grace, He cannot be complicated by ignorance, absurdities, silliness, or even emotion in relation to His person.

(2) Because God is holy, His love can only function in perfect virtue, totally compatible with His righteousness, His justice, His love, and His grace. Even divine discipline is given in love, Heb 12:6.

(3) Because God is immutable, His love cannot vacillate or change. God's love does not increase or decrease, improve or decline. God's love is never frustrated, disappointed, disillusioned, or distracted.

(4) Because God foreknew human sin and failure, He did not cancel His love for mankind. That is far greater than human compassion. You cannot assign human compassion to God; you must assign God's integrity to us.

(5) God is truth and veracity. Therefore, divine love is rooted in every Bible doctrine of the infallible word of God and every form of knowledge which belongs to the person and essence of God.

(6) God is not emotional. God does not have to respond to emotion because all three members of the Trinity in eternity past had an object for their love—the essence of the other persons of the Trinity.

(7) God's love is not sustained by any form of rapport or attraction or any category of human works or merit. God's love is not bought with good behavior or deeds of worthiness. Legalism tries to bribe God's blessing with what it considers to be good morality. The only thing that impresses God in the human race is the reflection of divine integrity in the spiritual life as provided for us by the two power options, three spiritual skills, ten problem solving devices, and three stages of the spiritual life. Human good cannot attract the love of God to the believer. God loves because it is a part of His internal integrity. He doesn't love us in response to our behavior.

9. Infinity characterizes all that God does. Infinity is a part of His personality. The infinity of God involves His eternal self-existence, His immutability, His perfection, His absolute truth, His eternal love and integrity. God knew infinitely about you in infinite, eternal past and provided everything for you. You can have rapport with infinite God.

10. Since the finite mind cannot understand the infinite, often anthropopathisms are used to reveal divine policies, judgments, blessings, etc. An anthropopathism ascribes to God human compassions, feelings, attitudes, which God does not actually possess, but they are used to indicate divine policy in terms of language of accommodation. Anthropopathisms are God's use of man's frame of reference and human attitudes to explain divine policy in terms of human frame of reference. In anthropopathisms, God borrows from humanity compassion, longsuffering, benevolence, happiness, and even by way of illustration human love. All of the personality traits and manifestations of human characteristics which describe God must be related to anthropopathic expression to avoid blasphemy and to understand the divine policy in terms of human modus operandi. Therefore the borrowing of human personality expressions in good and bad emotions must not be construed as conflict or incompatibility with divine absolute perfection.

a. For example anger, wrath, hatred, repentance are ascribed to God as human characteristics, which God does not possess. God does not possess these things, but we can understand these things from our human frame of reference. For example, Rom 9:13, "Jacob I loved, but Esau I hated" are both anthropopathisms. God expressed His divine policy of acceptance or rejection of each brother based on regeneration.

b. Infinite God is beyond the limits of human language, but God has revealed Himself to us in very clear concepts in terms of our own language.

c. Emotion is not part of the integrity and the person of God. Emotion is not a motivator in the spiritual life. In the person of Christ in hypostatic union, the two natures, divine and human, were united inseparably but there was no mixture or loss of separate identity or transfer of attributes. The humanity of our Lord had true human emotion, such as compassion, but human emotion was not transferred to the deity of Christ. The eternal essence of God did not change to accommodate or to relate to any creature of the universe, angelic or human.

d. The anthropopathism does not literally denote so-called repentance, but the human expression applied to God indicates change in policy.

11. The Postsalvation Summary of the Spiritual Life.

a. What the righteousness of God demands, the justice of God executes.

b. When the righteousness of God condemns, the justice of God judges. The righteousness of God condemned every sin in human history and imputed them to Jesus Christ for judgment by the justice of God.

c. When the righteousness of God approves, the justice of God blesses. The righteousness of God has given total approval to the postsalvation spiritual life.

d. The righteousness of God is the base and foundation for the function of the grace of God. The justice of God is the provider.

e. The justice of God is the point of reference for every believer in Jesus Christ; therefore, the justice of God is the activator of the grace of God, the catalyst for both blessing and discipline from God. You cannot contradict the justice of God without destroying the grace of God and turning grace into legalism and evil.

f. The righteousness of God approves the believer's execution of the spiritual life, because the spiritual life was designed to be compatible with His righteousness, justice, grace, and His love.

g. The righteousness of God condemns perpetual carnality; therefore, we receive discipline.

h. 2 Cor 13:14 explains to us the principle of harmonious rapport with God as the overall definition of our spiritual life. "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit, be with all of you."

(1) The postsalvation spiritual life is harmonious rapport with God. Harmonious rapport with God is the believer's response to this divine love as an integral part of the postsalvation spiritual life. That is why the winner believer has virtue love based on the integrity of God.

(2) That is why 1 Jn 4:19 says, "We love because He first loved us."

(3) Gal 5:22, "The production [profit, gain, advantage] of the Spirit is love [impersonal love based on integrity], joy [sharing the happiness of God], harmonious rapport with God."

i. Jn 14:26 says, "The Mentor, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name, He will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all that I said to you." The all things which He teaches are provided in the word of God and must be communicated in our language by the spiritual gift of pastor-teacher.

12. All divine attributes contribute to the person and integrity of God. While we separate these attributes for analysis and understanding, our harmonious rapport with God is the issue. Note the unity of the integrity of God-the divine essence of love is a part of that divine integrity. In the Godhead from eternity past, divine love is always related to an object through the holiness of God. Each person of the Trinity has divine righteousness both as the subject and the object in the interaction of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Each person of the Trinity has divine love and righteousness related to self, the basis for spiritual self-esteem. This is the basis for the tremendous spiritual life we have now.

B. What is the integrity of God?

1. The integrity of God is the sum total of divine attributes in operation, but three are functional in relationship to the believer and his spiritual life: righteousness, justice, and love. The grace of God is an extension of divine love.

a. As an extension of divine love, grace is both a characteristic and a policy of divine love. Therefore, grace is an integral part of divine love.

b. In 2 Cor 13:14, "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ...", grace is a part of the nomenclature of harmonious rapport with God as the spiritual life principle for the Church Age. Grace belongs to both the deity of Christ as a divine attribute and to the humanity of Christ as the quintessence of the spiritual life.

c. Grace is identified with God as a part of the integrity of God, Rom 5:15; 1 Cor 1:4, 15:10; 2 Cor 6:1, 8:1; Eph 3:2,7. Grace has existed from eternity past.

2. The integrity of God is part of the divine essence known as "holiness," being composed of perfect righteousness and justice, and His love. Perfect righteousness is the principle of integrity and justice is the function.

3. All of God's grace is based on the integrity of God. God's perfect righteousness is the foundation, the support for the function of the grace of God. There is no function of grace that violates the integrity of God and contradicts the righteousness of God.

a. Salvation by grace alone is based on the function of the righteousness and justice of God in judging our sins in Christ on the Cross.

- b. Ps 111:1-4,7-8,10 describe the integrity of God. Psalm 111:1-4, "Praise the Lord! I will give thanks to the Lord with all my heart, In the company of the upright and in the assembly. Great the works of the Lord; Studied by all who have pleasure in them. Majesty and honor His work, And His righteousness endures forever. A memorial He has made to His wonderful works; The Lord is gracious and compassionate." Psalm 111:7-8, "The works of His hands are truth and justice; All His precepts are sure. They are consecrated forever and ever; They are performed in truth and integrity." Psalm 111:10, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; A good understanding have all those who do His commandments; His praise endures forever."

4. The righteousness and justice of God cannot be compromised. To avoid compromise of the integrity of the holiness of God there is a judicial procedure which was established in the divine decrees of eternity past and fulfilled in time-what the righteousness of God condemns, the justice of God judges.
- a. Righteousness demands righteousness and justice demands justice under the integrity of God. This is the foundation for the production of believer righteousness in the unique spiritual life of all human history.
- b. The holiness or integrity or divine virtue of God is mentioned in Ex 15:11, 19:10-16; Isa 6:3, "Holy, Holy, Holy, the Lord of the armies. The whole earth is full of His glory."
5. God's integrity is not maintained by His sovereign will. Therefore, it is a part of His unchangeable self.
6. The justice of God is man's point of reference with God. God can do nothing for mankind that would conflict with His divine justice. Prior to the fall of man in the Garden, the love of God was man's point of reference with God. But the love of God has not been man's point of reference since the fall of man. The justice of God warned man in Gen 2:17 not to eat from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.
7. Divine justice administers a system of divine laws which are compatible with God's perfect integrity. Divine justice is the function of eternal God as the judge, the evaluator of mankind, and renders daily decisions in the court of heaven with regard to mankind. The decisions of the court of heaven are always compatible with God's perfect righteousness. Everything God does must be compatible with God's righteousness. This includes our condemnation, salvation, spiritual life, death.
- a. In the integrity of God, perfect righteousness demands perfect righteousness and justice demands justice. Since man is a sinner, he can have no integrity before God unless he shares divine integrity.
- b. In perfect righteousness the divine love for integrity is revealed. In justice the divine hatred for sin, human good, and evil is revealed. Each member of the Trinity loves their integrity more than anything else. They always have and always will.

- c. What perfect righteousness demands, justice executes. Perfect righteousness rejects man's sinfulness, while justice condemns his sinfulness.
 - d. At the cross, the personal sins of mankind were imputed to the humanity of Christ and judged by the justice of God the Father.
 - e. Therefore the integrity of God supercedes the love of God. God the Father set aside His eternal love for His Son and judged Him in our place.
 - f. The imputation of perfect righteousness at salvation is the basis for all blessings to man from the integrity of God. But justice can only bless where perfect righteousness exists. Justice only blesses under two categories: logistical grace for all believers, and escrow blessings in time. The love of God is free in eternity to provide our eternal escrow blessings.
8. The documentation of divine righteousness is found in Lev 19:2; 1 Sam 2:2; Psalm 22:3, 47:8, 119:9, and many others. God is absolute good, Psalm 25:8, 34:3, 86:5, 119:68, and many others. God is perfect in person and character. God is totally free from any form of sin. God is perfect in all of His attitudes and actions. God is perfect in rejecting all human standards of righteousness, none of which are compatible with His perfect righteousness.
9. The moment you believe in Christ, God the Father imputes to you His very own righteousness with three results.
- a. The imputation of God's righteousness is the means of justification, Rom 5:1, "Therefore, being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."
 - b. The imputation of God's righteousness is a guarantee that God the Father now has personal love for us.
 - c. The imputation of God's righteousness is the basis for divine justice blessing you with logistical grace blessings which sustain your life.
10. The principle of divine integrity is divine righteousness and the function of divine integrity is divine justice. God cannot accept anything less than perfect righteousness and God cannot bless anything less than perfect righteousness. Consequently, the justice of God is the source of all direct blessing from God to the believer.
11. The righteousness of God rejects what the justice of God condemns. This means for us that the righteousness of God demands discipline of the believer who fails to execute the spiritual life of the Church Age. The justice of God administers what the righteousness of God demands.
12. Perfect divine righteousness resides in the believer from the very moment of salvation. Therefore the believer is qualified to receive life support and blessing from God under the principle of logistical grace. Mt 6:33 says, "But first seek the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things [justification at salvation, logistical grace, personal love from God] shall be provided for you."

13. Divine integrity is not cancelled because some member of the human race rejects Jesus Christ as savior. God's integrity is not cancelled because some believers fail to execute the spiritual life after salvation. Lack of integrity or virtue in mankind does not cancel the integrity or virtue of God.

14. There are three functions of the integrity of God.

a. The righteousness of God is the point of responsibility toward all the sins of the human race.

(1) Responsibility denotes something within one's own power to control. In this case, responsibility denotes the power of God related to the integrity of God.

(2) The integrity of God has eternal capacity expressed in the righteousness of God in eternity past to know the knowable simultaneously, including all human sin, and to program all of that human sin into one PROM chip in the computer of divine decrees.

(3) With all human sins in the computer of divine decrees along with the act of volition in every case, that produces a sin of cognizance or ignorance. Jesus Christ took the responsibility or burden of obligation to do something about those sins.

(4) The point of responsibility toward sin was made in eternity past by four decisions of Jesus Christ as eternal God-unlimited substitutionary atonement, propitiation (the responsibility to satisfy the justice of God), reconciliation (to fulfill the responsibility to provide salvation by grace through faith alone in Christ alone), and redemption (to fulfill the responsibility of paying for our freedom). Each one of these is related to responsibility.

(5) Responsibility is the reliability and dependability of the human nature of Jesus Christ to go to the Cross in a state of impeccability and be judged for the sins of the human race.

(6) The righteousness of God is the point of responsibility toward all the sins of the human race.

b. The justice of God is the point of contact of mankind with God since the fall of mankind for the unbeliever, spiritual blessing for the spiritual believer, and divine discipline for the carnal believer.

(1) Contact is a state of touching or meeting of two things. The two things are the justice of God making contact or meeting the unbeliever and believer of the human race.

(2) Contact with the unbeliever is our Lord's substitutionary atonement by which spiritually dead human beings enter into association with God through faith alone in Christ alone.

(3) Spiritual death is the state of total depravity-total separation from God and total helplessness to do anything about it.

(4) But the justice of God did something about it by judging our sins on the Cross, so that the point of contact for the unbeliever is faith alone in Christ alone. What the righteousness of God condemns, the justice of God judged on the Cross, so that the love of God provides a solution as expressed by the grace of God.

(5) In the point of contact, God gave the believer at the moment of salvation thirty-nine irrevocable absolutes plus one revocable absolute (the filling of the Spirit which is revoked when we sin). What the righteousness of God approves, the justice of God blesses through the love of God at the moment of salvation.

(6) The justice of God administers to the carnal believer family punishment. Since the discipline of the carnal believer is a family association (or contact), the point of reference for the contact is divine love, which is also the point of reference for the unique spiritual life of the dispensation of the Church. The reason for divine discipline is divine love. Divine discipline clears us for the point of reference-divine love.

c. The love of God is the point of reference toward the spiritual life of the believer only.

(1) Reference means to direct attention to something important, something of personal interest.

(2) Reference means recourse for the purpose of information.

(3) Reference means to endorse a person or a course of action.

(4) The point of reference from the love of God includes all of these.

(a) The point of reference from the love of God directs attention to something important-the postsalvation spiritual life of the Church Age-something of personal interest.

(b) The point of reference from the love of God provides something of personal interest-New Testament Bible doctrine.

(c) The point of reference from the love of God means recourse (access) to the infallible word of God and accurate Bible teaching for the purpose of information about the unique spiritual life.

(d) The point of reference endorses a course of action related to virtue-love and metabolization of doctrine.

(e) The point of reference is the love of God, the sponsorer of the greatest life that ever existed.

C. How the integrity of God is formed.

1. Integrity is defined in Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, 5th Ed., 1940, p. 524, "as a state or quality of being complete, undivided, unbroken, entirety, unimpaired state, soundness, uprightness."
 - a. Upright means in modern English to be righteous, to be in accord with what is right before God; therefore, to be in harmonious rapport with God, resulting in compatibility with the postsalvation spiritual life provided by God and becomes honorable relationship with the integrity of God.
 - b. The integrity of God is made up of God's righteousness, justice, and love. Jeshurun is the word Moses invented to describe the concept of the integrity of God because of how God dwelt with Moses when he committed his terrible sin. The purpose of Moses in inventing this word was to focus attention on the integrity of God and the believer's relationship to divine integrity.
 - c. Since divine integrity is the basis of our so-great salvation, it is the significance of our spiritual life; it is relationship to rebound, relationship to momentum in the spiritual life after rebound; it is the unique impact of the Jeshurun believer in all human history.
2. When you see a sentence in the Bible where any person of the Trinity is the subject, that subject represents either the essence of God or an anthropathism or an anthropomorphism, and you must recognize that subject as having perfect divine integrity.
3. God as the subject has perfect holiness with this integrity, which includes divine righteousness, justice, and love.
4. There is always a point of reference in our relationship with God. Before the fall of man the point of reference was the love of God. After the fall of man in the Garden, the point of reference was the integrity of God with emphasis on the justice of God. Out of this comes the principles of function related to the justice of God.
 - a. The principle of function in divine integrity is: What the righteousness of God demands, the justice of God executes. It is the righteousness of God that always activates grace. The righteousness of God indwelling you demands logistical grace blessing to keep you alive long enough to execute the spiritual life.
 - b. What the righteousness of God condemns, the justice of God judges. The justice of God judges the believer in love and always provides a grace recovery procedure in rebound and keep moving. Righteousness condemned sin and justice judged sin at the Cross.
 - c. What the righteousness of God approves, the justice of God blesses through the "grace of God," Jam 4:6, namely, "the fulness of blessing from God" as a love gift to the Jeshurun, Eph 3:19ff; Jam 4:10. Without divine righteousness you cannot share the happiness of God or enter into occupation with Christ, where the fulness of blessing exists.

- d. God is cognitive in this blessing and not emotional. When any form of emotion is ascribed to God, it is anthropopathic and not a true description of the essence of God.

5. Principles.

- a. The grace of God is compatible with the righteousness of God because the righteousness of God is compatible with the justice of God. They are always in sync with each other. All divine solutions to problems in life go through the grace of God. Even divine discipline comes from the grace of God.
 - (1) There is a sense of responsibility that comes with integrity. True integrity is your sensitivity to others that do not understand your integrity.
 - (2) Love and grace are just as much a part of spiritual integrity in the believer as the righteousness and justice of the believer.
 - (3) With integrity your life has great meaning, purpose, and definition as a witness for God against Satan in the prehistoric angelic conflict.
- b. The love of God for the believer is not compromised because at salvation every believer receives the imputed righteousness of God. God can now love us with a personal love.
- c. The grace and love of God are part of the spiritual life principle of harmonious rapport with God. But they are more than that; they are a part of the Jeshurun concept in the spiritual life. They are a part of the integrity of God. This principle is stated in 2 Cor 13:14, "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with all of you."
- d. The righteousness of God cannot be compromised or contradicted by any decision of the sovereignty of God. It can be compromised by any decision of the volition of mankind. When this happens, the punishment is great. Nevertheless love and grace are still present.
- e. This is why the righteousness of God condemned all of the sins of human history, so that the justice of God could judge each and every one of them at the Cross. It was the love of God, extending through the grace of God, that provided the solution to the personal sins of mankind. The integrity of God not only condemned and judged man's sinfulness but also found a solution to the problem of man's sinfulness. Love functions through grace, righteousness functions through justice, and all these characteristics are a part of the integrity of God.

6. 1 Jn 4:16-19.

- a. 1 Jn 4:16, "And so we have come to know and have believed the love which God has for us. God is love, and the one who remains in that love remains in association with God, and God remains in association with him."

(1) God relates to us through His integrity with emphasis on His love. The integrity of God establishes a permanent relationship with the believer classified as eternal security, and the integrity of God establishes a temporal relationship with the believer through the postsalvation spiritual life. Through the function of Bible doctrine circulating in the stream of consciousness the believer relates to God on a daily basis all the way to spiritual maturity. But even for the carnal believer, God's love remains because of the imputation of divine righteousness at salvation.

(2) We start out relating to God through our total depravity. We have nothing to recommend ourselves to God. We do not relate to God, He relates to us. When God relates to us, He relates to us through the revelation of Himself. The revelation of Himself is found in the vocabulary, thoughts, and concepts of Bible doctrine contained in the word of God. Unfortunately, we have a lot of believers trying to relate to God based on their emotions. There is no spiritual life in relating to God based on your emotions.

(3) You cannot relate anything to God until you understand how God relates to you. God related to you in eternity past before you ever existed. God dwelt with us in eternity past with the same integrity with which He deals with us now.

(4) This verse indicates that we now have a personal sense of destiny from the process of listening to the teaching of a pastor, and we have an understanding of the integrity of God through an understanding of God's love. The love of God is just as much a part of the integrity of God as the justice of God. The grace of God is just as much a part of divine integrity as the righteousness of God. They all function together. God never disciplines you apart from divine love. God loves you with a far greater love than any human being is capable of giving you.

(5) "God is love" means that love was an eternal part of His integrity and always a divine attribute of the essence of God.

(a) God does not relate to us through emotion, but through His integrity. We try to instruct God when we try to assign to God a characteristic which we think He ought to have which He does not have (such as emotion).

(b) Do not superimpose on God anthropathic or anthropomorphic statements as being the essence of God. The fact that God deals with us in compassion is wonderful as language of accommodation, but compassion is not a characteristic of God. Integrity is infinitely greater than compassion. We profit from understanding anthropathic and anthropomorphic statements, but do not use these statements to instruct God in what His characteristics should be.

- (i) God in essence is love as a part of His divine integrity.
 - (ii) God has personal love for His own perfect righteousness. This is divine self-esteem.
 - (iii) God has personal love for the other members of the Trinity. God has personal love for all members of the human race who believe in Christ and share the righteousness of God.
 - (iv) God has impersonal love for all members of spiritually dead mankind from His integrity.
- (6) 1 Jn 5:11-13, "And the witness is this that God has given to us eternal life and this life is in His Son. He who has the Son has the life, and he who does not have the Son does not have this life. These things I have written to you who believe in the person of the Son of God in order that you may know that you have eternal life."
- b. 1 Jn 4:17, "Because of this, virtue-love has been brought to completion with us, that we may have confidence in the day of evaluation [the judgment seat of Christ]; because just as He is [humanity of Christ executing the prototype spiritual life], so also are we in this world [advancing to maturity in the operational spiritual life]."
- (1) The phrase "with us" means in the company of other positive believers who persist in the execution of the unique spiritual life. It denotes the company with whom you advance. You have the opportunity of maximum glorification of God as no one else ever had it. You have the opportunity to execute the greatest spiritual life which has ever existed.
 - (2) The phrase "bringing to completion" includes salvation, execution of the postsalvation spiritual life, and resurrection.
 - (3) For those who advance to maturity and take the objective of maximum glorification of God, they can have confidence in what is going to take place at the judgment seat of Christ after the Rapture of the Church.
 - (4) 1 Jn 2:8, "And now my children, stay in fellowship with Him that if He should appear [the Rapture], we may have confidence and not shrink away from Him in shame at His presence." This requires rebound to stay promotable in the spiritual life. None of us advance in the spiritual life or execute the spiritual life without rebound. Rebound is not a license to sin, but divine permission to continue your spiritual life.
 - (5) 1 Cor 15:34, "Come to your senses in a righteous manner [rebound]; for some believers have no knowledge of God. I speaking this to your shame." Rebound is compatibility with the integrity of God. Believers who are ignorant of the plan of God and the use of rebound will have shame at the evaluation of the Church.

- (6) Phil 3:18c-19, "that you are enemies of the Cross, whose destiny is loss [of escrow blessings], whose god is their emotion, and their glory came to be associated with their shame." Emotion is not a part of the spiritual life. We have appreciation as the proper function of emotion in our souls, but this is not the means of our spiritual advance. Your glory is the fact that you are living as a member of the royal family of God in the Church Age. But for the loser believer, their glory will be associated with their shame.
 - (7) 2 Cor 5:10, "For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that each one may receive a reward for the things accomplished in the body according to what he has done whether good of intrinsic value [the execution of the spiritual life] or worthless [everything related to carnality, failure to rebound, and failure to execute the spiritual life]."
 - (8) Rev 3:11, "And I will be coming suddenly. Keep on holding fast to what you have, so that no one takes away your crown."
- c. 1 Jn 4:18, "There is no fear in virtue-love; but perfect love casts out fear, because fear has punishment, and the one who fears has not been brought to completion by virtue-love."
- (1) Fear represents the emotional complex of sins, which includes: worry, anxiety, panic. Fear focuses on the problem rather than the solution. The other categories of the emotional complex of sins includes: hatred, self-pity, reaction, and guilt.
 - (2) Fear and the function of your spiritual life are mutually exclusive. 2 Tim 1:7, "For God has not given us a lifestyle of fear, but of power and of virtue-love and of sound judgment."
 - (3) The alternative to fear is the faith-rest drill. Psalm 56:2-3, "My enemies have trampled on me all day long; for many fight against me with arrogance. What time I am afraid, I will trust in You." Fear emphasizes the problem; faith emphasizes the solution.
 - (4) Virtue-love is compatible with divine integrity and it reflects divine love as a part of the integrity of God.
 - (5) The more things you surrender to fear, the more things you fear. The extent to which you surrender to fear, the greater your capacity for fear. The greater your capacity for fear, the more you increase the power of fear in your life. The more you increase the power of fear in your life, the greater your failure to execute the four mechanics of the spiritual life (the utilization of the two power options, the function of the three spiritual skills, the deployment of the ten problem solving devices on the defense line of the soul, and the execute of the three stages of the adult spiritual life).

- (6) Fear is both irrational and irresponsible. It results in garbage in the subconscious and distraction from the unique spiritual life of the Church Age. Therefore, fear functions in the emotional complex of sins; it utilizes the arrogance complex of sins, and it destroys the problem solving devices.
 - (7) Fear replaces Bible doctrine with the attack of the four horsemen of apostasy: emotional revolt of the soul, locked-in negative volition, blackout of the soul, and scar tissue of the soul. Fear panics when the four horsemen of apostasy attack and the believer loses the battle of stress in the soul. The hysteria and panic which overcomes the carnal believer immobilizes the problem solving devices. Fear creates stress. Stress in the soul contradicts the unique spiritual life of the Church Age. The only solution to stress in the soul is rebound and counterattack by the use of 2Peter 3:18, "grow in grace and the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ."
 - (8) When you allow stress to invade your soul, you have defeated your own spiritual life.
 - (9) Mt 10:28-31, "Do not fear those who kill the body but are unable to kill the soul; but rather fear Him [Jesus Christ] who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell. Are not two sparrows sold for a penny? And yet not one of them will fall to the ground apart from your Father. Now the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Therefore, stop being afraid; you are more valuable than many sparrows."
 - (a) The power of Satan and the power of evil have no power over the believer beyond the grave. The ultimate in victory over fear is the believer's ability to face death without fear.
 - (b) If the integrity of God cares for the sparrow, how much more will the integrity of God care for the believer. God knows every detail about your life, therefore, you are commanded to stop being afraid.
- d. 1 Jn 4:19, "We love, because He first loved us."
- (1) "We" refers to the believers who have reached the adult stage of the spiritual life. This is when we have confidence in God as a part of our personal sense of destiny.
 - (2) Since love is a part of the integrity of God, it must also be a part of the spiritual life. We must have virtue-love as a part of our spiritual life. Integrity-love belongs to God; virtue-love belongs to the believer who has entered the adult spiritual life. "We love" must be directed toward God the Father. If you do not have personal love for God the Father, you will have nothing but cheap substitutes. Unless you have a love for God, you have no spiritual life. We love in time because God loved in eternity past.

- (3) The integrity of God set the pattern for virtue-love in eternity past. The virtue of that divine love is righteousness and justice. The righteousness and justice of God made the love of God honorable. The love of God motivated the grace of God, so that this virtue is shared with you as a believer. The expression of that love is antecedent grace in eternity past, manifest to us in time through the word of God. Righteousness and justice is the internal action of integrity; love and grace is the overt function of integrity.
- (4) To honor Christ, we must be honorable. To be promotable, we must be compatible with the integrity of God, which means we must have virtue-love. All promotions in the postsalvation spiritual life are the function of the integrity of God with emphasis on more or greater grace of Jam 4:6.
- (5) Love is not a matter of attraction, but capacity. God's love has eternal capacity from His perfect essence. The believer's virtue-love has capacity from the execution of the spiritual life. Virtue-love is honorable when the believer executes the unique spiritual life of the Church Age.
- (6) The pattern for love is integrity or virtue. Perfect and eternal God has perfect and eternal love. This love belongs co-equally to each member of the Trinity. Because God is sovereign, His love is self-motivated. God's love exists eternally, unsustained by Himself or any other source. God's love will never be tarnished by reaction to our failures. Because God is immutable, His love cannot be changed by any form of creature failure. Because God is omniscient, God's love functions in a rational manner, devoid of any emotional content or irrational reaction. God is perfect wisdom, which does not have emotion. Therefore, the love of God is neither irrational or emotional. God's love is not based on human attraction. Because God is holy, His love is incorruptible and can only function in perfect integrity, perfect honor, and perfect virtue. The virtue-love of the spiritual life can only function in human honor, integrity, and virtue as provided by the four mechanics of the spiritual life.
- (7) Therefore, it is more important to have God's love than to be loved by people. God's love cannot be bribed with good deeds. God's love cannot be patronized by legalism or Christian activism. God's love cannot be disappointed, frustrated, or distracted. God's love is not sustained by any form of human attraction. God's love is not emotional. God's love cannot be bought by good behavior. Discipline from God does not imply or suggest any change in God's love for us.

- (8) It is impossible for God to compromise either His righteousness or justice in the expression of divine love. Neither divine love or righteousness is ever compromised.
- (9) The spiritual dynamics of virtue-love are found in 2 Cor 13:14, "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God [F], and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with all of you." Gal 5:22, "The profit [gain] from the Spirit is virtue-love." Rom 5:5, "and absolute confidence does not disappoint, because the love for God has been poured out within our hearts through the Holy Spirit who has been given to us." Virtue and values of the spiritual life include not only honor and integrity but a system of thinking from Bible doctrine in the stream of consciousness.

D. Integrity of God Related to the Mosaic Law.

1. Self-righteousness is excluded from any phase of the plan of God. Self-righteousness is the overt manifestation of arrogance. Keeping the outward form of the Mosaic Law only produced arrogance in the Jew.
2. Imputed perfect righteousness and self-righteousness are mutually exclusive.
3. Self-righteousness brings cursing from the justice of God, while the imputation of perfect righteousness sets up the basis for blessing from the justice of God.
4. Distortion of the Mosaic Law produces a self-righteousness which is hostile to the imputation of perfect righteousness. This is why the Jews, during the First Advent of Christ, rejected His offer of a salvation, which provided the imputation of God's righteousness.
5. The true purpose of the Mosaic Law is not to produce self-righteousness, but to condemn man and his resources, as well as self-righteousness as the means of blessing from God.
6. The only benefit which comes from God, comes through adjustment to the justice of God at salvation, rebound, and maturity.
7. The failure of certain members of the human race has never abrogated the integrity of God. The integrity of God is not cancelled because the believer fails to utilize logistical grace. Lack of integrity in man has never cancelled the integrity of God toward us.
8. The justice of God is the source of both blessing or cursing, but is never neutral doing nothing. The very function of the justice of God maintains the integrity of God.
9. Since God is infinite, eternal, invisible and incomprehensible, it is necessary for God to reveal Himself to mankind, and He does so through Bible doctrine. The content of the Bible reveals and vindicates the integrity of God. Through comprehension of doctrine we learn of the integrity of God and adjust to His justice. If we learn doctrine, we come to share the thinking of divine integrity.

10. Man by man's efforts seeks to acquire human integrity. Such activity maligns God and ignores His grace. For man to be justified before God, he must possess the righteousness of God.

E. The Integrity of God and Human Self-Righteousness.

1. The integrity of God is infinite, absolute, and eternal.
2. It is not the mere absence of sin, but the sum total of His divine attributes, their perfection, and their infinity.
3. The integrity of God is not maintained by the will or sovereignty of God. It is His immutable Self. Nor is it maintained by the self-righteousness of man.
4. Divine perfect righteousness totally rejects man's self-righteousness. God in grace provides all that His integrity demands of the human race. Therefore there is nothing man can do to destroy or compromise the integrity of God.
5. God does not need our help or our relative righteousness. We need His help, His perfect righteousness.
6. Imputed perfect righteousness is where God begins to share His integrity with us. God didn't do this from human sentimentality or emotional attraction to our pleasing personality.
7. All of our righteousnesses are as menstrual rags in His sight, Isa 64:6.
8. Neither man's sinfulness or self-righteousness advances the glory of God. Only God can glorify God. Divine integrity advances the glory of God. Only what God has provided for man in grace can glorify God.
9. Any member of the human race who ignores his personal sins as a manifestation of spiritual death, and at the same time presents his self-righteousness to God for salvation, has neither respect nor awe for the integrity of God.
10. Maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation means no relationship with the integrity of God, no eternal life, and no imputed perfect righteousness. Therefore the justice of God can only condemn the unbeliever. The unbeliever can only be blessed through association with the mature believer.

F. Summary.

1. No nation can possess freedom, prosperity, or blessing apart from the integrity of God.
2. Social, political, and economic reform, apart from the integrity of God, is useless. To try such reform only intensifies the problem. Believers who ignore this principle become self-righteous do-gooders, who intensify the problem, thus creating chaos, national degeneration, revolution, and historical catastrophe.
3. Political and theological liberalism seeks social and political reform apart from the integrity of God.
4. The integrity of God is never arbitrary. As long as God is God, He must punish sin, human good, evil, self-righteousness, and reversionism. This explains the Mosaic Law as an instrument of condemnation rather than for salvation or justification.

5. Law is incapable of making man righteous before the integrity of God. The Law cannot justify, only the justice of God can do that.
6. Justification is a judicial act from the justice of God recognizing the imputation of perfect righteousness at the moment of faith in Christ.
7. Justification is not forgiveness. Forgiveness is subtraction, justification is addition: the addition of perfect righteousness.
8. Justification is the basis for the first a fortiori of blessing in time: If God can provide the greater in the imputation of perfect righteousness, then it follows with stronger reason (a fortiori), that He will not withhold the less in the imputation of blessings in time.
9. There is nothing mankind can do to destroy or compromise the integrity of God. The integrity of God stands eternally without any help from mankind. That is why everything is grace. Legalism does not promote the integrity of God.
10. God has found a way to bless mankind without compromising His divine integrity through the imputation of divine righteousness at the point of salvation. Only divine integrity or holiness advances the integrity of God. Only God can glorify God. Therefore, what God provides in grace glorifies God. Man glorifies God through cognition and utilization of grace provision—living grace followed by dying grace.

Spiritual Dynamics 1240 2/19/98; 1070-86, 6/15/97, 1046, 1051-52; Romans 3/20/79; 6/16/77; 4/1/77

R. B. Thieme, Jr. Bible Ministries 5139 West Alabama, Houston, Texas 77056 (713) 621-3740

c 1993, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

God is love; and He loves His integrity and He loves the other Members of the Trinity. There is also the anthropopathism of love. We have a generation of people who lack integrity so they cannot understand integrity.

Bob covers love 1 versus love 2 in greater detail, not included above.

1977 Romans

Lesson #70

70 04/03/1977 Romans 2:28; Psalm 118:1–4, 8–9 True cf. false Jew; meaning of Palm Sunday

A religious or political liberal cannot have integrity. They can have sincerity as a cover for integrity. Wherever you find religion and liberalism, you find hypocrisy. This overflows into fundamentalist Christianity to which we are a part. God cannot love us or love the world without compromising His integrity. But this makes it easy for ignorant ones to understand the policies of God.

Romans 2:28 For the one on the outside a Jew is not, neither that on the outside in flesh is circumcision.

Verse 28 – “For he is not a Jew.” The word “for” is the postpositive conjunctive particle gar, and since it is postpositive it is the second word. The first word in the sentence is ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook], which is the negative, and we translate this “Consequently, not.” The gar is used in an inferential sense for a self-evident conclusion. Also in the first part of the verse, the present active indicative of eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME], the verb to be. The descriptive present tense plus the negative indicates what is not now going on. The categories described here are Jew by race and Jew by nationality, but not Jew in the true sense of the word. The active voice: the racial Jew produces the action of the verb by not being a true Jew. The indicative mood is declarative, and plus the negative it represents the verbal idea from the viewpoint of negative reality.

“which is one outwardly” – the nominative masculine singular definite article used for a relative pronoun. Then the preposition en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental of phanerós (φανερός) [pronounced fahn-er-OSS], an adjective meaning visible, clear, evident, overt manifestation. The prepositional phrase is translated as an adverb—“outwardly.” Many of the Jews of Paul’s time had assumed that they had a relationship with God on the basis of their own spiritual heritage distorted. The false Jew is keeping the law for salvation, he is observing the ritual of circumcision for salvation. Keeping the law, the overt manifestation, is the issue with the false Jew.

The Jews distorted the meaning of the Law and of circumcision. They understood that these things gave them commendation. The problem is, they believe that some development of an exterior righteousness will be enough to get them past God.

We have to fill in with some English words here to make a good English sentence. There is no exact Greek equivalent, except the syntax. “Consequently, he is not a Jew by overt manifestation.” But overt manifestation we include the ritual of circumcision as well as keeping the Mosaic law.

“neither” – the negative conjunction oude (οὐδέ) [pronounced oo-DEH] which joins two negative clauses; “is circumcision” – we have to translate this “that category which is by overt manifestation” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus sarx (σάρξ) [pronounced sarx], “in flesh” or “by overt manifestation.”

Romans 2:28 Consequently, he is not a Jew who is one by overt manifestation; neither is circumcision that category which is external by overt manifestation.

The Distortion of the Law and Circumcision

1. Keeping the law in terms of legalism for adjustment to the justice of God—which is the practice of Judaism—is not the true reason or purpose for the Jewish race.

2. By placing a distorted emphasis on circumcision as a ritual, and keeping the law for salvation, the racial Jew lost the true meaning and purpose for Israel as custodians of doctrine, as a priest nation designed to make three adjustments to the justice of God in time.
3. Therefore there emerges historically a false Jew. Physically he has the genes of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, but spiritually he does not follow the adjustments to the justice of God made by Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.
4. The false Jew is both racially and nationally a Jew, but spiritually he is maladjusted to the justice of God through the externals and superficialities of Judaism.
5. Ritual does not save, does not provide salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Ritual always portrays some aspect of the integrity of God, but no one has ever been saved by any ritual.
6. Therefore circumcision was a ritual but doctrine resident in Abraham's soul was the reality. The issue is doctrine in the soul, not the ritual of circumcision; the issue is doctrine in the soul, not the ritual of baptism.
7. No one can be a true Jew in the spiritual connotation without the reality of all three adjustments to the justice of God.
8. Legalism skims off the top, taking only that which arrogance will accept. I just accept what appeals to me. Arrogance accepts the ritual, but not what the ritual stands for.
9. The false Jew does not adjust to the justice of God, even though he has the accutraments of the law.
10. Through arrogance, the Jews applies his own ability to the Law.
11. This is why the Levitical offerings acts as a Sentry to legalism. The false Jew is not related to the integrity of God.

The commandments of the Mosaic Law are not designed to commend us to God. Codex #2 presents Jesus Christ as the only Savior.

The false Jew had no relation to the integrity of God, and no greater demonstration of this than that which we have on Palm Sunday. Palm Sunday occurred exactly one week before the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the first Palm Sunday was the greatest tragedy in history; it led to the downfall of the nation. The Jews on that Palm Sunday took the attitude that the whole purpose of everything was to get political reform. They wanted political reform and they knew that Jesus could provide it. He could provide the reform necessary to break the yoke of Rome—which was really protecting them—and to make it possible for them to use their authority for tyranny. In the name of political reform the politicians, who were the members of the Sanhedrin, and the people of the land were now turning to Jesus because they wanted Him to reform the nation. Their attitude was the same as believers' attitude today. But what they failed to realize was that political reform minus the integrity of God is useless, meaningless, and merely accelerates disaster. That was the great issue in the first Palm Sunday. When the integrity of God is not involved there is no such thing as permanent political reform. People wanted Jesus to seize the reins of government and reform it. You cannot have the kingdom without the cross.

100 year of civil war in war by the Gricus brothers, two ancient liberals. Liberals sees that something needs to be done and they always seek political reform without involving the integrity of God.

A study of Palm Sunday, to see about the Jews in that era; and now, those who are in Rome.

We first must understand the purpose of the two advents.

Jesus was born in the era of Tiberius, about 3 years before the change over from B.C. to A.D. Jesus came into the world as the God-man. He will, in 5 days, hang on the cross and pay the penalty for our sins.

Jesus came at a time when the Jews wanted political reform, but without adjusting to the integrity of God. The second advent of Christ is to fulfill the promises of God.

The dispensation of Israel. The period of the patriarchs, from Abraham to Moses. That was the period of the race; the formation of the Jewish race.

Jesus, when He ascended, became a new king of royalty, the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords. The Age of Israel came to a sudden halt. In A.D. 70, we also begin the times of the gentiles. The Jews failed to relate their nation to the integrity of God; so this begins the times of the gentiles.

In the Millennium, the Jews would begin as a client nation again.

The feasts of Israel are also related to the future history of Israel.

Pentecost is the 4th feast, and this is the setting aside of the firstfruits in June.

Long period of time, then a feast. Then the feast of Trumpets which is the regathering of Israel. The feast of the tabernacles, we have the new nation of Israel.

Palm Sunday Distortions

1. The purpose of studying Palm Sunday is understanding the integrity of God and our relationship to it. The true and the false Jews. The false Jew has the false standards.
2. Either we adjustment to the justice of God or justice of God adjust to us.
3. The Roman province of Judæa was a priest nation.
4. They wanted political independence and prosperity without the integrity of God.
5. They wanted freedom and prosperity based upon their self-righteousness and keeping the Law. The United States wants political reform without relating it to the integrity of God. We want it based upon the self-righteousness of liberalism.
6. Political reform is meaningless without the integrity of God. It does not matter who got elected as president. Nations rise and fall based upon their relationship to the integrity of God. Every generation of America had a large pivot; and this is why we were so blessed. We miss the boat if we run around trying to solve the political problems with politics. You cannot change the American government, which is evil and immoral. History has nations rising and falling all of the time. Our republic only worked because it was related to the integrity of God.

7. Political reform apart from the integrity of God is built upon sand.
8. No nation can enjoy true freedom apart from the integrity of God. Welfare statist is an illusion; as is socialism and communism. The Jews at this time wanted Jesus to leave the plan of God.

Today, the federal government takes the taxpayers' money and calls it federal funds. It all started with Abraham Lincoln. The federal government had not right to step into the southern states to stop slavery. Violence is only allowed for a policeman involved with stopping crime. The courts can prescribe violence against individuals for their crimes. When the federal government uses violence, that government is tyrannical. We have lost the ability to see that the power and dynamics of this nation are spiritual. The voice of the people at that time were wrong. They wanted political reform; they did not want the plan of God.

Self-righteousness and arrogance are always characteristics of liberals and liberal-run governments.

We will start with the Jewish national anthem found in Psalm 118; then we will examine Mark 11 and 12.

Liberalism is the enemy of freedom. The only hope for our country is the adjustment to the justice of God. A slave could have true freedom on a plantation because his master led him to Jesus Christ. Many slaves were saved and born again and had better environment than their grandchildren and great grandchildren had.

Today the blacks are being used by politicians to bring about political reform without the integrity of God.

Psalm 118:1 Oh give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; for His grace endures forever [or, His grace is eternal]!

Psalm 118:2 Let Israel say, "His grace endures forever [or, His grace is eternal]."

Psalm 118:3 Let the house of Aaron say, "His grace endures forever."

Psalm 118:4 Let those who are in awe of the LORD say, "His grace endures forever."

Psalm 118:8 It is better to take refuge in the LORD than to trust in man.

Psalm 118:9 It is better to take refuge in the LORD than to trust in princes [= politicians].

1977 Romans

Lesson #71

71 04/03/1977 Romans 2:28 via Psalm 118:1–4, 8–9 (Review) true issues of Palm Sunday; national anthem of Israel

Psalm 118 was sung on many occasions. It is the closest thing to a national anthem which Israel had.

Psalm 118:1 Oh give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; for His grace endures forever [or, His grace is eternal]!

Psalm 118:2 Let Israel say, "His grace endures forever [or, His grace is eternal]."

Psalm 118:3 Let the house of Aaron say, "His grace endures forever."

Psalm 118:4 Let those who are in awe of the LORD say, "His grace endures forever."

Psalm 118:8 It is better to take refuge in the LORD than to trust in man.

Man is not helpful when it comes to trusting in.

Psalm 118:9 It is better to take refuge in the LORD than to trust in princes [= politicians].

Israel's future as a priest nation. Those who have believed in Jesus Christ can share in the future blessings promised to nation Israel. We live in a time of gentile priest nations.

The 4th race began based upon the total adjustment to the justice of God.

Psalm 118:14 The LORD is my strength and my song; he has become my salvation.

Only the true Jew can sing this verse. The true Jew is the regenerate Jew.

Psalm 118:15 Glad songs of salvation are in the tents of the righteous: "The right hand of the LORD has accomplished integrity,...

The Jews being scattered all over the world, and the Lord will restore them.

God has accomplished integrity.

Psalm 118:16 ...the right hand of the LORD exalts [= resurrection, ascension and session], the right hand of the LORD does valiantly!"

Jesus Christ was raised from the dead; a royalty, which calls for the Church Age and the halting of the Jewish age.

Psalm 118:17 I shall not die, but I shall live, and recount [or, narrate] the deeds of the LORD.

V. 17 is the resurrection of the Lord. David writing this is about his recovery from reversionism; and the Jews speak of this prophetically.

All blessings emanate from the justice of God.

Psalm 118:18 The LORD has disciplined me severely, but he has not given me over to death.

This is David.

Psalm 118:19 Open to me the gates of righteousness, that I may enter through them and give thanks to the LORD.

This was sung any time that they marched to the Temple. Sung at the Passover; at the final Passover; and in the Upper room (part of it or all of it).

Psalm 118:20 This is the gate of the LORD; the righteous shall enter through it.

Everything in the Temple was related to the integrity of God. The gate of God is the entrance into the gates of the Temple courtyard. Entering in there without being adjusted to the justice of God would be blasphemy.

The people wanted Jesus as a political leader to handle political reform and to overthrow the Romans.

You must know God's integrity. No believer can understand the righteousness of God apart from Bible doctrine.

People think that a personality overhaul is the solution.

Asceticism is just another form of self-righteousness; and this does not make points with God.

Yah means that the Jewish believers are giving thanks to a very specific God. You cannot be thankful for the justice of God if you harbor any self-righteousness. Our relationship to the justice of God is much preferred over the love of God. This understanding must be verbalized.

The book of Romans is designed to take gentile believers to maturity (which Hebrews is designed to do for Jewish believers).

A lot of people think that God is impressed because you cry, or you do something for humanity, or that your personality has been changed enough to impress God. We are creatures who learn; and God knows everything. God knows all what happened and all that could happen. "God can get along without me, and I know this; and He can get along without you...do you know it?"

When you enter into the gates, you had better know what you are doing.

God loves His righteousness, not yours and not mine. "Just because you are very dull and people admire the fact that you don't have fun..."

Hosanna means deliver us now; and that is what the people on Palm Sunday wanted before the crucifixion. They wanted prosperity without divine integrity. They wanted social and political reform without divine integrity. Communism wants to reform the world without the integrity of God; the UN wants to reform the world without the integrity of God; some for the world council of churches.

Psalm 118:20 This is the gate of the LORD; the righteous shall enter through it.

This righteousness is the imputed righteousness from salvation adjustment to the justice of God.

Psalm 118:21 I thank you that you have answered me and have become my salvation.

Psalm 118:22 The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone.

They rejected the stone, which is Jesus Christ. This is maladjustment to the justice of God. Jesus is the chief cornerstone, the ruler of Israel and the head of the church. This is His place as the chief cornerstone. This is quoted 3x in Acts, 1Peter and Mark.

Psalm 118:23 This is the LORD's doing; it is marvelous in our eyes.

What is marvelous in our eyes is the integrity of God; and then that the justice of God judged our sins; and the third thing is the justice of God can provide us with salvation.

The integrity of God blessed the Lord Jesus Christ with a Divine title. It is marvelous in our eyes because we understand the love of God.

The second advent is vv. 24–26. The second advent is prophesied in

Psalm 118:24 This is the day that the LORD has made; let us rejoice and be glad in it.

This is the fulfillment of the integrity of God. Prophesied in Isaiah 2:12 13:6, 9 34: 8 Jeremiah 46:10 Joel 1:5 2:1, 11 Zeph. 1:7

Psalm 118:25 Save us, we pray, O LORD! O LORD, we pray, send us prosperity now!

This is “Hosanna.” Forget about the integrity of God; just give us better circumstances. Better money for salaries; some kind of a deal; and they all think they can find it apart from the integrity of God. This is why people listen to the promises of politicians.

“Send us prosperity now!” They did not quote this second half of the verse; but this is what they wanted. They did not want the Romans to hear.

Psalm 118:26 Blessed is he who comes in the name of the LORD! We bless you from the house of the LORD.

They quoted the first line, but not the second half. They were trying to hide what they were doing. But God is not in favor of the revolution now or ever.

Some person Bob knows took a course called the Civil War and not a single battle was discussed. Grades were based upon a project. These two wars were not revolutions but wars for independence.

They were casting their votes for Jesus, but they refused to admit it.

People are fickle and this same group ridiculed Him when He was on the cross. Political reform is evil without divine integrity involved.

Psalm 118:27 The LORD is God, and he has made his light to shine upon us. Bind the festal sacrifice with cords, up to the horns of the altar!

Psalm 118:28 You are my God, and I will give thanks to you; you are my God; I will extol you.

Psalm 118:29 Oh give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; for his steadfast love endures forever!

They wanted to skip the Passover and go to the feast of the tabernacles. When the integrity of God is not involved, you lose your freedom. God does not sponsor anything that means you lose your freedom. The Russian revolution enslaved more people than any place in history (including the slaves in China and Cuba).

1977 Romans

Lesson #72

72 04/04/1977 Romans 2 via Mark 11:1–10 Israel's maladjustment to the justice of God, wanted the crown before the cross

Senator Culver says that our military is in a shocking state of readiness. This is a democrat who visited 12 bases and he reviewed many documents received since then.

Bob was a major at age 23.

The only thing that really counts in life is the integrity of God and whether or not we adjust to it. A liberal wants to solve the problems of life apart from the integrity of God. The people voted unanimously to elect Jesus as their king/leader. Liberals want to regulate life and to regulate people. There is no social reform, political reform, etc. apart from the integrity of God.

We will study the first Palm Sunday, their attempt to solve man's problems. The spiritual factor involves a relationship with the integrity of God. Bob keeps talking about Matthew 11, but it is Mark 11.

Mark 11:1 Now when they drew near to Jerusalem, to Bethphage and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives, Jesus sent two of his disciples

Jerusalem is built on a series of hills. There was a hill to the east of Jerusalem, and there were several beautiful residential areas over there. Jesus spends a quiet Sabbath at Bethany, and he attends a dinner party at Simon the leper. The guests include Lazarus and Mary and Martha and the 12 disciples. Mary anoints the feet of the Lord in preparation for His burial. Many people were seeking out the Lord Jesus Christ. They had heard of the resurrection of Lazarus. They realized that there was someone there who could solve their problems.

Jesus was sending two disciples into a village to fetch a colt.

Mark 11:2 and said to them, "Go into the village in front of you, and immediately as you enter it you will find a colt tied, on which no one has ever sat. Untie it and bring it.

Apparently there was provision made for this.

Mark 11:3 If anyone says to you, 'Why are you doing this?' say, 'The Lord has need of it and will send it back here immediately.'"

Mark 11:4 And they went away and found a colt tied at a door outside in the street, and they untied it.

Mark 11:5 And some of those standing there said to them, "What are you doing, untying the colt?"

Mark 11:6 And they told them what Jesus had said, and they let them go.

Mark 11:7 And they brought the colt to Jesus and threw their cloaks on it, and he sat on it.

One man gave a huge amount to Jerusalem. Liberals are divorced from the integrity of God and from establish. They want to abolish the death sentence for criminals. They want to take away our freedoms so to have greater control and to "fix" more problems.

FDR turned over a third of the people of the world to slavery. Pettiness and jealousy have always been a part of our culture. In a nation, it is the attitude of every person in that nation which counts. We want freedom, we want blessing for all. Everyone has their hand out and Uncle Sam has become Uncle Sugar. SS will go down in history as the greatest theft and misappropriation of funds in the world.

People are unstable, particularly in groups.

Mark 11:8 And many spread their cloaks on the road, and others spread leafy branches that they had cut from the fields.

These people are taking off their cloaks and letting the colt walk over them; and they want Jesus to make it stop hurting, failing to recognize that He was God as well as man. The people were looking for someone who could perform a miracle.

The White House reflects the disease of reversionism. People want the Millennium and perfect environment apart from the integrity of God. The only solution is a spiritual solution. Bob pauses long enough to sneer.

These cloaks thrown down because this was the behavior which was right for a king.

They will say, 4 or 5 days later, "Save Yourself and save us." No nation saves anything unless believers have a relationship to the integrity of God.

The problems that we see are symptoms of what is underneath.

People thought that education is the answer and it is not.

They are calling Jesus King, but 4 days hence, they will cry out, Crucify Him!

Messiah would be the branch in several passages. So these people cut down branches from trees nearby and spread them in the street.

Mark 11:9 And those who went before and those who followed were shouting, "Hosanna! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord!"

There are two crowds here. Crowd B are those who came after. They are shouting out, "Hosanna." This is a quotation from Psalm 118:25 the first line; not the second; then they quote the first line of v. 26, but not the second. This was their conspiracy.

These people want the crown apart from the cross. They want to leave out the integrity of God.

Then they add to Scripture:

Mark 11:10 Blessed is the coming kingdom of our father David! Hosanna in the highest!"

They are twisting things around so that the Romans won't get it. They believed that Jesus would take care of things right then and there.

Jesus will return at the 2nd advent as the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, with a double coronation. He wears crowns, in the plural. One crown for the Jews and the other as ruler of the world. He will provide everything that they want. He will provide perfect environment. 1000 years of perfect environment, exactly what the liberals desire. Perfect weather. There will be millions of people who will not believe in Jesus during this time. When Satan is loosed from prison, he will lead the greatest environment anyone could have. Perfect environment, no war, paid vacations; work for all. Guaranteed income. Magnificent income.

Time after time, people get what they want; and when they get it, they don't want it. Life is meaningless without capacity for life. You could have everything that you have ever dreamed of, and you have nothing unless you have a relationship with the integrity of God.

They people want to bypass the cross because the cross is tied directly to God's integrity. Every person who says no to the cross means that he is automatically a liberal. Liberals think in terms of solving problems apart from the integrity of God.

These are sweet people, but on Wednesday, they will cry out crucify Him!

Summary

1. The crowd distorted the Scripture by eliminating two lines of the anthem.
2. O Lord, send us prosperity now, which is what they wanted, but were afraid to say it because the Romans were there. Liberals are always involved in conspiracies. They always want to overthrow the establishment. They do not say what they want, but they conspire to get it. People have not changed.
3. They wanted historical prosperity including freedom from Rome (which protected them). They wanted the eagles out of Jerusalem. Across the Euphrates river was the great Parthian empire, and Rome kept them out.
4. They wanted political and government reform apart from adjustment to the justice of God.
5. Without the justice of God, political reform is meaningless.
6. Political reform must come from the justice of God brought about by a pivot. Great period of Roman empire with great blessing and prosperity.
7. The second thing they omitted. V. 26b we have blessed you from the house of the Lord. This requires adjustment to the justice of God in order to quote it.
8. The crowd was maladjusted to the justice of God.
9. Maladjusted Jews automatically reject the 1st advent of Christ, true today.
10. Prosperity personal and national is the result of adjustment to the justice of God.
11. Political reform is meaningless apart from adjustment to the justice of God
12. Satan tries to put the crown before the cross in Matthew 4. This crowd on the first Palm Sunday are desiring the same thing.

13. They wanted prosperity without adjusting to the justice of God. They put down their cloaks, they put down palm branches and they shout out Scripture.
14. Our Lord had perfect integrity; and they had no arrogance; no pride, no vanity. A person without arrogance can survive praise and recognition. Some people live for that.
15. The cross must come before the crown.

Mark 11:11 And he entered Jerusalem and went into the temple. And when he had looked around at everything, as it was already late, he went out to Bethany with the twelve.

1977 Romans

Lesson #73

73 04/05/1977 Romans 2:29; Mark 12:1–11 True Jew (regenerate) cf. false Jew (distorts use of the Mosaic Law)

[The true advantage in circumcision is the circumcision of the heart.]

A review of love¹ and love². There is nothing that we can do to lose the salvation given us by God.

Social reform apart from relationship to the integrity of God is the big problem of our nation today. These things occurring in our country are equivalent to the Palm Sunday when Jesus came into Jerusalem. No nation can enjoy freedom and have prosperity apart from the integrity of God.

People are fickle, they change their minds. On Palm Sunday they gave Jesus a unanimous vote. They cut off the limbs of trees as their vote for Jesus. They spoke specific portions of verses from Psalm 118. They wanted the crown without the cross. The cross is the only way to have a permanent relationship with God. They wanted the crown, but not the cross.

Mark 12:1 And he began to speak to them in parables. "A man planted a vineyard and put a fence around it and dug a pit for the winepress and built a tower, and leased it to tenants and went to another country.

Jesus spoke in parables so that every person in the crowd could understand something. Then he related the parable to doctrine.

The man is God and the vineyard is Israel

The more that people curse you, the more you are blessed.

The tower is about military victory.

Mark 12:2 When the season came, he sent a servant to the tenants to get from them some of the fruit of the vineyard.

The tenant farmer would split their proceeds with the owner.

Mark 12:3 And they took him and beat him and sent him away empty-handed.

Israel rejects doctrine, and they get away from the plan of God. They beat the one who comes to them.

Mark 12:4 Again he sent to them another servant, and they struck him on the head and treated him shamefully.

Mark 12:5 And he sent another, and him they killed. And so with many others: some they beat, and some they killed.

This represents the spinoff from the pivot.

Mark 12:6 He had still one other, a beloved son. Finally he sent him to them, saying, 'They will respect my son.'

This represents Israel's rejection of God's Son.

Mark 12:7 But those tenants said to one another, 'This is the heir. Come, let us kill him, and the inheritance will be ours.'

Mark 12:8 And they took him and killed him and threw him out of the vineyard.

Mark 12:9 What will the owner of the vineyard do? He will come and destroy the tenants and give the vineyard to others.

The judgment will come, where God will destroy Israel, A.D. 70.

Mark 12:10 Have you not read this Scripture: "The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone;...

Jesus is the chief cornerstone.

Mark 12:11 this was the Lord's doing, and it is marvelous in our eyes'?"

They quote the millennial section, but they ignored the judgment of the cross.

People want authority and power; but they do not have any integrity to go with it. There is a great power struggle today.

Romans 2:29 But he who is a Jew is one on the inside; and circumcision is of heart, in spirit, not in letter, of whom the praise is not of men, but of God.

The Jews had the Law and they had circumcision; and this distinguished them from all other peoples.

Verse 29 – the true Jew. “But” is the adversative conjunction allá (ἀλλά) [pronounced ahl-LAH] which sets up a contrast between the true and the false Jew. Both are Jews racially and both are Jews nationally, but the spiritual factor divides the true from the false Jew.

The false Jew has rejected Jesus Christ. He has skimmed off the ritual of circumcision and the rules of the Law; and he uses these things to define himself as a Jew. He is religious; he uses religion to justify himself before God.

“he is a Jew” – the repetition of Ioudaíos (Ἰουδαίος) [pronounced ee-ou-DYE-os] estin (ἐστίν) [pronounced ehs-TIN] plus the present active indicative of eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME]. This is elliptical in its construction and the subject and the predicate must be repeated. The present tense of eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME] is retroactive progressive present, something that happens in the past and goes on into present time. It has strong linear aktionsart and therefore could be translated “he keeps on being a Jew.”

“which is one inwardly” – nominative masculine singular from the definite article, used as a relative pronoun, who antecedent is Ioudaíos (Ἰουδαίος) [pronounced ee-ou-DYE-os]. There is a prepositional phrase en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental of krupτός (κρυπτός) [pronounced kroop-TOSS], and it means literally, “by a hidden.” It is referring to birth, a hidden birth. Literally then, “But he is a Jew who is one by a hidden birth [regeneration].”

Principle

1. Regeneration or the hidden birth is the point of salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Regeneration converts a false Jew into a true Jew.
2. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God demands non-meritorious faith in Jesus Christ, not keeping the law and producing self-righteousness.
3. Self-righteousness is no substitute for God’s righteousness.
4. God’s righteousness is only imputed through faith in Christ and not by keeping the law.
5. To understand this statement you have to comprehend divine integrity or holiness composed of His righteousness and justice.
6. One must further understand that man’s relationship with God is based on justice, not on His love.
7. Adjustment to the justice of God is the hidden birth which occurs at the point of faith in Christ.
8. It was this hidden birth or regeneration which caused the distinction between the twins, Esau and Jacob. These are twins, one is a Jew and the other was a gentile. One was adjusted to the justice of God and the other was not.

9. Two anthropopathisms are applied to Jacob and Esau—Romans 9:13. The difference between the true and the false Jew.

“and circumcision is that of the heart” – the continuative use of the conjunction kai, plus the nominative singular from the noun peritomê (περιτομή) [pronounced per-it-om-AY]. “Circumcision of heart” means maximum doctrine resident in the soul. The only way the believer can have blessing and total relationship in glorifying God is by maximum doctrine in the soul. Circumcision of the heart is simply maximum adjustment to the justice of God. Circumcision is a ritual and all ritual is comparable to doctrine—it always represents some doctrine. If the ritual is the Lord’s table it represents adjustment to the justice of God, the work of Christ on the cross, the first advent. If the ritual is circumcision it represents maximum adjustment to the justice of God or cracking the maturity barrier. By the way, circumcision always removes unnecessary skin, and that skin is the removal of evil. Evil, remember, is not the same as sin, evil is the Satanic policy of thought—bleeding heart do-goodism, liberalism, etc.

Evil is trying to make a true American nice to a hippie bohemian. Evil is cutting down on the military.

“in the spirit” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental of pneuma (πνεῦμα) [pronounced PNYOO-mah] should be translated “by the Spirit.” The absence of the definite article gives great quality to the noun. This is a reference to the Holy Spirit who regenerates those who make instant adjustment to the justice of God, those who believe in Christ. So this refers to the first adjustment to the justice of God.

“not in the letter” – ou, the strong negative, plus the instrumental of gramma (γράμμα) [pronounced GRAHM-mah] which refers to the letter on the written page, i.e. the Mosaic law, “not by the letter.”

Principle

1. God the Holy Spirit is the agent of regeneration, not the letter, not the law. The Mosaic law is not an instrument of salvation; the Holy Spirit is the instrument of salvation.
2. The Holy Spirit regenerates those who make instant adjustment to the justice of God by faith in Jesus Christ, not those who try to manufacture a system of doing good.
3. Regeneration is the difference between the true and the false Jew.

“whose praise is not of men, but of God” – the possessive genitive singular from the relative pronoun hos. The antecedent is being a true Jew who has adjusted to the justice of God by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Then the nominative singular subject épainos (ἔπαινος) [pronounced EHP-ah-ee-noss], translated “praise.” It means praise, approval, or recognition, but it is a lot stronger than that. The word began to have a connotation in the Greek language and by the time of Stoicism it had the connotation of man being free from a judgment. In other words, judgment could not judge him, he was in the right, not in the wrong. In Romans 2:29 and 1Corinthians 4:5 there is this connotation. Praise or épainos (ἔπαινος) [pronounced EHP-ah-ee-noss] is a technical word for adjustment to the justice of God. Therefore we translate, not “whose praise” but “whose approval from the justice of God is not from mankind, but from God”—ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative of source theos (θεός) [pronounced th-eh-OSS].

Romans 2:29 For he is a Jew who is one by hidden birth [regeneration]; and circumcision is that category of heart, by the Spirit [HS, the teacher of doctrine], not by the letter [Mosaic law]; whose approval from the justice of God is not from man, but is from God.

[¹] See the Doctrine of the Scar Tissue of the Soul.

[²] See the Doctrine of the Hardening process.

[³] See the Doctrine of the Heart.

[⁴] See the Doctrine of the Last Judgment.

[⁵] See the Doctrine of the Mosaic law.

[⁶] See the Doctrine of the Conscience.

[⁷] See the Doctrine of the Client nation.

[⁸] See the Doctrine of Circumcision.

1977 Romans

Lesson #74

74 04/06/1977 Romans 3:1a Review of doctrine of the integrity of God; no advantage without relationship with the integrity of God

Maybe you are trying to impress some woman by going to church here; but it makes me bilious to look at you too.

Austin has joined the group by microwave.

Chapter 3 asks this question, “What advantage then hath the Jew? This puts some people off, often because they do not have the understanding that they think they do.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen had one revolution; but there were actually 3–5 revolutions occurring at the same time. Chiang Kai Shek took over next, but he was an eclectic. A variety of groups in China. Chaing had 3 armies, and the third was kept in reserve to fight the communists. There were only a few who understood what was happening. Truman, FDR, and George Marshall did not understand it; and we fought some of this war for them.

The Manchurian army built up and they drove Chaing Kai Shek out.

One could ask the question, what advantage did the French have? The Communists decided to take over France after WWII. Charles DeGaulle understood what was going on. When he died, then France could not handle it?

Four main groups in Indo-China. Large communist group in the north. The French tried to take it over, but they were very cruel and brutal. There was the development of a Chinese communist party even before the Russians got involved there (?). The communists already had a plan to take over the world before the end of WWII.

We could have stopped it, but we did not. George Marshall blackmailed Chaing Kai Shek to accept the communists as a part of their cabinet.

Today the communist party has taken over France, Holland, England, etc. No one has any true advantage unless it is related to the integrity of God.

Outline of the Integrity of God in Romans 3

The stability of the integrity of God, Romans 3:1-8.

The integrity of God rejects sinful mankind, 3:9-20.

The dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] of divine integrity, 3:21-26.

The results of divine integrity, 3:27-31.

Bob is constantly amazed as to what people do not know about history. People do not understand their own history. People do not know that MacArthur saved Australia; MacArthur and Patton both recognized the danger of communism. They were the only two people who had influence and power who understood the problem.

This is the most critical chapter for us to study. Bob's work previously on Romans 3, is terrible. He just could not believe that he was that dumb.

How Mao Zedong got started in China; and the failure of the missionaries there are important factors. Bob's going to talk about the integrity of God again. Check your notes.

Bob refers back to a previous doctrine of the integrity of God. This is lesson #69. However, the points given by Bob below do not match of that doctrine at all.

The Integrity of God and Love of God (A Brief Review)

1. The integrity of God is an updated replacement for holiness.
2. God's holiness is made up of His righteousness and justice.
3. Mankind must deal with the integrity of God rather than any other attribute.
4. The most common misconception is the love of God.
5. The attribute of divine love as over against the anthropathism of love. This explains to those who are ignorant of God's policies in terms of language of accommodation.
6. The divine attribute of love is complete and total.
7. God does not maintain love, He does not fall in love.
8. God is love apart from any object.

9. God loves His Own righteousness and the other members of the Trinity.
10. All creatures are excluded from this love.
11. God's love is perfect and does not require an object. Romans 8:39 Jeremiah
12. The problem with understanding God's love is that most references pertain to the anthropopathism and not to His trait of love.
13. An anthropopathism ascribes to God a quality which He does not possess.
14. The classical approach is "Jacob I loved and Esau I hated."
15. Two postulates: Love explains divine motivation to us; but love is not the source of blessing from God. God's integrity is our point of contact.

Another set of points on the integrity of God. I thought that it was a review. Integrity of God and the gospel.

Our system of righteousness does not impress God; that our personality does not impress God. Our sweetness and our giving up this or that, and God is not impressed by that.

Romans will make you realize that God integrity is the most important thing for us to know in life. Our life all depends upon whether we are adjusted and maladjusted to the justice of God. All of our human improvements have never impressed God.

We have all swept some dirt under the rug; we may have done things which impress us or impress our friends; but it does not impress God. If God is impressed we me, then God is not God; He is merely mixed up. Bob is there only due to the integrity of God. Grace covers us until we better understand God. Grace is the function of the integrity of God in our direction.

All the countries that Bob mentioned, there were some great plans and some great men, but they were divorced from the integrity of God. We should have destroyed the communist party of that region had we used nuclear weapons, but we did not.

People make all kinds of plans. But if the integrity of God is not a part of the plan, then the plan is worthless. Will Rhodesia survive? Or South Africa? Only if they are related to the integrity of God and they have a large enough pivot. The communist got into Israel at a very early stage. They infiltrated Zionism early on. The integrity of God guarantees our salvation; not whether we are a good Christian or not. One thing that used to both Bob in history is, there were great plans, but they fell apart for some reason. The reason that these plans did not work out is, they were not related to the integrity of God.

You cannot have a state religion because that violates the integrity of God. We must have freedom.

Two questions for the 4th race in this chapter:

Question #1, “What advantage then hath the Jew?” Bob is going to give us the spiritual heritage of Israel. Bob never sees a Jew without thinking about the integrity of God. The source of their preservation and their discipline is the integrity of God.

Were these points given in this study?

The Seven Postulates of Divine Integrity (Three Personal; Four National)

1. There are no advantages to the advantages without the advantage. Advantages plural: blessings from the justice of God; advantage singular: the integrity of God, His righteousness and His justice.
2. If you have the advantage (the integrity of God) you have the advantages – blessings from the integrity of God.
3. Without the advantage there are no advantages.
4. No nation can have the advantages (divine blessings) without the advantage (divine integrity)
5. A nation without the advantage loses the advantages.
6. No nation can recover its advantages without the advantage.
7. Loss of both advantage and advantages removes that nation from history – 5th cycle of discipline.

Question #1, “What advantage then hath the Jew?” It begins with the interrogative pronoun nominative neuter singular tis (τις) [pronounced tihç], used to introduce a historical question regarding the Jews. Does the Jew have any advantage? Yes, he does have some advantages; No he has no advantage at all. Yes, as long as he is related to the integrity of God—God’s righteousness and justice. But no when he divorces himself from the integrity of God and is, in other words, maladjusted to the justice of God. The spiritual heritage of Israel was always related to the integrity of God, and when the Jews broke with the integrity of God at any point by the abuse of the ritual of circumcision or by the false implications of the Mosaic law—keeping it for salvation, a superficial approach in developing self-righteousness—they divorced themselves from the integrity of God. So they had not advantage, and yet they have every advantage in the world because were it not for the Jew none of us would be able to understand the integrity of God today. The impartiality of divine justice does not give the Jew with the law any advantage over the Gentile without the law. Since the justice of God is impartial in dealing with Jew and Gentile the question arises: What advantage does the Jew have over the Gentile, if any?

Next is an inferential particle oun (οὖν) [pronounced oon], it denotes an inference from the preceding paragraph. The inference is that while the Jews have the greatest spiritual

Heritage in history, racially and nationally, at the same time, because God has integrity it doesn’t give them an advantage over any Gentile—without the law, without that spiritual heritage. Why? Because the Jews were used by God to point to the integrity of God, but because they are human like the rest of us they can make the same mistake of maladjustment to the justice of God and lose out, or they can have the same blessings by adjustment to the justice of God. Everything brings us back to the same point, and the same point is this: the only thing that counts is the integrity of God and the only way of blessing is the verbalization of the integrity of God, which is Bible doctrine resident in the soul. So we have “What therefore.”

Next is a predicate adjective nominative singular neuter from perissos (περισσός, ἡ, ὄν) [pronounced pair-ihs-SOSS]. It means extraordinary, more than usual, more than sufficient. “Advantage” is not a bad translation. The adjective, however, is used as a substantive and that is why it is translated “advantage.” But a better modern translation would be “pre-eminence.” Then comes a descriptive genitive of Ioudaίos (Ἰουδαίος) [pronounced ee-ou-DYE-os], referring to the racial Jew and the national Jew of Israel. “What therefore is the pre-eminence of the Jew?”

Maladjustment to the Mosaic Law

1. The exclusion of man’s self-righteousness through the function of divine integrity has caused some Jews to be deflated. (There were Jews who had now read the first two chapters of Romans and had been deflated by them). They used the Mosaic Law for commendation, but it is designed to condemn us.
2. Because Paul has done such a great job in the second chapter they can see no advantage in possessing the Mosaic law. Why have it?
3. The maladjusted Jews in reversionism were blinded to the spiritual role of the racial Jew and the nation Israel in history. Their maladjustment blinded them, and it does today.
4. Paul has demonstrated that the Jews are just as spiritually dead as the Gentiles.
5. The justice of God has condemned the Jew with the law just as He has condemned the Gentile without the law.
6. Prior to hearing Paul’s answer to this question we have to examine certain pertinent doctrines which give us a background for answering the question.

God's Righteousness Upheld

1977 Romans

Lesson #75

75 04/07/1977 Romans 3:1b Doctrines of Israel's preeminence and advantages of being a Jew

Romans 3:1 What then is the superiority of the Jew? Or what is the benefit of the circumcision? (BLB)

This next doctrine is covered in Lesson #555; any additional notes will be placed here. Spelled with and without a hyphen.

The Doctrine of Israel’s Pre-eminence

The pre-eminence of the Jew is related to certain principles that are developed in the Word of God.

1.

The first has to do with the racial uniqueness of the Jew. There were initially three post-diluvian races in our history. The Semitic race was eventually split and became two races, so that a fourth was developed which was the Jewish race. So we could say that all four post-diluvian races began with those persons who had adjusted to the justice of God at salvation. Shem, Ham, and Japheth were believers, that's why they went aboard the Ark. Later on, Abraham was not only a believer but mature adjustment as well. All four post-diluvian races, then, began with born-again believers—Shem, Ham, Japheth, Abraham. However the Jews started as a race, not just from salvation adjustment to the justice of God but maximum adjustment to the justice of God. This gives the racial heritage of the Jew pre-eminence over all the other races. Shem, Ham and Japheth were all born again, but outside of Shem they didn't appear to advance too much in the spiritual life. However the fourth race started with someone who made all three temporal adjustments to the justice of God and will, of course, enjoy for all eternity the fourth adjustment as well. The Jewish race began with maximum adjustment to the justice of God and therefore it has a unique spiritual heritage. The means by which the race came into existence is totally unique. So the advantage of the Jew is first of all a racial pre-eminence.

- a. Shem, Ham and Japheth come the gentile races. They are brothers.
- b. From Abraham comes gentile and Jewish races.
- c. Abraham became a Jew when he was circumcised. In total, Abraham had seven sons. The line of the Jews goes down through Isaac. Ishmael are Semitic but they are not Jewish. They are Arabs.
- d. Motherhood and being a bastard has nothing to do with it.
- e. There are the twins Esau and Jacob. The line goes through Jacob. The Jews are unique as a race. Bob is not a Jew and he has no Jewish blood. What he says comes from the study of the Word of God. He admires the Jewish people. The Apostle Paul was the smartest person who ever lived. Jews were unique in the way that they came about; they were unique for 2000 years; and they are unique today.
- f. The United States has been a haven for the Jews and they are treated like all Americans are treated. Jews financed the first war for independence; the weaponry and uniforms all paid for by Jews. Bob invites any person to leave if they are antisemitic. "You are too dumb to be in Berachah Church." The Kazer's and the Jewish conspiracy is a lot of hot air and nonsense.
- g. One of the great functions of a client nation is providing a haven for the Jews. We are still a protected nation and we are violating every law of divine establishment; so what preserves us? Our relationship to the Jew.

2.

Secondly, there is the unique nation of Israel. The unique origin and purpose of national Israel gives re-eminence to the Jew. It is interesting to see how many great nations in history have arisen out of slavery. Slavery is always a test for the people involved to see if they have anything or not. Those who come out of slavery, as inevitably all people do, when they are free do they simply hold their hand out and say they want you to be nice to them now and be sorry for us and help us out? Or do they form a nation? The Jews formed a nation. Israel was designed to be a priest nation. The custodianship of written doctrine and revelation was to belong to it. The authorship of the various books of the Old Testament, and later the New Testament, would be in their hand. They were responsible for evangelism at home and missionary activity abroad. They had all of the responsibilities that belong to anyone under the concept of the priest nation. They were the original post-diluvian priest nation. All the human authors of scripture, with two exceptions in the New Testament, were Jews. So not only did they have a unique foundation as a race, or origin as a race, and a unique foundation as a nation, but at the same time their spiritual heritage was perpetuated at both points through the great ultra-super-grace leadership of Abraham and Moses. So we see again pre-eminence related to Israel. The humanity of the Lord Jesus Christ was Jewish—not simply Jewish but royal family of Israel. Jesus Christ is the Son of David and is the means of perpetuating the Davidic covenant.

- a. Unique beginning, where God made Abraham into a new race.
 - b. Israel is the first priest nation in history; the first client nation in history. They have freedom, property, and authority. This is used to direct certain spiritual functions. They fulfill a missionary function.
 - c. All client nations today are gentile nations. Since the fifth cycle of discipline has been administered to the Jews, we need to provide them with a haven because they have been scattered.
 - d. Exodus 19:6 “You will be to Me a kingdom of priests; a holy nation.” Every Jew was considered a priest under the concept of client nation. This is beyond have a specialized priesthood.
 - e. There were four Jewish nations. Isaiah 49:6 I will make you the light of the nations. That describes them as a priest nation in the Millennium.
 - f. The whole concept is Exodus 19:5–6.
 - g. Israel is unique as a nation and as a race.
3. A third factor in what is the pre-eminence of Israel is the unique covenants. The integrity of God has made promises to the Jews that have never been made to anyone else—the unconditional covenants.
- a. The doctrine of the pre-eminence of Israel is proclaimed in various parts of the Abrahamic covenant—Genesis 12:1-3; 13:15,16; 22:15-18; 26:3,4; Exodus 6:2-8. The Abrahamic covenant declares the uniqueness of Israel. Never in all of history, apart from those unconditional promises to Abraham, did God ever promise to a race, and then to a nation, a piece of real estate on this earth both now, in the Millennium, and for all eternity. That means they are pre-eminent, unique.
 - b. The real estate promised to Israel extends from the Nile River to the Euphrates River.
 - c. If Israel is going to exist as a nation forever the question arises as to what type of government they should have. The answer to that is very simple. From the divine viewpoint there is only one efficient government, and whether we call it an absolute monarchy or a dictatorship it makes no difference, because the best form of government has one genius, one person with great integrity at the top. All of the authority is vested in one person. That is the form of government that Israel will have throughout the Millennium and forever—an absolute monarchy with the Lord Jesus Christ as the ruler. Then we will have the fulfilment of 2Samuel 7:8-16; Psalm 89:20-37. The pre-eminence of Israel is based upon having four unconditional covenants, and all of these form a tremendous principle: No nation under heaven in all of human history has ever had God's integrity involved totally in the nation as has Israel. All of the greatness of the nation and its government depend upon one man. One person is either a great leader or a bad one. The more people that you pour into government, the more who are involved, the odds of having a good and efficient government are destroyed by the number of sin natures in charge. Since 1861, we have had a fight for power. One good king and no power struggle.

4. The fourth point of pre-eminence is the unique discipline and restoration of Israel. The pre-eminence of Israel is related to the fact that even though severely punished four times under the 5th cycle of discipline they will be regathered and restored at the second advent. No nation has ever had the 5th cycle of discipline and still come back to be a nation again—only Israel. That is unique. Three times they have been a nation—the united kingdom, the divided kingdom [Ephraim in the north and Judah in the south], then Judea. The present Jewish nation is not a client nation.
5. The fifth point of pre-eminence is the survival of the Jew under constant conditions of anti-Semitism. They have survived, and will survive, under the most concentrated of all Satanic attacks. Cf. Revelation 13. There is no reason for antisemitism except that it is a product of Satan. The satanic attacks of antisemitism is unique. They are persecuted as few groups are persecuted and they are still here. Every time you see a Jew, you are seeing God's faithfulness.
6. The sixth point of uniqueness is the Millennial Israel. The pre-eminence of Israel is related to the glorified status in the Millennium. Israel will be unique among nations—Zechariah 14:16-21. God will regather the Jews under perfect environment.
7. The seventh principle is the principle of the priest nation. Four times throughout history Israel will be a priest nation.^[1]

Almost anything that the UN supports or attempts to do is wrong, right off the bat.

Slavery was not the issue in the Civil War, but power was. If slavery was the big issue, then why was the south still persecuted after the slaves were manumitted? It was a power grab, a power fight all the way. It has never been settled.

Could not find this doctrine; my notes will not be very good at this point.

The Doctrine of the Priest Nation

1. Definition
 - a. A priest nation is a divinely ordained nation under divine institution #4, nationalism, responsible for custodianship of divine revelation. Before the revelation came in many forms, spoken revelation; divine decrees revealed; but afterward, it became and still is written revelation.

- b. Old Testament then New Testament Scripture.
 - c. The formation of the canon; Judah and SPQR were both client nations.
 - d. In Roman history, we get the word client from the Roman government. A dependent or under the protection of Rome. Technically, Israel is the only priest nation; but we use client nation and priest nation as synonymous terms.
2. Responsibilities of the sin nature.
 - a. Custodianship of the word.
 - b. Evangelism in the nation
 - c. Evangelism outside of the nation
 - d. Provides a haven for the Jews.
 3. Israel is the most important priest nation.
 4. Negative volition toward doctrine destroys any priest nation. Hosea 4:6
 5. In the meantime, we have the times of the gentiles, once God set Israel aside for a period of time. Bob gives several examples of client nations.
 6. Differences between the priest nation and the client nation.
 7. The restoration of Israel as a priest nation. Isaiah 45
 8. The pivot and the priest nation. The pivot refers to the mature believers in a priest nation. As goes the pivot, so goes the priest nation or the client nation. A large pivot of mature believers can result in the deliverance of a priest nation. The greater the spinoff, the greater the chance for national destruction.
 9. Historical disaster separates the adjusted from the maladjusted.
 10. The principle of the priest nation solves 2Samuel 8:18 because they are priest believers.
 11. Isaiah 61
 12. The United States as a client nation.
 13. Luke 24 the times of the gentiles.
- All of this comes under point 7 of the preeminence of Israel.

There is no advantage to anyone apart from the spiritual aspect of life.

One man offered to rob a bank and give it to Berachah. What is wrong with that? Everything. First of all, it is not related to the justice of God.

There is no advantage to having advantages without the advantage. Because we have this advantage, we have 36 advantages. We believed in Jesus Christ, having received one-half of the integrity of God.

Rebound does not work for the unbeliever.

All the advantages come from the advantage. The advantages are meaningless without the advantage. If you have the advantage, you have the advantages. I took the postulates below from Clanking Chains.

Personal Postulates of Divine Integrity:

1. There are no advantages to the advantages without the advantage.
2. If you have the advantage, you have the advantages.
3. Without the advantage, there are no advantages.

National Postulates of Divine Integrity:

1. No nation can have the advantages without the advantage.
2. A nation without the advantage loses the advantages.
3. No nation can recover its advantages without the advantage.
4. Loss of both the advantage and the advantages eventuates in the removal of that nation from history under the fifth cycle of discipline

The Doctrine of the Advantages of Being a Jew

1. There is a salvation advantage. There is no advantage in being an outward Jew—Romans 2:28—unless one is an onward Jew of Romans 2:29. The advantage comes in adjusting to the justice of God at salvation. There is no advantage in being a Jew by race or a Jew nationally. It is the spiritual heritage of Israel that gives the advantage. There are no advantages in life for anyone unless they are related to the integrity of God.
2. The doctrinal advantage. The Jews have been recipients of both written and oral revelation from God—Romans 3:2. The Jews as a priest nation were the custodians of the canon of scripture. Hence, there was opportunity for all adjustments. All doctrine resided in Israel.
3. The dispensational advantage. In the dispensation of Israel the Jew had the whole realm of doctrine—except mystery doctrine of the Church Age. He had the unconditional covenants and the establishment principles delineated by the Mosaic law. In the dispensation of the Church the Jew becomes royal family of God through salvation adjustment to the justice of God, just as the Gentile does. In the dispensation of the Millennium the Jew has maximum benefit from the fulfilment of the unconditional covenants, and the Jew and Israel will be the priest nation throughout the Millennium and forever. They will have the advantage of the greatest government administration in all of history, Jesus Christ will rule as absolute dictator for one thousand years and then forever.
4. The establishment advantage. Every nation has the advantage when it has establishment. The Mosaic law not only defined freedom but it set up a constitution for national government which included principles of establishment. The Jews always benefitted from the observation of establishment doctrines under the Mosaic law.

5. The cultural advantage. The cultural concepts related to doctrine in the Mosaic law preserved the nation from evil when observed.
6. The priest nation advantage.

God's Righteousness Upheld

Romans 3:1 What then is the superiority of the Jew? Or what is the benefit of the circumcision?

“or what profit is there in circumcision?” We now have a disjunctive particle ê (ἤ) [pronounced ā] which separates from the first and the second question. The masculine nominative singular from the interrogative pronoun τίς (τις) [pronounced tihç] introduces the second question. The predicate nominative singular from the noun ὀφέλεια (ὠφέλεια) [pronounced o-FEHL-i-ah] which means advantage or profit or benefit. Bob will have to tell his maid that this is what her name means. Plus the ablative singular of source περιτομή (περιτομή) [pronounced per-it-om-AY]—“or what is the benefit from circumcision?” We have the verb to be because of the presence of the predicate nominative. It isn’t stated but Paul can be elliptical and leave out words. In the syntax of the Greek these words are actually included through syntax. The fact that we have a nominative subject and a predicate nominative demands that we put the verb to be in.

The Benefit of Circumcision

1. The ritual of circumcision is related to maximum adjustment to the justice of God.
2. To understand the doctrinal significance of the ritual was beneficial as a challenge to advance to spiritual maturity through the daily function of GAP. So to have a ritual which teaches the advantage is an advantage.
3. Such advance to maturity is maximum adjustment to the justice of God and the sharing of the integrity of God.
4. Such adjustment to the justice of God means blessing from divine justice in time, as well as in eternity.
5. By blessing in eternity is meant blessing over and above ultimate sanctification, which is for every believer.

Romans 3:1 What therefore is the advantage of the Jew? or what is the benefit from circumcision?

The answer to this question is found in the next verse. It is in maximum adjustment to the justice of God. Since we always deal with the justice of God we must understand both His essence and His integrity. Doctrine is the key to this understanding.

76 04/08/1977 Romans 3 via Job 5:1–3 Seven postulates of integrity; the advantage: divine essence

The advantage in the singular refers to the integrity of God. The integrity of God is made up of His righteousness and justice. We hear the gospel, we believe in Jesus Christ. In the singular is the integrity of God. The plural includes the 36 things that we receive at salvation. The second adjustment to the justice of God is rebound. First advantage, our sin is forgiven and all unrighteous is dealt with.

The third is maturity adjustment to the justice of God. Advantages in the plural are blessings from the integrity of God. These postulates are given here for the 3rd time in this study.

Personal Postulates of Divine Integrity:

1. There are no advantages to the advantages without the advantage.
2. If you have the advantage, you have the advantages.
3. Without the advantage, there are no advantages.

National Postulates of Divine Integrity:

1. No nation can have the advantages without the advantage.
2. A nation without the advantage loses the advantages. This is what happened to the Jew.
3. No nation can recover its advantages without the advantage. No recovery for a nation apart from the integrity of God.
4. Loss of both the advantage and the advantages eventuates in the removal of that nation from history under the fifth cycle of discipline

The source of the advantages is the Essence of God. Oucia is the word referring back to the essence. The Bible talks about the oneness of God and the plurality of God. One in essence and three in Person. All the attributes of divine essence are resident in each member of the Godhead. When man is made in the image of God, man's essence is invisible. The real you is hidden; you may show the real you and express the real you, but the real you is invisible. We can tell that you are there when your mouth is open and closed. Our personality is the sum total of our self-consciousness and the rest of our essence. We are all different in our personality, but we all have self-consciousness.

People do not know the difference between humility and being humiliated. All men have identical essence. Man is one in terms of his invisible essence.

We all begin to understand God by knowing the anthropopathisms related to God. That is all that we can relate to. This is the concept of God loving man. Too often, feelings get mixed up with all of this. So some people don't think they are saved because they do not feel saved.

The Essence of God (not given as a series of points)

Personality is a human word, and we apply this to God.

An attribute is a quality and God's essence is made up characteristics or attributes. These are eternal with God. These characteristics are never diminished in God. The difficulty here is, the finite mind is dealing with infinity.

Two categories of divine attributes. Absolute (intransitive, primary and incommunicable) and relative (transitive, secondary and communicable). God's being is immaterial by contrast. Man is material and immaterial. God does not possess life as we do. God has always possessed life; He always lives; and all life is from Him. Our lives have a beginning and they are continued when we believe in Jesus Christ. God's life does not improve or diminish. Everything that we are studying must start with the fact that God has always lived; He never had to learn anything, He never had to develop anything. He is always infinity, eternity and perfection.

Wednesday was the death of Christ. But Bob is not going over it again. No one seemed to grow from it; but one or two people got hostile over it.

We grow from zero. We start at zero and grow from there. It is very difficult to take creatures and try to take them and introduce them to God, who has never changed, grown, developed. God recognizes Himself to be a Person; but as such, He acts in a rational manner. Therefore, when you are arrogant and weird and half-crazy and you divorce yourself from reality, you have not caught on to God yet.

Dogs are conscious but not self-conscious. Have you ever seen a dog blush? They should with some of the things that they do. Animals have determination. Not a dog in the world that can whip a pit bull terrier. No self-determination.

Man possesses self-consciousness and self-determination. God is absolute will and absolute perfection. God is infinite; He has no boundaries and no imperfections. God is not the man upstairs (this is blasphemy, but not necessarily intentional).

God cannot be complicated with weirdness or inconsistencies or imperfections, ignorance or absurdities. God does not like ignorance or absurdities.

The divine motive is always for His Own glory. God cannot tempt; God cannot sin; and God is not arrogant. Man is always trying to intrude with his self-righteousness, his brand of holiness, his system of self-praise. We think in terms of ambition and competition. God recognizes His glory and claims it in the name of absolute truth.

We are answering, what is the advantage of the Jew; what is the benefit of circum vision. We might as well get acquainted with the source.

God has always existed; He does not have to sustain His existence. His existence is unalterable. He has always existed and He is immutable. He cannot be better and He cannot be worse.

Perfection is a part of the absolute character of God. His divine truth, love and integrity. There was never a time when God did not have integrity. This integrity makes demands upon man. His integrity is maintained by His will; it is unchangeable. His integrity is made up of His righteousness and justice.

God is absolute truth. This is the expression of divine integrity. Truth dwells in an absolute state.

Love belongs to the being of God. God has always been love; He does not fall in love with us; and He is love without requiring an object. The Members of the Trinity all have perfect love for one another.

God is eternal and He is immense.

Related to creation, He is omniscience, omnipresence and omnipotence. God knows all the knowable actual and all the knowable possible. His knowledge is eternal, absolute and total. Every detail of creation and history is known to God. God has never had a single regret; not even us.

God's judgment is not vindictive but vindicating. In relation to men, God's integrity is supreme.

The illustration of advantages, which will be explained in the Job 5. Every principle in the 7 postulates will be found in Job 5. The Advantages are repeated. They are illustrated in Job 5.

Job 5:1 "Call now; is there anyone who will answer you? To which of the holy ones will you turn?"

No relationship with the integrity of God means no answer from God. It takes salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Your answer depends upon the integrity of God.

Human integrity is a relative thing. One can have integrity in business, but not in social life. But God's integrity is never relative. God, sooner or later, puts all of us in a place where we cannot depend upon anyone else. In a position of total helplessness, and God can show us His integrity.

People might not think about God for years, and when in a jam, call out to God.

Our nation has no friends. We will stand or fall on the integrity of God. There are nations with integrity, like South Africa and Rhodesia. But we are a nation without integrity.

When you are in the hospital dying, you can depend upon your integrity and the integrity of God; and you will live or not.

If God won't help you, who will help you?

Job 5:2 Surely vexation kills the fool, and jealousy slays the simple [or, the maladjusted is killed by jealousy].

Many people are maladjusted to their circumstances because they are maladjusted to the justice of God. A fool can only be destroyed if he has no relationship to the integrity of God.

Job 5:3 I have seen the fool taking root, but suddenly I cursed his dwelling.

The home seems perfect, but his home is decays in a moment. Without the advantage, there are no advantages. This does not mean that the home collapses; but it means that there is no happiness within that home.

Bob is going to continue with this topic on Easter Sunday. So if you are not doing anything Sunday morning, come back for v. 4...

1977 Romans

Lesson #77

77 04/10/1977 Romans 3 via Job 5:1–12 Illustration of advantages; U.S. reforms minus integrity of God. Easter Sunday.

Romans 3:1 What, therefore, is the advantage of the Jew? What is the advantage of circumcision?

There are 3 Persons in the Godhead which possess the eternal characteristics. God is love, but the attribute is directed only toward other members of the Trinity and toward His own integrity. We only need believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and we have adjusted to the justice of God.

At salvation, we receive 36 things. Either we adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God will adjust to us. Rebound adjustment and maturity adjustment. Great blessings result from making the maturity adjustment. The 7 postulates on advantage/advantages repeated.

A liberal tries to solve social problems apart from the integrity of God.

Rome having won the Punic wars lost more than they won; and suffered 100 years of civil war which followed. This civil war all but destroyed Rome.

The only answer to our national problems are these postulates.

Job 5:1 “Call now; is there anyone who will answer you? To which of the holy ones will you turn?”

There is no person you can call to, apart from God. And if you lack standing, you cannot call to Him.

Job 5:2 Surely vexation kills the fool, and jealousy slays the simple [or, the maladjusted is killed by jealousy].

Job 5:3 I have seen the fool taking root, but suddenly I cursed his dwelling.

He had everything that he wanted; but his house was not really home to him. No advantage to the advantages without the advantage.

Job 5:4 His children are far from safety; they are crushed in the gate, and there is no one to deliver them.

When a person is maladjusted to the justice of God, he is in danger. For the maladjusted, there is no blessing by association; so no safety. The person provides everything in life that he can, and yet, they are crushed at the gate. This means to die for your country in a losing battle. The enemy has successfully attacked your land and he is about to enter into your town.

The nation is about to be destroyed, because they tried to solve their problems apart from the integrity of God. We have the EPA and OSHA, and one lousy policy after another. We have the smallest and least prepared military since the War of 1812. The Russian Navy is larger today than all of the other countries in the world. They have a great strategic air force as well. The Russian army has the best armor today; they have had the best artillery. 200 Russian divisions.

We have failed to relate our nation to the integrity of God. The new deal was one of the most destructive things to happen to our nation.

Lincoln called up 50,000 soldiers to commit aggressions against the south, which was unconstitutional. From that time forward, we have the rise of the liberal. The liberal creates panaceas; and they seek reform apart from the integrity of God.

Our children will be crushed at the gate unless we recognize that the only thing of life that is real is the integrity of God.

Bob's father went to Dartmouth; and it, with Harvard and Yale were designed to prepare men to go out with the gospel, to teach in the ministry or to become missionaries.

Historical disaster comes from a small pivot.

Bob describes his perfect house. He was raised in Beverly Hills. Everyone has something that they associate with happiness. We would not be happy unless it was related to the integrity of God.

Bob was on a yacht as a kid, 280 ft; and there were a bunch of people there on board, but they were unhappy; they lacked capacity for life, capacity for blessing.

Job 5:5 The hungry eat his harvest, and he takes it even out of thorns, and the thirsty pant after his wealth.

Wealthy people are just poor people with money. If you give everyone in the world $10,000, in a short time, some would be broke and some would be rich. Poor people are just bad sports about it.

You see all these family people running around going to dinners, and you think that is great, but it is not. Married people who are not related to the integrity of God are miserable and unhappy. Don't they have all the sex that they want? So what. I know what you are thinking. You shouldn't think things like that on Easter Sunday. You might crack an egg.

There is no advantage to the advantages without the advantage.

Job 5:5 The hungry eat his harvest, and he takes it even out of thorns, and the thirsty pant after his wealth [or, and the conspirator pursues your wealth].

The have-nots want the stuff that the haves have; and the haves are less in number, and they have to hire others to protect what they have.

Revolutionists steal; they are thieves. That is what they do. These have-nots take all that this person has.

Whatever you consider to be wealth is no advantage to you.

The man has his wife, and she is a part of his wealth. Others want her.

After the Watts fiasco, property does not mean a thing.

There is always someone who wants what you have, and that is why we have locks and burglar alarms and wild vicious dogs wandering around the house.

Our government has no business ability, so they want to take away from those who do have business acumen. When you blackmail businesses and make them hire so many of this or so many of that. It is not how many of a group you hire, but the people that you hire. The labor unions of more and more power. They are on their way to stealing all the power.

No one is thinking in terms of the integrity of God.

The authority of the police officer is denigrated; and the authority of the chairman of the board or the president of the company is also denigrated.

Job 5:5 The hungry eat his harvest, and he takes it even out of thorns, and the thirsty pant after his wealth [or, and the conspirator pursues your wealth; or, they are eager for your power].

Whatever you have, that is what they want.

4 or 5 major conspiracies in Berachah Church over the past 25 years. They wanted to take Bob's power for themselves. They wanted to institute a few of their pet beliefs.

Job 5:6 For affliction does not come from the dust, nor does trouble sprout from the ground,...

The dust or ground. They plant, they water, they are constantly hiring people to take care of things. There are different sets of authorities involved, people who are in charge of planting, marketing, etc. From this comes profit. Free enterprise. This is legitimate function in life. But if labor unions step in and negotiate beyond what they ought to. Evil does not come out of the ground or out of the dust; evil is the thinking of the souls of reversionists. They seek to gain apart from the integrity of God.

In the next war, we cannot build tanks because we don't have forges; they are all in Japan and in a war, we would not be able to build what we need.

Legitimate business is not the source of evil; big farming is not the source of evil. It is Uncle Sugar and the labor unions.

No nation was the advantages without the advantage.

Trouble comes from evil through government trying to steal and regulate. Our federal government steals from big business.

If you are a liberal and you came today, just think how much you are gaining in this Bible class. We go right on the teaching. It is Easter Sunday.

Carter has stopped the production of Plutonium. What a stupid thing to do. This is to bring in world peace.

The evil is failing to adjust to the justice of God.

Job 5:7 ...but man is born to trouble as the sparks fly upward.

Sparks come from the crashing of two metals together. This is what happens when you have people crashing into one another. The sparks are from the crashing together of people.

You cannot be in the military without seeing the writing on the wall. You can't hear the president speaking of foreign affairs without recognizing the writing on the wall.

Job 5:8 "As for me, I would seek God, and to God would I commit my cause,...

This is Job speaking? When we believe in Jesus Christ, and that frees the justice of God to give us the advantages. The righteousness of God; eternal life.

Somewhere, your right pastor exists and when you grow spiritually, you can get the blessings and have the capacity for them.

I would place my cause before the Godhead.

The national postulates are repeated.

Job 5:9 ...who does great things and unsearchable, marvelous things without number:..

God does great things and marvelous things.

Job 5:10 ...he gives rain on the earth and sends waters on the fields;...

God sends water to the fields as blessing.

Job 5:11 ...he sets on high those who are lowly, and those who mourn are lifted to safety.

These blessings are secure, because they are related to the justice of God.

Job 5:12 He frustrates the devices of the crafty, so that their hands achieve no success.

Not covered.

1977 Romans

Lesson #78

78 04/10/1977 Romans 3 via Job 5:13–23 Four reasons for maximum adjustment to the justice of God; deliverance and dying grace

We are still finishing up the first verse of the third chapter of Romans.

Bob has been thinking about Beverly Hills when he lived there. Very successful and wealthy people from all over the world lived there. Large fields, green fields. Will Rogers was the mayor. Long string of beautiful automobiles. Beautifully groomed and beautifully clothed people.

There is the tragedy of having so much, and yet having nothing. Those people had the advantages, but they did not have the advantage. So many parties to try to entertain themselves. Having everything is having nothing in life, if you do not have the advantage of God.

Advantage is the advantage of adjustment to the justice of God; advantages are the blessings from the integrity of God. The advantage postulates are repeated.

When believers are negative toward doctrine, they can receive blessing by association. However, direct blessings dry up.

Bob reviews the first 12 verses, but very briefly.

Liberals try to make changes in society, but it never works out because it is not related to the integrity of God.

Because of the first 6 verses, man has a lot of trouble. Job finally sees the picture. You can have everything in life, but if it is not related to the integrity of God, there is no happiness in it.

God can bestow unsearchable things (v. 9), which are listens in vv. 10–12.

Job 5:13 He catches the wise in their own craftiness, and the schemes of the wily are brought to a quick end.

When a believers cracks the maturity barrier, he adds a new dimension to his life.

The wise are the smart people used by Satan. No matter how smart they are, the believer with maximum adjustment to the justice of God cannot be swept up by their conspiracies.

Job 5:14 They meet with darkness in the daytime and grope at noonday as in the night.

No matter how good things are, they cannot figure out how to move about. God has mixed everything up on them.

Job 5:15 But he saves the needy from the sword of their mouth and from the hand of the mighty.

Any category of authority; and if there is an attempt to destroy it with gossip and maligning, any of the sins of the tongue. Gossip takes sins which have been imagined.

So, you take sins; they have to be imagined, as you have not seen them. When you mention sins, because there is discipline that goes with the sins goes to the person that you are maligning.

Anytime, someone has the advantage; and then he also has the advantages. You cannot malign anyone connected to the justice of God without getting triple compound discipline.

Job 5:16 So the poor have hope, and injustice shuts her mouth.

The helpless are those who are being maligned and slandered; and are in the middle of historical disaster. Sooner or later, God shuts the mouth of the slanderer, acting out of arrogant self-righteousness. That is divine discipline to the reversionist.

Job 5:17 “Behold, blessed is the one whom God reproves; therefore despise not the discipline of the Almighty.

What about the person who is simply out of fellowship? There is the knocking on the door; warning discipline. Do not despise the discipline of the Almighty.

Job 5:18 For he wounds, but he binds up; he shatters, but his hands heal.

This is rebound adjustment to the justice of God where restoration is in view.

Capacity for life must be related to the integrity of God.

Job 5:19 He will deliver you from six troubles; in seven no evil shall touch you.

This is the person who has made maximum adjustment to the justice of God.

It is to our advantage to be delivered from their troubles.

Job 5:20 In famine he will redeem you from death, and in war from the power of the sword.

When the government restricts the freedom, there will be divine disaster. In the ancient world, a famine is the economic disaster.

The professional soldier is the one who protects us from military disaster.

Everyone will be the victim of a vicious verbal attack. The blessing here is to be related to the justice of God. Bob hopes that all of us die physically. Bob talks about the many ways that we can enjoy dying. Dying in a plane means that we get one more ride before the end.

We are all going to die. Once we are on the other side, there is no more death, no more pain, all the old things have passed away.

Some people walk around with a frown all of the time; and they disapprove of Bob's teaching; especially on Easter Sunday.

Job 5:21 You shall be hidden from the lash of the tongue, and shall not fear destruction when it comes.

Job 5:22 At destruction and famine you shall laugh, and shall not fear the beasts of the earth.

The wild animals were responsible for many deaths in that era. In general, this is a cause of death by violence.

Job 5:23 For you shall be in league with the stones of the field, and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with you.

Being in league with the stones of the field is analogous to any weaponry.

Summary Points for these verses from Job 5

1. No instrument of death can remove any believer from this life.
2. Once calls a believer home, there is nothing of medicine which can keep him here.
3. The believer cannot die until the Lord is ready to take him home.
4. Instruments of death and a dangerous environment cannot end the life of a believer before it is his time.

1977 Romans

Lesson #79

79 04/11/1977 Romans 3:2; Job 5:22–27 Advantage(s); timing; death; Priest Nation Israel

Bryan, TX will be a new Fx hookup.

Job 5:22 At destruction and famine you shall laugh, and shall not fear the beasts of the earth.

This is a relaxed laugh from the inner resources of Bible doctrine.

Wild animals were the instrument of death in that era; today, these are mechanical things like cars.

Job 5:23 For you shall be in league with the stones of the field, and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with you.

Stones were the weapons of the ancient world. Today, we have every type of anti-personnel weaponry.

Romans 3:1 What therefore is the advantage of the Jew or the benefits of circumcision?

Advantage if the integrity of God; and advantages are blessings from the justice of God. Bob reviews the advantage postulates.

There is prosperity for the believer who is mature and dies any of these deaths.

Job 5:24 You shall know that your tent is at peace, and you shall inspect your fold and miss nothing.

You will visit your home in heaven and you will experience no loss, as a mature believer. The rewards and blessings are above and beyond ultimate sanctification.

The mature believer leaves behind blessings for those who survive him. There is an after death blessing by association.

Job 5:25 You shall know also that your offspring shall be many, and your descendants as the grass of the earth.

As a result, your seed will be many. To those who are bereaved, there is prosperity and blessing by association.

Job 5:26 You shall come to your grave in ripe old age, like a sheaf gathered up in its season.

One of the blessings of death is dying at the right time. V. 26 is all about timing; and timing is everything in life. They were at the right place at the right time. And sometimes, from human viewpoint, it seemed like the wrong time and the wrong place.

God knows the right place and the right time. Timing is everything in life.

Bob saw a couple of terrible fights. Featherweights and middleweights. They were both Thai fights and they were both draws. The tie was because their timing was off. Bob demonstrates these two men.

You don't hurt a boxer with the first jab or two; but it is the 2nd or 3rd. Joe Louis used to land his knockout punch.

There is a right time to give a woman the first kiss and a wrong time.

There is a right time to die and a wrong time to die. If you commit suicide, that is the wrong time to die. That is bad timing. Dying becomes a great blessing when we depend upon God for that. We can only do this is maximum adjustment to the justice of God.

If you are a reversionist, then the schedule is changed; maybe sooner, maybe later; but painful. The only way to keep the timing right is maximum doctrine in the soul.

Timing is so important, that you cannot afford to be out of time with God's plan and God's will.

Arriving at death at a full age means the perfect time to die. Timing in life is a part of blessing and prosperity always. The full age is the right time; not necessarily a late death.

The Right Time to Die (Dying Grace)

1. There is a right time and a wrong time to pick corn. Bob appreciates the farm very much. It has been the right place to raise young men. Bob checked with an expert. Bob's associates up in Iowa tell him that all the corn in a field is not matured at the same time, even if it was all planted at the same time. Making this call requires an expert.
2. God is the expert. He knows the right time.
3. All corn does not ripen at the same time. When corn is ripe, it is picked and separated from its sheaf. This is called shucking.
4. When the right time comes, the integrity of God removes us from this life by taking the soul out of the body.
5. God knows best. No one should ever question God's judgment. Bob remembers Fred Mackintosh, who died in his mid-20s, Bob was included to ask why. You do not question the judgment and timing of God. God knew exactly when to shuck his soul. None of us have the right to question God's judgment.
6. It is blasphemous to be bitter about someone dying. We all grieve for someone. Grief is normal; and the fragrance of memories is normal and precious as well.
7. Some cling to life tenaciously and hang on. We think in terms of a long life; God thinks in terms of integrity.
8. We have no right to bitterness at a young death.
9. Some corn ripens sooner than the rest. God's timing and integrity are always right. "Have a good death."

Job 5:27 Behold, this we have searched out; it is true. Hear, and know it for your good."

Hear it and know it for yourself. Total relationship with divine integrity. Bob repeats the postulates.

The advantage is the integrity of God. The advantage is your capacity for it. No sense in having any of these things without your capacity. The blessings, the capacity for those blessings and the third is the source.

None of the reforms happening in our country are even close to the integrity of God.

Romans 3:2 Much in every way. For chiefly indeed, that they were entrusted with the oracles of God.

Verse 2 – the answer emphasizes the importance of Bible doctrine. "Much every way" – the nominative neuter singular from the adjective polus, polos (πολύς, πολλός) [pronounced poll-OOS]. It is correctly translated "much." Next is the prepositional phrase kata plus the accusative singular of the adjective pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs] and the noun tropos (τρόπος) [pronounced TROP-oss]. Kata = according to, against, but it comes "in" because it is a preposition of dispersion. If many things are coming from the same source, then you can use "in" instead of "according to." In other words, the source is the integrity of God and all of these are different blessings, the advantages that come from the integrity of God. So kata plus the accusative is correctly translated here “in every way.”

“chiefly because that unto them” – the adverb proton (πρῶτον) [pronounced PRO-ton] is translated “chiefly” in the KJV, but it doesn’t mean that at all. It means “in the first place” when you put it with the affirmative particle men. The affirmative particle changes the meaning from chiefly to in the first place. Then an explanatory use of the postpositive conjunctive particle gar—“for in the first place.”

Next is a causal conjunction hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee]. Sometimes this is used for quotation marks and isn’t translated at all. Sometimes it is used to indicate the content of thinking or concluding. But here it has a causal connotation and translated “since.” The words “unto them” are not found in the original.

“were committed” – the aorist passive indicative of the verb pisteúō (πιστεύω) [pronounced pis-TOO-oh], which ordinarily means to believe, but basically behind it, it means to be convinced of something, to trust. Here it means to entrust something to someone. God has entrusted to Israel, not the Jew. The Jew is a race, and the race became a nation before there was a trust committed to them—not in Abraham’s day but in Moses’ day. In Moses’ day there was given to them doctrine. The first writer of doctrine was Moses. The written canon of scripture, doctrine in writing so that from this writing men could study and communicate doctrine to others. The aorist tense is a gnomic aorist for an axiomatic truth. The passive voice: the nation Israel received the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for a historical fact: Israel became the first priest nation in history.

“the oracles of God” – accusative plural direct object from legion (λόγιον) [pronounced LOHG-ee-on] which means divine communication or revelation, and here it refers to Bible doctrine. The definite article is used to indicate something with which the readers are familiar. Plus the ablative singular of source from theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]. Remember that the ablative is not the ordinary source of source, but it is the source of source when the source is absolute. Right.

Romans 3:2 Much in every way: for in the first place since they [Israel] were entrusted with the doctrines from God.

This is nation Israel. The doctrines were not given to Abraham, Isaac or Jacob.

The Jews formed a nation; and they preserved and wrote the canon. The Jews were recipients to four covenants.

The dispensation of Israel came to a sudden halt when Jesus sat at the right hand of God. His royalty was in place, but without a royal family. So a royal family must be called out, which is the church.

There will be no priest nations in the Tribulation. The Church Age is the time of the gentiles. A custodian nation has responsibility for the protection of the Word of God, the teaching of it, evangelism, and missionary activity. Also, the client nation must provide a heaven for the Jews. No nation can be a priest nation or a client nation and practice antisemitism.

1977 Romans

Lesson #80

80 04/12/1977 Romans 3:2–3a Doctrine of the importance of Bible doctrine; love; idiom re alternatives

Israel has a future. Jews during the times of the gentiles who have made these additional adjustments have the promise of eternal life. The function of the integrity of God is called grace.

Someday, you would realize that, apart from doctrine, you would be in a state of insanity, in a state of depression, in some manner in which you cannot handle life. To review a doctrine like this is advisable and necessary. I had to supplement these notes with much of what Bob had to say in this lesson. Bob barely covers any of this doctrine in this lesson.. I did it again in Lesson #298.

Doctrine of the Importance of Doctrine

- A. Definition. Bible doctrine is the expression of God's integrity. This is God's permanent expression of His integrity. It is for us. Nothing is more important than knowing how God thinks and how God operates. Grace is the genius of God, integrity is the character of God; doctrine is the manifestation of that genius to man.
1. Doctrine is important because it is related to the attributes of God.
 2. Doctrine is the basis for all true worship. Psalm 138:2, "I myself will worship toward Your holy Temple, and praise Your person [name] for Your grace and doctrine. For You have magnified Your doctrine above Your person." Praising the Lord is not saying an empty hollow phrase, but thinking doctrine. The only way you can apply doctrine is to put doctrine first in your life.
 3. By comparing Lk 23:46, "Into Your hands I deposit My spirit," with Psalm 31:5, we learn what was not recorded in Luke, "for You have delivered Me, O Lord, God of doctrine."
 4. Rom 3:3-4, "Shall their unbelief cancel the faithfulness of God? Definitely not! Moreover, let God continue faithful, even though every man is a liar. Even as it stands written [Ps 51:4], `That You might be vindicated by Your doctrine, and that You might prevail when You are maligned.'"
 - a. God only deals with us in truth. All faithfulness is based on truth. God always levels with us and tells us the truth.
 - b. You can malign the truth (Bible doctrine), but you can't destroy it. Bible doctrine is maligned in two ways.
 - (1) Distortion, which is false teaching.
 - (2) Ignorance.

5. Bible doctrine is the content of the Bible communicated by teaching and instruction. It is the communication of Bible subjects based on the exegetical analysis from the original languages, including the context, analysis, classification of subjects and teaching.
6. While grace is the genius plan of God to bless us and integrity is the character of God, doctrine is the manifestation and explanation of that genius.
7. Bible doctrine is the written permanent expression of God's integrity to the human race. It is the verbalization of divine justice. Doctrine is the study of the attributes of God. Psalm 33:4, "For the Word of the Lord is integrity, and all His provision is in faithfulness."
8. Bible doctrine is the thinking of God in terms of relationship to the human race. Nothing is more important than knowing what God thinks, understanding how God operates, and understanding the basis for all of these things through His integrity.

B. Nomenclature for Bible Doctrine.

1. Hebrew.
 - a. EMETH means true versus false doctrine, Prov 22:21; Psalm 31:5, 25:5, 26:3, 86:11, 119:142.
 - b. CHAKMAH means doctrine in the right lobe of the soul, Psalm 8:1.
 - c. SHEMUAH means what is heard or concentrated on, Isa 28:9.
 - d. LEQACH refers to the self-discipline necessary to learn doctrine, Deut 32:2; Prov 4:2; Job 11:4; Isa 29:24.
 - e. MUSAR means what is learned by discipline or instruction, Job 10:8; Prov 1:2, 4:13, 23:23. It refers to learning Bible doctrine as the principle by which you live your life.
2. Greek.
 - a. GINOSKO means to learn, to know; GNOSIS means objective understanding in the left lobe of the soul.
 - b. EPIGNOSIS means doctrine in the right lobe.
 - c. PROGNOISIS, PROGINOSKO means doctrine in the mind of God; doctrine which existed in eternity past, the "foreknowledge" of 1Peter 1:2 which refers to God's omniscience.
 - d. LOGOS means speech, word, thinking, doctrine, Heb 6:1; 1 Cor 1:18.
 - e. DIDACHE means what is taught, Mt 7:28, 22:33; Mk 1:22, 27; 4:2; 1 Cor 14:6; 2 Tim 4:2; Heb 6:2; Rev 2:14; Rom 6:17, 16:17.
 - f. GNOSTOS means capable of being known, doctrine as a potential, intelligible, Rom 1:19.
 - g. didaskalia (διδασκαλία) [pronounced dee-dask-ah-LEE-ah/did-as-kal-EE-ah] means the teaching of doctrine or what is taught, Mt 15:9; Eph 4:14; Col 2:22; 1 Tim 1:10, 4:1, 6, 13, 16; Tit 1:9, 2:1, 7, 10; 2 Tim 3:10, 16, 4:3.
 - h. SUNEISIS, SUNEIDESIS means doctrine in the conscience.

i. GNOTES refers to an expert in doctrine, Acts 26:3.

C. The believer's legacy in Old Testament times was Bible doctrine.

1. Ps 138:2, "I myself will worship toward the temple of Your Holiness [= integrity] [heaven], and I will be motivated to celebrate Your person because of Your grace and Your doctrine, because You have magnified Your doctrinal teaching [Word] over Your reputation." Worship is like holiness is antiquated and few understand it. This is a person with doctrine in his soul. Worship should appreciate the integrity of God. Praise is flattery without motivation. Anyone can see hallelujah or praise the Lord within anything in their brains. About 90% of worship today is blasphemy. Most people in church have their hand out to get, to get their business back, their gf back, etc. These people are phonies. We may be confused, but God knows Himself. God loves His righteousness; and He loves His righteousness with His attribute of love. God had love a long time before we were around. God did not fall in love with us; He is not impressed with our personality, our kindness. Someone told you that you were great and you believed that; and then assume that God has the same opinion of you. Do not confuse the opinions of others with God's thinking. God has objective love toward the other Members of the Godhead; and He subjectively loves His Own righteousness. God does not love us; He loves his righteousness which is in us. Being in love has no security. When you are in love, you live a minute at a time. Most people who have a painful expression often are just in love (love has much more pain than happiness in it). There is no security in love or in marriage. Some of the least secure people in life are married. The declaration of friendship or love is not enough. Love is not a problem solving device; and love is for mature people. Worst thing in the world is for an immature person to fall in love. Love is not a solver of problems; it is for people who have solved their problems. When God judged Jesus Christ, He set His love aside. Justice takes precedence over love. There is no integrity in government; no integrity in bureaucracy. No integrity in organized crime. No integrity in the labor unions. The only integrity which remains is in large corporations, free enterprise, and a few churches that teach Bible doctrine. We are called saints because God give us His righteousness. God is impressed with what He has done for us; He is not impressed with what we have done for Him. Dear, Jesus —when did you get on a first name basis with the Lord of the Universe? Psalm 138:2 I myself will worship toward the Temple of Your integrity. God is glorified when, from His justice, He can give us maturity. They were entrusted with the oracles of God.
2. Worship is the intake of Bible doctrine. God's reputation with you is based on your understanding of doctrine.
3. Doctrinal teaching is your highest priority in life. We must be motivated by Bible doctrine to praise God. Once you understand the integrity of God, you have enough doctrine to praise Him.
4. Doctrinal teaching is the only way anyone can understand the integrity of God. This is why doctrinal teaching is magnified above all else by God.

5. God is glorified when he can give us our escrow blessings. He cannot do so unless we have maximum Bible doctrine in the soul for the capacity to appreciate the Source of those blessings.

D. In His dying words Christ made Bible doctrine the legacy of the royal family. In His dying breath, Jesus Christ made Bible doctrine the spiritual legacy of the royal family. Lk 23:46 cf Psalm 31|:5, "Into Your hands I deposit My spirit, for You have delivered Me, O Jehovah, God of doctrine."

E. Bible doctrine preexisted the human race, Prov 8:33-36.

1. "Heed Bible teaching, become wise, do not neglect it. Happiness to the man who listens to me, watching daily at my gates, waiting at my doors. He who finds me [Bible doctrine] finds capacity for life and obtains grace blessing from the Lord. But he who sins against me injures himself. All those who hate me love death [the sin unto death]."

2. Both Bible doctrine and evil were here before you came and will be here after you have gone. You cannot change either, but they can change you.

3. Attitude toward doctrine determines whether the believer is blessed or disciplined in time, Prov 8:33-36; Heb 11, 12. The issue in life is not sin, but whether evil or Bible doctrine controls the soul.

F. Doctrine is the basis for the distribution of escrow blessings in time, Isa 53:12. "Therefore, I [God the Father] will distribute the plunder of victory to Him [Jesus Christ] because of the many [royal family]; then He will distribute the plunder of victory to the great ones [mature believers] because He poured out His soul to death..."

G. Doctrine is the basis for the distribution of escrow blessings for eternity, Heb 11:9-10 cf 11:13; Jas 1:25 cf 2:12-13.

H. Bible doctrine must be more real than empirical knowledge, 2Peter 1:12-21. If there is a conflict between what you see in life and Bible doctrine, Bible doctrine is always right. Bible doctrine is more real than anything else in life to the mature believer.

I. Lack of Bible doctrine destroys a nation, Hos 4:1-6.

J. Bible doctrine is part of the principle of logistical grace, Col 1:25-29; Heb 13:7, 17; Eph 4:11-13. God keeps us alive to take in doctrine. Logistical grace includes time, food, shelter, clothing, money, transportation, protection, the Bible, a pastor, a local church, friends, and loved ones. Bible doctrine is an essential part of our logistical grace provision for our advance to maturity.

K. The plan of God is both the advance and vindication of Bible doctrine, Isa 53:10 cf Rom 3:4; Psalm 51:4. You are vindicated through the application of doctrine when you are maligned or rejected.

L. The pastor establishes the balance of residency between the filling of the Holy Spirit and Bible doctrine in the soul of the believer, making possible the advance to maturity. 1 Cor 6:19, 3:16; Eph 5:18.

1. Bible doctrine is transferred from the written page to the believer's soul by Bible teaching from one's right pastor-teacher. This is called the function of GAP (grace apparatus for perception).

2. The purpose of this transfer of doctrine is to establish a balance of residency with the filling of the Holy Spirit, whereby God can be glorified in your life by blessing you.
 3. Since the Holy Spirit works through the Word in the Church Age, the vacancy of doctrine in the soul creates a demand for the grace apparatus for perception.
 4. Daily function of GAP creates a balance of residency.
- M. The importance of the consistency of GAP, Heb 10:25, 35-36, 39; Col 2:6-7. You only have supergrace capacity through persistent positive volition and the daily function of GAP. Heb 10:35-36, "Don't throw away as worthless your confidence in doctrine." Consistency is the secret to reaching maturity. The biggest problems to being consistent are distractions, mental attitude sins, inordinate desire rather than contentment, and entertainment.
- N. The Results of Bible Doctrine in the Soul.
1. It produces confidence in time, Job 5:24-27; 2 Cor 5:6-8; Heb 10:35.
 2. It produces divine viewpoint of life and establishes right priorities in the soul, Isa 55:7-9; 2 Cor 10:5.
 3. It orients the believer to the plan of God, Isa 26:3-4; Rom 8:28.
 4. It produces stability of mind, James 1:8.
 5. It is the basis for divine guidance and the execution of the will of God, Rom 12:2-3.
 6. It leads to occupation with Christ, your social life with Christ, and the capacity and ability to love God and appreciate Him as the Source of blessing when it comes, Phil 3:10; Eph 3:19; Heb 12:1-2.
 7. It attains and holds maturity, Phil 3:12-14.
 8. It attains eternal grace blessing, Heb 11:9, 10, 13; James 1:25 cf 2:12-13.
- O. Synonyms for Maximum Bible Doctrine in the Soul.
1. Language: CHAKMAH, ἐπίγνωσις.
 2. Theological: James 4:6, "MEIZONA CHARIS" means super grace.
 3. Priestly: Heb 13:10, "Altar of the soul."
 4. Building: Eph 4:12, 16, "edification complex of the soul."
 5. Time: Toward God, Eph 5:15-18, "redeeming the time." Toward the unbeliever, Col 4:5.
 6. Central control: Eph 6:10, "Dictator of the soul."
 7. Military:
 - a. Eph 6:11-18, "Putting on the full armor from God."
 - b. Heb 12:1-2 cf 11:1-3 "follow the colors to the high ground." Cf. Col 2:5-8, "establishing a command post of the soul."
 8. Crucifixion: Mk 8:34; Mt 10:38; Lk 9:23, 14:27, "Taking up your cross" and "follow Me" emphasize the impersonal love of the mature believer.
 9. Chemical: Mt 5:13; Mk 9:50; Col 4:6; Lk 14:34, "Salt of the Land."
 10. Sanctification: 1 Tim 6:3-4; 2 Peter 1:3, "Godliness."

- P. Bible doctrine in the soul is the means of promotion, 1 Chr 11:1-2.
- Q. Bible doctrine in the soul is the true source of happiness, Lk 11:27-28. "Happiness is hearing and retaining the Word of God." Life without learning is death.
- R. The important Bible passages on the importance of doctrine are Heb 11, Prov 8, 2Peter 1:12-21, and Isa 53:12.
- S. Thinking is the application of Bible doctrine to experience. (Eph 998.)
1. Learning is understanding. Understanding is thinking. Therefore, thinking is the application of understanding. Thinking doctrine is the application of doctrine
 2. Learning Bible doctrine is tantamount to understanding Bible doctrine. Therefore, thinking Bible doctrine is synonymous with application of Bible doctrine. First we must learn doctrine, then we must think doctrine.
 3. You have to learn Bible doctrine before you can think Bible doctrine or apply Bible doctrine.
 4. No believer can apply doctrine to his experience until he has metabolized that doctrine in the right lobe of the mentality of the soul. Application of doctrine depends on metabolization of doctrine.
 5. You have to think metabolized doctrine before you can apply it.
 6. There are three concepts for the environment of application: learning, thinking, and solving.
 - a. Learning is tantamount to perception and application of Bible doctrine.
 - b. Thinking is the application of metabolized doctrine to experience.
 - c. Solving is understanding and using the problem-solving devices of the protocol plan of God.
 7. The direction of application.
 - a. Toward God includes worship, personal love for God, and occupation with Christ.
 - b. Toward people means impersonal love for all mankind.
 - c. Toward self refers to spiritual self-esteem.
 - d. Toward dying means the application of the doctrine of dying grace.

Eph 996 2/9/89; 5/3/81; 7/4/78; 4/12/77; 10/11/76; 8/6/76; 12/24/74

R. B. Thieme, Jr. Bible Ministries 5139 West Alabama, Houston, Texas 77056 (713) 621-3740

© 1998, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

People on religious television substitute their personalities for any spiritually or they throw their works around; or they try to impress God with their goodness. You are not alive unless you are thinking. Once the 4th estate went over to communism and liberalism, people just stopped thinking. He who finds me (doctrine) finds life. All those who hate me (doctrine) love death. Doctrine is more real than anything in life to the person making the maturity adjustment to the justice of God.

Does the maladjustment of some people cancel out God's grace?

This is a reference to the Old Testament canon. Bible doctrine is the basis of adjustment to the justice of God in relationship with then integrity of God. Doctrine, therefore, is the basis for both personal and national prosperity. The recipients of written doctrine gave Israel the privilege of being the first priest nation. A smoother translation: "Much in every way: for since in the first place they [Israel] were entrusted with the doctrines from God." Since the benefit is Bible doctrine this answer focuses attention on Israel's past, present and future. In the past, as a result of Abraham's maximum adjustment to the justice of God he became the father of the fourth race. In the past the Jews had the glory of being a uniquely developed race. It started with the spiritual maturity of Abraham at age 99. At the Exodus Moses became the father of the Jewish nation, just as previously Abraham had become the father of the Jewish race. The Jews then formed a priest nation which became the custodian of written revelation from God, the Old Testament scriptures.^[2] I don't know where this paragraph of notes came from. I did not hear this teaching in lesson #80.

Romans 3:3 What if indeed some disbelieved? Will their unbelief nullify the faithfulness of God?

Verse 3 – maladjustment. "For what" – the explanatory use of the postpositive conjunctive particle gar, plus the interrogative pronoun nominative neuter singular from tís (τὶς) [pronounced tihç]. The first two words, ti gar, are literally "For what," but this is an idiom. In the Koine Greek this idiom means, "Well then, how stands the case with regard to the alternatives?" In the Attic Greek the idiom adds a classical disjunctive interrogative particle, pôteros (πῶτερος). The Classical Greek uses this with the interrogative pronoun tís (τὶς) [pronounced tihç] means "which of two." And pôteros (πῶτερος) is added here, just like in Classical Greek. Pôteros (πῶτερος) disappeared in the Koine Greek because of the decadence of the duel which led to the substitution of the postpositive particle gar. The Classical Greek had Ti pôteros (πῶτερος), but the Koine Greek was a common language and merely used Ti gar. But it means exactly the same as Ti pôteros (πῶτερος). So Ti gar introduces alternative possibilities regarding the integrity of God, or simply alternatives here regarding the justice of God. "How stands the case with regard to the alternatives re. the justice of God." Using debater's technique, you can take either side of an argument and take that down to the same conclusion.

Politician's do a form of this, where they talk from both sides of their mouths.

Paul was a Jew and a genius; and he is able to argue this. There is no advantage to being a Jew unless you have believed in Jesus Christ. All of the benefits which accrue to the Jew come from the integrity of God.

Being born again is what is important. If you are just born once or you are born a Jew, there is no advantage in that unless you are born again.

Romans 3:3a Well then, how stands the case, with regards to the two alternatives?

Explaining ti gar

1. Only through adjustment to the justice of God can the Jew be benefitted. The idiom, ti gar, introduces the problem of maladjustment to the justice of God in the form of a conditional sentence.
2. The conditional sentence is composed of a protasis and an apodosis.
3. The protasis is the suppositional clause ["if"] while the statement based on the supposition is called apodosis.
4. In this verse we have a first class condition, or a supposition from the viewpoint of reality.
5. This condition is used when one wishes to assume the reality of his premise.
6. The protasis is introduced by the conditional conjunction ei (εἰ) [pronounced /], plus any mood or tense.

1977 Romans

Lesson #81

81 04/13/1977 Romans 3:3b Disadvantages can't cancel integrity of God

Romans 3:3 What if indeed some disbelieved? Will their unbelief nullify the faithfulness of God?

We have the protasis of a first class condition, "if some did not believe," starting with the conditional particle ei (εἰ) [pronounced /] used to introduce a first class condition. With it is the nominative masculine plural of the indefinite enclitic pronoun tís (τις) [pronounced tihç] (no accent), used to define a category, namely Jews who are maladjusted to the justice of God by rejection of the gospel—"if certain ones." (An indefinite pronoun in the Greek always refers to something definite)

Plus the aorist active indicative of the verb apistéō (ἀπιστέω) [pronounced ap-is-TEH-oh] [a = negative; pisteúō (πιστεύω) [pronounced pis-TOO-oh] = to believe] which means not to believe. It really means to refuse to believe and it refers to someone who understands the issue and says no, to disbelieve or to refuse to believe. The aorist tense is a constative aorist, it contemplates the action of the verb in its entirety. It gathers into a single entirety every Jewish maladjustment to the justice of God from the beginning of the race, down through the nation, including all of the people who have rejected Christ right down to the time Paul wrote. The active voice: the Jewish unbeliever produces the action of the verb by rejecting Christ as saviour. As we have seen, this destroys the advantage of being a Jew. All the advantages of being a Jew are related to the integrity of God and therefore the justice of God. The indicative mood is declarative viewing the action of the verb from the viewpoint of historical reality.

Speaking of roots, one officer came and spoke to Bob and said he was going to write a book about a homosexual who traces his roots back to Sodom and Gomorrah; he would call it Fruits.

You could be scrubbing floors one day; in a communist prison camp the next, or walk into the entry of a great mansion; but if you are related to the integrity of God, then it is all the same. God is running the show and it is His plan. So we simply adapt to that plan.

Since Moses gave the Law, the Jews had the greatest system ever known. But, it was also a great system for producing self-righteousness. That is maladjustment to the justice of God.

Now the apodosis: “shall their unbelief” – the particle of unqualified negation mê (μή) [pronounced may] is at the beginning of the question. The apodosis is a question. In questions where you have the negative mê (μή) [pronounced may] it implies the answer of no. If the question begins with the negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] the answer is yes. The nominative singular subject apistia (ἄπιστία) [pronounced ap-is-TEE-ah] means “unbelief,” maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation, rejection of Christ at the point of gospel hearing. Plus the possessive genitive plural from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS] used as a possessive pronoun to indicate that each Jew was responsible for his own rejection of Christ, so that the magnificent spiritual heritage of his past was no help to him. The Greeks could ask a questions with the answer already in the question.

“make the faith of God without effect?” – future active indicative of the verb katargeô (καταργέω) [pronounced kaht-ahrg-EH-oh] which means to abrogate, to render null and void, cancel. It has to be translated “shall cancel.” This is a deliberative future tense, it deals with questions of uncertainty, however such questions are merely rhetorical to communicate doctrine in place of a direct assertion. Since the question begins with the negative mê (μή) [pronounced may] it is a rhetorical question with a preconceived answer, but it is put in the form of a question again to replace direct assertion. The active voice: the unbelieving Jew produces the action of the verb through maladjustment to the justice of God at the point of gospel hearing. This is an interrogative indicative in which the viewpoint reality is implied in the fact of the question. The cancellation is a reality in the mind of the hearer and not in the mind of the communicator. That is what the interrogative indicative means.

There is also an accusative singular direct object from pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]. While pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] means “faith” we are going to see pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] has other meanings. To anticipate, there are three basic meanings to this noun. The active voice meaning is trust, confidence, faith. There is a passive sense in which pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] means doctrine or what is believed, the body of faith. There is a third connotation of the noun: that which causes faith, and it is translated under this condition, “reliability” or “faithfulness.” Here pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] has a definite article to indicate that the word and its meaning in context is familiar to those who hear, those who read. The word means here, “integrity” or “faithfulness.” It is worded, “shall their lack of faith [rejection of Christ] cancel the integrity of God? No.”

Romans 3:2 Well then how stands the case with regard to the alternatives? If certain ones [the Jews] refuse to believe [and they do], shall their lack of faith cancel the integrity of God? No.

Principle

1. The failure of certain ones in the human race to respond to the gospel and to believe in Jesus Christ never abrogates or cancels the integrity of God. God's integrity cannot be cancelled by man's unfaithfulness. And that means not only unfaithfulness at salvation, that means unfaithfulness in the function of GAP.
2. This is why it is so important to distinguish between the integrity of God, to which we must relate, and that anthropopathism called the love of God to which we must not relate.
3. The entire question is based on the fact that many were confusing the anthropopathism of love with the integrity of God, as well as the true love of God as a divine attribute.
4. Human love, when rejected, cancels or abrogates the rejecter; but do not superimpose human love, frustrated love, or rejected love on God. God never changes. Hell has no fury like a woman scorned.
5. Because human beings cancel their faithfulness when rejected in love does not imply that God cancels out his faithfulness or His integrity. If we are faithless, He abides faithfully; He cannot deny Himself.
6. We do not deal with or relate to God on the basis of anthropopathisms. There are many anthropopathisms in scripture and they teach principles, they are important at a certain stage of our spiritual growth, but you can't overwork an anthropopathism.
7. Classical illustration is John 3:16; love is an anthropopathism. Romans 5:8 Integrity makes it impossible for God to love the sinner. Romans 9:13 God says, "I hate Esau." Or, we love Him because He first loved us. God's #1 priority with regards to His creatures is His integrity.
8. We related to God on the basis of divine integrity, called holiness. Righteousness and justice make up God's holiness.
9. God's integrity is not cancelled or abrogated because many people reject Christ as Savior.
10. The integrity of God cannot be cancelled when some reject Him or because some sin.
11. It is impossible to cancel the integrity of God.

Romans 3:2 Well then how stands the case with regard to the alternatives? If certain ones [the Jews] refuse to believe [and they do], shall their lack of faith cancel the integrity of God? No.

The Integrity of God Cannot be Cancelled

1. The principle of interpretation. Since the preeminence of Israel is always related to Bible doctrine. It is not the smartness of a Jew. Many Jews are very talented and smart. That is not what makes them preeminent. The Jewish nation today has gallantly fought against the Arabs and communism; but the relationship with Bible doctrine is what gives them the advantage.

2. Doctrine and its source cannot be neutralized by negative volition. Jews have and negative volition at many times in the past, and the integrity of God still stands.
3. Every generation of history has its unbelievers; those who reject Christ as Savior.
4. The existence of unbelievers does not cancel or abrogate the integrity of God.
5. Grace is never canceled by the failure of those who reject grace. The Jew, with the greatest roots in the world, can spend eternity in hell, because he has no relationship with the integrity of God. Race is not an issue; nationality is not an issue. There would be no salvation apart from the integrity of God. There is no hope for our nation apart from the integrity of God. Carter can do nothing for us; Congress can do nothing for us; the bureaucracies can do nothing for us.
6. Grace is never neutralized by whatever others do or fail to do.
7. The integrity of God is represented to the human race through grace. From God's standpoint and heavenward, it is integrity. From the human standpoint, it is grace.
8. The revelation of the integrity of God is the meaning, purpose and content of Bible doctrine.
9. Bible doctrine reveals the Person of God, the attributes of God, the integrity of God, and the plan of God, grace.
10. The very doctrine that reveals the Person and plan of God depends upon and comes from divine integrity.

Bob repeats the personal postulates. Disadvantages do not cancel the integrity of God. What man fails to do; or what man does that is wrong cannot cancel God's integrity.

1977 Romans

Lesson #82

82 04/14/1977 Romans 3:4a Dishonesty and ignorance of man cf. integrity of God

Romans 3:4 Never may it be! But let God be true, and every man a liar, as it has been written: "That You may be justified in Your words, and will prevail in Your being judged."

Verse 4 – "God forbid," mê (μή) [pronounced may] genoito (γίνοιτο) [pronounced GEE-noyt-oh]. The negative mê (μή) [pronounced may] simply matches up the negative mê (μή) [pronounced may] used in the question of the previous verse. When the negative mê (μή) [pronounced may] is used with a question the answer to the question is no. Here in this verse we have the qualified negative mê (μή) [pronounced may] and the aorist active optative of gínomai (γίνομαι) [pronounced GIN-oh-my]. Translating literally is all right when the language is literal, but the Greeks learned abstract thought very early in their function and from the 5th century on abstract thought was quite common. The greater the mass of abstract thought the greater becomes the idiom, and therefore to correctly translate is the objective. To literally translate "Let it not be so" is not effective. This means that we are dealing with another idiom. To understand the idiom we have to go to the negative mê (μή)

[pronounced may] with the optative mood. The aorist tense of gínomai (γίνομαι) [pronounced GIN-oh-my] is a gnomic aorist for the certainty of a strong negation. The active voice: a rhetorical question produces the action of the verb. This particular Greek idiom, by the way, is a very strong negative and only Paul uses it. He uses it as a debater's idiom, gathering force for the next principle. The optative mood is called the deliberative optative for an indirect rhetorical question. It is used here for a doubtful attitude of mind on the part of the hearers. Paul knows it to be absolute truth; they do not. The idiom can be used in several ways. "God forbid" is the archaic idiom. "By no means" has been used but that is a little on the weak side too. The best idiom is "Hell no!" We compromise a little with "Emphatically not." The strong negative indicates that God's integrity and faithfulness does not depend on the righteousness of man or the goodness of man, or anything else that man can produce. God's faithfulness depends on God's character and specifically His righteousness and justice—His integrity. The faithfulness of God is always based upon the principle of grace, and under grace everything depends on who and what God is. Therefore this strong negative emphasizes the integrity of God to which all believers are related in part, if not en toto—in part at salvation; en toto at maturity.

One guy used to tell Bob in seminary that he was thinking bad thoughts about Bob. Arrogance is always highly inconsistent. You overemphasize your importance to God and do not recognize His importance to you.

"yea, let God be true, but every man a liar" – the important thing is to emphasize who and what God is, not who and what we are. This begins with the postpositive conjunctive particle de, emphasizing a contrast after a strong negative. It is translated "rather." Then the present middle imperative of the verb gínomai (γίνομαι) [pronounced GIN-oh-my], which means to come to be, to become. It is used here as a substitute for eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME] when theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] is the subject. God never becomes anything; God always is. But He becomes something to us and so gínomai (γίνομαι) [pronounced GIN-oh-my] is a compromise with eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME] because we have to change our thinking about God as we learn doctrine. As we change our thinking about God we then enter into the perspective of grace. Until we change our thinking about God from cognizance of doctrine we never are oriented to grace. This is how legalism comes in. If we emphasize self legalism enters. If we emphasize the integrity of God we are grace oriented. The present tense here is a static present representing a condition taken for granted as a fact. The middle voice: because it relates the action of the verb more intimately to the subject, stressing the subject as an agent, this is the indirect middle emphasizing God as producing the action of the verb as a part of His perfect integrity. The imperative mood is often the mood of command, however it is also the mood of entreaty or volition. We have here the imperative mood of entreaty which does not convey the finality of a command but gives the urgency of a request, recognizing that you do have free will. Then comes the predicate nominative singular from alēthês (ἀληθής) [pronounced al-ay-THACE], the real connotation of which is "constant" or "valid." It is used of an attribute of God and refers here to two attributes, the integrity of God, His righteousness and justice. It is used to describe here the judicial righteousness of God. So here in this context alēthês (ἀληθής) [pronounced al-ay-THACE] means "trustworthy" or "reliable," and is a reference to divine integrity.

Emphatically not! Let the God be proven true...

“but every man a liar” is not correct. The adversative use of the conjunctive particle de is translated “though.” There is no “but” about it, it is a fact in contrast. It is a foregone fact that God has all the monopoly on integrity, and we have none under the principle of total depravity. “Every” is the nominative pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs], the nominative singular. We have a subject singular noun, anthrôpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos] for man generically and refers to all mankind. Therefore with pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs], “every man” makes it personal. The word for “liar” is pseustês (ψεύστης, ου, ό) [pronounced psyooç-TACE]. This doesn’t mean someone running around always telling lies, it means that all of us are basically dishonest. This means that man is ignorant and in this case ignorance becomes stupidity. God has total cognizance. Man’s understanding of God starts out as total ignorance—because we are spiritually dead. This phrase does not refer to telling lies, it is living in ignorance and therefore living in falsehood. Ignorance becomes falsehood.

There is a relationship between ignorance and dishonesty. Ignorance is never a virtue; and ignorance of doctrine is automatic dishonesty. The legalist is dishonest. Hypocrisy is dishonest. If you want to observe dishonesty, go to a Bible school.

Romans 3:4a Emphatically not: rather, let the God be proved reliable (truthful,honest), though every man a liar.

Explanation of Romans 3:4a

1. Rejection of Jesus Christ as saviour is tantamount to blasphemy and is the antithesis of integrity, therefore some synonym of being a liar—deceit, hypocrisy, etc.
2. But more than that, when they reject Christ as saviour they reject epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel they definitely know what they have rejected because they have understood a little bit of doctrine, enough to be saved. Rejection of the gospel is declaring God to be a liar.
3. When an unbeliever understands the gospel, if he exhales yes—faith in Christ, then he recognizes the integrity of God, but if he exhales no he says God is a liar. Every person who rejects Christ as saviour in effect says God is a liar. So the issue: either God’s integrity is the source of salvation or God is a liar.
4. The latter—God is a liar—is unthinkable and blasphemous, totally incorrect.

Romans 3:4a Emphatically not: rather, let the God be proved reliable (truthful,honest), though every man a liar.

God’s Integrity and Man’s Lack of Integrity

1. Lack of integrity in mankind does not cancel the integrity of God. Man superimposes his lack of integrity on God but the character or essence of God rejects it. The integrity of God is inviolable.

2. Even though every rejection of Christ declares God to be a liar the integrity of God continues, regardless of the blasphemy. An aside: God is never impressed with public opinion; only people are impressed with public opinion, and Satan who solicits public opinion.
3. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God results in receiving the righteousness of God. One half of His integrity is the guarantee of eternal salvation. The great issue in salvation is the righteousness of God imputed, and/or justification. Logically, justification results from the imputation of the righteousness of God.
4. Salvation maladjustment to the justice of God results in receiving judgment from the justice of God. Lack of having one half of divine integrity is a guarantee of eternal as well as temporal condemnation.
5. The justice of God which gives us His righteousness at salvation, and later on blessing if we mature, is the source of blessing or cursing.
6. The justice of God provides the righteousness of God to anyone who will believe in Christ.
7. But the justice of God provides judgment for anyone who rejects Christ as saviour.
8. Therefore, the integrity of God is involved with both adjustment or maladjustment to the justice of God.
9. Adjustment to the justice of God resulting in the imputation of divine righteousness is called justification.
10. Justification is the first blessing from the integrity of God logically, says Romans. Chronologically these things are simultaneous.
11. Maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation is called condemnation. In other words, condemnation is cursing from the justice of God.
12. Whether justification or condemnation the integrity of God is maintained—by both blessing and cursing from His justice.
13. God's integrity continues reliable, and God's faithfulness is consistent, whether he is using justification or condemnation.
14. Whether blessing or cursing the justice of God maintains the integrity of God.

1977 Romans

Lesson #83

83 04/15/1977 Romans 3:4b Vindication of and maligning of the integrity of God

Translation to this point; repetition of the points above. The righteousness of God rejects sins, any system of legalism, any system of self-righteousness. Our only hope to have a relationship with the integrity of God. God's direct blessing comes from His justice; not from His love.

Romans 3:4 Never may it be! But let God be true, and every man a liar, as it has been written: "That You may be justified in Your words, and will prevail in Your being judged."

"as it is written" begins with an adverb, kathôs (καθώς) [pronounced kath-OCE], which introduces a quotation from the Old Testament scriptures—Psalm 54:1; 116:11. Plus the perfect passive indicative from the verb graphô (γράφω) [pronounced GRAWF-oh], meaning to write. The perfect tense is the grammatic perfect or the rhetorical use of the intensive perfect. The action is completed and the existing results are before us in the fact that there is a completed Old Testament canon from which the apostle Paul is quoting. The passive voice: the pertinent Old Testament passages receive the action of the verb, i.e. quotation. The indicative mood is declarative used for a dogmatic assertion of fact, i.e. a quotation from the OT scriptures.

There is also a Greek conjunction at this point, hōti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee], used pleonastically for redundancy and to quote someone else's words. So in effect hōti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee] becomes a quotation mark but not translated.

“that thou mightest be justified” – the adverb hopōs (ὅπως) [pronounced HOP-ocē] used as a conjunction, and with it a conjunctive particle that is very unusual, án (ὅν) [pronounced ahn]. It comes from the Attic Greek, is always used with the aorist subjunctive to form a purpose clause. Generally it is translated “in order that” or “for the purpose that.” The particle án (ὅν) [pronounced ahn] is actually incapable of translation by a single English word. Its meaning depends upon the meaning and tense of the verb with which it is used. Here it is used to indicate a perfect clause. And this is not Koine Greek.

Then the aorist passive subjunctive of the verb dikaiōō (δικαιόω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh] [díkē (δίκη) [pronounced DEE-kay] = righteousness, and the adjective from which it is derived here is dikaios (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss]]. The verbal form, dikaiōō (δικαιόω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh], means to make righteous, to establish as right, to validate. In the Koine Greek it means to justify, to declare righteous, to vindicate, to show justice, to do justice. Here it is used for vindication of divine integrity, especially divine justice but not to exclude divine righteousness. This amounts to an anthropopathism because God needs no vindication at any time. This is a gnomic aorist, used for a fact that divine integrity is axiomatic in quality and in character. So it is described in the aorist as though it always existed and always will exist. The idiom is translated by the English present tense. It is also a dramatic aorist. The dramatic aorist states the reality of divine integrity with the certitude of a past event, i.e. God has always been righteous and just, He always will be, He cannot change. The passive voice: the essence of God with emphasis on divine integrity receives the action of the verb. The subjunctive mood is used not so much as the potential subjunctive but to introduce a purpose clause.

“in they sayings” – the preposition en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental plural of cause or means, logos (λόγος, ου, ό) [pronounced LOHG-oss]. Logos (λόγος, ου, ό) [pronounced LOHG-oss] in the plural means doctrines, and we have the instrumental of means, so it is “by means of doctrines.” But it is specifically someone's doctrines—the possessive genitive singular from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS], used to emphasize the owner. The owner is God.

Points

1. Since God is infinite, eternal, invisible, and incomprehensible it is necessary for God to reveal Himself to mankind through Bible doctrine.

2. The doctrines of the scripture vindicate the integrity of God.
3. The integrity of God is demonstrated through the perception of Bible doctrine. Hence, the importance of the daily function of GAP.
4. Therefore it is through doctrine that we adjust to the justice of God—only through doctrine.
5. First, doctrine pertinent to salvation—the gospel. Then the whole realm of doctrine for the believer in Christ.
6. This is why maximum doctrine resident in the soul is maturity adjustment to the justice of God.

“and mightest overcome” – the continuative use of the conjunctive particle kai which extends the divine purpose through Bible doctrine to another point. There is a textual problem here. Textus Receptus, which is unreliable in these things, has nikeseis. However, we have a slightly different form in Vaticanus or Codex B which has nikêseis—two different letters even though they are transliterated the same. In other words, which is it? Is it the aorist active subjunctive from nikáō (νικάω) [pronounced nihk-AH-oh] or is it the future active indicative of nikáō (νικάω) [pronounced nihk-AH-oh]? Here we have the aorist active subjunctive and this is where Vaticanus gives us the light on the textual problem of Textus Receptus, the source of the translation of the King James version. Not only was Textus Receptus a series of inferior texts but, worse than that, it is now suffering from the problem of anachronism. Nikáō (νικάω) [pronounced nihk-AH-oh] means to prevail, to conquer, to overcome. In more modern English it is translated “that you might prevail” or “be the victor.” The aorist tense is a culminative aorist, it views the action in its entirety but regards it from the viewpoint of its results. The active voice: the person and integrity of God produces the action. The subjunctive mood is used to indicate the continuation of the purpose clause. “That you might prevail” means that every time that the justice of God must judge the justice of God is right.

“when thou art judged” – the prepositional phrase is en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of the definite article, with the infinitive to denote contemporaneous time. The infinitive of time is equivalent to a temporal clause. This is a case where you take the preposition “in” and make it when. The present passive infinitive of krinō (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no] is the object of the infinitive. The passive of krinō (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no] is often used of judgment which people customarily pass upon the lives and actions of others, so krinō (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no] has the connotation, then, of slander or maligning. There is also the accusative singular of general reference from the pronoun su, and from this we derive the fact—“when you are slandered,” su becomes the subject of the infinitive. The personal pronoun refers to God—“when you are being slandered,” literally. The present tense is a historical present in which a past event is viewed with the vividness of a present occurrence. The passive voice: God, the perfect judge, is criticized.

Romans 3:4 Emphatically not: rather, let the God be proved reliable, though every man a liar; as it stands written, In order that you might be demonstrated just by means of your doctrines, and that you might prevail when you are being slandered.

People complain—why does God take loved ones; or, why does God leave some loved ones here? But how do you criticize perfection?

The Vindication of God

1. God is vindicated when any member of the human race believes in Christ. This is salvation adjusted to the justice of God. Someone who does not believe in Jesus Christ does not take from God's integrity.
2. God is vindicated when anyone names their sins to God.
3. God is vindicated when any believers gaps it to maturity.

The Maligning of God

1. God is maligned when a person rejects Jesus Christ as savior.
2. God is maligned when a carnal believer does not name his sins to God.
3. God is maligned when any believer refuses to advance to maturity.

The Interpretive Principle of this Passage

1. Man's integrity is not good enough for God.
2. For man to be justified before God, he must share the integrity of God.
3. By comparison with the holiness of God, every man is a liar.
4. Therefore, man must adjust to the integrity of God, for the integrity of God of God will not adjust to man.
5. The integrity of God must be vindicated by His justice.
6. Grace is a Nonmeritorious means by which man makes an adjusted to the justice of God.

Truth and Integrity

1. Doctrine or truth is the thinking of God.
2. It portrays the reliability and the integrity of God.
3. Doctrine is part of God's eternal, absolute and infinite knowledge.
4. Since man is a sinner, he can have no integrity before God unless He shares the Divine integrity.
5. This is only possible through Bible doctrine resident in the soul.
6. There are two things which God transmits to us for adjusted to the justice of God. At salve, he transmits His perfect righteousness.
7. God loves His righteousness, which is half of His integrity.
8. When His righteousness is imputed to us at salvation, then He loves us with the divine attribute of love.
9. During the course of the Christian life, we come to share the thinking of divine integrity through doctrine resident in the soul. The integrity of God vindicates man in the various adjustments to the justice of God by salvation, rebound and maturity.

The Integrity of God (Basic Points)

1. God is holy. An old English word meaning God has integrity.
2. Holiness is the integrity of God; and God's integrity is composed of absolute righteousness and perfect justice.
3. The integrity belonging to God is not attained; He has always had it.
4. The integrity of God is infinite, absolute and eternal; a part of His perfect essence.
5. It is not the mere absence of evil but the total sum of His essence.
6. The integrity of God is not maintained by His will or sovereignty. This is what is wrong with hyper-Calvinism. It tries to relate to God through His sovereignty. At best they sit on their hands; at worst, they are blasphemous. It is His immutable unchangeable self. We do; we're human.
7. God is immutable. Because of His perfect character, He cannot be better or worse than the day before.
8. The being of God is unalterable, absolute and totally consistent.
9. When infinite integrity acts toward man, both the righteousness and justice of God is involved.
10. God's judgments are perfect and they demand from us perfection, which we cannot produce. So God must produce it for us. By this, He remains immutable with integrity. He does not become mutable.
11. God's love for His integrity is revealed at the cross. He set aside at the cross His love for the Son and judged our sins while the Son bore them.
12. God's love for His integrity is revealed in His righteousness; His hatred for sin if revealed in His justice.
13. Integrity demands integrity; righteousness demands righteousness; God's nature cannot change. This is why our self-righteousness is no good. We can be a holy roller and yap all day, but it is not going to save us. We have nothing that we can bring to God. God rejects all forms of human righteousness. Many people even after being saved, try to work up their self-righteousness after their salvation. We stand justified before God because His righteousness has been credited to our account.
14. Because the justice of God must punish sin and the righteousness of God demands integrity, there is a grace way of justification.
15. This occurs in three ways. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God, rebound adjustment to the justice of God, maturity adjustment to the Justice of God.

We are mutable, but we can have some form of integrity. Integrity demands that Bob tell you so that you can make an intelligent choice.

From this, we anticipate the attack upon God's integrity.

84 04/17/1977 Romans 3:5a Attack on divine integrity; self-righteous Jew claims his unrighteousness promotes the +R of God

Bob broke some ribs on Friday. Not being able to shoot a shotgun is one of the tragedies of life.

The only thing which counts in life is a relationship with the integrity of God. Those Jews who have rejected Jesus Christ have rejected the integrity of God. They have, then, no advantage. Apart from the integrity of God, there is no sort of reform apart from a relationship to the integrity of God.

God's integrity is composed of His righteousness and His justice. God has always had perfect love, with internal and external objects which are eternal. The internal object of God's love is His righteousness and justice. The limitation on God loving creatures is, God has integrity. Because He has integrity, He cannot love our self-righteousness. Man adjusts to the justice of God or the justice of God adjusts to him. We deal with the justice of God in our lives. God's justice has announced a penalty. Jesus Christ, during those few hours of spiritual death has been judging from His justice. God's love is set aside at the cross, and our sins were poured out on the Son of God.

The justice of God is the guardian of divine essence. Any blessing which we have in this life comes from the justice of God. His justice is the source of blessing and cursing. The justice of God is free to give us the 36 items based upon the fact that we have made instant adjustment to the justice of God. Under grace, everything depends upon Who God is. Divine integrity is divided into two categories of attributes; justice and righteousness. Justice is the functioning part of God's integrity. When we possess God's righteousness, then God is free to love us.

Roman's examines the logical result when it comes to justification; John in his letters concentrates on the love of God.

We start out after salvation with the Holy Spirit. We will sin; but we recover this fellowship by naming our sins. Our attitude towards doctrine determines whether God blesses us from His integrity or not.

Even when the reversionist dies the sin unto death, he cannot lose his salvation, as that is given to him from God's integrity. With blessings comes also the capacity for these blessings. There is blessing by association and historical impact. No blessing in life unless it comes from the justice of God.

Verse 5 is an attack on God's integrity. This is the area of the greatest misunderstanding of believers today.

Romans 3:5 But if our unrighteousness shows God's righteousness, what shall we say? God, inflicting the wrath, is unrighteous? I speak according to man.

Verse 5 – “But if our unrighteousness.” It begins with the postpositive conjunctive particle de used as a transitional particle. It is designed to make a transition into one of the most common attacks on the integrity of God. Plus the conditional particle ei (εἰ) [pronounced /] introducing the protasis of a conditional clause in a conditional sentence, the first class condition which is a supposition from the viewpoint of reality or, as in this case, assumed reality. This is a debater’s first class condition.

The nominative singular subject adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah], translated correctly “unrighteousness.” It means also wrongdoing, wickedness or injustice. It means human injustice in contrast to God’s dikaiousunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay], a word used for the integrity of God. In the New Testament adikia (ἀδικία) [pronounced ah-dih-KEE-ah] means legal injustice, partiality in judgment, man’s unrighteousness in contrast to the righteousness of God. Here it means dishonesty, lack of integrity.

We are related to God through His integrity. We possess two contradictory things. We have believed in the Lord Jesus Christ and received Him as Savior. We receive at the moment the righteousness of God. But we still possess our own self-righteousness; and we still possess our sin nature. The sin nature produces sins and self-righteousness (human good). With human good is the function of evil. God’s integrity cannot accept our sinfulness or our self-righteousness.

How could David be saved and hook up with Bathsheba? He has a sin nature and he has good taste, and that how it takes place.

How can a born again person get drunk? By drinking too much or taking too much medicine.

The passage deals with a self righteous person; and self righteous people are never honest with themselves. “I would never do a thing like that; you can’t be saved and do that.” All have sinned and come short of the glory of God. Your sins may be socially acceptable, but that does not mean that God accepts them.

Next is the possessive genitive plural from the pronoun egó (ἐγώ) [pronounced ehg-OH], indicating that in this context we are dealing with the Jewish unbeliever. But remember that by application it could be any born-again believer maladjusted to the justice of God at rebound, maladjusted with regard to GAP, with regard to doctrine. So the Jewish unbeliever possesses an unrighteousness or lack of integrity and therefore is maladjusted to the integrity of God.

“commend” – present active indicative of the verb sunistaô/sunistanô/sunistêmi (συνιστάω/συνιστάνω/συνίστημι) [pronounced soon-ihs-TAH-oh/soon-ohs-tah-AHN-oh/soon-ohs-TAH-ay-mee], which means to bring together, to unite, to demonstrate, to show, to recommend. Here it means to demonstrate or promote. Paul uses the genitive plural to identify himself with the Jewish unbeliever. Paul is not a Jewish unbeliever, this is a little debater’s technique on his side. He simply assumes the position of the self-righteous Jewish unbeliever in order to destroy that position. He sets up a straw man and then knocks him over. The present tense is a perfective present, it denotes the continuation of assumed existing results. It refers to the assumption of the past but emphasizes a present reality. The active voice: the unbeliever Jew, who is very smart, assumes the action of the verb. This assumption comes from his arrogant self-righteousness. The declarative indicative mood is used to indicate this is a real but incorrect assumption. It is a debater's first class condition. The unbeliever Jew in his arrogant self-righteousness is going to say that his unrighteousness or sinfulness actually promotes or demonstrates the integrity of God. "But if our unrighteousness demonstrates/promotes."

"the righteousness of God" – dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] Theou. The genitive singular of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] and the nominative singular of dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] in the accusative. The accusative is used as the direct object. Here it means one of three things: either God's righteousness, God's justice, the combination of the two, or justification (blessing from the justice of God). This word has some connection to the divine integrity.

Our foreign policy is immoral and evil. We are cowardly and yellow regarding the Soviet Union; we fed them. We have given them trucks. So they solved their logistical problems. They have the largest air force in the world. Naval bases all throughout the oceans. They have every possible superiority. They were held up because they could not move their logistics which we solved for them.

Our immoral government is taxing us in order to use our taxes against us. They threaten us with our taxes, not to drive over 55 mph. Abraham Lincoln was the first person to use tax dollars to blackmail certain states.

OSHA and the EPA have acted in immoral and illegal ways; and they talk about all the good that they are doing. No political, social or economic reform apart from the integrity of God. A liberal has rejected the integrity of God (including liberal Christians).

Our education is teaching students how to solve the problems of life apart from the integrity of God. It teaches people that it is wrong to own guns. No politician has given us any freedom; only the military has done this. What is honor today? Liberal politicians giving away our money in bribes. We are headed from the most horrendous historical disaster. "If we get so-and-so in the White House, we will be delivered." That is ludicrous. The Supreme Court is not administering justice; it has gone crazy. Every bureaucracy cannot be touched with the vote.

"We have 200 years of natural gas and oil in our ground." In the meantime, let's use it like mad. We should encourage every scientific development of nuclear power and weaponry. Plutonium is used in nuclear medicine. We have gone insane. The president has stopped plutonium production. We have become a totally immoral people. Our only hope is doctrine, to tap the infinite resources of divine integrity.

But if our unrighteousness promotes or demonstrates the integrity of God (and we assume that they do... The anarthous construction of God here, which emphasizes the essence of God.

Self-righteousness Promoting God/s Integrity

1. Self righteous assumption is what Paul is assuming here, of the Jewish unbeliever.
2. Self-righteousness is arrogant rationalism and fantasy of comparing one person's strengths with another's weaknesses.
3. You cannot build your righteousness on someone else's unrighteousness.
4. The self righteous type unable to compete with God, seeks to promote his own self-righteousness by saying this promotes God's righteousness. The integrity of God is self-sustaining; it does not require our help. The person claims that he is promoting God's righteousness.

Bob would rather be 59 with broken ribs and 21 and stupid.

Human Self-righteousness and God's Integrity

1. It is blasphemous to assume that human righteousness promotes divine integrity.
2. Divine integrity has always existed in eternity past, long before there was any unrighteousness in the human race. How can something which is relatively new promote that which is eternal. You can think that you do, if you are arrogant; proud; fat-headed. Man is so arrogant that he forgets to take God's eternity into consideration.
3. Neither man's self-righteousness nor unrighteousness can add anything to the integrity of God.
4. In fact, God's righteousness totally rejects man's self-righteousness as well as man's sinfulness.
5. The self-righteous Jew uses debater's technique by implying that God would be wrong and unjust to judge or punish anyone who was promoting His glory or integrity. "I am using my self-righteousness to promote God; why would He punish me?"
6. The self-righteous Jewish unbeliever erroneously contends that his unrighteousness promotes the righteousness and integrity of God.
7. Therefore the self-righteous Jew concludes that God could not condemn him for his unrighteousness.
8. The righteousness of God is His divine love for holiness or integrity.
9. Since holiness demands holiness, integrity demands integrity, righteousness demands equivalent righteousness, justice demands justice, God must condemn all members of the human race from His perfect integrity. The human race comes up short when it comes to righteousness, justice or integrity.
10. God demands integrity, i.e. imputed righteousness, plus maximum blessing from maximum doctrine in the soul, and condemns maladjustment to His justice.

11. This is why adjustment to the justice of God is so important and the key to understanding our grace relationship with God.
12. God in grace provides all that His integrity demands from the human race.
13. He provides imputed righteousness at salvation. Then He provides doctrine after salvation. People substitute their good works for the doctrine of God.
14. At the cross God judged our sins when Christ was bearing them – 1Peter 2:24.
15. At the cross He condemned our sins in Christ; after salvation He condemns lack of doctrine in the soul. Psalm 85:10. Grace and doctrine have met together.
Righteousness and reconciliation have kissed each other.

1977 Romans

Lesson #85

85 04/17/1977 Romans 3:5b–6 Justification; unrighteousness, self-righteousness and divine integrity

Romans 3:5 But if our unrighteousness shows God's righteousness, what shall we say? God, inflicting the wrath, is unrighteous? I speak according to man.

“what shall we say?” – a debater’s rhetorical question. It includes the nominative neuter singular from the interrogative pronoun τίς (τις) [pronounced tihç], plus the future active indicative from the verb λέγō (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh]. The future tense is a deliberative future used for rhetorical questions taking the place of a deliberate assertion. The future active indicative of this rhetorical question is actually used seven times in the book of Romans, and in each case Paul is using logic in connection with debater’s technique in order to refute a false position—Romans 3:5; 4:1; 6:1; 7:7; 8:31; 9:14, 30. The active voice of the verb: Paul assumes the distortion of the self-righteous Jew as a part of debater’s technique producing the action of the verb. This is the setting up of a straw man through this idiom. The indicative mood is used here for a debater’s rhetorical question. The phrase means literally, “what shall we say?” But it is a Greek idiom in debater’s technique and it should be translated, “to what conclusion are we forced?” Hence, we have the debater’s rhetorical question designed to express a false conclusion and then destroy that false conclusion. “What shall we say then?” is an incorrect translation of the idiom.

Now the false conclusion is stated, and then refuted. “Is God unrighteous who taketh vengeance?” This begins with the negative particle which is used when the question demands a negative answer—mh. Then a predicate nominative from the adjective άδικος (άδικος) [pronounced AHD-ee-koss] which means “unrighteousness.” This is the basic key to the false conclusion. The subject in the nominative is ho theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]. Then an articular present active participle from the verb epiphérō (ἐπιφέρω) [pronounced ep-ee-FEHR-oh], which means to bring accusation, to inflict, and with the accusative singular direct object of orgê (ὀργή) [pronounced ohr-GAY] it means to inflict wrathful punishment. There is also a definite article with the participle acting as a relative pronoun. It should be translated, “to what conclusion are we forced? Is the God who inflicts wrathful punishment unrighteous? No.” The historical present tense of the participle indicates a past event viewed with the vividness of a present occurrence. In other words,

Paul is extrapolating debater's technique used in the past against him and now brings it up to the present by inserting it at this point to teach the concept of doctrine. The last judgment is in view also here, so we have a futuristic present tense denoting an event which has not occurred—the last judgment and the lake of fire. But it is regarded as so certain that it is stated in the present tense as though it had already come to pass. The active voice: God produces the action. This is a circumstantial participle used in debater's technique.

Principle

1. The negative mê (μή) [pronounced may] indicates that is debater's technique, that Paul has assumed an erroneous position in order to refute that position. The conclusion is unthinkable and blasphemous. It is impossible for the perfect integrity of God to be unrighteous.
2. The holiness/integrity of God was intact in eternity past before man was created and nothing can change it, nothing ever will.
3. There is nothing man can do to destroy, to neutralize, to cancel, to abrogate the integrity of God. There is nothing that man can do to compromise the integrity of God.
4. Man's unrighteousness does not glorify God but God's integrity condemns man's unrighteousness.
5. There is no point in either angelic or human history where the integrity of God is compromised or gains anything from man's unrighteousness or self-righteousness.
6. The debater's first class condition introduces the premise from which the false conclusion is made.
7. The premise is false the conclusion is false. The conclusion can be no stronger than the premise. This is an indirect proof or indirect argument.
8. No one establishes God's righteousness, no one adds anything to God's integrity. This, by the way, is a fundamental principle of grace and separates grace from legalism on many matters.
9. God can add to something to our integrity but we cannot add anything to God's integrity.
10. God's righteousness is absolute and part of His integrity. God's righteousness, along with the rest of His integrity which is justice, has always existed and is not subject to change or promotion by man.
11. No one establishes the character and the integrity of God. God's essence or character stands without help from man or angel.
12. In other words, God does not need our help; we need His help.
13. We need the benefit of God's integrity which begins at the point of salvation adjustment to the justice of God.
14. Imputed righteousness is the beginning of blessing from the justice of God.
15. Imputed righteousness is where God begins to share His integrity with us.

God's Love—the Attribute and the Anthropathism

1. Like all divine attributes, love belongs to the essence or being of God. God is and God always has been love, regardless of having an object of love.
2. The love of God is in contrast to human love. Human love requires an object; human love needs emotion in order to sustain it. Less is known about divine love than any other subject; the same thing might be said of human love.
3. There is ascribed to God a human attribute called love. There is the actual attribute and the anthropopathism. God is explained in terms of human frame of reference. Example: Jacob I love and Esau I hate. This helps us to understand divine motivation by using human characteristics. When God is said to be jealous, we understand this, because all men understand what a jealous bitch is. God does not change His mind; but the Bible says that God repents. Anthropopathisms are for those who are young in the faith.
4. An anthropopathism is a human characteristic ascribed to God which He does not actually possess, which helps to explain God's actions (divine policy) in terms of human motivation.
5. The classic example is Jacob I have loved and Esau I hated.
6. Divine motivation explained in terms of human terms. 1John 4:19
7. While love is an anthropopathism, love is not the direct source of blessing from God.
8. The direct source of blessing from God is God's justice. Righteousness protect justice and justice protects all the other divine attributes from compromise.
9. While all God's attributes are indirectly involved in blessing, but Justice is what is directly involved. Justice is our direct contact with God.

God's Ability to Bless Man

1. God found a way to bless us without compromising His perfect essence.
2. God did not do this from human sentimentality or there being some great thing in us to attract Him.
3. Man concludes in self-righteousness that he has done something to please God.
4. Therefore, man strives in the energy in the flesh for a status which pleases God. He thinks that if public opinion is with him, then God agrees.
5. Man strives for a status which he assumes is pleasing to God.
6. This striving ignores the integrity of God.
7. The integrity of God becomes the issue. God found a way to bless man without changing God in any way.
8. The key to all of this is justification; an action of divine integrity; not divine love. When we believe in Jesus Christ, this is instant adjustment to the justice of God. God is then free to give us the advantages. Half of God's integrity is given to us as the moment that we believe. God then pronounces us righteous.
9. Justification is the function of the integrity of God where He can provide through His justice the pronouncement of our righteousness. He imputes righteousness and pronounces us righteous.
10. God, as a result, is free to bless sinful man without compromising His character.

11. The grace principle in justification eliminates all self-righteousness...before or after salvation.
12. Do not conclude divine approbation for our self-righteousness; or if people like you that God shares their opinion.
13. God loves His Own righteousness, not yours; His Own Plan, not yours. His Own works, not your works
14. Response to the plan of God from a nonmeritorious approach results in blessing.
15. Results in rejection of the plan of God; discipline in time for the believer; and discipline in eternity for those who do not initially adjust to God's justice.

“(I speak as a man)” – this is an idiom. Kata plus the accusative of anthrōpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos] means “according to man.” It is translated “according to man” or “according to the standards of man.” The present active indicative of légō (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh] means “I am speaking.” This is a descriptive present tense indicating what is now going on, the expression of self-righteous human viewpoint. The active voice: Paul as a part of debater’s technique assumes the attitude of the self-righteous unbeliever in order to refute that position. The indicative mood is declarative for a simple statement of human viewpoint. Paul assumes human viewpoint to refute it, the straw man principle in debater’s technique.

Romans 3:5 But if our unrighteousness promotes the integrity of God [and we assume it does], to what conclusion are we forced? The God who inflicts wrathful punishment is not unrighteous, is He? No, of course not. I am presenting the human viewpoint.

The issue: Is God who inflicts wrathful judgment on the unbeliever unrighteous? Is divine integrity compromised by judging man? Does the temporal and eternal judgment of the unbeliever in any way compromise the attributes of God? The answer is no. On the contrary, the function of divine justice in condemning the unbeliever confirms and strengthens the integrity of God.

The self righteous claims that God cannot be righteous to condemn him. The arrogant man assumes that God cannot condemn his self-righteousness. The advanced argument is that he glorifies God in some way; and therefore, how could God condemn or judge that which promotes Him in any way. But God’s essence cannot be compromised.

Romans 3:6 Never may it be! Otherwise, how will God judge the world?

Verse 6 – lest some of Paul’s hearers become nervous he makes a full denial of the false assertion. He begins with mē (μή) [pronounced may] genoito (γίνοιτο) [pronounced GEE-noyt-oh], the strongest of the negative idioms: “Emphatically not.” The aorist active optative of ginomai (γίνομαι) [pronounced GIN-oh-my], the deliberative optative, is used for a doubtful attitude of mind on the part of the hearers, not the writer. By use of the optative of ginomai (γίνομαι) [pronounced GIN-oh-my] Paul is saying that he is clear, he doesn’t have any problem, he is bringing this all up to reflect the hearers’ thinking and to straighten it out.

“for then how” – an idiom of suppressed condition, epeí (ἐπεῖ) [pronounced ehp-IH] pōs (πῶς) [pronounced pohç]. The best that can be done in translating this is “otherwise how.” Since if it were true, how...

“shall God judge the world?” – the nominative singular subject ho theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], and the nominative definite article because people are familiar with God. It refers to Jesus Christ who is the presiding judge of the supreme court of heaven and has been so appointed—John 5:22, 27. Then the future active indicative of krinō (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no], krinei. This is a gnomic future, a statement of fact. The difference in the tenses is based upon an accent. That is how closely we must follow Paul’s argument. If he spoke this, he would simply move his emphasis to a different syllable. The last judgment is anticipated as reality under the gnomic future. The indicative mood is declarative for the reality of the last judgment. Then an accusative singular direct object from kósmos (κόσμος) [pronounced KOSS-moss], the world which God is going to judge.

Romans 3:6 Emphatically not. Otherwise if it were true how shall God judge the world?

Does self-righteousness promote the integrity of God? Paul switches the accent to say that this is not the case. This is a quick nuance and you had to be really smart to follow him. Paul demands complete and total attention. Paul has these people leaning with them, and then he smashes their wrong thinking completely. Some of them in their shattered self-righteousness will believe in Jesus Christ (or get straightened out spiritually).

Self-righteousness never impresses God; it impresses stupid people. Sweetness and light does not impress God. If you assume that God is impressed with the things that impress people, you are saying that He is stupid, shallow, superficial.

God knows everything that has happened and will happen; but He also knows all the alternatives as well.

Bob is going to be gone for a full five days; so we are given the necessary time to catch up with him and figure out what Paul is teaching.

God can only give His righteousness from His integrity.

1977 Romans

Lesson #86

86 04/24/1977 Romans 3:7 Glory of cf. glorifying God: source and object

The Soviet Union represents the greatest concentration of evil. Our president has just made as big a fool of himself as is possible, with the idea that our natural resources should be left in the ground.

A reading of the passage.

Romans 3:7 But if in my lie, the truth of God abounded to His glory, why am I also still judged as a sinner?

Verse 7 – “For if,” the postpositive conjunctive particle de used to connect one clause with another and to continue to use the debater’s technique, showing how ludicrous is the thinking of man in this regard. It is translated “But.” Then the conditional particle ei (εἰ) [pronounced /] used to introduce a first class condition—“if and we assume it is true.” It introduces the protasis of a first class condition, supposition from the viewpoint of reality. Here is the first class condition used as debater’s technique. Paul uses this premise in order to refute the premise. Paul assumes something to be true in order to refute it. He states a premise of legalism. The straw man is set up and is then knocked down. Under this first class condition Paul assumes that doctrine or the truth of God is advanced by telling a lie. He assumes the role of a liar to state his rationalization to those who are maladjusted to the justice of God, and man, the liar, should not be condemned if he advances the justice of God.

“the truth of God” – the word for truth is the nominative singular subject alêtheia (ἀλήθεια, ας, ῆ) [pronounced ahl-Ā-thi-ah]. It is used for truth or doctrine, here it is used for doctrine. Then the possessive genitive singular from theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] with the definite article, and this indicates that doctrine belongs to God. Doctrine is the manifestation of the integrity of God. The word alêtheia (ἀλήθεια, ας, ῆ) [pronounced ahl-Ā-thi-ah] describes integrity in terms of truthfulness, dependability, and reliability as opposed to the appearance of things on the surface.

“hath more abounded” – aorist active indicative of the verb perisseuô (περισεύω) [pronounced per-iss-SUE-oh], a transitive verb, it means to cause to abound, it also means to make extremely rich. As an intransitive verb it means to show itself extremely great, to abound, to be prominent. Here it means to become more prominent or to become extremely great. The aorist tense is a constative aorist, it gathers up into one entirety every time Paul has sought to advance the glory of God by means of a lie. Now Paul doesn’t seek to do that, he has transferred the objection to himself to refute it. So he is assuming that position, that he lies to advance the glory of God. The active voice: Paul assumes this heresy in order to refute it and therefore the doctrine produces the action. The indicative mood is a potential indicative used to develop the idea of contingency in the debate.

“through my lie” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental of the possessive adjective emos (ἐμός) [pronounced ehm-OSS]. The instrumental is translated “by” and the first person used of the adjective emos (ἐμός) [pronounced ehm-OSS] is translated “my.” Plus the instrumental singular of pseûsma (ψεῦσμα) [pronounced PSYOOS-mah] which means lie, falsehood, undependability, untruthfulness. The prepositional phrase can be translated, “But if the doctrine of the God has shown itself to be extremely great by means of my false presentation” or “by my lie.”

“unto his glory” – eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus doxa (δόξα) [pronounced DOHX-ah] and autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS] the intensive pronoun, “for the purpose of his glory.” This is all debater’s technique. Paul doesn’t believe this, he is simply assuming it. The protasis is a straw man. The apodosis demonstrates the fallacy of the protasis and it does so with a question.

“why yet” – the interrogative pronoun tís (τίς) [pronounced tihç], it introduces the apodosis. Then the adverb éti (ἔτι) [pronounced EH-tee], meaning still or yet. This means that even though the whole situation has been developed, that Christ has been judged for sins, this does not keep Paul from being out from under spiritual death. So this is the adverb of logical inference, it switches from its temporal use to its inference use. Here is the logical inference used in an interrogative sentence to demonstrate a fallacy. We also have the first personal pronoun egó (ἐγώ) [pronounced ehg-OH], “I” – “why am I also.”

“judged” – present passive indicative of krinô (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no]. The present tense is a descriptive present, it is now going on. Passive voice: Paul receives the action. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic assertion of fact: Paul is still being judged as a sinner.

“as a sinner” is literally “as sinful” – the nominative singular from the adjective hamartôlos (ἁμαρτωλός) [pronounced ham-ar-to-LOSS]. This is called a nominative of exclamation. When it is desired to stress a thought with great distinctness the nominative is used without the verb as here. It is used instead with a correlative adverb. The noun or adjective then stands alone and receives great emphasis.

Romans 3:7 But if the doctrine of the God has shown itself to be extremely great for the purpose of his glory [and we assume that it has]; why therefore am I also still being judged as sinful?

Lies and Falsehoods

1. Lies and falsehood are sins.
2. The integrity of God declares these as being sinful. All lies, all falsehoods were poured out on Christ on the cross and judged on the cross.
3. Therefore sinfulness does not advance the glory of God and cannot advance the glory of God. Anything that was judged on the cross doesn't glorify the justice of God, the glory is in the judging agent, not in the recipient of the judgment (which would be like saying all criminals are glorious). Divine integrity advances the glory of God. That which is the recipient of judgment does not glorify God, it is the justice of God which is glorified in condemning that which is sinful and evil.
4. Man does not advance the glory of God, only God can advance the glory of God. We glorify God when we have His full integrity shared. We receive at the cross His imputed righteousness, and we receive when we crack the maturity barrier blessing from the justice of God. So that the righteousness and justice of God, when they are both involved, is the sphere of glorifying God. The rich young ruler would have been acceptable in most every church in the country.
5. He may use man or angels but only God has the power to advance the glory of God.

6. Man can glorify God but man cannot advance the glory of God. We glorify God with maximum doctrine resident in the soul so that the justice of God is free to bless us.
7. Man can glorify God by the use of grace, by the adjustments to the justice of God, but man cannot advance the glory of God. Principle: The source is the glory, not the recipients. The source is the integrity of God.

Our sins do not glorify God; condemning sin glorifies God. God's justice is what is glorified.

A person telling a lie or sinning does not glorify God. Bob says, he has never seen so many blank looks. He might as well start Romans all over again. There is nothing that we can do in order to maintain the integrity of God.

The object of divine judgment does not receive the glory. God can only accept what God is. We are never blessed for being good, kind, loving; or we have changed our personality to something which is nicer than it used to be. All over the country, people are standing up and telling those around them, that they love them. That is insanity.

Those points above are repeated.

Bob notes some visitors; and he cannot cater to you.

Romans 3:7 But if the doctrine of the God has shown itself to be extremely great for the purpose of his glory [and we assume that it has]; why therefore am I also still being judged as sinful?

Summary of Romans 3:7

1. Glory, in this verse, is used for the sum total of God's essence. It includes His sovereignty, His eternal life, His righteousness and justice. God's sovereignty is not our point of contact; and God's love is not our contract point either.
2. The essence of God is eternal, infinite, perfect.
3. The essence of God cannot be improved or advanced by God or by man.
4. God can glorify God by maximum adjustment to the justice of God. But we cannot improve on the glory of God.
5. God's integrity protects the glory of God.
6. In integrity of God judges man as being sinful; incompatible with the glory of God.
7. Justice pronounces a penalty on sinful man.
- 8.
9. The integrity of God of man comes to God with God's plan. There is nothing in man's plan that God needs.
10. The integrity of God rejects the salvation plans of sinful man. Ephesians 2:8-9
11. The integrity of God can only accept the divine plan of grace when it comes to salvation.
12. Man's plans are rejected as legalism; God's plans are of grace.

13. God's plan is completely consistent with the essence of God.

1977 Romans

Lesson #87

87 04/24/1977 Romans 3:8 Communion (10:30); end doesn't justify the means, slandering grace

A book from 1911, Virginia gave the first resistance to Britain; and gave her Constitution first to mankind. The Declaration was given by one of her sons. Throughout, Virginia has never asked for any exclusive benefits nor had she impinged on the rights of any other state. The states each, for themselves, retained sovereign power. A new compact was set up. They established a government of complete and individual states. The US government has declared war on many states today.

The postulates of integrity are repeated.

We are in the process of losing the justice of God, because we have no direct relationship with God.

Romans 3:8 And is it not, as we are slanderously charged, and as some affirm us to say, "Let us do evil things that good things may come?" Their condemnation is just.

Verse 8 – “And not rather.” There are simply two words here, kai mê (μή) [pronounced may]. It is true that kai is sometimes translated “and”, and literally this looks like “and not.” However, there are four separate and distinct uses of the conjunction kai, and the one which is in view here is the intensive use which is correctly translated into English “in fact.” Then the negative particle mê (μή) [pronounced may] which qualifies hypothetically, though not actually. The negative ou (ού) [pronounced oo] denies in fact, the negative mê (μή) [pronounced may] denies the idea. Hence, we begin with the denial of a slanderous assertion. “In fact, not true” is the correct translation.

“as we be slanderously reported” – the adverb for “as” is kathôs (καθώς) [pronounced kath-OCE], used as a comparative conjunction used to introduce indirect discourse and start a parenthesis. Then we have also the comparative conjunction used twice in the parenthesis to introduce two slanderous assertions. The present passive indicative of blasphemêô (βλασφημέω) [pronounced blahs-fay-MEH-oh] for “slander.” It means to injure the reputation of, to slander, to revile in relationship to man or to blaspheme in relationship to God. The present tense is a perfective present, it emphasizes what has occurred in the past but is emphasized as a present result. This is something that happened in the past but it has a present result: a reputation which produces a point of doctrine. The passive voice: Paul receives the action of the verb. It is Paul who is now maligned and slandered. The indicative mood is declarative for the historical reality of the fact that Paul, the greatest Bible teacher who ever lived, was maligned and slandered.

“and as some affirm that we say” – this time the kai is connective and translated correctly as “and.” Then the comparative conjunction kathôs (καθώς) [pronounced kath-OCE] again, plus the nominative plural of the indefinite pronoun τίς (τις) [pronounced tihç], which really isn't indefinite at all. The indefinite pronoun τίς (τις) [pronounced tihç] is used to express a category of people involved—Paul's critics, especially the Judaizers who are ultra-self-righteous in their attempts to keep the Mosaic law. Principle: Arrogant self-righteousness is always critical of grace-oriented doctrinal teaching. But all the slander and maligning in the world cannot destroy the ministry of anyone who communicates Bible doctrine.

The word “affirm” here means to allege. This is the present active indicative of phêmi (φημί) [pronounced fay-MEE], meaning to allege. This is a progressive present tense signifying action in progress or a state of persistence, hence very strong linear aktionsart. The active voice: the arrogant self-righteous legalists are producing the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of reality. This actually occurred historically and has great meaning in that sense. Then the conjunction hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee] plus légô (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh]. Hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee] is used after verbs of saying or thinking to show what the content of the alleged concept is. Then we have the accusative plural of general reference from the personal pronoun egó (ἐγώ) [pronounced ehg-OH] acting as the subject of the infinitive. Plus the present active infinitive of légô (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh], and the present tense this time is descriptive present indicating what is now going on. The active voice: Paul produces the action of the verb allegedly. He really doesn't produce it and that is why it couldn't be in the indicative mood, that's why it had to be in the form of an infinitive. The infinitive is the infinitive of conceived result in which something is assumed or something is distorted.

Now the content of the slander:

“Let us do evil” – this is what they contend Paul is saying, the aorist active indicative of the verb poieô (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh] for “let us do.” The aorist tense is a constative aorist, contemplating the action of the verb in its entirety. Paul is saying this day in and day out so that they have gathered up into one entirety Paul's entire ministry. They contend that every day Paul teaches and without exception every day he says, “Let us do evil.” The active voice: Paul is alleged to do the action of the verb by his critics. Furthermore, they put it in the hortatory subjunctive when one exhorts others to join him in some course of action. Plus the accusative neuter plural direct object from the definite article used as an abstract adjective to apply it in a special sense—evil things. Then the accusative neuter plural direct object from kakós (κακός) [pronounced kak-OSS] which with the definite article is translated “evil things.”

“that good may come” – the conjunction hina (ἵνα) [pronounced HEE-na] introduces a purpose clause. This they contend is Paul's purpose. Then the nominative neuter plural from agathos (ἀγαθός) [pronounced ag-ath-OSS] with the definite article, not “good” but “good things.” Plus the aorist active subjunctive of the verb érchomai (ἔρχομαι) [pronounced AIR-khoh-my], “come.” The culminative aorist views the purpose in its entirety but it regards it from the viewpoint of existing results. In other words, the constative aorist is the means—evil. The culminative aorist is the result—good things. In other words, using an evil means to attain or achieve good. Paul is alleged to produce the action again in the active voice. The subjunctive mood goes with the purpose clause. Let us do evil things that good things may come.

The Means and the Ends

1. This phrase, “let us do evil things that good things may come,” is slander. Paul does not contend that the means justifies the end, nor the end justifies the means. If the means is evil the end is evil—always. The means determines the quality of the end, or the result.
2. The end can never be any better than the means by which the end was achieved. Consequently, God never uses evil to accomplish good. This is incompatible with the integrity or holiness of God.
3. Under the integrity of God grace is the means and grace is the result. The integrity of God is the means and the glory of God is the result.
4. Consequently, only the integrity of God can glorify the essence of God.
5. There is no place under grace for the intrusion of man’s self-righteousness or Satan’s policy of evil. The only reason it ever intrudes at all is because people are ignorant of doctrine.
6. Paul’s ministry and communication of doctrine was totally compatible with the integrity of God and the principle of grace.
7. Those who slander grace slander the integrity of God.
8. Those who malign the communicator of doctrine malign the Word of God. The Word of God comes from the integrity of God.
9. The Word of God is the verbalization of the integrity of God.
10. Therefore these slanderers and maligners of Paul’s ministry are answerable to divine justice.
11. Since they are maladjusted to the justice of God the justice of God can only condemn them.
12. The slanderers are liable to punitive action from the integrity of God.

Paul does not say, “Damn you, bastards!” To show that the rebuttal is going to come directly, and always does in principle, from the integrity of God Paul says, “whose damnation is just.” He just steps out of the way and lets the lightning bolt go right to its target.

This includes the possessive genitive plural from the relative pronoun hos. Instead of saying “whose” it is better to bring it over into English “their.” The word “condemnation” is the nominative singular subject krima (κρίμα) [pronounced KREE-mah], meaning a judicial verdict, a sentence of condemnation and punishment; “is” – present active indicative from eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. The present tense is a static present for punishment taken for granted as a fact. Whenever doctrinal teaching is maligned it is taken for granted as a fact by the static present that the integrity of God will deal with the culprit. The active voice: condemnation and punishment from the integrity of God produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for the reality of such condemnation or punishment.

The predicate nominative neuter singular is from the adjective éndikos (ἐνδίκος) [pronounced EHN-dee-koss], and it means “deserved”—“their condemnation and punishment is deserved.”

Romans 3:8 In fact, not true (as we have been slandered, and certain arrogant ones keep alleging that we say,) “Let us do evil things that good things may come.” Their condemnation and punishment is deserved.

When a person takes a stand against the intake of Bible doctrine, they are facing interfacing with the justice of God. The minister gets double cursing and double blessing.

When you slander a teacher of doctrine, you get double-triple compound discipline. So do not worry; no pastor gets away with anything. A pastor has authority in whatever church he is teaching. Some people are pastor-baiters or preacher-bullies.

Judging and its Consequences

1. Paul is not saying that the ends justify the ends. Communists who have a certain order are willing to kill anyone who opposes them, as their end justifies the means. When this is ascribed to Paul, it is arrogant legalism.
2. Such maligning and slandering means triple compound discipline, doubled for a pastor.
3. Isaiah 54:17 is the principle of lightning striking as discipline. No weapon that is formed against you will prosper; and every tongue that accuses you in judgment, You will condemn. This is the heritage of the servant of the Lord and their vindication is from Me, decrees the Lord.
4. Matthew 7:1–2 Judge not that you be not judged. For by what judgment you judge, you will be judged. And by what measure you measure, it will be measured back to you. This can be mentioning sins or heresies and associating them with some pastor. Arrogance, jealousy, vindictiveness followed by speaking to malign, slander or judge someone else. The measure out sins and assign them to a person, they do not get judged for those sins, you get it instead. If they have committed those sins, they do not get the punishment, you do.
5. The motivating area like pettiness,; verbal sins, gossip slander, measure principle: whatever sins you mention, you are judged for those sins.

Postulate. The universality of man’s sin. Total depravity applies to all.

Someone at a nearby hotel asked at the desk where the nearest catholic church was, and he got directed to Berachah Church. He stayed through three-fourths of the service, and then left. Roy caught him in the parking lot and found out.

Malarkey and Balderdash got out. Bob found Malarkey, where he was fighting with a dog and a man. The kid turned a hose on Malarkey, and he let the dog go and went after the boy.

Bob got a letter from John Tower, a Texas senator. He was talking about decisions to be made about the military.

An assessment of Napoleon. "I aimed for the empire of the world; who in my place would not have done this?"

No One Is Righteous

Paul was constantly maligned by people who were inferior to him. Blessing is always connected to God and what He does; it is not connected to what we do.

Romans 3:9 What then? Are we better? Not at all. For we have already charged both Jews and Greeks all to be under sin.

Verse 9 begins the second paragraph in Romans 3: – the first postulate. A postulate is defined as a proposition which is taken for granted, an essential prerequisite. The axiom which is taken for granted at this point is the universality of man's sin: total depravity. Total depravity elicits both condemnation and spiritual death for the entire human race. Later on it will be seen in this chapter that the same justice of God which condemns sinful mankind also provides blessing for mankind, starting at salvation, for spiritually dead mankind.

"What then?" – ti oun (οὖν) [pronounced oon]. Ti is the nominative neuter singular of the interrogative pronoun τίς (τις) [pronounced tihç]; oun (οὖν) [pronounced oon] is a postpositive inferential particle used as a conjunction to denote what is introduced at this point as the result of inference from the previous paragraph. It means literally, "What then?" or "What therefore?" But it is a Greek idiom and it can be translated better, "Therefore how are we to understand the situation?" Remember, you do not literally translate idioms. You either expand the translate the translation in the English language or approximate it as best you can.

"Are we better than they?" – one word here: the first person plural (we) present middle indicative of the verb proechô = proéchomai (προέχομαι) [pronounced pro-EHKKH-om-ahée]. It means to jut out, to excel, to be first. In the middle voice which we have here it means to hold something before one's eyes for protection. The word "we" in proechô = proéchomai (προέχομαι) [pronounced pro-EHKKH-om-ahée] refers to the Jews and to Paul, and the entire human race. It is an editorial we in which he is going to identify himself with his hearers to make a point. Since proechô = proéchomai (προέχομαι) [pronounced pro-EHKKH-om-ahée] in the middle voice means to hold something before your eyes for protection we translate it this way: “Do we possess anything which might shield us from the justice of God?” The retroactive progressive present denotes what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. The indirect middle: Paul is the agent, he is using debater’s technique, he identifies himself with self-righteous Jews. He is not identifying himself with people who are sinners and are aware of the fact. He is identifying himself with the toughest nut to crack—the self-righteous types. When a person becomes self-righteous it makes him tough, stupid, indifferent, implacable; and when they are crossed in this status of self-righteousness this is where they develop all of the nasty little sins that are not really little sins but the greatest of all. The indicative mood is the interrogative indicative for the debater’s question.

“No, in no wise” – ου (οὐ) [pronounced oo] pantôs (πάντως) [pronounced PAN-toce]. The particle of summary negation, ου (οὐ) [pronounced oo] , the clear-cut point blank negative objective and final, it shuts the door. The adverb pantôs (πάντως) [pronounced PAN-toce] which means “by all means,” but with the negative it means “not at all” or “by no means.”

Principle

1. As long as any person in the world thinks that there is any system of human righteousness, talent, ability, planning or system of works which can satisfy the justice of God and clings to his system of self-righteousness, whatever it is, he has no chance of ever having a relationship with God. The point of reference is the justice of God.
2. No human factor, including Jewish self-righteousness, can therefore provide or add anything to salvation adjustment to the justice of God. The first issue we face in the human race is salvation and there is nothing that we can add to what the justice of God provides.
3. No Jewish rationalism of being better than the Gentiles will provide salvation—or spirituality, or maturity. All of the way through this chapter the Jews are in view; they are used as the illustration.

Bob repeats the advantage postulates.

Carter wants to give money to those who will leave gas and oil in the ground. Stupid. Bob calls it the most stupid speech that he has every heard.

“for we have before proved” – the postpositive conjunctive particle gar, used as an explanatory conjunction to summarize the postulates presented at this point.

Then the aorist middle indicative from the compound verb proaitiáomai (προαιτιάομαι) [pronounced pro-ah-tee-AH-om-ah-ee] [aitiaomai = to blame or to charge; pro = before], it means to accuse beforehand or to already have charged. We translate it “for we have already indicted.” This is a dramatic aorist tense, it states a present reality with the certitude of a past event. The idiom is a device for emphasize, it is used to state a fact which is just and realized, or a result which has just been accomplished. The middle voice: this is a deponent verb, middle in form and active in meaning. Paul produces the action, and he has already produced the action in chapters one and two. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic statement of fact.

“both Jews and Gentiles, that they are all under sin” – the accusative plural from the adjective pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs], “all,” is used as the predicate nominative of the infinitive. Then the present active infinitive of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME], the verb to be. The present tense is of duration, it denotes what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. It is a present reality to whom Paul writes this as well as to us. All are indicted; all are under sin. The active voice: Jew and Gentile produce the action of the verb. This is the infinitive of actual result. Plus a prepositional phrase, hupó (ὑπό) [pronounced hoop-OH] plus the accusative of hamartia (ἁμαρτία, ας, ῆ) [pronounced hahm-ahr-TEE-ah] —“under sin,” singular, a reference to the old sin nature. Which came first, sin or the old sin nature? Answer: the old sin nature. We acquire the old sin nature at birth. Sin in the singular refers to the old sin nature. Both Jews and Gentiles are born with old sin natures, therefore both Jews and Gentiles are born spiritually dead.^[3]

Romans 3:9 Therefore how are we to understand the situation? Do we possess anything that might shield us from the justice of God? No, not at all; for we have already indicted both and Gentiles, that they are all under sin.

Nearly 20 pages of doctrine of the old sin nature (from NB2); and about 30 minutes to cover it; so clearly, Bob did not give this entire doctrine during the Romans series. Finding Bob’s place in this doctrine is nearly impossible. Bob appears to be following the original doctrine of the sin nature at first, but he expounds somewhat and has more points. Many references to fragmentation below.

This doctrine covered again in Lesson #179; and this doctrine may have been pieced together from that lesson and previous lessons. I am finding the points given in #179, but they begin around point 3 and continue (so point 4 in lesson #179 is point 6 below). However, sometimes a couple points have to be skipped over to give to the correct point. Some additional points are added from Lesson #180. Checked again from Lesson #185 (with a few points added) Lesson #199 refers back to this doctrine. Lesson #200 refers back to this doctrine. Reviewed in Lesson #246.

The Doctrine of the Old Sin Nature

A. Definition.

1. Biblical documentation of the sin nature is found in Romans 5:12. "Therefore, just as through one man [Adam], sin [the sin nature] entered into the world, and [spiritual] death through [the] sin [nature], so [spiritual] death spread to the entire human race because all sinned [when Adam sinned]."
2. The characteristics of spiritual death include:
 - a. The status quo of dichotomy in the human race, having only a body and soul at birth, but no human spirit. Without a human spirit you can have no relationship with God, 1Cor 2:13.

- b. Total depravity can be moral or immoral degeneracy, depending upon one's trend in his sin nature. If a believer's fragmentation (becoming arrogant and staying that way) is perpetuated, the believer becomes morally or immorally degenerate.
 - c. Total separation from God.
 - d. Total helplessness to perform any work, sacrifice, or any change of life by which we can enter into a relationship with God. The only way we can enter into a relationship with God is to accept God's work on our behalf; i.e., to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ.
3. The threefold essence of the old sin nature.
- a. The area of weakness produces personal sins and eventuates in consequent evil in the form of moral or immoral degeneration, Hebrews 12:1. Mental, verbal and overt sins come out from the area of weakness.
 - b. The area of strength produces human good, resulting in moral degeneracy, Isaiah 64:6; Romans 8:8.
 - c. The lust pattern motivates sin and evil, lasciviousness and asceticism, moral and immoral degeneration, Romans 7:7; Ephesians 2:3.
 - d. We can go back and forth between the material and the immaterial. The soul comes from God; and the sin nature is inherited from Adam.
 - e. Bob used to teach that the sin nature is in the soul; but now he believes it to be in the cell structure of the body. That explains old age and wrinkles. That explains the whole thing about physical death.
4. The old sin nature is Adam's trend after the Fall in action. Immediately after Adam sinned, two things occurred simultaneously.
- a. He had a new trend historically.
 - b. He had spiritual death.
 - c. The sin nature is passed down from Adam.
 - d. We receive the imputation of Adam's sin as well. One sin produces all spiritual death.
 - e. The wages of sin is death is not your sin; it is Adam's sin.
 - f. "Adam and Paul; and that's all. If you are a Baptist preacher, I have just given you a sermon."
5. A trend occurred toward sin, producing personal sin in three categories: mental, verbal and overt.
6. A trend occurred toward good and evil, producing the Satanic policy for the pseudo-millennium. The trend toward good and evil also became a part of the function of Adam's trend. The trend toward good and evil is still an issue. Because of the judicial imputation of all personal sins to Christ, sin is no longer an issue except in rebound. When Adam chose the tree, he chose Satan's policy, immediately making Satan the ruler of the world. Good and evil is Satan's policy. The Garden was not so much a coup d'etat as a surrender. Man did not need to know about good and evil, which are opposite sides of the same coin. Man did not need to know about either of these. Man had a relationship with the justice of God. God warned man what would happen if he ate from the tree. Good and evil and God's plan are mutually exclusive.

7. The Fall of man resulted in numerous changes from the Garden.
 - a. Satan became the ruler of this world.
 - b. The old sin nature became the ruler of man's body.
 - c. Mankind became spiritually dead, and therefore under the condemnation of the justice of God, which became our new point of reference.
 8. The sin nature is a part of the body; which influences the soul. This is why it is called a mortal body.
 9. The body affects the soul and the mentality and vice versa. Bob is not sure about the material of the soul. The relationship between the material and the immaterial has become an issue of interested to Bob.
 10. Imputations and targets regarding the sin nature. God's righteousness did not have a natural home in our souls.
 11. Adam took a perfect soul and, by his negative volition, he revolted against divine authority and created the old sin nature. Adam's volition was a perfect instrument. But being free, he could reject divine authority.
 12. We all have this original mold. While the soul is not occupied by the old sin nature, the soul becomes the battlefield which the old sin nature attacks and where it is often tactically successful.
 13. The influence of the old sin nature on the soul is seen in mental attitude sins and motivations. The condition and status of the body often affect how you think. There is no question that the body effects the soul and the mentality, just as the soul effects the body (psychosomatics). This phenomenon of not only the immaterial influencing the material but also the material influencing the immaterial is noted in the "heart" passages of Jer 17:9; Mt 12:34-35; Mt 15:19; Mk 7:21-23.
 14. By Genesis 3:21, Adam and the woman have believed in the Revealed God. After that point, copulation continued to occur, but life was born. All of them had sin natures from that point. The man's sin nature is passed down to the boys and their sisters.
 15. The sin nature is the headquarters for the opposition to God within us.
- B. Biblical Synonyms for the Old Sin Nature. Nomenclature for the sin nature.
1. The singular of the Greek word HAMARTIA generally refers to the old sin nature, Romans 5:12, 7:14; 1 Cor 15:56; 1 Jn 1:8. The plural generally refers to personal sins.
 - a. Romans 5:12, "Therefore, just as through one man [Adam], sin [the sin nature] entered into the world, and [spiritual] death through sin [the sin nature], so [spiritual] death spread to the entire human race because all sinned [when Adam sinned]."

b. Romans 7:14, "Certainly, we know that the law is spiritual, but I am of [belonging to the realm of] the flesh [sin nature], sold in bondage to sin [sin nature]."

(1) Of course the law is spiritual, for it came from God. It is God's establishment mandate for the entire human race.

(2) "Flesh" (SARXZ) is another word for the old sin nature.

(3) We are sold into bondage at birth, when the imputation of Adam's original sin to the old sin nature occurs.

c. Actually, HAMARTIA in the singular can refer to:

(1) Adam's original sin.

(2) Old sin nature, usually found with the generic use of the definite article.

(3) Principle of personal sin.

2. The Greek word SARXZ means "flesh," and it emphasizes the location of the old sin nature in the cell structure of the body. Because the sin nature is related to the biological life, it is called the flesh.

a. Gal 5:16, "But I say, walk by means of the Spirit and you will not execute the lusts of the flesh."

b. Eph 2:3 mentions the lust of the flesh; 1 Jn 2:16; Romans 6:6, 7:14.

3. "The old man" (PALAIOS ANTHROPOS) emphasizes the origin of the old sin nature: Adam's original sin perpetuated through the twenty-three male chromosomes which fertilize the female ovum in copulation.

a. Eph 4:22, "With reference to your former lifestyle [self-fragmentation through post-salvation sinning], you yourselves lay aside [through rebound] the old man [sin nature], you who are becoming degenerate on the basis of the lusts of deceit."

b. The sin nature is classified as the old man because it originated in the Garden of Eden; it's older than anything else, Col 3:9.

c. "You who are becoming degenerate" refers to being corrupted in polarized fragmentation from the trends of the sin nature.

d. The "lusts of deceit" include power lust, money lust, approbation lust, sexual lust, chemical lust, and emotional lust (fear, worry, anger).

4. "Carnal" (SARKINOS) means "fleshly," "of the flesh," or "belonging to the flesh." This refers to the believer under the control of his old sin nature and therefore out of fellowship with God through personal sin and resultant cosmic involvement.

a. Romans 7:14, "Certainly, we know that the law is spiritual, but I am of [belonging to the realm of] the flesh [sin nature], sold in bondage to sin [sin nature]." (See point 4 for Romans 7:14-25.)

b. 1Corinthians 3:1-3, "And I, brethren, could not speak to you as to spiritual persons [believers in divine dynasphere], but as to belonging to the sin nature [carnal believers controlled by the sin nature], as to babes in Christ [childish believers]. I gave you milk, and not solid food [advanced doctrine], for you were not able to receive it; in fact, you are not yet able. For you are still belonging to the sin nature. For since there is jealousy and strife among you, are you not belonging to the sin nature, and keep walking in conformity with men?"

- (1) The Corinthian believers were still not able to learn advanced doctrine because they were under the control of the old sin nature, which limits what you can learn.
 - (2) The fact that they are still carnal means they don't use rebound to recover fellowship.
 - (3) Note what Paul mentions as an example of carnality. He mentions one of the mental attitude sins of arrogance: jealousy.
 - (4) The Corinthian believers are therefore "of the sin nature", i.e., carnal, and walking as unbelievers.
5. "Our body of sin" in Romans 6:6 emphasizes the old sin nature's headquarters where it resides in the cell structure of the body. Its genetic home is in the cell chromosomes.
 6. "Corruptible man" refers to the sin nature in Romans 1:23. Corruptions means the old sin nature and the result of the old sin nature. Man is corrupted physically, spiritually, and therefore morally.
 7. "Corruptible seed" in 1Peter 1:23 refers to the transmission of the old sin nature.
 8. There are passages which describe sin, good or evil as coming from the "heart." The heart, or right lobe of the soul, has nothing to do with the old sin nature. But the old sin nature always gets to the soul of man by attacking the heart. This is the old sin nature influencing thought so that sin, good and evil are motivated in the thinking, being programmed in the brain. Jer 17:9; Mt 12:34-35, 15:19; Mk 7:21-23.
 9. Cancer is a rebellion of the body against itself. This cell which divides will have more than 46 chromosomes.
 10. We all go astray. When sheep panic, they go off in all different directions. We all went astray at the womb, whatever our weaknesses happen to be. We all have a sin nature and we are all born gone astray.
- C. The origin of the old sin nature:
1. Spiritual death is Adam's sin combined with the sin nature.
 2. Adam's sin was acquired by imputation; but Adam's nature or trend was gained genetically.
 3. The man and the woman are both carriers of the sin nature, but only the man transmits it.
 4. (#8) The 23 uncontaminated gene from the woman are matched with the 23 corrupted ones from Adam. The sin nature is the total contamination of all the cells in the body save one.
 5. When these chromosomes are combined, the sin nature is transmitted.

6. Didn't God create us and therefore, create the sin nature? God gave man true free will, which gave man an option. This gave us a parallel with angels. There had to be a choice or a function; and something that was not, in itself, morally good or bad.

7. When man sinned, he himself would be the originator of sin and the sin nature.

D. Further Biblical Documentation of the Old Sin Nature.

1. There are three references to the old sin nature in Romans 6:6. "Knowing this, that our old man [old sin nature] was crucified with Him [retroactive positional truth], that our body of sin [old sin nature] might be rendered powerless, in order that we should no longer be slaves to sin [old sin nature]." The implication of this verse is that we are in slavery to the old sin nature apart from retroactive positional truth.

2. When the old sin nature gains control of the soul, it is often called a "desperately wicked heart." Jer 17:9, "The heart of man is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked."

a. The Hebrew word LEB is used for the right lobe of the soul, but here it refers to the right lobe connected with the old sin nature's temptations. They are filtered through the soul and its functions.

b. The right lobe is the place where sin is defined before volition grabs it and runs with it. All sin originates from your own volition, but temptation goes through your soul.

c. This explains Jer 17:9 which relates the right lobe to the old sin nature. Mt 12:34-35 and 15:19 says the heart is the source of certain sins. This doesn't refer to the right lobe by itself, but as it is related to the old sin nature.

(1) In other words, the sin nature comes from the cell structure of the body and presents a temptation which goes into the right lobe. There it is defined in terms of language. Or it can be defined in terms of emotion. So once the source, the old sin nature, gains entry to the soul, then the temptation is defined. At this point, you know you are being tempted according the language of your own soul.

(2) Then you face a decision toward that temptation. Negative volition means you will commit the sin you are tempted with, whether you know it's a sin or not. Positive volition means you say no to committing that sin, so that the temptation merely remains a temptation. A temptation can never become a sin until your volition is involved. This is true of all people, normal or abnormal. All people are held responsible for their sins before God.

3. Romans 7:14 has two references to the old sin nature. "For we know that the law is spiritual [comes from God, a Spirit], but I am of the flesh [old sin nature in body], having been sold into bondage to sin [slavery to old sin nature]."

4. 1 Jn 1:8, "If we say [contend, maintain, assert] that we have no sin [nature], we deceive ourselves, and doctrine is not in us."

5. 1 Jn 1:10, "If we say [contend, maintain, assert] that we have not sinned [after salvation], we make Him a liar and His doctrine is not in us."

E. The Source of the Old Sin Nature.

1. The old sin nature is the genetic home for the imputation of Adam's original sin at physical birth causing real spiritual death. Real spiritual death is separation from God in a state of total depravity.

2. The old sin nature resides in the cell structure of the body and is the source of all inner temptation. Anything that is a temptation to you must be filtered through your soul. The sin nature is passed down genetically through the twenty-three male chromosomes in copulation.

3. While the soul of man comes from God, the old sin nature originates from the original sin of Adam in the Garden. The old sin nature works through the soul. All inner temptations come from the old sin nature. Most temptation comes this way, though occasionally we face an overt temptation.

4. This is the perpetuation of the sin nature in man. Two imputations occur simultaneously at birth. When the fetus emerges from the womb, God imputes human life to its home, the human soul. That human life is, in every case, created by God. Secondly and simultaneously, the justice of God imputes Adam's original sin to the genetically-prepared home of the sin nature residing in the cell structure of the body. The result is real physical life and real spiritual death.

a. Still-born babies are a matter of God's will.

b. The idea that you must have children for a status symbol is wrong thinking. Having children is not necessary.

c. Bob does not believe in adoption. When the womb is closed, there is a divine reason for that. Bob has discovered the ladies are very temperamental about their wombs. When God does not give life to the womb, that is not a disaster but a blessing.

d. The result of birth is physical life and spiritual death.

e. Adam's sin was acquired by imputation and Adam's nature was acquired genetically.

f. The man and the woman are both carriers of the sin nature; but only the man can transmit it.

g. The sin nature is transmitted through 23 chromosomes.

h. The sin nature is the total contamination of all the cells of the body except for the creation of that one pure cell in the woman.

i. When the 23 chromosomes combine with the other 23 chromosomes, in the ovum, prepared for fertilization.

5. Adam's original sin was acquired by imputation. Adam's sin nature is attained genetically. Both man and woman have the sin nature; but only the man transmits it.

6. There is a vast difference between biological life and soul life.
 - a. Biological life originates from copulation. Soul life originates from God at birth.
 - b. The sin nature does not become active until birth, when biological life is combined with soul life to form the human being.
 - c. God cannot and did not create the sin nature. The sin nature originated from Adam's disobedience. God is not the author of sin or temptation; that is blasphemous and unthinkable.
 - d. Biological life is genetic, originating from one cell, the zygote. Soul life originates from God at birth.
 - e. Biological life begins at conception; soul life begins at birth.
 - f. The sin nature is transmitted through biological life. Therefore, the sin nature is transmitted through the body, not the soul. For this reason, the word SARXZ or the flesh is used as a synonym for the sin nature.
 - g. Biological life begins with mother dependence in the womb. Soul life begins with God dependence at birth.
 7. While both the man and the woman are carriers of the old sin nature, transmission of the old sin nature occurs only through twenty-three male chromosomes passed down from the man. The man is the transmitter of the old sin nature in copulation because Adam committed the original sin of cognizance, and Eve committed the original sin of ignorance.
 - a. 1 Tim 2:14, "And it was not Adam who was deceived, but the woman, being deceived, was in the transgression. As a result, the man became the authority in marriage.
 - b. Romans 5:12, "Therefore, just as through one man [Adam], sin [the sin nature] entered into the world, and [spiritual] death through the sin nature, so [spiritual] death spread to the entire human race because all sinned."
 - c. Ps 51:5, "Behold, I was born in iniquity, and in sin [the sin nature] I was conceived." David means that Adam's original sin was imputed to the old sin nature at the point of birth. He is not saying that he was born a bastard.
 8. The sin nature is genetically formed in the womb, along with biological life. Because there is no soul life in the womb, God is not the author of sin.
- F. The Virgin Pregnancy and Virgin Birth of our Lord.
1. The one exception to the genetic perpetuation of the old sin nature is the virgin pregnancy of Mary.
 2. Because of meiosis and polar body, the female ovum, ready for fertilization, throws off twenty-three contaminated chromosomes, leaving twenty-three uncontaminated chromosomes.
 3. The virgin Mary was a carrier of the old sin nature. She was spiritually dead at birth. She was a virgin but not sinless. But at the moment of fertilization of that one pure, uncorrupted ovum by the Holy Spirit, she possessed that one pure cell free from the old sin nature. The Holy Spirit fertilized her twenty-three pure chromosomes with twenty-three perfect chromosomes.

4. The Holy Spirit, in fertilizing the ovum of Mary with twenty-three perfect chromosomes, therefore eliminated the genetic formation of the old sin nature. All the other normal genetic functions did occur, however.
5. Mt 1:20, "Behold, an angel appeared to Joseph in a dream, saying, `Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take Mary as your wife, for that which has been conceived in her is from the Holy Spirit.'" The Holy Spirit provided twenty-three perfect chromosomes which fertilized the ovum of Mary.
6. The virgin pregnancy of Mary excluded the genetic transmission of the sin nature, so that the biological life of Jesus in the womb was without a sin nature.
7. At the virgin birth of Jesus, there was no sin nature. Therefore, Jesus was born as Adam was created, i.e., trichotomous, having a body, soul, and spirit. Parthenogenesis is why the Lord was born just as Adam was created. They were both born/created without a sin nature. .
8. With no genetically-formed old sin nature, it was impossible for the justice of God to impute Adam's original sin to Jesus Christ at birth because there was no genetically-formed home for its transmission, no old sin nature because of no copulation.
9. Therefore, Christ was born perfect, just as Adam was created perfect. Both were perfect in the structure of the body and in the soul, having no old sin nature. Jesus Christ is the facsimile of Adam before the Fall; i.e., perfect; we are the facsimile of Adam after the Fall; i.e., spiritually dead with an old sin nature. The first Adam was created perfect; and Jesus was born perfect.
10. There was no target or natural home for Adam's original sin. It could not be imputed to Jesus.
11. Therefore, Jesus Christ was born into the prototype divine dynasphere because He was "filled with the Holy Spirit" from birth. Throughout his life on earth, our Lord had to remain perfect inside the prototype divine dynasphere so that He would be qualified to go to the cross, and receive the imputation and judgment for the sins of the world. "He was tempted in all points as we are, yet apart from sin [sin nature]."
12. Because of the virgin pregnancy followed by the virgin birth, our Lord was born in a state of perfection which He maintained through residence, function, and momentum inside the prototype divine dynasphere.
13. The doctrine of impeccability teaches that the humanity of Jesus Christ was tempted far beyond anything anyone has ever known, but He resisted all temptation. His deity was not able to sin; His humanity was able not to sin. See the doctrine of Impeccability.
14. (#179 points) All cells in the human body are corrupted. Just as the combined chromosomes produce different characteristics, this also affects the sin nature and the strengths and weaknesses.

15. While the woman carries the sin nature, she cannot transmit it. This is the difference between the man and the woman in the fall.
16. The woman was deceived by Satan, so she sinned in ignorance; Adam sinned in cognizance. The woman, therefore, carries the child, and the man provides the sin nature.
17. The virgin Mary was a carrier of the old sin nature; she was not immaculate; she was not sinless.
18. The Holy Spirit fertilized the ovum of Mary, providing 23 perfect chromosomes. There would be no genetic formation of the sin nature. This is pathogenesis.
19. This was a pregnancy without copulation and without a male involved in the fertilization.
20. With no genetically formed old sin nature, it was impossible for the justice of God to impute Adam's original sin to Jesus because there was no place for it to go.
21. Because of parthogenesis resulting in no spiritual death at birth for the Lord.
22. When God the Father gave life to the human soul to His uniquely-born son. This is because there was the imputation of human life...
23. The justice of God
24. Only through personal sin, could Christ acquire a sin nature.
25. Imputed to Him and judged.
26. Justification from the justice of God through faith in Christ.
27. When Jesus hung on the cross, our sins could be imputed to Him as a judicial imputation.
28. The reason why Jesus could receive our sins but not be contaminated by Adam's original sin is, the personal sins were imputed by a judicial imputation, which required the volition of Jesus.
29. Before the fall, Adam was perfect. After the fall, he had accumulated one personal sin, one sin nature, and spiritual death. This is how we are born.

G. The Biography of the Fragmented Life, Romans 7:14-25.

1. Romans 7:14, "Certainly, we know that the law is spiritual, but I am of [belonging to the realm of] the flesh [sin nature], sold in bondage to sin [sin nature]."
2. Romans 7:15, "For that which I am doing [fragmentation], I do not understand. For I am not practicing what I would like to do, but I am doing the very thing that I hate [self-fragmentation]."
3. Romans 7:16, "But if I do the very thing I do not wish to do [fragmenting my own life], I agree with the law that it is good." In 1Timothy, Paul says that the law teaches what sin is.
4. Romans 7:17, "But as the case really stands, I am no longer the one doing it, but the sin nature which is indwelling me."

5. Romans 7:18, "For I know that nothing good of intrinsic value dwells in me, that is in my flesh [sin nature], for the desire is present in me to attain the good [virtue], but I cannot do it."
6. Romans 7:19, "For the good of intrinsic value that I desire to do, I do not do [fragmented believer], but the evil which I do not desire to do I keep practicing."
7. Romans 7:20, "But if I am doing the very thing I do not wish to do [and I am], I no longer accomplish it, but the sin nature residing in me."
8. Romans 7:21, "Consequently, I discover this principle, that when I desire to do the good [virtuous, noble], evil [fragmented life] is present with me."
9. Romans 7:22, "For along with other believers, I delight in the law of God [protocol plan] with reference to my inner man [doctrine in mentality]."
10. Romans 7:23, "But I see a different law [principle] in the members of my body, making war against the law of my mind [status of fragmentation], and making me a prisoner to the law of the sin nature which is in the members [cell structure] of my body."
11. Romans 7:24, "I am a miserable [wretched] person! Who will rescue me from the body of this death [the old sin nature]?"
12. Romans 7:25, "Grace belongs to God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then, on the one hand, with my mind I am myself serving the law of God; but on the other hand, with my flesh [old sin nature in control of the soul], I am serving the law of the sin nature."

H. Six categories of fragmentation are produced by the old sin nature.

1. Personal or self-fragmentation is related to the sin nature's area of weakness and area of strength. Heb 6:1, "Therefore, leaving behind [graduating from] the elementary teachings about Christ [basic doctrines of Hypostatic Union, Christology, soteriology], let us advance to maturity [execution of protocol plan, manufacture of invisible hero, glorification of God], not laying again the foundation [doctrines of salvation and spirituality] of repentance away from dead works, and of faith toward God, . . ." Dead works come from the area of strength of the old sin nature. When under the control of the sin nature, all the works you produce are dead and unrewardable.
2. Polarized fragmentation is related to the trends of the sin nature. The sin nature has a trend either toward self-righteous arrogance and legalism or toward lascivious lawlessness and antinomianism.
 - a. Perpetuated legalistic fragmentation results in moral degeneracy.
 - b. Perpetuated antinomian fragmentation results in immoral degeneracy.
 - c. Pre-salvation sinning is solved by faith in Christ. Jesus Christ on the cross was judged for both the sins of legalism and the sins of antinomianism. At the moment anyone believes in Christ, the problem of pre-salvation sinning is solved, for those sins are all blotted out, Isa 43:25, 44:22; Eph 1:7; Col 1:14.
 - d. Post-salvation sinning requires the use of problem solving device #1, the rebound technique.

e. Polarized fragmentation results in a tremendous conflict among believers who have opposite trends in their old sin nature. There is no toleration of others. This conflict drives positive volition away from doctrine.

3. Fragmentation related to subjective arrogance includes unrealistic expectation and role model arrogance. Unrealistic expectation is subjective preoccupation with self; role model arrogance is subjective preoccupation with others.
4. Human relationship fragmentation includes:
 - a. Fragmentation and the problem of Christian fellowship.
 - b. Fragmentation and the problem of marriage.
5. Fragmentation related to emotion involves emotional sins, such as fear, worry, anxiety, hatred, anger, violence, and murder; these perpetuate fragmentation.
6. God relationship fragmentation includes:
 - a. Failure to understand and utilize the problem solving devices.
 - b. Failure to execute the protocol plan of God.

I. Post-Salvation Sinning and the Old Sin Nature.

1. Divine justice imputes divine righteousness to the believer at salvation. There must be a policy to bless man. There is a grace pipeline going from the justice of God to the righteousness of God.
2. At the moment of salvation, there occurs the baptism of the Holy Spirit, which cancels the ruling power over the old sin nature. This anticipates Romans 6. We positionally separated from the sin nature?
3. This establishes the victory of the 3 trends of the sin nature.
4. Through the baptism of the Spirit, we have retroactive positional truth.
5. This abrogates the sovereignty of the old sin nature in human life.
6. The old sin nature is still located in the cells of the body of corruption and it is transmitted by the 23 chromosomes' When Christians have children, their children has sin natures. You will never completely stop sinning. Romans 8:1-3.
7. The believer continues to use his volition and continues to possess a sin nature after salvation.
8. 1John 1:8 tells us we continue to possess the old sin nature. "If we say [contend, maintain, assert] that we have no sin [nature], we deceive ourselves, and doctrine is not in us."
9. 1John 1:10, "If we say [contend, maintain, assert] that we have not sinned [after salvation], we make Him a liar and His doctrine is not in us."
10. Since the believer continues to possess the old sin nature after salvation, he is a walking grenade.
11. However, only the volition of the believer can pull the pin of the grenade. Being tempted by the sin nature is not sin; only when volition pulls the pin of the grenade does the believer sin. That's why the rebound technique is the first problem solving device, designed to recover from fragmentation.

12. The pin of the grenade is related to some form of arrogance. The multifarious manifestations of arrogance include jealousy, bitterness, hatred, vindictiveness, implacability, self-pity, self-righteous arrogance, motivational and functional revenge, slander, maligning, gossip, and judging.
13. The fragmentation of the life moves in the direction of the trends of the sin nature.
 - a. If the trend is toward self-righteous arrogance and legalism, the fragments of the life include slander, gossip, maligning, judging, and Christian activism.
 - b. If the trend is toward lasciviousness and lawlessness, the trend is toward sexual and even criminal sins.
14. The trend toward self-righteousness and legalism produces such heresies as saying that you cannot commit certain sins and still be a Christian. That is wrong. The believer can commit any sin an unbeliever commits. This trend results in several categories of heretical conclusions.
 - a. Salvation by works.
 - b. Spirituality by works.
 - c. A misunderstanding of our Lord's teaching that "by their fruits you shall know them." From a misinterpretation of this verse, self-righteous Christians conclude that you are not really a Christian unless you show the proper manifestation of it.
15. The trend toward lasciviousness and lawlessness results in anti-nomianism and reaction against Bible doctrine because it is associated with self-righteous arrogance.

J. The sin nature after salvation:

1. Positionally the sin nature is overwritten by the righteousness of God.
2. Experientially, the sin nature continues to function.
3. The contradiction between the positional destruction and the frustration of following the trends is Romans 7:15
4. The continued function of the sin nature means that doctrine is needed, and the filling of the Holy Spirit. We must overcome the pull of the first husband, which is the old sin nature. Second husband is retroactive positional truth. We are pulled in two directions. The sin nature pulls and retroactive positional truth pushes. We are torn until we opt. First thing is the proper function of rebound.
5. Believer is given rapid recovery through rebound. This is the initial key for exercising your option.
6. The need for rebound adjustment
7. Divine judgment solves the post-salvation problem of the old sin nature. Our problems. God solves problems through condemnation and judgement. We have something better than Adam and the woman had in the garden.

Condemnation precedes justification. Don't knock condemnation. If it were not for condemnation, we would not be here. When you are behind the 8 ball, only God can do something about it.

- a. Our sins were judged on the cross.
- b. Rebound is us judging ourselves. Rebound is not breast beating nor is it promising that you will never do it again. When you cite a sin, that sin has already been judged. Emotions are never designed for making decisions. Emotion is not doctrine, it is not love, it is not truth. Emotion must be your slave and not your master.
- c. Bob used to, when working in the summer, would ride over to a holy roller church to watch the craziness. It was a mess. Rolling in the aisles, frothing at the mouth, etc.
- d. The believer's human good, which comes from the sin nature, is all judged at the final judgment.

K. The Arrogance of False Perspective.

1. The arrogant believer who rejects the doctrine of eternal security thinks that he can do something to lose his salvation. He assumes that his sins and failures are greater than the saving work of Christ on the cross and the forty things he received at salvation from God. Or the arrogant believer erroneously concludes he must add something to faith in Christ for salvation.
2. The arrogant believer erroneously assumes that dead works of legalism and morality are greater than the omnipotence of the Holy Spirit inside the divine dynasphere. He calls his dead works spirituality.
3. The arrogant believer who succumbs to the pressures of discipline, suffering, adversity, and injustice erroneously assumes that his sufferings are greater than the provision of the portfolio of invisible assets and the problem solving devices of the protocol plan; i.e., that his sufferings are greater than any solution God can provide.
4. The arrogant believer who depends on emotional activity, such as dedication ceremonies, tongues, inspirational speakers, and personal attention from the pastor or evangelist, erroneously assumes that his personal feelings and experiences are greater than perception of doctrine.
5. The arrogant believer who is involved in the demand syndrome, having unrealistic expectation and role model arrogance, assumes that emphasis on people must precede God emphasis.
6. The believer is arrogant when he listens to the teaching of Bible doctrine with preconceived notions, distorting the acquisition or perception of doctrine.
7. The believer is arrogant when he uses epignosis doctrine which he has retained to serve him rather than to lead him.
8. The believer is arrogant when he applies doctrine to justify himself or to establish himself in a system of self-righteousness.
9. This is all summarized in 1 Tim 6:3-4. "If anyone teaches a different doctrine and does not concur with sound doctrine, those doctrines from our Lord Jesus Christ, even the doctrines pertaining to godliness [life in divine dynasphere], he has received arrogance [fragmentation of life], understanding nothing. Furthermore, he has a morbid obsession about controversies and verbal conflicts, from which originate jealousy, discord, and evil speculations."

L. The Role of Volition in Sin and Fragmentation.

1. No one sins apart from his own consent. Even if you don't know it's a sin, you wanted to do it and you do it, and so are responsible for that sin.
2. The sin nature is the source of temptation. Human volition is the source of sin.
3. Once you commit a sin, the sin nature controls your soul and is a stronger power than it was when merely residing in your body.
4. The believer sins after salvation in two categories.
 - a. In sins of cognizance, temptation from the sin nature is recognized, and the volition chooses to sin.
 - b. In sins of ignorance, temptation from the sin nature is not recognized as potential sin, yet volition chooses to succumb and thereby commits a sin of ignorance.
5. When the believer uses his volition to sin, he fragments his own life. This self-fragmentation is called carnality or being under the control of the sin nature. It is tantamount to life in the cosmic system and the stages of reversionism.
6. The trend toward lascivious lawlessness and the trend toward self-righteous arrogance cause tremendous conflict among believers. People who participate in this conflict between the two opposite trends fragment themselves. Moral and immoral degeneracy are constantly at war.
7. So fragmentation is not only the source of sinning, but is a state of confusion. Once you perpetuate yourself in fragmentation, you will be confused and cannot grow spiritually.

M. Personal Sins.

1. Personal sins in the human race originate from two sources.
 - a. The function of the sin nature in temptation.
 - b. The function of human volition in the act of sinning.
2. All personal sins in human history are divided into two categories.
 - a. Pre-salvation sinning.
 - b. Post-salvation sinning.
 - c. Both categories of sin were judged on the cross.
3. Prior to the cross, all personal sins in the human race, past, present, and future, were programmed into one prom (volitional) chip in the computer of divine decrees. At the time of the crucifixion, God the Father called for the printout of all personal sins, imputed them all to Christ, and judged every one of them.
 - a. 1Peter 2:24, "He carried our sins in His own body on the cross."

- b. 2 Cor 5:21, "He who did not know sin was made sin as a substitute for us."
- c. Romans 5:8, "But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died as a substitute for us."
- d. 1Peter 3:18, "Because Christ died once for our sins, the righteous One as a substitute for the unrighteous ones, that He might bring us to God, having been put to death in the flesh [humanity of Christ], but made alive by means of the Spirit."
- e. Gal 3:13, "Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the law by means of becoming a curse as a substitute for us, for it stands written, 'Cursed is everyone who hangs on a cross.'"

N. The Solution to Pre-Salvation Sins.

- 1. Salvation comes from faith and faith alone in Jesus Christ.
 - a. Gal 3:26, "For you are all the sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus."
 - b. Gal 2:16, Knowing that a person is not justified by the works of the law, but through faith in Christ Jesus, even we have believed in Christ Jesus that we might be justified by faith in Christ, and not by the works of the law; for by the works of the law no person will be justified.
 - c. Romans 5:1, "Therefore, having been justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."
 - d. Eph 2:8, "For by grace you have been saved in the past with the result that you stand saved forever through faith, and this [salvation] is not from yourselves; it is a gift from God, not of works lest anyone should boast."
 - e. Romans 3:22, "Even the righteousness of God through faith in Jesus Christ, for all those who believe."
 - f. Romans 3:28, "For we maintain that a person is justified by faith apart from the works of the law."
 - g. Jn 20:31, "But these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing, you may have eternal life through His person."
 - h. Jn 3:15, "That everyone who believes in Him may have eternal life."
 - i. Jn 3:16, "For God loved the world so much that He gave His Son, the unique One, in order that anyone who believes in Him shall never perish but have eternal life."
 - j. Jn 3:18, "He who believes in Him is not judged, but he who does not believe has been judged already because he has not believed in the person of the unique Son of God."
 - k. Jn 3:36, "He who believes in the Son has eternal life, but he who does not believe in the Son will not see life, but the wrath of God abides on him."

- l. Jn 11:25, "Jesus said to her [Martha], 'I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in Me shall live even if he dies.'"
 - m. 1 Jn 5:11-13, "This is the deposition: God has given to us eternal life, and this life is in His Son. He who has the Son has this [eternal] life; He who does not have the Son does not have this [eternal] life. These things I have written to you who believe in the person of the Son of God, in order that you may know that you have [eternal] life."
2. The problem of pre-salvation sinning is solved by personal faith in Jesus Christ. In the very moment that anyone believes in Christ, all his pre-salvation sins are blotted out.
 - a. Isa 43:25, "I, even I, am the One who wipes out your transgressions for My own sake, and I will not remember your sins."
 - b. Col 1:14, "In whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins."
 3. Faith plus anything does not secure salvation. If you add anything to faith, the Holy Spirit cannot make it effective for salvation under His ministry of efficacious grace.
 - a. Faith plus "commitment" does not secure salvation.
 - b. Faith plus "lordship" does not secure salvation. Jesus Christ is your Lord at the moment of salvation no matter what you do after salvation. You cannot make Christ "Lord" by anything you do.
 - c. Faith plus morality does not secure salvation.
 - d. Faith plus baptism or any other church ritual does not secure salvation.
 - e. Faith plus "repentance" does not secure salvation. "Repent" actually means to change your mind about Christ, not to feel sorry for sins.
 - f. Faith plus emotion does not secure salvation.
 - g. Faith plus psychological works does not secure salvation.
 - h. Reverse invitations exclude faith. In salvation, God invites us to Him. Therefore, we cannot reverse that and invite Christ into our hearts or lives. Inviting God excludes faith altogether.
 - (1) Inviting Christ into your heart is tantamount to inviting Christ into a garbage dump, Jer 17:9, "The heart is desperately wicked."
 - (2) Inviting Christ into your life is tantamount to inviting Christ into a tomb, because the unbeliever's life is spiritually dead.
 4. The ministry of the Holy Spirit in our salvation.
 - a. In the doctrine of common grace, the spiritually dead unbeliever has spiritual brain death. Therefore, when the Gospel is presented, the Holy Spirit acts as a human spirit so that the Gospel, which is spiritual phenomena, can be understood. The accurate information which the Holy Spirit uses is then understood in the left lobe of the soul.
 - b. Even when the person understands that salvation is through faith alone in Christ and he believes in Christ, he is still spiritually dead. So under His ministry of efficacious grace, the Holy Spirit takes faith and faith alone in Jesus Christ and makes it effective for eternal life. Therefore, if you add anything to faith, the Holy Spirit cannot make that effectual for salvation.

5. Jn 16:8-9, "And He [Holy Spirit], when He comes, will convict the world concerning sin; concerning sin, because they do not believe in Me." Sin is really not an issue in your life as an unbeliever; the issue is Christ. Because Jesus Christ was judged for all your sins.
 6. Romans 1:16, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first and also to the Gentile."
 7. So the solution to pre-salvation sinning is to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and you will be saved.
- O. The Solution to Post-Salvation Sinning.
1. The rebound technique is the solution to post-salvation sinning.
 2. 1 Jn 1:9, "If we acknowledge [admit, cite, name] our sins, He [God the Father] is faithful and just [righteous] with the result that He forgives us our sins [post-salvation sins of cognizance], and cleanses [purifies] us from all wrongdoing [post-salvation sins of ignorance]."
 3. The substitution of self-judgment for divine discipline is the subject of 1 Corinthians 11:31. "If we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged." Self-judgment is tantamount to the confession of our sins. We have weaknesses and they are different from the weaknesses of others.
 - a. A may want to steal things.
 - b. B has the weakness of gossip.
 - c. C is a pathological liar.
 - d. Why should you assume that everyone ought to have the same area of weaknesses and the same areas of strength?
 - e. Some people form friendships based upon similar sins and lusts.
 - f. Bob is highly criticized for putting privacy as a high priority for Berachah Church.
 - g. Spiritual advance is revealed when you stop nudging the person next to you. Bob talks about another guy who, when Bob hit a particular note, the guy would turn to his wife with a smile.
 4. So forgiveness and restoration to fellowship as well as the subsequent filling of the Holy Spirit and reentrance into the divine dynasphere is based on the fact that the sins cited have already been judged at the cross. This takes care of sin, one of the three trends of the old sin nature. This is judgment of self.
 5. Rebound means to stand up, look God in the eye, cite your sins, and know that He has judged it and therefore forgives you.

6. This solution is the only way we can get out of the cosmic system and get back into our own palace, the divine dynasphere, through gate #1, the filling of the Holy Spirit, who now again controls our soul.

7. There are two different mandates for spirituality.
a. Gal 5:16, "Walk by means of the Spirit."
b. Eph 5:18, "Be filled with the Spirit." This refers to the Holy Spirit controlling your soul at gate #1. Gal 5:16 refers to your life and function inside the divine dynasphere.

P. Fragmentation and the Old Sin Nature. See the Doctrine of Fragmentation.

Q. Divine judgment solves the problem of the old sin nature.

1. God solves two categories of problems created by the old sin nature through the use of condemnation or judgment.

- a. Sins, which were judged at the cross.
- b. Good works or human good and evil are judged at the Last Judgment.
- c. Evil continues even to the Millennium. Evil must be met in the spiritual realm. No democracy of history has never survived its own saturation of evil. The great Athenian sin was homosexuality. This was a part of their great downfall. Human good is beautifully discussed in Plato's Republic.
- d. We are not really a republic or a democracy; but more of an idiocracy.
- e. Our attitude toward Bible doctrine is the key.

2. Phase 1: Divine judgment at the cross.

- a. The sins of the world were called for as a printout from a prom chip. They were imputed to Christ and judged by the justice of God the Father.
- b. This was the first and most important judgment of the old sin nature and is the basis of our salvation which we obtained through personal faith in Jesus Christ. This was the abrogation of the power and rulership of the old sin nature, 1 Peter 2:24; 2 Cor 5:19.
- c. However, under the law of volitional responsibility, our sins, though judged at the cross, still have consequences from the function of our negative volition. This is how we cause most of our own suffering.

3. Phase 2: We must judge ourselves through the use of the rebound technique, 1 Jn 1:9; 1 Cor 11:31.

4. Phase 3: The human good and evil of the believer is judged at the Judgment Seat of Christ immediately after the Rapture, 1 Cor 3:12-16. "Wood, hay and stubble" refers to all the human good you have done which will be burned.

5. At the Great White Throne Judgment, Rev 20:12-15, the unbeliever is resurrected and brought before the Lord Jesus Christ whom he rejected. His sins, having already been judged at the cross, are not mentioned. Instead, his human good is added up from the book of works. It can only total negative righteousness, which cannot have fellowship with perfect righteousness, and so he is cast alive into the Lake of Fire.

6. God judges evil periodically; otherwise history could not continue. Evil continues up through the Millennium, as in the Gog and Magog Revolution. Evil must be met in the spiritual realm.

R. There will be no old sin nature in the resurrection of the Church. Phil 3:21, "Who [Lord] will change the body of our humiliation [old sin nature] into conformity with the body of His glory [resurrection body of Jesus Christ] on the basis of the operational power from which He Himself is able to subordinate all things to Himself."

S. What happens to the old sin nature at salvation?

1. At the moment of salvation adjustment to the justice of God through faith in Christ, divine justice imputes divine righteousness to the believer, setting up the grace pipeline for blessing from God's justice.

a. Justice is at the origin end; perfect righteousness is at the receiving end. This pipeline is encapsulated by divine integrity.

b. Righteousness demands righteousness; justice demands justice; what the righteousness of God demands, the justice of God executes.

c. Therefore at salvation, perfect righteousness demands thirty- nine other factors to come through the grace pipeline. From salvation to maturity, perfect righteousness demands logistical blessing to sustain us.

d. At the point of spiritual maturity, perfect righteousness demands special supergrace blessings. For just as justice can directly condemn, justice must also have a policy for blessing us: grace.

2. At the moment of salvation, the baptism of the Spirit also occurs, which cancels the ruling power of the old sin nature over human life.

a. This is a positional abrogation or cancellation which provides the basis for experiential cancellation for which we must opt in phase two.

b. Potential 2 plus capacity equals the reality of encapsulated environment. Potential 2 is the baptism of the Holy Spirit producing retroactive positional truth and current positional truth.

c. Retroactive positional truth identifies us with Jesus Christ in His spiritual death, physical death and burial. In spiritual death, Christ also rejected human good and evil while accepting the imputation of all personal sins and their judgment.

d. Therefore in identification, we have positionally rejected human good and evil.

e. In His physical death, Christ was totally separated from good and evil; therefore we are positionally separated from good and evil.

f. In His burial, He was divorced from good and evil; so we are divorced from good and evil positionally.

g. Capacity always equals doctrine. The reality of encapsulated environment is greater than the perfect environment of the garden, yet it is in this very devil's world. For God encapsulates our blessings in time in an environment He provides (the divine dynasphere), regardless of historical circumstances.

h. Because the policy of Satan is good and evil and the function of the old sin nature is good and evil, the old sin nature and Satan cooperate as long as good and evil are being produced. But whenever the old sin nature produces sin, this is an embarrassment to Satan. Satan is trying to beat our Lord to the Millennium.

3. This retroactive positional truth establishes the basis for our experiential renunciation and victory over the trends of the old sin nature. Its 3 trends are toward sin, human good, and evil.
4. Through the baptism of the Holy Spirit, we have retroactive positional truth which is positional separation as well as rejection and divorcement from Adam's trend, the old sin nature.
5. Rebound provides rapid recovery. How we feel about a sin is of no consequence to the justice of God.
6. This abrogates the sovereignty of the old sin nature over human life. It also provides "life with God" on this earth, Romans 6:11.
7. The old sin nature, however, is still located in the cells of the flesh, the body of corruption, and is still transmitted through the twenty- three male chromosomes.
 - a. That old sin nature still has to be there, because these same cells are part of your physical body and therefore your physical life.
 - b. As long as you are alive in this body of corruption, you have an old sin nature, and you will never completely stop sinning, 1 Jn 1:8.
 - c. But the trends toward sin, good and evil, while still in your body, are at least positionally broken.
8. So at salvation, we enter the divine dynasphere, but the old sin nature is not changed or eradicated. As we get close to gate #8, we do have more and more control over the old sin nature.

T. What happens to the old sin nature after salvation?

1. While the power and rulership of the old sin nature over human life is destroyed positionally (Romans 6) and experientially (Romans 7), the trends of Adam still function in the life of the believer.
2. The contradiction between the positional destruction of the old sin nature's power at salvation (baptism of the Holy Spirit, Romans 6) and the frustration of still following the trends of the old sin nature is the subject of Romans 7, especially verse 15. Romans 7 is the story of the battle of the two husbands.
3. The continued function of the old sin nature after salvation in spite of retroactive positional truth indicates the necessity for Bible doctrine resident in the soul plus the filling of the Holy Spirit to overcome this factor. These two, Bible doctrine plus filling of the Holy Spirit equals experiential sanctification.
4. The pattern for the believer's carnality or sinfulness depends upon how much time he logs in Satan's cosmic system rather than in the operational-type divine dynasphere.

- a. Hence, the believer has been given the opportunity of rapid recovery from carnality through rebound adjustment to the justice of God.
 - b. Rebound is exercising the option for being alive to God, 1 Cor 3:1. We never confess good and evil because they have not been judged yet.
 - c. Gate #1 of the divine dynasphere completely neutralizes the functions of the sin nature in sin, human good and evil. Only in the divine dynasphere can we execute the protocol plan of God for the Church Age.
5. Rebound is necessary because of sins committed after salvation. Therefore, sin is not the major problem after salvation. The major problem is the function of good and evil. These go unchecked apart from Bible doctrine in the soul, Romans 7:14; 1 Jn 1:8
 6. There are three patterns of sinfulness in the life of any believer during this dispensation.
 - a. Frequent sinning, which is life in the cosmic system.
 - b. Occasional sinning, which is spending more time in the divine dynasphere than in the cosmic system, accomplished through rebound and epistemological rehabilitation.
 - c. Sporadic sinner, which is momentum in the divine dynasphere resulting in the attainment of the three stages of spiritual adulthood and therefore infrequent sinning.
 - d. 1 Jn 1:8, "If we allege that we have no sin nature, we are deceiving ourselves and the doctrine is not in us." 1 Jn 1:10, "If we allege that we have not sinned, we make Him a liar and doctrine is not in us."
 7. Inside the divine dynasphere is virtue where there can be no sin. All decisions for sin, human good and evil are made outside the divine dynasphere.

U. Summary #1.

1. God created man as a perfect creature. Consequently, God did not create the old sin nature. Man originated sin and the old sin nature.
2. By His very essence, God cannot sin, cannot tempt to sin and/or solicit to sin. God cannot be the Author of sin.
3. Sin originated in the human race through the negative volition of Adam. Satan, the original sinner and the author of sin, tempted the woman. So solicitation to evil came from Satan the original sinner. The origin of sin came from the cognizant transgression of Adam, negative volition from his own free will.
4. The woman tempted the man after her Fall. Adam, from his own volition, knowing what he was doing, manufactured the old sin nature by rejecting divine authority, by violating divine prohibition. By so doing, the moment Adam sinned, he manufactured the old sin nature which contaminated his body making it a body of corruption, of contamination. Because the man's sin was in cognizance, he is the transmitter of the old sin nature. Also, he was the ruler and the responsible one. The woman's first thought for the man was equality. "We must be equal." Adam at that point of her sin was still sinless, ruler of the world, and still had a relationship with God. The woman's eyes were open and she understood his spiritual death. She immediately extends the offer of equality to Adam. Adam knew what he was doing. He became a sinner and spiritually dead. When evil people decide that they want a relationship with God, they try to adjust to one another.

5. Through negative volition toward divine prohibition, Adam is the author of sin in the human race. Through copulation, Adam perpetuates the old sin nature, 1Timothy 2:14
6. This explains how both original parents were under condemnation of spiritual death. Both were guilty. But the old sin nature is transmitted through the man because his was a transgression of cognizance. The woman's sin was done in ignorance.
7. The twenty-three male chromosomes which fertilize the female ovum carry the old sin nature. Psalm 51:5-6, "born in iniquity" refers to the imputation of Adam's original sin to the old sin nature at birth, resulting in spiritual death. David is not claiming to be a bastard, but he is stating a fact of life.
8. At conception, the twenty-three male chromosomes fertilize the female ovum and transmit the old sin nature, 1Peter 1:23.
9. The trends of each old sin nature are different, just as genes combine to form different physical features, different personalities and attitudes. Psalm 58:3 says certain people are born liars (others cultivate it for self-preservation). Pathological liars are troublemakers and they do not advance. Psalm 58:3 says we are all "gone astray out from the womb." We are born with personal weaknesses. It is the genetic home of the old sin nature that produces our weaknesses. This is what total depravity really means. "All we like sheep have gone astray." Sheep have trends but no brains. Each of us are different in old sin nature variations and trends. Once you master your primary weaknesses, you will then discover your secondary weaknesses, then your tertiary weaknesses, etc.
10. The old sin nature does not and cannot please God, Romans 8:8.
 - a. Neither sins, acts of human good, nor the function of evil are in any way related to God or the Christian life.
 - b. Therefore, ignorance of doctrine has led most believers to adopt the function of human good and evil and to misconstrue it as the Christian life. This is one of the great distortions of history.
 - c. We cannot rebound good or evil; and these are rampant problems.
 - d. Few people know that good and evil come from the sin nature. Good and evil are running rampant since they were not judged at the cross.
 - e. Very few believers try to commit sin as a part of their Christian life (exception: antinomianists). But many believers are constantly converting their good and evil into the Christian life. They actually think God rewards and blesses them because He is pleased with their good and evil.

11. Isaiah 64:6, "All our righteousnesses are as menstrual rags"; this refers to human good. "Wither like a leaf" refers to overcoming your primary weaknesses but producing secondary weaknesses. Same concept as Ephesians 2:3.
- a. If you gave up something when you were saved, it wasn't God that did it; it was sheer grit on your part which can only result in self-righteousness.
 - b. When we think we are strong, we are weaker than before.
 - c. It is fine and legitimate when primary weaknesses are overcome by the filling of the Holy Spirit + Bible doctrine; this takes time and means you are growing. But to do so by your own energy means you are withering like a leaf.
 - d. In self-righteousness, secondary weaknesses will destroy you whereas primary weaknesses did not. Secondary weaknesses are just as potent and often more destructive.
 - e. Primary weaknesses being removed without Bible doctrine sets up a vacuum which draws in arrogance. So you can see how both sin and good combine to form evil.
 - f. The proper means for removing primary weaknesses is through spiritual growth. At each stage of spiritual growth, new weaknesses will develop. But they are all handled in the same way. But when the believer gives these things up in the energy of the flesh, all he does is guarantee that his secondary weaknesses will be more obnoxious than his primary ones. He will never grow because he is too proud of what he has done, and so jealous of others better than he that all growth is immediately stopped, and the perspective of the Christian life (filling of the Holy Spirit plus Bible doctrine) is lost.
12. Ephesians 2:3, "lusts" refer to primary, secondary or tertiary weaknesses; "flesh" refers to the old sin nature. A naturally inherited endowment is the genetic old sin nature. ...continually doing the desires of the flesh and thoughts. The old sin nature infiltrates the soul through thought. ...and were by naturally inherited endowment the posterity of wrath...
13. Reversionists do not resist the old sin nature at all, Hebrews 12:4.
14. The old sin nature is not a part of the resurrection body (nor the interim body) of the believer, Phil 3:18-21 (For many [reversionists under the influence of evil] keep walking concerning whom I have communicated to you many times, and now continue communicating even though weeping, that they have made themselves the enemies of the cross of that same Christ. Whose termination of life is destruction [ruin or the sin unto death], whose God is his emotion, whose fame is by means of their dishonor, who keep thinking about [or, holding opinions on] earthly things [evil]. For our aristocracy exists in heaven; even from which place [heaven] we eagerly anticipate the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ. Who will change the body of our humiliation into conformity with the body of his glory [resurrection body], according to the operational power from which this same one [Jesus Christ] keeps on being able also to bring under authority all of these creatures.)

1John 3:1-4 1Corinthians 15:51-57. This is the doctrine of ultimate sanctification, wherein the old sin nature and its products of good and evil are excluded from eternity. The pentecostals worship their emotions.

15. Their emotion is God; they have substituted the God of heaven and made emotion. Dishonor the function of human good. Who keeps on thinking on evil things, which is human good and evil.

V. Summary #2.

1. The sin nature is the source of temptation, but human volition is the source of sin.
2. The old sin nature can tempt in three areas: sin, human good and evil. The old sin nature cannot succeed apart from one's consent.
3. The volition guards the gate of the soul from the old sin nature's temptations.
4. Therefore, no one ever sins apart from his own consent or the function of this own volition.
5. Whether sins of cognizance or sins of ignorance, the volition of the soul is involved in every sin. Therefore, ignorance is no excuse.
6. While the old sin nature is located in the body, it must penetrate the soul for sin to be produced.
7. This cannot be done without human volition's consent.
8. When the old sin nature's temptations become sin through human consent, the old sin nature not only controls the soul, but the believer resides in the cosmic system.
9. Therefore, the old sin nature is Satan's inside agent recruiting for the cosmic system.
10. Therefore, the believer is only pure and free from sin when he is inside the divine dynasphere. His status can only be changed by his free will function.
11. Morality without virtue, i.e., in the cosmic system, is hypocrisy. Morality without integrity is like life without feeling. The only place of virtue and integrity is inside the divine dynasphere. Morality in the cosmic system produces sin, human good and evil.
12. Gate #1 of cosmic two is the old sin nature. See the Doctrine of Cosmic Two.
13. The first momentum test at gate #7 in the divine dynasphere is old sin nature temptation/testing. See the Doctrine of Momentum Testing.

W. After the flood, bacteria multiplied and reduced life spans for humans. Physical death occurred as a result of spiritual death. Physical death is not the wages of sin.

1Tim 71,73, 5/27/75 Eph 168,462,911,919,921ff, 977; Romans 8; 1 Jn 17,55,99; 2 Jn 57 c 1989, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

Almost no commonality between what Bob taught and the doctrine above.

Romans 3:9 Therefore how are we to understand the situation? Do we possess anything that might shield us from the justice of God? No, not at all; for we have already indicted both and Gentiles, that they are all under sin.

1977 Romans

Lesson #89

89 04/26/1977 Romans 3:10 Spiritual death; integrity of man cf. integrity of God

Daily Court Review: a growing regimentation of American life. The steady all powerful growth of a bureaucracy. The slow but steady loss of liberty in the United States. The president has asked for and received the power to tell the natural gas companies places where they must sell their gas; and at government mandated prices. The rights of private property are a sham and a fiction. We could see government controlling every aspect of our lives as a result. This is the outcome of our slow descent into control. Some think of big government as a Robin Hood. The government has nothing that it has not take from the people.

The federal government has assumed rights and authorities which are not found in the Constitution. Every chance has been taken by this government to seize the power.

Liberals try to solve economic problems, social problems, political problems apart from the integrity of God.

The 7 postulates are given again.

Verses 10-12, the Old Testament documentation regarding spiritual death. Spiritual death is related to sin—Adam's sin. Adam's sin imputed: the old sin nature and personal sin. Man is dead to God while living in this world. He is born that way and continues that way until salvation adjustment to the justice of God.

Romans 3:10 As it has been written: "There is none righteous, not even one;

Verse 10 – "As it is written." The adverb kathôs (καθώς) [pronounced kath-OCE] indicates a comparison of the principle just made with what the Old Testament scripture has to say. Also the perfect passive indicative of the verb graphô (γράφω) [pronounced GRAWF-oh] is used for the writing of the Old Testament scriptures, that which is canonical. The perfect tense is a dramatic perfect, rhetorical use of the intensive perfect, something that is finished as an object or a function but has results that continue. The Scripture, the Old Testament canon, is finished when Paul writes; it has been completed but the results go on forever. The completed part of the scripture, the Old Testament canon, lives and abides forever and therefore documentation from something that is absolute, something that is eternal, something that will be with us throughout all eternity as well as at the present time. The passive voice: the canon of the Old Testament scriptures receives the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for historical reality of a completed canon of the Old Testament scripture. Plus the conjunction hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee] introducing indirect discourse. Therefore, of course, it is not translated, it is represented by quotation marks. “As it stands written.”

The quotation is from Psalm 14:1-3—“There is none righteous, no, not one.” First is the strong negative ou (οὐ) [pronounced oo], it denies the reality of an alleged fact. Plus the present active indicative of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME], the verb to be. This is a static present representing a condition which perpetually exists. This has always been true and always will be. The active voice: the human race produces the action of the verb, whether Jew or Gentile. The racial issue is destroyed by the integrity of God. The Scripture makes it very lucid, very clear; it is all about the integrity of God. Power without the integrity of God is tyrannical. Wealth without the integrity of God is unstable without the integrity of God. Promotion and success are meaningless apart from the integrity of God.

When it says “there is none righteous, no, not one,” it means that in Paul’s day, Jew and Gentile. It means in our day whatever races allegedly exist, there is no such thing as purity of race. Then the predicate nominative of the adjective dikaios (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss]. The word means righteousness, justice, and sometimes integrity.

Tsaddîyq (צַדִּיק) [pronounced tsahd-DEEK] in the Hebrew has the same connotation. Both of these words can refer to either part of God’s integrity or all of God’s integrity. Used in connection with man other connotations, generally righteousness, are in view. But we use it here first in the sense of relating it to God, and then we can understand why the integrity of God is not used here because we are talking about man. So with man it still has an integrity connotation, it means to fulfill duty toward God. Here it is used for the integrity of God, +R.

“There is not a righteous one,” i.e. there is no member of the human race is born with +R or its equivalent. We are born without righteousness. Why do we have to be reminded of this? Because we are stimulated by human praise, and that is a sign of spiritual death. We live our lives under the opinions of others. After we are born we actually become worse, and it cannot be changed apart from the integrity of God. We are not righteous or self righteous at birth. We are simply born spiritually dead. Most people think that, after their birth that they improve. Why, because they no longer defecate in diapers. People start with spiritual death and that continues. After birth, we get worse, not better.

We have taboos; many of us have a taboo without wearing a tie. When Bob was coaching and showed up just in time for church with a tee-shirt. Some did not like that. We live by taboos which are not moral or immoral, right or wrong.

Summary

1. No one has the integrity of God at birth, and no one acquires the integrity of God by any system of works righteousness, self-righteousness, any system of emotional activity, asceticism or tabooism.
2. No righteousness in man is comparable to God’s perfect righteousness.

3. Not only does man lack in spiritual death God's righteousness but he also lacks a sense of justice. No justice in man can compare with the justice of God. We start out with no justice and we develop systems of self-justice. Human justice fluctuates; human righteousness fluctuates. It is never for the better, no matter how it appears to others, unless it is related to the integrity of God. We are talking about man spiritually dead.
4. Therefore man cannot approach God on the basis of his own merits or his own integrity.
5. Consequently, adjusting to the justice of God is a matter of grace. God provides the means for such adjustment by the imputation of His righteousness at the point of salvation. From then on, if you stay with doctrine, it is all uphill/downhill, i.e. you are moving toward the goal of cracking the maturity barrier but it is downhill if you stay with doctrine. At salvation you receive the righteousness of God but at maturity you receive the blessings from the justice of God. The righteousness and the justice of God are totally involved in your life when you crack the maturity barrier.

Bob learned two systems of fighting. There was a fair play sort of fighting in school; but in war, a different system was used to kill the enemy. One is not better or worse than the other.

The people who had the system of principles from Beverly Hills.

“no, not one” – the negative conjunction oude (οὐδέ) [pronounced oo-DEH] is used to connect negative sentences and is translated “not even”; the numeral heís, mia, hen (εἷς, μία, ἓν) [pronounced hice, Mee-ah, ehn] is used here like an indefinite article or pronoun, meaning anyone, someone, or a certain one. It refers to the self-righteous type trying to be saved by keeping the law, but it refers to anyone who tries to be saved by his schemes, experiences, righteousness, personality. So oude (οὐδέ) [pronounced oo-DEH] heís, mia, hen (εἷς, μία, ἓν) [pronounced hice, Mee-ah, ehn] makes no exceptions in the human race. The only exception was the one who was the God-Man, Jesus Christ.

Romans 3:10 As it stands written, There is not a righteous one, not even one.

Interpretation

1. No member of the human race possesses the integrity of God, or its exact equivalent.
2. The justice of God has correctly placed the entire human race under the indictment and condemnation of spiritual death.
3. Spiritual death means total inability to have a relationship with God.
4. Human essence is classified, therefore, as totally depraved on the basis of the fact of failure to meet the standards of divine integrity.
5. Spiritual death is not only the status of sinful man, but spiritual death describes man's inability to do anything about it. A dead man can't do anything about it.

6. Man must rely entirely upon the integrity of God. When you believe in Jesus Christ that is the first time you rely on the integrity of God.
7. The integrity of God has provided the means of adjusting to the justice of God.
8. The means is the judgment of Christ on the cross, bearing our sins, taking our place in the condemnation of the justice of God.

1977 Romans

Lesson #90

90 04/27/1977 Romans 3:11–12; John 16:8–11 Doctrine of the convicting ministry of the Holy Spirit

400 police officers injured this year in Houston.

Most Blacks are against violence; this is not the impression given us because of our newspapers. The problem is, the newspapers agree with the radical Black groups. Black Silent Majority group.

Divine Integrity Postulates:

1. There are no advantages to the advantages without the advantage.
2. If you have the advantage, you have the advantages.
3. Without the advantages, there are no advantages.
4. No nation can have the advantages without the advantage.
5. A nation without the advantages loses the advantages.
6. No nation can recover its advantages without the advantage.
7. Loss of the advantages and the advantage warns of the 5th cycle of discipline.

Romans 3:11 there is none understanding; there is none seeking after God.

Verse 11 – “There is none that understandeth,” ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] estin ho suniôn. It includes the strong negative and the present active indicative of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. The present tense is a static present representing a condition which perpetually exists in the human race (unbelievers), those in spiritual death. The active voice: the unbelievers in the human race produce the action of the verb, they are ignorant of spiritual phenomena. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality. We also have an articular present active participle from the verb suniêmi (συνίημι) [pronounced soon-EE-ay-mee]. It connotes cognizance of technical knowledge. It means to comprehend or to know the underlying laws and the meaning of an object. This means therefore to gain insight into something. “There is not one who comprehends”, referring to Bible doctrine and specifically to the fact that in spiritual death the unbeliever cannot comprehend spiritual phenomena. The unbeliever cannot understand the gospel, that is why it is necessary for the ministry of God the Holy Spirit under the theological category of common grace to make the information clear. The definite article of suniêmi (συνίημι) [pronounced soon-EE-ay-mee] is used as a relative pronoun referring to the entire human race as unbelievers. The present tense is a static present, it indicates that the condition of spiritual death exists for everyone who has ever been born into the world, or will be, except in the virgin birth of Jesus Christ. The unbeliever in spiritual death cannot understand doctrine. Doctrine is the verbalizing of divine integrity and he has no cognizance of God's integrity. Part of spiritual death, therefore, is not only that lack of God's perfect righteousness but the fact that man cannot understand God – His attributes, how they function, how He applies the function of His attributes to His creatures, what His policy is, and how we can have a relationship with Him. The active voice: the unbeliever produces this ignorance. The participle is circumstantial, used here for a relative clause. This clause explains again why God the Holy Spirit must act as a human spirit to make the gospel perspicuous, i.e. to turn the gospel which is a blank to him into epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel. "There is not one who comprehends doctrine."

The doctrine below is reviewed in Lesson #270 (and any additional notes will be placed here).

The Doctrine of the Convicting Ministry of God the Holy Spirit

1. The convicting ministry of the Holy Spirit is a reference to the pre-salvation ministry of the third person of the Trinity. God the Holy Spirit. Acts as a human spirit to clarify the gospel to the unbeliever, so that with epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] understanding in a state of spiritual death he can make that one important decision that brings him from the darkness of spiritual death to the light of regeneration. Man cannot overcome his personal ignorance when it comes to spiritual phenomena.
2. The need for the convincing ministry of the Holy Spirit is found in 1Corinthians 2:11,14 – “Who among men knows the thoughts of a man, except the life of that man which is in him [the life referring to the soul and specifically the mentality of the soul]? Even so the thoughts of God no one knows, except the Spirit of God.” This describes again the fact that man in the status of spiritual death not only is ignorant of doctrine, and therefore ignorant of the integrity of God which is his point of reference for salvation, but there is no way that he can overcome his ignorance. There is no vocabulary he can learn, no way within the framework of his soul that he can function and become cognizant. He cannot overcome his ignorance by the function of his mentality. Man can overcome his ignorance with regard to human phenomena but man does not have the ability to overcome his ignorance with regard to spiritual phenomena. There is nothing in man whereby he has the ability to understand. Spiritual death means, among other things, total ignorance of spiritual phenomena (doctrine). 1Corinthians 2:14 “But the soulish man [unbeliever] does not acquire knowledge of the things of the Spirit of God; for to him they are foolishness, and he is not able to acquire this knowledge because it is discerned from the source of the spirit.” So the need is based on the fact that the unbeliever is spiritually dead, and not only can he not produce a righteousness.
 - a. The unbeliever should have a clear and lucid understanding of the condemnation.

- b. Similarly, the unbeliever should understand how he is to be saved. There are not additional things to be done apart from hear and believe.
- c. God the Holy Spirit only uses accurate divine information.
3. So God must come in to the picture – principle of grace. The first reference to the convincing ministry of the Holy Spirit is found in Genesis 6:3, “My Spirit shall not always strive with man ... yet his days shall be one hundred and twenty years.” It was one hundred and twenty years to the flood and all of the way to the point of judgement there would be the ministry of God the Holy Spirit. Grace always precedes judgement whether it is personal or collective.
 4. The mechanics for the convincing ministry of the Holy Spirit are brought out by one Greek word found in 2Peter 2:20,21, epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis]. It is generally translated ‘knowledge’, it means full knowledge, total cognizance.
 5. The doctrine of common grace, the basic doctrine of the ministry of the Holy Spirit in making spiritual phenomena, the gospel, cognizant to the unbeliever who is spiritually dead without the capabilities of cognizance. Common grace, then, is the work of the Holy Spirit in revealing the gospel to the unbeliever. It includes enablement to understand, to perceive not only the work of Christ in relationship to the integrity of God but the means of attainment. Two areas: The gospel includes the work of Christ and the means of attainment or appropriation. This ministry is designed to present the call to faith in Jesus Christ and/or adjustment to the justice of God at salvation. A dead man cannot understand the things of life; the spiritually dead unbeliever cannot understand the things of God. 1Corinthians 1:18; 2:14; John 6:44; Romans 8:7; 2Corinthians 4:3,4.
 6. The categories for the function of common grace: John 16:8-11.

Verse 8 — “And when he is come” – the aorist active participle of érchomai (ἔρχομαι) [pronounced AIR-khoh-my] refers to the ministry of God the Holy Spirit. The aorist tense gathers up into one entirety every time the Holy Spirit takes the gospel under the principle of common grace and turns it into epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel in the right lobe of the spiritually dead unbeliever. Érchomai (ἔρχομαι) [pronounced AIR-khoh-my] means to arrive. The Holy Spirit arrives whenever the gospel is being presented. So it is not “when He has come,” it is “when He has arrived.” The Holy Spirit is always there whenever the gospel is presented. “...he will reprove”. The active voice: the Holy Spirit produces the action, circumstantial participle for the function of common grace. This is the future active indicative of elegchō (ἐλέγχω) [pronounced ehI-EHNG-khoh] which means to expose, to reprove, to convince, to lay bare. Here it means to convince. Epignōsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] information is information that you understand clearly, an understanding not only of the information necessary but the means of acquiring what the information presents.

Who is convinced? “The world” – the accusative singular of kósmos (κόσμος) [pronounced KOSS-moss], referring to unregenerate mankind, the unbeliever. And notice the three things that are mentioned: “of sin” – peri plus the genitive of hamartia (ἁμαρτία, ας, ἡ) [pronounced hahm-ahr-TEE-ah], a noun which is defined in the next verse. This is talking about what constitutes a sin for which Christ could not and did not die, the sin of unbelief, the sin of rejection of Christ; “of righteousness” – peri plus the genitive singular of dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay], which means righteousness, the thinking of a judge, and sometimes it means the combination of righteousness and justice, the full integrity of God; “of justice” – peri plus the genitive of krisis (κρίσις) [pronounced KREE-sihs], the act of judgement. None of these words are defined in verse 8.

John 16:8 When He arrives He will convince the world [unbelievers] concerning sin, concerning righteousness, concerning judgement:...

Verse 9 – “Of sin” is peri plus the genitive of hamartia (ἁμαρτία, ας, ῆ) [pronounced hahm-ahr-TEE-ah] again, “Concerning sin because,” hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee], “they believe not,” present active indicative of pisteúô (πιστεύω) [pronounced pis-TOO-oh] with a strong negative, ou (οὐ) [pronounced oo]. The present tense is an aoristic present, something that happens in a moment of time. In a moment of time here, however, it is something they do not do. The active voice: the unbeliever who rejects Christ produces the action of the verb. He does not believe in Jesus Christ. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of historical reality. This is what actually happens in many cases, though not all.

“on me” – eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE], a directional preposition, plus the accusative egó (ἐγώ) [pronounced ehg-OH]. It could be translated “toward me” but “on me” is all right, as is “in me.”

“Concerning sin because they do not believe in me.” The only sin for which Christ could not be judged on the cross was rejection of His work, John 3:18,36.

John 16:9 ...concerning sin, because they do not believe in Me [or, toward Me, on Me]:...

Verse 10 – “Of righteousness” is peri plus the dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay]. This is the righteousness you receive when you believe. When you believe the righteousness of God becomes yours, and once it does you are justified or vindicated. Justification is a judicial act by which God in His justice pronounces you righteous, but He can’t pronounce you righteous until you are. The only way you can be righteous is to believe in Christ for the very second that you do you receive God’s righteousness.

“because I go” – present active indicative of hupagô (ὑπάγω) [pronounced hoop-AG-oh] which means to depart, to go away. It means departure after work completed. Christ is going to depart after His work is finished. He is not going to leave before the cross, He is going to leave after the cross, after the resurrection; “to my Father” – prós (πρός) [pronounced pross] plus the accusative of patêr (πατήρ) [pronounced pat-AYR] – “face to face with my Father.”

John 16:10 ...concerning righteousness, because I go to face to face with the Father, and you will see Me no longer;...

Verse 11 – “Of judgement” should be “Concerning justice” or “Concerning the act of judgement because the prince of this world [the chief ruler of this world], reference to Satan – John 12:31; 14:30.

“is judged” – perfect passive indicative of krinô (κρίνω) [pronounced KREE-no]. The ruler of this world is to be judged from the justice of God. The justice of God judged our sins at the cross; the justice of God judges Satan at the second advent. The justice of God is the source of judgement to all who reject God’s work of salvation.

John 16:11 ...concerning judgment, because the ruler of this world is judged.

Romans 3:11 – “There is not one who comprehends doctrine” – specifically the gospel. Therefore in the sense of knowing something there is no one who seeks after God. It must be understood that this phrase, seeking after God, has nothing to do with positive volition at God-consciousness. This is talking about something else. In between God-consciousness and gospel hearing there is no way that you can understand anything about God [gospel part] and therefore seek for Him. In other words, because we are dead we can’t seek. Dead people do not seek; “there is none” – ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] eimi (εἰμί) [pronounced eye-ME]. The present tense is a static present, it represents a condition perpetually existing among unbelievers in status quo, spiritually dead. The active voice: unbelievers produce the action. The indicative mood is declarative representing the statement from the viewpoint of reality. Plus the articular present active participle of ekzêteô (ἐκζητέω) [pronounced ek-zay-TEH-oh] which means to seek out on the basis of cognizance. This condition perpetually exists for mankind after God-consciousness. He may have been positive at God-consciousness but he never learns anything more on his own. Mankind can reach God-consciousness through the function of his own intellect but he does not have the ability to go beyond God-consciousness on his own.

“after God” is the accusative singular direct object of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], as well as the accusative singular direct object of the definite article to indicate someone well-known to the readers – “there is not one who searches for the God.” A dead person can’t search.

The integrity of God and the thinking of God are both involved here.

Romans 3:11 There is not one who comprehends doctrine, there is not one who searches for the God.

Romans 3:12 All have turned away; together they have become worthless; there is none who is practicing good, there is not so much as one.

Verse 12 – “They have all gone out of the way” – pantes (πάντες) [pronounced PAHN-tehç] εξεκλιναν. We have a nominative masculine singular plural subject, pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs] which is an adjective. It refers to all unbelievers, all who are spiritually dead. Then we have the aorist active indicative of ekklinō (ἐκκλίνω) [pronounced ehk-KLEE-noh] which means to turn aside, to deviate. “All [unbelievers] have turned aside.” This is a constative aorist, it contemplates the action of unbeliever reversionism in its entirety, it recognizes that all unbelievers are in the state of spiritual death and it gathers them up into that hopeless picture. The active voice: the unbeliever produces the action of the verb. This is a declarative indicative for the reality of the fact that the unbeliever in his spiritual death, in his ignorance, in his lack of righteousness, seeks to provide something that will gain the attention of God. It starts with arrogance, it goes to self-righteousness, and it is totally rejected by God.

“they are” is not found in the original; “together become unprofitable” – the adverb háma (ἅμα) [pronounced HAM-ah], it denotes the coincidence of two actions in time. So it is translated, “at the same time.”

“become unprofitable” – the aorist passive indicative of achreiōō (ἀχρειόω) [pronounced akh-ri-OH-oh] which means to become useless, worthless, depraved. “At the same time they have become depraved.” The culminative aorist views the maladjustment and reversionism of the unbeliever in its entirety and regards it from the viewpoint of existing results. This is unbeliever reversionism. They didn’t start out depraved, they became that. They were just spiritually dead, now they are spiritually dead and depraved. The passive voice: as a result of maladjustment at the justice of God at salvation the reversionistic, self-righteous unbeliever becomes worthless, useless, or depraved. The declarative indicative is for the pattern of reversionism and maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation. Any maladjustment causes the one involved to go into reversionism.

“there is none that doeth good” – this means there is not one who does good. The active voice plus the negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] indicates that the maladjusted to the justice of God produces the action of the verb, not attaining divine integrity. The indicative mood is declarative for unqualified assertion that maladjustment to the justice of God cannot attain divine integrity. Then there is another articular present active participle, poiēō (ποιέω) [pronounced poi-EH-oh]. This time it is a perfective present used to denote the continuation of existing results. The active voice: the maladjustment to the justice of God produces the action. Finally, the accusative singular direct object chrēstótēs (χρηστότης) [pronounced kh-ray-STOT-ace]. It was used in Attic Greek for honesty, respectability, worthiness, integrity. In the Koine Greek it means also goodness, virtue, gentleness, kindness:

“there is not one who attains the integrity.”

Romans 3:12 All have turned aside [into reversionism (unbelievers)], at the same time they have become depraved; there is not one who attains the integrity [of God], [there is] not even one.

91 04/28/1977 Romans 3:13; Psalm 5:9 Doctrine of the sins of the tongue; cobra analogy

Bob reviews the corrected translation.

Principles of what we have been studying

1. By interpretation this reversionism and this reversionist is one who has rejected epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis] gospel. In other words, one who is maladjusted to the justice of God at salvation. Such maladjustment leads to the eight stages of unbeliever reversionism. The stages are the same for believer or unbeliever.
2. The latter stages of reversionism result in depravity and degeneracy.
3. Without the integrity of God man is nothing, accomplishes nothing, improves nothing, reforms nothing, attains nothing.
4. Personally, collectively, historically, nothing is more important than the integrity of God and our relationship to it.
5. Either we adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God will adjust to us.
6. No individual can attain salvation apart from the integrity of God.
7. No individual can have eternal and temporal blessings apart from the integrity of God.
8. Nationally, social, economic and political reform is meaningless apart from the integrity of God. By meaningless it not only fails to accomplish its objective but it creates more problems. Our attempt to solve one set of problems in our country, we have developed worse problems. We have created an atmosphere in Washington D.C. of power lust.
9. No nation can enjoy freedom and possess prosperity apart from the integrity of God.
10. Socialism, liberalism and the resultant welfare state is the illusion and fantasy which comes from maladjustment to the justice of God, the exclusion of the integrity of God.
11. Obviously you cannot have salvation, eternal life, temporal prosperity, happiness or eternal blessing without the integrity of God.
12. Freedom and prosperity in the nation can only be meaningful and permanent when related to divine integrity.
13. Apart from the integrity of God the possession of every happiness-related factor in life is meaningless. You may work very hard to achieve this or that; but any happiness achieved in relationship to that must be related to the integrity of God.
14. Apart from the integrity of God social, economic and political reform is also meaningless.

Romans 3:12 All have turned aside [into reversionism (unbelievers)], at the same time they have become depraved; there is not one who attains the integrity [of God], [there is] not even one.

Psalm 5:9 There is nothing reliable in what they say, their inward part is destruction itself; they are irresponsible; their throat is an open grave; they flatter with their tongue.

This is the verse being quoted in Romans 3:13.

Verses 13-18, Old Testament documentation regarding consequent reversionism.

Romans 3:13 Their throat is a grave having been opened; they keep practicing deceit with their tongues; the venom of vipers is under their lips,...

Verse 13 – documentation from Psalm 5:9 which translated from the Hebrew says, “There is nothing reliable in what they say; their inward part is destruction itself; their throat is an open grave; they flatter with their tongue.” The psalmist was under attack from gossip, maligning, judging, and he states to God that there is nothing reliable in what they say. They are irresponsible, they are arrogant, they are inadequate, guilty of inordinate ambition, jealous, vindictive, and they express their implacability through the sins of the tongue. This is the verse which is being quoted in Romans 3:13.

“Their throat is an open sepulcher” – the nominative singular subject of larunx (λάρυγξ) [pronounced LAR-oongks], the word for throat or gullet. It refers to the larynx or vocal cords where columns of air are converted into sound to form speech. The larynx is the organ of speech, hence it is a reference to speech. It is speech from reversionism and therefore evil speech. The possessive genitive plural from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS] is used here as a possessive pronoun, therefore translated “Their larynx., their organ of speech.” Then a predicate nominative singular from táphos (τάφος) [pronounced TAF-oss] which means “grave,” plus the perfect passive participle anoiḡō (ἀνοιγῶ) [pronounced an-OY-go], meaning to open. The perfect tense is the intensive perfect indicating a completed action with emphasis on the results of the action. Someone has opened the tomb and there is a corpse in the state of decomposition, and the result of opening the tomb is first of all something very offensive to the sense of smell. In other words, a stench. This is the emphatic method of presenting a fact or a condition and hence it is called the perfect of existing state. The passive voice: the larynx opens up and takes the columns of air to be converted to speech. Words are formed. The participle is circumstantial. Corrected translation: “Their larynx [organ of speech] is a grave which has been opened.” When you open a grave the first thing you notice is the stench. The second thing to be noticed is that there is no dignity in a dead corpse; it has long ago departed. When they open their mouths to gossip, it is like opening a grave, and the first thing that you notices is an horrendous stench. The grave which has been opened describes the sins of the tongue.^[4] The notes came from NB1.

The Doctrine of the Sins of the Tongue II

1. Definition.
 - a. Sin is defined as transgression of the law of God.
 - b. A known sin is a transgression or violation of divine law.
 - c. An unknown sin is likewise a transgression of divine law. No human perception or cognizance. Sins of ignorance.
 - d. In both cases the violation is involved. Whether you know it or not you've done it and your volition is involved.

- e. The difference between an known and unknown sin is cognizance of divine law [Bible doctrine], especially in the field of hamartiology.
 - f. Whether the divine law is known or not human volition is involved in transgression of the law.
 - g. All sin, therefore, combines the function of the old sin nature's area of weakness with human volition.
 - h. Three categories of sin exist in the human race:
 - i. The imputation of Adam's sin to each member of the human race directly. Adam as the federal head of the human race chose to sin. There is an area of sin that is quite difficult to preach about. "Adam! Adam! What were you thinking?"
 - ii. The perpetuation of the old sin nature through physical birth, causing the individual to be physically alive at birth and simultaneously spiritually dead.
 - iii. Personal sin which occurs after birth and before physical death.
 - i. There are three categories of personal sin:
 - i. Mental sins such as envy, pride, arrogance, jealousy, bitterness, vindictiveness, hatred, etc.
 - ii. Verbal sins such as gossip, slander, maligning, judging, lying. These sins are always preceded by mental attitude sins.
 - iii. Overt sins such as adultery, murder, stealing, drunkenness, and so on.
 - j. All personal sins originate from the old sin nature involving the human volition. They are all related to the volition of the soul.
 - k. This means that verbal sins originate from the old sin nature and are activated by human volition.
 - l. Human volition is involved in all sins.
 - m. The instrument of verbal sins is that portion of the human anatomy called the tongue - James 3:6.
2. Out of the list of the seven worst sins three of the worst sins are sins of the tongue - Proverbs 6:16-19.
 3. Verbal sins and reversionism. Verbal sins are always motivated by mental sins. Sins of the mental attitude which motivate verbal sins are generally pride, jealousy, bitterness, vindictiveness, implacability, hatred, pettiness - Psalm 5:8,9; James 4:11.
 4. The sins of the tongue produce triple compound discipline. First of all there is discipline for the mental attitude sins, there is discipline for the verbal sins which result, and whatever sins are mentioned with regard to the victim whatever the judgement is for that sin it is transferred to the one who judges.
 5. God protects the supergrace believer from verbal sins - Job 5:19-21.
 6. The congregation and the tongue.
 - a. Control of the tongue plus avoidance of verbal sins is a sign of spiritual maturity - James 3:2.
 - b. Verbal sins can destroy an entire congregation - James 3:5,6.

- c. Since the sins of the tongue can destroy an entire congregation of believers it is the solemn duty of the pastor-teacher to warn against them - 2 Timothy 2:14-17.
 - d. Trouble makers in the congregation are characterised by sins of the tongue - Psalm 52:1-4.
 - e. Separation from those guilty of the sins of the tongue is commanded - Romans 16:17–18. Now I urge you, brothers, keep your eyes on those who cause dissension, an occasion of stumbling contrary to Bible doctrine turn away from such people because such types are not slaves to the Lord Jesus Christ but to their own emotion, who, by their smooth and false tongue deceive the stupid.
7. Blessing from the avoidance of the sins of the tongue is mentioned in Psalm 34:12,13. The "lips from speaking deceit" refers to gossiping, maligning or judging.
 8. God protects the believer from the sins of the tongue. Job 5:21
 9. God protects the pastor or the communicator of doctrine from sins of the tongue. Isaiah 54:17

“with their tongues they have used deceit” – the instrumental plural of glōssa (γλῶσσα) [pronounced GLOHS-sah]. The tongue is also an instrument of speech. The possessive genitive plural from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS]—“their tongues.” However, this is an instrumental case and it should be translated “with their tongues.” The verb is the imperfect active indicative of doliōō (δολιόω) [pronounced dol-ee-OH-oh] which means to deceive deceit with the tongue, by speech—“with their tongues they keep deceiving.” The imperfect tense is a progressive imperfect, it denotes action in progress in past time—linear aktionsart in past time. It is used, then, to condemn those who are guilty of gossiping, slandering and maligning. The active voice: generally the reversionist (sometimes not) produces the action. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of reality: this actually goes on everyday somewhere.

X is the arrogant; and Y is the inadequate. X runs his mouth and Y believes it, being a simpleton. Opposites do not normally attract, but when there is something false introduced, that keeps them from discovering each other and splitting up. Pseudo love; arrogance attraction; not true human or personal attraction.

“the poison of asps is under their lips” is not quite correct. The nominative singular subject is i)oj, for venom. The genitive plural of the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS] is used as a possessive pronoun—“their venom.” Then the descriptive genitive plural aspís (ἀσπίς) [pronounced as-PECE], the Greek word for the Egyptian cobra. The prepositional phrase is hupó (ὑπό) [pronounced hoop-OH] plus the accusative of cheilos (χεῖλος) [pronounced KHĪ-loss] —“under their lips.” The lips are the secret to enunciation. Being slandered or maligning is like being struck by a cobra. The victim is not the one being slandered but the one who believes the gossip. The venom is not going into the victim, it is going into the people who listen to the gossip.

The Egyptian cobra has fixed fangs; people who are gossips or maligners, they rear up and spread their hood and strike. The inadequate hears and believes the gossip. The victim is not the one being slandered, but the person who listens and believes what is being said. That is the person who is struck and gets the venom. Those who listen to gossip are those who are inadequate.

Romans 3:13 Their vocal cords are a grave which has been opened; with their tongues they keep on deceiving; the venom of cobras is under their lips.

Your choice: you can be positive toward doctrine or you can be positive toward gossip and maligning. With the latter, you carry the venom which destroy your capacities. The victims of the cobra listen to the gossip.

1977 Romans

Lesson #92

92 04/29/1977 Romans 3:14–16; Psalm 10:7; Isa. 59:7–8 Communist atrocities; doctrine of the interpretation of history; Celts

Bob talks about the bands of his era; and the great vocalists and horns. Bob remembers all of these various guys and what they played. One of them who went to war. His wreckage was never found. Related to Glen Miller (this was in reference to “The Glen Miller Story” playing at Saturday at the Movies).

News reporters have suppressed what the Vietcong have been doing in French Indo China. But there is a story in the TV Guide. He suggests if a non-communist took over and wiped out the communists, that there would be outrage. But something like this is taking place in Cambodia. They have decided to eliminate all the enemies of the people. Expanded and even included doctors, teachers, and all members of groups of family members. Schools and other places are destroyed. Sick driven out from the hospitals. At least 1.2 million died in around 2 years in Cambodia. 1 in 6 Cambodians came to a painful end. A leader from there even came to the UN and was giving an ovation. Most of the media referred to the “bloodbath theory.” Not a single comprehensive report on the topic. This is not a matter of lack of evidence. Thousands of eyewitnesses. The press is often outraged by the smallest of questionable killings. They threw a fit over Spain killing five terrorists. But the killing of 1.2 million innocents are all but ignored.

Romans 3:14 ...of whom the mouth is full of cursing and of bitterness;...

Verse 14 – documentation from Psalm 10:7. Translation from the Hebrew: His mouth is full of curses and deceit and oppression; under his tongue is evil and wickedness.

“Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness” – the possessive genitive plural from the relative pronoun hos (ὅς) [pronounced hohç], followed by the nominative singular which is the subject stoma, “whose mouth.” Plus a descriptive genitive singular from ará (ἄρά) [pronounced ar-AH], meaning a wish or a petition, hence a curse in the sense of an imprecation, a prayer for harm or injury to come upon someone, an oath or a vow of retribution and revenge. It is translated correctly “revenge.”

Plus a descriptive genitive singular from pikría (πικρία) [pronounced pihk-REE-ah] for “bitterness,” plus the present active indicative of the verb gémō (γέμω) [pronounced GHEM-oh], meaning to be full. The present tense is a perfective present denoting the continuation of the existing results of reversionism under the influence of evil. It shows the results of maladjustment to the justice of God and it indicates the principle that without divine integrity there is no human integrity. The active voice: the maladjusted reversionist produces the action. This is a declarative indicative mood for the reality of maladjusted reversionism being saturated with sins of the tongue and expressing from this the whole system of evil.

Romans 3:14 Whose mouth of revenge and bitterness keeps on being filled.

Principle

1. The maladjusted person enters reversionism. Such reversionism brings the maladjusted under the influence of evil.
2. Revenge and bitterness saturate his soul and he seeks to build his happiness on someone else’s unhappiness—operation revenge.
3. Mental and verbal sins link up to form the revenge pattern.
4. The revenge pattern always involves two basic principles that are violated: a) you cannot build your happiness on someone else’s unhappiness; b) two wrongs never make a right.
5. Words are the first and primary weapon of the human race in operation revenge.
6. Words are like the venom of the cobra, like bullets to destroy others.

Next comes some additional documentation from Isaiah 59:7,8, quoted in verses 15-17. Translated from the Hebrew: “Their feet run to evil, and they hurry to shed innocent blood; their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; devastation and destruction are in their highways. They do not know the way of peace [the way of prosperity], and there is no justice in their tracks; they have made their paths crooked; whoever treads on them does not know peace.”

This prosperity demands free enterprise. The IRS is being used to strike down their enemies. They have been used as a vicious tool of confiscation for a long time. The inheritance tax. This is not even self-supporting. That is, they pay more to confiscate inheritance than that tax brings in. They do not want wealth proliferating in society.

There are others who keep back several thousand a year and they are never gone after. At least 95% of the world’s energy is underground. An evil, immoral vicious policy of the federal government. The federal government needs to release all of their controls over private business. The worst people in the world to handle business is congress and with those tasked with overseeing private business.

This passage has been quoted in the New Testament from the Septuagint. Therefore some slight differences, beginning in verse 15.

Romans 3:15 ...their feet are swift to shed blood;

Verse 15 – “Their feet are swift to shed blood.” The nominative plural subject from pous (πούς) [pronounced poose], the word for feet, plus the possessive genitive plural from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS] is emphasizing the identity of the maladjusted reversionist under the influence of evil. It is translated “Their feet.” Plus the predicate nominative masculine plural from oxus (ὄξυς) [pronounced oz-OOCE] which means swift or quick. Then the aorist active infinitive from ekchéō (ἐκξέω) [pronounced ek-KHEH-oh] which means to pour out, with the accusative singular haima (αἷμα) [pronounced HI-mah] for “blood.” With haima (αἷμα) [pronounced HI-mah], ekchéō (ἐκξέω) [pronounced ek-KHEH-oh] means not to pour out but to murder. The constative aorist refers to a momentary action. The active voice: the maladjusted reversionist under the influence of evil produces the action.

Romans 3:15 Their feet are swift to commit murder.

Note that from the original quotation of Isaiah 59:7 that it says “their feet are swift to run evil,” and then it goes on to mention murder. The principle is the same in both passages: Evil sponsors murder and violence as a means of problem-solving. We know from the Word of God that problem-solving is accomplished through the integrity of God. Evil therefore contends that the end result justifies the means by which the result is attained. But the end never justifies the means.^{[5]&[6]}

Evil and violence are used to gain evil objectives (like the World Council of Churches and the National Council of Churches). They believe that the end result justifies the means. This has been communist propaganda for a very long time.

Romans 3:16 ...ruin and misery are in their paths;

Verse 16 – the second line of Isaiah 59:7. “Destruction and misery are in their ways” – the nominative singular subject suntrimma (σύντριμμα) [pronounced soon-TREEM-mah], derived from the verb sutribw meaning to shatter, to smash, to crush, to destroy. Both the verb and the cognate refer to breaking bones, smashing skulls, crushing bodies. It was originally used in the Greek for killing in battle but it eventually came to mean historical use of violence. Probably as close as we will come is historical disaster, if it is understood that it means violence. So we translate it “historical disaster” or “being destroyed violently.” Mankind creates the evil by which he destroys himself, or destroys others, in historical disaster.

Then a second nominative singular subject talaipōría (ταλαιπωρία) [pronounced tal-ahēe-po-REE-ah] which means wretchedness, distress, trouble or misery. This noun connotes personal suffering rather than historical disaster. With this is a prepositional phrase, en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of hodos (ὁδός, οὐ, ἦ) [pronounced ho-DOSS], and αὐτοῖς (αὐτοῖς) [pronounced ow-TOSS]—“are in their highways.” There is no verb to be, it is included in order to smooth out the English.

Romans 3:16 Historical disaster and personal suffering are in their highways.

This means that reversionism always connotes historical as well as personal disaster for the people involved. No client nation can have freedom and prosperity apart from the integrity of God, and maladjustment means both personal and historical disaster.

The Seven Postulates

The doctrine below comes right from NB1 and matches the notes well:

The Doctrine of Historical Interpretation

It has to be remembered that interpretation of history is a very tricky principle and it has led many people down the path to evil and the influence of evil in reversionism. For example, historical interpretation generally depends on human viewpoint.

1. Jesus Christ controls history in three ways.
 - a. Direct control through His divine essence. That means that Jesus Christ as God never loses control of anything.
 - b. Indirect control through the laws of divine establishment. Jesus Christ set up a system of laws to perpetuate the human race and to allow freedom in every generation for believing in Christ, and freedom to express positive volition in the function of GAP. The two noble professions: military and the police.
 - c. Permissive control permitting human volition to function in this phase of the angelic conflict. In other words, the angelic conflict must go on and this is why Jesus Christ permits evil to continue in the world. That is why evil and human good were rejected at the cross.
2. The Bible is the key to historical interpretation. Historical interpretation related to God, the unseen world of angels, and the visible world of mankind can only be put together properly through understanding Bible doctrine. Bible doctrine is the basis for the correct interpretation of history. To see history objectively one must possess the divine viewpoint. Through history is a series of facts about the human race but these facts can never be properly correlated unless one understands such simple doctrines as the old sin nature, power lust, materialism lust, and things of this sort. To correlate and interpret the facts of history Bible doctrine must be resident in the soul. This limits the unbeliever's perspicacity in this field of his understanding, especially if he is out of the laws of divine establishment.
3. To correctly interpret history one must understand evil, reversionism, apostasy, and be able to distinguish them from sin. Sin never kept a great man from being great; sin never kept anyone from doing anything. Sin never ruined a man's ministry. But what ruins many a pastor's ministry is evil and reversionism. Sin is not an issue because Christ destroyed it as an issue on the cross. He was judged for our sins. That is why we simply name our sins and we are forgiven immediately. In other words, carnality should never be a hindrance to anything, but evil is a hindrance to everything.

4. To correctly interpret history one also must understand the doctrine of dispensations, the Church Age, the royal family of God. While many historians recognize, for example, simple facts like Rome as the centre of gravity in history, human genius is limited by ignorance of Bible doctrine and divine viewpoint.
5. Each generation of history is sustained by supergrace believers. What holds up every generation of history? The supergrace believer is the spiritual Atlas of his generation. He is responsible for blessing by association and prosperity by association. He is himself blessed of God and those associated with him are blessed by the association. The supergrace believer is the salt of the land.
6. And supergrace depends upon one category of the human race: pastor-teacher. There is no supergrace without pastor-teachers teaching the Word of God.

All of the streams of modern history run into the Roman Empire and all of the streams of western civilization run out of the Roman Empire. This was pretty much agreed upon until liberalism destroyed history. The great genius of Gaius Julius Cæsar in setting up the kingdom to begin with. None of the Antoinine Caesars was a born-again believer. They cannot explain why woman had such a great position and why slavery was toned down; and why abuse was almost absent. The first time in history when dogs were treated well except by the Vikings. It was a great period of history.

Some try to claim that the Celt started the great civilization. These are very anti-government. For the Celts, if there are 5 of them together, one will break free and begin his own government. Irish this is true if there are 3 of them. The Welsh are slightly better.

The last government of the Celts was King Arthur. They do not accept governments easily. They were great artists; very talented, invented the greatest chariot wheels; they had sports and wild parties where a few people were killed. Happy fun-loving people. The Galatians were Celtic people. They were good in everything but government and establishment. Great conversationalists with marvelous vocabularies.

The Greeks had the philosophical intellectual realm. It had to be Rome that pulled it all together. We owe more to Cæsar than to Euripides, Solon, and other famous Greeks.

Tremendous sense of color; and they liked to wear all of the bright colors at one time. They invented the tartan. They were the first to wear pants, but the Scots were too poor to ride horses, so they did not go along with them.

Western civilization is a hodge-podge of so many influences. None of these things are meaningful apart from the integrity of God. All of these people had conversions. God has used men from all nations since the fall of the Roman empire.

Patrick is said to have won a million converts. The church of Rome claimed him after the fact; but he had nothing to do with the Roman church.

Columbo was a fighter. He heard an evangelist. He decided that he would win one Scotsman to the Lord for every person that he killed. People start going in one direction hear the gospel, and often go in the other direction. Columbo was a wild Celtic Irishman who was intercepted by the integrity of God.

In France, called Gauls, in Turkey Galatians; in Ireland several things Irish, Celts; in Scotland eventually called Scots. All the same people.

The true conservative never abuses power; the true liberal abuses power and tries to have reform his way, apart from the integrity of God. Historical interpretation is like the 6 blind men and the elephant.

The Doctrine of the Interpretation of History

There is no correct interpretation of history except the doctrinal one.

1. The blind men and the elephant illustrate partial or incorrect interpretation of history.
2. Failure to correlate a true interpretation with doctrine and the divine plan removes the real dynamics of a partially correct interpretation. Prevalent interpretations of history always have some element of truth which is lost because there is no doctrinal perspective or because there is no establishment perspective.
3. Partially true but false interpretations of history include:
 - 1) The river-valley concept, e.g., Egypt. Or the geographical or climatic interpretation, e.g., Greece (many mountains kept the people divided).
 - 2) The biological interpretation. Competition for food, mates, power. Man is unequal (true); man is subject to his heredity (true); certain groups never have any great men, e.g., blacks. Inequality is natural and inborn. You cannot even explain all of history according to the sin nature.
 - 3) Racial interpretation. Races are only great because of doctrine or establishment, which is never recognized in this interpretation of history.
 - 4) Genius interpretation. A small portion of any population is more intelligent than the rest of the population. Yet geniuses are seldom related to reality. This interpretation ignores the supergrace believer's impact on history. This is close to correct, but it does not help with the broader understanding of history. Examples of great geniuses named. Business, military, science men of genius. But never in government.
 - 5) Moral interpretation. This is based on observance of the laws of establishment. This explains the greatness of Israel. This explains the rise of Rome and the fall of Greece, but is only a partial interpretation of history.
 - 6) Economic interpretation. This is the worst of all. It is sponsored by liberal historians. This approach is false. This is based upon ignorance of Bible doctrine and the laws of divine establishment. It fails to recognize evil. It seeks to discount the integrity of God and true conservatism.
 - 7) You cannot explain history in terms of the old sin nature, but ultimately only in terms of the integrity of God.

4. The Bible sheds light on strange historical occurrences. The Bible sheds light on obscure historical events. Judges 3:31.
 - 1) Shamgar (meaning "God gave") was a Hurrian supergrace believer, and not a Jew. He was the third judge, and lived c. 1200 B.C. Shamgar is a Hurrian name. Helps to explain the Philistines.
 - 2) In about 1208 BC, the Mycenaeans launched 1000 ships to attack Troy. At the same time the Dorians invaded Greece from the north. The Mycenaeans were thrown out of Greece. Troy fell along with part of the Hittite empire.
 - 3) A lot of people were let loose around the Mediterranean. These wandering peoples are called the Greek Sea peoples. When they moved into Israel they were called Philistines, and it was Shamgar who stopped them. They by-passed Israel after being stopped and went on to Egypt where they were stopped by Ramses II. So they settled in southern Palestine.
 - 4) All the great powers of that period were destroyed except Israel.
 - 5) The great Greek sea peoples, which includes the Philistines.
5. Each generation of history is sustained by the historical impact of the mature believer. The mature believer is responsible for blessing by association and historical impact in his nation. He is blessed by God and those associated with him are blessed by association, either directly from God or indirectly from that believer. Every generation is blessed, not by the wisdom of people who have lived before them, but by making their own blessing through reaching maturity. The mature believer is the salt of the land, 2 Tim 1:5-6.
6. The Principle of the Wrong Side of History, 2Tim 3.
 - 1) This is described in verses 1-4.
 - 2) Opposition from the wrong side of history is described in vv. 5-12.
 - 3) Deliverance from the wrong side of history is taught in vv. 13-17.
7. Illustrations of what happens when people get on the wrong side of history.
 - 1) The peacetime soldier who has all of his resources taken from him. After a war was won, the army is dismantled as if there would never be another need for an army again. Pearl Harbor was the problem of FDR.
 - 2) Cæsar and Napoleon related history to their place in history. They set the times for the next few hundred years after they died.
 - 3) Military men are scapegoats for political failures. Most generals fail because of their failure to relate history to the integrity of God and their professional knowledge. Caesar and Napoleon related their genius to history and exploited their genius through their ability to properly evaluate the historical situation.
 - 4) Genius may be born; but excellent generals are trained. In the United States, there is a stupid hierarchy system to move a person up in rank. Any man with true gifts in this regard is cut off at the junior officer level. All great geniuses could never have beat this system.
 - 5) Robert E. Lee recognized the importance of the railroad and troop movement. he developed the concept of concentration of forces. The rise of industry led to the rise of machine armies. The North had no men of genius to exploit their industrial complex. Manifest destiny is the divine interpretation of history and the reason why the South lost the war. Lincoln correctly interpreted history through the use of the principle of mass armies and mass industry. Lee was a tactical genius on the battlefield and he knew how to use the railroad in order to concentrate his armies where he wanted them.

- 6) Germany used this principle to destroy France in 1870.
- 7) Freedom is the source of all prosperity. Therefore when in prosperity, don't restrict industry.
- 8) The greatest thing Congress could do is to never pass a law; and rescind all laws that limit industry. And then sit there and chitchat or have nice parties.
8. In the concept that Jesus Christ controls history through the laws of divine establishment universal military training is a must. Generals must be produced by good training. Today the army requires a stereotype junior officer and promotes human good for promotion.
9. An officer must understand technical information as well as be a good leader. He must be an interpreter of history, a businessman, an engineer, and many other things.
10. The Concept of Logistical Grace in History.
 - 1) Since we have lost every chance of advancement historically, we are dependent solely on the integrity of God.
 - 2) Logistical grace is the divine provision from the integrity of God for the royal family to advance to maturity.
 - 3) Alpha grace is God's provision between salvation and maturity. It includes:
 - (1) Living and temporal provision, security from evil, food, shelter, clothing, transportation.
 - (2) The concept of space and time.
 - (3) The provision of Bible doctrine, the local church and one's right pastor.
 - (4) Awareness and alertness regarding historical trends.
 - (5) A guardian angel.
 - (6) Your health.
 - 4) Bravo grace is logistical support for the believer after he cracks maturity. It is the justice of God providing total relationship with the integrity of God. This support is the escrow blessings deposited in Christ from eternity past.
 - 5) Charlie grace is God's logistical grace provision of punitive preventative suffering, which includes warning and intensive discipline, for the believer who is maladjusted to the justice of God, i.e., the carnal and reversionistic believer.
 - 6) As a nation we have been provided protection in spite of poor leadership. As a result of bad decisions from a position of spiritual weakness, we have had poor political leadership for the last fifty years. This has resulted in our failure to correctly interpret contemporary history.

11. Historical Interpretation and the Pivot.
- 1) The only answer left for our country from the results of an evil tampering federal government is a pivot of mature believers.
 - 2) The pivot is a remnant of mature believers who have maximum relationship with the integrity of God. This is the remnant according to the election of grace.
 - 3) If the pivot is large, the nation is preserved by the justice of God from the historical disaster it must face. If the spin-off of reversionistic believers is too large, then the nation will be destroyed while the pivot survives the crisis.
 - 4) The size of the spin-off is the index to national disaster. If the spin-off is large, then the nation has social and political reform apart from the integrity of God. The spin-off is destroyed by historical disaster and the nation is cleansed.
 - 5) The pivot is like the eye of the hurricane, it is protected in historical disaster.
12. The advantage postulates. History and the Postulates of Integrity.
- 1) Personal.
 - (1) There are no advantages to the advantages without the advantage. Advantages (plural) means blessing from the justice of God. Advantage (singular) means relationship with the integrity of God.
 - (2) If you have the advantage, you have the advantages.
 - (3) Without the advantage, there are no advantages.
 - 2) National.
 - (1) No nation can have the advantages without the advantage (relationship with divine integrity, a large pivot).
 - (2) A nation without the advantage loses the advantages.
 - (3) No nation can recover its advantages without the advantage.
 - (4) Loss of both the advantage and the advantages removes that nation from history. This is the justice of God administering the fifth cycle of discipline.

1977 Romans

Lesson #93

93 05/01/1977 Romans 3:17–18; Psalm 36:1 Doctrines of the interpretation of history (cont.) and way of peace

Knowledge is power; but knowledge is never achieved apart from self-discipline.

The Doctrine of the Interpretation of History is completed above.

Romans 3:17 ...and the way of peace they have not known.

Verse 17 – documentation from Isaiah 59:8, “And the way of peace they have not known.” This includes the intensive use of the conjunction kai, meaning “in fact.” Plus the strong negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] and the aorist active indicative from the verb ginôskô (γινώσκω) [pronounced gih-NOH-skoh] which means to understand, to comprehend, and here the corrected translation is, “They have not understood.” This is a constative aorist which contemplates the action of the verb in its entirety, it takes the occurrence of reversionistic maladjustment to the justice of God and regardless of its duration gathers it up into one entirety. This is the spin-off from the historical pivot. The active voice: those who are maladjusted to the justice of God are ignorant of divine integrity. The manifestation and verbalization of divine integrity is Bible doctrine. Ignorance of doctrine mean ignorance of integrity. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of historical reality.

Then an accusative singular direct object from hodos (ὁδός, οὐ, ἡ) [pronounced ho-DOSS] meaning highway or way, and with it a descriptive genitive singular of the noun eirênê (εἰρήνη, ης, ἡ) [pronounced eye-RAY-nay] which means tranquility, blessing, health, harmony, welfare. The word does not denote a relationship between several people or an attitude but a state. It means prosperity in the sense of tranquility or blessing, and sometimes prosperity in the sense of freedom from war. It connotes blessing from the integrity of God.

Romans 3:17 In fact they have not known the way of peace,...

I.e. they have not known adjustment to the justice of God and therefore have not known blessing from the justice of God.

The Way of Peace

1. Historical perspective of the word eirênê and its equivalent pax:
 - a. Tranquility, blessing, welfare, prosperity, blessing; sometimes freedom from war.
 - b. Epictus used it for a state of mind for the Stoics.
 - c. Pax = eirênê which indicates security to the Romans.
 - d. Used for the status of the Mediterranean world, Pax Roman, meaning peace of Rome.
 - e. Equivalent to shâlôwm (שָׁלוֹם) [pronounced shaw-LOHM]. Blessing from the integrity of God. This also became a salutation. Romans said, Pax ribisku.
 - f. Therefore, being justified by fatih, we have peace with God.
2. It is obviously not world peace, freedom from war. The way of peace is a relationship with the integrity of God.
3. This relationship is established through adjustment to the justice of God under three categories:
 - a. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God;
 - b. Rebound adjustment to the justice of God;
 - c. Maturity adjustment to the justice of God—the daily function of GAP, cracking the maturity barrier.

4. Relationship with the integrity of God means first of all salvation. Then, afterward, fellowship with God through rebound, and maturity adjustment to the justice of God for blessing.
5. All of this adds up to eirênê (εἰρήνη, ης, ῆ) [pronounced eye-RAY-nay], true blessing and true security.
6. There can only be one true security in life: relationship with the integrity of God. It is not wealth, power, relationship.
7. Neither the individual nor the nation has any real security apart from the integrity of God.
8. The word eirênê (εἰρήνη, ης, ῆ) [pronounced eye-RAY-nay] or peace also means prosperity. Principle: Individual prosperity is related to the integrity of God as well.
 - a. Your happiness and blessing has nothing to do with any human relationship or situation in life which you associate with happiness.
 - b. The integrity of God is the only basis for security, prosperity, blessing, or happiness.
 - c. National prosperity is related to the integrity of God through a large pivot of mature believers. Individual prosperity is based on cracking the maturity barrier.

We were way out ahead of all other nations in nuclear power. We need hundreds of them. 95% of the world's resources of oil are underground. We have been soft on communism, we have been a weak, fantasizing people.

Yesterday is was Hungary and Cuba; tomorrow, it will be the United States.

The federal government is regulating everything. They tamper with everything. They are destroying our means of transportation. We have all the oil that we will ever need until the 2nd advent, and then some.

Liberals try to solve problems that do not exist; and by this, they create problems. Why not make it a law to not be able to have fights between husbands and wives? Obviously, you have 100 years of things to straighten out in your wife.

Romans 3:18 There is no fear of God before their eyes."

Verse 18 – documentation from Psalm 36:1. Translated from the Hebrew: "Transgression speaks to the ungodly [maladjustment to the justice of God] within his heart, there is no respect of God before his eyes." In other words, transgression is violation of the laws of divine establishment, of the principles by which one becomes adjusted to the justice of God. Transgression has a very narrow sense of being used for certain types of sins, but transgression has a broader sense, as here, for violation of certain rules of life. The rules are set up by the integrity of God and the rules of life include certain very well defined principles. "No respect for God before his eyes"—no respect for God has to do with a principle: No respect means lack of relationship with the integrity of God.

“There is no fear of God before their eyes” – present active indicative of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME] and the negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook]. The static present means the is constantly not. Then the predicate nominative singular from phobos (φόβος) [pronounced FOHB-oss] which has several related meanings. It originally meant fear, but when you had fear of authority it came to mean respect and awe. It is even a great word in the Greek for love. The strongest love found among the ancient Greeks was phobos (φόβος) [pronounced FOHB-oss]. When they had respect for someone and loved then it was a much more stable love than the sentimental type.

Next is an improper preposition (an adverb used for a preposition) apénanti (ἀπέναντι) [pronounced ap-EHN-an-tee], and with it ophthalmos (ὀφθαλμός) [pronounced opf-thahl-MOSS]: “There is no respect for God in his perception.” Plus a possessive genitive plural of the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS].

Romans 3:18 There is no respect for God before his eyes [in the sense of perception].

This has two applications, one to the individual and one to the nation.

Maladjustment to the Integrity of God and the Individual

1. Any member of the human race who ignores his personal sins as a sign of spiritual death, and at the same time brings his own human righteousness to God for salvation, has neither respect for God nor awe for His integrity. He has no respect for the thinking of God.
2. We call this maladjustment. Maladjustment to the justice of God means no relationship with the integrity of God—salvation maladjustment.
3. No relationship with the integrity of God means lack of respect in human ignorance and arrogance causing self-righteousness.
4. Continued lack of relationship with the integrity of God results in arrogance, building up the case for self-righteousness.
5. The case for self-righteousness always excludes the integrity of God.
6. Excluding the integrity of God results in no respect for God and no blessing from God.

Maladjustment to the Integrity of God and National Application

1. No nation can possess freedom, prosperity and blessing apart from the integrity of God.
2. Respect for the integrity of God originates by adjustment to the justice of God.
3. Only the justice of God can bless mankind, and only under grace conditions.
4. Social, economic and political reform apart from the integrity of God are useless, meaningless, and create great problems—e.g. tyranny.
5. Social, economic and political reform apart from the integrity of God causes chaos, revolution, national degeneration, and eventual destruction under the 5th cycle of discipline.

6. Political and theological liberalism seeks social, economic and political reform apart from the integrity of God.
7. Therefore human good, the plans and schemes of socialism, the function of the welfare state, are doomed to disaster. No welfare state has ever survived historically. Liberals set up all sorts of panaceas which completely ignore the integrity of God

1977 Romans

Lesson #94

94 05/01/1977 Romans 3:19–20; Matthew 19:16–28 Jew's distortion of the Mosaic Law condemns cf. Jesus Christ saves Verses 19-20, the true purpose of the Mosaic law.

Romans 3:19 Now we know that whatever the Law says, it speaks to those under the Law, so that every mouth may be stopped, and the whole world may be under judgment to God.

Verse 19 – the enclitic conjunctive particle de is used as a transitional conjunction. With it is the perfect active indicative of oida (οἶδα) [pronounced OY-da] used as a present tense for cognizance and comprehension. This is a perfective present which denotes the continuation of existing results. The existing results come from understanding Bible doctrine. If there is only one virtue in the Christian way of life it would be knowledge of doctrine. This is the only way in which we can relate to the integrity of God, it is the only way we can orient to the operation of grace, the divine plan from eternity past. The active voice: the first person plural suffix which is used if the assertion contains a fact relative to the one asserting, and other believers. Therefore Paul and other believers produce the action of the verb. It is translated correctly, “we.” The indicative mood is declarative for the reality of understanding a point of doctrine.

After words of comprehension we often have a conjunction which is used to indicate the content of perception—hóti (ὅτι) [pronounced HOH-tee]. Then a nominative neuter plural from the correlative conjunction hosos (ὅσος) [pronounced HOS-os], used in a qualitative sense—“whatever things” or “how many things” would be a correct translation. The nominative singular subject from nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] refers to the Mosaic law which has been abused by Jews in Paul’s day and distorted into a system of producing self-righteousness rather than its original and divine purpose: condemnation.

The present active indicative of the verb légo (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh] means to say, to speak to communicate. The present tense is a retroactive progressive present denoting what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. The active voice: the Mosaic law produces the action by its communication as a part of the Word of God. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal idea from the viewpoint of reality.

Since the law has been written people have studied it, people have examined it, people have heard it taught, and they have come to one of two conclusions: either that they are condemned by the law and therefore need to turn to the grace of God for help, or they use the law as a system of self-righteousness and seek to gain the approbation of God in this manner. This is the difference between religion and Christianity. So far we have: “Now we understand that whatever things the law says.”

Then we have another verb for communication, the present active indicative of laléō (λαλέω) [pronounced lah-LEH-oh]. The present tense is a historical present viewing a past event with the vividness of a present occurrence. The active voice: the Mosaic law produces the action. The declarative indicative is for a dogmatic and unqualified assertion of fact. The dative plural indirect object from the definite article is used as a pronoun. The dative of indirect object indicates the Jews in whose interest the law was given. With this is a dative of advantage and a prepositional phrase, en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss].

Translation so far: “it speaks [communicates] to those under the jurisdiction of the law.”

It is obvious, then, that the Mosaic law was given to the nation of Israel. Exodus 19:3; Leviticus 26:46; Romans 9:4. Furthermore, the dative of advantage indicates that the Jews were benefitted by having the law—spiritually, nationally and personally—since it was the means of relating both the person and the nation to the integrity of God. The person was related to the integrity of God by discovering that sin was a sign of his spiritual death and that he had to go outside of himself for salvation, and therefore the wonderful principles of Codex #2 in which Jesus Christ was portrayed in all of His glory—the various articles of furniture in the tabernacle, the modus operandi of the Levitical priesthood, the animal sacrifices, the holy days, etc. All of these things are designed for blessing.

Codex #3 also was the basis for national blessing since the laws of divine establishment are clearly delineated in that portion of the Mosaic law. So the dative of advantage is very significant because it shows that the Jews were benefitted by having the law. The law is a part of doctrine, it reveals Christ. The law is the greatest instrument of evangelism in all of the ancient world, and still is a great instrument of evangelism.

In Sunday schools, for centuries, there is the teaching of the holy days and the sacrifices and the articles in the Tabernacle; and these things teach Jesus Christ; and people hear this teaching and they believe in Him.

“that every mouth may be stopped” – who does the talking? Anyone who goes to the law and extracts from it a system of self-righteousness, or goes to the law and uses its ritual to seek to gain the approbation of God. This includes even the Galatians, who attempted to use the Mosaic Law as some form of spirituality.

This phrase includes the conjunction hina (ἵνα) [pronounced HEE-na] with the subjunctive to introduce a purpose clause. With this is the nominative neuter singular of the adjective pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs], “all,” and the nominative neuter singular of stoma, “mouth.” Plus the aorist passive subjunctive from the verb prassô (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so] which means to fence in, to block up, to shut up, to close up, to stop. “That every mouth may be closed” doesn’t mean simply to keep people from trying to claim they can be saved by keeping the law, it means to cut off any system of thought that adds human works to the work of Christ in eternal salvation. So shutting the mouth is really not the issue, it is cutting off the blasphemous thoughts. Any time that a person says he can be saved by keeping a ritual, by keeping the law, by his good deeds, the function of his emotion, he has in effect blasphemed the integrity of God. The culminative aorist tense of prassô (πράσσω) [pronounced PRAS-so] views the function of the law in its entirety but emphasizes the existing results: the silence of any defense against the integrity of God. The passive voice: the subject which, in effect, is broadened out to include the entire human race—specifically the Jews who tried a system of legalism in keeping the law for salvation—receives the action of the verb by instrumentality of the Mosaic law, i.e. condemnation.

The question arises, then: If the law was addressed specifically to Israel how does it bring the entire world under indictment? The answer: Israel under the law stands as the representative of the human race. God not only used Israel in special ways for the priest nation function but He used Israel as an illustration of the entire human race. Israel under the law stands as a representative of the human race, and the fact that Israel failed under the law demonstrates the universal condemnation and guilt of the human race before the integrity of God. Any person who fails in one point of the law is guilty of the entire law—James 2:10. In the test case of Israel every mouth is closed. This is a Jewish idiom of guilt, having no defense against the integrity of God. Hence, the law demonstrates to the entire world, both Jew and Gentile, that they are guilty as far as the integrity of God is concerned. His righteousness rejects sinfulness; His justice pronounces the penalty: spiritual death, no relationship with God on the basis of any human modus operandi or modus vivendi. The subjunctive mood is a potential subjunctive used to introduce a purpose clause, and since the law is also a part of the Word of God which abides forever it stands as an instrument of condemnation forever.

Codex #1 of the Mosaic law logically comes first, all of those commandments that demonstrate sinfulness. Personal sin demonstrates spiritual death. The possession of the old sin nature is the basis and the source of spiritual death. We commit personal sins because we are spiritually dead, we do not become spiritually dead by the committing of these sins. At the moment of physical birth we have the imputation of Adam’s sin, we have the old sin nature, and that is the basis of spiritual death. From the old sin nature comes personal sins. These sins are a manifestation of what we are, not the means of becoming spiritually dead.

“and all the world” – the connective kai plus the nominative singular pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs], plus the subject, the nominative singular of kósmos (κόσμος) [pronounced KOSS-moss]. “And all the world” comes to mean the whole world.

“may become” – aorist active subjunctive of the verb gínomai (γίνομαι) [pronounced GIN-oh-my]. The aorist tense is a culminative aorist, it views the accountability in its entirety but regards it from the viewpoint of existing results. The results are always condemnation. Every time we as believers commit a sin we recognize our former condition, that we were formerly spiritually dead. For the unbeliever, every time he sins is a manifestation of his status quo before God. He is spiritually dead, which means no capability of establishing a relationship with God on the basis of his own actions, his own works. The active voice: the entire human race produces the action of the verb, becoming liable to judgment. The subjunctive mood is the continuation of the purpose clause.

“guilty” – predicate nominative from the noun hupódikos (ὑπόδικος) [pronounced hoop-OD-ee-koss]. This word was first used by Aeschylus to indicate a person who is culpable, who deserves blame; hence a person who is so guilty from the facts that he must be subjected to trial, and long before the trial takes place in effect he is already condemned. This is a person who throws away his shield in battle; and he would be tried and executed right there.

“before God” – the dative singular of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], with the definite article used for someone who knows the person very well.

Alexander the Great had a smaller army more afraid of him than of the enemy. He was able to use his smaller army to defeat a huge portion of the world in 25 years.

Romans 3:19 Now we understand that whatever things the law says, it speaks to those under the jurisdiction of the law: that every mouth may be closed, and the whole world may become [guilty and] accountable to the God.

The Integrity of God and Man's Guilt (an Analysis of Romans 3:19)

1. The entire world of mankind is subject to the justice of God—justice as a part of the integrity of God.
2. Because of God's perfect integrity the result is condemnation and liability to punishment, apart from salvation.
3. The infinite, eternal, self-existing, immutable God has integrity.
4. In other words, God has had and always will, absolute integrity from eternity past. Exodus 15:11; 19:10-16; Isaiah 6:3.
5. This holiness or integrity of God is required in man before he can go from condemnation to eternal salvation and justification. God isn't going to accept any one of us until we have His integrity for justification. 2Corinthians 7:1; 1Thessalonians 3:13; 4:7.
6. God's integrity is maintained by His perfect essence. It is, in effect, God's unchangeable self.
7. The integrity of God is God's holiness acting toward other beings. God's righteousness is perfect, demanding perfect righteousness. God's judgments are perfect, demanding perfection in His creatures.
8. God's justice administers the penalty which God's righteousness demands.
9. In righteousness is the divine love for His integrity revealed. In justice is the divine hatred for sin revealed.
10. God is not arbitrary. Righteousness demands righteousness; justice demands justice. Therefore integrity demands integrity. God cannot change. He must punish sin, self-righteousness and evil. If there is any changing that will take place, it is us; we will do the changing.

11. God's penalties from His justice are not vindictive, they are vindicating.
12. Therefore God has provided the Mosaic law, one third of which is to condemn us. God has provided not the law but Jesus Christ to vindicate or justify the one who will adjust to the justice of God. In other words, from the same integrity of God comes two factors with a different purpose: the law to condemn and Christ to save.
13. With unchangeable sin, self-righteousness and evil there is unchangeable condemnation and judgment.
14. However, in grace God provides through the judgment of Christ on the cross all He demands in condemnation—all He demands, then, from His integrity.
15. In God Himself spirituality or personality is supreme, but in His relationship to man God's integrity is supreme.
16. Where man is concerned integrity takes precedence over all other divine attributes.
17. The law reveals the integrity of God in three ways: Codex #1, the commandments reveal condemnation; Codex #2, the ordinances reveal salvation; Codex #3, freedom in human government are revealed from the laws of establishment.

Two antithetical things come from the justice of God: blessing and cursing. Two other things come from the justice of God: condemnation and salvation.

Five or six million Jews were wiped out by Hitler. Many Jews escaped. The fact that some of them escaped indicates that God was speaking to some of them. They apparently had been taking the Mosaic Law as a system of salvation. You cannot accept the Law and Jesus Christ at the same time as means of salvation. The Law condemns; ut it cannot save. If you accept the Mosaic Law as a means of salvation, you place condemnation next to Jesus Christ. This is the great tragedy of Israel. The stumbling block is Jesus Christ. Instead of being the Rock of salvation, He became the stone of stumbling.

Romans 3:19 Now we understand that whatever things the law says, it speaks to those under the jurisdiction of the law: that every mouth may be closed, and the whole world may become [guilty and] accountable to the God.

Romans 3:20 Therefore by works of the Law, not any flesh will be justified before Him; for through the Law is knowledge of sin.

Verse 20 – “Therefore by the deeds of the law” begins with the inferential conjunction dioti (διότι) [pronounced dee-OAT-ee], used to introduce an inferential clause, plus the prepositional phrase ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative of ergon (ἔργον) [pronounced EHR-gon], plus a genitive of relationship of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss]. The ablative is not the regular case for expressing means but it does express means here because the origin or the source is implied. Hence, ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative connotes means here and should be translated “Therefore by the works of the law.”

“shall no flesh be justified in his sight” – the negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] plus the subject, the nominative singular sarx (σάρξ) [pronounced sarx] for the entire human race, plus the adjective pás (πάς) [pronounced pahs]. Then the future passive indicative of dikaioô (δικαίω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh] which means to declare righteous, to vindicate, to justify. The future tense is gnomic future, it is used to state an unqualified, dogmatic fact. The passive voice: the human race or all flesh receive the action of the verb. No justification, no vindication from the integrity of God by trying to keep the law. The indicative mood is declarative for a statement of unqualified, dogmatic doctrine. The integrity of God cannot and does not declare righteous, cannot and does not vindicate the works of the law, now or ever. The works of the law represent arrogant self-righteousness, a distortion of the law.

“In his sight” – an adverb used as an improper preposition, enupnion (ἐνύπνιον) [pronounced en-OOP-nee-on], plus autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS] used here to identify the integrity of God and translated “in the presence of him” or “in the judgment of him.”

Romans 3:20 so far: Therefore by the works of the law no human being shall be vindicated in his presence.

Principle

1. The law is incapable of making man righteous before the integrity of God.
2. It demands a capability, a perfection, an absolute beyond man’s abilities.
3. The law cannot produce a righteousness in man which is equivalent to God’s righteousness.
4. The law can only condemn man’s righteousness, along with man’s sinfulness, as being totally inadequate.
5. The law is an instrument of condemnation, only the judgment of Christ on the cross is an instrument of salvation.
6. From the justice of God is the instrument of condemnation, which is the Mosaic Law; and the instrument of salvation, Jesus Christ.

“for by the law is the knowledge of sin” – the postpositive conjunctive particle gar, used here to express an inference. A prepositional phrase, dia plus the genitive of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss]—“through the law.” Plus a predicate nominative epignôsis (ἐπίγνωσις) [pronounced ehp-IHG-noh-sis], generally meaning full knowledge but also consciousness, and the objective genitive singular from hamartia (ἁμαρτία, ας, ῆ) [pronounced hahm-ahr-TEE-ah]—“sin.” Translated “for through the law is a consciousness of sin.”

Romans 3:20 Therefore by the works of the law no human being shall be justified in His presence; for through the law is a consciousness of sin.

The Mosaic Law is an Instrument of Condemnation

1. The Mosaic law is not an instrument of justification or vindication before the integrity of God—Romans 3:20, 28; Galatians 2:16.
2. The Mosaic law is an instrument of condemnation to both Jew and Gentile, i.e. the entire human race—Romans 3:20; Galatians 3:21-28; 1 Timothy 1:9, 10.
3. The purpose of the law is to curse mankind with a hopeless curse—Galatians 3:10, 13.
4. The Mosaic law produces a self-righteousness which is in conflict with the righteousness of God. This self-righteousness cannot be compared with God's perfect righteousness which is imputed to us at the moment we believe in Jesus Christ.
5. Many Jews lost the advantage of the law by using it as an instrument of salvation—Romans 9:30-33.
6. Because of the integrity of God taking precedence over the other attributes of God the works of the law cannot provide justification—Acts 13:39.
7. This failure is illustrated by the rich young ruler—Matthew 19:16-28.

Matthew 19:16 And behold, a man came up to Him, saying, "Teacher, what good deed must I do to have eternal life?"

This man is cocky. He thinks that he has eternal life; and he just wants the confirmation of Jesus Christ.

Matthew 19:17 And He said to him, "Why do you ask Me about what is good? There is only One Who is good. If you would enter life, keep the commandments."

Jesus knows the mind of this rich young ruler; and He is setting a trap for him.

Matthew 19:18 He said to Him, "Which ones?" And Jesus said, "You shall not murder, You shall not commit adultery, You shall not steal, You shall not bear false witness,

This man is arrogant. "Which ones?" he asks.

Matthew 19:19 Honor your father and mother, and, You shall love your neighbor as yourself."

The 11th commandment is what trips him up. Leviticus 19:18 and elsewhere and reiterated in Mark.

Matthew 19:20 The young man said to Him, "All these I have kept. What do I still lack?"

He is wealthy, but he is parsimonious.

Matthew 19:21 Jesus said to him, "If you would be perfect, go, sell what you possess and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me."

Following Jesus is salvation. Jesus will amplify this later.

Matthew 19:22 When the young man heard this he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

Matthew 19:23 And Jesus said to His disciples, "Truly, I say to you, only with difficulty will a rich person enter the kingdom of heaven.

Matthew 19:24 Again I tell you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter the kingdom of God."

This is the small gate, the only gate which was open after dark. The main gate could accommodate any kind of animal. This is difficult, but not impossible.

Matthew 19:25 When the disciples heard this, they were greatly astonished, saying, "Who then can be saved?"

Matthew 19:26 But Jesus looked at them and said, "With man this is impossible, but with God all things are possible."

(Are these birds every going to learn anything?)

Matthew 19:27 Then Peter said in reply, "See, we have left everything and followed You. What then will we have?"

Some day, Bob is going to show that Peter is the dumbest person, not you.

Peter was not broke. He was a successful businessman in the fishing industry.

Matthew 19:28 Jesus said to them, "Truly, I say to you, in the new world, when the Son of Man will sit on his glorious throne, you who have followed Me in regeneration, will also sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

The rich young ruler did not follow the Lord in regeneration.

1977 Romans 3:21

Lesson #95

95 05/06/1977 Romans 3:21 Analysis of Dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] THEOU; forensic justification

A cracked bell just means that it is too hot there. What the symbol of freedom is, is the various uniforms.

The sovereignty of God is not a point of reference; nor is the point of reference love. A testimony that God fell in love with some guy giving his testimony. This just proved that everyone there was stupid.

When Jesus was on the cross, justice was put over God's love. Our sins were judged on Christ on the cross. We receive our first blessing, which is justification. Review of translation.

Verses 21-26, the dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] of divine integrity.

The Righteousness of God Through Faith

Romans 3:21 But now apart from Law, the righteousness of God has been revealed, being borne witness to by the Law and the Prophets.

Verse 21 – “But now the righteousness of God.” It begins with the enclitic particle de used as an adversative postpositive conjunction. It introduces a contrast between self-righteousness produced by keeping the law and imputed righteousness from the integrity of God. Then the adverb of time, nun (νῦν) [pronounced noon], plus the nominative singular subject dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay], and with it is Theou, and objective and possessive genitive.

Dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] is a second stage word construction in the organization of the Greek language. In the time of Homer (9th century B.C.) there were two words, a noun and an adjective: díkē (δίκη) [pronounced DEE-kay] and dikaios (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss], simple words characteristic of the time of Homer. Multi-syllable words did not come into the Greek language until the time of Attic Greek. In the 5th century B.C. when thought became much deeper it required some special technical words. So the Greeks invented a suffix which comes off of the dik base, which meant righteousness in Homeric Greek. But when the suffix sunê is added you now have moved into abstract thought. The translation here in the KJV is “But now the righteousness of God.” However, the word “righteousness” can be correct but it isn't here. It does not fulfill the true meaning of the noun, nor does it recognize the tremendous changes that occurred first in Classical Greek and then later on in Koine Greek. The noun díkē (δίκη) [pronounced DEE-kay] and the adjective dikaios (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss] definitely had a connotation of righteousness, but even they changed. Dikaios (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss], for example, by the time it reached Koine Greek meant many things beside righteousness. It means the thinking of a judge, among other things. But when you add sunê to this you have a legal connotation. This is an abstract legal noun and because it is, it is universally mistranslated in the New Testament. Dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā or dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] means fair and equitable in dealing with others, it meant virtue, justice, integrity, justice as a characteristic of a judge, justice as the thinking of a judge. It also means the integrity of a judge. The word connotes not just righteousness but righteousness as a principle leading to action and thought: thinking action, thinking something that is correct. This was its general development as far as the Greek language is concerned, but the Bible adds another problem. In the Bible we find that with dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] we have it related to God—dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] Theou. This particular phrase makes a great change in dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] because this is the righteousness of God, the justice of God, the integrity of God. Remember that dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] is an abstract noun and always has the connotation of integrity—righteousness as the principle of God’s integrity, righteousness in relationship with all of the attributes of God. Used of the believer it is a synonym to eusébeia (εὐσέβεια) [pronounced yoo-SEHB-i-ah], the technical word for maximum adjustment to the justice of God or total relationship with the integrity of God. Dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay], used of man, also has another technical meaning—justification, or possessing part of the integrity of God. It can be justification or salvation adjustment to the justice of God. It can be justification or cracking the maturity barrier, another principle of vindication from the integrity of God. Justification means that the justice of God is free to bless man without compromising His character or any attribute. There is no blessing for us ever until we have God’s very own righteousness.

God does not run around blessing cuckoo clocks, personality boys, we do not have anything that impresses God.

Bob is romantic and he does not care whether we are or not.

Dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] generally is translated “justice” where contact with man is concerned; Theou is both the possessive and the subjective genitive. The dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] belongs to God. The integrity belongs to God and that is our point of contact. So we translate this not the righteousness of God but the integrity of God, emphasizing divine righteousness as the principle of integrity and divine justice as the function of integrity.

Man and the Integrity of God

1. The subjective genitive of the noun theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] demands some explanation. A subjective genitive is one in which the noun in the genitive case produces the action. That’s why it generally means justice.
2. Under the connotation of possessive genitive this indicates the integrity of God with emphasis on righteousness. This is something that belongs to God, it is a principle. The subjective genitive does something else, it includes man in the principle, whereas the possessive genitive views God alone, apart from man.
3. The integrity of God, both His righteousness and justice, is God’s alone. Man is entered into the relationship with it by means of the work of Christ on the cross.
4. The integrity of God always takes precedence in God’s dealings with mankind.
5. Either the integrity of God condemns man or blesses man, depending on man’s attitude toward the cross.
6. First there is condemnation from divine integrity, then there is salvation or justification for the one who will adjust to the justice of God. So from the same source comes condemnation and vindication or justification.

7. For the maladjusted (the one who rejects Christ as saviour) there is both temporal punitive action and eternal judgment.
8. The forensic connotation of dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] Theou: it includes justification or vindication by grace—Romans 5:1.
9. Forensic justification means the possession of God’s righteousness as the result of adjustment to the justice of God. And God recognizes that you have His righteousness.

“without the law” – the adverb chōros (χωρος) [pronounced KHOH-ross] used as an improper preposition is in the genitive case, plus the genitive of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] for the Mosaic law: “apart from the law.” God only approves of His Own righteousness.

“is manifested” – perfect passive indicative of the verb phaneroō (φανερώνω) [pronounced fan-er-OH-oh], which means to reveal, to make known, to show. Here it is translated “revealed.” The perfect tense is a dramatic perfect, emphasizing the results of the action of the verb. The passive voice: the righteousness belonging to God’s integrity has been revealed. The indicative mood is declarative for the historical reality for the fact that doctrine is the means by which God’s integrity is revealed to man. This integrity was revealed through witnessing in the past.

“being witnessed” – present passive participle martureō (μαρτυρέω) [pronounced mar-too-REH-oh]. It means to be a witness in a trial, to testify in a trial, to confirm facts in a trial. The present tense is the present tense of duration denoting what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. The passive voice: God’s righteousness belonging to His integrity receives the action of the verb. This is a circumstantial participle for the existence of the canon of scripture. Every human author in the Old testament was actually in court, giving testimony, presenting facts about the integrity of God. So the Old Testament canon is regarded as a great courtroom where the facts will be brought out.

“being witnessed by the law and the prophets” – the preposition hupó (ὑπό) [pronounced hoop-OH] plus the ablative of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss], and prophētēs (προφήτης) [pronounced prof-AY-tace] also in the ablative. The ablative is not the regular case for the means or the instrumental but it may be used when the expression of means is accompanied by the implication of origin or source. What the Old Testament prophets wrote down is the origin or source of the presentation of the integrity of God in the Old Testament.

Romans 3:21 But now apart from the law the righteousness belonging to the integrity of God has been revealed, being confirmed by the law and the prophets.

The doctrine of the Word of God is the manifestation, the testimony and revelation of the integrity of God. Doctrine, then, is the verbalizing of God’s integrity. Principle: God never reveals anything unless it is available. If God reveals His integrity it means two things: this is our point of reference with God, and it also means we can have His integrity. We can have it in two forms: a) His righteousness directly imputed to us at the moment we believe in Christ; b) the action of His justice blessing us. God only reveals that which is attainable. With God's righteousness, now and forever, there is no failure or evil which can removed us from our relationship with God.

1977 Romans

Lesson #96

96 05/08/1977 Romans 3:22a Appropriation of justice of God; doctrine of faith

God has certain invisible attributes from eternity past which have never changed. We have not connected to God by means of His sovereignty. We have no point of contact with God's eternal life. God is omniscient. He knows all the knowable and all of the possible alternatives. God is veracity; He is immutable. He cannot change any of His characteristics. God is love and we have no contact with His love. People understand what people do; so anthropopathisms make it easier to understand God's actions and motivations. People continually make statements like, "How can a God of love allow this to happen to me?"

Human love has thinking; there is an object; and there is emotion; there is a spiritual and physical aspect.

Since divine righteousness is the protection of God essence. The sin problem was solved at the cross. The possession of God's righteousness puts us right with God; and this gives us eternal security. Our relationship is with God's integrity.

The postulates are given. The key to our nation is having the advantages because we have the advantage of a relationship with Jesus Christ. Translation reviewed.

Romans 3:22 And the righteousness of God is through faith from Jesus Christ toward all those believing. For there is no distinction,...

Verse 22 – the appropriation of the righteousness of God through a relationship to the justice of God. "Even the righteousness of God" – the postpositive conjunctive particle de, used to insert an explanation and is translated "That is." With it is the nominative singular subject of dikaïosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] which does not mean righteousness in the human sense, it means one half of the integrity of God, the guardian of God's justice. Justice is incorruptible because it is guarded by God's righteousness. God's justice is the guardian of His entire essence. Plus the subjective genitive singular of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], indicating that we are dealing with a divine characteristic, the righteousness which belongs to the integrity of God. The words "by faith of Jesus Christ" tells us how we initially come into contact with the justice of God and come under the blessing of the integrity of God. The word for faith is found in a prepositional phrase, dia plus the genitive of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tih-s] for "faith"—"through faith." Plus the objective genitive of the two proper nouns referring to the second person of the Trinity, Iêsous (Ἰησοῦς) [pronounced ee-ay-SOOCE] Christos (χριστός) [pronounced krees-TOHSS]—"in Jesus Christ."

Even the virgin Mary had to be saved by faith in Christ. Only one person makes a relationship with God possible.

πιστεύω (πιστεύω) [pronounced pis-TOO-oh], which means faith. Between God and man, there is spiritual death.

Romans 3:22a That is the righteousness which belongs to the integrity of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe.

We enter into relationship with the integrity of God at the moment of salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Until then we are spiritually dead and have no relationship with God.

The Doctrine of Faith is taken from NB2:

The Doctrine of Faith
A.	Definition. <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Basically there are three systems of human perception.<ol style="list-style-type: none">a. Faith is a non-meritorious system of perception based on confidence in the authority and the veracity of another. Faith is not based on one's own knowledge, as is rationalism or empiricism.b. Rationalism is reason from the source of knowledge in itself, superior to and independent of any other source of perception. Rationalism says that reality is what you think to be true. Rationalism requires a high I.Q., from which systems of philosophy are often developed.c. Empiricism is knowledge from perception by observation and experience rather than by theory. All ideas are derived from some sensuous experience using the eyes, ears, nose, touch, etc, having no innate or a priori conceptions.2. Perception by faith is always non-meritorious. It depends on the authority, veracity, and ability of someone else. Faith requires authority.3. Faith also means a system of doctrine or a creed perceived by faith; i.e., what is believed.
B.	Etymology. <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Hebrew.<ol style="list-style-type: none">a. The verb 'âman (אָמַן) [pronounced aw-MAHN] means to believe, to support, to use someone as a prop, a crutch; to use someone else to be supported. The root meaning is a foundation on which you build something.<ol style="list-style-type: none">(1) In Isa 28:16, the hiphil means to cause to believe. The hiphil in Gen 15:6 uses 'âman (אָמַן) [pronounced aw-MAHN] for the salvation of Abraham, meaning to use God as a prop and foundation.(2) Further, 'âman (אָמַן) [pronounced aw-MAHN] means to prove oneself, to stay faithful to, to remain or continue.

(3) Metaphorically, 'âman (אָמַן) [pronounced aw-MAHN] means to be faithful, trustworthy, and sure, as in Prov 19:8; Gen 42:20; 1 Kg 8:26; Hos 5:9.

- b. The noun 'ēmûwnâh (אֱמוּנָה) [pronounced eh-moo-NAWH] means faithfulness, security, or that on which security is based, e.g., the integrity of God.
- c. The noun EMUN means integrity, fidelity, reliability.
- d. The noun OMEN means doctrine, truth, faithfulness.
- e. The noun 'ëmeth (אֱמֶת) [pronounced EH-meth] means faithfulness, integrity, stability.
- f. The verb BATACH is a wrestling term, which means to trust in the sense of slamming your troubles on God; this has a faith-rest connotation. In Psalm 37:3 and 91:2, it also means to confide in someone.
- g. The verb CHASAH means to hide in the cleft of a rock, as a rabbit does when chased by a fox. This verb is used for suffering and adversity. It means to trust in the sense of taking shelter or taking refuge in Bible doctrine; to believe in the integrity of God, Psalm 57:1, 2:12, 5:12, 25:20, 7:1.
- h. The verb JACHAL means to trust the Lord in time of great pain or disaster, Lam 3:21,24. In Job 13:15, it means to have hope and to wait. It is used for faith under great pressure, intense suffering, and pain.
- i. The verb QAWAH is the strongest word for faith, used in Psalm 25:3. It depicts a fine thread woven into a giant rope that cannot be broken. It is used in Isa 40:31 for the faith of a mature believer. In Lam 3:25 it means to wait. This word means that faith which gets its strength from outside of itself, connoting the non-meritorious aspect of faith. All merit lies in the object of faith.

2. Greek.

- a. The noun pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs].
 - (1) Used as an attribute, Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] is what causes trust or faith, reliability, faithfulness, or integrity, Tit 2:10; 2 Thes 1:4.
 - (2) In the active sense, Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] means faith, confidence, trust, faith as a recognition of and acceptance of Bible doctrine. In the active sense, faith is used in three ways.
 - (a) Saving faith, Eph 2:8; 1 Jn 5:4-5.
 - (b) The three stages of the faith-rest drill, Romans 3:20; Heb 4:3.
 - (c) The metabolization of Bible doctrine.
 - (3) The passive meaning of Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] is Bible doctrine, meaning that which is believed, i.e., doctrine, the body of belief, which is obedience to authority. Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] is so translated "doctrine" in such passages as Gal 1:23; 2Peter 1:5; 1 Tim 1:19, 4:1,6; Heb 11.

- b. The noun pistós (πιστός) [pronounced pis-TOSS], used as an adjective in the passive sense means being trustworthy, worthy of trust, faithful, dependable, and inspiring trust. In the active sense, it means trusting or believing.
- c. The verb Pisteúō (πιστεύω) [pronounced pis-TOO-oh] means to believe, to trust something to someone, to use someone as an object of faith, Gal 2:16. It only takes a little more than no faith at all to be saved, Acts 16:31.
- d. The verb peithō (πείθω) [pronounced PIE-thoh] in the passive means to come to believe, to obey, to be persuaded or convinced. The perfect passive means to have confidence, to be absolutely convinced, to be certain. The active meaning as in Gal 1:10 means to convince, to persuade, to appeal, to win over. The perfect tense with a present meaning means to depend on someone, to trust in someone, to have confidence.
- e. The verb PISTOO means to show oneself faithful; to be convinced; to have confidence, 2 Tim 3:14.

C. Biblical Use of "Faith" or Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs].

- 1. Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] is used for doctrine in Heb 11:1-3. "In fact, doctrine is the reality from which we keep receiving confidence, the proof of matters not being seen; for by means of doctrine men of old gained approval." We can see disasters coming to this country, but we can see beyond that.
- 2. A description of faith is found in 2Cor 4:18 We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen [essence of God]; for the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal. Faith is the means by which we perceive reality in the invisible essence of God. When the integrity of God becomes more real to you than all the things happening around you, you have arrived. This precludes you becoming discouraged.
- 3. Sometimes both the faith-rest technique and doctrine are described in the meaning of Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs], as in 2Cor 5:7 We walk by faith and not by sight. Your eyes are in your soul, and your soul must have Bible doctrine. We see the unseen through doctrine. Doctrine gives us relationship with the integrity of God which sustains us in time of disaster. We see the justice and integrity of God through doctrine.
- 4. Heb 11:6 And without doctrine resident in the soul, it is impossible to please God, for when one is occupied with God, he must be convinced that He is and that He becomes a rewarder of those who diligently seek Him.
- 5. Rom 10:17, "Doctrine comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God."

6. Gal 5:22, "The fruit of the Spirit is doctrine."

7. In each verse above, Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] relates faith to the perception of Bible doctrine. Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] means both faith and doctrine. All perception of doctrine is accomplished through the function of faith perception.

8. 1 Tim 1:19 and 4:1 use Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] for the doctrine of demons.

D. Faith is the means of salvation adjustment to the justice of God.

1. Believing is non-meritorious perception. The merit is always found in the object of faith (Jesus Christ) and not in the subject, the one having the faith (the believer).

2. That salvation is by faith and faith alone in Jesus Christ is documented in many passages, including Acts 16:31; Jn 3:16,18-19,36 6:47, 20:31; Rom 3:22,28, 4:5, 9:30; Gal 2:16, 3:26; 1 Jn 3:23, 5:4-5. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God is believing in Christ.

3. The justice of God is our point of contact with the essence of God because justice judged our sins in Christ on the cross. The mechanics of receiving all blessing from the justice of God is grace. Grace is non-meritorious, compatible with faith, Eph 2:8-9.

E. Faith is a system of doctrine or what is believed.

1. The object of faith is Bible doctrine. This includes both doctrine in perception and in application. Bible doctrine is invisible. Faith is confidence in the unseen. Bible doctrine must be transferred to our right lobe by means of faith.

2. The perception concept is related to post-salvation epistemological rehabilitation. The application concept is related to the faith-rest drill or reverse concentration.

3. Once you have Bible doctrine on the launching pad of your soul, then the faith-rest drill in its maximum use applies doctrine to experience.

4. Maturity adjustment to the justice of God demands maximum Bible doctrine in the right lobe, which comes through the daily perception, metabolization, and application of Bible doctrine.

5. The intake of Bible doctrine results in maximum blessing to your soul. Blessing does not come because of your self-righteousness, personality, good works, or anything else.

F. The importance of classifying the Object of Faith.

1. The object of faith always has the merit. There is no merit in the subject because faith is a non-meritorious system of perception.

2. All the faith in the world secures nothing but condemnation from the integrity of God. We are born with faith. We first learn vocabulary by faith.

3. However, the tiniest bit of faith in Christ secures eternal salvation. It only takes a little more faith than no faith at all. It is the object of faith that counts, not the worthiness of the one with faith.

4. There is no merit in believing; the merit lies in the object of faith.
5. For salvation adjustment to the justice of God, the object of faith is Jesus Christ. For maturity adjustment to the justice of God, the object of faith is Bible doctrine.
6. Faith is not something we do, but it is the channel by which we appropriate what God has done for us.
7. For rebound adjustment to the justice of God, the object of faith is two-fold, depending on the believer's spiritual growth.
 - a. The Scripture is the object of faith for the immature believer, 1Jn 1:9; 1Cor 11:31; Psalm 35, 32:5, 38:18; Prov 28:13.
 - b. For the mature believer, doctrine is the object of faith, and the integrity of God is the basis for understanding the forgiveness of our sins through rebound.
8. Through these adjustments to the justice of God and blessings from the integrity of God, Jesus Christ becomes the author and finisher of our faith, Heb 12:2.

G. The Application of Faith in the Function of the Faith-Rest Drill.

1. Faith must be exercised as it develops. Learning doctrine develops faith. As this occurs, faith has the increasing ability of perception, of learning more and greater details in the Word of God, Heb 4:1-3.
2. God has blessing which will only be yours if you relate totally to the integrity of God by learning doctrine, 1Peter 1:7-8.
3. Bible doctrine is the royal family's currency. Bible doctrine is the working currency in the life of every believer. Learning doctrine gives you currency to understand the integrity of God.
4. Abraham's circumcision is the classical illustration of the mature believer with maximum adjustment to the justice of God making application of his faith, Rom 4:17-21. Abraham's sacrifice of Isaac was the proof or testing of his mature faith, Gen 22:1-18.
5. The mechanics of the faith-rest drill comprise three stages.
 - a. Stage one: Faith claims promises from the Bible, Heb 4:1-3, which can be called mixing the promises of God with faith.
 - b. Stage two: Faith claims doctrinal rationales, like the essence of God rationale, the plan of God rationale, the logistical grace rationale, the a fortiori rationale, the escrow/election rationale, etc. This stage is known as reverse concentration, the application of doctrine.
 - c. Stage three: Faith reaches doctrinal conclusions and is in control of the situation. This becomes the function of spiritual self esteem. It is the third stage of the faith-rest drill that brings you to spiritual self-esteem.
6. The Victory of Faith, 1John 5:4-5. It is the relationship with the integrity of God which is greater than any difficulty in life.

7. Relationship with the integrity of God is greater than any pressure or disaster in life. It is more important than anything in life, whether failures, successes, pressures, or prosperity.

Eph 483, 2/19/87; 5/8/77; Rom 10:8 4/13/79; Eph 172 12/8/85
c 1989, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

1977 Romans

Lesson #97

97 05/08/1977 Romans 3:22b–24a Monetary crisis; doctrines of faith (cont.) and justification (revised)

A movement in the price of gold; the surface tremors of an activity so huge, that the monetary systems of the world will tumble. Nearly all of the countries are falling or about to fall. Clear objectives are very rare. These countries have no idea where they are going. The leaders cannot paint a picture of where they are going. Socialist and communist power is on the rise in Italy and in France; this trend is not about to reverse. Both countries are broke or very nearly so. Nationalist movement strong in Scotland and Wales. Britain has no gold to fall back on. The Japanese have no gold or natural resources. Countries overall in debt to the United States $150 billion. Various countries cannot pay like Portugal and Zaire. Russia owes $50 billion to us. They have been borrowing this money to operate on credit. Doesn't it seem odd that Russians keep pulling as much cash out of the US as possible. The key plank of communism is the destroy the monetary system of the capitalist system. There is no money in the United States today. Hundreds of receipts for a single hat. Only one person can collect that hat. The rest only have promises. The destruction of the United States would occur more likely on the destruction of our monetary system.

The Russians have been building up their gold hord. They have at least 900 tons of gold which they have mined themselves and however much more. Our money is just paper and it does not mean a thing. It is good as long as we have faith.

Russians could have a gold-backed ruble; and that would be real money. Maybe $7–10 billion in gold. Russia is underwater if they intended to pay their debt.

South African gold combined with Russian gold. We would need to act fast; in a matter of months. Gold is $300/oz. If Washington set itself up to match this with gold, we would be on solid ground.

Gold, as a standard of value, has not changed since Peter wrote about it.

Bible doctrine is our currency and it is solid. 1john 5:

Doctrine of Faith is continued above in the previous lesson. Only a couple of points remained.

Salvation changes everything. We receive 36 permanent, indestructible advantages.

Romans 3:22 And the righteousness of God is through faith from Jesus Christ toward all those believing. For there is no distinction,...

Then begins a short parenthesis. At the beginning of the parenthesis which explains that all unbelievers, both Jew and Gentile alike, those with the law or without the law, are all spiritually dead. So whether Jew or Gentile spiritual death belongs to all of us by being born into the human race.

“for there is no difference” – the explanatory use of the postpositive conjunctive particle gar. It can be translated “for” or “you see” or “for you see.” Then the present active indicative of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME] plus the strong negative ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook]. The present tense is a static present for a condition perpetually existing in the status quo of spiritual death. The active voice: mankind under spiritual death produces the action. The indicative mood with the negative indicates negative reality—all unbelievers are spiritually dead in that they have no relationship with God.

Plus the predicate nominative singular from the noun diastole (διαστολή) [pronounced dee-as-toh-AY], which means difference or distinction. It is used here for distinction between Jew and Gentile unbelievers. They are all maladjusted to the justice of God, they have no relationship with the integrity of God, there are therefore spiritually dead—with or without the law.

Romans 3:22 That is, the righteousness which belongs to the integrity of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe (for there is no distinction [between Jews and gentiles]...

Romans 3:23 ...for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God,...

Verse 23 – the necessity for the dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] of God. “For all have sinned” – the enclitic particle gar, which is both enclitic and postpositive, and is used as the explanatory conjunction, plus the nominative masculine plural subject from the adjective pás (πᾶς) [pronounced pahs], referring to the entire human race. The parenthesis states the basic concept of hamartiology: all members of the human race have an old sin nature at birth and therefore express this fact through personal sin.

So we have an aorist active indicative of the verb hamartanô (ἁμαρτάνω) [pronounced hahm-ahr-TAHN-oh]. It means to miss the mark, to do wrong or to sin. The aorist tense is constative, it contemplates the action of the verb in its entirety. It takes all of the sin of the human race from the time of the fall to the end of the Millennium and gathers it up into one entirety. All members of the human race are sinners. The active voice: the human race as the subject produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of absolute dogmatic reality. The entire human race sinned when Adam sinned, therefore the human race is born with an old sin nature, and the manifestation of that fact is in personal sin.

“and come short of the glory of God)” – the connective kai, “and”, plus the present middle indicative of the verb u(sterew which means to miss or to fail to reach, to be excluded from something, to come short of something, or to fall short. The present tense is a static present it represents a condition which perpetually exists in the human race. The middle voice is the indirect middle emphasizing the agent (the human race) as producing the action of the verb rather than participating in the results of the action.

The objective genitive doxa (δόξα) [pronounced DOHX-ah], “glory,” refers to the essence or attributes of God, plus the possessive genitive of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS—God possesses this glory. This ends the parenthesis begun in the previous verse.

A corrected translation not given for v. 23.

Verses 24-25, the mechanics of the dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] of God.

Romans 3:24 ...being justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus,...

Verse 24 – “Being justified freely by his grace.” The present passive participle of the verb dikaiōō (δικαίωω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh] means to treat as just, to justify, to vindicate, to make righteous, to validate. The present tense is a static present for a condition which perpetually exists after salvation. The passive voice: the believer at the moment he receives Christ as saviour actually receives this action—he receives God’s perfect righteousness, one half of divine integrity. The participle is circumstantial, qualifying the principle of salvation adjustment to the justice of God.

The adverb dōreán (δωρεάν) [pronounced do-reh-AHN] means gratuitously, without payment. The instrumental of means charis (χάρις) [pronounced KHAHR-ic] means “grace.” Plus the possessive genitive singular from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS] emphasizing who owns the integrity of God: it belongs to God.

Romans 3:24a Receiving justification^[7] without payment by his grace.

Doctrine of Justification (also lesson #139)

A. ETYMOLOGY.

1. The noun dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā or dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] means anything pertaining to the integrity of God, His righteousness or justice. When used for man it refers to imputed perfect righteousness.
2. The adjective dikaios (δικαίος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss] means "just," or "righteous." When used of God it refers to His integrity. When used of man it refers to his salvation adjustment to the justice of God, i.e., "a justified one."
3. The verb dikaiōō (δικαίωω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh] means:

- a. To be made righteous.
 - b. To have a relationship with the integrity of God, therefore, to justify, to vindicate, Rom 3:22.
4. The phrase dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā or dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] THEOU, "the righteousness of God," refers to various aspects of the integrity or thinking of God.
 5. The word dikaiōma (δικαίωμα) [pronounced dik-AH-yo-mah] means "righteousness." Rom 5:18.
- B. Definition of Dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā or dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] THEOU.
1. The "perfect righteousness of God" becomes the function of blessing from the justice of God to man. It begins at salvation.
 2. This function of divine blessing from the justice of God at salvation is called Dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā or dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] THEOU or the integrity of God, or Dikaiōô (δικαιόω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh] or justification, a judicial function of the justice of God.
 3. Justification means an act of vindication. This is a judicial act of vindication, because we are born under condemnation, being spiritually dead.
 4. Therefore, justification is an official judicial act which occurs every time anyone believes in Christ. The justice of God acts on our behalf pronouncing us justified, which means, having a relationship with God forever, having the perfect righteousness of God imputed to us.
 5. Justification means that God recognizes that He has given us His perfect righteousness. Therefore, this is technically called forensic justification. Justification is the judicial act by God, whereby He recognizes we have His perfect righteousness.
 6. The mechanics at salvation adjustment to the justice of God include three logistical steps.
 - a. Personal faith in Christ. The object of faith has all the merit. We are nothing till we have something of the integrity of God through maximum Bible doctrine in the soul.
 - b. The justice of God provides perfect righteousness to all who believe.
 - c. God judicially pronounces us justified, officially righteous.
 7. All of these steps occur simultaneously at the moment of faith. But there is a logistical sequence even in simultaneous things.
 8. Mankind can only be justified by the justice of God. This only happens when we possess what justice possesses: perfect righteousness.
 9. The justice of God guards the essence of God. Perfect righteousness guards justice. Justice cannot go wrong, because perfect righteousness is behind it. At salvation we receive God's perfect righteousness, and His justice must recognize that very same perfect righteousness which backs Him.
 10. God's perfect righteousness is the principle of His integrity. His justice is the function of His integrity. Always behind the function of God's justice is the principle of God's perfect righteousness. If God gives us perfect righteousness, the principle, at the point of faith, and He does, what can God's justice do with us now?

11. If you sin, you haven't changed your status with God. You are still justified. You still have perfect righteousness, and therefore eternal salvation. So you are justified forever. The justice of God can only judge sin with divine discipline. But if we rebound first, the justice of God can only forgive us.
 12. Until perfect righteousness is imputed there can be no justification. We can never be justified until we first receive perfect righteousness. No perfect righteousness imputed means no justification.
 13. All human categories of righteousness are excluded. God doesn't think much of your personality or self-righteousness. He isn't impressed with anything but His own perfect righteousness. God loves His perfect righteousness with an eternal love. Perfect righteousness is the only thing we have that counts with God. God is not impressed by our personalities and all this sweetness and light that we are spreading about, He is not.
 14. Justification is the possession of divine perfect righteousness imputed at salvation. Justification frees the justice of God to pronounce the fact we have His perfect righteousness. Now He is free to give you eternal life. So the Holy Spirit gives you seven things of the forty things you receive instantly at salvation.
 15. Justification is another way of describing salvation relationship with the integrity of God.
 16. Justification is not forgiveness. Forgiveness is subtraction, justification is addition by grace. Forgiveness subtracts sin, justification adds the perfect righteousness of God.
 17. Justification is the work of the integrity of God. Specifically it is the modus operandi of divine justice after imputation of divine perfect righteousness. At the point of faith in Christ, justification is the judicial act of God whereby the imputation of divine perfect righteousness is recognized as valid for vindication.
 18. Justification, then, is the completion of the believer's salvation adjustment to the justice of God. It is the consummation of the salvation work of God logistically.
- C. Justification is related to salvation adjustment to the justice of God in Rom 3:28, 5:1; Gal 3:24.
- D. Justification is related to the principle of grace, Rom 3:24; Tit 3:7. When justice functions in the field of blessing, it is always grace. Imputed perfect righteousness comes through grace, not human merit. The integrity of God provides everything integrity demands.
- E. Justification is not related to human works, Rom 3:20, 28; Gal 2:16.
- F. Mechanics of Justification, Gen 15:6 And he believed the JHWH, and He counted it to him as righteousness. God revealed Himself to Abraham, and he believed in Him. Hiphil perfect. When Abraham lived in the 3rd Dynasty of Ur. He was a Semitic Acadian. The verb to impute, to credit is châshab (כָּשַׁב) [pronounced khaw-SHAHBV]. Our credit with God is bad until we exercise faith in Him. Rom 3:22 That is, the righteousness which belongs to the integrity of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe (for there is no distinction [between Jews and gentiles]... Old and New Testament are in agreement here. Romans 4:4–5 But to the one working for salvation [that is the person who want adjustment to the justice of God by his own works] the wages are not credited according to grace but according to the principle of debt. The more that you work for salvation, the deeper in debt that you go. But believing ...his faith receives credit, resulting in righteousness. Romans 9:30–32 ...they did not pursue it by faith but by works.

1. From these passages it is obvious that the mechanics of justification involves on the part of man a non-meritorious function, believing, and on the part of God, the total work of Christ on the cross bearing sin, and God the Father judging those sins.
2. And when we believe, God must perform the added work of the imputation of perfect righteousness, so that by recognizing His perfect righteousness in us, He justifies us.
3. Rom 4:4-5, the person who works for salvation receives nothing from God because the justice of God is not free from grace to give him anything. Instead their works are credited to them as debt. Cf. Rom 9:30-32.

G. The judgment of sin frees the justice of God for the blessing of justification.

1. The justice of God guards the perfect righteousness of God by judging sin, so that there is no compromise in God's essence. Rom 4:25, the integrity of God is never free to bless man if there is compromise of God's essence. Jesus has been delivered over to judgment, on the basis of our salvation. The justice of God is key; if the justice of God is free to test. Paul's basic thesis that the justice of God had to judge our sins on the cross so that the justice of God is free to justify us. God is only impressed with His integrity. We have half of God's integrity at salvation. We spend our lives getting that other half. God puts His integrity before His love. God's motto is justice before love. There is an application to this in human love. The greatest lovers put justice before love. Integrity comes before love. God the Father judged the One He had loved from eternity past. The agony of the judgment is revealed when Jesus cried out, "My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?" Jesus screamed this. This was the scream of intense agony. This is what it took for us to have a relationship with God without payment (from us). And our point of contact is the justice of God. Justification is the total word. Salvation is the deliverance; and there is also blessing. Justification and the blood of Christ.
2. By judging sin, the justice of God is free to bless man with salvation. If the justice of God cannot bless you at salvation, then there is no God, no blessing from God. Salvation in the Bible means justification, because it reveals the Source, the mechanics and grace. God did all the work by imputing perfect righteousness to us. Romans 4:25 Jesus has been raised up from the dead because of our justification. No possible resurrection until everything was complete.

3. Christ was "raised up from the dead because of our justification." There was no resurrection until God had done everything necessary to provide justification.
4. Rom 5:8-9. Christ died spiritually for us. Physical death is dying for yourself. Justification is the word that emphasizes the total integrity of God. "Blood" is the word that emphasizes the total work of Christ. Romans 5:8–9 God demonstrates His love for us in that He died for our sins. Jesus could die physically only for Himself. Bearing our sins He was our substitute and this was completed before He died physically. The first act of the sin nature was an act of human good. The sewing of the fig leaves. We have to distinguish between spiritual and physical death. Substitutionary spiritual death.
5. Justification is the word describing the integrity of God in providing a relationship between man and God. "Blood" refers to redemption (manward side), propitiation (Godward side), and reconciliation (sin-ward side) as parts of salvation. There is no place for human good or works like walking the aisle and crying great tears of repentance. None of these things have anything to do with salvation. We will be delivered from wrath through Him.
6. Justice is never free to bless unless justice can keep the whole Essence of God from compromise.
 - a. The justice of God is the second half of the integrity of God, the functioning half. Perfect righteousness, the other half, is the principle part of divine essence. You must have the principle from which there is function.
 - b. The justice of God is never free to bless man if any part of the essence of God is compromised. So the objective is no compromise for the essence of God.
 - c. The judgment of sin frees the justice of God for the blessing of justification, Rom 4:25. The cross was the place Christ was delivered over for judgment. Justice judged sin. Paul's basic thesis is that the justice of God had to judge our sins on the cross before the justice of God is free to bless us with salvation.
 - d. We, as believers, have one-half of the integrity of God in the imputation of perfect righteousness. But getting the other half (by reaching maturity) is the hard part.
 - e. In God's relationship with man, love is not the issue. The cross set-up the issue. Our first contact with the essence of God is with His justice, not His love. And where creatures are concerned, God always places His integrity before His love.
 - f. God the Father always loved His Son in Hypostatic Union. Yet even though His love for the Son was total and maximum, there was something more important than love: the justice of God. Why?

Because justice is the operational part of divine integrity. Therefore, divine love was set aside.

- g. Always where God is related to man justice comes before love. In the human realm, great lovers always have integrity behind their love.
- h. The total word for our relationship with God is justification, because justification reveals and describes the Source of salvation.
 - (1) God the Father did the judging.
 - (2) God the Son received the judgment.
 - (3) God the Holy Spirit reveals the judgment.
- i. Included in salvation are redemption, reconciliation, and propitiation, which are partial words summarizing the full words justification and blood of Christ.

H. Justification is related to ultimate sanctification.

- 1. Because the justice of God must judge sin before it is free to bless man, and because this work of justification was accomplished through the work of the cross, Christ has been resurrected from the dead (Romans 4:25) and this links justification with the strategic victory of Christ.
- 2. Resurrection is the link between the victory of the integrity of God opening the way for the justice of God to bless us and the strategic victory of the angelic conflict, Rom 4:25.
- 3. Hence, justification is related to ultimate sanctification. Rom 8:29-30 (For those whom he foreknew, even these he marked out beforehand to be of a form the same as that of the image of his son, that he might be a first born among many brethren. And those whom he marked out beforehand he actually called, and those whom he called, even these he acquitted, and those whom he acquitted even these he glorified.), "And whom He justified, these he also glorified." The integrity of God saves us and carries us all the way to glory. God's perfect righteousness is a down payment on ultimate sanctification. It is God's integrity guaranteeing you a resurrection body.

I. Maturity adjustment to the justice of God results in vindication by production.

- 1. We have production when we reach maturity, Mt 11:18-19. John the Baptist was slandered by the Pharisees because of his ascetic lifestyle. Also Christ's capacity for life is slandered. "Yet wisdom is justified by her deeds." Matthew 11:18–19 "For John came, abstaining from meat and drink, and they say he hath a demon. The Son of Man came eating and drinking; and they say, Behold a gluttonous man and a wine drinker; a friend of tax collectors and prostitutes. But wisdom [maximum doctrine in the soul] is justified by her children [that is, by her deeds, production]." John was purely ascetic and the pharisees claimed that he had a demon. John was pretty tough on the pharisees. He lived on grasshoppers and honey. No alcoholic beverage to wash down the grasshoppers. His asceticism was not the basis for his spirituality. Jesus had a much different lifestyle. He drank wine and He ate good food. So the pharisees complained that Jesus imbibed. Both men were slandered, but for opposite reasons. It is easy to malign and judge someone else.

2. The production of John and our Lord set aside any reality of this slander. Production is the means of justifying and therefore neutralizing the slander.
3. Luke 7:33–35 “For John the baptist came neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and you say, He hath a demon. The son of man came eating and drinking; and you say, Behold a gluttonous man and a wine bibber; a friend of publicans and sinners. But wisdom is justified by all her children.” “But wisdom is justified by all her children.” A synonym for production. There are different types of production.
4. James 2:21-26 Was not Abraham, our father, justified by works when he offered up his son Isaac on the altar? Thou seest that his belief co-operated with his works, and by his works his belief was perfected. And the scripture was fulfilled, which saith, "Abraham believed God and it was reckoned to him for righteousness;" and he was called the friend of God. You see then that a man is justified by works, and not by belief only. In like manner also, was not Rahab the harlot justified by works, having secreted the messengers, and sent them out another way? For as the body without air (spirit) is dead, so belief without works is dead also. The offering of Isaac was the production of an ultra-supergrace believer. Abraham did it as a result of maximum Bible doctrine in the soul. Justification by works is production from maximum Bible doctrine in the soul. Production is the follow through of maximum Bible doctrine in the soul. Production is the manifestation of maturity adjustment to the justice of God.

c 1989, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

5/8/77; 6/27/77

1977 Romans

Lesson #98

98 05/09/1977 Romans 3:24a; via Gen. 15:6; Matthew 11:18–19 Doctrine of justification (cont.); total words for salvation

The doctrine of justification will be continued above. We go back to point 6, which is Genesis 15:6.

The mechanics of justification, Genesis 15:6—“Now he [Abraham] had believed,” the hiphil perfect of the verb amen. The hiphil stem is causative active voice and it indicates the fact that while we do not know the details, and while there was no written canon of scripture, Abraham had been positive at the point of God-consciousness and express Positive volition at the point of gospel hearing. It is important to recognize that positive volition at God-consciousness gives the responsibility to God to reveal the gospel. With Abraham this was before the Old Testament was written, and God accepted the responsibility of revealing Himself, the fact that there would be a saviour, so that the hiphil stem says

Abraham was motivated to believe in Jesus Christ as He was revealed in Old Testament times. We do not know the details of how the gospel was revealed, simply that Abraham had believed. The perfect tense is a completed action. He had believed “in Jehovah” [Jesus Christ], which is the preposition be plus Jehovah. Result: “and he [God the Father] had imputed it” – qal imperfect of chashab which means to credit to someone’s account, to impute, to provide credit—“to him for righteousness”: the noun tsedaqah which is exactly the same as dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay].

A foundation is being laid in chapters 1–5 in order to get to chapter 6, which Bob has never seen correctly put together. It is imperative that we slug it out, line upon line, precept upon precept.

Virtually all of the notes for this lesson are in the doctrine of justification found in the previous lesson.

1977 Romans

Lesson #99

99 05/10/1977 Romans 3:24b Doctrine of grace (1–4) re Romans; hypocrisy; power

Man never works for or earns anything from God. Grace is the only system which God uses. We define grace by concept: “Grace is all that God is free to do for mankind based upon Jesus and the cross.” Whatever impresses people does not impress God.

I could not find a Doctrine of Grace which corresponded exactly with this lesson.

The Doctrine of Grace

The plan of God, operation grace, was provided for man before man was created. Therefore man cannot earn and cannot deserve this grace. Under grace God does the work and man is only the beneficiary. Under supergrace God does the pursuing and man does the benefiting.

1. Grace is all that God is free to do for man on the basis of the cross. God is free to express His love through grace and He does this without jeopardising His essence. No one can truly give apart from freedom and God gives out of total freedom because of the cross to us. Grace is the work and the plan of God on behalf of man beginning at the cross. It is God's plan and God's policy for mankind. It is a plan, a policy, a function, a mechanic, a divine modus operandi, a divine modus vivendi.
2. Under the principle of concept grace depends upon the essence of God, therefore grace depends on who and what God is. Grace is what God can do for man and still be consistent with His own character.
3. The believer must sort out the difference between grace and legalism. Legalism is man's ability and works intruding upon the plan of God. Man's works cannot coexist with God's works. Such an implied coexistence is blasphemy. Grace excludes human works.
4. Grace, sanctification, and the angelic conflict all meet in the plan of God. The greatest thing God can do for a believer is to make him exactly like His Son, Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the only celebrity of the Church Age. Ultimately it is the objective of God's plan to make everyone like His Son. Man was created to, resolve the angelic conflict and since man was given free will it is inevitable that he would fail. Adam through his free will sinned. Jesus Christ had to become a human being and not an angel in order to resolve the angelic conflict - Hebrews 2;14-16. In other words, the first Adam lost the victory through the fall and the last Adam wins the victory through the cross - Colossians 2:14. Grace found a way to take man created inferior to angels and make him superior, and this is accomplished in all three stages of the plan of God for mankind.

- a. Stage one is positional sanctification in which the believer enters into union with the glorified Jesus Christ. Christ is seated at the right hand of the Father, this is an application of current positional truth. Every believer is in union with the Lord Jesus Christ therefore believers are positionally higher than angels. When Christ was seated at the right hand of the Father in His humanity He is higher than angels, we are in union with the God-Man, Jesus Christ, and we are now positionally superior to angels.
 - b. Stage two is our life on this earth and under the construction of the edification complex of the soul and the entrance into the supergrace life it is possible for our experience to represent in an effective way what was provided for us at the point of salvation. In other words, the supergrace life is the only normal Christian life which expresses the priesthood of the believer. Believers who do not grow up never live the normal Christian life. So stage two is designed through grace whereby God can take a believer living in the devil's world in the intensified stage of the angelic conflict and make it possible for this individual to adequately represent the Lord Jesus Christ.
 - c. Stage three is comparable to phase three in which the believer receives a resurrection body exactly like that of the Son of God, minus the old sin nature, minus human good. As a result he is exactly like the Son of God fulfilling Philippians 3:21, and this is the ultimate.
5. Every believer has tasted the grace of God at least once - Hebrews 6:4; 1Peter 2:3. At the moment of salvation every believer receives from God 36 things and he never loses these things. This grace package of salvation cannot be cancelled or destroyed either by God Himself, by angels, or by mankind. Among the 36 things received by grace at salvation we have the principle of propitiation in 1John 2:2 whereby the believer regardless of spiritual status is always under maximum love from God. But grace can only find a place to lodge where there is capacity for grace and capacity for grace only comes through the supergrace life.
 6. The occupational hazard for believers is disorientation to grace in the field of reversionism. Under these conditions, in Galatians 5:4, reversionism is called "falling from grace," and in Hebrews 12:15 it is called "missing grace." So reversionism is a great danger after one has erected and EDIFICATION COMPLEX STRUCTURE.
 7. The divine attitude in grace: God is constantly waiting to pour out His grace to every believer in phase two - Isaiah 30:18,19.

8. Grace in phase two is found in such passages as Psalm 103:8-12; Romans 3:23,24; 4:4; 5:20; Ephesians 2:8,9; Hebrews 2:9.
9. Grace in phase two is the believer in time.
 - a. The prayer of the supergrace life - Hebrews 4:16. You will use prayer to the maximum once you enter the supergrace life.
 - b. Grace is suffering - 2 Corinthians 12:9,10. Supergrace suffering is designed for greatest possible blessing.
 - c. Grace in growth - 2Peter 3:18.
 - d. Grace in stability in phase two - 1Peter 5:12; Hebrews 13:9.
 - e. Grace as the modus vivendi - 2 Corinthians 1:2; Hebrews 12:28.
 - f. Grace in the production of divine good - 1 Corinthians 15:10; 2 Corinthians 6:1.
10. Grace and giving - 2 Corinthians 8:9; Philippians 4:14-18. Grace orientation is the bona fide motivation for the thought pattern involved in giving.
11. Grace in suffering - 2 Corinthians 12:7-10.
12. Some axioms concerning grace.
 - a. God is perfect; His plan is perfect.
 - b. A perfect plan can only originate and function from a perfect God.
 - c. If man can do anything meritorious in the plan of God it is no longer perfect.
 - d. A plan is no stronger than its weakest link. For this reason grace excludes all human merit, all human ability. Grace also excludes any form of human good.
 - e. Legalism and human good is always the enemy of grace.
 - f. Therefore works of human righteousness have no place in the plan of God.
 - g. All human good is associated with the greatest mental attitude sin of pride. Reversionism is characterised by pride, jealousy, and other mental attitude sins.
13. There are four areas of pride which reject God's grace. This explains Satan's pride, human pride, why pride is the worst and most devastating of mental attitude sins.
 - a. The pride of the believer who rejects the doctrine of eternal security. To say that you can commit a sin that is greater than the plan of God is blasphemous. Hebrews 12:28.
 - b. The pride of the believer who succumbs to pressure and adversity. He thinks his pressure and suffering is greater than the grace provision of God - 2 Corinthians 12:8-10.
 - c. The pride of pseudo spirituality, the believer who thinks his human systems of spirituality are greater than the ministry of God the Holy Spirit. These systems usually include some system of personality imitation, observation of taboos, confusing the means and the result, assuming that witnessing to 10 people a day is the filling of the Spirit whereas in reality the filling of the Spirit results in effective witnessing, relativity which says in affect "My sins are more refined than your sin, therefore when I compare myself with you I'm spiritual and you are carnal," the operation of the holy roller who thinks that their pseudo tongues somehow has spiritual content.

- d. The pride of the believer in emotional revolt of the soul who assumes that his feelings and his emotions and his experiences are more important than Bible doctrine - 2 Corinthians 6:11,12.
14. Grace is related to the divine assets of John 1:12,16,17; 1 Corinthians 1:4,5; Ephesians 1:6,7.
15. The principle of supergrace is taught in James 4:6 were it is called "greater grace."
- a. The supergrace of the Lord Jesus Christ - John 1:14,16,17.
 - b. The supergrace of the believer in phase two - Philippians 4; James 4; Ephesians 3:19,20, 2 Corinthians 12:8-10.
 - c. Notice a progression of grace in our context. In Ephesians 1:6 we have "his grace." In verse 7, "the riches of his grace." In 2:7, "the exceeding riches of his grace." There is a principle involved here. Once grace starts pursuing you you go from grace to the riches of His grace to the exceeding riches of His grace.

(Additional commentary given while giving the doctrine of grace:)

We impress people with our looks, our body, our personality; but none of this impresses God. God is impressed with Himself; He is not impressed with us. But when we have God's justice in our souls, then God is impressed with us.

Grace is the standardized procedure by which we receive blessing from the justice of God. We have it; we don't work for it and we don't deserve it.

God's work was the most distasteful of all. He judged His Son; and nothing could be more distasteful than to judge His Own Son.

Cliches are sloppy; they are oversimplifications at best. All the Godhead was involved in the provision of our salvation. We have nothing that impresses God except what God has given us.

In Beverly Hills, everyone man dressed up looked the same. But, to stand out, you plastered diamonds and emeralds and rubies all over their woman. Bob recalls on man whose wife was classified as very, very ugly. She was a leftover from some horror story. He did not love his wife. The only way that she could wear anything that impressed him was the latest thing from Tiffany's. He did not like her, did not love her; but he still dressed her up with a ton of precious gems.

We are the ugly one. Totally unattractive to God. And the only thing that impresses God is what He has given us.

We receive our righteousness from God. So many people think that they are pleasing God with their personality. What we need to do is understand how the justice of God works and how the grace of God works. God gives blessings only on the principle of grace. There never will be anyone who can earn anything from God.

There is the example of Marti gras and lent; and we behave for a number of days to impress God. That is superstition. There is no deal with God.

“Alight, God, I am being good; now where is my present?”

Worse thing that you can do is bribe kids. Giving to a child on the basis of merit or reward them for good behavior. Worse thing you can do. Should be play hide the monster. Worse thing in the world is to try to play games with God and you should not play games with God. Grace is the standard operating procedure in blessing you.

We can learn what is acceptable in any church and follow that, but that does not impress God in the least. We have a revised doctrine of propitiation coming up in the next few nights. Through redemption is what we will study tomorrow.

1977 Romans

Lesson #100

100 05/11/1977 Romans 3:24c–25a Doctrines of redemption (review) and propitiation (revised)

5 or 6 more Fx hookups. He expects 45 or 50 by the end of the year. Prep school is not a part of this.

The giving of blessing from divine justice. Whenever we are blessed from the justice of God, the blessing is based upon the principle of grace.

We do not have contact with any attributes of God directly with any of His characteristics. We are in contact to God through His integrity. Either we adjust to the justice of God or the justice of God adjusts to us. The first adjustment is faith in Jesus Christ.

Romans 3:24 ...being justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus,...

“through redemption” – dia plus the genitive of apolutrôsis (ἀπολύτρωσις) [pronounced ap-ol-OO-troh-sis] [dia plus the accusative: because of; dia plus the genitive: through, and sometimes by], “through the redemption.” Apolutrôsis (ἀπολύτρωσις) [pronounced ap-ol-OO-troh-sis] means to buy back slaves or captives, to free by paying a ransom for a slave or a captive.^[8]

A story about Cæsar being captured and monies were to be paid for him, for a ransom. Took about 2-3 months to get the money together. The people there really got to like Cæsar and they threw a party for him the last night he was there. He toasted them, and to their short lives, as he said he would return and kill them all...which he did.

The Doctrine which follows came from NB2; and there is a lot more here than is taught by Bob during this lesson. The same concepts are found below, but in a far different order and not grouped at all in the same way.

Doctrine of Redemption

A. Definition and Description.

1. In the doctrine of soteriology, there are three key concepts: redemption, reconciliation, and propitiation. The phrase "the blood of Christ" applies to all three doctrines.
 - a. Redemption is toward sin. There are three theological words that actually describe this concept: redemption, expiation, and unlimited atonement. These always deal with sin as a problem in our relationship with God.
 - b. Reconciliation is always directed toward mankind. Man is reconciled to God by the death of His Son.
 - c. Propitiation is directed toward God, meaning that the justice of God the Father is satisfied with the work of Christ on the cross.
2. So redemption emphasizes the fact that we are sinners, not only by choice or volition, but long before that we were sinners at the point of birth. For we had to be condemned before we could be saved.
 - a. When human life was imputed to our human soul at the point of physical birth, it was necessary that God also impute to our genetically formed old sin nature Adam's original sin. Adam's original sin is the origin of the old sin nature which we each possess in the cell structure of our body.
 - b. When Adam's original sin is imputed to our old sin nature at birth, it is a demonstration of the fantastic grace and wisdom of God. For while we were born physically alive, we were born spiritually dead at the same time, and therefore we came under condemnation from God. Condemnation must precede salvation.
 - c. This means that for those in the human race who never reach the point of accountability, they are automatically saved since they were condemned at birth. This includes those who die at childbirth, those who die before reaching accountability, and those who never reach accountability because of some sort of mental deficiency (mongoloids, idiots).
3. Redemption is viewed from the standpoint of a ransom paid on the cross for our salvation.
4. Redemption views mankind as born into the slave market of sin through the imputation of Adam's original sin at birth.
5. Redemption is the saving work of Christ on the cross by which He purchases our freedom or salvation.
6. The coin of the realm for this purchase is called the "blood of Christ," Eph 1:7; Col 1:14.

B.

Jesus Christ is the only qualified redeemer. In order to become our redeemer, Christ had to become a member of the human race. He could not save us as God. Because whoever is the redeemer must be judged for the sins of the world.

1. We are born into the slave market of sin at birth.
 - a. Adam's original sin is the origin of the old sin nature in the human race, Rom 5:12. Therefore, there is an affinity between Adam's original sin and the old sin nature. It is Adam's original sin that is the antecedence for the old nature, not the woman's original sin, since Adam's sin was deliberate; the woman was deceived. Therefore, the old sin nature is transmitted through the twenty-three male chromosomes which fertilize the female ovum in copulation.
 - b. This imputation of Adam's original sin to the old sin nature is a facsimile of Adam at the point of his fall in the garden. In this real imputation at birth, there are two factors.
 - (1) Factor 1: Adam's original sin.
 - (2) Factor 2: Old sin nature.
 - c. The imputation of Adam's sin at birth is the basis for spiritual death. Rom 5:12, "For as by one man sin entered into world and death by sin, so death passed upon all men, for all have sinned." Rom 6:23, "The wages of sin [the old sin nature] is [spiritual] death." This verse is based upon the context of Rom 5:12ff. The wages of sin are not your personal sins but Adam's original sin imputed to you at birth.
 - d. No one is condemned on the basis of his personal sins, for all personal sins are collected into one prom (free will of man) chip in the computer of divine decrees in eternity past. None of them are ever imputed to us for judgment.
 - e. So none of us are condemned on the basis of our personal sins. It is Adam's original sin imputed to the genetically-formed old sin nature that is "the wages of sin."
 - f. All our personal sins were held until our Lord Jesus Christ reached the cross in a state of impeccability. They were imputed to His humanity, not His deity. For deity can have nothing to do with sin, cannot sponsor sin, cannot tempt to sin; deity cannot sin. The thought is unthinkable and blasphemous. So it was at the cross when all personal sins, from Adam's original sin to the last sin committed in the Millennium were imputed to Christ and judged.
 - g. This was why our Lord said in Psalm 22, "I am a worm." The type of worm mentioned was that type which was collected, put into a bowl, and crushed. The blood of such worms was used to make the crimson dye for the robes of kings in the ancient world. So by analogy, because our sins were imputed to Christ on the cross, we can believe in Him and receive the robe of divine righteousness at the moment of salvation.

- h. The non-imputation of personal sins to the individual reserves those sins for imputation to Christ on the cross. Therefore, personal sins are not the basis for our spiritual death.
 - i. However, personal sins are one of three manifestations of our possession of an old sin nature. The other two manifestations are human good and evil.
 - j. So we are born simultaneously physically alive and spiritually dead. All the cells in your body are contaminated by the old sin nature. (Cancer is a good illustration of the old sin nature).
 - k. Through meiosis and polar body, twenty-three chromosomes are thrown off the female ovum, leaving twenty-three uncontaminated chromosomes in the female ovum prior to fertilization. All the other cells in the female body are contaminated by the old sin nature. The ovum prior to fertilization is the only exception.
 - l. Although both the man and the woman in the garden were equally guilty, the woman's sin of ignorance was the reason she became the bearer of the embryo, 1 Tim 2:13-15. While both man and woman are carriers of the old sin nature, only the man can transmit the old sin nature through the fertilization of the female ovum.
2. Our Lord's virgin birth began His qualification as our redeemer.
- a. Since it is only the male's twenty-three chromosomes that carry the old sin nature and not the female's, this means that if a woman could have a virgin pregnancy, i.e., if her ovum could be fertilized apart from male copulation, the progeny could be born into the world without an old sin nature. Being born without an old sin nature, Adam's original sin could not be imputed to that person, there being no affinity required for this real imputation.
 - b. This was the case in the birth of the humanity of Christ, originating from Mary's virgin pregnancy and virgin birth. Being born without an old sin nature meant there was no imputation of Adam's original sin to our Lord.
 - c. This was how our Lord was born as the last Adam. The first Adam was created perfect; the last Adam, Jesus Christ, was born perfect. So Jesus Christ was the facsimile of Adam before the fall.
 - d. Mary, with an old sin nature, was still a virgin when she became pregnant for the first time with our Lord. In Mt 13:55 and Mk 6:3, Mary's other children are mentioned, so we know she eventually copulated with Joseph. She had at least two daughters and four sons, at least six children by Joseph. So there is no such thing as the perpetual virginity of Mary.
 - e. Mary's virgin pregnancy was caused by God the Holy Spirit fertilizing the female ovum. He provided twenty-three perfect chromosomes to fertilize her twenty-three perfect chromosomes which were uncontaminated by the old sin nature. In this way, Mary had a virgin pregnancy, PARTHENOGENESIS, which was the origin of our Lord's humanity into the world. So the virgin pregnancy resulted in the virgin birth, thus excluding the old sin nature from the humanity of Christ.

- f. Remember that while Mary was a virgin, she was not perfect or impeccable. Only the virgin-born Son, Jesus, was absolutely perfect at birth.
 - g. Mary received at birth the imputation of human life to her soul and the imputation of Adam's original sin to her old sin nature; so she was not perfect. But in the case of her Son, Jesus, God the Father imputed human life to his human soul, but divine justice could not impute Adam's original sin since there was no target, no home, no antecedence, no affinity, there being no genetically-formed old sin nature.
 - h. No old sin nature means no imputation of Adam's original sin. For a real imputation cannot occur without a home or a target, without affinity or antecedence.
 - i. So the virgin birth is the basis for redemption, because it provided the world with a perfect human being, the only One qualified to be judged for the sins of the world.
3. The Contrast Between Our Birth and Our Lord's Birth.
- a. Human life is, in each case, created by God and imputed to each person at birth. There is no life in the womb. There is only life when God imputes it to the human soul
 - b. Simultaneously, Adam's original sin is imputed to the old sin nature, genetically-formed by the twenty-three male chromosomes. Our personal sins are never imputed to us. They were all collected into one prom chip for a one-time only printout and judgment to Christ on the cross.
 - c. At the birth of our Lord Jesus Christ, God the Father created human life and imputed it to His human soul. But because our Lord was born without an old sin nature, there could be no imputation of Adam's original sin. So our Lord was born physically alive and spiritually alive.
 - d. Instead of an old sin nature, our Lord was born with a human spirit, born as Adam was created. And instead of receiving the imputation of Adam's original sin, our Lord received the imputation of the prototype divine dynasphere imputed to His human spirit. So in His humanity, our Lord was born filled with the Holy Spirit. He was born trichotomous with a body, soul and spirit.
4. The impeccability of our Lord retained His redeemer qualification.
- a. All the doctrines that teach how our Lord was sustained on earth in His humanity all relate to the fact that He was born into the prototype divine dynasphere, the place of the filling of the Spirit.
 - b. His humanity advanced very rapidly. Jesus "grew in wisdom [Bible doctrine], stature, and in favor with God and man," Lk 2:52. He quickly reached gate #5 and spiritual self-esteem from personal love for God; then gate #6 with spiritual autonomy and impersonal love for all mankind, and eventually reached gate #8, spiritual maturity. This was evident by the unique temptations of His evidence testing found in Matthew 4.

- c. So after being born perfect, our Jesus Christ continued to live perfectly for thirty-three years in the prototype divine dynasphere. Not once did He ever sin. He was tempted far beyond anything we will ever understand, yet totally apart from sin. He resisted temptations that we will never even experience. As a result, He reached the cross in a state of impeccability. Isa 53:9; Jn 8:46, 19:4; 2 Cor 5:21; Heb 1:3; Heb 4:15, 7:26,28; 1 Tim 3:16; 1Peter 1:18-19.
5. The Hypostatic Union of the God-Man.
- a. This Doctrine of Redemption cannot be taught without an understanding of the doctrine of the Hypostatic Union.
 - b. Jesus Christ is God, and as God He is coequal and coeternal with God the Father and God the Holy Spirit. All three members of the Trinity have identical essence. When speaking of the attributes of God, God is said to be one. But there are actually three persons in the Godhead, all having identical attributes. Each One has coequal, coeternal, and coinfinite sovereignty, holiness, justice, righteousness, love, eternal life, omniscience, omnipresence, omnipotence, immutability and veracity. So God is one in essence but three in persons.
 - c. But Jesus Christ became different from the Father and the Holy Spirit at the point of the virgin birth, becoming true humanity and hence the God-man. This is the doctrine of the Hypostatic Union.
 - d. In the person of the incarnate Christ are two natures, inseparably united, without mixture or loss of separate identity, without loss or transfer of properties or attributes, the union being both personal and eternal.
 - e. In other words, since the incarnation, our Lord Jesus Christ is both true humanity and undiminished deity in one person forever. So Jesus Christ is different from the Father and the Spirit in that He is true humanity. He is different from true humanity in that He is God.
 - f. But note: whoever is the mediator between God and man must be equal with both parties. Jesus Christ is both God and true humanity. Therefore, as God He is equal with party of the first part, God the Father. As true humanity, He is equal and superior to all members of the human race. So as the God-man, He becomes the mediator between God and man.
 - g. The preincarnate person of Christ was deity. But once His First Advent occurred at the point of the virgin birth, Jesus Christ became the unique person forever, the God-man.

6. The true doctrine of kenosis relates to redemption.

- a. Jn 1:1-3 is a description of the deity of Christ. Jn 1:14 teaches the humanity of Christ, "The LOGOS [deity] became flesh and tabernacled among us, and we beheld His glory as the uniquely-born from the Father, full of grace and doctrine." So the Hypostatic Union is taught in Phil 2:5-6, Jn 1:1-3 and 14.
- b. Rom 1:3-5, "Concerning His Son who was born of the seed of David according to the flesh, who has been demonstrated the Son of God by means of power according to the Holy Spirit because of the resurrection from the dead, Jesus Christ our Lord, through whom we have received grace and apostleship." Again we see mentioned both His deity and His humanity. This also occurs in 1 Tim 3:16; Heb 2:14.
- c. Phil 2:5-11 gives the entire story. Verses 5-9, "Keep on thinking this doctrine within you which was also in Christ Jesus, who though He existed in the essence of God, He did not think equality with God a gain to be seized and held, but He deprived Himself [kenosis] of the proper function of deity when He had received the form of a servant, although He had been born in the likeness of mankind. In fact, although having been discovered in outward appearance as a man, He humbled Himself by becoming obedient to death, even the death of the cross. Therefore also, God the Father has exalted Him and given Him a title which is above every title and every rank [third royal patent]."
- d. The incarnate person of Christ is both deity and true humanity, both united in one person without any transfer of attributes. The attributes always adhere to their corresponding natures.
- e. The essence of His deity cannot be changed. "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever," Heb 13:8. The infinite cannot be transferred to the finite. To take from God a single attribute of His deity would destroy His deity. To take from the humanity of Jesus a single attribute of His humanity would destroy His true humanity. So no attribute of divine essence was changed by the incarnation.
- f. But in fulfilling the Father's plan for the First Advent, certain attributes of our Lord's deity were not used. However, this does not imply that they were either surrendered or destroyed (as alleged in the false doctrine of kenosis).
- g. In the true doctrine of kenosis, Christ voluntarily took upon himself the form of mankind to redeem man from sin, to reconcile man to God, and to propitiate God the Father.
- h. In completing the mission of the First Advent, Christ did not exercise His divine attributes to either benefit Himself or to provide for Himself or to glorify Himself.
- i. Therefore, the union of the divine essence and the human nature in the incarnate Christ must be considered hypostatic and personal.

C. The Mental Attitude of Christ as Redeemer.

1. The mental attitude of Christ as redeemer is very important. It is one thing to be qualified to be our redeemer, being impeccable. It is another thing to be willing to be our redeemer! Yet Jesus Christ was willing to redeem mankind. The redemptive act of Christ was an act of His own free will.
2. Our Lord's mental attitude is taught in Phil 2:5-8. "Keep on thinking this doctrine within you which was also resident in Christ Jesus, who though He existed in the essence of God [deity], He did not think equality with God a gain to be seized and held, . . . but He humbled Himself and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross."
3. From His own sovereignty, our Lord's deity was willing to submit to the incarnation in eternity past, Heb 9:14. 4. In time, our Lord's humanity was willing to go to the cross every day of His thirty-three years on earth. He was obedient to the Father's plan, Rom 5:19. Lk 22:42 was spoken from His humanity as He anticipated the intensity of the agony of bearing our sins and being judged for all of them. So in time, His human volition had to coincide with His divine sovereignty.

D. The Significance of Redemption in the Angelic Conflict.

1. While Jesus Christ was the Angel of Jehovah in the Old Testament, He never really became an angel; He simply appeared as an angel. (See the Doctrine of Theophanies.)
2. Note that Jesus Christ bypassed the angelic creation by His human birth. He became true humanity. Jesus Christ was never a true angel.
3. Once the Lord came in the flesh in the incarnation, there were no more manifestations of the Angel of Jehovah.
4. In bypassing the angelic creation, God did a remarkable thing. He prepared the way in eternity for every believer in Jesus Christ to be superior to angels in his resurrection body. Angels are superior to us now during history, but we will be superior to them for all eternity. This is the subject of Heb 1 and 2.

E. The Necessity for Christ Becoming a Member of the Human Race.

1. To be our Savior. As God, Jesus Christ could have nothing to do with sin. To provide redemption, the sins of the world had to be imputed to Christ on the cross. Then from His justice, God the Father judged every one of those sins. That's the basis for our so-great salvation. Without becoming true humanity, Jesus could not have been judged for sin.
2. To be our Mediator, 1 Tim 2:5-6; Heb 9:14-15.
3. To be our High Priest. Now seated at the right hand of the Father in His humanity, Jesus Christ as our great high priest now makes intercession for us. He is not a Levitical priest as the Jews had in the Old Testament, but with His third royal patent He became a royal priest. Now, being His royal family in the Church Age and sharing all He has by positional sanctification, each Church Age believer is a royal priest. A priest is defined as a member of the human race representing himself or humanity in general before God. We, the royal family in the Church Age, are a "kingdom of priests," 1Peter 2:9.

4. To become the Son of David, 2 Sam 7:8-16; Psalm 89:20-37. Over 3000 years ago, God promised David that he would have a son who would reign forever, 2 Sam 7; Psalm 89. This promise was made in the form of an unconditional covenant. Being unconditional it must be fulfilled. So at the First Advent of the virgin birth, our Lord receives His second royal title, "Son of David." In order to become the Son of David, Jesus Christ had to become true humanity. In His Second Advent our Lord will fulfill that promise to David. The humanity of Christ, riding a white horse, will come back and reign on earth, not only for the 1000 years of the Millennium, but for all eternity in the new earth.

5. So the promise was offered in the First Advent; it is fulfilled in the Second Advent. When the apostles dealt with the Jews after the Day of Pentecost in the early part of Acts, they always brought up the question: how can Jesus Christ be the Son of David and at the same time God? Of course, the answer is found in the Hypostatic Union, which in turn leads to the concept of redemption.

F. Redemption was taught in the Old Testament.

1. The doctrine of Redemption was taught by means of animal blood in the Old Testament. Heb 9:22, "And according to the standard of the law, nearly all things were cleansed with animal blood, and without the pouring out of blood there is no forgiveness."
2. Old Testament believers like Job applied the doctrines of Redemption and Resurrection to their circumstances. Job 19:25, "I know that My Redeemer lives, and that He shall stand in the latter day upon the earth." In recalling redemption, he was looking at the spiritual death of Christ on the cross; in recalling resurrection, he was looking at the somatic or physical death of Christ on the cross which anticipated his resurrection.
3. David said in Psalm 34:22, "The Lord redeems the soul of His servants." It is the soul of the believer which is redeemed at salvation, not the body; otherwise we would never die physically.

G. The blood of Christ is the ransom or price for redemption.

1. The blood of Christ is the coin of the realm. Eph 1:7, "By whom we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness (cancellation) of sins according to the riches of His grace."
2. Col 1:14, "In whom we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness (cancellation) of sins."
3. 1Peter 1:18-19, "We have not been redeemed with corruptible things, such as silver and gold, from our empty manner of life, but with the precious blood of Jesus Christ, a lamb without spot and without blemish."
4. The blood of Christ depicts, by analogy, the saving work of Christ on the cross, 2 Cor 5:21; 1Peter 2:24. It also depicts unlimited atonement and reconciliation.

H. Redemption removes the condemnation of the Mosaic Law.

1. Galatians 3:13, "Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the law, having become a curse for us. For it stands written [Deut 21:23], 'Cursed is everyone who hangs on the wood.'" Galatians 3:10

2. In Gal 4:5-6, redemption from the condemnation of the law results in the Biblical doctrine of adoption.

I. Redemption is related to mediatorship.

1. Heb 9:14-15, "How much more shall the blood of Christ who, through the instrumentality of His eternal spirit, offered Himself without blemish to God, to purify by an expiatory offering our conscience from dead works to serve the living God? And because of this, by means of a new covenant, He is a mediator, a death having occurred for the purpose of redemption of the transgressions against the first covenant. He is a mediator in order that they [royal family], having been called, may take into their possession the promise of eternal inheritance."

2. 1 Tim 2:5-6, "For there is one God [in essence], and one mediator between God and man, the unique man Christ Jesus, who gave Himself a redemptive ransom for all . . ."

3. A mediator must be equal with both parties. Party of the first part is God with perfect divine essence. Party of the second part is mankind. Jesus Christ as the mediator is equal with both parties. Jesus Christ is God; therefore He is coequal, coeternal, and coinfinite with God the Father. Jesus Christ is also true humanity. Not only is He equal with man, but is far superior because, as the last Adam, He was born perfect and remained impeccable.

J. The Results of Redemption.

1. We are delivered from the curse of the law, Gal 3:13, 4:4-6.

2. We have the forgiveness of all sin, Isa 44:22; Eph 1:7; Col 1:14; Heb 9:15.

3. Redemption is the basis for our justification, Rom 3:24.

4. Redemption is the basis for our sanctification, Eph 5:25-27.

5. Redemption is the basis for eternal inheritance of believers, Heb 9:15.

6. Redemption is the basis for the strategic victory of Jesus Christ in the angelic conflict, Col 2:14-15; Heb 2:14-15 (the passage for bumping demons).

7. Redemption of the soul in salvation results in redemption of the body in resurrection, Eph 1:14; Rom 8:23; Eph 4:30.

8. Redemption views salvation from the standpoint of the complete payment of our sins, the option to believe in Christ for eternal life.

K. Etymology.

1. Greek.

a. ANTILUTRON = substituting money; the payment for the freedom of a slave or prisoner. It is usually translated "ransomed," meaning "instead of slavery - freedom." In 1 Tim 2:6, with the preposition HUPER, it means "ransom paid."

- b. Apolutrôsis (ἀπολύτρωσις) [pronounced ap-ol-OO-troh-sis] = deliverance procured by the payment of a ransom; to release a slave upon receipt of a ransom.
 - c. Noun lutron (λύτρον) [pronounced LOO-tron] = the payment of a ransom; the price paid for letting loose.
 - d. Verb LUTROO = to pay the ransom; to deliver by ransom; to liberate. In the middle voice it means to redeem.
 - e. Noun LUTROSIS = redemption; deliverance; freedom.
 - f. Noun LUTROTES = redeemer; deliverer; one who pays for the freedom. In Acts 7:35, it refers to Moses as the redeemer of Israel.
 - g. Verb AGORAZO = to buy; to purchase in the market. (AGORA = slave marketplace.)
 - h. Verb EXZAGORAZO = to purchase from the slave market; to completely and totally liberate a slave from the slave market.
2. Hebrew.
- a. Verb GAAL = to redeem; to purchase the freedom of a slave; to buy back.
 - b. Verb pādâh (פָּדָה) [pronounced paw-DAWH] = to redeem; to loose by a paying ransom; to set free.
 - c. Noun GELLUAH = redemption.

c 1989, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

Eph 283 5/11/86; Rom 5/11/77; Phil 4/4/76; 1 Tim 4/2/75

“that is in Christ Jesus” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of Christos (χριστός) [pronounced krees-TOHSS] and Iêsous (Ἰησοῦς) [pronounced ee-ag-SOOCE]. The verb is inserted because in front of this is the definite article. The definite is the descriptive genitive singular, tês (τῆς) [pronounced tayc]. used as a relative pronoun and calls for a verb.

Romans 3:24 Receiving justification [vindication] without payment by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus.

The Advantage Postulates are given again.

Romans 3:25 ...Whom God set forth as a propitiation through faith in His blood, for a showing forth of His righteousness, because of the forbearance of the sins having taken place beforehand,...

Verse 25 – “Whom God has set forth to be a propitiation.” The accusative singular relative pronoun hos. The antecedent for this relative pronoun is the Lord Jesus Christ. Then the nominative singular subject theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] plus the definite article—“Whom the God.” The definite article indicates someone who is familiar to the readers.

Protithemai προτίθεμαι) [pronounced prot-ITH-ehm-ah-ee], followed by hilastêrion (ἱλαστήριον) [pronounced hil-as-TAY-ree-on]; which means, to satisfy, to propitiate. Propitiation and expiation are synonyms. Bob mentions the mercy seat (kaporeth), which is the Hebrew word, translated hilastêrion in the Septuagint. “has set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood” – should be translated, “has publicly displayed by his blood^[9] as the mercy seat [or the propitiation] through faith [in Christ].” Hebrews 9:5 is where hilastêrion is used for the Mercy Seat.

Doctrine of Propitiation comes out of NB2 and there is much more to be found here than given in the notes.

Doctrine of Propitiation

A. Definition.

1. Propitiation is the Godward side of the work of Christ in salvation. God the Father is satisfied with the sacrificial ministry of our Lord on the cross.
2. Propitiation is the work of Christ on the cross which deals with the integrity of God.
3. Propitiation means what our Lord satisfied the Father. Hence, in propitiation the justice of God judges our sins and the integrity of God is satisfied with that judgment.
4. Propitiation frees the justice of God to immediately give anyone who believes in Christ one-half of divine integrity, the righteousness of God. This is the down payment on our eternal salvation.
5. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God by faith in Christ frees divine justice to provide blessings for the believer at salvation. These blessings include both our logistical grace blessings and escrow blessings. The imputation of perfect righteousness at salvation means instant justification. God is justified in blessing us.
6. Divine justice must judge sinful man before divine justice is free to bless sinful man.
7. When the justice of God judged our sins in Christ on the cross, both the righteousness and justice of God were propitiated. That is, the integrity of God was satisfied or expiated. Propitiation means expiation. Now that same justice of God can provide blessing without compromising any attribute of divine essence.
8. Propitiation is the Godward side of salvation. Reconciliation is the manward side, and redemption is the sin-ward side.
9. Therefore, propitiation relates directly to the integrity of God, since it is the God-ward side. Propitiation means that the act of judgment satisfies the integrity of God. Rom 3:25-26 says that Jesus Christ was publicly displayed as the mercy seat, the place of the propitiation of God's justice. Cf. 1 Jn 2:2, 4:10.

10. Propitiation is the turning away of the wrath of God by the offering of Jesus Christ on the cross for our sins.
- B. Propitiation is appropriated by faith, is the basis for justification, and demonstrates the celebrityship of our Lord. Rom 3:20-28, "Because by means of the works of the Law no flesh will be justified in His sight; for through the Law comes the knowledge of sin. But now apart from the Law, the righteousness of God has been manifested, being witnessed by the Law and the Prophets, even the righteousness of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all those who believe; for there is no distinction; for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God, being justified as a gift by His grace through the redemption which is in Christ Jesus; whom God has publicly displayed by His blood as the mercy seat [a propitiation] through faith for a demonstration of His righteousness, because of the passing over of previously committed sins, because of the delay in judgment from God; I say for a demonstration of His righteousness at the present time, in order that He might be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus. Where then is boasting? It is excluded. By what kind of law? Of works? Definitely not, but by the law of faith. Therefore we maintain that a person is justified by faith apart from the works of the Law."
- C. The Shadows of Propitiation.
1. The Ark of the Covenant.
 - a. The ark was a wooden box 45" by 27" by 27" made of Acacia wood overlaid with gold. The wood represents the humanity of Christ; the gold represents the deity of Christ. Together, they represent the Hypostatic Union.
 - b. Heb 9:4 and Num 17:8 tell us that inside the box were:
 - (1) The urn of manna, which represented sin as rejection of God's logistical grace provision.
 - (2) Aaron's rod that budded, which speaks of sin in the sense of rebellion against the authority of God and rejection of God's system for communication of doctrine. "Better one bad general than two good ones," a quote from Napoleon.
 - (3) The tablets of the Law, which spoke of sin as transgression of divine law, since the Law defined freedom in the client nation.
 - c. The contents represent Christ bearing our sins on the cross, 1Peter 2:24; 2 Cor 5:21.
 - d. On top of the ark was the solid gold mercy seat, Ex 25:17-22. The two cherubs of gold represent the righteousness and justice of the Integrity of God. Ex 25:22 says, "There I will meet with you." This shows us that the integrity of God is the point of reference, the place of contact between God and man.
 2. The New Testament confirms the importance of the mercy seat as a shadow of propitiation, Heb 9:5.

3. The day of atonement portrayed the whole picture of salvation from the standpoint of propitiation. The sprinkling of animal blood represented the spiritual death of Christ bearing our sins and the acceptance by the integrity of God of this work. Righteousness saw that blood and was satisfied; justice saw that blood and was satisfied.
4. The resultant principle is that at the moment of salvation, the justice of the Father is satisfied, freeing the love of God to motivate the justice of God to bless the believer. God is now free to love and bless us.
5. The burnt offering portrays propitiation, Lev 1:1-9.
 - a. The Hebrew noun QARBAN means an offering by which you approach God. Jesus Christ is the only way to approach God.
 - b. The word for "burnt" is taken from the Hebrew verb word ALAH, meaning to go up - the smoke from the offering going up to God. This was the aroma of fragrance of Eph 5:2.
 - c. A male without defect is a picture of the impeccability of Christ. The doorway of the tent of the meeting was where the brazen altar was located. The brazen altar is a picture of the cross.
 - d. Laying the hand on the head of the sacrifice is a picture of identification. The sins were transferred from the people to the animal. The priest represented the people as he lay his hand on the head of the animal.
 - e. The physical death of the animal was a picture of the substitutionary spiritual death of our Lord on the cross.
 - f. Skinning of the animal was to demonstrate that there was no blemish in the animal; another picture of impeccability. Cutting the animal into pieces portrays the salvation work of Christ.
 - g. The fire on the altar represents judgment. Burning the sacrifice is analogous to the fact that Jesus Christ, who knew no sin, was made sin as a substitute for us.
 - h. The head refers to the mental purity or inner perfection of our Lord. The suet refers to the overt perfection of our Lord.
 - i. The washing of the water refers to rebound. All of this was offered as a pleasing aroma to the Lord, that is, to God the Father.
6. The grain offering illustrates propitiation, Lev 2:1ff.
 - a. The fine flour represents the perfection of the humanity of Christ. The Father gave the Son, and only a perfect gift can be given by God.
 - b. The oil is analogous to the ministry of God the Holy Spirit sustaining our Lord.
 - (1) The prophesy of the ministry of the Holy Spirit to our Lord, Isa 11:2-3, 42:1, 61:1-2.
 - (2) The Holy Spirit was given without measure, Jn 3:34.
 - (3) The Holy Spirit was related to the baptism of our Lord, Mt 3:16.

- (4) The Holy Spirit in relationship to the earthly ministry of Christ is documented in Mt 12:18, 18:28; Lk 4:14-15, 18. Our Lord was sustained by the filling of the Spirit.
 - (5) The ministry of the Holy Spirit sustained our Lord while he was being judged for our sins, Heb 9:14.
 - (6) The omnipotence of God the Holy Spirit was involved in the resurrection of Christ, Rom 1:4, 8:11; 1Peter 3:18.
 - (7) The present ministry of the Holy Spirit glorifying our Lord is part of our heritage as believers. God the Holy Spirit, who sustained our Lord, now sustains all Church Age believers.
- c. The frankincense refers to the impeccability of Jesus Christ propitiating God the Father, the sweet aroma of the offering.
- d. In Lev 2:2 the priest is to "take" a handful of the fine flour, which represents faith in Christ. An offering by fire represents the judgment of our sins. The altar represents the cross.
- e. The offering is a soothing aroma to God the Father, compare Eph 5:2. God the Father can only be satisfied with one thing for eternal salvation: the substitutionary atonement of our Lord Jesus Christ on the cross.
- (1) Fellowship with God in time and eternity is based on the fact that God the Father is propitiated by the person and work of Christ.
 - (2) At the moment of faith in Christ, the believer passes the point of propitiation.
- f. There are categories of the grain or food offering.
- (1) Lev 2:4, the offering from the oven. That which is baked in an oven is completely hidden from sight. Hence, it represents the unseen side of the cross, that is, Christ being judged for our sins while covered with darkness. Leaven represents the old sin nature. There was no sin in Christ, therefore, there must be no leaven in the offering.
 - (2) Lev 2:5-6, the offering made on the griddle. The griddle represents the visible period of the cross plus the pre-cross sufferings. No frankincense is mentioned because propitiation came after the offering was sacrificed. The crumbling of the sacrifice indicates Jesus Christ being judged for our sins. Pouring oil on the offering speaks of the anointing or divine appointment of Christ to become our savior. During this visible period many viewed Christ and concluded that He was the Savior.
 - (a) Simon of Cyrene, a Jew from the dispersion, Mt 27:32. He is analogous to the Jewish remnant, the true Israel of Acts 2:10; Rom 16:13.

(b) The dying thief, a criminal. He is analogous to an immoral Gentile. Lk 23:39-43.

(c) The Roman Centurion, an establishment type Gentile. Mt 27:54.

(3) Lev 2:7, the offering made in a pan. The pan represents the aloneness of Christ on the cross. Jesus Christ was forsaken by God the Father, and despised and forsaken by men, Isa 53:3.

g. The "pleasing aroma to the Lord" is propitiation illustrated by the grain offering.

D. The justice of God can only judge the unbeliever who rejects the propitiation offered by the blood of Christ. [Lesson #101]

1. According to Lev 16:2, Aaron was not to enter before the veil or else he would die. The entrance into the Holy of Holies apart from the blood offered on the Day of Atonement illustrates salvation by works or salvation maladjustment to the justice of God.

2. Only on the Day of Atonement was the High Priest permitted to enter the Holy of Holies, and then only with the blood of the animal sacrifice, Leviticus 16:13-16. Aaron would enter twice into the Holy of Holies, once for himself and once for nation Israel.

E. Propitiation is the only approach to the integrity of God.

1. According to Num 7:89, Moses was permitted inside the Holy of Holies to talk to God. He was the only exception. Relationship with the integrity of God is the only way to have contact with God. Moses' relationship with the integrity of God was so strong that God permitted him in His presence. Moses was the exception. He could enter into the Holy of Holies; and he could hear God speaking to him from over the throne. Relationship with the integrity of God is the only way to have contact with God.

2. The parable of propitiation, Luke 18:9-14.

a. The tax-collector was a Roman aristocrat, but considered by the Jews to be the lowest of all social rank at the time of writing. He was generally very wealthy and employed Jews to work for him, like Matthew. Jewish tax-collectors were considered to be traitors by other Jews. The tax collector is being contrasted with the pharisee. "O God, be propitious to me, the sinner."

b. In passages like Mt 9:10 it is related that our Lord associated with publicans or tax-collectors and "sinners" or prostitutes. This offended the Pharisees, Mt 9:11; Mk 2:16; Mt 11:19, 21:22. The Pharisees criticized our Lord for being a friend of tax-collectors and prostitutes. But they kept coming to listen to our Lord because of their positive volition to the gospel, Lk 15:1.

c. The arrogant Pharisee followed the Roman tax-collector into the Temple in order to criticize him.

d. The tax-collector was a believer through observing the sacrifices and offerings, and so asked God to be propitious to Him. He does not beg

God to save him, but "to be propitious." He did not beg God to save him. Were he to ask for love and mercy, he would be excluding the propitiatory work of Christ on the cross. But he has accepted the work Christ would perform and asked that the justice of God be satisfied with his faith in that work.

- e. Propitiation is the basis for God being merciful and gracious to us. The Gentile Roman understood propitiation; the Jewish Pharisee did not. The Pharisee had ritual without reality.
 - f. This parable indicates that God does not distinguish between races. Nor is God propitiated by human works.
 - g. "I say to you, this man [the tax-collector] went down to his home having been justified rather than the other. For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but he who humbles himself will be exalted." "To be humble" here means not approaching God with any form of human works for salvation. The Pharisee exalted himself; the tax-collector did not.
 - h. God cannot be propitious without the satisfaction of His integrity. The blood sprinkled on the Mercy Seat represents the payment of sins. Romans 3:25–26 (which is what we are studying)
- F. Propitiation is related to various aspects of God's character.
- 1. The mechanics of propitiation is related to the justice of God. Justice is satisfied, as illustrated in the burnt offering of Lev 1. Righteousness is satisfied, as illustrated in the grain offering of Lev 2.
 - 2. Propitiation is related to the love of God, 1 Jn 4:10. "By this love exists: not because we have loved God, but because He has loved us and sent His Son a propitiation for our sins." The love of God is motivation for propitiation.
- G. Propitiation is related to unlimited atonement, 1 Jn 2:2. "And He is the propitiation for our sins; and not for ours only, but also for the whole world."
- H. Hebrews 9:5 The New Testament recognizes the importance of the Mercy Seat (and what it means).
- I. Romans 3:25–26 propitiation speaks to the celebrityship of Jesus Christ.

R. B. Thieme, Jr., Bible Ministries 5139 West Alabama, Houston, Texas 77056 (713) 621-3740

c 1998, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

Eph 1140ff 9/10/89; 5/11/77; 6/9/80; 3/29/81

1977 Romans

Lesson #101

101 05/12/1977 Romans 3:25b Soviet beam weapon, WWII 1981; doctrines of propitiation (3–7) and the blood (revised) pt. 1 This lesson sounds noticeably sped up.

The armies of the Warsaw pact are on alert right now. American unpreparedness is going to become worse. They expect a war by 1981. Russians are making a new estimate of the situation. The Russians expected the civil war in China was going to be more extensive, but it is not. Russia is developing a new secret super weapon and they need about 2 years to complete it. Charged particle device aimed at our nuclear warheads, to wipe them out with these beams. Space-born high energy laser for space. These details have not been made known to the President or the national defense council. They are testing these beams? They would like to place these on spacecraft. They believe that the Soviets have achieved success in seven areas, which could indicate the successful building of these weapons. The USSR is far ahead of the US in this technology. There is a great deal of disagreement as to how far along they are. General George Keegan warned the CIA about this; and the CIA did nothing about it. The CIA has sat on it; Kissinger has not said anything about it; and the President has not been briefed on it.

A second article. The soviets leapfrogged a generation. There are a handful of air force intelligence types who are studying this. This debate ought to be conducted publically.

Up until the first of this year, everything had been prepared for a European invasion. But now they know that our armed forces will be in much worse shape under Carter. Those in the tanks and those in the air force want this.

You cannot believe how badly our politicians have fouled things up. They have an objective of a 48 hour war against us.

The seven postulates are given again. While there is great testing in Russia, there is the most perfect opportunity for us to offset the whole thing.

We do not have any direct contact with God's sovereignty or with His eternal life; or with His love. God's actual attribute is toward His Own integrity. We interact with God's justice.

We receive 36 advantages at salvation. We cite our sins and we are restored to fellowship. God keeps us alive to crack that maturity barrier.

Propitiation doctrine is above in the previous lesson. All pertinent notes will be placed with that doctrine.

Hyper-Calvinism is a fantasy of those who think they have a direct relationship with the sovereignty of God.

Romans 3:25 ...Whom God set forth as a propitiation through faith in His blood, for a showing forth of His righteousness, because of the forbearance of the sins having taken place beforehand,...

“through faith” – prepositional phrase, dia plus the genitive of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihz], minus the definite article. The absence of the definite article emphasizes the qualitative aspect of the noun rather than its identity. Faith is emphasized as the mechanics of salvation since the mechanics of blessing from the justice of God is always grace. Principle: Faith never subtracts from the efficacious work of Christ. Any work that man can do subtracts from the efficacious work of Christ. Whatever man can do subtracts from the efficacious work of Jesus Christ. Anything added to faith neutralizes its efficacy.

“in his blood” – this prepositional phrase is out of place. This is en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental of haima (αἷμα) [pronounced Hi-mah], plus the descriptive genitive singular of autós (αὐτοῦ) [pronounced ow-TOSS] used as a possessive pronoun—“by his blood.” The instrumental of cause denotes the original factor from the instrumental of means. The agency is the blood of Christ and it is the original cause of salvation. Remember that the blood of Christ includes propitiation, redemption and reconciliation, the work of Christ in being judged. The prepositional phrase belongs after the verb, rather than after “faith.”

The sprinkling of the blood on the Mercy Seat is all about the propitiation taking place.

Romans 3:25a [Christ Jesus] Whom the God [the Father] has publicly displayed by his blood as the mercy seat through faith in Christ,...

NB2 appears to be lacking the Doctrine of the Blood of Christ. This doctrine is my notes (which are not as good as the notes usually found). The notes below come from lessons #101–103.

Doctrine of the Blood of Christ (also covered in lesson #139)

1. The definition of animal blood. Animal blood is the seat of animal life; the seat of human life is the soul. Leviticus 17:10–14 “If any one of the house of Israel or of the strangers who sojourn among them eats any blood, I will set My face against that person who eats blood and will cut him off from among his people. For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it for you on the altar to make atonement for your souls, for it is the blood that makes atonement [a propitiatory covering] by the life. Therefore I have said to the people of Israel, No person among you shall eat blood, neither shall any stranger who sojourns among you eat blood. “Any one also of the people of Israel, or of the strangers who sojourn among them, who takes in hunting any beast or bird that may be eaten shall pour out its blood and cover it with earth. For the life of every creature is its blood: its blood is its life. Therefore I have said to the people of Israel, You shall not eat the blood of any creature, for the life of every creature is its blood. Whoever eats it shall be cut off.” Bob does not know where idiocy begins or where he just has not taught something properly. Animals do not have souls. We all die in different ways. When our soul leaves our bodies, that is when we are dead. Not so with animals. The human sacrifice was never condoned by God. We do not see the soul when it leaves the body; we do not see the soul in the body. The soul is real but invisible. Animal meat was okay to eat (which is a picture of faith in Christ); but animal blood was not to be eaten. They buried the blood because the life of the animal is in the blood.

- 1) Points on the blood of the animal and propitiation.

- (1) The blood of the animal contains the soul of the animal. The animal has a limited life. Human life is in the soul; animal life is in the blood.
 - (2) Therefore, God used animal blood to portray the propitiatory work of Christ on the cross.
 - (3) The purpose of the propitiatory work of Christ on the cross was to satisfy the justice of God.
 - (4) Therefore, God assigns animal blood to the altar to illustrate propitiation. That blood was not to be eaten; it was not to be used as food. Animal blood is prohibited for food.
 - (5) When a gentile joined in with Israel, they also followed Israel's customs.
 - (6) Animal blood does not expiate the soul. It is blood by virtue of the soul that makes a propitiatory covering.
 - (7) Animal blood was to be poured on the altar or on the mercy seat. It is not to be eaten; it was associated with the holy furniture.
 - (8) Animal meat was not prohibited.
 - (9) In the function of levitical sacrifice, eating animal meat was a picture of faith in Christ.
 - (10) The blood was to be offered on the altar as a representation of doctrinal principles. Efficacy is in the doctrinal principles. There was nothing sacred about the animal's blood; it is what the blood represents that was important.
 - (11) Just as the altar is more important than the stomach, so propitiation is more important physical life or death.
- 2) Animal blood was used in the offering of 4 or the 5 animal offerings. Burnt offering involved blood, so did the offerings of birds. The bread offering emphasizes the Person of Christ and there is no blood. The work of Christ is emphasized means blood is used. Emphasis on the Person of Christ would be bloodless. There is no fountain filled with Immanuel's blood. This is a blasphemous hymn. What does the literal bleeding of the Lord have to do with Him paying for our sins? Jesus did not die by bleeding. It was the judgment of Jesus Christ which was the work of salvation. The blood is a representative analogy. The Roman soldier put the sword into the side of Jesus proves that Jesus did not bleed to death. Most of his blood was still in His body. Prior to this, Jesus said, "Finished."
 - 3) Summarizing the principle of Leviticus 17. A bloodless sacrifice illustrates that the literal blood of Christ does not save us. Blood = judgment. The most harmless of animals is a lamb. The priest judges the lamb by cutting its throat. The lamb was sacrificed. Animal blood is the basis for setting up an analogy. Animal blood contains the life of the animal. This explains Hebrews 9:22.
 - 4) Animal blood is the shadow representing reality. Side one is the Person of Christ and side two is the work of Christ. The person of Christ is represented with the meal offering; and His work is represented by the burnt offering.

The Lord was sinless and qualified to die for our sins. The justice of God was satisfied by judging our sins. The bloodless sacrifice indicates that it has nothing to do the shedding of blood.

- 5) When Jesus said, "If it be Your will, let this cup pass from Me." The cup did not have blood in it. Animal blood is the shadow portraying the work of Christ in the cross. The sacrifice of these animals was a reminder of what Christ had to do on the cross to satisfy the integrity of God.
 - 6) The animal blood is a representative analogy.
 - 7) Therefore, no one was to consume animal blood. Something so sacred should not be made common by eating. You are not to eat the blood of the animal... (from Leviticus)
 - 8) Two cherubs who stand over the Mercy Seat. Blood is sprinkled by the High Priest on the Mercy Seat, and that represents the crucifixion.
 - 9) The animal blood is literal blood. When the blood is drained out, the animal loses its life.
2. The definition of the blood of Christ: while Christ did some bleeding on the cross, He did not bleed to death. The believer should understand the blood of Christ and the righteousness of God. The Lord's literal blood had nothing to do with our salvation. Due to a whole generation of non-theological fundies, there is no critical thinking about the blood. The Mercy Seat had blood sprinkled on it for the Day of Atonement. The crucifixion is the fulfillment of all the animal sacrifices. The blood of the animals was literal; these animals were shadows. The reality the Jesus Christ paying for our sins on the Roman cross. The blood of Christ refers to Jesus dying for our sins. The physical blood of Jesus does not save us. Jesus did not die by bleeding to death; He died by exhaling His human spirit. Fundies operate on emotion and magic. Arndt and Gingrich speak of haima as being figurative when referring to Jesus Christ. Kittle the blood is a pregnant, verbal symbol for the saving work of Jesus Christ.
- 1) Animal blood is literal with a figurative connotation.
 - 2) Christ's blood is figurative with a literal connotation.
 - 3) Animal blood is the shadow and the crucifixion is the reality.
 - 4) Arndt & Gingrich and Kittle both speak of the blood of Christ as being symbol.
3. The subject of representative analogy. A conclusion of points 1&2. The physical death of the animal is compared to the spiritual death of Jesus Christ. Christ died twice on the cross. Isaiah 53:9 tells us that Jesus is associated with the rich man in His deaths. Hebrews 9:16–17 a covenant is valid upon deaths. At the end of the day, the bones of the legs are beat until they are broken, which kills the person on the cross. This was not done to Jesus, as He was already dead. The blood of Christ = redemption + propitiation + reconciliation. The literal animal blood represents these 3 things.
4. The physical death of Christ was not the result of the loss of literal blood.
5. Therefore, the blood of the animal sacrifices were a shadow of the death of Christ on the cross.

6. Redemption is a part of the blood of Christ. 1Peter 1:18–19 we are released from our sins by means of His blood. Justification is related to the blood. Romans 5:9
 7. All rebound is based upon the blood of Christ.
- R. B. Thieme, Jr. ministries has posted The Blood of Christ.

1977 Romans

Lesson #102

102 05/13/1977 Romans 3:25b; Leviticus 17:10–14 Doctrine of the blood (revised, point 1 amplified)

Bob does not have as much contact with the ministry these days. It is okay to shout, if whatever you are shouting makes sense.

Dallas Theological Seminary covered more theology than any other seminary in history when Bob was there. Chafer emphasized the languages. This has not been really explained. Other people have worked on this topic and it is not a new idea that the blood of Christ is not literal. Scholars have admitted this.

The Roman Catholics and Protestants hold two separate views. The Catholic view is that the bread and the wine turn into the Lord's body and blood. The protestant view is that, in some mysterious way, the blood of Christ saved us, as He shed this blood on the cross. The hymns are just as bad, as they do not explain anything.

"It doesn't make sense; it doesn't mean anything."

The doctrine of the Blood of Christ will be placed with the previous notes. Most of the notes from this lesson are there.

1977 Romans

Lesson #103

103 05/15/1977 Romans 3:25b Principle of divine justice can only bless divine righteousness; doctrine of the blood (pts. 2–7 revised)

The points below are messed up from the beginning.

Divine Justice Can Only Bless Divine Righteousness

1. The integrity of God must be consistent. This consistency demands function and interrelationship between divine righteousness and divine justice.
2. God cannot bless a creature unless that creature is as righteous as God is. God is absolute righteousness; man cannot be blessed by God and God maintain His integrity. It is impossible for God to bless man if man lacks perfect righteousness. Since divine blessing comes from the justice of God, we must have God's righteousness in order to be blessed.
3. Righteousness demands righteousness.

4. There must be no compromise or inconsistency in the function of divine integrity. To avoid compromise and inconsistency a principle evolves that becomes axiomatic: divine justice can only bless divine righteousness.
5. Since all divine blessing originates from the justice of God, and since the justice of God cannot bless sinful mankind, it is necessary for God in grace to provide His righteousness as the recipient of all blessing.
6. Reason: righteousness demands righteousness and justice demands justice in the function of the integrity of God toward mankind.
7. God cannot accept anything less than perfect righteousness, and God cannot bless anything less than perfect righteousness.
8. Hence the importance of the imputation of divine righteousness to anyone who believes in Jesus Christ. God gives us a container; God's perfect righteousness. The only thing that pleases God is His righteousness.
9. This dramatizes the importance of the imputation of divine righteousness to the believer at the moment of salvation.
10. The justice of God administers what the righteousness of God demands.
11. Faith in Christ is instant adjustment to the justice of God at salvation.
12. Continuous and persistent learning of doctrine under one's right pastor is the means of maturity adjustment to the justice of God.
13. Divine integrity includes two divine attributes: righteousness, the principle of divine integrity, and justice, the function of divine integrity.
14. The justice of God administers what the righteousness of God demands.
15. Therefore the justice of God cannot bless unless the recipient has a righteousness equivalent to God's infinite and eternal righteousness. This righteousness is a monopoly of God.
16. The justice of God can only bless the possessor of God's perfect divine righteousness.
17. The basis for divine blessing to mankind is the imputation of divine righteousness to the believer at the instant of salvation.
18. Therefore justification must precede all other blessings from the justice of God. Justification only occurs at the moment of faith in Christ or salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Justification is the result of imputed righteousness at the moment we believe in Christ.
19. At the instant of believing in Jesus Christ, the believer receives the imputed righteousness of God the justice of God performs a judicial function known as justification or simply recognizing His own righteousness in the new believer—that's all justification is. Having God's righteousness makes us qualified to receive God's blessing.
20. God recognizes His righteousness as righteous wherever it is found.
21. The possession of divine righteousness through grace imputation at salvation is the prerequisite for all other divine blessing.

22. With the imputation of divine righteousness and resultant justification all other divine blessings, temporal and eternal, above and beyond ultimate sanctification are potential.
23. This potential of blessing or advantages from the integrity of God is fulfilled through the daily function of GAP and resultant maximum adjustment to the justice of God. The key is doctrine resident in the soul.
24. This is known as maturity adjustment to the justice of God and/or total relationship with the integrity of God.
25. Not only does this status result in blessings or advantages from the justice of God but also capacity to enjoy those blessings and advantages. You cannot appreciate God's blessings apart from having the capacity.
26. There are no advantage to the advantages without the advantage, which is the imputation of God's righteousness at the moment that you believe in Jesus Christ.

Romans 3:25 [Christ Jesus] Whom the God [the Father] has publicly displayed by His blood as the mercy seat through faith in Christ,... This is how far we have gotten.

The doctrine of the Blood of Christ will be placed with the previous notes (lesson #101). Bob first reviews the points already given.

1977 Romans

Lesson #104

104 05/15/1977 Romans 3:25c–26 Delay in judgment of Old Testament sins; divine justice can only bless +R; justification

Romans 3:25 ...Whom God set forth as a propitiation through faith in His blood, for a showing forth of His righteousness, because of the forbearance of the sins having taken place beforehand,...

“to declare his righteousness” – in the English there is what appears to be an infinitive, but this is not an exact translation; there is no verb in any form, including the infinitive in that phrase. Instead there is the preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative singular from the noun éndeixis (ἐνδειξις) [pronounced EHN-dike-sis] which means a demonstration—“for a demonstration.” With it is the subjective genitive of dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-āldik-ah-yos-OO-nay], the righteousness which is one half of God's integrity.

The additional set of points helps to explain why the previous doctrine seemed so messed up. The notes were taken, apparently so as to combine the two doctrines, which are similar.

Divine Justice Can Only Bless Divine Righteousness (2)

1. The integrity of God must be consistent, and this consistency demands function and interrelationship between divine righteousness and divine justice.

2. There must be no inconsistency or compromise to divine righteousness. Divine justice and only bless divine righteousness. God cannot be made unhappy. God is eternal; His happiness is eternal.
3. Since all divine blessing originates from the justice of God and since the justice of God cannot bless self righteous, evil, sinful mankind; therefore, God must provide His righteousness for man.
4. Righteousness demands righteousness; justice demands justice in the function in the integrity of God toward mankind.
5. God cannot accept anything less than perfect righteousness; and God cannot bless anything less than perfect righteousness.
6. This dramatizes the importance of the imputation of divine righteousness to be believers at salvation.
7. Faith in Christ is instant adjustment to the justice of God.
8. Continuous learning of Bible doctrine is the means of maturity adjustment to the Justice of God.
9. Divine integrity includes righteousness and justice, the principle and the function of divine integrity.
10. The justice of God administers what the righteousness of God demands.
11. Therefore, the justice of God cannot bless unless the recipient has a righteousness equivalent to God's righteousness. Only God has this righteousness.
12. The justice of God can only bless the possessor of perfect, divine righteousness.
13. The basis for divine blessing to mankind is the imputation of divine righteousness to the believer at the moment of salvation adjustment to the justice of God.
14. Therefore, justification must precede all other blessings from the justice of God.
15. Justification only occurs at the moment of faith in Christ. It is the result of imputed righteousness at the moment that we believe in Christ.
16. When the believer receives the imputed righteousness of God, the justice of God performs an act of recognizing His righteousness in man. Justification means that God recognizes that we have his righteousness.
17. God recognizes His righteousness as righteous wherever it is found. Even in you.
18. The possession of divine righteousness through grace imputation at salvation is the prerequisite for all other divine blessing. The advantage is having God's righteousness. The advantages is all the rest of the blessings.
19. With the imputation of divine righteousness and resultant justification. All other blessings, temporal and eternal are all potential (this is beyond the basic 36 things provided at salvation).
20. This potential is fulfill by the daily function of gap. Potential blessing becomes real blessing not through works but through Bible doctrine. It is not what you do; it is what you think.
21. This is known as maturity adjustment to the Justice of God and total relationship with the integrity of God.

22. Not only does this status result in blessings or advantages from the justice of God; and the capacity to enjoy them. Abraham had his right woman, but he was not happy with her for a long time.

God must pour blessing on those who already have His righteousness. The foundation for all the blessings that we will receive is the imputed righteousness of God.

“for the remission of sins that are past” – a prepositional phrase, dia plus the accusative singular of the noun paresis (πάρεσις) [pronounced PAHR-es-is] which means passing over. And dia plus the accusative should never be translated “for”; it is “because.” Then an articular perfect active participle from the verb progínomai (προγίνομαι) [pronounced prog-IHN-om-ah-ee]. The participle is used here in an ascriptive sense as an adjective and it means “previously committed.” Plus the subjective genitive plural from hamártēma (ἁμάρτημα) [pronounced ham-AR-tay-mah], meaning transgressions or sins, and it refers to sins committed before the cross. God passed over judging those sins until they could be collected at the cross.

“through the forbearance of God” – en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the instrumental of anochē (ἀνοχή) [pronounced an-okh-AY] which means clemency, holding back, or delay in judgment. Then the ablative of source from theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]. The ablative of source implies the origin of divine clemency or delay in judgment of all sins prior to the cross. The justice of God held up judgment until Christ could die on the cross. This means that there was a delay in the judgment of all the sins in the human race until Christ could be judged for them on the cross. When Jesus was on the cross, then these sins could be poured out on Him.

Romans 3:25 [Christ Jesus] Whom the God [the Father] has publicly displayed by His blood as the mercy seat through faith in Christ, for a demonstration of his righteousness because of the passing over of previously committed sins, because of the delay in judgment [clemency] from the God.

Romans 3:26 ...in the forbearance of God, for the showing forth of His righteousness in the present time, for Him to be just, and justifying the one of the faith of Jesus.

Verse 26 – the demonstration of integrity without compromise. “To declare, I say, at this time his righteousness.” The prepositional phrase prós (πρός) [pronounced pross] plus the accusative singular from éndeixis (ἐνδειξις) [pronounced EHN-dike-sis], and with the definite article it means “For the demonstration.” Then the descriptive genitive of dikaiosunē (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay] connoting here the integrity of God with emphasis on His righteousness, since righteousness must be provided for us before we can have any blessing from God. The possessive genitive singular from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS] is used as a possessive pronoun—“his righteousness.” Then “at this time” is en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the temporal adverb nun (νῦν) [pronounced noon], plus kairos (καιρός) [pronounced kī-ROSS] in the locative meaning a decisive or crucial point of time. The locative singular of the definite article is used as a demonstrative pronoun here.

The corrected translation: “at this present time of crisis.” The present time of crisis refers to the Church Age. It is a crisis time because it is the time of the calling out of the royal family of God. God’s integrity which was consistent in the past continues to be consistent after the cross. The justice of God which judged all of our sins and the sins of all of the past dispensations before the cross will judge all of the sins of future dispensations. Hence, a demonstration of His perfect integrity continues into the present time of crisis.

“that he might be just” – the preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative singular of the definite article, plus the present active infinitive of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME], is a Greek idiom for purpose. The present tense of the infinitive is a static present, perpetual circumstances are involved. The active voice: God produces the action; specifically the integrity of God produces the action. Plus the accusative singular of general reference from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτῶς) [pronounced ow-TOSS] used to emphasize the identity of God in terms of our point of reference, i.e. the justice of God. Also the accusative singular of the adjective dikaios (δίκαιος) [pronounced DIH-kai-oss], used for the integrity of God as a whole, or part of the integrity of God. Here it is used for one half of the integrity of God: justice. Therefore it is translated, “in order that He might be just.”

Principle

1. In this dispensation after the cross God maintains His perfect integrity just as He did in the dispensation before the cross—the Age of Israel.
2. God’s justice is the number one priority in His relationship with mankind.
3. Therefore divine justice must be uncompromised in establishing a relationship with mankind.
4. The cross accomplishes this fact because the justice of God judged our sins—past, present and future—when they were poured out on Christ.
5. When Christ was bearing our sins on the cross the justice of God was judging all of them.
6. While judging those sins on the cross the justice of God is protected from compromise in providing justification for anyone who believes in Christ.
7. Justice pronounces the penalty which divine righteousness demands.
8. But divine righteousness is satisfied with the judgment of man’s sins on the cross, and therefore divine righteousness does not complain when imputed to those who believe in Christ.

“and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus” – the ascensive use of the conjunction kai, meaning “even.” The present active participle of the verb dikaiôô (δικαιῶω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh], meaning to vindicate, to justify, to declare righteous. The present tense is a customary present denoting what habitually occurs when anyone believes in Christ. It never varies, it is always the same. The active voice: God produces the action of the verb from His justice. The justice of God justifies the person who believes in Christ. The participle is temporal and it should be translated “even when he declares righteous [or, justifies].” Next is the accusative masculine singular from definite article used as the direct object. The definite article is now used as a relative pronoun and hence, anyone or by means of. Plus the prepositional phrase ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative of means from pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs], plus the objective genitive—“from the source of faith in Jesus,” meaning to have faith in Jesus.

Romans 3:26 For the demonstration of His integrity at this present time of crisis [Church Age], in order that He might be just, even when He justifies anyone who has faith in Jesus.

Principle

1. The only way the unrighteous sinner can be pronounced righteous by the justice of God is to have the righteousness of God.
2. The only way to have the righteousness of God is to believe in Jesus Christ.
3. Believing in Christ is the mechanics of salvation adjustment to the justice of God.
4. Through grace mechanics (faith in Christ) the justice of God is free to provide the other half of divine integrity: God's perfect righteousness.
5. Having imputed divine righteousness the justice of God pronounces the believer righteous—tantamount to justification.
6. Justification is vindication provided from the integrity of God.
7. This vindication is provided at the moment of faith in Christ. It includes imputation of divine righteousness and pronouncement of the fact that that righteousness is imputed.
8. The justice of God imputes divine righteousness to the believer and vindicates or pronounces that same believer perfectly righteous, therefore qualified for further blessing.
9. We are righteous because we have God's perfect righteousness, not because of any self-righteousness on our part.
10. Therefore God has found a way to save us without compromising His integrity. The foundation of all divine blessing is the imputation of divine righteousness to the believer at the moment of eternal salvation.
11. Righteousness demands righteousness, justice demands justice, holiness demands holiness, integrity demands integrity.
12. At the point of faith in Christ the justice of God acts by providing His own righteousness and then declaring His own righteousness to be satisfactory and/or vindicated.

Anticipating Romans Chapter Four

Why is this placed here? I

1. Imputed righteousness from the justice of God is the foundation on which the superstructure of blessings or advantages from which the justice of God is provided.
2. In other words, divine justice cannot bless mankind apart from imputed righteousness.
3. Imputed righteousness from the justice of God must precede direct blessing from the justice of God.

4. At the point of faith in Christ the believer receives this righteousness from God, not only for his justification but for all future potential blessing.
5. Hence divine righteousness imputed is not only absolutely necessary for immediate justification but also a prerequisite for all blessing from the justice of God.
6. God can only bless perfection which is compatible with His integrity.
7. The imputation of the righteousness of God through faith in Christ gives us that compatibility with divine essence so necessary as the foundation for all blessing.

1977 Romans

Lesson #105

105 05/20/1977 Romans 3:27 Integrity of God excludes human boasting, self righteousness and works

Bob has done a lot of traveling. People where Bob has gone are desperately interested in face to face teaching. Crowds greater than ever before. Historical disaster is just around the corner and we need to be prepared for it like never before.

Russia is perfecting a beam like weapon. A problem between Russians and the communists on their 4000 mile border. There is a territorial dispute and there have been clashes at the borders since 1969.

There are Russian hotheads who want to attack us; they have a tactical air force larger than all the others in the world. Some are willing for a 7-day or 10-day war; but others are hoping for a 48 hour war.

Review of divine justice can only bless divine righteousness.

Justification: the magnificence of divine integrity at salvation, verse 27-31.

Romans 3:27 Where then is boasting? It has been excluded. Through what principle? That of works? No, but through the principle of faith.

Verse 27 – justification eliminates human arrogance. “Where is boasting then?” The interrogative adverb of place, pou (ποῦ) [pronounced poo], is used in rhetorical questions which expect a negative answer. It is generally translated “Where is.” This is a debater’s rhetorical question which is not the same as our English rhetorical question. Then the inferential particle oun (οὖν) [pronounced oon] which connotes that what it introduces is an inference from what precedes. Plus the predicate nominative from kaúchēsis (καύχησις) [pronounced KOW-khay-sis] which means boasting. The definite article with kaúchēsis (καύχησις) [pronounced KOW-khay-sis] is used as a demonstrative pronoun. “Where then is that boasting?”

Principle

1. Boasting is an expression of arrogance where either a system of self-righteousness or a system of human works has intruded into the plan of God. This is something that many Christians do after salvation. The basic arrogance is the illusion is that God is impressed with you because people are impressed with you. God is impressed with His Own righteousness and with His Own justice. Who are we to put into action some form of human good in order to compete with God's perfect righteousness. People in Paul's day tried to keep the Ten Commandments; and they believed that this was the way to impress God. Some people are just dying for attention; and if they hear this from someone, it encourages them.
2. Boasting is arrogance plus self-righteousness plus the production of self-righteousness—human good. Boasting is also blasphemous regarding the integrity of God. Might be a pleasing personality which they try to cultivate. A psychiatrist in Tucson, he has set aside Adler and Freud for Thieme. He just teaches them doctrinal principles. He is able to bring many people back into reality with this approach.
3. God's righteousness and man's self-righteousness are mutually exclusive. There is no place in any of the adjustments to the justice of God for man's self-righteousness, man's pleasing personality, man's self-effacement. Rebound is tricky, because people want to go through some sort of penance. The people who confess their sins in public are arrogant and they are only concerned with themselves.

A corrected translation so far: where there is that boasting?

“Where Then Is That Boasting?”

1. Since boasting is an expression of arrogance, self-righteousness, human good, it is a sign of maladjustment to the justice of God and/or ignorance of the integrity of God. Ignorance is the disaster.
2. Self-righteousness, then, is an arrogant fantasy, a rationalization of comparing one's abilities or strengths with someone else's weaknesses. Arrogant people are totally self-centered. Furthermore, self-centered people are incapable of having capacity for life, capacity for happiness. Give them a rm or a rw and it intensifies their misery.
3. Self-righteousness directed toward God is the blasphemous assumption that God's righteousness is not enough. Therefore self-righteousness tries to help God on the one hand, and on the other hand, unable to help God by sinfulness, seeks to justify his unrighteousness as promoting and glorifying divine righteousness. God blesses us, from His justice; but He is not in the business of praising us.
4. It is blasphemous to assume that either human self-righteousness or unrighteousness can promote the integrity of God.
5. Divine integrity has always existed in perfect and does not need help from mankind, the latest of creatures in history.
6. Remember that the righteousness of God is divine love for His integrity.

7. Since integrity demands integrity, perfect righteousness demands perfect equivalent righteousness.
8. God demands integrity for blessing. This integrity includes imputed divine righteousness at salvation, maximum doctrine resident in the soul at spiritual maturity.
9. This is why adjustment to the justice of God at all stages is so important and the key to understanding a grace relationship with God.
10. God in grace provides all that His integrity demands from the human race. He starts the ball rolling at salvation by providing imputed divine righteousness and He follows up with doctrine plus a system of grace perception so that doctrine can be transferred to the believer's soul. Therefore, boasting is excluded.

The tither thinks that his 10% is enough to get God's blessing. Those who are into rituals or want to follow the Mosaic Law; these are arrogance gimmicks.

"It is excluded" – aorist passive indicative from the verb ekkleíō (ἐκκλείω) [pronounced ek-KLI-oh] which means to shut off, to exclude, or to shut out. The aorist tense is a dramatic aorist, it is used to state a present reality with the certitude of a past event. The idiom is a device for emphasis. Therefore it even becomes a gnomic aorist for a fact or a truth of doctrine regarded as so fixed in its certainty as to be axiomatic. Therefore the aorist is used to describe an actual occurrence. We translate this aorist, not as we usually translate the aorist tense with a past tense in the English, but we translate it with a present tense—"It is excluded." The passive voice: boasting receives the action of the verb—shut out, excluded. The indicative mood is declarative for a statement of dogmatic assertion.

The Exclusion of Boasting by the Integrity of God

1. The integrity of God has always existed in a state of absolute and total perfection.
2. Therefore there is nothing that man can add or detract from the integrity of God.
3. There is nothing man can do or fail to do to cancel the integrity of God.
4. There is nothing man can say or think to compromise the integrity of God.
5. Man's self-righteousness does not glorify God. To the contrary, God's integrity condemns man's self-righteousness.
6. There is no point in either angelic or human history where the integrity of God is compromised or gains anything from man's personality or self-righteousness or system of works.
7. No one can establish or promote God's righteousness. No one can add anything to the integrity of God. Boasting is excluded.
8. The working part of the integrity of God is justice. God's justice gets all the credit and does all the work. God's justice condemned our sins when Christ was bearing them on the cross and this is the basis of our eternal salvation. The work is accomplished by God.
9. God's justice provides blessing for the mature believer. This is the basis for blessing in time and reward in eternity. This blessing comes from maximum doctrine resident in the soul. And how did it get there? GRACE apparatus for perception.

10. Therefore no one can establish God's righteousness and no one can add anything to God's justice. This is the fundamental principle of grace.
11. God therefore can add something to our integrity, but we cannot add anything to God's integrity. This is the difference between law and grace.

“By what law?” – dia plus the interrogative pronoun poios (ποῖος) [pronounced POY-os]. Notice that poios (ποῖος) [pronounced POY-os] is used in a direct question, and also there is the genitive singular of the noun nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss]*—*dia plus the genitive, dia poiou nomou. Nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] here means a rule or principle governing one's action. It doesn't refer to the Mosaic law here. “By what kind of law?” or “By what kind of principle?” The question is: What principle excludes boasting, arrogance, self-righteousness.

“of works?” – the subjective genitive plural from ergon (ἔργον) [pronounced EHR-gon]. It should be correctly translated in English, in view of poios (ποῖος) [pronounced POY-os], “that principle of works?” The principle of human works is contrary to the integrity of God, as well as the grace of God. There are no works involved in adjusting to the justice of God.

“Nay: but by the law of faith” – the word “nay” is simply the negative ouch (οὐχί) [pronounced oo-KHEE], a strengthened form of ouk (οὐκ) [pronounced ook] or a strong negative to answer a question, followed by an adversative conjunction, allá (ἀλλά) [pronounced ahI-LAH], to set up a positive after a negative; to set up a contrast between the negative followed by the positive. Then dia plus the genitive of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss], used again for a principle—“Definitely not: by the principle ...” Then the descriptive genitive of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs], “of faith.”

Romans 3:27 Where then is boasting? It is excluded. By what principle? that of works? Definitely not; but by the principle of faith.

1977 Romans

Lesson #106

106 05/22/1977 Romans 3:28 Law of faith cf. law of works; failure of perfect environment

The eagle used to face toward the arrows, but now it is turned toward the peace side. The cracked bell from Philadelphia is representative of nothing, except that perhaps our country has become like a cracked bell. It is armed forces day.

Numbers 32:6–12 But Moses said to the people of Gad and to the people of Reuben, “Shall your brothers go to the war while you sit here? Why will you discourage the heart of the people of Israel from going over into the land that the LORD has given them? Your fathers did this, when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to see the land. For when they went up to the Valley of Eshcol and saw the land, they discouraged the heart of the people of Israel from going into the land that the LORD had given them. And the LORD's anger was kindled on that day, and he swore, saying, ‘Surely none of the men who came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, shall see the land that I swore to give to

Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, because they have not wholly followed me, none except Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite and Joshua the son of Nun, for they have wholly followed the LORD.’ “Your sin (of draft dodging) will find you out.”

Psalm 46:7–9 The LORD of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our fortress. Selah Come, behold the works of the LORD, how he has brought desolations on the earth. He makes wars cease to the end of the earth; he breaks the bow and shatters the spear; he burns the chariots with fire.

Psalm 55:19–23 God will give ear and humble them, he who is enthroned from of old, Selah because they do not change and do not fear God. My companion stretched out his hand against his friends; he violated his covenant. His speech was smooth as butter, yet war was in his heart; his words were softer than oil, yet they were drawn swords. Cast your burden on the LORD, and he will sustain you; he will never permit the righteous to be moved. But you, O God, will cast them down into the pit of destruction; men of blood and treachery shall not live out half their days. But I will trust in you.

Psalm 68:30 Rebuke the beasts that dwell among the reeds, the herd of bulls with the calves of the peoples. Trample underfoot those who lust after tribute; scatter the peoples who delight in war.

Psalm 140:1–2 Deliver me, O LORD, from evil men; preserve me from violent men, who plan evil things in their heart and stir up wars continually.

The only way to have peace is to prepare for war. We have never been more poorly prepared. We are in very serious trouble.

Romans 3:27 Where then is boasting? It is excluded. By what principle? that of works? Definitely not; but by the principle of faith.

“But by the Principle of Faith”

1. The law or principle of faith is that by which the human race enters into a relationship with the integrity of God on terms of grace. Ephesians 2:8–9
2. The first blessing of the justice of God is divine righteousness imputed and resultant justification.
3. The means of attainment is faith, faith in Jesus Christ. Faith must have an object since faith has no merit in itself. The object of faith is Jesus Christ. The object has all of the merit.
4. The object of salvation is Jesus Christ, hence salvation adjustment to the justice of God is accomplished through faith in the Lord Jesus.
5. All of the believing in the world secures nothing but condemnation from the integrity of God. However, the tiniest bit of faith in the Lord Jesus Christ secures eternal salvation.
6. There is no merit in having faith, the merit lies in the object of faith. It is believing in Jesus Christ that provides eternal life.

7. Therefore faith is not something we do [principle of works] but the channel by which we appropriate what God has done for us.

Postulate: God found a way to bless us from His integrity without compromising His perfect essence.

God Able to Bless Us from His Integrity

Postulate: God found a way to bless us from His integrity without compromising His perfect essence

1. God did not do this from human sentimentality or emotional attraction to pleasant human personality.
2. Man often concludes from his arrogance that self-righteousness and boasting that he has done something to please God, or has made God fall in love with him, is really the issue. These are the erroneous conclusions of man's arrogance.
3. Under the law or principle of works man strives for a status which is attractive or pleasing to God.
4. This striving of self-righteousness eliminates the principle of faith because in effect it rejects the integrity of God.
5. The provision of the integrity of God is a grace provision compatible with the essence of God.
6. The self-righteousness of man is part of the law or principle of works (works righteousness) which produces human boasting as a system of blasphemy to the perfect integrity of God.
7. Therefore the integrity of God is the issue. God found a way to bless man from His justice without compromising any of His attributes of divine essence.
8. Justification by faith is an action of divine integrity whereby God is free to provide eternal salvation from the source of His justice. Justification logically precedes all blessings of salvation. We must have God's righteousness in order to receive blessings from God.
9. The grace principle of justification by faith eliminates any boasting or self-righteousness, the entire system of human works operative from the garden.
10. Boasting erroneously concludes divine approbation for any system of self-righteousness.
11. But the law of faith recognizes that God loves His righteousness, not human works. God does not love our own personal righteousness.
12. God loves His plan, not man's plan. God loves His works, not the works of man. Response to the plan of God and entrance into a relationship with God is based in His integrity, and at the point of faith in Jesus Christ we have our first adjustment to the justice of God.

Romans 3:27 Where then is boasting? It is excluded. By what principle? that of works? Definitely not; but by the principle of faith.

Bob is not going to cater to anyone who shows up only on Sundays.

Principle

1. The principle of the law of works is evil, a Satanic design presented to man in the garden as the alternate to perfect environment from the integrity of God.
 - a. The first dispensation is direct blessing from God to man. Man was not innocent. He did not need to know anything about good and evil. In the perfect environment in the garden, Adam only needed to know about the one tree to avoid.
 - b. What past Bible teachers have called the dispensation of innocence is not that at all, it is direct blessing from the integrity of God totally apart from man's merit and totally related to his creation. Man was innocent at all. He had certain things he didn't have to know. He didn't have to know anything about evil, about human good and evil. The tree of the knowledge of good and evil was forbidden because in his creation relationship the integrity of God only gave man information as to what he needed. In the perfect environment of the garden the only thing he had to know about good and evil, the whole system of Satanic function in world history, was to stay away from it—do not eat from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. That was a statement from the integrity of God. As long as man observed that statement he had a relationship with the integrity of God based on creation. Once man rejected that statement and partook of the forbidden fruit he no longer had the creation relationship with the integrity of God. Perfect environment is not the answer to anything. Man cannot produce perfect environment, only the integrity of God can do that.
 - c. Our government is trying to provide a perfect environment. Our Supreme Court is anti-Constitution. Government is trying to make people like one another.
2. This law of works was called in the garden was called the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.
3. Good and evil are synonymous terms under the law of works.
4. The law of works implies that man by man's talents, self-righteousness, good deeds, personality improvement, advances the integrity of God.
5. But man does not glorify the integrity of God; only God can glorify the integrity of God.
6. The justice of God does the work. The justice of God judged the sins of the human race when Christ was bearing them on the cross.
7. Consequently we respond in a non-meritorious manner—the law of faith, the principle of faith.
8. The justice of God provides temporal and eternal blessing for the believer with maximum doctrine resident in the soul.
9. It is always the integrity of God doing the work. Boasting and self-righteousness are excluded. Man's works are totally excluded.

10. Through maximum adjustment to the justice of God the believer can glorify God, but the believer cannot glorify or promote God or demote God by his own actions. We can neither promote nor demote the integrity of God. God's integrity is not fragile; we cannot harm it.

Romans 3:28 Therefore we reckon a man to be justified by faith apart from works of the Law.

Verse 28 – the principle of faith obviously excludes the works of the law. “Therefore we conclude that man is justified by faith” – the word for ‘conclude’ is a present middle indicative of the verb logizomai (λογίζομαι) [pronounced log-IHD-zohm-ai]. The meaning of this word in Classical Greek is an act of thought according to strict logical rules. In commerce and business was used in the sense of crediting something to one's account. However, with the preposition eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] here the meaning is changed slightly. It connotes the scale or currency used to estimate the value of an object. Also from the Attic Greek, men such as Plato used the word for non-emotional thinking—which parallels the idea of logical thinking. Logical thinking excludes emotion. Demosthenes in his speeches used this verb to express the concept of facts as they are. Here in this verse it means to conclude logically or to logically infer. We translate it, “We conclude.” The present tense is a customary present denoting what habitually occurs when the doctrine of divine integrity is combined with the doctrine of propitiation to form a logical conclusion. The middle voice is the indirect middle emphasizing the agent, the believer with maximum doctrine in the soul producing the action. The indicative mood is declarative for an unqualified assertion of fact. With this is the postpositive conjunctive particle gar used as an inferential conjunction. It is an inferential conjunction used in the case of a self-evident conclusion—“We conclude then.”

Plus the accusative singular of general reference from the noun anthrōpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos], referring to mankind. The accusative of general reference is the subject of the infinitive and we have a present passive infinitive of dikaioō (δικαιόω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh], meaning to be vindicated or to be justified; meaning to have the righteousness of God and therefore qualified for blessing from the justice of God. This is a customary present tense, it denotes what habitually occurs when a person believes in Christ, making instant adjustment to the justice of God at salvation. The passive voice: mankind receives the action of the verb at the point of faith in Christ. This is the infinitive of actual result. Plus the instrumental singular of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs], used here is the active sense of believing—“We conclude, then, that a man is justified by faith.”

“without the deeds of the law” – the adverb chōros (χωρός) [pronounced KHOH-ross] used as an improper preposition, plus the genitive plural of ergon (ἔργον) [pronounced EHR-gon], “apart from the works.” Plus the possessive genitive singular of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss]. It was the law being used to produce self-righteousness at that time.

Romans 3:28 We conclude, then, that man is justified by faith apart from the works of the law.

Justification is the judicial act of God whereby He recognizes His very own righteousness, even when it is given to anyone who believes in Christ. Justification is God's recognition of imputed righteousness at the moment of faith in Christ.

Salvation Adjustment to the Justice of God

1. Justification by faith means salvation adjustment to the justice of God by one way only: faith in Christ.
2. The moment anyone believes in Christ he has attained or accomplished instant adjustment to the justice of God.
3. The justice of God immediately imputes one half of God's integrity, namely God's righteousness; and it is credited to our account totally apart from human works.
4. Having received this divine righteousness from the justice of God the believer is pronounced righteous, vindicated, justified.
5. The works of the law represent any system of salvation by works.
6. Salvation by works cannot provide instant adjustment to the justice of God.
7. There are seven categories of salvation by works which are practiced at the present time.
 - a. Verbal works which adds to faith in Christ: repent, confess, beg God to save you, plead the blood, invite Christ into your heart, acknowledge Christ publicly;
 - b. Ritual works: circumcision, baptism, and rarely but occasionally the Lord's table;
 - c. Psychological works: appeal to the emotion, raise your hand, walk the isle, etc.;
 - d. Corporate works: joining the church for salvation, tithing or giving money, some system a church sets up;
 - e. Religious works: keep the law, do penance, practice the Lordship of Christ, associate your decisions with throwing a faggot on the fire, some candle-light service, taking vows, the functions of asceticism;
 - f. Behaviouristic works: giving up something obnoxious, following a set of taboos, change your personality;
 - g. Emotional works: any system of ecstasies, emotional stimulation being added, speaking in tongues, weeping tears at the altar, etc. Some want to feel saved..

1977 Romans

Lesson #107

107 05/22/1977 Romans 3:29–31 Adjustment to justice of God removes all racial barriers

Verses 29-30, adjustment to the justice of God removes all racial issues.

Adjustment to the Justice of God Removes all Racial Issues

1. The reality of history, the nature of the prophecy of races—Genesis chapter 10, the problem of arrogance and self-righteousness as a result of success, have motivated people to make an issue out of their racial origin.
2. However there is no such thing as a pure race any longer in history.
3. As illustrated by the Jews who have the best genealogy of all, the two tribes which came from Joseph are half Gentile.
4. Not only does the Bible removes the racial issue but the Constitution of the United States makes no issue of race.
5. Therefore racial issues are generally the result of reversionism and evil. The so-called minority problem is an evil solution to the racial problem.
6. The integrity of God and relationship to the integrity of God is the true issue, not race.
7. In this dispensation whether one is a Jew or Gentile, privileged or underprivileged, is never the issue. The only issue is adjustment to the justice of God under three categories: salvation, rebound, spiritual maturity.
8. All races are eligible for adjustment to the justice of God, and all races can do it. The individual must be related to the integrity of God, regardless of his race.

Romans 3:29 Or is He the God of Jews only, not also of Gentiles? Yes, also of Gentiles,...

Verse 29 – “Is he the God of the Jews only?” This is an elliptical question which begins the discussion of racial issue and privileges of race. It begins with the disjunctive particle ê (ἢ) [pronounced ā] which separates opposite race which are mutually exclusive, translated “or.” Then the objective genitive plural of loudaίος (Ἰουδαίος) [pronounced ee-ou-DYE-os], plus the predicate nominative singular ho theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS], plus the neuter monon (μόνον) [pronounced MOHN-on] used as an adverb limiting the action of the one producing the action, namely God. God is not limited to one race in the concept of blessing from His integrity. “Or is the God the God of the Jews only?”

“is he not also of the Gentiles?” – the strong negative adverb ouch (οὐχί) [pronounced oo-KHEE]. This word is used as an interrogative word in questions that expect an affirmative answer. Plus the adjunctive use of kai, translated “also.” Then the objective genitive plural from ethnos (ἔθνος, ους, τό) [pronounced EHTH-noss], used here for the Gentiles.

“Yes, of the Gentiles also” – the affirmative particle nai (ναί) [pronounced nahee], used for a positive answer to a question that already expects a positive answer, plus the adjunctive use of kai for “also,” and the objective genitive plural from ethnos (ἔθνος, ους, τό) [pronounced EHTH-noss]—“Yes, he is the God of the Gentiles also.”

Romans 3:29 Or is the God the God of the Jews only? Is he not also the God of the Gentiles? Yes, he is also the God of the Gentiles.

Notice the distinction between the privileged and apparently non-privileged races. The Jews as the fourth race are unique. The various Gentile races have had their ups and downs, mostly downs historically. Therefore there seems to be some prejudice in the matter.

Race and the Integrity of God

1. Race is never the issue, only the integrity of God. God is not God if He provides blessing for one race only, or for one race to the exclusion of other races.
2. The very foundation of the Jewish race was total relationship with the integrity of God. Abraham had maximum adjustment to the justice of God before he became the father of the Jewish race.
3. The very foundation of the Jewish race known as Israel was a total relationship with the integrity of God—Moses had maximum adjustment to the justice of God. So the race and the nation are related to two ultra-super-grace believers who had total relationship with the integrity of God.
4. Everything God has promised and everything God has done for the Jews is also available to the Gentiles, for every blessing from God to man is from the source of His integrity. The functioning part of His integrity is divine justice.
5. Jesus Christ who is the God of Israel is also the Prince-ruler of the Church which contains Gentiles as well as Jews.
6. Gentiles who adjusted to the justice were blessed from the integrity of God in the Old Testament.
7. The God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob is the God of the Church, the royal family of God in this dispensation.
8. The source of blessing for all members of the human race is directly related to the integrity of God; and no race is excepted, any race can reach maturity adjustment to the justice of God.
9. Therefore no race has any advantage over any other race, except as that race exploits the grace of God through adjustment to the justice of God.
10. Advantage is blessing from that part of the integrity of God known as the justice of God.

Postulates of Divine Integrity reviewed. These postulates apply to all races.

Points

1. Since the God of the Jews is also the God of the Gentiles there is a common way of having relationship with the integrity of God for all races. Underprivileged comes from lack of relationship with the integrity of God.
2. Jesus Christ is the only saviour for all races.
3. The justice of God judged the sins of all races. When you make an issue out of race, it comes from the thinking of evil. Bussing is evil.
4. Therefore both Jew and Gentile adjust to the justice of God at salvation in exactly the same manner—faith in Christ. No exceptions.
5. Since therefore God saves the Jew and the Gentile in the same way neither the law nor any other accoutrements of race can save.

6. Since the law cannot be the source of salvation adjustment to the justice of God neither can any work or plan or talent or function of man have anything to do with salvation. This includes all races and all of the best customs.
7. Since the law was given exclusively to the Jews at the foundation of their nation, and since circumcision was given to the Jews at the beginning of their race, neither the law nor circumcision can have anything to do with salvation adjustment to the justice of God.
8. For all races, peoples, conglomerates adjustment to the justice of God at salvation is based on faith in Jesus Christ.
9. At the moment of faith in Christ, justification is the judicial act of the justice of God whereby divine righteousness is imputed to the believer and God recognizes His own righteousness with the pronouncement of justification. He does it no matter what the race.
10. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God is based on God's righteousness, not on man's self-righteousness or works righteousness.
11. In other words, salvation is the judicial process of the grace of God.
12. Justice and righteousness, the attributes of divine integrity, are the basis of our eternal salvation.

Everything that is great about the Indian is to be found in Cochise. Geronimo was one of the worst. Geronimo believed in Jesus Christ and will be in heaven. Cochise possibly not. Indians did not have a garbage collection site; and they did not use toilet paper. Bob is part English and part Scot. The race makes no difference; only our adjustment to the justice of God.

Romans 3:30 ...since indeed God is the One who will justify the circumcision by faith and the uncircumcision through the same faith. (BLB)

Verse 30 – a protasis. “Seeing it is one God” – the conditional particle επειπερ (επειπερ) [pronounced ep-Ī-per] [e]i == used in combination with per to introduce a first class condition. ei (ει) [pronounced Ī] in itself plus any tense in the indicative mood is the way a first class condition is introduced. Combined with per it can be literally translated “If in deed,” but επειπερ (επειπερ) [pronounced ep-Ī-per] really means “since,” introducing a first class condition as reality.]

Plus the predicate nominative of the numeral adjective heís, mia, hen (εΐς, μία, ἓν) [pronounced hice, MEE-ah, ehn], referring to the fact that God is one in essence, not that there is one God in person. Three persons; all one in essence. In other words, it emphasizes here that God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit have co-equal, co-existent righteousness and justice. Plus the nominative subject theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] with the nominative singular definite article ho. We translate this, “Since the Godhead is one.” That means one in essence, one in integrity.

There is complete consistency among the Godhead. There are no arguments between them. For salvation faith, for rebound, all three Members of the Godhead are in full agreement and fully harmony. A consistency of policy. There is one way to grow spiritually, and that is through Bible doctrine. All Members of the Godhead are consistent in all things. There are not multiple ways of salvation. There are not two different ways of salvation, one in the Old and faith in Christ in the New.

“which shall justify the circumcision by faith” – the nominative singular from the relative pronoun hos whose antecedent is God, and therefore shouldn't be “which,” it is “who.”

Then the future active indicative of the verb dikaioō (δικαίω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh] which means here to justify—“who shall justify.” The future tense is a gnomic future for a dogmatic statement of an absolute doctrine which occurs at the moment of salvation. The active voice: the justice of God produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic statement of doctrine.

Plus the accusative singular direct object from the noun peritomê (περιτομή) [pronounced per-it-om-AY]—“circumcision.” Plus a prepositional phrase, ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]. The ablative is not the regular case to express means, it is only used to express means when the original source is implied.

“and the uncircumcision through faith” – dia plus the genitive of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] this time.

Romans 3:30 Since the Godhead is one in essence [or, integrity], who shall justify the circumcision [the Jew] by faith, and the uncircumcision [Gentile] through [that same] faith.

The unity of the Godhead means that Jews and Gentiles are saved in the same way. The Godhead is completely consistent.

Romans 3:31 Do we, then, nullify the Law through faith? Never may it be! Instead, we uphold Law.

Verse 31 – the conclusion of the apodosis: faith in Christ does not abrogate or cancel the true purpose of the law in condemning sin and pointing to Christ as the only means of salvation. There is no conflict between justification by faith and the true purpose of the law.

“Do we then make void the law through faith?” The accusative singular direct object of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss] in the emphatic position. The apodosis is going to deal with the Mosaic law since it has been distorted. Then the inferential conjunction oun (οὖν) [pronounced oon] denoting that what it introduces is the result of the inference from the protasis. Plus the present active indicative of katargeō (καταργέω) [pronounced kaht-ahrg-EH-oh], which means to null and void, to cancel. The present tense is a perfective present used to denote the continuation of existing results. The active voice: the person who believes in Christ allegedly produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is the interrogative indicative. Then the prepositional phrase dia plus the genitive of pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]. Translation: “Do we cancel the law through that same faith?”

The true function of the Mosaic law has never been cancelled, has never been abrogated through distortion. Many people have distorted the law into a system of self-righteousness. That does not cancel the true purpose of the law which is fulfilled when anyone sees from the law that he is a sinner, he is condemned, he is spiritually dead, and he responds by believing in Christ.

“God forbid” – mê (μή) [pronounced may] genoito (γίνοιτο) [pronounced GEE-noyt-oh], “Definitely not.”

“yea, we establish the law” – the word “yea” has no meaning here. We have the adversative conjunction allá (ἀλλά) [pronounced ahl-LAH] after a negative to introduce a contrast in the form of a positive declaration. In other words, eliminate the negative and emphasize the positive is what allá (ἀλλά) [pronounced ahl-LAH] does. “On the contrary” is the correct translation. Then the accusative singular direct object of nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss], plus the present active indicative of the verb histanô (ἵστανω) [pronounced HIHS-tawn-oh], an Attic Greek verb similar to Koine histêmi (ἵστημι) [pronounced HIHS-tay-mee], but not the same. histêmi (ἵστημι) [pronounced HIHS-tay-mee] meant to stand; histanô (ἵστανω) [pronounced HIHS-tawn-oh] always meant to establish. This is a perfective present tense, it denotes the continuation of the existing results. The active voice: the believer who attains salvation adjustment to the justice of God establishes the true purpose of the Mosaic law. The declarative indicative mood is for a dogmatic statement of doctrine: “on the contrary we establish the law.”

Romans 3:31 Do we cancel the law through that same faith? Definitely not. On the contrary we establish the law.

This is the last time on Romans 3. Corrected translation repeated.

- [1] See the Doctrine of the Priest nation.
- [2] See the Doctrine of The Importance of Doctrine.
- [3] See the Doctrine of the Old Sin Nature.
- [4] See the Doctrine of the Sins of the Tongue.
- [5] See the Doctrine of Evil
- [6] See the Doctrine of Murder.
- [7] See the Doctrine of Justification.
- [8] See the Doctrine of Redemption.
- [9] See the Doctrine of the Blood.

1977 Romans

Lesson #108

108 05/23/1977 Romans 4 (Intro.) Integrity of God: postulates, stability, blessings from love
1 & 2

God's integrity is composed of His righteousness and His justice; and justice is our point of contact. All blessing and all discipline comes from the same source, the justice of God. If the blessing is not from God, then it does not count. We are not connected to His sovereignty, omnipotence, or love.

Instantly, we believe in Christ, and instantly, we receive 36 things. That is the first adjustment to the justice of God. The second adjustment is rebound. There is no way that we can intrude with any system of self-righteousness. God is not impressed with us; so we can search out what does impress God. He is impressed by His Own righteousness and by His Own justice. God judged our sins when Christ was bearing them on the cross. You do not work in the grace realm.

The postulates of divine integrity. God will give us motivation blessings as we go along. We do not have to wait for supergrace in order to enjoy the blessings from God. We live in a pretty good time. We have all of the conveniences right now. If you have the advantage, then you have the advantages. The nation without the advantage loses the advantages.

The Stability of the Integrity of God

1. The holiness or integrity of God has always existed; never a time when it did not exist in total perfection. God's integrity has never been improved.
2. Billions of years before the creation of man, God possessed perfect integrity in two categories: righteousness as the principle of His integrity and justice as the function of His integrity.
3. There is nothing that man can do to destroy the integrity of God. Man corrupts almost everything he comes into contact with, because of the sin nature. This is the one thing that we come into contact with that we cannot corrupt. You can take the noble savage; I will take indoor plumbing.
4. Man's point of reference or man's point of contact with God is the justice part of His integrity. It is not love or sovereignty.
5. Consequently, there is nothing that man can do to destroy the integrity of God. God's integrity relates to man in terms of perfect security. God does misfile, misplace or forget us.
6. There are two things that God cannot stand about us: He cannot stand our sinfulness or our self-righteousness. Man's personality and good deeds do not honor the integrity of God.
7. There is no point in either angelic or human history where the integrity of God gains anything from the function of His creatures. Bob is anticipating this chapter. You have never shocked or impressed God. God is only impressed with His Own integrity and what that integrity produces. For instance, Abraham's offering of Isaac, David's killing of Goliath.
8. On the contrary, creatures gain in their relationship because of the integrity of God. God's righteousness is absolute.
9. God's righteousness is eternal, perfect and not subject to improvement.

10. Man cannot change or promote the righteousness of God. No one can establish or promote the integrity of God.
11. God's righteousness is the guardian of God's justice. God's justice is the guardian of His essence. Therefore, the essence of God stands without help from man or angels. When we get help from God, it must come from His justice.
- 12.
13. We need the benefit of God's integrity.
14. The first imputation of salvation adjustment to the justice of God is the imputation of God's righteousness. This is like issuing to us a massive cup.
15. The imputation of divine righteousness is the justice of God giving us one half of the integrity of God.

Bob cannot stand beer. He does not even like Coors. Don't mix legalism up with true self-righteousness. You can be grace oriented and have good taste. The integrity of God does not demand stereotyped taste in everything.

Love 1 versus Love 2 (a review)

People constantly talk about God's love.

1. Like all divine attributes, love belongs to the essence of God. His love is perfect. He does not fall in love; His love does not improve. He does not fall in love with us.
2. God's love has two directions: objectively toward the other members of the Trinity. Subjectively, God loves His Own justice and righteousness. God did not suddenly become aware of His righteousness and then He loved it.
3. In contrast to human love, divine love does not need to be sustained by emotion or have an object. When there is emotion, it is called romance. Romance is wonderful and it is legitimate. Bob remembers going to the library and looking for books about romance because they trained the emotion in the field of love.
4. Human love is thinking, emotion, sex, the spiritual factor of love. A woman cannot truly love a man without awe and respect. Strangely enough, fear is often the beginning of love.
5. Mankind tends to superimpose his own concepts of love onto God. This is man's greatest error as a believer. He does this by erroneous thinking, emotion, and by a pseudo spirituality.
6. The superficial approach to Scripture confuses the anthropathism of love with the actual attribute of God. Love 1 v. love 2.
7. An anthropathism is a characteristic of man to God, something which God does not possess: like repentance or love or anger. Divine policy, function or motivation explained in human terms.
8. Romans 9:13 is the illustration of love and hate as anthropathisms.
9. Divine motivation expressed in terms of human love as an anthropathism found in 1John 4:19 John 3:16.
10. While love as an anthropathism, it is not the direct source of blessing from God.
11. The direct source of all blessing from God is divine justice.

12. Divine justice protects all the divine attributes of God from corruption in His relationship with man.
13. Therefore, while all divine attributes are indirectly involved in man's blessing from God, only divine justice is the direct source for that blessing.

Romans 4 relates the divine blessings to Abraham from their divine source. These set a precedent for all divine blessing.

Outline for Chapter 4

1. The first 16 verses of this chapter deal with the subject of salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Abraham is said to be the father of us all in the middle of this chapter, and the word "father" means pattern. He is the pattern for all adjustments to the justice of God, starting at salvation.
2. Verses 17-21 is the parenthesis in which we have two other adjustments to the justice of God, one is implied and the other is stated. The rebound adjustment to the justice of God is the means of spirituality—the link between salvation and maturity.
3. In verses 22-25 we have the conclusion to the whole matter. Old Testament salvation concluded. Abraham's salvation adjustment and maturity adjustment.

Spirituality is the link between salvation and spiritual maturity. Spirituality is the means; it is not an end in itself.

The integrity of God is also covered in Lesson #288.

The Integrity of God (a Review)

1. God is holy. He has integrity, composed of righteousness and justice.
2. God has always had His integrity. He did not attain it or acquire it. But we are not born with it. We must acquire it.
3. Integrity of God is absolute, infinite and eternal; a part of His perfect essence.
4. It is not just the absence of evil but the sum total of His perfection.
5. It is not maintained by His will or His sovereignty. It is an essential part of His divine being.
6. God is immutable. God is never better or worse.
7. God's being is unalterable, absolute and totally consistent. God's nature cannot change.
8. When God's integrity acts, God's justice and righteousness coordinate/are involved.
9. God's righteousness is perfect, rejecting man's sinfulness and His self-righteousness. Righteousness always demands righteousness; justice always demands justice.
10. God's judgments are perfect, demanding perfection from the impartial and eternal judge.

11. Though God loved His Son with a perfect and eternal love, that love was set aside when judging our sins on the cross. Justice has priority over love in the function of divine attributes.
12. God's integrity takes precedence over divine love with dealing with man.
13. Our point of contact is, therefore, divine justice and not divine love.
14. God's love for His righteousness takes precedence of His love for His Son on the cross. Righteousness demands righteousness; and justice demands justice. God had no choice. His love was not the major factor.
15. Because the justice of God must punish sin and because the righteousness of God must demand integrity, there is a grace way of receiving God's justice and righteousness.
16. In reality, there are three ways; one must follow the other. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Rebound adjustment to the justice of God. Maturity adjustment to the justice of God
17. 2 of these adjustments are emphasized in Romans 4. Maturity adjustment to the justice of God in vv. 17–21.

1977 Romans

Lesson #109

109 05/24/1977 Romans 4:1–2 Abraham, pattern of Old Testament–New Testament salvation; justification; seven categories of works for salvation

Outline of chapter is reviewed.

3 adjustment to the justice of God reviewed.

Abraham Justified by Faith vv. 1–16 (Abraham as the test case)

Romans 4:1 What then shall we say Abraham our father discovered according to the flesh?

Verse 1 – Abraham, the test case. “What shall we say then” includes the nominative neuter singular from the interrogative pronoun τίς (τις) [pronounced tihç], correctly translated “what.” The future active indicative from the verb λέγω (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh] is a part of the idiom and forms a rhetorical question which occurs seven times in the book of Romans. It is a art of debater’s technique and it also indicates a change of subject following the general overall concept of adjustment to the justice of God, but picking it up from a new standpoint. This is encountered first in Romans 3:5, now in 4:1, again in 6:1; 7:7; 8:31; 9:14, 30 (7x). The future tense of λέγω (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh] is a deliberative future used for a rhetorical question taking the place of a deliberate assertion. A rhetorical question is used to teach a point of doctrine in the same way as the dogmatic approach is used. The active voice: Paul produces the action of the verb formulating a Greek idiom which forces a conclusion. The conclusion is forced from the first three chapters. The indicative mood is the interrogative indicative used for a rhetorical question designed to force a conclusion. Also, an inferential postpositive particle οὐν (οὐν)

[pronounced oon] used as a part of the rhetorical question and is literally translated, “Therefore what shall we say.” But that is not the correct translation. This is a Greek idiom and it should be translated, “Therefore to what conclusion are we forced.”

The teacher assumes that his audience are in some doubt with regards to the matter. He is doing all of this wonderful teaching, and then stopping and saying, “Okay, to what conclusion are we forced, based upon what we just studied?”

Sweetness and light is not the way to teach. He slams his congregation around with a lot of sanctified sarcasm. We live on the edge of a volcano. There is no place for the typical attitude of fundies.

“that Abraham our father, as pertaining to the flesh, hath found?” Perfect active infinitive of the verb heuriskō (εὕρισκω) [pronounced hyoo-RIHS-koh] which means to find, to discover. The New Testament uses this word in the sense of to discover or to obtain. The perfect tense is the intensive perfect, it indicates a completed action and the results are therefore intensified. It emphasizes the results of the action. Abraham is recognized not only as the father of the Jewish race and one of the greatest believers of all time. He produces the action, and every time he produces action the Jews are interested. The infinitive is the infinitive of an actual result. With this is an indeclinable proper noun, Abraam (Ἀβραάμ) [pronounced ab-rah-AHM]. Being indeclinable it indicates something of his fame. Then an appositional accusative of general reference from propator—I simply have patēr (πατήρ) [pronounced pat-AYR] instead, which means ancestor or forefather, plus the possessive genitive plural from egó (ἐγώ) [pronounced ehg-OH]—“our forefather,” and “our” refers to the Jews as a part of the fourth race which began with Abraham. Since Abraham had maximum adjustment to the justice of God it is simple to assume that he made the prior adjustments—salvation and rebound—when necessary, so that everyone recognizes that Abraham came to have a total relationship with the integrity of God. Therefore he becomes the perfect pattern for what is being taught. The pattern is taken from the Old Testament, indicating that there is no difference between New Testament and Old Testament salvation, it is always the same.

Then a prepositional phrase, kata plus the accusative singular of sarx (σάρξ) [pronounced sarx]—“according to the flesh” which is simply a prepositional phrase used as an adjective meaning human.

Romans 4:1 Therefore to what conclusion are we forced, that Abraham our human forefather has obtained?” or “Therefore what do we conclude that Abraham our forefather has obtained?”

Abraham was an Akkadian Semitic in the famous 3rd dynasty of Ur. He became a Jew. He was saved as a gentile. He became a Jew at the point of adjustment to the justice of God. He is revered by the Jews as their father.

Abraham as the Pattern for Old Testament Salvation

1. Abraham is a test case for salvation. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God is the same for Old and New Testaments. As goes Abraham so goes the principle of salvation adjustment to the justice of God. He is the first Jew.
2. How Abraham is justified or how he adjusted to the justice of God at salvation indicates the pattern for Old Testament salvation. If you want to know what salvation was in the Old Testament, then you go to Abraham.
3. If Abraham was justified by faith apart from works then it follows that all salvation adjustment to the justice of God is in the same pattern. Abraham was saved long before the Law because the Law did not exist; and there was no Israel.
4. He obviously cannot be saved by the Law, as the Law did not exist.

The Jews have developed all kinds of gimmick systems by which they are saved; but Abraham shows them that he is the pattern to follow.

The straw man or the hypothetical supposition. These are often given as a conditional sentence. Something is assumed to be true in order to show that it cannot be true. A debater's technique. Paul was undoubtedly a genius debater, possibly the greatest in history. In the field of genius, no one stands taller than Moses and Paul.

Romans 4:2 For if Abraham was justified by works, he has ground of boasting, but not toward God.

Verse 2 – using a debater's technique, setting up a straw man or an erroneous assumption and then hacking it to pieces logically. The hypothetical supposition takes the side of the legalistic Jew who contends for justification by works, or salvation by keeping the law. Human self-righteousness is included, say the legalistic Jew. Hypothetical suppositions are generally given in the form of a conditional sentence, divided into a protasis and an apodosis. The first clause is the protasis, the second the apodosis. The protasis gives the basis from which the apodosis or conclusion is drawn. The apodosis is always an inference from the protasis.

“For if Abraham were justified by works” – the postpositive conjunctive particle gar is used first as an inferential conjunction to introduce the hypothetical supposition. This supposition is the viewpoint of the Judaizers. The conditional particle ei (εἰ) [pronounced /] introduces the protasis of a debater's first class condition in which Paul now assumes the erroneous position of legalism, specifically the legalistic Judaizers who contend for justification by works in order to be saved. The fallacy of the theory of justification by works is refuted by first of all assuming it to be true and then showing what a lot of nonsense it is.

Then the aorist passive indicative of the verb dikaioō (δικαίω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh] which means to justify or to vindicate. Paul agrees with the legalists at the moment in order to show them how stupid they are and how fallacious is their position. This is a constative aorist tense which contemplates instant adjustment to the justice of God and gathers it into one entirety. With the legalist there is no such thing as instant adjustment to the justice of God, you have to keep the law over a long period of time. It takes a long time to develop self-righteousness by observing the Mosaic law. The constative aorist is used in sarcasm. The passive voice: the subject is Abraham and he receives the action of the verb under the assumption of justification by works. Abraham did not use the Mosaic law for salvation. The indicative mood is potential because this is not a real, true statement.

Jews, by claiming to be saved by the Law, insult their original ancestor Abraham, as there was no Law at that time.

Next is a prepositional phrase, ek (ἐκ) [pronounced ehk] plus the ablative plural of means from ergon (ἔργον) [pronounced EHR-gon]. The general way to state means is the instrumental case. The ablative case is also used to state means, only when the source is implied. The source here is works. The translation should be, “For assuming that Abraham has been justified by means of works.” ei (εἰ) [pronounced ɪ] is the word “assuming.” This is a debater’s 1st class condition.

The Justification from the Justice of God

1. Justification is the work of the integrity of God.
2. Remember that righteousness is the principle of divine integrity, justice is the function of that integrity.
3. Justification, then, is the judicial act of God whereby mankind makes salvation adjustment to the justice of God, freeing the justice of God to provide divine righteousness and consequent vindication. Salvation is the work of God and then God gives us His righteousness as well. This excludes any system of self-righteousness. God’s righteousness and man’s righteousness are mutually exclusive. You cannot be saved by being good. Bob was taken to a church once when he was young and he was told by a Presbyterian minister good boys go to heaven and bad boys do not. That settled it. Bob knew where he was going at that point.
4. The imputation of divine righteousness at the moment of faith in Christ is the only way that God can justify or vindicate any member of the human race.
5. Justification, then, is the possession of divine righteousness, the basis for eternal relationship and blessing from God.
6. Justification here is salvation relationship with the integrity of God.
7. Justification is not forgiveness: forgiveness is subtraction, justification is addition.
8. Forgiveness subtracts sin but justification adds God’s righteousness. You must be a something in order to be blessed by God. The key is that God gives you His righteousness. You start out in the negative; you are forgiven for your sins, putting you to zero; and then you are given God’s righteousness, which puts you in the positive column. Unbelievers also have their sins forgiven. We cannot be blessed by God for simply having our sins forgiven. God can only bless from His justice those who are good as He is. This requires having His righteousness. The best we can manufacture on our own is produce self-righteousness, which God curses.
9. Justification refers to salvation adjustment to the justice of God for at the moment of faith in Christ God gives each one of us His righteousness. If someone gives you a perfect 5 carat diamond, and you say, I would rather wear my cheap glass ring instead. When you use human self-righteousness, you are telling God that you want to wear your glass ring.

10. No works, no payment is involved because Christ paid at the cross when He was judged for our sins by the justice of God.
11. The justice of God must judge our sins before the justice of God is free to bless us with the 36 advantages of salvation.
12. The mechanics for salvation adjustment to the justice of God are summarized under the word grace. Grace means no works. Grace is the policy of the justice of God in blessing man. Under grace, God works. Do you want to put your pitiful works up next to God's? Human works, human personality are all excluded.

“Now listen and get it, marshmallow heads.”

“For assuming that Abraham has been justified by means of works.” If you do not have God's righteousness, you do not have God's blessings.

“he hath whereof to glory” – the present active indicative of echô (ἔχω) [pronounced EKKH-oh] in modern English is “he has.” The present tense is a progressive present for action in a state of progress—linear aktionsart. The active voice: the test case, Abraham, produces the action under the assumption of debater's technique. The indicative mood is the potential indicative as a part of debater's technique. The accusative singular direct of kaúchēma (καύχημα) [pronounced KOW-khay-mah] which means the basis for boasting—“he has a basis for boasting.”

“but not before God” – the adversative conjunction allá (ἀλλά) [pronounced ahl-LAH] sets up a contrast, the contrast between human theory and divine reality. Plus the objective relative adverb ou (οὐ) [pronounced oo] which denies the reality of an alleged fact. Plus the prepositional phrase prós (πρός) [pronounced pross] plus the accusative of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—“face to face with/before God.”

Romans 4:2 Assuming that Abraham has justified by means of works, he has a basis for boasting, but not before God.

God is not impressed with human beings: with human ability, human personality, human good, human works. God is only impressed with God's righteousness, God's works. Therefore human good is totally rejected by the integrity of God.

Principle

1. Salvation by works is man competing with the work of God.
2. Salvation by works is man declaring his self-righteousness the equivalent to God's perfect, eternal, infinite righteousness.
3. Therefore salvation by works is blasphemy.
4. Salvation by works is total rejection of the integrity of God.
5. Salvation by works is maladjustment to the justice of God.

6. Maladjustment to the justice of God means that the justice of God can only condemn and punish, both in time and eternity.

The categories of salvation by works. The doctrine below came nearly a decade later. There are overlaps. The order is different. Some of the categories are different.

Doctrine of Salvation by Works

A. Definition.

1. Salvation by works is a false doctrine which rejects God's grace policy in the provision of eternal salvation for the human race.
2. Salvation by works rejects the total helplessness of mankind under real spiritual death. Real spiritual death not only means separation from God at birth and total depravity, but it also means helplessness to do anything about our status quo.
3. Salvation by works makes the distinction between Christianity and religion.
 - a. In Christianity, mankind is eternally saved through the work of God. God the Father planned it, God the Son executed it on the cross, and God the Holy Spirit reveals it.
 - b. However in religion, man seeks to gain the approbation of God through some category of human works, self-sacrifice, personality, or energy of the flesh. Christianity is not a religion. In Christianity, God does the work and man is the beneficiary apart from any merit or any works.
4. There are at least seven categories of salvation by works rejected by the Word of God, as in Eph 2:9, "It is not by works."

B. Verbal Works.

1. "Repent and believe." Repent means to change your mind about Christ, as occurs under the Holy Spirit's ministry of common grace. This word has been misinterpreted. No one is saved by feeling sorry for his sins.
2. Confession of sins: this is only for the believer in rebound.
3. Begging God to save you. This is ridiculous, coming from one who is spiritually dead.
4. "Inviting Christ into your heart" is total nonsense and blasphemy. A spiritually dead person cannot invite eternal God, the Lord Jesus Christ anywhere! Not into his heart, his home or his life. This is stupidity, asininity, emotion, and works. You believe in Christ! Do what the Bible says, not what some jackass evangelist says.
5. "Acknowledge Christ publicly." This is not effectual for salvation. This is a distortion of Rom 10:9-10 which is about cause and effect: the cause is faith; the result, as the believer matures, is to witness, to acknowledge Christ. But you're saved only by believing in the Lord Jesus Christ.
6. All this can be called the "magic word" system. People are very superstitious, and look for the magic word, e.g., "plead the blood of Christ." Nor do you ever "pray for strength." You receive strength by combining spiritual self-esteem with providential preventative suffering. There's no such thing as good or bad luck. This is a myth in the mind of imbeciles. So we carry our superstitions into the Christian life by trying to be saved by the "magic word."

7. Recognizing Jesus as Lord. The baptism of the Holy Spirit makes Jesus your Lord automatically.

C. Ritual Works.

1. Circumcision was the favorite of the Jews. Galatians was written to correct this. The Galatians were typical Gaelic people. They were very excited about Paul's ministry and responded and became believer. But after Paul left, the Judaizers counteracted, telling these new believers they could not be saved until they were also circumcised. These Gentile believers swallowed this. So Paul wrote Galatians, a letter telling them they'd gone astray from the Gospel. Not only that, but Paul likened them to the priests who had mutilated themselves to impress God, and it didn't work.
2. Salvation by baptism is prominent with us today. This was started by the Lutherans in the Reformation, copied from the Catholics; a heresy that has always existed in the Church Age. Baptism was a testimony to retroactive positional truth and current positional truth before the completion of the Canon.
3. Muttering such repetitious words or phrases as, "O God, O God, O God save me!" or "Hail Mary" do not impress God.
4. Partaking of the Eucharist.

D. Psychological Works.

1. "Come forward" in an invitation at the end of a service.
2. "Raise your hand" during prayer.
3. Walking down the aisle.
4. Give public testimony to your faith in Christ.
5. These are jumping through psychological hoops; it's psychology and not salvation. These make an issue of yourself and call attention to yourself. But salvation is designed to call attention to Jesus Christ!
6. These works have no value with God.

E. Corporate Works.

1. Join the church; if you don't join, you're not saved.
2. Tithe. This was commanded in the Mosaic Law as a 10% income tax for the client nation Israel. Tithing has no spiritual connotation, either for salvation or blessing. Giving is a matter of the privacy of your own priesthood. The amount you give is based on your own self-determination and has nothing to do with any blessing.
3. Church-related works. Just work faithfully around the church and God will save you. This becomes more popular at certain times.

F.

Religious Works. Religion is the devil's ace trump. Satan counterfeits Christianity through religion. Religion is one of the greatest systems of both moral and immoral degeneration.

1. Keep the Mosaic Law. This is a result of the Reformation. It started out with justification by faith, but it gradually moved to the works of keeping the Law and eventually developed into the Galatian compromise: First you have to believe in Christ; then you have to keep the Law.
2. Do penance.
3. Practice the "Lordship of Christ." This refers to the false doctrine taught by the stupid that "if Christ is not Lord of all He's not Lord at all." This is a failure to understand one of the forty things done for us at the moment of salvation. By the baptism of the Holy Spirit entering us into union with Christ, He is our Lord at the very moment of our salvation. Whether we recognize this or not is a matter of cognition of pertinent doctrine. But you do not have to acknowledge Jesus Christ as Lord for salvation. It's believe in Christ only.
4. Practice asceticism. What you give up at any time is inconsequential! People want to take what they have given up in their lives and compare it with the work of Cross! But the work of salvation was provided en toto on the Cross.
5. Self-denial.
6. Maintain a healthy body. To associate salvation or spirituality with health foods and vitamins is ludicrous!

G.

Behavioral Works.

1. Salvation by morality. Morality has to do with establishment; it is not the Christian life. The Protocol Plan of God is higher than morality. Moral degeneracy is very prominent today, where Christians in their arrogance self-righteousness are trying to straighten everyone out, to superimpose Christian laws and standards on everyone.
2. Salvation by personality change. Although a change in your personality may be desirable, is not the means of salvation.
3. Salvation by keeping taboos. Many think you can't really be saved if you drink, smoke, dance, wear makeup, swim in mixed company.

H.

Emotional Works.

1. Salvation by ecstasies.
2. Salvation by speaking in tongues. No one has legitimately spoken in tongues since August of 70 A.D. The gift of tongues was a temporary spiritual gift at the beginning of the Church Age to evangelize Jews in Gentile languages, as prophesied in Isa 28, a warning of the fifth cycle of discipline to come. Where people allege that speaking in tongues, or the "second blessing" is necessary for salvation, they are either very emotional or demon possessed.
3. Salvation through "feeling" saved, having the "rosy glow" experience, singing "Do Lord" until you're flushed and excited.
4. Salvation through weeping tears at the altar.
5. Faith has nothing to do with emotion. Rom 3:20-28 summarizes, "Therefore by the works of the Law no human being shall be justified in His presence, for through the Law is a knowledge of sin. But now apart from the Law the righteousness of God has been revealed, being confirmed by the Old Testament Scriptures [Law and the prophets], that is, the righteousness of God which comes through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe; for there is no racial difference between Jew and Gentile. All have sinned and fallen short of the glory of God, receiving justification without payment by means of grace through the redemption which is in Christ Jesus, whom God the Father has publicly displayed by His blood as the mercy seat, [the One who satisfied the righteousness of the Father], through faith, for a demonstration of His integrity because of the passing over of the previously committed sins, because of clemency from God; for the demonstration of His integrity at the present time of crisis, in order that He might be just even when He justifies anyone who has faith in Christ. Where then is boasting? It is excluded. By what principle? That of works? Definitely not! But by the principle of faith. Therefore, we conclude that man is justified by faith apart from the works of the Law."

- I. Salvation by Invitation.
 1. We don't invite Christ anywhere. He doesn't come to us; we come to Him by believing in Him.
 2. Remember our Lord's invitation in Mt 11:28, "Come unto Me, all you who are laboring and heavy-laden, and I will give you rest."
 3. Jn 6:35, "Jesus said to them, `I am the bread of life; he who comes to Me shall never hunger, and he who believes in Me shall never thirst.'"
 4. Jn 6:37, "Him that comes unto Me, I will in no wise cast out."
 5. Jn 6:47 explains what it means to come to Christ: "Truly, truly, I say unto you, he who believes in Me has eternal life."
 6. So always in the salvation invitation, you go to Jesus Christ; He does not come to you.
 7. Therefore, note there are two blasphemous invitations. We do not invite Christ to come to us. Rev 3:20 is addressed to believers. "Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If any man will open, I will come in to him and sup with him." That is a rebound verse and has nothing to do with salvation.
 - a. Inviting Christ into your heart is wrong.
 - b. Inviting Christ into your life is wrong.
 - c. Jer 17:9 teaches about our heart. "The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked; who can know it?" We do not invite Christ into a garbage dump.
 - d. Rom 5:12 teaches about our life. "Therefore, just as through one man sin entered into the world and death by sin, so death passed upon all men for all have sinned."
 - e. The unbeliever is under spiritual death, which means total depravity, being completely cut off from God. You don't invite Jesus Christ into the state of total depravity. You do not invite Jesus Christ into spiritual death.

8. In salvation through faith in Jesus Christ, He invites you outside of total depravity and spiritual death. Rom 6:23, "The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."
9. We make no invitations to Jesus Christ! If that's all you've ever done, you better believe in Jesus Christ or you will spend eternity in the Lake of Fire!
10. In salvation through faith in Christ, He invites you to come to Him; we don't invite Him to come to us.
11. In conclusion, inviting Christ into your heart or into your life is not the way of salvation, but an emotional form of legalism. Salvation is by faith in Christ, tantamount to coming to Christ, not Christ going to you.

J. Commitment salvation.

1. This is closely related to verbal works. It is putting the cart before the horse.
2. Commitment confuses the salvation work of Jesus Christ on the cross with the believer's dedication, noted in Rom 12:1. Therefore, it makes Rom 12:1 and similar commitment passages a condition for salvation.
3. Actually, commitment is a function that occurs after salvation.
4. So distinction must be made between the mandate for salvation, which is faith in Jesus Christ, and commitment, which is actually a number of post-salvation decisions.
5. When commitment is added to faith, there is no salvation. The ministry of the Holy Spirit in efficacious grace does not make commitment effective for salvation.

K. Lordship Salvation.

1. This is actually another verbal work, in which recognizing the lordship of Christ is added to faith.
2. This false system of salvation uses an false epigram that says, "If Christ is not Lord of all, He is not Lord at all."
3. This statement ignores completely the Lordship of Christ as a result of the baptism of the Spirit.
 - a. Jesus Christ was Lord in eternity past, is Lord now, and always will be Lord.
 - b. The moment we believe in Christ, the baptism of the Spirit enters us into union with Christ. Therefore, we share in His Lordship, and therefore He is our Lord. Whether we know it or not is not the issue. He is our Lord whether we know it or not.
4. You do not make a commitment of lordship for salvation; that cancels your salvation.
5. No one can make Christ Lord; only God the Holy Spirit can do that; and it is accomplished by the baptism of the Holy Spirit. The baptism of the Holy Spirit must never be confused with the salvation ministry of the Holy Spirit in efficacious grace. Logically, efficacious grace comes first.
6. Lordship salvation is salvation by works, and therefore is not salvation. The spiritually dead person does not have the ability to make Christ Lord of anything. All he can do is believe in Christ, and then the Holy Spirit makes his faith effectual for salvation.

7. The volition of the spiritually dead person cannot make Christ Lord or make any commitment.

L. Works are arrogance.

1. Why is salvation by grace through faith and not by works (Eph 2:8-9), apart from the fact that God is perfect and His perfection demands He do all the work? And because salvation by grace eliminates arrogance.

2. Arrogance and grace cannot coexist.

M. The sources of all these types of works is human arrogance. They are blasphemous before God.

R. B. Thieme, Jr. Bible Ministries 5139 West Alabama, Houston, Texas 77056 (713) 621-3740

Eph 174 12/15/85, 485 2/22/87, 757 2/28/88

c 1993, by R. B. Thieme, Jr. All rights reserved.

1977 Romans

Lesson #110

110 05/25/1977 Romans 4:3 Salvation of Abraham; doctrine of human good (respectability and morality)

Salvation sets us up for the plan of God and the thinking of God. The transition between salvation and maturity is spirituality. It is reaching the maturity barrier and cracking that barrier. Chapters 9–11 are actually parenthetical.

Reality must eventually be what God thinks and what God does. It is not what man thinks or what man does. This is only possible by cracking the maturity barrier. Gradually through the intake of Bible doctrine, God becomes real and people fade by comparison. When man is your reality, you are unhappy. When God is your reality, you are happy. Chapters 12–16 pulls everything together from the previous chapters.

This next doctrine did not match with any doctrine which I had, so I just did this from scratch.

The Doctrine of Human Good

1. Human good is dead to the policy of God and the plan of God. The first illustration of this takes place in Genesis 2. God warned them not to partake of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. Man does not need human good. There were 4 categories of trees: trees for food, trees for their beauty, the tree of life and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. Man did not need to know anything about good or evil. What good could man do that would improve on perfect environment? Our relationship with the justice of God today is based upon salvation. The same principle applies. Good does not for the salvation adjustment to the justice of God or for rebound adjustment to the justice of God. Good is the worst enemy of humanity. Even people in ghettos have a better way of life; yet we are destroying it by good. Good is the greatest enslaver of all. Adam was spiritually dead until he made salvation adjustment to the justice of God. When Adam and the woman sinned, they partook of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. The first thing that they did was an act of human good. By clothing themselves with fig leaves they adjusted to one another but that does not solve the problem of relationship with God. Hebrews 6:1 Not laying again a foundation of repentance of dead works.

2. Human good is linked to man's arrogance. It is the means of expressing arrogance through boasting. Ephesians 2:8–9 Romans 4:2 man is stimulated into pseudo happiness by boasting.
3. Human good is never acceptable to God. Isaiah 64:6 we have all become like someone who is unclean. All of our righteous deeds are like menstrual rags. Our perversities carry us away like the wind.
4. However, distinctions should be made between satanic policy and morality which is occasionally called good. Morality is the observation of the laws of divine establishment. It produces patriotism and freedom and respect for authority. Live and let live is a summary for the great points of morality. Gaius Julius Cæsar set up a great system of law and authority; so that few people had to come into contact with the Cæsar. The Nero Cæsar that Paul faced sentenced him to decapitation. Romans 13:1–7. Established by God is where we get the word establishment from. Law should never be used to destroy freedom. OSHA and the EPA destroy freedom and they destroy businesses. Romans 13:1–7 Let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God. Therefore whoever resists the authorities resists what God has appointed, and those who resist will incur judgment. For rulers are not a terror to good conduct, but to bad. Would you have no fear of the one who is in authority? Then do what is good, and you will receive his approval, for he is God's servant for your good. But if you do wrong, be afraid, for he does not bear the sword in vain. For he is the servant of God, an avenger who carries out God's wrath on the wrongdoer. Therefore one must be in subjection, not only to avoid God's wrath but also for the sake of conscience. For because of this you also pay taxes, for the authorities are ministers of God, attending to this very thing. Pay to all what is owed to them: taxes to whom taxes are owed, revenue to whom revenue is owed, respect to whom respect is owed, honor to whom honor is owed.
5. Human good cannot save man. Ephesians 2:8–9 Titus 3:5
6. Human good is judged by the justice of God. Sins were judged at the cross. The entire royal family of God is removed from the earth at the rapture. Then the second advent. The entire royal family of God is taken to heaven. The cross removed our sins; but human good is then judged at the Judgment Seat of Christ where our efficiency rating is given.

- a. Our human good is burned. 1Corinthians 3:11-16; 2 Corinthians 5:10; Romans 14:10
- b. All unbelievers are in Hades or Ghenna. Since their sins were paid for, the basis of their indictment will be human good. Revelation 20:11-15

Human good is not the same as establishment good.

V. 2 sets up a straw man:

Romans 4:2 Assuming that Abraham has justified by means of works, he has a basis for boasting, but not before God.

Romans 4:3 For what does the Scripture say? “And Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him for righteousness.”

Verse 3 – “For what saith the scripture?” The postpositive conjunctive particle gar used as an explanatory conjunction to confirm a specific principle, plus the nominative neuter singular of the interrogative pronoun tís (τις) [pronounced tihç]—in the neuter it is “what”; in the masculine or feminine genders it is “who.” Here it is “what”—“For what.” Then the nominative singular subject of graphê (γραφή) [pronounced graf-AY] which refers to a writing, here a specific writing, the Scripture, plus the definite article, and then the present active indicative of légô (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh] which means to say or to communicate. The present tense of légô (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh] is the present of duration, denoting what has begun in the past and continues into the present time. The Scripture always remains the Scripture and always is the final authority on any subject. The active voice: the Scripture, the absolute authority, produces the action. The indicative mood is the interrogative indicative assuming that there is an actual fact which may be stated in answer to the question. “For what does the scripture say?”

It is a good idea to knock down the straw man from the Scriptures, because both Paul and the Judaizers accept the Old Testament canon as the final authority. Hence, the appeal to the Scripture settles the matter either way. Even the Judaizers will recognize the authority of the Old Testament.

Genesis 15:6 – “Abraham had believed in the Lord.” The hiphil perfect tense from the verb amen, which means to believe in the hiphil. It means to lay a foundation in the qal stem. The object is the tetragrammaton which can be used for any person, but we know that it refers to the second person of the Trinity. We call that Jehovah. Then a preposition, be, which means “in.” The perfect tense indicates that Abraham had already believed in Christ before the event in Genesis 15. In fact, he had believed as a Gentile Acadian while he was residing in Ur. The mechanics for his adjustment to the justice of God are clearly defined as believing. His faith in Christ is compatible with the grace principle in salvation adjustment to the justice of God.

“and it was counted to him for righteousness” – a waw conversive with the qal imperfect, changing it to a perfect, and the verb is chashab châshab (חָשַׁב) [pronounced khaw-

SHAHB^v] which means to impute something to someone. It was used in business for crediting to someone's account. With it is the third feminine singular suffix referring to Abraham's salvation adjustment to the justice of God. There is also a feminine noun, tседаqah ts^edâqâh (צַדִּיקָה) [pronounced ts^edaw-KAW], referring to the righteousness of God, one half of divine integrity.

Romans 4:3 Now he had believed in the Lord, and He [God the Father] had imputed it [faith in Christ] to him [Abraham] for righteousness.

Romans 4:3, where this Hebrew passage is quoted: "Abraham believed in God" – the enclitic particle de is used as a transitional conjunction. It has no contrast intended and it is translated to meet that waw which is translated "now" in the Hebrew. Then the indeclinable proper noun Abraam, plus "believed," the aorist active indicative of pisteúō (πιστεύω) [pronounced pis-TOO-oh], the equivalent to the Hebrew perfect of amen in the hiphil stem. This is a constative aorist, often used for a momentary action. A constative aorist can occur in an instant of time but it gathers up into one entirety however long it takes. To believe in Jesus Christ is gathered up in one entirety. The active voice: Abraham produces the action of the verb at the moment he believes in Christ. The indicative mood is declarative representing the verbal action from the viewpoint of historical reality. With this is the dative of indirect object of theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—Jesus Christ is theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]. Theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] has a definite article because the readers already know who theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS] is—Adonai or Jehovah. The definite article is used to identify someone familiar to the readers. So the straw man of the previous verse is knocked over by a simple line of quotation. The assumption that Abraham was justified by works is refuted by the quotation of Genesis 15:6.

"and it was counted unto him for righteousness" – the connective use of kai, plus the aorist passive indicative of logizomai (λογίζομαι) [pronounced log-IHD-zohm-ai], used commercially for crediting to someone's account. Here it means to impute, to credit to the account of someone. The aorist tense is a culminative aorist. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God in its entirety is recognized here, but emphasis is placed on the result. Then the dative singular indirect object of the autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS], used as a personal pronoun to emphasize the person as being great, therefore a perfect illustration and following the concept that it would knock the Judaizers over in a debate, as goes Abraham so goes the situation. No Judaizer is going to argue with Abraham or Moses. The problem with the Judaizers was that they considered themselves experts on Abraham and Moses. In reality they had rejected the God of Abraham and Moses, the Lord Jesus Christ. With that is also a dative of indirect object [which means personal benefit] which indicates the one in whose interest the imputation of divine righteousness is performed. The prepositional phrase: eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative singular of dikaioσύνη (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay]—"for righteousness."

Romans 4:3 For what does the scripture say? Now Abraham had believed in the God [the Lord Jesus Christ], and it [faith in Christ] was credited to him [Abraham] for righteousness.

Abraham's Salvation

1. Abraham was a Semitic type Gentile, an Acadian living in Ur.
2. Instead of worshiping the moon god Abraham was positive at the point of God-consciousness.
3. The means of gospel hearing is unknown, but the result of gospel hearing is clearly stated in Genesis 15:6, as quoted in Romans 4:3.
4. Abraham believed in the Lord Jesus Christ. This is instant adjustment to the justice of God. Paul will verify this in Romans 5:1.
5. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God through faith in Christ results in receiving one slice of divine integrity—God's perfect righteousness.
6. Possessor of God's righteousness, the justice of God pronounced Abraham righteous. To pronounce someone righteous is simply justification. Abraham is the pattern of Old Testament justification, but he is also the pattern for all justification.
7. Christ was revealed in different ways in the Old Testament history but however He was revealed positive volition always responded in a uniform way. Principle: Salvation is uniform in its appropriation.
8. Such faith in Christ is instant adjustment to the justice of God.
9. At the point of that instant adjustment the perfect, eternal righteousness of God is given to each one of us. We call it imputation.

1977 Romans

Lesson #111

111 05/26/1977 Romans 4:4–6; Psalm 32:1–2; Union demands; results of justification by faith cf. by works; +R cup

A notice from the president of a union in Houston. 35 hour workweek with 40 hour pay; overtime double or triple. All kinds of other things along the same lines. Showing up on time for a couple days, and you get 2 days additional pay. Dental with a $50 lifetime copay. This is another reason our country is in an historical crisis.

The motivation for a business is profit and that is a legitimate motivation.

Verses 4 & 5, the results or consequences of antithetical systems of justification. God's system is justification by faith; the Satanic system of evil is called justification by works.

Romans 4:4 Now to the one working, the reward is not reckoned according to grace, but according to debt.

Verse 4 – the result of justification by works. “Now to him that worketh” – the conjunctive postpositive particle de used to emphasize a contrast between what the Scripture says and what the legalists or those who are maladjusted to the justice of God do. Plus the articular present active participle from the verb ergázomai (ἐργάζομαι) [pronounced er-GAHD-zohm-ah-ee] which means to do, to work, to work for. The definite article is in the dative singular, it is a dative of indirect object used as a personal pronoun in order to indicate the assumption of benefit from working for salvation. The present tense is a progressive present for linear aktionsart. The active voice: the legalistic Judaizer produces the action of the verb by trying to keep the law, producing works and self-righteousness from the law by which he seeks adjustment to the justice of God at salvation. The participle is a circumstantial participle for the function of legalism. “But to him who works for [salvation].”

“is the reward not reckoned of grace” – the word for reward is the nominative singular subject of misthos (μισθός) [pronounced mihs-THOSS] which means pay, gain, wages. Also the definite article, used as the possessive pronoun and translated “his payment, compensation, or reimbursement.” Then the present passive indicative from the verb logizomai (λογίζομαι) [pronounced log-IHD-zohm-ai] which means to credit to someone’s account. Plus the negative which denies the fact, ou (οὐ) [pronounced oo]—“his reimbursement is not credited.” The present tense is a customary present, indicating with the negative what does not habitually occur in the case of salvation. The action of the verb is not true in the present or in the past—customarily. This is never true. Then passive voice: the legalist working for salvation by keeping the law, producing works and self-righteousness, does not produce the action of the verb, i.e. he does not produce salvation adjustment to the justice of God. The declarative indicative mood represents the verbal action from the viewpoint of absolute and dogmatic reality; “of grace” is the prepositional phrase kata plus the accusative of charis (χάρις) [pronounced KHAHR-ic]—“not according to grace.”

“but of debt” – the adversative conjunction allá (ἀλλά) [pronounced ahI-LAH], separating two antithetical clauses, and then again, kata plus the accusative, this time of opheílēma (ὀφείλημα) [pronounced of-ī-lay-mah], “but according to debt.”

Romans 4:4 But to him who works for salvation his compensation [reimbursement] is not credited according to grace, but according to debt.

Principle

1. The harder you work for salvation the deeper you go in debt. The deeper you go in debt the farther you are from salvation.
2. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God functions on the principle of grace. The principle of grace excludes human merit, human works, human ability.
3. To approach the integrity of God and demand for adjustment through works is total blasphemy.
4. It implies in effect that God has no integrity. In fact, it alleges that God does not even exist for obviously God cannot exist without His integrity.
5. To try to be saved by working is like trying to get out of debt by borrowing.
6. Christ was judged for our sins on the cross, He cancelled the I.O.U. which was against us—Colossians 2:14. Therefore it is Christ’s work which provides salvation adjustment to the justice of God, not ours. In effect, salvation by works is competition with Christ.

7. We can only accept the work of God on our own behalf in a non-meritorious manner, therefore faith in Christ as per the pattern of Abraham—Genesis 15:6; Romans 4:3.
8. Anything added to faith in Christ is maladjustment to the justice of God at salvation.

Romans 4:5 However, to the one not working, but believing on the One justifying the ungodly, his faith is reckoned for righteousness,...

Verse 5 – the antithesis: the result of justification by faith. “But to him that worketh not” – the postpositive conjunctive particle de, used to emphasize a contrast between the two clauses. Here is a contrast between the grace system of faith in verse 5 as over against the legalistic system of works in verse 4. Grace and works are always mutually exclusive. Plus the articular present active participle of ergázomai (ἐργάζομαι) [pronounced er-GAHD-zohm-ah-ee] plus mê (μή) [pronounced may]. The definite article is in the dative of advantage singular and it is used as a personal pronoun—“but to him.” This refers to someone who has a great advantage. The present tense is the aoristic present for punctiliar action in present time. (The aorist is punctiliar action in past time) The active voice plus the negative: the individual does not work for salvation. The participle is circumstantial. Translation: “But to him who does not work.”

“but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly” – again, the postpositive conjunctive particle de separating two clauses in antithesis. The present active participle of pisteúō (πιστεύω) [pronounced pis-TOO-oh] for believes. The aoristic present of pisteúō (πιστεύω) [pronounced pis-TOO-oh] is for instant adjustment to the justice of God at salvation; faith in Christ instant. The active voice: positive volition at the point of gospel hearing produces non-meritorious action—believing in Christ. The participle is circumstantial.

Then a prepositional phrase and a definite article. The definite article is used as a personal pronoun referring to God—epí (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] plus the accusative of the definite article, plus the present active participle of dikaioō (δικαιώω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh]. The present tense of the participle is the static present representing justification as perpetually existing as a result of faith in Jesus Christ and in no other way. The active voice: God the Father provides justification from His justice in conjunction with the imputation of divine righteousness at the moment that anyone believes in Christ. The participle is circumstantial. With this is an accusative singular direct object from the noun asebês (ἄσεβής) [pronounced as-ehb-ACE], which means godless, impious, but is actually a technical word for a person in status quo unbelief.

“his faith is counted for righteousness” – nominative singular from hê pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]. The definite article is not used like our English. The absence of the Greek definite article is like the use of the definite article in English. More often than not the definite article in the Greek is used as a pronoun, and here that is what we have: possessive pronoun, “his faith.” With it is a possessive genitive singular from the intensive pronoun autós (αὐτός) [pronounced ow-TOSS] to emphasize the importance of believing in Christ. Plus the present passive indicative of dikaioō (δικαιώω) [pronounced dik-ah-YOH-oh]. The present tense is a customary present, it denotes what habitually occurs when anyone believes in Christ. The passive voice: the believer in Christ receives the action of the verb at the moment of salvation, i.e. imputation of divine righteousness resulting in justification. The indicative mood is for historical reality in every case when a person believes in Christ from the time of Adam to the end of the Millennium. Plus the prepositional phrase, eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative of dikaiosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay], used for the righteousness belonging to the integrity of God—“for righteousness.”

Romans 4:5 But to him who does not work for salvation but believes on Him Who justifies the unbeliever, his faith receives credit for the imputation of divine righteousness.

Bob reads the previous 4 verses again.

Principle
1.	Faith in Jesus Christ is non-meritorious, therefore faith in Christ is the only way to receive credit from the integrity of God. We have to have credit from the integrity of God before the integrity of God can bless us.
2.	God supplies the credit in the form of one half of divine integrity—God’s perfect righteousness. Logically that is the first thing that we receive from the justice of God after believing in Jesus Christ. (The 36 things received at salvation are received instantaneously)
3.	Righteousness is the principle of divine integrity; justice is the function of divine integrity.
4.	At the moment of faith in Christ the justice of God gives the believer the righteousness of God.
5.	Having received from the justice of God the righteousness of God, the justice of God then pronounces the believer righteous. This is a judicial act we call justification.
6.	God’s grace accounting is perfect. The result is eternal salvation with the result of other potential blessings.

From this point on for three verses we have documentation or quotations from the Psalms—verses 6-8.

Romans 4:6 ...just as David also declares the blessedness of the man to whom God credits righteousness apart from works:...

Verse 6 – “Even as David also describeth the blessedness of man.” This phrase is not quotation, it is citation for documentation. The word “David” here is Daud, and is not referring to David as a person, it is referring to the Psalms. Since David is the principle writer but not the only writer his name was often used to describe the Psalms. We have to go by the Jewish system of citation. For example, when the Jews were talking about the entire Old Testament canon they called it the law and the prophets, after the first two parts—the law being the first five books of the Torah and the prophets being the second section of the Old Testament canon. Sometimes they called the Old Testament “the law,” sometimes to the first five books and sometimes to anywhere in the Old Testament. “Moses hath said” refers to some documentation in the first five books; “David hath said,” refers to the Psalms. Therefore it is not David the person but the Psalms being cited.

This begins with the adverb katháper (καθάπερ) [pronounced kath-AP-er] which is sometimes used as a conjunction, and when it is it means “just as.” But with the adjunctive use of kai, which is also here, it means “even as.” Plus the present active indicative of légō (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh], meaning to speak, to say, to communicate, to confirm, to confirm in writing. We could say here, “as David confirms”—“Even as David also confirms.” The perfective present tense denotes the continuation of existing results. The Psalms are always there, always will be there, and God will never permit them to be destroyed. It emphasizes the fact that has come to be in the past but stresses the fact it still exists at the present time. The active voice: David as the human author produces the action. The indicative mood is declarative for the dogmatic assertion of a fact. Plus the accusative singular direct object from the masculine noun makarismos (μακαρισμός) [pronounced mahk-ahr-ihs-MOSS] which meanings blessing or happiness. It is used here for salvation blessing from the justice of God. With it is the objective genitive anthrōpos (ἄνθρωπος) [pronounced ANTH-row-pos] for “man.”

“unto whom God imputed righteousness without works” – the dative masculine singular indirect object from the relative pronoun hos. The dative of indirect object indicates the one in whose interest the act is performed. It is always the in the interest of any member of mankind to receive the righteousness of God. It is to our personal, temporal, eternal interest. Plus the nominative singular subject ho theos (θεός) [pronounced theh-OSS]—“the God,” and it is translated “to whom the God.” Then the present active indicative from the verb logizomai (λογίζομαι) [pronounced log-IHD-zohm-ai] which means to impute or to credit. The static present is used for a perpetually existing fact, that when anyone believes in Jesus Christ, no matter who they are, in them instantly resides God’s perfect righteousness. We have credit with God immediately because of this. The active voice: God produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for the dogmatic assertion of the imputation of divine righteousness at the moment of salvation. The word “righteousness” is in the accusative singular direct object, dikaïosunē (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay]. That is God’s righteousness, and it can never have clinging to it any human righteousness. Then comes the adverb chōris (χωρίς) [pronounced khoh-REECE] used as an improper preposition, plus the genitive plural of ergon (ἔργον) [pronounced EHR-gon]—“apart from works.”

Romans 4:6 Even as David also communicates the blessing to the man to whom the God credits divine righteousness apart from works.

The man who has achieved salvation apart from works has the greatest blessing.

In the next two verses is the quotation from Psalm 32:1,2. From the Hebrew: “Happinesses [ashere] to those whose transgression is forgiven”—salvation adjustment to the justice of God; “whose sin is covered.”

Psalm 32:1 A Maskil of David. Happinesses to those whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered.

Forgiveness of sin is subtraction; but that is not where the blessing is. The blessing comes from addition.

“Happinesses to the man to whom the Lord does not impute sin”—this means that sins cannot be imputed because righteousness is imputed. This is a way of describing the imputation of divine righteousness from the negative standpoint.

Psalm 32:2 Happinesses to the man against whom the LORD counts no iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no deceit.

1977 Romans

Lesson #112

112 05/27/1977 Romans 4:7–8 Salvation: addition of +R and subtraction of sins

A speech in Houston by Donald Rumsfeld. He said we are ready to begin construction of the Mx. There is a road to go down, spending for weapons or not. He quotes Somerset Maugham, who said, If a country values something over freedom (?), they will lose freedom and the things that it values more than freedom.”

Everything that we receive from God is based upon His justice. 3 adjustments to the justice of God.

Once you crack the maturity barrier, you go from supergrace A to supergrace B. Five categories of blessings which are all from the justice of God.

Psalm 32:1 Happinesses to those whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered.

Psalm 32:2 Happinesses to the man against whom the LORD counts no iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no deceit.

This is only subtraction. This can explain things.

Romans 4:7 ...“Blessed are those whose lawless deeds are forgiven, and whose sins are covered;...

Verse 7 of Romans 4: The nominative plural subject from the noun makarios (μακάριος) [pronounced mahk-AHR-ee-oss] which literally means happinesses, not blessed. The plural refers to the advantages which come at the point of salvation adjustment to the justice of God. The reason it is in the plural is because salvation adjustment is the advantage and the 36 items we receive at salvation are advantages—not all of the advantages but the advantages we receive at the moment of salvation. With this is a genitive of reference plural from the relative pronoun hos (ὅς) [pronounced hohç], and because it is in the genitive and because it is the genitive of reference and in the plural to match “happineses,” the correct translation would be “Happineses belong to those who.”

Plus the nominative plural subject anomia (ἀνομία) [pronounced an-om-EE-a] which does not mean “iniquity” as in the KJV, [a = negative; nomia = from the noun nomos (νόμος) [pronounced NOHM-oss], “law”], it means “lawlessness” in the singular but in the plural it means “lawlessnesses” or “lawless deeds.” It includes sins but there is more than sins here. Everything that comes from the old sin nature is lawless, it is outside the pale of God’s system of law. Plus the aorist passive indicative of the verb aphiêmi (ἀφίημι) [pronounced af-EE-ay-mee] which means to pardon, to cancel, to remit. The constative aorist refers to that momentary action occurring at that moment of salvation adjustment to the justice of God in which all of the accumulated manifestations of the old sin nature called lawlessnesses are cancelled, pardoned, forgiven. The passive voice: lawlessnesses receive the action of the verb, i.e. cancellation. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic assertion of a fact which occurs at the point of salvation adjustment to the justice of God. Because many people are not familiar with the fact that the old sin nature has many areas of expressing lawlessness sin is mentioned as a separate category in order to make sure that everyone understands that sin is included.

“and whose sins are covered” – the connective use of kai, plus the nominative plural subject from hamartia (ἁμαρτία, ας, ἡ) [pronounced hahm-ahr-TEE-ah], plus the genitive plural of the relative pronoun hos (ὅς) [pronounced hohç]: “and whose sins.”

Plus the aorist passive indicative from the verb epikaluptō (ἐπικαλύπτω) [pronounced ep-ee-kal-OOP-to] [epí (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] = over; kaluptō (καλύπτω) [pronounced kal-OOP-toe] = to hide], to hide over means to cover. Hence, it means to cover over, to be covered over with blood. It goes back to the blood that was sprinkled on the mercy seat in the ark of the covenant made of acacia wood and gold. Wood equals the humanity of Christ, the gold the deity of Christ. Inside are the articles which speak of man’s sins and failures, the lawlessness. Aaron’s rod that budded—lawlessness against the authority God has ordained; the pot of manna—lawlessness with regard to logistical grace; the broken tables of the law—lawlessness with regard to sin. Over the top was a gold throne called the mercy seat, and on each end was a cherub representing the various characteristics of God. One cherub represented God’s righteousness and the other God’s justice, the two attributes of divine integrity. They looked down and saw sin: righteousness rejects sin; justice pronounces against judgment on sin—the wages of sin is death. But on the Day of Atonement the blood of the Levitical sacrifice is sprinkled over the top of the mercy seat. Righteousness looks at the blood and is satisfied. Justice looks at the blood and is satisfied. This is the cover: blood covers. That is what the word atonement means. Principle: Propitiation leads to the imputation of divine righteousness. God’s justice could not give us His righteousness unless propitiation had occurred. It is propitiation which makes it possible for the justice of God to give us anything and not be inconsistent with His own essence. The aorist tense of epikaluptō (ἐπικαλύπτω) [pronounced ep-ee-kal-OOP-to] is a culminative aorist in which atonement by blood, or covering the mercy seat with the blood of animal sacrifices, is viewed in its entirety but the existing results of imputation of divine righteousness are emphasized. The passive voice: sin receives the action of the verb. In the Old Testament animal blood was used as a covering to express the principle. In the New Testament, judged by the justice of God when Christ was bearing our sins is used as the cover. The Old Testament dealt with shadows in its worship; we deal with the reality. The indicative mood is declarative representing reality from the viewpoint of reality.

Romans 4:7 Happineses to those whose lawlessnesses have been forgiven and whose sins have been covered by blood.

Notice the difference between lawlessness and sins. The sins from the old sin nature were poured out and judged at the cross; lawlessnesses were not judged on the cross. We are covered because our sins were judged. Human good and evil has to continue throughout human history.

Romans 4:8 ...blessed is the man against whom the Lord will never reckon sin."

Verse 8 – a quotation from Psalm 32:2, the first half of the verse only: "Blessed in the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin" – the nominative singular this time of makarios (μακάριος) [pronounced mahk-AHR-ee-oss]. Here in the quotation Paul cuts off the plural and puts it into the singular. This is because he is now dealing with one blessing only. While the passage from which he quotes deals with more than one blessing, a multiplicity of blessings, Paul is dealing with one and he is using it to make a point. This time is "Happy" in the singular; in the Hebrew of Psalm 32:2 it is plural. The word he used for "man" here is anêr (ἀνὴρ) [pronounced ah-NAIR] which is used for a man in a nobler sense. Now he is going to take sin and do two things with it: show that it is forgiven, and to show that after it is forgiven we are still nothing. God does not pour His blessing where there is no capacity for it. The believer is not going to be blessed by God because his sins are forgiven. The believer must get on with doctrine. Somewhere the transition must be made between being occupied with one's sins and being occupied with the person of Jesus Christ. "Happy is the man [anêr (ἀνὴρ) [pronounced ah-NAIR]]." This is a noble man, a man who is a member of the royal family of God in this dispensation.

Then a possessive genitive singular from the relative pronoun hos (ὃς) [pronounced hohç], translated "to whom." Plus another subject, kurios (κύριος) [pronounced KOO-ree-oss], which means "Lord" but it has the idea of deity. The moment a person believes in Jesus Christ is the moment he enters into union with Christ, and that is the moment that Jesus Christ becomes his Lord. Kurios (κύριος) [pronounced KOO-ree-oss] is the equivalent of the Hebrew Jehovah. Then the verb is the aorist middle subjunctive of the verb logizomai (λογίζομαι) [pronounced log-IHD-zohm-ai] which means to imputed, to credit. This is a dramatic aorist, it states a present reality with the certitude of a past event. This idiom is a device for emphasis. The middle voice is the indirect middle in which the Lord as the agent produces the action of the verb. In this case it is a negative action. A double negative in the English is a positive; a double negative in the Greek is an intensified negative. Here we have the double negative ou (οὐ) [pronounced oo] mê (μή) [pronounced may]. ou (οὐ) [pronounced oo] denies the alleged fact; mê (μή) [pronounced may] denies the reality. The subjunctive mood with the double negative is the subjunctive of emphatic negation. When special stress is place on a negative proposition the subjunctive is always used with the double negative. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God means the imputation of divine righteousness rather than the imputation of man's sins. God doesn't impute sins after salvation.

Romans 4:8 Happy is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin.

Now all 3 verses:

Romans 4:6 Even as David also communicates the blessing to the man to whom the God credits divine righteousness apart from works.

Romans 4:7 Happinesses to those whose lawlessnesses have been forgiven and whose sins have been covered (by blood).

Romans 4:8 Happy is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin.

Principle

1. This documentation from Psalm 32:1,2 emphasizes the blessings (or, advantages) which come from the justice of God through salvation adjustment.
2. These blessings are equivalent to the advantages which come from the advantage.
3. Without the advantage (the integrity of God) there are no advantages (blessings from the integrity of God).
4. In this case the advantage is attained by personal faith in Jesus Christ, for faith in Christ is the grace mechanics of salvation adjustment to the justice of God.
5. Note the positives and the negatives. On the positive side one of the salvation advantages is the imputation of divine righteousness and resultant justification.
6. Since God loves His own righteousness with an eternal and perfect love this love comes to us at the moment His righteousness is imputed.
7. On the negative side sins have been covered by the blood or the judgment of the justice of God at the cross.
8. Therefore sin cannot be imputed to the person who believes in Christ. Instead of the imputation of God's righteousness, the basis for all blessing from the justice of God both now and forever.

1977 Romans

Lesson #113

113 05/29/1977 Romans 4:9 Salvation cf. circumcision of Abraham; importance of imputed divine righteousness

Jesus controls history, directly; or indirectly through the laws of divine establishment.

Any nation which emphasizes welfare destroys itself. This is an evil, evil thing.

Our freedom comes through the military. We have the deluded idea that a cracked liberty bell is a sign of freedom; or hippies camping out in parks is something great. The only symbol of freedom that we have is the uniforms of the various services of our country. This is a military holiday (Memorial Day).

Jesus Christ killed 186,000 men in one second; and He will break this record at the 2nd advent. Every bit of our history has come through military might. Politicians destroy our freedom. Regulations on private businesses and legislation which coddles criminals. In Berachah, with the exception of 3 days this year, there has always been at least one military uniform in Berachah.

God's sovereignty is not the point of contact for believers; that is the mistake of Calvinism. Love is also not the point of contact, as God loves nothing which is connected to His fallen creatures. The holiness of God is His integrity; made of up His righteousness and justice.

One of the great farces is the confusion of love among fundamentalists. Most people are confused about love. God does not love the world; He does not love Satan.

God does not love cheerful people whether they give or not. This is an anthropopathism. We love Him because He first loved us. God does not hate or love Esau or Jacob. This is true of God's jealousy as well. These are emotions that we understand; we have a frame of reference to work with. "If God is love, why did my pet cat die?"

Our direct contact with God is His justice. All of God's characteristics work within the framework of the consistency of His character.

When we believe in Jesus Christ, we receive the righteousness of God and 35 items of salvation as well.

For rebound adjustment to the justice of God, we simply name our sins to God.

5 sets of blessings for the believer in time. Ultra supergrace is maximum adjustment to the justice of God. The book of Romans is designed to lead us to spiritual maturity.

At salvation, God the Holy Spirit places us into union with Jesus Christ. We are royal family of God. We share everything that He has. We are His royal family.

We resume a discussion about Abraham's circumcision. Abraham was a Semitic gentile. He was an Akkadian. He made salvation adjustment to the justice of God.

At age 99, Abraham was in ultra supergrace, having gone through supergrace A and supergrace B. 13 years before, he was a mature believer. He has occupation with Christ. He had capacity for life, blessing, love. He had been a great blessing to many people. At age 99, God gave him promises of sexual prosperity. God changed his name from Abram to Abraham.

Abraham, at age 99, he is unable to copulate; and Sarah is in a menopausal status quote. God came along and said, “Remove a piece of the foreskin of the source of your sexual death.” God’s sense of humor. Abraham had a complete concept of the integrity of God. God was more real to him than anything else. This was all about divine integrity. Sexually, Abraham and Sarah were both dead. But God said, “First, cut off a piece of dead foreskin off a dead phallus.” When Abraham did this, he became the first Jew in history. When the foreskin hit the ground, he was a new race.

Abraham later had 5 sons by Keteria; and these were the heads of many Arab groups.

Circumcision had to do with the reality of a total relationship with the justice of God. The ritual was circumcision; but this was a reminder of the integrity of God.

Later, circumcision and the Law were set up for the 4th race. These would both be distorted into salvation by works. The Galatians were taught by the Judaizers to be circumcised and Law; which is the reason for that letter.

Romans 4:9 Is this blessing then on the circumcision, or also on the uncircumcision? For we are saying faith was credited to Abraham as righteousness.

Verse 9 – “Cometh this blessedness then upon the circumcision only” begins with the inferential conjunction oun (οὐν) [pronounced oon] which denotes what is introduced as an inference from the preceding paragraph. It is used as a real question and can be translated “Is then.” Plus the nominative singular subject from the noun masculine mâkar (μακαρισμός) [pronounced maw-KAHR] ismos (μακαρισμός) [pronounced mahk-ahr-ihs-MOSS]. One blessing is in view here. It should be translated “Is this blessing then.” The blessing refers to a summary of all of the things that Abraham had. But Abraham received circumcision at the point of ultra-super-grace, he did not receive circumcision at the point of salvation. The blessing is in the singular to indicate one blessing only—sexual prosperity. The word for “this” is the nominative singular of the immediate demonstrative pronoun houtos (οὗτος) [pronounced HOO-tos]. Then the prepositional phrase epí (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] plus the accusative of peritomê (περιτομή) [pronounced per-it-om-AY]—“circumcision.”

“or upon the uncircumcision also” – the uncircumcision refers to Gentiles, epí (ἐπί) [pronounced eh-PEE] plus the accusative of akrobustía (ἀκροβυστία) [pronounced ak-rob-oos-TEE-ah] which means “not yet cut in a circular fashion” and refers to uncircumcision. It should be “or for the uncircumcision.” Is it for Gentiles as well as Jews?

Romans 4:9a Is this blessing therefore for the circumcision [the Jews] only? Or is it also for the uncircumcised [the Gentiles] also?

Principle

1. The question emphasizes two points. The first: Is the ritual of circumcision necessary for salvation adjustment to the justice of God? Secondly: Was salvation a Jewish monopoly in Old Testament times?

2. The Judaizers have distorted circumcision from a ritual of maximum adjustment to the justice of God to a system of salvation by works.
3. If circumcision has anything to do with salvation then salvation is by works instead of grace. This eliminates these works: baptism, joining a church, walking an aisle, having an ecstatic experience.
4. Refutation of salvation by circumcision is refutation of any ritual salvation, including the modern favourite which is baptism.
5. Circumcision has significance to Israel as a part of their spiritual heritage, but spiritual heritage is useless in any given generation apart from personal relationship with the integrity of God.

Bob reviews the postulates of divine integrity. A nation can recover its advantages if there is a large pivot of believers and a small spinoff; but reverse that, and the nation will face historical disaster.

“for we say” – the explanatory use of the conjunctive particle gar which relates to what has just been said and to what has gone before in the entire passage. Plus the present active indicative of légō (λέγω) [pronounced LEH-goh], a verb of communication. In the debate atmosphere which Paul has set up it means to contend—“for we contend.” The present tense is a static present for a condition which perpetually exists. All of the writers of Scripture contended this; this is always what was communicated. The active voice: Paul produces the action of the verb. The indicative mood is declarative for the dogmatic assertion of a fact.

“that faith was reckoned to Abraham for righteousness” – the definite article for a possessive pronoun plus the nominative singular subject pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]. Pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs] has three general connotations. First it has the connotation of confidence, then an active connotation of believing, and then a passive connotation of doctrine or what is believed. Here it is the active connotation of believing, the human mechanics of salvation adjustment to the justice of God. There is no merit in faith, all of the merit lies in the object of faith. Abraham’s faith in Christ is the means of his salvation adjustment to the justice of God resulting in the imputation of divine righteousness.

The aorist passive indicative of logizomai (λογίζομαι) [pronounced log-IHD-zohm-ai] is the word for “reckon.” It means to credit to one’s account, to impute, to reckon, to calculate, to evaluate, to estimate. The aorist tense is a culminative aorist, it views Abraham’s salvation adjustment to the justice of God in its entirety but emphasizing the primary result, the imputation of divine righteousness and resultant justification from the justice of God. The passive voice: Abraham received the action of the verb at the moment of faith in Christ. The indicative mood is declarative for a dogmatic statement of fact. Then the dative singular indirect object of the definite article with the indeclinable proper noun Abraam (Ἀβραάμ) [pronounced ab-rah-AHM]. The dative of indirect object indicates that Abraham, in whose interest imputation and justification is performed by the justice of God, has a future as a result. Then the prepositional phrase eis (εἰς) [pronounced ICE] plus the accusative singular of dikaiousunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay], referring to God's righteousness as a part of His divine integrity. All blessing from the justice of God demands the possession of the righteousness of God. Therefore the importance of imputation followed by justification. Justification must precede all other blessings from divine integrity.

Romans 4:9 Is this blessing therefore for the circumcision [the Jews] only? Or is it also for the uncircumcised [the Gentiles] also? For we contend that his faith was credited to Abraham for righteousness.

Conclusion

1. The imputation of divine righteousness is necessary for divine blessing.
2. Divine blessing always comes from the justice of God.
3. The justice of God cannot bless sinful man; the justice of God can only curse sinful man. The justice of God can only bless perfect righteousness.
4. Perfect divine righteousness is one half of divine integrity.
5. This divine righteousness is credited to the account of any person who believes in Christ.
6. At the moment of salvation the imputation of divine righteousness frees the justice of God to provide the other 35 blessings or advantages of eternal salvation.
7. The order of blessing at salvation is the imputation of divine righteousness followed by justification, followed by 35 other accoutrements to salvation.
8. The source of blessing is the justice of God. The justice of God can only provide blessing for the righteousness of God.
9. The principle on which blessing comes from the justice of God is grace.

1977 Romans

Lesson #114

114 05/29/1977 Romans 4:10–11 Circumcision and sex; Abraham: pattern of salvation; potential + capacity = reality

Romans 4:10 How then was it credited? Being in circumcision, or in uncircumcision? Not in circumcision, but in uncircumcision.

Verse 10 – “How then was it reckoned?” The adverb pôs (πῶς) [pronounced poħç] is used as an indirect particle in a question to determine how something came to be, or how something happened, or in what status something occurred. With it is the inferential particle oun (οὖν) [pronounced oon], used in a real question to denote that what is asked is the result of an inference from what precedes. Then the aorist passive indicative of the verb logizomai (λογίζομαι) [pronounced log-IHD-zohm-ai]—to credit, to reckon, and in this case to credit divine righteousness to Abraham at the moment of his salvation. The aorist tense is a culminative aorist which gathers into one entirety Abraham's salvation adjustment to the justice of God through faith in Jesus Christ, but emphasizes the result in imputation of divine righteousness and resultant justification. The passive voice refers to a specific member of the human race. Abraham received the action of the verb at the moment of salvation. The indicative mood is the interrogative indicative which assumes that there is an actual fact which may be stated in answer to the question. “How then was it credited?”

“when he was in circumcision, or in uncircumcision?” – the present active indicative of eimi (εἶμι) [pronounced eye-ME]. The present tense is a historic present which views the past event with the vividness of a present occurrence. The active voice: Abraham is the subject producing the action. This is a temporal participle, therefore translated like a temporal clause—“while he was.”

Then a prepositional phrase, en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of peritomê (περιτομή) [pronounced per-it-om-AY] for “circumcision,” and “uncircumcision” – akrobustía (ἀκροβυστία) [pronounced ak-rob-ooS-TEE-ah]. Translated “while he was in circumcision or uncircumcision.” The question faces the issue of the Jewish monopoly of salvation in the Old Testament. It also answers the question about the advantages of being a Jew, mentioned first in Romans 3:1. We have noted that there are no advantages in being a Jew apart from relationship with the integrity of God.

“Not in circumcision, but in uncircumcision” – the only difference here is the objective negative adverb ou (οὐ) [pronounced oo] which denies the reality of an alleged fact—“Not.” This is the answer to the question.

Romans 4:10 How then was it credited? While he was in circumcision, or in uncircumcision? Not in circumcision but in uncircumcision.

Abraham’s Salvation—When Did It Occur?

1. Abraham was not circumcised until he was 99 years of age. However, Abraham believed in Jesus Christ at least a quarter of a century before his circumcision. He was 75 when he left Ur. He was saved sometime before then.
2. Abraham was a Semitic Gentile, an Acadian, living in the third dynasty of Ur when his salvation adjustment to the justice of God occurred.
3. Therefore there was a minimum of 25 years elapsed between his salvation and his maturity adjustment to the justice of God which brought on circumcision.
4. Abraham was saved as a Semitic Acadian and did not become a Jew until circumcision, at least 25 years later.
5. Salvation adjustment to the justice of God occurred in the case of Abraham when he was an Acadian living in circumstances which had nothing to do with Israel.
6. Therefore Abraham believed in Christ as a Gentile. When righteousness was imputed to Abraham he was a Gentile. When righteousness was imputed to his son Isaac he was a Jew.
7. Abraham’s circumcision was not related to his salvation. Circumcision was related to his maturity adjustment to the justice of God and that point of maturity when God was ready to give him sexual prosperity.

8. The fourth race, the Jews, was started not at Abraham's salvation but Abraham's maximum adjustment to the justice of God.
9. Therefore it is obvious historically, it is obvious doctrinally, that circumcision had nothing whatever to do with salvation.
10. Therefore salvation by ritual is completely ruled out. Abraham is justified by faith in Christ, not by any ritual, including circumcision.
11. Circumcision was a ritual to commemorate Abraham's maximum relationship with the integrity of God, his sexual prosperity and the point at which the new race began.
12. The ritual was related to maximum doctrine resident in the soul at a time when Abraham was sexually dead and therefore totally helpless as far as doing anything about fulfilling the promise of the Abrahamic covenant.
13. Circumcision was the ritual of Abraham's total confidence in the integrity of God.
14. Ritual without reality is meaningless. Abraham had the reality of maximum doctrine resident in his soul which cause maturity adjustment to the justice of God.
15. The justice of God was free to give uncircumcised Abraham divine righteousness and justification at the moment he believed in Christ as a Gentile.
16. The justice of God was free to give justified Abraham capacity for sex and sexual prosperity at the point of ultra-super-grace maturity.
17. Imputed righteousness was the foundation on which the superstructure of blessing or advantages were provided in his ultra-super-grace status. But circumcision has no relationship to salvation, only to spiritual maturity.

Romans 4:10 How then was it credited? While he was in circumcision, or in uncircumcision? Not in circumcision but in uncircumcision.

This verse teaches that imputed righteousness from the justice of God must precede any direct blessing from the justice of God. The key is, you must have a cup before God can pour (blessings).

Romans 4:11 And he received the sign of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness of the faith that he had while in the uncircumcision, for him to be father of all those believing while in uncircumcision, for the righteousness to be credited also to them,...

Verse 11 – “And he received” includes the emphatic use of the conjunctive particle kai, translated “In fact.” With it is the aorist active indicative of the verb lambánō (λαμβάνω) [pronounced lahm-BAHN-oh] which means to receive, to receive something without earning it or deserving it, or doing anything for it. The aorist tense is a constative aorist which connotes here a momentary action. The active voice: Abraham produced the action by receiving this. This is a declarative indicative for one of the most unusual moments in history.

Between potential and the capacity. Abraham had to move toward spiritual maturity.

Sarah went from being a blob; and returned to her youth. It happened instantaneously.

“the sign of circumcision” – the accusative singular direct object of sêmeíon (σημείον) [pronounced say-MY-on], a token, distinguishing mark, or here a ritual mark. Circumcision as a ritual mark is a memorial guarantee that the integrity of God never wavers on an obligation. Abraham could never urinate without remembering what God had done, making him into a Jew and being the beginning of the fulfillment of God’s promises to Abraham.

The men went out and married goy; but the women would only marry Jewish men.

Principle

1. Circumcision was a ritual mark in ultra-super-grace Abraham, a memorial guarantee that the integrity of God never wavers on a promise.
2. God promised Abraham an heir from his own sexual prosperity and the justice of God provided the blessing.
3. Therefore it is obvious in the case of Abraham that there is a right time and a wrong time for the justice of God to provide blessing.
4. Only the integrity of God knows the right time.
5. God’s blessing is perfect; God’s timing is perfect.
6. God’s blessing was provided from divine justice on the basis of the fact that Abraham possessed God’s righteousness and therefore justification. And further, that Abraham through maximum doctrine resident in the soul had the capacity to enjoy the blessing.
7. The provision of this special blessing was memorialized by the ritual of circumcision. Thereafter every male Jew was circumcised on the eighth day.

“a seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had yet being uncircumcised” – the accusative singular direct object from the noun sphragís (σφραγίς) [pronounced sfrag-ECE]. It refers to a seal which confirms or authenticates, hence validates that to which it is attached. A seal has to be attached to something of importance. In thirteen years Abraham had learned that his phallus was not important, but it was the only means of providing the fulfillment of the promise. So Abraham understood circumcision immediately as a seal, which means when God says do it Abraham understood that you only attach a seal to something important. To a sexually dead person the phallus is not important. But it was important to God who put a seal on it, saying that it was important. A seal is no good without the substance or the reality. In other words, you don’t put a seal on air, on something of no value. The substance or reality is found in the appositional genitive. God could not put the seal on Abraham unless he had righteousness and unless he had doctrine.

He had to have the potential and the capacity—“the righteousness,” accusative direct object dikaíosunê (δικαιοσύνη) [pronounced dih-kai-oh-SOON-ā/dik-ah-yos-OO-nay]. The reality is found in the fact that Abraham had righteousness, he had doctrine. So circumcision was a ritual which not only commemorated the beginning of the Jewish race in ultra-super-grace Abraham, but at the same time it brings into focus for us the principle: potential must become a reality, but potential does not become a reality without capacity. Potential + capacity = reality. Potential = God’s righteousness imputed at salvation—the cup. Capacity = maximum doctrine resident in the soul or maturity adjustment to the justice of God. Reality = blessing.

Next is the ablative of source from pistis (πίστις) [pronounced PIHS-tihs]—“from faith.” Plus the genitive of possession singular from the definite article used as a relative pronoun, with the verb echô (ἔχω) [pronounced EHKH-oh] understood—“which he had.” Or we can say in better English, “the faith which he exercised.” Plus en (ἐν) [pronounced en] plus the locative of akroburstía (ἀκροβυστία) [pronounced ak-rob-oos-TEE-ah]—“in uncircumcision.”

This is a reference to the fact that there is no such thing as direct blessing from God unless you have His righteousness. In other words, the justice of God provides direct blessing for the righteousness of God.

Romans 4:11 In fact he received the ritual mark of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness from the faith which he exercised in uncircumcision.

Principle

1. Abraham was uncircumcised at the time of faith in Christ. So he was in uncircumcision when he received the potentiality.
2. Abraham received at salvation one half of divine integrity—the righteousness of God—and subsequent justification.
3. The possession of divine righteousness is the foundation from those blessings from the justice of God, one of which was memorialized by circumcision.
4. Circumcision is a ritual which memorializes blessing from the justice of God which came long after the imputation of righteousness.
5. Therefore circumcision has nothing to do with Abraham’s salvation.
6. Therefore the same principle applies to our day. Ritual of our day cannot save.
7. As a grace memorial circumcision is the objective of Satan for distortion, and Satan seeks to distort it into a system of legalism.

